Introduction

How to Use This Handbook

This is a major revision of the 1999 Handbook for County Commissioners of Oklahoma.

This handbook revision has been prepared for use primarily by County Commissioners, their deputies, and other employees in the County Commissioner’s office to aid them in performing their duties. It is intended as a guide to the responsibilities, duties, procedures, and statutory mandates for that office. This handbook is not meant to be all inclusive and complete, but should include sufficient references and other sources to help you supplement the information that is provided.

This handbook has been prepared solely as a guide and source of reference for use in day-to-day job activities. It is not intended to be, nor should it be used as, a supplement to, or a replacement for, the Oklahoma State Statutes, opinions of the State Attorney General, and/or policies and procedures issued by the appropriate state agencies (State Auditor and Inspector, State Department of Transportation, Oklahoma Tax Commission, and others).

Every effort has been made to incorporate the latest statutes, opinions and interpretations. In every instance where a statement in this handbook disagrees with an Attorney General opinion, an interpretation of the statutes by a responsible state agency or District Attorney, and/or procedure or policy issued by an appropriate state agency, those opinions, interpretations, procedures, and policies will take precedence.

Changes and Additions

[ Changes in this handbook are indicated with bold brackets: [   ]. When you see information enclosed in bold brackets, that means that the information is either new or has been revised since the last version. When you see two brackets standing alone, that means that information has been deleted since the last revision. ]
The first thing you will notice about this revision is that it is not a printed hard copy. Instead, the entire handbook, plus the Handbook for County Clerks of Oklahoma, the Purchasing Handbook for Oklahoma Counties, the Handbook for County Treasurers of Oklahoma, the Handbook for County Assessors of Oklahoma, County Clerk and Purchasing Forms, and County Treasurer Forms are contained on an interactive Compact Disk (CD). You can access the handbook directly from the CD. You can download the information onto your hard drive and have your own copy to reference. You can also print the handbook out as a hard copy, however a printed copy will not have the interactive capabilities of the on-line copy.

The interactive capability of this CD allows you to link from one spot in a document to another spot in the same document. For example, you can click on a heading entry in the Table of Contents, and you will be linked directly to that heading in the handbooks. You can click on the statute references on the right-hand side of the pages, and you will be linked directly to a complete version of that statute. Any word or groups of words in the text that appear in blue or green on your screen will link to something related to them.

You can use the find feature in the software as an index to search for particular items that you wish to reference. You can also page through the handbook just as you would a printed copy. The handbook appears on the screen exactly as it would appear if printed.

The first section (chapters one through five) of the 2004 Handbook for County Commissioners of Oklahoma covers county government in Oklahoma and the five chapters in Section I apply to all county offices and employees. This section is intended to provide general information about how county government operates in Oklahoma and help members of the County Commissioners’ offices understand how they affect and are affected by other county entities and procedures.

Section II (Chapters six through eighteen) contains chapters that describe the various duties and responsibilities for the County Commissioner’s office.

In Appendix A is a guide to using the statutes.
Copies of several OSU Extension Fact sheets that relate to information discussed in the handbook are included in Appendix B. Additional copies of these sheets are available at your local County Extension Office.

Appendix C contains a list of related sources and their addresses and phone numbers. Throughout the handbook we have referenced these sources and the materials and publications they provide. The data in Appendix C is provided for your convenience if you should need to contact any of these agencies.

Appendix D is a copy of the National Bridge Inspection Standards.

Appendix E is a copy of ACCO’s Policies and Procedures for a Bridge Constructed at an Existing Low Water Crossing.

Appendix F is a history of the Handbook for County Commissioners of Oklahoma.

Statute and Other References

Statute references, Attorney General opinions, and other legal references that apply to material in the text of this handbook are printed in a column at the far right-hand side of the page in green. Each reference is situated so that it appears opposite the material to which it applies.

If you click on one of these references while using the CD on-line version, you will be linked directly to that reference located on the CD. In other words, if you click on a statute reference, you will be linked to the complete text of that statute.

Article references are from the Constitution of the State of Oklahoma. O.S. references are from the Oklahoma Statutes, and refer to the 2001 edition. Supplemented statutes are indicated with the date “2003”.

This handbook is not intended to be a legal source to replace the Oklahoma State Statutes. In many cases the text paraphrases the statutes or interprets them in simpler language. For exact and complete statutory information, the reader should refer to the actual statute.

Procedures

This handbook includes some procedural information for accomplishing the duties of the County Commissioner’s office. Many times procedures will vary from one county to another. This handbook is not meant to mandate procedures, but should often prove useful to see how other counties perform certain tasks.
Forms

All of the forms mentioned in this handbook are contained in the County Treasurer’s Forms document or the County Clerk and Purchasing Forms document located on this CD.

Questions and Comments

We have made every attempt to provide as complete and accurate a handbook as possible. If you have any questions, comments, or suggestions, please contact the Center for Local Government Technology at Oklahoma State University, 405-744-6049, FAX 405-744-7268, email clgt@okstate.edu.
Chapter One
County Government in Oklahoma

The County Government System in Oklahoma

The 77 counties in Oklahoma serve as extensions or subdivisions of the State of Oklahoma. All counties receive their administrative powers from the state. The Oklahoma Constitution and the Oklahoma Statutes mandate and define all of the duties and responsibilities of county offices.

Some county officers are elected and others are appointed. Unlike municipal governments, county governments do not make new laws or ordinances. The state legislature enacts the laws that county governments enforce.
This chapter briefly explains the county government system in Oklahoma and discusses the duties and responsibilities of all county officials, both elected and non-elected.

Duties of County Government

County governments in Oklahoma have the following primary responsibilities:

- Maintaining the peace
- Protecting health and property
- Enhancing economic opportunity

Within these broad categories, county officers perform several functions:

- Enforcing the laws
- Building and maintaining county roads
- Maintaining official records
- Collecting, maintaining, and disbursing county revenues
- Helping to ensure the physical health and well-being of county citizens

County Officers

Elected County Officers

Oklahoma law stipulates that each county must have seven county offices, each one headed by an elected county officer. The following officers are elected by the eligible voters in the county at a general election.

- County Commissioners (three in each county)
- County Clerk
- County Assessor
- County Treasurer
- Court Clerk
- County Sheriff
- District Attorney

Oklahoma Constitution
Article 17 § 2

68 O.S. § 2814

Oklahoma Constitution
Article 17 § 2

19 O.S. § 215.1
Voters from one or more counties within a district select a District Attorney to represent that district.

Each elected officer serves a four-year term in office. The officer’s terms are staggered so that every two (even-numbered) years, the November general election includes ballots for only certain county officers.

- The District 1 and District 3 County Commissioners plus the County Treasurer, the County Assessor, and the District Attorney are elected in one election.
- The District 2 County Commissioner plus the County Clerk, the Court Clerk, and the County Sheriff are elected in one election.

County Commissioners

One County Commissioner is elected from each of three districts within the county. These districts must, by law, be approximately equal in population. County Commissioners serve on the Board of County Commissioners and act as the principal administrators of the county. Their duties include the following activities:

- Selling or purchasing public land or buildings for the county
- Approving the purchase of operating supplies, equipment, and services contracted for the county
- Supervising county road and bridge construction and maintenance
- Auditing the accounts of other county officers
- Developing personnel policies, designating holidays, and approving salaries for county employees
- Approving payment of the county payroll
- Auditing and approving tort claims against the county

OSU Extension Facts F-802, Duties and Responsibilities of Elected County Officials, in Appendix B contains a table showing the schedule of election years for elected county officers and contains detailed descriptions of the duties and responsibilities of elected county officers.
• Receiving and approving bids for major purchases or construction projects
  6 O.S. § 1101

• Authorizing and maintaining an inventory of all county property, owned or leased, that is valued at more than $250.00 and is not used in road or bridge construction
  19 O.S. § 1502

• Preparing the county budget in conjunction with other county officers

• Monitoring the county solid waste program

• Calling county elections for various purposes

• Reapportioning commissioner districts in accordance with Census Bureau criteria
  19 O.S. § 321B

• Purchasing surety bonds (blanket bonds) to cover all county officers and employees
  19 O.S. § 167
  19 O.S. § 622

The Board of County Commissioners holds a regular monthly meeting at the county seat. All meetings of this board are open to the public except for executive sessions, which can be closed sessions under certain circumstances as defined by the statutes.

County Clerk

The County Clerk is the principal record keeper of the county. All legal instruments, including plat maps, deeds, mortgages, oil and gas leases, liens, and military discharge papers that are filed with the county by private citizens and public officials are preserved by the County Clerk. Other duties of the County Clerk include the following activities:

• Serving as secretary for the Board of County Commissioners and other county boards such as the County Excise Board
  68 O.S. §§ 2861(E), 3005.1(A)

• Recording all appropriations and expenditures for each county office or department
  19 O.S. §§ 243, 244

• Preparing warrants [or checks] for paying county bills and payroll
  19 O.S. § 347
  62 O.S. § 471

• When serving as the county’s purchasing agent, purchasing or leasing and maintaining all county supplies and equipment
  19 O.S. § 1501

• Acting as the registrar of deeds
  19 O.S. § 287
County Assessor

The County Assessor assesses all property for ad valorem taxation and submits the value of each property to the County Equalization Board and later to the State Board of Equalization for approval. After receiving the certified millage rates from the County Excise Board, the County Assessor prepares the tax roll, which shows the taxes due on each county property and forwards the roll to the County Treasurer for tax collection.

The County Assessor also performs the following duties:

- Preparing and maintaining permanent records of all real and personal property including cadastral maps
- Implementing the four-year visual inspection program for all property
- Auditing any property for which the estimated fair cash value differs from the value submitted by the taxpayer
- Receiving and reviewing all applications for exemptions
- Serving as a member of the Board of Tax Roll Corrections

County Treasurer

The County Treasurer serves as the chief financial officer for the county and administers all county monies. The County Treasurer receives, deposits, and maintains records for all county monies; redeems county warrants; apportions taxes to various accounts and to local public entities such as schools and cities; keeps records of all payments and expenditures made by the county; and presents county records and financial statements to the State Auditor and Inspector for audit.

The County Treasurer also receives the annual tax roll and tax roll warrant, prepares the ad valorem tax statements, and mails the statements to the property owners. The County Treasurer collects all county ad valorem taxes, issues delinquent personal and real property tax notices, and initiates and supervises tax sales on real property for nonpayment of taxes.

Court Clerk

The Court Clerk’s primary responsibilities are to record, file, and maintain District Court proceedings and maintain books useful for locating past court proceedings. The Court Clerk keeps summaries of court actions in an appearance docket; maintains case files; collects fines, fees, and forfeitures; and distributes or expends collected funds.
monies as provided by law. The Court Clerk also issues legal warrants, court orders, passports, and marriage, beer, pool hall, and other county licenses.

County Sheriff

The County Sheriff is the chief law officer responsible for preserving the peace and protecting life and property in the county. The County Sheriff apprehends persons charged with criminal activity; operates the county jail; serves warrants and process papers of the District Court and other lawful authorities; handles various nuisances or dangers to the public; and handles safety matters. The County Sheriff may also assist the state in handling state prisoners.

County Budget Boards

Counties that have resolved to operate under the County Budget Act have Budget Boards composed of the eight elected county officers listed above. The Budget Board reviews the annual estimate of needs of each county department, revises these estimates if advisable, proposes a budget, conducts public hearings, and adopts a budget. The Budget Board also authorizes transfers of certain funds from one county budget account to another and may make supplemental appropriations to the budget.

District Attorney

The District Attorney is the chief prosecutor within each of 27 districts in Oklahoma. Most District Attorneys serve more than one county. The District Attorney performs the following duties and may be assisted by one or more Assistant District Attorneys. [ ]

- Serves as criminal prosecutor in district court
- Assists a grand jury with legal advice, witness examination, and indictments
- Provides witness and victim assistance
- Represents the county in all civil actions or proceedings in which the county is a party
- Serves as the principal legal counsel for county government

Non-Elected County Officers and Boards

County governments in Oklahoma are managed by both elected and non-elected officers. The following list includes officers and board members that might serve the county by appointment:

- County Engineer
- County Extension Office professionals

19 O.S. §§ 513, 514, 516, 526, 545
19 O.S. §§ 1403, 1407
19 O.S. §§ 215.1, 215.4
• Superintendent of Health
• County Medical Examiner
• [ County Safety Director ]
• [ Safety Coordinators ]
• County Board of Equalization members
• County Excise Board members
• Board of Tax Roll Corrections members
• [ County Emergency Management Director (Formerly the County Civil Defense Director) ]
• County Board of Public Welfare members
• County Election Board members
• County Free Fair Board members (elected within a Commissioner’s district at a mass meeting)

OSU Extension Facts No. 803, Duties and Responsibilities of Non-Elected County Officials, in Appendix B contains detailed information on the duties and responsibilities of non-elected county officers.

County Engineer
The County Engineer oversees county highway programs and may assist with maintenance and construction projects. The County Engineer also keeps records of county roadwork costs.

Counties may hire either a full-time or part-time engineer or may enter into a contract with an engineering consultant. Several counties may share the services of one engineer. In some cases, the State Department of Transportation may provide engineering services.

[ Counties may now join with other counties located within their Association of County Commissioners of Oklahoma (ACCO) districts to form Circuit Engineering Districts (see Chapter Thirteen, Duties of the County Commissioner: Circuit Engineering Districts). Counties within these Circuit Engineering Districts may share an engineer hired by, or under contract to, a district. ]

County Extension Office Personnel
The Oklahoma Cooperative Extension Service (OCES) maintains the County Extension Office and hires, with the approval of the Board of County Commissioners, the County Extension Office Director.
OCES represents a federal, state, and county partnership that serves as a link between the state’s land-grant University (Oklahoma State University) and the people of Oklahoma. It provides non-biased, research-based information on a variety of topics.
Through the County Extension Office staff, OCES provides educational resources and programs organized into four major areas:

- Agriculture
- Family Life, Nutrition, and Health
- 4-H and Youth Development
- Rural Development

[ County Board of Health/Superintendent of Health ]

[ The County Board of Health consists of five members, two appointed by the State Commissioner of Health, two by the county commissioners, and one by the district court. This Board establishes and maintains a county health department, a district health department, or a cooperative health department.

Two or more boards of health may form a health district. County boards of health and/or health districts may join cities, towns, and schools to form cooperative departments of health. Primary purposes include prevention and control of disease and other health dangers, education of the public, providing preventive services, keeping vital records, and assisting the State Commissioner of Health. Financing is achieved by county mill levy, state funds, user fees, and sometimes an earmarked sales tax.

For any county without a health department and which does not participate in a district health department, the State Commissioner of Health appoints a county superintendent of health. ]

County Medical Examiner

The Oklahoma Chief Medical Examiner appoints medical examiners for each county to investigate the cause and manner of deaths within the county and to make written reports.

County Safety Director

[ The Board of County Commissioners must appoint an individual to coordinate all county safety programs. This individual must ensure that safety classes on subjects related to that office are provided at least quarterly for all county employees. ]
[Safety Coordinators]

Each county officer may also appoint a Safety Coordinator to coordinate safety programs for employees in that office. The Safety Coordinators report to the County Safety Director. ACCO publishes the ACCO Fire and Safety Manual, which contains additional information about safety in county offices.

County Board of Equalization Members

The primary duty of the three members of the County Board of Equalization is to ensure equalization of property taxes. The County Board of Equalization hears protests, reviews property tax assessment records, reviews homestead exemption applications, and corrects errors. The board members may raise or lower appraised values of properties, add omitted property to the tax roll, declare certain property non-taxable, and make other tax-related decisions.

Members of the County Board of Equalization also serve on the County Excise Board. The Board of County Commissioners, the Commissioners of the Oklahoma Tax Commission, and a district judge, or a majority of district judges, each appoints one member to the County Board of Equalization. The County Clerk serves as secretary to this board.

County Excise Board Members

The County Excise Board, composed of the members of the County Board of Equalization, oversees and reviews all county, school district, and city budgets to determine if they are legally and adequately funded within the revenues available. This board also performs the following functions:

- Reviews and approves the county budget
- Fixes the tax levy or millage rate
- Gives public notice that the budget and tax levies are open to public discussion

The County Excise Board meets at the county seat on the first Monday of July each year to organize and elect a chairman and vice-chairman to perform excise duties for that fiscal year. The County Clerk serves as secretary to the County Excise Board.

Board of Tax Roll Corrections Members

Members of the Board of Tax Roll Corrections include the Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners as chairman, the Chairman of the Equalization Board as vice-chairman, and the County Assessor

68 O.S. § 2861
68 O.S. § 2861(E)
68 O.S. § 3005.1
68 O.S. §§ 3006, 3007
68 O.S. § 2871
as a member. The County Clerk serves as secretary, but is a non-voting member.

This board investigates reports of errors in the certified tax rolls and corrects these errors when warranted. Such corrections might include mathematical errors or missing information such as a homestead exemption.

County Emergency Management Director

The [County Emergency Management Director, formerly called the County Civil Defense Director,] manages the County Emergency Management Program, which is a coordinated effort of local, state, and federal governments to maintain procedures and resources sufficient to meet emergency situations ranging from natural disasters to enemy attacks.

[The County Emergency Management Director also works with the county’s Local Emergency Planning Committee (LEPC). These committees are responsible for helping to facilitate communications between facilities that handle hazardous materials and their respective communities. This activity is mandated by the Risk Management Program (RMP) provisions of the federal Clean Air Act Amendments of 1990.]

The County Board of Public Welfare Members

The State Welfare Commission appoints members to the County Board of Public Welfare, which administers state and federal assistance programs for needy persons such as disabled or handicapped adults and children and dependent children. 56 O.S. § 163

County Election Board Members

The State Election Board appoints three members to the County Election Board who are responsible for ensuring that all of the steps necessary to organize, administer, and hold official elections are performed correctly. These steps include printing, distributing, collecting, and counting ballots and delivering them to the State Election Board. The County Election Board appoints a secretary, and an election judge, clerk, and inspector in each precinct. 26 O.S. § 2-124

County Free Fair Board Members

The nine members of the County Free Fair Board are generally elected at a mass meeting called by the Board of County Commissioners. Three members from each County Commissioner’s district are chosen. These members manage the fair ground facilities and conduct the county free fair, junior livestock show, and other events. 2 O.S. §§ 15-51, 15-52

Other Non-Elected Officers

Other non-elected county officers may serve with other county organizations, which might include the following groups:

- County Law Library Board of Trustees 20 O.S. § 1204, 1205, 1208
- City-County Park and Recreation Commission 19 O.S. § 1002, 1004
- Land Use Planning Commission 19 O.S. § 863.1
- County Hospital Board of Control 19 O.S. § 789, 790.1
Chapter Two
Sources of County Revenue

This chapter explains the sources of revenue for counties in Oklahoma and discusses the various revenue funds that counties can operate.

County Funds

The County General Fund

The County General Fund is the main revenue account for the county.

The County General Fund is typically used to pay all county official’s salaries plus many expenses for county maintenance and operation. It also provides revenue for various budget accounts and accounts that support special services and programs. Table 2-1 shows some options.

The Board of County Commissioners must review and approve all expenditures made from the County General Fund.

The primary revenue source for the County General Fund is usually the county’s ad valorem tax collected on real, personal (if applicable), and public service property. Smaller amounts of revenue can come from other sources:

- Fees and collections
- County sales and/or use tax
- State transfer payments
- In-lieu taxes
- Reimbursements

In Figure 2-1, a graph shows the average general fund county revenue sources for FY 2002. This graph depicts the average general fund sources for all 77 counties in Oklahoma. Not all counties receive revenue from all of the items included in the graph. For example, not all counties have a county sales tax.

Ad Valorem Tax Collections

The Oklahoma Constitution and the Oklahoma Statutes authorize counties to create a general fund, which is the county’s primary source of operating revenue.

Ad valorem means “according to value” or “in proportion to value.” Most people use the terms ad valorem and property tax interchangeably. Property tax is an ad valorem tax because the amount of tax is directly proportional to the taxable value of the property.

Property taxes are measured in mills. A mill is one-thousandth or $1 tax for every $1,000 of taxable value. Taxable value (assessed value) is equal to the fair cash value multiplied by the assessment percentage or ratio.

The County Excise Board can lawfully set the levy not to exceed fifteen mills (five of which is apportioned for school district purposes). They can then apportion the anticipated revenue among the county, cities, towns, and school districts.

Table 2-2 shows the ad valorem taxation process and the responsibilities of the various county offices in that process.

Table 2-3 shows a hypothetical computation of the property tax due on an $80,000 house in a county where the assessment ratio is 12% and the levy is 80 mills.

Ad valorem taxes are collected on two types of property: real property and personal property.

Real Property

Real property consists of land or a combination of land and building improvements. The County Assessor determines the fair cash value according to how this real estate is being used. Any change in the property during the year, such as new construction or the removal of a building, results in a reassessment. The assessor must reassess each piece of real property at least every four years.

Personal Property

Personal property includes individual personal property and business personal property.

Individual personal property includes such things as clothing, furniture, tools, jewelry, silverware, sporting equipment, pianos, grain loaders, saddles, and other items.

Oklahoma Constitution
Article 10, § 8A

Note

For counties that have passed the county option to abolish household personal property and livestock in support of the family, the constitutional 10-mill limitation is increased to compensate for the loss in the tax base and make the tax base revenue neutral in tax collections [in the year in which it was passed by a vote of the people.]

Note

The Oklahoma Constitution limits the real property applied assessment percentage to between 11 and 13.5% of fair cash value and the personal property applied assessment percentage to between 10 and 15% of fair cash value. [These amounts can be changed by county-wide vote of the people.]

The [Oklahoma Ad Valorem Mill Levies, Fiscal Year 2004,] published by the Oklahoma Cooperative Extension Service at OSU, contains a statewide, comprehensive listing, by county, of statewide local government millages.

Business personal property includes commercial, business, and professional equipment such as furniture, machinery, merchandise inventories, merchandise on consignment, and merchandise on leased land.

Counties can elect to abolish household personal property taxes.

Note

Exemptions to Ad Valorem Taxations

The Oklahoma Statutes provide for tax exemptions for governmental, educational, religious, and charitable institutions.

They also provide for other exemptions such as the homestead exemption.

Homestead Exemption

Persons who own homes in the county are eligible for a homestead exemption provided the home is their actual permanent residence and they are citizens of Oklahoma.

A homestead is exempt from ad valorem taxation up to $1,000 of the assessed value. (The property's taxable valuation less $1,000)

68 O.S. §§ 2888, 2889
Persons who purchased homes during the past year are eligible for a homestead exemption if the following two criteria apply:

1. The persons were actually living on the property on January 1 of the current taxable year.
2. The deed or other evidence of ownership has been or will be filed for record in the County Clerk’s office prior to February 1 in the year in which the owner first applies for the homestead exemption.

Property owners are not entitled to homestead exemption if any of the following criteria apply:

- The owner is not actually residing on the property on January 1 of the taxable year.
- The property is rented.
- The deed or other conveyance of title is not on record in the County Clerk’s office prior to February 1 of the year in which the owner first applies for the homestead exemption.
- The title to the property is in probate (except for the surviving spouse or minor children living on the property).

Additional Homestead Exemption

An additional homestead exemption is an additional exemption allowed to any homeowner who meets the following conditions: 68 O.S. § 2890

- The homeowner is eligible for a homestead exemption.
- The homeowner’s gross household income is $20,000 or less for the preceding year.

Ad Valorem Tax Refunds or Credits

A head of household can qualify for a refund or credit of ad valorem tax payments if the following conditions apply: 68 O.S. § 2906

- The person is totally disabled or is 65 years of age or older.
- The person’s gross household income is $12,000 or less.
- The person has been living in the state during the entire preceding year.

Fees and Collections

Fees and collections are another source of revenue for the County General Fund. They are revenue sources generated by a political subdivision. Fees are charged for services provided. The services and accompanying fees may be established by the legislature, municipal ordinance, or an administrative action by a governing board. Collections are the revenues obtained from the fees.

For example, the County Clerk collects a fee for recording deeds and other legal documents. Cities and town establish fees for issuing permits, providing utilities, animal licenses, and other services. The various fees and collections are included on the financial statement.

County Sales Tax

County sales tax revenues can also be placed in the County General Fund. Any county with a population of 300,000 or less may levy up to a 2% county sales tax. Counties with populations larger than 300,000 may levy a restricted tax of one-half of 1% or 1% to finance certain facilities.

County sales tax revenues can also be kept in a separate revolving fund that has been specifically set up for that purpose.

To institute a county sales tax, the Board of County Commissioners must call an election or an initiative petition must be completed. In either case, an election is held to perform the following activities:

- Implement the tax
- Set the tax levy
- Set the duration of the tax which may be for a specific or indefinite time period
- Set the use(s) for which the sales tax collections will be used

A simple majority of the eligible voters in the county is required to pass the sales tax.

Sales tax revenues may be used for general operations, capitol improvements, county roads, or other necessary uses as designated. Such uses must promote the safety, security, and the general well being of the people of the county.

Incorporated cities and towns are allowed to levy a sales tax. Any municipal sales tax would be in addition to the 4.5 percent levied by the state and the maximum two percent allowed for county government. The amount of a municipal sales tax must be approved by a majority vote of the registered voters at a general or special election.

County Use Tax

Counties can also levy an additional excise tax (“use” tax) on tangible personal property that is used, stored, or consumed within the county or municipality.

Refer to OSU Extension Facts F-765, Use Tax for County Government in Appendix B for additional information on use tax.

State Transfer Payments

The State of Oklahoma makes transfer payments to counties, cities, towns, and school districts, some of which are deposited into the County General Fund. Some state transfer payments may be deposited into various cash funds, which are discussed later in this chapter. State transfer payments are generated primarily from the following sources:

- County Bridge and Road Improvement Fund
- Motor fuel excise taxes
- Special fuel taxes
- Collections
- Forfeiture taxes
- Motor vehicle license and registration fees
- Gross production tax

In addition, school districts receive funds from the state rural electric co-op tax according to the number of miles of power lines within each district. Cities and towns receive funds from the state alcoholic beverage tax based on total area and population. Counties and municipalities with racetracks also receive monies from admission fees.

The Oklahoma Tax Commission makes transfer payments to the County Treasurer for counties and school districts. Cities and towns receive their shares directly from the Oklahoma Tax Commission.

Table 2-4 shows the sources and uses of state monies that are transferred to counties.

The Oklahoma Tax Commission booklet, State Payments to Local Governments, summarizes the monies returned to each political subdivision and provides statute references for tax authorization and apportionment.

In-Lieu Taxes

In-lieu taxes, which are deposited into the County General Fund, are taxes that substitute for, or take the place of, ad valorem taxes. In lieu taxes come from the following sources:

- Auto Tax Stamps
- Registration fees and taxes on aircraft
- Registration and licenses for vessels and motors
- Textile taxes
- Farm tractors and equipment
- New vehicle inventory

Reimbursements

Counties may receive reimbursement revenues such as the following examples, which also go into the County General Fund.

- All local jurisdictions (such as school districts or road districts) that benefit from ad valorem assessment pay a pro-rated share of the total visual inspection budget for the County Assessor’s program of visual inspection where county properties are visually inspected at least once every four years and revalued annually. This cost is included in the county budget and the local jurisdictions reimburse their shares of the cost to the county.

- The county initially pays for certain expenses for the District Attorney, but the state, through the District Attorneys Council, reimburses the county for certain expenses that the county is not required to provide, such as maintenance, operation, and capital outlay. Counties must provide the District Attorney with office space, including heating, cooling, and maintenance of that space; a law library and necessary legal subscriptions; and funds for investigation, prosecution, or defense of any action where the county is a party.

- The county initially pays salaries and fringe benefits for each election board secretary, but the state, through funds appropriated by the state legislature, reimburses the county at a rate not to exceed 135% of the specified salaries. The county files claims for this reimbursement with the Secretary of the State Election Board.
• The county may receive reimbursements for ad valorem exemptions such as additional homestead exemptions; exemptions granted for new or expanded manufacturing or research and development facilities; and state owned agricultural land for which no state agency is making an in-lieu ad valorem payment.

Special Revenue Funds

Ad Valorem Funded Special Revenue Funds

The proceeds of specific revenue sources that can be expended only for specified purposes as restricted by the statutes are held in special revenue funds. The following funds are examples of special revenue funds that derive revenue from ad valorem tax levies:

• County Health Department

• County Building

• Emergency Medical Services

• [Solid Waste Management District - 3 mills (Assessor HB)

• County Industrial Development Fund – 5 mills

• Cooperative Library – 1~4 mills

• County Sinking Fund]

Cash Funds

Special revenue funds whose revenues are not derived from ad valorem tax levies are commonly called cash funds and, as special revenue funds, must be accounted for separately. Accounts within a cash fund are not subject to fiscal year limitations, which means that any cash surplus in an account at the end of a fiscal year remains with that account at the beginning of the new fiscal year.

Cash fund revenues come from three sources:

1. Excise taxes that the State of Oklahoma collects and distributes to counties

2. State of Oklahoma contributions from its General Revenue Fund

3. Local collections of monies

Cash funds differ from the County General Fund in one important way. County General Funds can be apportioned by the County
Sources of Revenue

Excise Board according to anticipated receipts. Revenue in cash funds must be actually collected before it can be disbursed. The following are some examples of county cash funds:

- County Sales Tax Fund
- County Assessor’s [ Fee ] Revolving Fund
- Emergency Management Fund
- County Community Service Sentencing Program (CSSP) Fund
- County Commissioners’ Litter Reward Fund
- County Highway Fund
- County Commissioners’ Flood Plain Cash Fund
- County Clerk’s Lien Fee Fund
- County Fair Board Free Fair Fund
- Court Clerk’s Child Abuse Prevention Fund
- District Attorney’s Bogus Check [ Restitution ] Fund
- County Sheriff’s Training Fund
- County Sheriff’s Service Fee Fund
- County Sheriff’s Prisoners’ Board Fund
- County Treasurer’s Resale Property Fund
- County Sheriff’s Trash Dumping Fund
- County Treasurer’s Mortgage Certification Fee Fund
- Preservation Fee Fund (Effective July 1, 2001)
- Copy Fee Fund
- [ County Lodging Tax Revolving Fund ]
- [ Free Fair Building Fund (authorization to invest monies) ]

Special Cash Funds

Some special cash funds are established periodically as the need arises for federal and state grant programs such as the following examples:

- Home rehabilitation grant fund
- Rural water district fund
- Fire district fund
- Special road/bridge repair fund
These special funds are usually set up for the life of the grant program or the special construction project. At the end of the project, the fund is closed. For example, after a storm-related disaster, Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) funds might be deposited into a special account for replacing washed-out bridges. The fund is active only until the project is finished.

Cash Fund Appropriations

A cash fund appropriation is an appropriation made on a periodic basis, usually monthly or quarterly, into a specific cash fund after monies have been received.

A cash fund is designated for a specific purpose and its revenues usually come from monies collected by the state and transferred to the counties. All cash funds have a title that identifies where the revenue is deposited and for what it is to be used. Revenue from one cash fund cannot be transferred to another fund.

A cash fund appropriation cannot be made until the revenue is received and deposited into the fund. Once cash funds have reached the County Treasury, county officials can begin to appropriate these funds. Requests for cash fund monies are made on SA&I Form No. 308, Cash Fund Estimate of Needs and Request for Appropriation. Budgets and appropriations are discussed in Chapter Three, The County Budget Process.

Upon receipt of the monies, the Board of County Commissioners approves an estimate of needs and forwards the request for appropriation to the County Excise Board. [In Budget Board counties, _____]

The County Treasurer, the Board of County Commissioners, the County Clerk, and the County Excise Board are involved in the appropriation procedure and should follow the steps indicated on the form.

1. The County Treasurer prepares part one of the form for the Board of County Commissioners. This part certifies the amounts available for appropriation into the various cash funds.

2. The Board of County Commissioners submits the amount needed and specifies the purpose of the proposed expenditures to the County Excise Board. The Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners signs the request on the second part of the form.

3. The County Clerk maintains the appropriation ledger, which shows the balance and expenditures for each fund.
4. The County Excise Board reviews the County Treasurer’s certification and the Board of County Commissioner’s request to determine that the funds are available and that the Board is requesting them according to law. If these two criteria are met, the County Excise Board members approve the request and sign the third part of the form.

In counties with a Budget Board, final approval is made by the Budget Board rather than the County Excise Board.

Once the form is completed, the [county officer governing the cash fund] has legal authorization to expend the funds.

Capital Projects Funds

Money used to acquire or construct major capital facilities is maintained in a capital project fund. For example, money from a road bond issue is recorded in a capital project fund along with expenditures for the road improvement project.

Debt Service Funds

To ensure the adequate accumulation of principal and interest to retire a debt, accounting is maintained through a debt service fund called a sinking fund. Debt issues are typically designed so that the size of the debt service payments (both principal and interest) is very similar from one year to the next. Therefore, the ad valorem tax levy collected and placed in the sinking fund is about the same from year to year. The exact mill levy each year depends on the debt service payment and the taxable valuation.

Special Assessment Funds

Sometimes public improvement districts are established in which the property owners who receive a direct benefit from the improvement pay a proportional share of the expense. The money paid to finance such projects is recorded in a special assessment fund.

Audit Funds

The following funds are classified as audit funds by the Office of the State Auditor and Inspector.

Proprietary Funds

Proprietary funds follow the accrual basis of accounting. Revenues are recognized in the accounting period in which they are earned and become measurable. Expenses are recognized in the period in which they are incurred.
Enterprise Funds

When a county intends to finance the provision of goods or services through user fees or charges, an enterprise fund is used to account for the revenues earned, expenses (including depreciation), and net income from the function. The Oklahoma County parking garage is an example of an enterprise fund project.

Internal Service Funds

Some functions within county government are to provide goods and services to multiple individual departments from a centralized source. For example, a county may have a central source for office supplies for all county offices. Revenue and expenditures for such functions are accounted for in internal service funds.

Fiduciary Funds

Fiduciary fund revenues and expenditures are recognized on the basis consistent with the fund’s accounting measurement objective as explained in the examples of fiduciary funds below.

Trust and Agency Funds

Trust and agency funds account for assets held by the county in a trustee capacity or as an agent for individuals, private organizations, other governmental units, or other funds. Such funds include expendable trust, nonexpendable trust, pension trust, and agency funds. For example, a self-administered retirement fund for employees would be a trust and agency fund.

- Expendable trust funds are handled in the same way as governmental funds.
- Nonexpendable trust funds and pension trust funds are handled in essentially the same way as proprietary funds. They are accounted for on the modified accrual basis.
- Agency funds are purely custodial and do not involve measuring changes in financial position. These funds assets and liabilities are accounted for on the accrual basis.
Other Sources of County Revenue

Funds for County Road and Bridge [Construction and Maintenance]

[Both the federal government and the state provide funds to counties to assist in county road and bridge construction and maintenance.]

County Bridge and Road Improvement Fund

The County Bridge and Road Improvement Fund receives a portion of the motor fuel excise tax. The Oklahoma Department of Transportation (ODOT) divides the monies among all of the counties based on various formulas. These formulas take into account county population, miles of county roads, and county land area.

ODOT maintains each county’s share in a separate account, and that money can only be used by that county. Any cash balances in the account at the end of the year are carried over to the next year.

[Seven possible uses are defined in the statutes.]

Other Funds

[Other funds for road and bridge construction and maintenance include Force Account Projects, federal Surface Transportation Program funds, and Extraordinary Bridge Program funds. For more information, refer to “Financing for Bridge and Road Construction and Maintenance” in Chapter Fourteen, Duties of the County Commissioner: Roads and Bridges.]
Chapter Three
The County Budget Process

Budget Preparation

County officers, the County Excise Board, and sometimes County Budget Boards are required by law to perform several very important functions in the process of budget preparation and review.

This chapter discusses the purpose of budgets in general, the elected officials’ roles in the annual budget process, and the County Excise Board’s and County Budget Board’s responsibilities and authorities in budget review and approval. [It also addresses, in particular, the County General Fund. Other funds, such as the Highway Fund, are budgeted and appropriated monthly, rather than annually.]

To ensure fiscal responsibility and accountability of public officials to the law and the people that they serve; Oklahoma State law requires all units of local government to prepare an annual financial statement.
The Purpose of a Budget

Preparing a well-researched and carefully planned budget should help the money manager perform two important tasks:

1. Reviewing the source and expenditure of funds during the past fiscal year
   This step reveals how effectively money has been spent and how efficiently programs and projects have been administered.

2. Proposing expenditures on the basis of revenues anticipated during the coming year
   This step shows how to efficiently continue or increase past expenditures, and how to prioritize spending for the next fiscal year.

Forms Related to the Budget Process

The County Clerk purchases all forms related to the county budget process. The County Clerk distributes these forms to county offices upon request.

OSU Extension Facts F-886, County Budget Process, in Appendix B contains information on the budget process in counties in Oklahoma.
The following forms are the primary forms used in the county budget process:

- County officers annual report form, SA&I Form No. 1161 and SA&I Form No. 1162
- Cash Fund Estimate of Needs and Request for Appropriation, SA&I Form No. 308
- Certificate of Levy
- Estimate of Needs and Financial Statement, SA&I Form No. 2631R97
- Officer’s Request for Supplemental Appropriation, SA&I Form No. 388
- Supplemental Appropriation, SA&I Form No. 150
- Transfer of Appropriations, SA&I Form No. 237

Budget Submissions

In most counties the County Excise Board is responsible for approving the budget and appropriations. In most counties, the County Excise Board revises the budget if needed. Some counties, however, have elected to have a County Budget Board, which is largely responsible for budget revisions. Table 3-1 summarizes the differences between the two county budget systems.

County Budgets in Counties Where County Excise Boards are Responsible for the Budget

Most counties use the Commissioner/Excise Board Budget Method. The Board of County Commissioners prepares and submits Estimates of Needs for the county to the County Excise Board. The County Assessor must also submit an Estimate of Needs for the visual inspection program to the County Excise Board. Table 3-2 shows the fiscal timetable for counties that use the Commissioner/Excise Board Budget Method.

The County Excise Board

Each county has one County Excise Board, which is an agency of the state, created by law, as part of a system of checks and balances required by the Oklahoma Constitution. This board is composed of members of the County Board of Equalization. These members are appointed in the following manner:

• One member by the Oklahoma Tax Commission
  [ As a matter of practice, the Oklahoma Tax Commission typically seeks the advice of the county’s state senator. ]
• One member by the Board of County Commissioners
• One member by the District Judge or a majority of the District Judges in all judicial districts with more than one District Judge

The County Clerk serves as secretary to the County Excise Board.
The tenure of the County Excise Board must be coterminous with that of the County Commissioners in Districts 1 and 3, and must follow other requirements set forth in the statutes. The County Excise Board must perform the following functions:
  • Require adequate and accurate reporting of finances and expenditures for all budget and supplemental purposes from all county entities
  • Provide each county officer with adequate funds for the performance of mandatory constitutional and statutory governmental functions within the financial means available
  • Other duties as defined in the statutes

The County Excise Board meets at the county seat on the first Monday in July each year, or on a date determined by County Excise Board members. The board organizes and elects, for the upcoming fiscal year, one of its members as chairman and another member as vice-chairman to perform certain duties as required by law.

Abstract of Assessed Valuations

Within ten days after receiving the certificates of assessment of [centrally assessed properties] (all the railroads, air carriers, and public service corporations), and the equalized value of real and personal property of the county, the County Assessor prepares and files an Abstract of Assessed Valuations for the county and each municipal subdivision within the county with the [ ] County Excise Board. These values are used in preparing the county budgets.

Who Submits Budgets

The following entities should prepare and submit budget estimates to the County Excise Board on SA&I-prescribed forms:
  • The Board of County Commissioners [(except in counties with budget boards)]
• The governing body of each city and town [ (except Municipal Budget Act cities) ]

• The board of education of each school district

Budget Planning Conference

The County Excise Board holds a budget planning conference with each principal officer and department head before July 1 to discuss personnel needs for the next fiscal year. Prior to this meeting, the board provides the principal officers with an estimate of probable revenues for the next fiscal year.

County Officers Annual Report

Following the budget planning conference, each county officer prepares the county officer’s annual report on SA&I Form No. 1161 and SA&I Form No. 1162, the county officers' annual report forms, which are provided by the County Clerk. This report is actually two reports: a financial report of earnings and expenditures and an estimate of needs. This report must be submitted to the Board of County Commissioners (through the County Clerk acting as the secretary to the Board) by the first Monday in July and consists of the following information:

- An estimate of earnings
- A report of prior expenditures
- An estimate of needs

The estimate of earnings and the report of prior expenditures show the income received along with the costs of operating the office in the outgoing fiscal year. The estimate of needs is an itemized statement of the revenue needed to operate the office during the upcoming fiscal year.

Role of Board of County Commissioners

On the first Monday in July, the Board of County Commissioners is required by law to meet to begin the following processes:

- Review the county officers’ annual reports
- Prepare the county’s financial statement for the fiscal year ended June 30
- Prepare the county’s annual estimate of needs for the next fiscal year ending June 30
County’s Annual Budget Report

The county’s annual financial statement and annual estimate of needs are prepared on SA&I Form No. 2631R97 by the Board of County Commissioners, constituting the county’s annual budget report (except in counties with budget boards.)

The financial statement should show a list of county monies received and disbursed during the previous fiscal year.

The itemized estimated budget for the next fiscal year should include the following information:

- The probable expenses of all elected officers and their departments for the coming year
- The amount required by law for any sinking fund
- Probable income from sources other than ad valorem taxes

The statutes do specifically prohibit the Board of County Commissioners from including any revenue from nonrecurring sources in this income estimate.

Publication of Financial Statement and Budget

When it is completed, the Board of County Commissioners must have printed a full and accurate statement of the assessments, receipts, and expenditures of the preceding year. The notice must be published in at least one newspaper in the county, or posted at the courthouse and at a public place in each precinct in the county.

Each financial statement and estimate of needs must be published in one issue in some legally qualified newspaper. An affidavit showing the publication must be attached when the financial statements and estimates are filed with the County Excise Board.

Presentation of Financial Statement and Budget to the County Excise Board

Before August 17, the Board of County Commissioners must submit the completed financial statement and estimated budget to the County Excise Board and sign the statement of certification, which certifies that the documents are filed in the County Clerk’s office. Usually the County Clerk, serving as secretary to the County Excise Board, files the documents in the County Clerk’s office and signs the certificate.
Review and Approval of the County Budget

In approving the county budget, the County Excise Board should follow certain procedures:

- Examine the financial statements of the county officers to determine the true fiscal condition of each fund and the accounts within each fund as of June 30 and request additional information when necessary.
- Examine the estimates of need for the following criteria:
  1. Determine if a request is lawful and adequate
  2. Provide for mandatory items that are not included
- Compute the total revenues available to each fund
- Revise the budget in whole or part through the following steps when the total estimate of needs exceeds the total revenues available:
  1. Reduce items for functions authorized but not required by constitutional law or statutory law
  2. If necessary, then reduce items for functions required by statutory law
  3. If necessary, then reduce items for functions required by constitutional law

The County Excise Board does not have the authority to deny an appropriation for a lawful purpose if the revenue and income are available.

Publication of Approved Budget

[ The County Clerk must publish a notice one time in a newspaper of general circulation in the county that the approved budget is completed and is on file, for inspection by any citizen, at the County Clerk’s office. ]

Transfer of Appropriations

The County Clerk receives requests for transfers of appropriations as secretary to the Board of County Commissioners. If the Board of County Commissioners makes any transfers of appropriations, the County Clerk makes the proper entries in the appropriation ledger and then notifies the County Excise Board in writing.

[ A transfer of appropriations occurs when monies are transferred within a fund from an account with a surplus to another account that needs additional revenues. Monies can be transferred within a fund but cannot be transferred from one fund to another fund. Thus, a transfer of appropriations neither increases nor decreases the fund’s balance.

A transfer of appropriations may occur between budget accounts in the County General Fund. For example, a transfer of appropriations within the County General Fund may be made from the nonexpended and nonencumbered balance of the appropriation of a county office with less urgent needs to the account of a county office with immediate urgent needs.

Money cannot be transferred between funds, for example, between the County General Fund and the county highway funds.

County officers make requests to the Board of County Commissioners for a transfer of appropriation on SA&I Form No. 237 entitled Transfer of Appropriations. The following information must be provided when requesting a transfer of appropriation:

- The additional needs that require a transfer of appropriation
- Reason for the additional needs
- Detailed list of items
- Detailed list of items proposed to be canceled in the account from which the transfer is made
- Written consent of the county officer in charge of the account from which the transfer is made

A transfer of appropriations requires the approval of the Board of County Commissioners, which permits both the transfer and the cancellation or reduction of the appropriation in the original account.

An appropriations account must have at least $1.00 in it before any monies can be transferred into it. Monies cannot be transferred into a zero-balance account. ]

Supplemental and Additional Appropriations

All requests for supplemental or additional appropriations are filed with the County Clerk as secretary to the County Excise Board. Requests are made on SA&I Form No. 388, Officer’s Request for Supplemental Appropriations. These requests must include specific information:

- Date of request

AG Opinion No. 85-20

68 O.S. § 3021
• Statement of amount and purpose
• A financial statement, as of the close of the preceding month, which indicates the following items:
  * Current expense
  * Amount of cash unexpended
  * Amount of taxes in process of collection
  * Amount of uncollected portion of estimated income other than ad valorem tax for current fiscal year
  * Amount of warrants outstanding and interest earned and accruing
  * Amount of expended balance of fund
  * Surplus or deficit in revenue, if any

[If sufficient “surplus” revenue is shown, the County Excise Board may approve the supplemental and additional appropriation. If the revenue is insufficient, the County Excise Board may revoke or cancel any previous appropriation and replace it with a supplemental and additional appropriation required for the good of the public.]

Temporary Appropriations

From July 1 each year until the time the various county budgets are approved, County Excise Boards can appropriate the amount of available funds estimated for the fiscal year for temporary appropriations.

If the County Excise Board approves a temporary appropriation, that appropriation must be merged into the annual appropriation and any warrants drawn against the temporary appropriation must be charged against the final approved annual appropriation for the current fiscal year, including capital outlay items.

City or Town Budgets in Counties Where County Excise Boards are Responsible for the Budget

[The governing body of each city and town must prepare a financial statement that shows the true fiscal condition of all its accounts and funds as of June 30. This body should also prepare an itemized statement of estimated needs and probable income from] sources other than ad valorem taxes for the new fiscal year. The financial statement and estimate of needs must be supported by schedules or exhibits that show, by categories, the amount of all receipts and disbursements.

Statement of Estimate of Needs

The statement of estimate of needs must be itemized to show, by classes, the following information:

- The amounts necessary for the current expenses of the city or town for each officer and department
- The amount required by law to be provided for any sinking funds (debt purposes)
- The probable income that will be received from all sources other than ad valorem taxes

The financial statement and estimate of needs must be published in a legally qualified newspaper within the county. Financial statements and estimates of need for towns must be filed with the County Excise Board on or before August 22. Statements and estimates for cities must be filed with the board on or before August 27.

Revenue received during the past fiscal year from any nonrecurring source, such as the sale of land, gifts, windfalls, forfeitures, and federal aid allotments are not to be included in the estimate of probable income.

School District Budgets in Counties Where County Excise Boards are Responsible for the Budget

The Board of Education of each independent school district must meet on the first Monday in July of each year, and the Board of Education of each dependent school district must meet on the second Tuesday in July of each year to prepare a financial statement for the previous year ending June 30.

The financial statement shows a list of monies received and disbursed during the previous fiscal year. In addition to the financial statement, an estimate of needs should be prepared that includes the following information:

- The current expenses of the school system
- The amount required by law for any sinking fund

---

68 O.S. § 3003
Probable income from sources other than ad valorem taxes
(Revenue from non-recurrent sources are not included.)

The financial statement and estimates of all school boards must be filed with the County Excise Board (or the County Clerk) on or before September 1 of each year.

County Budgets in Counties With County Budget Boards

Table 3-3 shows the fiscal timetable for counties with Budget Boards. The initial activities by the County Assessor in preparing the abstract of valuations are the same as in counties that use the Commissioner/Excise Board budget method. The primary difference between the two methods is that the Budget Board, not the Board of County Commissioners, considers the estimates of needs and prepares the proposed budget to present to the County Excise Board. The budget is also completed and approved much earlier in a Budget Board county.

The County Budget Board

A County Budget Board is established once the Board of County Commissioners votes to have the budget procedures come under the County Budget Act. The Budget Board consists of each elected county officer and should be structured in the following manner:

- The chairman is the chairman of the Board of County Commissioners.
- The vice-chairman is elected by the County Budget Board members and serves in the chairman’s absence.
- The secretary is the County Clerk.

If a vacancy occurs in a county office, then the position on the County Budget Board remains vacant until the office is filled in the manner prescribed by law.

The County Budget Act

The County Budget Act allows the elected county officials to work as a unit in preparing the county budget. The County Budget Act is structured to accomplish the following responsibilities:

- Establish a budget procedure for county governments
- Establish uniform fiscal procedures for the preparation, adoption, execution, and control of budgets
- Enable a county to make financial plans for both current and capital expenditures
- Make the financial condition and needs of the county available to the public and to investors
- Assist a county with governmental accounting, auditing and financial reporting standards

Once a county elects to come under the County Budget Act, this act takes precedence over any other state laws applicable to the county budget. Any action of the Board of County Commissioners to implement or repeal the application of this act must be effective at the beginning or the end of a budget year.

Meetings

The following rules apply to County Budget Board meetings:

- The County Budget Board must hold regular meetings on dates set by that board.
- The chairman or any two budget board members can call special meetings.
- A quorum comprises a majority of all members of the County Budget Board in office and is required to transact business.
- Any official action in adopting or revising the county budget requires a majority vote of all members of the County Budget Board.

Report of Estimated Revenues and Expenses

Each county officer, department head and commission must submit a report of estimated revenues and expenditures on a form provided by the County Budget Board. The information must be reported in the following manner:
1. Actual revenues and expenditures during the preceding fiscal year
2. Budget estimates for the current fiscal year
3. Actual revenues and expenditures for a period of six to nine months for the current fiscal year
4. Estimated actual revenues and expenditures for the current fiscal year
5. Estimated revenues and proposed expenditures for the new budget year

Prior to submitting this report, each county officer and department head must meet with the County Budget Board to discuss their needs.

Budget Preparation

The County Budget Board must prepare a budget for budgeted county funds thirty days prior to the beginning of the fiscal year. These budgets provide a complete financial plan for the upcoming budget year.

The Office of the SA&I prescribes the budget format, and it must include the following information:

- Revenues and expenditures for the preceding fiscal year
- Estimated revenues and expenditures for the current fiscal year
- Estimated revenues and expenditures for the new budget year

The following procedures must be followed when reporting the estimates of revenues and expenditures:

- The estimate of revenues must include the probable income by source that the county is empowered to collect or receive at the time the budget is adopted.
- The estimate of revenues must be based on past and anticipated receipts.
- Revenues from the ad valorem tax must be budgeted within the amount estimated by the County Excise Board as being available for appropriation.
- Expenditures must be budgeted within the estimated revenues for each fund.
- Miscellaneous expenditures cannot exceed 10 percent of the estimated revenues for a fund.

19 O.S. § 1411B
19 O.S. § 1410
19 O.S. § 1408
19 O.S. § 1408
Interfund transfers must show the funds to which and from which the transfers are made.

Three basic events occur before and during the budget preparation process:

1. Anticipated revenues by source and fund are provided by the County Excise Board.

2. The County Budget Board reviews budget requests of each county officer and department head.

3. The County Budget Board revises budget requests when justifiable and then finalizes the proposed budget.

The County Budget Board sets the date for receiving the County Excise Board’s report of anticipated revenues.

Classifying Revenues and Expenditures

Revenues must be classified by sources. Expenditures are reported by functions within each fund. The Office of the SA&I prescribes the accounting system used to classify revenues and expenditures. Functions for reporting expenditures are classified according to the following categories:

- Salaries and wages (Personnel Services)
- Employee benefits
- Operating expenses (M & O)
- Other charges from money channeled through the county (such as flood relief payments)
- Capital outlays
- Debt service

Public Hearings and Protests

The County Budget Board must hold a public hearing on the proposed budget no later than fifteen days before the new fiscal year. The date, time, and location of the hearing plus the proposed budget summaries must be published in a newspaper with a general circulation within the county at least five days before the hearing. Any person can present comments, questions, or criticisms at the public hearing.

Once a budget is adopted, it is filed with the County Excise Board and the Office of the SA&I. An affidavit that shows proof of publication must be affixed to the budget when it is filed. From the day the adopted budget is filed with the Office of the SA&I, a taxpayer has fifteen days to file a protest.

Budget Adoption

After the public hearings and at least seven days before the new fiscal year, the County Budget Board must adopt a budget for each fund. When adopting a budget, the County Budget Board has the following responsibilities:

- To add or delete items in each budget if necessary
- To ensure that expenditures do not exceed the estimated revenues in any fund

The adopted budget must be filed, along with the affidavit and proof of publication, with the County Excise Board, the County Clerk, and the Office of the SA&I on or before the first day of the budget year. When the adopted budget is filed, the following criteria take effect:

- The budget is in effect the first day of the new fiscal year.
- The budget constitutes an appropriation for each fund subject to the final approval of the County Excise Board.

County Excise Board’s Role

In counties under the County Budget Act, the County Excise Board has the following duties and powers:

- To provide estimates of anticipated revenues on or before the date set by the County Budget Board
- To examine the adopted budget
- To strike unlawful items from the adopted budget and reduce unlawful amounts to authorized levels
- To return the adopted budget to the County Budget Board if mandatory items or amounts are not provided, or if appropriations from ad valorem tax revenues exceed the revenues available.
- To approve the adopted budget if it is within the income and revenues available
- To compute levies
- To certify the approved budget to the County Budget Board, the County Treasurer, and the State Auditor and Inspector

The County Budget Board has fifteen days from the return of a budget to revise and resubmit it to the County Excise Board.
Amended Budget

The County Budget Board can amend budgets to allow for the following items:

- Supplemental appropriations
- Transfer of appropriations
- Transfer of special fund balance

Amendments for supplemental appropriations must be adopted by an official action of the County Budget Board. Copies of the supplemental appropriation must be filed with the County Clerk, the County Excise Board, and the Office of the SA&I.

Receiving Assistance and Audits

Office of the State Auditor and Inspector

Personnel at the Office of the State Auditor and Inspector can advise county officers on procedural and technical matters that relate to accounting and budget procedures. County officers may also seek legal and technical assistance from their district attorney.

The Office of the SA&I must perform an audit every two years of all of the books, records, and accounts of all of the officers of each county. The SA&I must file a copy of all audits with the Governor, the District Attorney, and the County Clerk.

The SA&I must transmit a copy of the letter of transmittal of each audit report to every legal newspaper published in the county where the audit report is filed with the County Clerk.

[The District Attorney]

[The Office of the SA&I may also require an audit of the books and records or any county official or custodian of any of the funds of the county after the death, resignation, or removal of office of any county official.]
Two extension fact sheets are included in Appendix B, which should be of interest to county officers regarding county finances. OSU Extension Facts F-901 discusses Financial Analysis for County Government. OSU Extension Facts F-902 is titled Comparison of County Government Finances and compares assessed values in counties.

The County Accounting System

Nicole Ham, Office Manager in Logan County, District 1, prepares invoices for payment at the district shop.

Generally Accepted Accounting Principles

Oklahoma follows the generally accepted accounting principles recommended by the National Council on Governmental Accounting (NCGA), which has developed a body of concepts and practices for accounting procedures for state and local governments. NCGA comprises governmental accountants and finance officers and is affiliated with the Governmental Finance Officers Association (GFOA).

Statement 1 of Governmental Accounting, Auditing, and Financial Reporting outlines these accounting principles and lists the following elements as the basic components of governmental financial reporting:

- Use of fund accounting
• Emphasis on financial flows (Incoming revenues and outgoing expenditures with remaining cash balances)
• Demonstration of compliance with legal requirements

This chapter briefly explains the county accounting system for counties in Oklahoma and discusses various funds and accounts, which affect county office finances.

Fund Accounting

The accounting systems in counties in Oklahoma are organized and operated on a fund basis. A fund is defined as a fiscal and accounting entity with a self-balancing set of accounts. Each account within a fund records a more narrowly defined activity that fits within the broader goals of the fund. For example, the County General Fund includes accounts for County Clerk, Court Clerk, and County Sheriff expenditures.

For accounting and financial management, each county has a combination of several distinctly different fiscal and accounting entities or funds. Each fund has a separate set of accounts and functions that are independent of other funds and accounts. The accounting process in Oklahoma counties uses three broad categories of funds.

1. Governmental Funds

   This category is the most frequently used fund category in county government. Governmental funds focus on the revenues, expenditures, and ending balances for most county functions. An example is the County General Fund, which is described in Chapter Two, Sources of Revenue, in this handbook.

   Governmental fund revenues and expenditures are recognized on the modified accrual basis. Revenues are recognized in the accounting period in which they become available and measurable. Expenditures are recognized in the period in which the money is encumbered (obligated). However, in the case of unmatured interest on long-term debt, such expenses should be recognized when they are due.

2. Proprietary Funds

   Any activity that is operated similar to funds in the private sector is accounted for through a proprietary fund. The main purpose of these funds is to determine net income, financial position, and changes in financial position. An example is a county property rental fund in the private sector.
3. Fiduciary Funds

Fiduciary funds account for assets held by the county in a trustee capacity for individuals, private organizations, other governmental units, or other funds. Examples of fiduciary funds are county employee pension funds and protest tax trust funds.

Budget Account

A budget account is a category within the County General Fund and is made up of items of appropriation. A budget account is also called a governmental budget account or an appropriation account. Items of appropriation include salaries, travel, maintenance and operations, computer operations, and capital outlays.

Each county office has a budget account within the County General Fund, and monies are appropriated into each account for the purpose of carrying out the regular duties of that office.

Estimate of Probable Income

An estimate of probable income is income for the County General Fund that is expected to be received in the new fiscal year from recurring sources.

The County Excise Board provides the county officers with an estimate of probable income each year prior to the budget planning conference. This information helps county officers in preparing the estimate of needs for their respective offices.

Transfer of Appropriations

A transfer of appropriations occurs when monies are transferred within a fund from an account with a surplus to another account that needs additional revenues. Monies can be transferred within a fund but cannot be transferred from one fund to another fund except in very limited circumstances. Thus, a transfer of appropriation neither increases nor decreases the fund’s balance. (Counties with a Budget Board, however, may transfer money from one fund to another to some extent.)

Please refer to Transfer of Appropriations in Chapter Three, The County Budget Process for a detailed explanation.

Transfer of Special Fund Balance

A transfer of special fund balance occurs when monies are transferred to the County General Fund from a special fund that is no longer needed. The laws that govern the special fund must be followed before the fund can be discontinued.
Warrants

A warrant is a claim against an appropriation account for payment of salaries, an item purchased, a service provided, or basically any expense incurred by the county. The County Clerk prepares all warrants, which are then approved by the governing board and signed by the chairman of that board.

The County Clerk delivers a signed warrant to the County Treasurer for registration and then sends the warrant to the employee or vendor to whom the payment is due. Each warrant includes the department, fund, and account to be charged for the expenditure.

Banks that handle the county’s monies notify the County Treasurer when a vendor has claimed a warrant. When money is available in a specific account, the County Treasurer redeems the warrant by writing a County Treasurer’s Check to the bank. All warrants must be redeemed by a check signed by the County Treasurer.

County Bank Accounts

All monies received in the County Treasurer’s office must be deposited into accounts in banks designated as county depositories by the Board of County Commissioners. County depositories may include banks, trust companies, credit unions, and savings and loan associations within Oklahoma. The two basic checking accounts are the Official Depository Account and the General Account.

Official Depository Account

The Official Depository Account is a trust or agency account maintained by the County Treasurer. All county officers must deposit with the County Treasurer all monies received by virtue of their offices. The County Treasurer is then responsible for depositing this money into the Official Depository Account and crediting each county officer’s depository account for the amount deposited.

All withdrawals from the Official Depository Account must be made on the official voucher of the county officer who made the deposit.

The General Account

Various monies collected by county officers and placed in the Official Depository Account must be transferred to the appropriate funds at the close of each month (on or before the second Monday following the close of the calendar month). This money is transferred using a county officer’s official voucher. Monies accruing to a fund... maintained by the county are transferred to the county’s General Account.

The General Account is the county’s principal checking account and contains all funds other than those in the Official Depository Account.

Note: The county General Account is not the same as the County General Fund described in Chapter Two, Sources of Revenue. The County General Fund is one of several funds contained in the General Account.

Security of County Money

OSU Extension Facts F-879, Is Your County Money Secured by Healthy Banks and Proper Collateral, in Appendix B provides some guidelines for safeguarding county money in banks or other financial institutions.

The Tort Claims Act

The original tort claim statute was passed in 1978 under the title, Political Subdivision Tort Claims Act, and numerous revisions have been made since then. This discussion covers only the latest form of those statutes and only those portions of the statutes that apply to county government.

The Governmental Tort Claims Act allows Oklahoma citizens to file claims and bring suits against state and county entities. In the Governmental Tort Claims Act, the State of Oklahoma waives its sovereign immunity and the sovereign immunity of political subdivisions of the state, including counties.
A tort is defined as a legal wrong, independent of contract, that involves the violation of a duty that results in a loss to any person, association, or corporation as the result of an act within the scope of employment of a public official.

Tort claims are claims brought by citizens against the county for damages. For example, if a person breaks a leg because of county roadwork, that individual might bring a claim against the county. Tort claims are filed with the County Clerk, who then presents them to the Board of County Commissioners.

A tort claim is not a lawsuit. The Board of County Commissioners must listen to tort claims and, in cooperation with their insurance provider or adjustor, determine whether they are justified. The claim must then be denied or damages awarded to the claimant. If the claimant’s claim is denied, the claimant has the option to file a lawsuit. In some counties, the safety committee considers claims.

[ If the county participates in a self insurance program or has coverage through an insurance carrier, the claim is referred to the insurance provider or adjustor. ]

Insurance

The county may secure liability insurance in any of the following ways:

- The county may insure itself against any and all liabilities it might incur for death, injury, or disability of any person or damage to property, real or personal.
- The county may insure any employee for liability from acts or omissions within the scope of their employment.
- The county may insure against the expense of defending a claim against the county.
- The county may insure itself or its employees against any loss, damage, or liability as defined in the statutes.

Any insurance secured by the county is considered a proper expenditure of county funds and may be provided in one or more of the following ways:

- Self-insurance
- Insurance from any authorized insurer

Filing Claims

All county officials should be aware that any person could file a claim against the county or its employees under the Governmental Tort Claims Act.

The following definitions explain some of the terminology in the act:

• Action - a court proceeding in which one party brings suit against another party

• Agency - any board, commission, committee, department, or other entity designated to act for the county

• Claim - any written demand presented by a claimant, in accordance with the Governmental Tort Claims Act, to recover money from the county as compensation for an act or omission of the county or its employees that has caused damage to the claimant.

• Claimant - a person or authorized representative who files a claim under this act. Only the following may be claimants and all claims for one occurrence or accident must be aggregated as one claim:
  * Any person holding an interest in real or personal property who suffers a loss
  * The individual actually involved in the accident or occurrence
  * An administrator or personal representative in the case of death

• County - a political subdivision of the state

• Employee - any person authorized to act in behalf of the county whether acting on a temporary or permanent basis, with or without pay, or on a full or part-time basis. Independent contractors or employees of independent contractors while acting in the capacity of an independent contractor are not included.
- Loss - death or injury to the body or rights of a person; damage to real or personal property
- Scope of employment - performance by an employee acting in good faith within the duties of his office or tasks assigned by a competent authority but not including corruption or fraud

Written Claim Procedures

Any person with a claim against the county must file a written claim with the County Clerk of the county in which the accident or occurrence happened within one year after the loss. If the person is incapacitated and unable to present the claim, the time is extended up to an additional 90 days.

When the claim is for death resulting from the accident or occurrence, the personal representative may present notice within one year after the loss.

Written notice of the claim must state the following information:

- The date, time, and place of the accident or occurrence
- The circumstances of the loss
- The compensation sought for the loss
- The name, address, and phone number of the claimant or the authorized agent

Failure to supply any of this information will not invalidate the claim, however, unless the claimant refuses to furnish it.

Any claims not filed within one year of the loss cannot be submitted. The County Clerk is not required to notify the claimant if the claim is denied. Denial is automatic at the end of one year unless a settlement is reached earlier. No court action can begin until the claim has been denied in part or in full, but must begin within 180 days of the claim denial.

Determining Liability

Extent of Liability

The following amounts are the county’s total liability arising from a single act, accident, or occurrence:

- $25,000 for any claim, or to any claimant with more than one claim for loss of property
$125,000 to any claimant for a claim for any other loss

For counties with populations of 300,000 or more, the maximum liability is $175,000.

One million dollars for any number of claims

Additional Claims

The Statutes prevent claimants from filing for extra "punishment" damages. Claimants cannot file a claim or bring action that includes a request for punitive damages (additional payment to act as a punishment to the county or county employee), nor can they file a claim asking for exemplary damages (additional payment or judgment to warn others not to commit similar acts).

Sometimes claimants will file claims that bring action against other parties in addition to the county. In situations where the claim includes the county as one party in a claim against several parties, the Statutes provide that the county is only liable for that percentage of total damages that corresponds to its percentage of total negligence.

Exemptions from Liability

The county is not liable for loss if a claim results from certain actions as described in the statutes. The following situations are a partial list of exempted claim actions that apply to counties.

- Claims for loss resulting from legislative functions
- Claims for loss resulting from judicial, quasi-judicial, or prosecutorial functions
- Claims for loss resulting from execution or enforcement of a lawful court order
- Claims for loss resulting from adoption, or enforcement of, or failure to adopt or enforce a law
- Claims for loss resulting from performance or the failure to perform an act or service which is at the discretion of the county or its employees
- Claims for loss resulting from civil disobedience, riot, insurrection, or rebellion or the failure to provide law enforcement or fire protection
- Any claim based on the theory of attractive nuisance

Note

51 O.S. 2003, § 154(B)
51 O.S. 2003, § 154(C)
• Claims for loss resulting from snow or ice conditions or temporary or natural conditions on any public way or place due to weather conditions, unless caused by negligence on the part of the county

• Claims for loss resulting from entry upon property where the entry is expressed or implied authorized by law

• Claims for loss resulting from natural conditions of state, county, or other political subdivision property

• Claims for loss resulting from assessment or collection of taxes, special assessments, license or registration fees, or other fees imposed by law

• Claims for loss resulting from licensing powers or functions

• Claims for loss resulting from inspection powers or functions, including failure to make an inspection or making an inadequate inspection of any property, real or personal, to determine whether the property complies with the law or contains a hazard to health or safety

• Any claim covered by any worker’s compensation act or any employer's liability act

• Claims for loss resulting from the absence, condition, location, or malfunction of a traffic sign or signal unless it is not corrected by the county within a reasonable time after knowledge of the situation, or has existed long enough that the county should have knowledge

The county is not liable if it initially fails to place a sign or signal if the decision to do so is a discretionary act by the county.

• Claims that are limited or barred by other law

• Claims for loss resulting from misrepresentation, if unintentional

• Claims for loss resulting from an act of omission by an independent contractor or its employees, subcontractors or suppliers

• Claims for loss resulting from theft by a third person of money in the custody of a county employee unless the employee was negligent or committed a wrongful act or omission
• Claims for loss resulting from interscholastic or other athletic contests sponsored or conducted by or on state or county property

• [ Claims for loss resulting from participation approved by a local board of education and held within a building or on the grounds of the school district before or after normal school hours or on weekends ]

• Claims for loss resulting from any court ordered or administratively approved work release program

• [ Claims for loss resulting from activities of the National Guard, the militia, or other military organization when on duty under the lawful orders of competent authority ]

• Claims for loss resulting from providing, equipping, operating, or maintaining a prison, jail, or correctional facility, including injuries resulting from parole or escape of a prisoner or by one prisoner to another prisoner

• [ Claims based on loss from providing, equipping, operating, or maintaining any juvenile detention facility, or injuries that result from a juvenile detainee’s escape, or injury by a juvenile detainee to any other juvenile detainee ]

• Claims based on a manufacturer’s product liability or warranty, either expressed or implied

• Claims or actions based on the theory of indemnification or subrogation

• Claims based on an act or omission of an employee in the placement of children

• Claims for loss resulting from acts or omissions done in conformance with current recognized standards

• [ Claims for loss resulting from maintenance of the state highway system unless the claimant proves negligence ]

• Claims for loss resulting from any confirmation of the existence or nonexistence of any effective financing statement on file in the Office of the Secretary of State made in good faith by an employee of that office

• [ Claims for loss resulting from any court-ordered community sentence ]
Settling Claims

If the county is not exempt from liability, the Board of County Commissioners must hear the claim and decide whether to award the claimant any damages.

If the county participates in a self insurance program or has coverage through an insurance carrier, the claim should be considered in cooperation with the insurance carrier or adjustor and the settlement of the claim should be referred to the insurance carrier or adjustor.

Claim Denial

A claim is considered to be denied if the county fails to approve the entire claim within ninety days, unless the county denies the claim or reaches a settlement before ninety days.

When claimants’ claims are denied, they have the option to file a lawsuit against the county. Claimants have 180 days after claim denial to take court action.

Claim Settlement

The county, after conferring with authorized legal counsel, can settle or defend against a claim or suit subject to prescribed procedural requirements. The county can also appropriate money to settle the claim.

Employee Defense

Prior to 1985, the statutes required that the county defend, save harmless, and indemnify employees against tort claims but these statutes have been repealed. Instead, the law provides that suits brought under the Governmental Tort Claims Act must name the county as the defendant, and under no circumstances will any employee who was acting within the scope of his or her employment be named as the defendant.

Additional amendments effective July 1, 1986 further require the county to defend employees when liability is sought for any violation of property rights or any rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the Constitution or laws of the United States as long as the employee was acting within the scope of his or her employment.

When a judgment or settlement is entered in any court of the United States, the State of Oklahoma, or any other state for violation of property rights or any rights, privileges or immunities secured by the... constitution or laws of the United States, payment must be made by the county up to the limits set by the law.

County’s Right to Recover Monies

The county has the right to recover from the employee the amount spent by the county in the defense, settlement, or judgment if it is shown that the employee’s conduct that caused the action was fraudulent or corrupt or if the employee fails to cooperate in the action.

Settlement and Payment

The county may, after conferring with authorized legal counsel, either settle the claim or defend against any suit that might be brought. In the event a settlement is reached which exceeds $10,000 and an applicable contract or insurance policy will not pay the payment required, the settlement must be approved by the District Court and entered as a judgment. If the county is covered by a contract or insurance policy, the terms of the contract or policy will govern the rights and obligations of the county concerning investigation, settlement, payment, and defense of the claims or suit. The insurer, however, cannot enter into a settlement that exceeds the amount of the insurance without approval of the county.

Payment Limitations

The county is not responsible, under any circumstances, to pay or indemnify any county employee for any punitive or exemplary damages, nor to pay for any defense, judgment, settlement, costs, or fees that are paid or covered by any applicable policy or contract of insurance.

In any civil rights judgment, the county can only pay or indemnify the percentage of fees and costs in the total award that the percentage of the award of actual damages bears to the total judgment awarded. The county can only indemnify its employees for actual damages, fees, and costs.

County Officials should use the information in this chapter as a guide only. Please refer to the Oklahoma Statutes for more detailed explanations. County officers should also consult their District Attorney for more details on tort claims and for legal advice and assistance.
The office of County Commissioner in the State of Oklahoma was created in the Oklahoma Constitution and has all of the rights and authorities of a constitutionally established office.

Filling the Office of County Commissioner

Each county in Oklahoma is divided into three districts, and each district elects its own County Commissioner. Each district’s Commissioner is a member of the Board of County Commissioners, which acts as the administrative body for the county.

Term of Office

Each County Commissioner’s term of office is four years and begins on the first Monday in January following the election the preceding November. The terms of office are staggered so that all three commissioners’ terms do not expire at the same time. District one and district three commissioner elections are in the same year (even-numbered year); the district two commissioner election is in the next even-numbered year.

However, if the office becomes vacant before the preceding County Commissioner’s term expires, a newly elected County Commissioner should assume office immediately. The following list includes some of the reasons a County Commissioner might vacate an office before the term expires.

- Death or resignation
- Removal from office or failure to qualify as required by law
- Final judgment against him or her for breach of the Official Bond
- Change of residency to outside the county
- Conviction of any felony or violation of official oath; providing no appeal is pending and final judgment has not been rendered
- A guilty or nolo contendere plea entered in a state or federal court for any felony or violation of the official oath

Conditions of Office

County Commissioners must abide by the following conditions of office:

- A County Commissioner cannot hold another political office in Oklahoma or the United States, or serve as a deputy in another political office.
- A County Commissioner cannot be a commissioned officer in any active or reserve unit of the military.
- A County Commissioner must carry out his or her duties in a conscientious, appropriate, and professional manner.

Vacancies

When the office of County Commissioner becomes vacant for any reason the Governor must call a special election within thirty days after the vacancy occurs unless the following conditions apply:

- The vacancy occurs before March 1 of any even-numbered year.
- The current term of the person vacating the office ends in the following year.

If these conditions exist, the Governor must appoint the candidate elected as County Commissioner at the Primary election, runoff Primary election, or the regular General Election as soon as practical after the applicable election to fill the unexpired term.

51 O.S. § 6A

Oklahoma Constitution Article 2 § 11

26 O.S. 2003, §12-111
Any questions regarding specific vacancy situations should be referred to the District Attorney’s office.

Resignations

If a County Commissioner resigns, a written resignation must be filed with the County Clerk. This resignation is effective on the date it is filed with the County Clerk unless some other time is specified.

Assuming the Office of County Commissioner

After election and before assuming office, the County Commissioner must sign and affirm an oath of office and sign a loyalty oath.

The Oath of Office

Signing and affirming an oath of office is required for all elected officials by Oklahoma law. The District Judge usually administers the oath of office to the County Commissioner on the first Monday in January. A sample oath is shown in Figure 6-1. The signed oath is filed with the County Clerk.

The Loyalty Oath

Signing a loyalty oath is required for all elected officials by Oklahoma law. A sample oath is shown in Figure 6-2, and it must be filed with the County Clerk.

Serving as County Commissioner

The Blanket Bond

The Board of County Commissioners must purchase a sufficient surety contract, or blanket bond to cover all elected officials and their employees. Please refer to Chapter Ten, Duties of the County Commissioner: County Administration for more details on blanket bonds.

Office Organization

When first organizing the office, the County Commissioner should take the following factors into consideration:

- Number of employees and their abilities
- Funds available for employees
- County size and office workload
- Type of management structure preferred

Newly elected or appointed County Commissioners may find it helpful to take advantage of existing organizational structures and knowledgeable personnel and make changes only as necessary until they become more familiar with the office.

Office Location

The Board of County Commissioners must provide office space, record storage, and supplies at the county seat for all County Commissioners and other county offices.

Office Personnel

Employees

Personnel who report to the County Commissioner normally hold the title of deputies.

Chief Deputy

The County Commissioner must designate a Chief (or first) Deputy (sometimes called a Foreman) who fulfills all of the duties of the office during any absence of the County Commissioner or in the event of death, removal from office, or resignation of a County Commissioner. [When the Chief Deputy fulfills the duties because of an absence by the County Commissioner, all actions should be performed as directed by the County Commissioner.]

The designation of the Chief Deputy must be approved by the Board of County Commissioners and entered into the minutes of the regular meeting at which the approval is given.

Note

Jessie Jones, Road Foreman, Payne County, District 3, talks to students participating in Grandparent University at OSU about work zone design and safety.
Additional Deputies

If any officer determines that additional employees are needed based on the office workload, proposals for increases in personnel must be made to the County Excise Board or the Budget Board, depending on the county. These boards will consider such requests based on the county budget and other county officials’ needs.

Personnel Policies

The Board of County Commissioners establishes personnel policies for all county employees with the approval of a majority of all county elected officers.

Chapter Ten, Duties of the County Commissioner: County Administration, explains the County Commissioners role in creating personnel policies in more detail.

Salaries

The Board of County Commissioners has the authority to recommend the total amount of funds that can be used for the combined salaries in each of the county offices. The County Excise Board must approve the budget. "County Excise Board" means the "County Excise Board" established by Section 180.65 of Title 19 O.S. such as employees of the county.
Board is responsible for reviewing and approving these recommendations. County officers' payroll budgets cannot exceed these approved funds.

Chapter Three in this handbook, The County Budget Process, contains detailed information on County Excise Boards and County Budget Boards.

The County Seal

The Board of County Commissioners must obtain and keep a seal to be used as the official seal of the county. 19 O.S. § 325 19 O.S. § 447

The Oklahoma Statutes

Upon assuming office, the County Commissioner should take possession of any Oklahoma Statutes, Session Laws, and Yearly Supplements from the outgoing County Commissioner. The County Clerk must file receipts for all copies of the statutes in the possession of designated county officials. If the statutes are missing, the County Clerk may requisition to purchase new ones as allowed under the county's purchasing procedures.

Statute Conflicts

When referencing statutes, be aware that more than one statute might contain provisions for identical or similar subjects. If any of these provisions conflict or contradict each other, the most recent statute or most specific statute must prevail. 75 O.S. § 22

Purchasing Procedures

All county purchasing is centralized in a single office and carried out by a single purchasing agent. The county purchasing agent may be the County Clerk or a deputy appointed by the County Clerk. New County Commissioners should determine who is the county purchasing agent and discuss purchasing procedures with that agent immediately after taking office.

The county purchasing agent's job is to act as the shopper for the county. The agent finds the most cost efficient products, places the orders, and makes all purchases paid for with county funds.

Requesting Officers

Upon assuming office, the County Commissioner must assign at least one individual, but not more than two people, to be Requesting Officers or individuals who can sign purchasing requisitions during any absence. This information must be filed with the County Clerk and entered into the Board of County Commissioners’ minutes.

Receiving Officers

The County Commissioner should also appoint at least one individual, but not more than two people, to serve as Receiving Officers, file their names with the County Clerk, and enter their names into the Board of County Commissioners minutes.

Receiving Officers determine that a valid purchase order exists for items received, that the items are in the condition requested, and then prepare a Receiving Report. Receiving Officers also maintain a record of all supplies, materials, and equipment received, disbursed, stored, and consumed by the department. Normally, one of the receiving officers is designated as the Inventory Officer.

Filing Signatures with the Secretary of State

Upon assuming office, The County Commissioner must sign the signature list for elected officials provided by the County Clerk. The County Clerk notarizes and certifies the list and files it with the Secretary of State.

If the County Commissioner or any other county officer uses some method of reproducing the signature such as a stamp, engraving, or imprinting, a facsimile must be filed with the Secretary of State along with the manual signature.

This chapter explains the County Commissioners’ responsibilities regarding meetings. The guidelines in this chapter must be followed for any official meeting held by any county board or group.

Meetings

The Board of County Commissioners can call four different types of meetings:

- Regular sessions
- Special meetings
- Executive sessions
- Emergency meetings

25 O.S. § 304
Regular Sessions

The Board of County Commissioners is required by Oklahoma Law to hold a regular session on or before the first Monday of each month to conduct county business. The Board must convene in the County Courthouse and remain in session as long as the public business requires.

The Board of County Commissioners can recess or adjourn its meetings within the session, either from time to time, from day to day, or on call of the Chairman. If this Board does not adjourn its session for any month, the session terminates and is adjourned by law on the last business day of the month. The County Clerk has the power to call special sessions if the county’s best interests demand it.

The Board can only vote or take action on items listed on the published agenda for the regular session.

Continued or Reconvened Meetings

The Board can reconvene a regular session at a later date. If the meeting is to be continued or reconvened, the public body must provide, at the original meeting, the date, time, and place of the continued or reconvened meeting.

Only matters that appear in the agenda of the continued or reconvened meeting can be discussed at that meeting.

The County Clerk or designated Deputy must attend all sessions of the Board of County Commissioners, record all proceedings, and sign and attest to the record.

Prior Notice of Meetings -Yearly

By December 15 of each year, the Board of County Commissioners must give written notice to the County Clerk of the schedule of regular sessions for the following year. The notice must include the following information about the meetings:

- Date
- Time
- Place

If the Board wants to change any of the meeting information, they must notify the County Clerk ten days before the meeting is scheduled.
Figure 8-1 contains a sample meeting schedule form for relating information about regular sessions for the next year to the County Clerk.

Prior Notice Before Each Meeting

All public bodies must also display public notice of a regularly scheduled meeting at least 24 hours prior to the meeting (excluding weekends and holidays). The notice must include the following information:

- Date
- Time
- Place
- Agenda

Posting a public notice does not mean that the public body cannot consider any new business at its meeting. The public notice must be posted in prominent [public] view [for 24 hours] at the public body's principal office or at the meeting's location, if no office exists.

Figure 8-2 contains a sample form that a County Clerk could use for the public notice of meetings.

Any change in the date, time, or place of a regular session must be given not less than ten days prior to implementing that change.

Election of a Chairperson

Board members must elect a chairperson during the first meeting in January of each year. The chairperson has the responsibility and authority to perform the following activities:

- Ensure that all members are treated fairly and courteously
- Ensure that the majority rules, but that minority rights are protected
- Keep the discussion focused on the matter at hand and see that the order of business is followed
- Call to a point of order or refuse to recognize a member who is obstructing proceedings or sidetracking discussion
- Decide points of order called by a member
- Appoint committees

The chairperson is also allowed to make motions, second motions, participate in discussions, and vote.

Special Meetings

The Board of County Commissioners can call special meetings during adjournment of the regular session. Special meetings cannot be held without giving public notice at least 48 hours prior to the meetings. This notice must be provided to the County Clerk in writing, in person, or by telephone, and must follow statutory guidelines.

The County Clerk must also provide written notice of the date, time, and place of the special meeting to each person, newspaper, wire service, radio station, and television station that has filed a written request for notice of meetings with the County Clerk. These notices must be mailed or delivered at least 48 hours prior to the special meeting.

The County Clerk can charge a fee of up to $18.00 per year to persons or entities filing a written request for notice of meeting, and can require them to renew the request for notice annually.

The County Clerk must also display a public notice of a special meeting at least 24 hours prior to the meeting (excluding weekends and holidays). This notice must be posted in a prominent place at the public body’s office or at the meeting’s location if no office exists, and must include the date, time, place, and agenda for the meeting. Only the matters that appear on the posted agenda can be considered at the special meeting.

The Board can reconvene a special meeting at a later date. At a continued or reconvened meeting, the Board can only discuss the items (including new business) that they listed on the agenda of the original special meeting.

Special Board of County Commissioners Meetings for Passing on Bills and Claims

If the Board of County Commissioners has adjourned its [ regular ] session before the last day of the month, the County Clerk has the power to call a special session to consider bills and claims when the best interests of the county demand it. A five-day advance notice should be given by posting notices in three public places in the county, or by publication in a county newspaper. These notices must give the time and purpose of the meeting.

Executive Sessions

An executive session is the only type of meeting that the Board of County Commissioners can call without admitting the public. The Board must list the executive session on the agenda of the regular

---

25 O.S. § 311
19 O.S. § 326
25 O.S. § 307E
session. Then, during the meeting, they must vote themselves into executive session.

The Board can call an executive session only under the following conditions:

- To discuss the employment, hiring, appointment, promotion, demotion, disciplining or resignation of any individual salaried public officer or employee, or negotiations concerning employees and representatives of employee groups.

- For confidential communications between a public body and its attorney concerning a pending investigation claim, or action of the public body, with the advice of its attorney, when disclosure would seriously impair the ability of the public body to process the claim or conduct a pending investigation, litigation, or proceeding in the public interest, and for discussion of the purchase or appraisal of real property.

- To discuss the purchase or appraisal of real property. This discussion must be limited to members of the public body, the attorney for the public body, and the immediate staff of the public body. No landowner, real estate salesperson, broker, developer, or any other person who may profit directly or indirectly by a proposed transaction concerning real property, which is under consideration, can be present or participate in the executive session.

Any vote or action that results from an executive session must be taken in a public meeting and each member's vote must be publicly cast and recorded.

No executive session by a public body can be held except by a majority vote of a quorum of the members present. That vote must be recorded.

The Board must return to open session before voting on any of the topics they discussed in the executive session. The Board must readmit the public when they are ready to vote.

Minutes

Minutes must be taken during an executive session, and they must be written minutes. The County Clerk or a designated party, designated by the Board, can attend the executive session to take minutes.

After the meeting, the minutes must be sealed and placed in the safe. They can only be opened by a court order.
Agenda Item for Executive Session

The following is an example of an agenda item to appear on the regular meeting agenda for an executive session:

   Discussion and possible action thereon regarding Smith v. (______ County) and possible executive session. Authority: 25 O.S. 307 (B)(4).

Emergency Meetings

The Board can call an emergency meeting only when they cannot meet the deadline for public notice, and any delay would increase the likelihood of injury to person, damage to public or private property, or immediate financial loss. If the Board has reason to call an emergency meeting, they should attempt to contact the media and individuals who would be interested in the subject of the meeting.

The minutes of an emergency meeting must include the nature of the emergency, and the proceedings of the meeting must include the reasons for calling the emergency meeting.

The Board can reconvene an emergency meeting at a later date. At a continued or reconvened meeting, the Board can only discuss the items they listed on the agenda of the original meeting.

Agendas

Because the Board must notify the public of meeting agendas 24 hours in advance, they must prepare for meetings ahead of time. This task becomes more manageable if the Board plans not only a monthly agenda, but a yearly calendar and agenda as well.

Information for the agenda can come from various sources:

   • County officials inform the Board of necessary business to be considered.
   • The County Clerk provides minutes from previous meetings.
   • The County Clerk keeps the Board advised of business with other county boards and committees for which the County Clerk serves as secretary.

The Board writes the agenda for each meeting and includes specific matters to be presented and considered. Figure 8-3 shows a sample Board of County Commissioner’s regular meeting agenda.

PHYLIS E. BLAIR, COUNTY CLERK
(SEAL)

County Clerk Record

The County Clerk must keep a record of all notices received. The record must be open to the public for inspection during regular office hours, and the contents of the record must be made available to any person upon request.

Notice of Meeting Changes

Written notice of any change in the date, time, or place of a regularly scheduled meeting of a public body must be given to the County Clerk no less than 10 days prior to implementing any change.

Failure to comply with this requirement of the Open Meeting Law is a misdemeanor.

Understanding the Open Meeting Law

The Board of County Commissioners must follow the rules and regulations set forth in Oklahoma’s Open Meeting Law. The Board must hold open-door meetings (except for executive sessions) and allow anyone to attend those meetings. The Board cannot ask a person to leave an open meeting unless that person is causing a disturbance or breach of order.

In 1977, Oklahoma passed the Open Meeting Law, which prohibits the members of any public body (including county officers) from meeting informally to decide a course of action or vote on any matter, even by telephone or other electronic means. All meetings must be held at specified times and places that are convenient to the public and all meetings must be open to the public.

The purpose of the Open Meeting Law is to encourage and facilitate an informed citizenry’s understanding of the governmental processes and problems. Any violation of the Open Meeting Law is a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine or imprisonment.

Any person who attends an open meeting can record the proceedings by videotape, audiotape, or any other method; providing, however, that the recording does not interfere with conducting the meeting.

25 O.S. §§ 301-313
25 O.S. § 312.C
25 O.S. § 314

Holding Open Meetings

Recording Votes

In all meetings of public bodies, each member’s vote must be publicly cast and recorded.

Circumvention of Act

No informal gatherings or any electronic or telephonic communications among a majority of the members of a public body can be used to decide any action or to take any vote on any matter.

Meeting Minutes

The County Clerk must keep the proceedings of a public body in written form, which will be considered as an official summary of the proceedings. Figure 8-4 contains sample minutes from a Board of County Commissioner’s regular meeting. These minutes must clearly show all members present or absent, all matters considered, and all actions taken by the public body.

Each meeting's minutes must be open to public inspection and must follow the requirements of the Open Meeting Law.

In written minutes for an emergency meeting, the nature of the emergency and the proceedings that occurred at the meeting must be entered, including the reasons for declaring the emergency meeting.

Penalties

Any person who willfully violates any of the provisions of the Open Meeting Law is guilty of a misdemeanor and if convicted, can be punished by a fine up to $500.00 or by imprisonment in the county jail for up to a year, or both.

Any action that is taken that is in violation of the Open Meeting Law is invalid.

Conducting Orderly Meetings

Order of Business

The specific procedure that the Board of County Commissioners follows to conduct business is not especially important as long as they follow that procedure consistently. Figure 8-5 shows an example of a possible order of business from Robert’s Rules of Order, a book on parliamentary procedure.

__________________________________________
PHYLLIS BLAIR, COUNTY CLERK

Call to Order
At the time scheduled for the Board to convene, the Chairman strikes a few sharp raps with the gavel and announces in a clearly audible voice, "The Board of County Commissioners will come to order."

Roll Call
The County Clerk or a Deputy Clerk usually calls the roll. A quorum—a majority of the Board (two members)—must be present for the Board to officially do business.

Reading and Approving the Minutes
The County Clerk reads the minutes of the previous meeting, and the Board either approves them or amends them and then votes to accept them. The Clerk lists any corrections in the minutes of the meeting underway.

Announcements and Proclamations
The following are some examples of announcements that might be given at a Board meeting:

- The Clerk might announce meetings of boards, committees, or organizations that effect members of Board.
- The Board might honor an employee.
- Other county officials might announce communications or bulletins from other branches of government, for instance, the State Auditor and Inspector's Office or the State Retirement System.

Unfinished Business
Unfinished business includes any motions the Board tabled at the previous meeting or prior to recess.

New Business
The Board can only discuss any new business (any unforeseen items or items that had not occurred at the time the regular meeting agenda was developed) brought up at the meeting. They cannot take any action except to have the business added to the next meeting's agenda.
Recess or Adjournment

To officially end a meeting and cease business, a Board member must move to adjourn, and the motion must receive majority consent. The Board must adjourn its monthly session by the close of the last working day of the month. But if the Board adjourns before then, it cannot reconvene in a regular meeting until the next scheduled regular meeting.

Following Parliamentary Procedure

Good meetings alone do not automatically guarantee good government, but they can definitely encourage and promote efficient and responsible government. The decisions that affect the public interest are reached in duly constituted open meetings, and the best decisions come out of the fair and open discussion of interested, courteous, reasonable informed officials and individual citizens. The code of parliamentary conduct developed over the centuries is simply a way to avoid wasted time and confusion and to allow all sides of the issue to be heard. In short, rules of order insure that the democratic process is working. The County Commissioners should be well informed on the correct manner of conducting meetings.

Powers and Duties of the Chairman

All members of a meeting interact to make the meeting work, but the chairman is the person who is officially charged with the responsibility of conducting an orderly and efficient meeting. In addition to specific statutory duties, the chairman of a board performs functions common to all presiding officers:

- Ensures that all members are treated fairly and courteously
- Ensures that the majority rules, but that minority rights are protected
- Keeps the discussion focused on the matter at hand and sees that the order of business is followed
- Ensures that speakers are recognized in the proper order
- Calls to a point of order or refuses to recognize a member obstructing the proceedings or sidetracking the discussion
- Decides points of order called by a member
- Appoints committees

The chairman is not required to observe the restrictions ordinarily placed on presiding officers. The chairman can make or second motions, participate in discussions, and vote. In these situations, however, the chairman may prefer to temporarily relinquish the chair to another member.

Order of Business

When an organization has passed by-laws to establish rules and procedures, those by-laws supersede the practice of general parliamentary law. Whatever order the board follows is not as important as following some sensible order and using it consistently.

Agenda

Everyone who attends a board meeting should have a copy of the agenda. The following agenda is essentially the order of business found in Robert’s Rules of Order but has been slightly adapted to the concerns of county government. Each step includes a quick review of the accepted formalities and procedures in the order of business.

1. Call to order

   At the time scheduled for the board to convene, the chairman or acting chairman gains the attention of the members and any visitors. The usual practice is to strike a few sharp raps with a gavel and to announce in a clearly audible voice, “The (title) board will come to order.”

2. Roll call

   The County Clerk or Deputy usually calls the roll. A quorum, or a majority of the board members, must be present for the board to officially conduct any business.

3. Reading and approving the minutes

   At the direction of the chairman, the County Clerk presents the minutes of the preceding regular meeting and any intervening special meetings. The chairman then asks, “Are there any corrections or alterations to the minutes?” If not, the chairman calls for a vote to approve the minutes. If the vote passes, he says, “The minutes stand approved as read.”

   If a justified correction or alteration is allowed, the chairman may call for “any further changes.” After all changes are made, the chairman calls for a vote to approve the corrected minutes. If it passes, he announces “The minutes stand approved as corrected.” Any corrections appear in the County Clerk’s minutes of the current meeting.

   If minutes have been distributed to the members prior to the meeting, the chairman can dispense with reading the minutes and proceed directly to correcting and approving them.
4. Unfinished business
   In this segment the board takes up any motions tabled at the previous meeting or prior to a recess.

5. New Business
   New business includes only those items that have come to the County Clerk’s attention since the meeting agenda was set. These items can be heard, but not acted upon.

6. Reviewing and approving claims
   The statutes require a board to take up claims in the order in which they are filed and entered on the calendar in the County Clerk’s office.

7. Considering bids and contracts
   During this segment the board might decide that bids should be advertised and then set a date and time for the public opening of bids.

8. Reports of county officials
   At this time members of the board might report on particular projects in their districts or areas. Officers such as the County Clerk or the County Treasurer might present their monthly reports.

9. Citizen presentations

10. Considering motions, resolutions, and proclamations
   A resolution is a main motion of such length or importance that it is presented in writing to an assembly. Although a resolution accomplishes essentially the same thing as an ordinary motion, its form and language indicate its greater formality, seriousness, and sense of determination. The fact that a resolution spells out the reasons for the action to be taken demonstrates the significance attached to it.

   The Oklahoma Statutes often specifically require the Board of County Commissioners to take a certain action by resolution. A resolution consists of the following two main parts:

   * The preamble - one or more clauses beginning “Whereas . . .” and explaining the need for the action(s).

   * The resolution proper - one or more clauses beginning “Resolved, That . . .” or “Be it resolved, That . . .” and detailing the assembly’s intentions.
Figure 8-6 contains a sample resolution that might be presented to and adopted by a Board of County Commissioners and shows the typical format and content.

Since a resolution is a main motion, it is introduced and considered according to the standard procedures governing motions, amendments, discussion, and voting. A member may present it by saying “I submit the following resolution and move its adoption.” Each “resolving” clause is considered separately. If one or more of the resolving clauses are passed, each clause in the preamble is considered individually. Everyone at a meeting should have a written copy of any resolution to be considered.

A proclamation is an official announcement that the board or its chairman issues an order to draw public attention to a civic activity, holiday, celebration, or other observance. This announcement indicates that the subject matter of the proclamation has been approved or sanctioned by county government.

11. Announcements

Members of board, commissions, or organizations might announce meetings of those groups.

Other branches of government such as the State Auditor and Inspector’s office or the State Retirement System might present communications or bulletins.

12. Recess or adjournment

Officially ending a meeting and ceasing business requires a motion to adjourn and a majority consent. The Board of County Commissioners is required by law to adjourn its monthly session by the close of the last working day of the month. But if that board adjourns before then, it cannot reconvene in a regular session until the following month.

In order to continue the meeting from day to day until all business has been dispatched, the Board must call a recess, which also requires a motion and majority approval. In actual practice, however, a board might adjourn from day to day after having set the time for the next meeting.

Parliamentary Procedures

To maintain a smooth and orderly meeting, parliamentary law has evolved some general rules of behavior which are applicable at all times during the proceedings. The following are some of the most common and most necessary.

Addressing the Chair/Obtaining Recognition

A member receives permission to speak (to “gain the floor”) by first addressing the Chair. The member rises and says “Mr. Chairman.”

When the chairman formally recognizes the member by acknowledging “Mr./Ms. (or Commissioner) . . .” or by stating “The Chair recognizes Mr./Ms. (Commissioner . . .),” the member may then proceed.

Calling to Order or Rising to a Point of Order

A member is out of order when he uses improper or abusive language, talks on matters irrelevant to the questions at hand, or introduces a statement or proposal out of order. The Chair may then advise the speaker of his impropriety by saying, “I call the Speaker to order.” If the Chair does not act, a member may stand and say, “Mr. Chairman, I rise to a point of order.” The chair must then decide if the point of order is “well taken.”

Handling Motions, Amendments, and Voting

The official decisions and actions of a governing body are the result of motions proposed, possibly amended, and passed by a majority of that body. A motion is simply a formal procedure, which brings a question, a proposition, or a matter for consideration before the board. The procedure for introducing, seconding, amending, discussing, and voting on motions is basically simple, but it must be strictly observed if a proposal is to be accepted or rejected in a just and intelligent manner. The following procedure is generally applicable to almost all motions:

- Motion proposed, seconded

  Step 1: The speaker proposes the motion: “Mr. Chairman, I move that . . .”
NOTE: The phrase “I make a motion . . .” is not a proper form.

Step 2: The chairman states the motion. If the chairman refuses to entertain a motion, a member may “appeal from the decision of the Chair,” that is, appeal to the membership to decide whether the chairman’s action will stand.

Step 3: Another member seconds the motion: “Mr. Chairman, I second the motion.”

Step 4: The chairman states the motion verbatim: “It has been moved and seconded that . . . “The importance of this step should not be minimized. The motion must be clarified so that all the persons present at the meeting fully understand the proposal as the proposer intended it. The County Clerk may be asked to read the motion. The board should not act on the proposal until it has been properly stated. The motion or proposal is now said to be pending.

Please refer to Figure 8-4 for the sample minutes from a Board of County Commissioner’s meeting, which includes several sample motions.

- Debate or discussion

Step 5A: If the motion is classified as nondebatable, the chairman immediately calls for the vote.

Some nondebatable motions, however, are open to other motions, for example, to amend or to reconsider.

Step 5B: “Informal Consideration:” Sometimes this term is used loosely to mean dispensing with the motion procedure altogether and taking action by consensus. According to Robert’s Rules of Order, informal consideration in its strictest parliamentary sense means to dispense with only the limits on debate, that is, how many times and how long members may speak during debate. If members wish to introduce amendments or other motions of higher precedence, they do so usually at this time. To simplify and streamline matters, we will treat only the amendment process at this point. If no other motion is offered, someone may call for the previous question or the chairman may ask for the vote.

- Amendments proposed, seconded

Step 6A. A member receives recognition and offers an amendment: “Mr. Chairman, I move to amend the motion . . . ,” and specifies by what means: by adding to, by deleting from, or by substituting.

Step 6B. The motion requires a second and is then open to discussion.

Step 6C. The board can then proceed to a vote (see Step 7) or a member may move to amend the amendment. The same procedures ofseconding and debating applies.

This is called an amendment of a second rank. An amendment of a lower rank is not possible. The proposal of more than one amendment of each rank at the same time is out of order and not allowable.

- Vote

Step 7A: Calling for the Vote: At any point in this process of proposing motions, a member can introduce the (privileged) motion “to call for the previous question.” The board must immediately consider this motion, because it takes higher precedence than a main motion or an amendment. If the members vote in favor of this motion, they must proceed to an immediate vote on the pending motion. If no one calls for the previous question, the chairman then puts the question to close the debate: “The question is . . . .”

Step 7B: Order of Voting: If there is a motion to amend the amendment, the chairman re-states it and the board votes on it first.

If there is a motion to amend the main motion, the chairman re-states it and the board then votes.

The original motion is always voted on after the amendment(s) to it.

Each motion is considered separately and in this reverse order.
Step 7C: Casting the Vote: After stating the question, the chairman indicates how “all in favor” and “all opposed” will case their votes:

Voice Vote: “. . . say ‘aye.’ . . . say ‘no.’”

Show of Hands: “. . . signify by raising your right hand.”

Roll Call: Members respond “aye” or “no” when the County Clerk calls their names.

Step 7D: Stating the Result: The chairman then states: “the motion carries” or “the motion fails.” A member may question the chair’s count of a voice or hands vote or may wish to make each member’s vote clear to the public attending the meeting. In either situation, the member may call for a “division of the house.”

Step 7E: Recording the Vote: The County Clerk (secretary) records in the minutes the board’s approval or rejection of each motion.

Understanding Types of Motions and Rules of Precedence

Board members should be aware that different types of motions exist and that each type is assigned a “priority rating” or power of precedence. Thus, whenever a motion is pending, a motion of higher precedence may be introduced. The process of considering the original motion is suspended until the new motion has been considered and disposed of according to the standard practice.

The usual business before any board is presented in a main motion. So any motion of higher rank could take precedence over a pending main motion. If for example, a motion to adopt a resolution has been introduced and seconded, a member may move to lay the original motion on the table. This new motion would be considered immediately. While tabling this motion is being considered, an amendment of the original main motion to adopt would be out of order because an amendment ranks lower than tabling. If a motion is made to adjourn while the motion to table a motion is under consideration, the new motion will demand immediate attention. Incidental motions have no rank since they are introduced and acted upon only in the situations to which they apply.

Duties of the County Commissioner: Notices and Publications

Publishing Board of County Commissioners Proceedings

The County Clerk, as secretary for the Board of County Commissioners, is responsible for compiling a full and complete report of the proceedings of the regular and special meetings of the Board of County Commissioners. The County Clerk must take these to the publisher of any newspaper(s) selected by the Board for publication no later than ten days after the proceedings were held.

19 O.S. § 444
19 O.S. §§445, 446
25 O.S. § 106

Annette Reed, Custer County Courthouse Secretary, prepares information for publication in the newspaper.
Each publication should contain at least the following information:

- All motions made and voted upon, with the vote of each County Commissioner indicated
- All contracts awarded for services, equipment leasing, and capital outlay item sales
- A listing of claims that shows the claim or purchase order number, warrant number, payee, purpose, and amount of the claim
- A listing of all county employees and their salaries approved for payment (The Board of County Commissioners can omit the listing of all employees and their salaries approved for payment in the monthly publication of proceedings, but this information must be published at least once a year.)
- Blanket purchase orders can be deleted from publication. The recommendation is to include them in the Board of County Commissioner’s minutes by stating: “Blanket purchase orders were approved as on file in the Office of the County Clerk.”

Annual Statement

Statement

The Board of County Commissioners must have a full and accurate statement of the assessments, receipts and expenditures of the preceding year to be printed in at least one newspaper with general circulation in their county each year. The statement must be prepared by the first Monday of July.

Employees and Salaries

The Board of County Commissioners must require the County Clerk to publish a complete report of annual gross salaries of county officers each February, with information taken from W-2 forms for the preceding calendar year. Employees who were paid for less than twelve months must have an asterisk in front of their names.
Publishing Bids

All purchases exceeding $10,000.00 require a publication of bid. All proposals to award public construction projects (exceeding $25,000) must be publicized in the following manner:

- A notice must be mailed, First Class, to all known prospective bidders who have indicated within the preceding twelve months their interest, in writing, or bidding on county projects. The notice should be mailed at least twenty days prior to the date set for opening bids.
  19 O.S.2004, § 1501.3.a

- A notice must be published in a newspaper with general circulation in the county in two consecutive weekly issues. The first publication must be at least twenty days prior to the date set for opening bids.
  61 O.S. § 102.6

- If the estimated cost of the project exceeds $50,000, notice should be sent to trade or construction publications for their use and information.
  61 O.S. § 104

Bid notices should contain the following information:

- A description of the proposed project in sufficient detail for a full understanding of the bidders’ obligations or reference to bidding documents on file
- The name and address of the person from whom a complete set of bidding documents can be obtained and the deposit amount required
- The date, time, and location for the bid opening
- The name and address of the office that receives the sealed bids
- Any additional information deemed beneficial

Please refer to the Purchasing Handbook for County Officers on this CD, published through the County Government Personnel Education and Training Program and the Office of the State Auditor and Inspector (SA& I) for information on the County Purchasing Act, and to 19 O.S. §§ 1500-1507 and as supplemented.
Publishing County Budgets

The Board of County Commissioners must file its financial statement and estimated needs with the County Clerk on or before August 17. The County Clerk must publish a notice one time in a county newspaper that states that this information is on file in the County Clerk’s office.

Publishing Notices

The County Clerk is requested to publish notices of an extremely wide range of county activities and related programs. These are scattered throughout the statutes and many are infrequent. Table 9-1 is a general guide to these notices and their requirements.

Payment for Publications

The Board of County Commissioners and the County Excise Board are required to ensure that sufficient monies are available in the county general fund to pay for publishing all necessary proceedings during the fiscal year.

Chapter Ten

Duties of the County Commissioner: County Administration

Administrative Duties

[ The County Commissioners serve on the Board of County Commissioners and act as the principal administrators of the county.

The following tasks are some of their primary duties:

- Developing personnel policies, designating holidays, and approving salaries for county employees ]
Duties:  Administration

- Approving payment of the county payroll and travel expenses
- Purchasing surety bonds (blanket bonds) to cover all county officers and employees
- Approving purchases of supplies, equipment, and services for the county

Office Location and Hours

The Board of County Commissioners must provide office space, record storage, and supplies at the county seat for all county offices. All county offices should be open during the same hours as determined by mutual agreement among the county officials. Office hours must be posted in a prominent place easily seen by the public. A county commissioner can establish additional offices at any location within the county.

An Attorney General’s opinion made in 1983 states that while elected county officials must make their records available to the public on weekday mornings and afternoons for approximately eight hours, those officials are not required by statute to maintain office hours for eight hours. It also states that employees of an elected county officer are not required by statute to work an eight-hour workday.

Holidays

County employees observe all holidays prescribed by Oklahoma State law plus all holidays designated by their county government. The Board of County Commissioners and the County Excise Board must designate and publish, between January 1 and January 20 of each year, those holidays on which county offices will close.

Personnel Policies

The Board of County Commissioners establishes personnel policies for all county employees with the majority vote of all county officers.

Salaries

The Board of County Commissioners has the authority to recommend the total amount of funds that can be used for the combined salaries in each of the county offices. The County Excise Board is responsible for reviewing and approving these recommendations. County officers’ payroll budgets cannot exceed these approved funds.
Salaries must be paid from annual appropriations made from the general county fund and the Board of County Commissioners and the County Excise Board must ensure that these funds are appropriated and paid.

Chapter Three in this handbook, The County Budget Process, contains detailed information on County Excise Boards and County Budget Boards.

The statutes dictate guidelines for computing wages and salaries for elected officials and deputies, assistants and other employees. County officers’ salaries are based upon the assessed valuation and population of the counties. The maximum salaries for deputies and other county employees are calculated as a percentage of the county's elected officials’ salaries.

Salaries must be paid either monthly or twice a month as ordered by the Board of County Commissioners.

Changes in salary must take place on and after the 1st day of July of each fiscal year.

Salary calculations begin with a basic amount to which a supplement may be added as shown in Figures 10-1 and 10-2.

Figure 10-1 shows a calculation for the maximum permissible salary for officers in counties that have not approved ad valorem tax exemption (have not passed the household personal property and livestock exemption). Salaries are calculated based on the county’s net valuation of all tangible taxable property and population.

Figure 10-2 shows a calculation for the maximum permissible salary for officers in counties that have approved ad valorem tax exemption (have passed the household personal property and livestock exemption). Salaries are calculated based on the county’s service-ability, which the statutes define as the total amount of revenue authorized to be collected from the millage rate levied against the taxable valuation of property within the county, and the population or service-load.

Please refer to the Personnel Guidelines for Elected County Officials, Second Edition, published by the Association of County Commissioners of Oklahoma, for additional information on office personnel requirements, nepotism, and salaries.

Fair Labor Standards Act

All counties must comply with the Fair Labor Standards Act, which is a federal law that mandates a minimum wage and maximum hours (the number of hours an employee can work before receiving overtime pay) for all employees in the United States.

Benefits

Counties have the following two choices in providing their employees with retirement plans:

- Oklahoma Public Employees Retirement System

  County personnel are covered under the Oklahoma Public Employees Retirement System (OPERS). Any county qualifies as a participating employer if its employees are covered by Social Security and are not eligible for another retirement system. In qualifying counties, employees become eligible for OPERS on the first day of the month that immediately follows their employment, if they meet the following requirements:

  ♦ Their positions are not seasonal or temporary.
  ♦ Their positions require at least 1000 hours of work per year.
  ♦ Their salaries or wages are at least the minimum wage for their positions.

This retirement system offers its members normal retirement benefits, total disability benefits, credit for military service and other options, such as early retirement.

For complete details regarding OPERS, refer to the Oklahoma Public Employees Retirement System Handbook.

- County Employees’ Retirement System

  In counties with populations of 330,000 or more, the Board of County Commissioners can make a resolution to use the County Employees’ Retirement System. This system requires a joint contribution from the county and its employees.

  19 O.S. 2003, §§ 952.A.1, 957

Travel Expenses

County officers and deputies are entitled to reimbursement for certain travel expenses incurred when performing official duties.

19 O.S. § 163
Expenses must be submitted to the Board of County Commissioners on sworn, itemized claims.

In lieu of reimbursement for traveling expenses within their county, officers can receive monthly travel allowances. The County Commissioner and County Sheriff can each receive a monthly allowance of $500.00. The County Assessor can receive a monthly allowance of $400.00 and the County Clerk, Court Clerk, and County Treasurer can each receive a monthly allowance of $300.00. These travel allowances are taxed as income.

Failure of a county officer to attend any school, conference, or meeting unless excused prior to the meeting shall cause the officer to forfeit the right to the monthly travel allowance for the month that the school, conference, or meeting is held.

Attendance is not mandatory at any meeting, school, institute, or conference sponsored or held by anyone other than a state officer or agency head. However, if appropriated travel funds are available for travel to such functions, either within or outside the state, travel expense reimbursement in addition to the monthly travel allowance is allowed.

[ Safety Incentive Awards ]

County Commissioners may provide incentive awards for safety related job performance. No employee can be recognized more than once every calendar year, and the award must not exceed the value of $100.00.

Susan Ulrich, Comanche County Commissioner, District 3, receives a safety award from Dale Frech, ACCO Safety Director.

19 O.S. § 165
19 O.S. § 166
19 O.S. § 339 (A.10)
Loyalty Oaths and Oaths of Office

After each election, the Board of County Commissioner must ensure that all new county officers sign and affirm an oath of office and sign a loyalty oath. Copies of these oaths are in Chapter Six, Office of the County Commissioner.

The Blanket Bond

The Board of County Commissioners must purchase a sufficient surety contract, or blanket bond, to cover all elected officials and their employees. This bond is like an insurance policy that protects the county from any misconduct or wrongdoing while the officers or any employees are performing their duties. This bond covers the county up to the insurance limit of the bond, and is in force throughout their terms. A copy of this bond should be kept on file in the County Clerk’s office.

The law does not specify a minimum amount for the blanket bond, but a memo from the District Attorney’s Training Coordinating Council July 2, 1979 suggests that “The bond for all county employees should be set at approximately $2,500. The Board or any officer can request an additional bond if the financial responsibilities exceed the present bond coverage. The county is responsible for appropriating the funds for this additional bond.

The statutes require a higher bond of at least $50,000 for County Treasurers.

The Board of County Commissioners should check the county’s property and casualty coverage to determine if bonds are covered as part of the policy.

The County Seal

The Board of County Commissioners must obtain and keep a seal to be used as the official seal of the county.

The official county seal is kept by the County Clerk for use on official county business that requires sealing.

The County Clerk cannot use any other seal in conducting the official business of the county. The impression of the seal is considered sufficient for any transaction that requires sealing. The county can elect to use either a manual stamp or an electric seal.

No mandates specify which documents must be sealed. The general practice is to place the seal on any document filed with the County.
Clerk. A document is not really considered official unless it bears the official seal. The use of the seal by the County Clerk was originally intended to attest or witness a signature.

No mandates dictate the wording on the seal. While designs and logos are arbitrary, the official seal’s wording reflects the State of Oklahoma and should include the name of the county and the words “County Clerk.”

Since the County Clerk’s office has been expanded to include Register of Deeds’ functions, the County Clerk’s seal satisfies the requirement for a Register of Deeds seal.

Signature List for Secretary of State

Upon assuming office, The County Commissioner must sign the signature list for elected officials provided by the County Clerk. The County Clerk notarizes and certifies the list and files it with the Secretary of State.

If the County Commissioner or any other county officer uses some method of reproducing the signature such as a stamp, engraving, or imprinting, a facsimile must be filed with the Secretary of State along with the manual signature.

This chapter contains information about sinking funds for county bond issues and judgments, and discusses the duties and responsibilities of the Board of County Commissioners and other county officers.
Creating Sinking Funds

Either before or at the time a county incurs any debt that requires voter approval, the county must create a sinking fund to repay the principal within 25 years from the time the debt is incurred and to pay accruing interest, usually twice a year.

Counties must levy sufficient additional taxes to create a sinking fund to be used in the following manner:
1. To pay the interest coupons (payments) as they fall due
2. To pay the bond principal as it falls due
3. To pay any judgments that might be required

Issuing County Bonds

Bonds issued by state or local governments (including counties) or other public entities at the state or local level are called Municipal Bonds.

When a county or other public entity issues a Municipal Bond, the bond is purchased by an individual or an institution such as a bank, a charitable foundation, a college, an insurance company, or a pension fund. By purchasing the bond, the purchaser is loaning money to the issuer for some specific purpose. The bond issuer promises to repay the loan on a specified future date and to pay the purchaser a guaranteed rate of interest until the loan is repaid. Interest on the loan is paid once each year.

County Commissioners’ Role in Municipal Bond Issues

Any bonds issued by the county must be signed by the chairman of the Board of County Commissioners and authenticated by the County Clerk, under the county seal.

[ Likewise, any bonds issued by a County Trust Authority have similar requirements, per that trust’s indenture and applicable legal requirements. ]
Understanding Municipal Bonds

Municipal bonds (nicknamed munis) are bonds issued by states, cities, counties and various districts to raise money to finance operations or to pay for projects. The projects they finance include hospitals, schools, power plants, office buildings, and airports. Municipalities levy taxes as their first source of revenue. When they need more money (such as when they overspend), they may turn to issuing bonds as a way to raise extra money.

Individual investors purchase the majority of municipal bonds. These bonds are usually issued in $5,000 face-value denominations or multiples of $5,000. They mature in anywhere from one to fifty years. Like other bonds, they may also be bought at a discount. For example, an investor may buy a $5,000 bond for only $4,000. At maturity, he or she will receive the original $5,000.

The interest earned by municipal bonds is not subject to federal taxes.

Bond Issue

Municipal bonds are usually issued with the assistance of an investment banker, and/or placement agent, who agree to buy the municipal bonds and possibly resell them to the public. If a bond issue is relatively small, a single investment banker may float the issue. For larger bond issues, a number of investment bankers may form a syndicate or underwriting group, which disbands after the bonds have been sold.

Usually, underwriters make competitive bids to the county to underwrite a bid issue, and the underwriter who enables the county to pay the lowest rate of interest wins the bid, assuming that the other costs are equal among bidders.

Other costs of issuing bonds can sometimes be significant and include underwriting fees, bond insurance, bond attorney fees, and other expenses.

Another consideration for counties during this process is to examine these overall costs incurred in each bond issue. Researching similar bond issues may help a county or trust to incur only a reasonable level of costs per issue.
Indentures

The details of a bond purchase agreement are summarized on the actual bond and explained on an indenture or transcript of proceedings. Each bond contains the following information:

- Serial number
- Principal amount
- Date on which principal amount is to be repaid
- Interest rate
- Issuer’s name

Bond Issue Amounts

Bonds are ordinarily issued in denominations of $5,000. The bond amount is the bond's principal amount, or face value, which will be repaid to the bondholder when the bond expires or matures.

Oklahoma law requires the Board of County Commissioners to sell bonds issued by a vote of the people for no less than face value.

Specific Purpose for Debt

All laws that authorize any state, county, or other political entity to borrow money must specify the purpose for which the money will be used. The money cannot be borrowed for any other purposes except the one specified.

County Debt Limit

No county can incur any debt, in any manner, for any purpose, for an aggregate amount that exceeds five percent of the taxable valuation of the county. All debts must be approved by a 3/5 vote (60%) of the county voters at an election held specifically for that purpose.

Certificate of Legal Compliance

No bond of any county is valid unless both the County Clerk and the County (District) Attorney certify that the bond is issued according to the law and within the county’s debt limit.

Article 10 §29
Payments for Advisors and Other Expenses

All expenses associated with developing a bond issue, such as fees to a bond attorney, financial advisor, bond printer, or other consultants, can legally be paid from the bond issue proceeds.

When bonds are issued, the proceeds are allocated not only to the expenses of the issue but also to such things as a “debt service reserve fund,” “construction contingency,” and/or “bond insurance premium.” A bond insurance premium is to insure repayment of the bonds just like mortgage insurance is often required on a house loan. A debt service reserve fund has a similar purpose. It is a portion of the bond issue proceeds that is set aside and held by the paying agent (such as a bank trust department) to make a debt payment or two in the event the local government entity fails to provide the money for the payment. In summary, costs and reserve requirements may be significant. Bond consultants can provide these figures.

Since the fiscal agent will continue in service to the county for the life of the bonds, a sinking fund levy that is made to service the bonded indebtedness can provide for fiscal agent fees.

Bond Terms

Serial Bonds

In some instances, the county is legally required to issue serial bonds. Revenues that the county has dedicated to bond redemption are placed into a sinking fund. Under the serial redemption arrangement, the county is committed to redeem a certain portion of the bond issue each year until the entire issue is retired. A portion of the bonds are issued with short-term maturities, and subsequent portions of the bond issue mature in the following years.

The serial bond approach enables the cost of a public improvement to be shared among its present and future beneficiaries. Also, the overall cost of breaking an issue into short-term, medium-term, and long-term bonds is usually less to the county. Furthermore, investors are attracted to issues, which allow for spreading an investment over several maturities so that they can get some of their principal back each year or every few years.

Register Bonds

In some cases the law stipulates that the county issue registered bonds, while in other cases bearer bonds are stipulated.

- Register bonds involve maintaining books in which the names and addresses of the bond owners are registered.
Interest payments are mailed to the owners usually every six months.

The Federal Tax Code was amended in 1983 to require that bonds must be registered in order to retain their tax-exempt status. Consequently, the Oklahoma Statutes were amended to provide the legal basis for registration of bonds.

Coupon Bonds

Whenever the terms coupon bond or coupon bonds appear in any statute, these terms mean any bond, note, or other evidence of debt of any public entity, department, public trust, or agency, regardless of whether these instruments are in coupon, registered, or other form. The use of the word coupon does not limit the form of instruments that these entities are authorized to issue. The terms coupon or coupon rate mean interest or interest rate.

Major Bond Categories

Municipal Bonds are broken down into specific categories depending on the purpose of the bond issue. Table 11-1 lists Municipal Bond categories and shows any statutory references that apply to each bond category.

Registering Bonds

Registration Systems

Each bond issuer is authorized to establish and maintain a system of registration for each obligation it issues. The bond issuer can amend, discontinue, and reinstitute any system, subject to covenants. These registration systems may be one of the following:

- A system in which only certificated, registered public obligations are issued
- A system in which only uncertificated, registered public obligations are issued
- A system in which both certificated and uncertificated, registered public obligations are issued.

System Creation and Maintenance

The bond issuer must establish, amend, discontinue, or reinstitute the bond registration system, and the official or official body must maintain that system.

Description

The bond issuer must describe the bond registration system in the registered public obligation or in the official actions which provide for original issuance of the registered obligation, and in subsequent official actions providing for amendments and other matters from time to time. Such description may reference a program of the issuer, which is established by the official or official body.
Understanding Implications of the Federal Tax Reform Act of 1986

Federal Tax Interest Income Exemption

In addition to the relatively low risk of investing in municipal bonds, a major incentive for investment in municipal bonds has been their tax-exempt status. This status allows local governments to finance improvements at a relatively low cost to taxpayers and allows investors to earn an effective yield on their investment at least equal to yields of more risky taxable investments.

The IRS web site, http://www.irs.gov, has information on the types of bonds available and reporting requirements.

Restrictions

The Federal Tax Reform Act of 1986 has placed some restrictions on the types of municipal bonds, which can retain a tax-exempt status. Bonds issued for “governmental” and certain “private activity and exempt facility” purposes are allowed tax-exempt status. The following governmental projects qualify for unrestricted tax-exempt financing:

- Traditional general public projects such as roads, bridges, schools, public buildings, parks, sewers (except treatment)
- Similar infrastructure projects
- Certain projects which otherwise might be taxable might be done on a tax exempt basis through a private activity bond.

The tax act prohibits more than 10% of a tax-exempt bond’s proceeds from being used by a private business whenever more than 10% of the debt service payments are derived from that private business.

The tax act eliminates tax-exempt bond uses unless they meet the test of public ownership and use.

The following private activities can no longer use tax-exempt financing:

- Sports
- Conventions
- Trade show parking
- Industrial parks

62 O.S. § 695.22
• Pollution control facilities

Arbitrage Restrictions

Arbitrage involves a local government issuing tax-exempt bonds and investing the proceeds at a higher interest rate, until the proceeds are needed. The difference between the interest income and the interest expense is called “arbitrage earnings.”

The interest rate that a county pays on a tax-exempt bond is lower than the interest rate of taxable bonds. For example, if a county invests the proceeds of a tax-exempt bond on which the interest is 7% in an otherwise taxable investment that pays 10% interest, the county’s arbitrage earnings are 3%.

Under the tax bill, arbitrage earnings in excess of the allowable limits must be rebated to the federal government. The following situations are exceptions to this rule:

• When all gross proceeds of a bond issue are expended within six months of bond issue
• When small governmental units issue bonds totaling $5 million or less annually
• Two-year construction spend-down exemption
• 18-month exemption when proceeds are used for governmental purposes

Internal Revenue Service Report

Counties must now file reports with the Internal Revenue Service each time they issue any tax-exempt bond. Failure to do so within certain time limits can result in the loss of tax exemption for that particular bond issue. The credit rating of the county could also suffer.

Paying Judgments

A judgment is a court decision regarding the rights of parties. 62 O.S. § 361

Judgments can occur for the following reasons:

- To pay money owed – for example a claim that workers compensation was not paid. 51 O.S. § 151 et-seq
- To pay for damages to person or property – for example a claim that a violation of a prisoner’s civil rights has occurred.
- For no or inadequate insurance

Judgment claims are filed with the County Clerk.

Please refer to Chapter Five, Governmental Tort Claims Act, for more information on suits against the county.

Purpose of Judgment Sinking Fund

Sinking funds are used to accumulate funds to retire debt or satisfy obligations of liability. The constitution provides information on revenue for sinking funds and the uses to which that revenue can be applied. The statutes explain how to fulfill the statutory mandates regarding judgment sinking funds.

Roles of County Officers Regarding Judgments

The Court Clerk

The Court Clerk has the following responsibilities regarding judgments:

- [ ]
- [ Retain ] copies of all documents bearing the signature of the Judge which specify the relief granted or order made in the Journal Record
- Enter the judgment on the Appearance Docket and Journal Record containing data relative to the case

The Appearance Docket is a permanent court record that contains cases filed in the district court with relevant information such as the type of case, the nature of the case, the attorneys involved, and the pleadings filed.

- Keep a case file
- Upon receipt of the Treasurer’s check, issue an official receipt and deposit the check in the official depository account and enter a credit in the case involved
- Make payment by official voucher to the judgment creditor and credit the judgment roll with the amount of the payment [as ordered by the Court]
- [Provide a certified copy of the journal entry to the judgment creditor or attorney]

The County Treasurer

The County Treasurer has the following responsibilities regarding judgment:

- Maintain the Treasurer’s Judgment Ledger (SA&I Form 324)
- Supply information to the judgment creditor or attorney for the judgment creditor that is necessary to file the claim form number 334 prescribed by SA&I

This claim form is filed with the treasurer by the creditor or creditor's attorney. The form itemizes the judgments to be paid, including principal sums, any sums already paid, and balance due with interest.
• Upon receipt of the claim, determine if there is sufficient cash in the sinking fund
   If so, approve the claim and transmit it to the County Clerk for approval
• Upon approval by County Clerk, send the payment by treasurer's check to the Court Clerk and make the appropriate bookkeeping entries
• Close out the sinking fund with the balance going to the General Fund [upon authorization of the County Excise Board]
• [Receive the statement of judgment from the judgment creditor of attorney]

The County Clerk

The County Clerk has the following responsibilities regarding judgments.

• Act as the clerk for the County and all townships and dependent school districts in the County.
• Receive the statement of judgment from the judgment creditor or attorney, in the form prescribed by the Administrative Director of the Courts, as filed in the County Clerk's office in that county
• Prepare and maintain the Judgment Index
   The Judgment Index must include the name of the judgment debtor, the name(s) of judgment creditor(s), the name of the Court which granted the judgment, the number and style of the case in which the judgment was filed, the amount of the judgment (including interest, costs and attorney's fees, if shown), the date of the filing with the Court Clerk of the Court which granted the judgment, and the date of the filing of the judgment with the County Clerk.
   SA&I recommends that the entry also include the reception number, and the book and page.
• Upon receipt of the claim (from the County Treasurer) the County Clerk must compare it against the records. If it is correct, approve the claim and return it to the County Treasurer for payment.
• In addition to a record of each judgment, record (when such cases occur) the case number and date of final decree of either the Oklahoma Court of Tax Review or the Oklahoma Supreme Court that invalidates any levy or part of levy attempted to be made and notify the Court Clerk.

The Board of County Commissioners

For any judgments against the county, the Board of County Commissioners must approve payment of the judgment.

Sinking Fund Levy Computation

The following forms are used in computing sinking fund levies.

- Treasurer’s Judgment Ledger (SA&I Form 324)
- Court Clerk Municipal Judgment Claim (SA&I Form 334)
- Assigned Judgment Claim
- Court Clerk’s Municipal Judgment Roll (SA&I Form 326)
- Record of Municipal Judgments (SA&I Form 325)
- Application for Release of Judgment (Court Clerk)
  Submitted by the judgment debtor to the Court Clerk
- Certificate of Release (Court Clerk)
  Issued by the Court Clerk to the judgment debtor

Annual Principal and Interest

The amount of the judgment (the principal) is paid in three equal payments beginning in the fiscal year that follows the fiscal year in which the judgment was made. No payment is made until the first third is placed in the budget and is levied for collection.

Interest accrues on the outstanding principal balance at a rate either set by the court or by the court administrator’s office.

Prepayment of Judgments

If sufficient cash is available to make the annual principal and interest payment prior to the anniversary date of the judgment, the amount of interest due is prorated according to the actual elapsed time. In other words, just like any other debt, the sooner it is paid, the smaller the amount of interest.

Closing the Account

After the judgment, plus interest, is paid in full and a release or similar document is received from the Court (Court Clerk), any balance in the sinking fund should be transferred to the County General Fund.
Alternative Methods of Handling Claims

Claims for less than $10,000 can be settled out of court to avoid a court judgment.

One judgment can be paid from the excess in another sinking fund and then that fund is repaid.

Example Judgment:

Journal Entry of Judgment

On this 16th day of August 2002, this case comes on to be heard before the undersigned judge on the Plaintiff’s motion for summary judgment. …

It is therefore ordered, adjudged and decreed by the Court that the plaintiff is entitled to have and recover judgment of and from the defendant, Board of County Commissioners of the County of Farside, in the sum of $101,702.95 principal and back interest of $2,021.71 from the date the petition was filed through August 16, 2002 at 7.48% per annum, together with court costs in the amount of $131.00, and attorney’s fees in the amount of $1,500.00, all together with interest thereon at 7.48% per annum until paid, and for future accruing costs, to be collected by plaintiff and satisfied by defendant as provided by law for judgments against counties.

Signed by Honorable Judge Lary Garson

So, the county got sued and must pay the sum of the costs to date, plus 7.48% interest until paid. Total costs are:

One-third of the total will be paid each year, plus interest. Payments generally begin as soon as a sinking fund levy can be made and collected. In this case, it is assumed that the levy is begun in 2002 and the first payment is made in April 2003 following the second half collection of property taxes. Therefore, the first interest payment is six months interest on the total due. Thereafter, annual interest is computed on the remaining balance.

Chapter Twelve
Duties of the County Commissioner: Trust Authorities

Public Trust Authorities

[Under Trusts for Furtherance of Public Functions,] Oklahoma Law allows for the creation of express trusts, or public trust authorities, to issue obligations, enter into financing arrangements including, but not limited to, lease-leaseback, interest rate swaps, and other similar transactions, and to provide for any authorized and proper public function or purpose. These trusts can be created by the state or any county or municipality, or by any and all combinations of the three.

Purposes

A county might create public trust authorities for the following purposes:

Roger Ballenger (center), Okmulgee County Commissioner, District 2, discusses an issue with members of the Okmulgee County Criminal Justice Authority (left to right), Bill Holcomb, Billy Green, Richard Larney, Patrick Moore, Charles Rogers, John Martin, and Leslie Johnston.
• To maintain and manage the county free fair facilities and activities
• To develop and/or maintain an industrial area
• To foster economic development activities
• To construct and/or maintain a hospital or other medical facility
• To establish a county health department
• To develop a social services department and/or construct facilities for social services, including those for senior, disadvantaged, or physically challenged individuals
• To provide airport facilities for the county
• To provide waste management and environmental facilities
• [To administer a county jail facility]
• [For any other legal purposes authorized by the statutes]

Benefits
Creating public trust authorities for the county can have multiple benefits:

• The county can institute projects that might otherwise be beyond the ability of the county itself to handle in terms of manpower, expertise, and expenses.

• Public trust authorities can seek financing as an entity separate from the county, and outside some of the constraints placed on the Board of County Commissioners when seeking funds.

• Financing for trust authorities, which can come from sources such as bonds, [property tax assessments, income generated by the trust,] or sales tax, can be used only for the purposes of the trust, which adds credibility to the request for funds. While the Board of County Commissioners can set up separate cash funds, money for a trust authority is completely separate from other county monies and can be used only for the specific purpose approved by the voters.

• The Board of County Commissioners has control over the trust, its finances, board members, and projects, but are not required to be involved in the actual day-to-day functions of the trust authority.

• Individuals can be selected to manage the trust activities who have the expertise specific to the purpose of the trust authority. Having qualified people involved with the trust helps to ensure that the mission and goals of the trust are achieved.

Presumptions

According to the statutes, a public trust authority established by a county must meet the following criteria:

- Exist for the public benefit
- Exist as a legal entity separate and distinct from the settlor (entity that establishes a trust)
- Act on behalf of and to further the public function(s) for which the trust was created even though the facilities financed by the trust or in which the trust has ownership interest may be operated by private sources under contract.

Conditions

The statutes also state that a public trust authority established by a county must meet the following conditions:

- The Board of County Commissioners appoints the trustees of the trust. If the trust has multiple beneficiaries, the trustees must be appointed by the governing bodies of all beneficiaries.
- The trust provides annual audits to the Board of County Commissioners.
- The function of the trust could be authorized by state law to be performed by the county.
- The Board of County Commissioners approves all indebtedness incurred by the trust.
- Any contract that exists for the operation or management of a facility that is financed by the trust must further the public purpose of the trust and not affect the trust’s validity.
- The affairs of the trust, such as the trust’s budget, expenditures, revenues and general operation and management, are separate and independent from the affairs of the county.
- Either the trust or the county can pay money to each other unless payment is prohibited by the documents that established the trust.
- The trust’s existence, validity, and operation are determined solely by the documents that established the trust and all actions of the trust are subject to review by the Board of

County Commissioners Responsibilities

New Public Trust Authorities

While the members of the Board of County Commissioners are not actively involved in the daily operations and decisions of the public trust authority, they are responsible for its creation and are ultimately responsible for its operations and its success or failure.

The Board is involved in setting up the procedures of the trust. It should establish an effective series of checks and balances to ensure that the trust accomplishes its mission, within a certain time frame, and with a specified budget.

The Board decides on the number of trustees that will be on the board of the trust and appoints those individuals. The Board of County Commissioners should insist on regular meetings and regular reports from the trustees.

Existing Public Trust Authorities

When new County Commissioners take office, they should research any existing public trust authorities and become familiar with the mission and the status of the trust so that they can work effectively with the trustees. County Commissioners are urged to talk with the trustees and other people involved with the trust, read meeting reports and financial reports, and visually inspect any construction or other ongoing projects.

Approval of Beneficiaries

Public Trust Authorities with a County or Municipality as a Beneficiary

If the beneficiary of a public trust authority is a county, then the creation of the trust must be approved by two-thirds of the Board of County Commissioners.

If the trust has more than one beneficiary, creation of the trust must be approved by two-thirds of the governing bodies of each beneficiary.

For trusts with a county as a beneficiary, no debt or obligation can be created until that debt or obligation has been approved by a two-thirds vote of the Board of County Commissioners and a two-thirds vote of the board of trustees of the trust. For multiple beneficiaries, a two-thirds vote of all of the beneficiaries is required.
The Board of County Commissioners can set up a trust authority without any approval necessary from outside the Board. However, if the trust authority requires [public] funding to operate, then the Board must gain majority approval from voters in the county for the funding.

[Revenue bonds may be issued by a trust for industrial development projects only with the approval of a majority of the qualified voters of the county voting in an election called for that purpose. 62 O.S. § 654]

When a trust authority does issue bonds and assume indebtedness, the indenture and prospectus outlining the proposal and its financial arrangements must be submitted to the Oklahoma Securities Commission for approval, and a copy must be filed with the Secretary of State.

A copy of the trust instrument must be recorded in the County Clerk’s office. 60 O.S. § 178(D)

Public Trust Authorities with Oklahoma as a Beneficiary

The trustees of a public trust, which has Oklahoma as a beneficiary, must prepare and adopt bylaws to administer and regulate the trust. All bylaws must be submitted to the Governor for approval.

No public trust with Oklahoma as a beneficiary can be amended without a two-thirds vote of the trustees of the trust. 60 O.S. § 176(D)

Creating Public Trust Authorities

Procedure

The following are recommended procedures for creating a public trust authority for a county:

- Identify the specific need and establish the goal or mission of the trust to address that need.
- Prepare a written mission statement or statement of the goal of the trust.
- Consult with experts in the community, other County Commissioners who have established a similar trust in their counties, and other persons or businesses with expertise in establishing trusts and in the mission of the trust.
- Establish a committee to conduct a pre-trust study to determine the following factors within the community:
  - Feasibility
  - Credibility
This same committee should also conduct research, develop guidelines, and prepare the campaign for the trust financing election. This committee should include individuals who will actually be involved in the trust once it is established and funded.

The work done prior to asking the voters to approve monies for a public trust authority can be crucial to the trust’s success or failure. An election to request funds should be treated the same as any other election, with a well-organized and efficient campaign. The voters must be well educated before they vote.

As much of the planning as possible for the public trust authority should be completed before the election to request funds; the documents to establish the trust should be written, trustees to manage the trust should be selected, and strategies and detailed plans should be in place. Then, when funds are approved, everything is ready to start work on the trust’s mission immediately.

Document to Establish A Public Trust Authority

Initial Document

Specific information that defines the initial structure of the trust and its goals, and identifies the specific steps to accomplish those goals must be included in a written document when establishing the trust.

The written document that establishes the trust and defines its mission and responsibilities must be carefully planned and executed. Any decisions, actions, or activities of the trust must fall within the initial scope of this document. The document can be amended later, if necessary. However, any activities or funding that fall outside the scope of the initial document might need to be presented to the voters for approval.

[When the Board of County Commissioners is the governing body creating the trust, the creation should be in the form of a resolution adopted in a regular meeting of the Board. The resolution should state in clear, concise language the purpose for creating the trust and the duties it is to perform as outlined in the statutes.]

60 O.S. § 176.1(A.1-3)
60 O.S. § 177
The Board, as the governing body, should specify that a constitution and by-laws, or at least a set of by-laws that sets forth a preamble and articles that specify its officers and mode of operation must be drawn up by the trust authority and submitted to the Board for approval.

The trust is limited to operating for the specific purposes noted unless it receives consent from the Board to perform other duties.

Trustees

The document that establishes the public trust authority must provide for the appointment, succession, powers, duties, term, manner of approval, and compensation of the trustees.

Each person who becomes a trustee must take the oath of office required of an elected public officer. A fidelity bond, which is paid for with trust authority funds, should be provided for each trustee.

Trustees, who are public officers, must serve without compensation, but may be reimbursed for actual expenses incurred in their duties as trustees.

Any public trust that does name the state as beneficiary must have five trustees appointed by the Governor of the State of Oklahoma with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Any public trust that does not name the state as beneficiary must have a minimum of three trustees.

Trustees of any public trust authority can be removed from office by a District Judge for reasons of incompetence, neglect of duty, or malfeasance in office.

The trustees of any public trust authority must request an audit of the trust’s funds, accounts, fiscal affairs, and any other pertinent fiscal information within thirty days of the close of each fiscal year of the trust. The audit must be filed in accordance with statute requirements.

Trust authorities must file annually with their beneficiaries copies of financial documents and reports sufficient to demonstrate the financial activity of the trust, including budgets, financial reports, bond indentures, and audits, which are approved in the minutes of the trust authority meetings.
[Jail Trust Membership]

Any trust created to administer or oversee any county jail facility shall consist of not less than five members and must include a County Commissioner and the County Sheriff, or their designee, and one member appointed by each of the County Commissioners. The appointed members can not be elected officials.

Maintaining Public Trust Authorities

Holding Meetings

Public trusts are considered public bodies within the meaning of the Open Meeting Act. Therefore, public trusts must comply with and are subject to the Open Meeting Act.

Cameras and tape recorders cannot be barred from trustees’ meetings or any other meetings of a public trust.

Records of the trust and minutes of the trust meetings of any public trust must be written and kept in a place where the trust instrument is recorded. This place must be recorded in the County Clerk’s office.

Every trust must file a monthly report of all expenditures or bond proceeds with the governing body of each beneficiary.

Purchasing

Construction Labor, Equipment, and Materials

Contracts made by a public trust authority for construction, labor, equipment, materials or repairs in excess of $25,000 must be awarded to the lowest and best bidder. Bidding must follow the requirements of the Public Competitive Bidding Act.

When considering bids, please be aware that the lowest bid is not always the best bid. The terms “lowest” and “best” should be considered together. It is important to review and consider bidder qualifications, experience, and credibility along with cost.

Other Supplies, Equipment, or Materials

For supplies, equipment or materials that fall under the county purchasing act, public trusts are not required to follow the purchasing procedures for purchases, lease-purchases, or rentals of supplies, materials, equipment, and improvements made with funds of a public trust expended by a county on behalf of the trust, if the county is a beneficiary of the trust and the trust receives and administers the proceeds of sales tax.

Attorney General Opinion 81-109

60 O.S. §§ 178(D), 176(H)
All supplies, materials, and equipment are purchased in the name of the county. The Board of County Commissioners must issue prior approval of all purchases and contracts. Final approval of all purchases rests with the Board.

Real Property

The Board of County Commissioners can lease land or buildings to a public trust authority for use during the life of the trust.

Any public trust has the power to acquire lands by use of eminent domain to further public purpose projects that involve revenue-producing utility projects of which the public trust retains ownership. In trusts where a county is the beneficiary, these lands must be either inside the county, or contiguous to the county.

[ Certain assets of trusts are subject to ad valorem taxation. ]

Leasing to Public Trust Authorities

The Board of County Commissioners may lease the grounds, building, equipment, and facilities owned and acquired by the county for the purpose of conducting annual agricultural and industrial fairs and expositions to a Public trust Authority for the purposes of managing the grounds, buildings, equipment, and facilities and conducting annual agricultural and industrial fairs and expositions.

Dissolving Public Trust Authorities

[ Any trust may be terminated by agreement of the trustees and the governing body of the beneficiary. The trust can not be terminated if any outstanding contractual obligations exist that are chargeable against the trust property, or if the trust was terminated, would become an obligation of the trust beneficiary.

A trust shall have duration for the term of duration of the beneficiary, or a shorter time as is specified in the instrument creating the trust. ]

The Board of County Commissioners is encouraged to monitor the trust authorities under its jurisdiction. The Board should receive a monthly financial report, and it should check to see if agendas, minutes of meetings, and records of financial transactions are being kept properly and filed in the county clerk’s office.

The Board carefully monitor the terms of office of the trustees, keeping an up-to-date listing stating... when the terms expire so trustees can be reappointed or new trustees can be appointed.

The Board should have a good, complete list of all trust authorities that exist in the county. The County Commissioner should cooperate with the County Clerk to see that required actions are being completed.

Board members should periodically attend the meetings of the trust authorities to see if they are conducting business properly, since this is indirectly the business of the county. When the trust authorities complete their functions, the Board should reach an agreement with the trustees and adopt a resolution in a regular business meeting dissolving the trust, as the statute specifies (so long as there are no outstanding obligations).
Chapter Thirteen

Duties of the County Commissioner: Circuit Engineering Districts

Circuit Engineering Districts

The Board of County Commissioners of any county can partner with any other county or counties located in their county’s Association of County Commissioners of Oklahoma (ACCO) district to create a circuit engineering district.

This chapter defines circuit engineering districts, explains their objectives, discusses their authorities, and provides sample by-laws.
Objectives

The objectives of a circuit engineering district include the following activities:

- To allow county governments to make the most efficient use of their powers by enabling them to cooperate with each other and other units of government to provide services that most efficiently consider geographic, economic, population, and other factors that influence the needs and development of county government
- To provide research and research support to county government
- To provide assistance to county governments while they perform functions delegated by the law such as road maintenance, construction, inspection, and equipment purchase and management
- To conduct programs such as public discussion groups, forums, panels, and lectures
- To present instruction and education courses
- To obtain, develop, and present scientific and other types of information that relate to public transportation system operation
- To promote long-range planning and growth of the transportation system within the CED and other CED’s in the state
- To provide services to counties in a coordinated, cost effective manner that improves the quality of the transportation system

Authorities and Responsibilities

A circuit engineering district has the responsibility and authority to carry out the following activities:

- To comply with the provisions of the Interlocal Cooperation Act
- To advise and assist members of the circuit engineering district on how to develop and implement an effective transportation plan for the best interests of each member of the CED

69 O.S. 2003, §§ 687.1(B, C)
74 O.S. § 1001
• To prepare programs of research
• To contract for services to carry out the purposes of the CED
• To provide periodic reports for the circuit engineering district or its members as required by federal or state law or regulations
• To acquire and hold property for the district’s use
• To receive gifts, contributions, and donations to carry out the district’s objectives
• To assess district members for services rendered
• To apply for grants from any participating member, the State of Oklahoma, the federal government or other sources, and to contract for, administer, receive and spend funds
• To publish studies related to work in the district that would benefit the district’s members or other agencies
• [To obtain surplus property, acting through cooperative agreements on behalf of counties, and to contract to obtain surplus equipment for road and bridge building purposes.] 80 O.S. § 34.1

[ Statewide Board ]
CED’s can organize a statewide board that consists of the chairpersons of each CED. The statewide board may conduct business and coordinate activities as determined by the CED’s members subject to the provisions of the statutes. 69 O.S. 2003, § 687.1(J)

[ Activities ]
Examples of specific work being accomplished through some of the CED’s currently operating in Oklahoma include the following activities:
• Design engineering and preparing plans for federally and county funded bridge and roadway projects
• Bridge safety inspections, as mandated by federal regulations
• Construction management, material testing and inspection of construction projects
• Pre-construction project management, to insure that plans are prepared and environmental clearances and right-of-way issues are handled in a timely manner so projects can be funded for construction]
Legal Trusts

The board of directors of a circuit engineering district can form legal trusts to promote and develop specific projects. The primary goal of each trust should be economic growth and development within the district. Please refer to Chapter Twelve, Duties of the County Commissioner: Trust Authorities, for more information about forming a legal trust.

Functions

The functions of the trusts must be limited to categories for which the trusts were specifically organized. The trust is totally responsible for its contractual obligations and holdings. The circuit engineering district cannot be liable for claims or liabilities created by the trust.

Liaison Officer

The board of directors of a circuit engineering district must elect a liaison officer for each trust. The liaison officer is a nonvoting member of that trust.

The liaison officer attends all meetings and participates in all discussions of the trust’s board of trustees, and reports all actions of the trust to the district’s board of directors.

Audits, Legal Services, and Purchasing

Audits

The board of directors of a circuit engineering district must conduct an independent audit at the end of each fiscal year.

Legal Services

The board of directors of a circuit engineering district can employ an attorney to provide legal research, advice, and opinions to the board.

Other Services

A circuit engineering district can designate ACCO to negotiate services required by law or necessity on behalf of the circuit engineering district.

Purchasing

The State Auditor and Inspector (SA&I) must prescribe the necessary rules, forms, and procedures to provide for the efficient and timely purchase of supplies and equipment.

The rules, forms, and procedures developed by the SA&I can be used by the Oklahoma Department of Transportation County Advisory Board in conjunction with the circuit engineering districts for pool... purchasing using funds from the County Road Maintenance and Equipment Revolving Fund.

To access pricing and bids available on a national level, counties can also participate in pool purchasing with ACCO or the other circuit engineering districts provided they follow procedures determined by the SA&I.

Circuit Engineering District Sample Bylaws

The following section contains sample Bylaws for a circuit engineering district. They provide an example of how a circuit engineering district is organized. These Bylaws are based on the Bylaws of Circuit Engineering District 7, dated October, 1998, and amended December 2001 and June 2004.

Duties of the County Commissioner: County Roads and Bridges

Maintaining County Roads and Bridges

The Board of County Commissioners [ has exclusive jurisdiction over the design, construction, and maintenance and repair of all county roads and bridges. ] The county highway system comprises certain city streets and all public roads in the county, except those roads that the State Highway Commission has designated as state highways.

In addition to the county highway system, counties may [ construct, improve, repair, or maintain ] roads in certain small towns or those towns may complete those tasks. In cities, incorporated towns, or other municipalities with populations of less than [5,000] population, the Board of County Commissioners may, by agreement, construct, improve, repair, or maintain any of the streets.

In municipalities with populations of less than 15,000, the Board may construct, improve, repair, or maintain any of the streets if the county has passed a sales tax with the proceeds earmarked to construct, improve, repair, or maintain any of the streets of roadways of the county.

Any Board of County Commissioners may enter into agreements with the governing body of any municipality for participation with county highway funds in the cost of any street improvements that are in the limits of the municipality and are a continuation of the county highway system.

The Oklahoma Transportation Commission, on or before the first day of June of each year, must certify to the Oklahoma Tax Commission the county road mileage of each county. This mileage includes any mileage represented by streets or roads in municipalities with a population of less than 2,500 and any other streets and roads in municipalities with a population of less than 5,000 that the county has agreed to construct, maintain, or repair.

A county and a municipality or any two or more counties may contract with each other to construct, repair, or maintain roads, streets, or highways. None of the parties to these agreements are liable for the acts or omissions of the other parties or for failure to inspect or supervise the performance of the other parties.

The Board of County Commissioners also has the authority to establish road improvement districts for existing roads in unincorporated areas of the county. The Board may also make improvements on existing roads in unincorporated areas on a force account basis.

The Board of County Commissioners not only has the authority and responsibility to maintain roads, they also have the authority to build new roads on section lines anywhere in the county. The Board can obtain the land for new roads by amiable settlement or condemnation proceedings as the law provides.

Whether they are building a new road or maintaining an existing one, the Board has the ultimate decision on which roads they maintain or build. Their duty is to construct and maintain those roads that best serve the most people in the county. Even if the project uses state or federal funding, the initial decision on location is the Board's responsibility.

[The Board of County Commissioner can also, under certain conditions, impose weight restrictions on roads and bridges. ]

Road and bridge construction and maintenance is only one part of the County Commissioner’s job, but it is the most visible and the one that usually requires the most cash outlay.

Planning

Providing and managing an adequate and effective road and bridge system in the county requires careful planning. Counties have a limited amount of money to spend on road and bridge maintenance and new construction. The Oklahoma Statutes require the Board of County Commissioners to spend county road funds to best serve the most people. Therefore, the Board of County Commissioners must develop a construction and maintenance plan, based on need and resident’s safety, so that those funds can be used most efficiently.

Plans Mandated by the Oklahoma Statutes

The Oklahoma Statutes require the Board of County Commissioners to prepare two plans and a project status report each year. All plans and reports must be submitted to the Local Government Division at the Oklahoma Department of Transportation (ODOT), with a copy to the County Clerk, no later than December 1 each year. [ Bridge plans are due January 1 of each year. ]

Annual Accomplishment Plan

On or before December 1 each year the Board must adopt an annual accomplishment plan for the construction and maintenance of road, bridge, culvert, and drainage projects in their county for the next calendar year. The Board must file the plan and any subsequent amendments with ODOT and the County Clerk.

Four-Year Priority Plan

The second plan that the Oklahoma Statutes require the Board to adopt and file is a four-year priority plan for construction and maintenance of road, bridge, culvert, and drainage projects. This plan is based on available, existing, and estimated funds provided for these purposes. Therefore, the Board must develop planning for the next five years, the first year in detail and the next four years in general.
Project Status Report

The Board must also prepare an annual status report at the end of each calendar year to submit to the Local Government at ODOT, with a copy to the County Clerk. This report addresses the progress made on each project listed in the annual accomplishment plan and covers at least the following information:

- The progress that has been made on each project listed in the previous year’s plan
- Projects done with county personnel
- The portion of each project that was completed under contract
- The entity with whom the projects were made
- The total funds spent on each project

Survey and Road and Bridge Inventory

Before a comprehensive plan can be developed, the Board must know exactly what bridges and roads to include in their plan. They need to know the location and condition of all bridges and roads that fall under their jurisdiction.

A road and bridge inventory and condition assessment should be an ongoing project with information being continually updated. To be effective, the inventory and condition assessment must always be as current as possible.

A road or bridge inventory should include the following data:

- Road location
- Traffic use
- Current condition
- Adequacy for traffic use and location
- Priority designation
  (For example, critical – needs immediate attention, or, needs attention within a year)

Roads

The Association of County Commissioners of Oklahoma (ACCO) and ODOT have procedures and manuals available for determining adequacy and need on roads. Appendix C contains information on suggested minimum standards for county roads.
Bridges

A bridge is defined as a structure that is twenty feet or longer.

Federal funds are made available every two years [through the Safety Bridge Inspection Program] for county bridge inventory and inspection in Oklahoma. These inventories must be performed by an ODOT-pre-qualified consultant or a Circuit Engineering District (CED) engineer on all bridges [a minimum of] every two years, except for some new bridges, which are on a four-year cycle.

[Bridges that have serious problems may also need to be inspected more frequently until corrections are made.]

[Please refer to Appendix D for the National Bridge Inspection Standards from the Code of Federal Regulations Title 23 Sections 301-311. For more information regarding bridge standards and the bridge inventory program, contact the ODOT [Bridge Division or ACCO.]

County Bridge Inspection Program

During even-numbered years, the two and one-half-million dollar [Bridge Replacement (BR)] allocation is used to fund the County Bridge Inspection Program.

Financing for Road and Bridge Construction and Maintenance

Federal, state, and Tribal programs are available for counties to obtain road and bridge construction and maintenance money to supplement county road funds.

[Table 14-1 shows funding sources for road and bridge construction and maintenance.]

Federal Aid for Road Construction and Maintenance

Every year the federal government sends money to each state to assist both the state and its counties with road construction. In Oklahoma, ODOT administers the federal Surface Transportation Program (STP) funds. Approximately six million dollars of STP funds are available each year for the county highway system.

Note

Contact the ACCO office for more details on the STP funds.

Dennis Webb, Parts Room, Oklahoma County District 1, records project information on the board in the District 1 shop.
ODOT and ACCO have developed a ranking procedure for counties to apply for these federal funds. Once a county has been approved for funding, the Board must complete the following steps:

1. Program the project by passing a resolution and submitting a Programming Resolution to the Local Government Division at ODOT. Contact the Local Government Division for programming resolutions.

2. Hire an Engineering Consultant to do the design drawings, plans, and specifications.

3. [Start the environmental process.]

4. Request the consultant to submit the plans and specifications to the ODOT Local Government Division for Plan-in-Hand Inspection. The Local Government Division will set up the meeting and notify the county.

5. Meet at the project site for the Plan-in-Hand meeting with the Local Government Division.

6. After the Plan-in-Hand Inspection, request the consultant to adjust the plans according to the comments from the Plan-in-Hand meeting.

   These adjusted plans are considered the preliminary plans. Request the consultant to develop Right of Way (R/W) plans and instruments to submit to the R/W Division at ODOT for their initial approval [once the environmental process has been completed.]

7. The Board of County Commissioners contacts the utility companies regarding any necessary utility relocations. The utility companies provide the Board with a set of plans showing any relocations. The Board is responsible for ensuring that all utilities are located in areas within state guidelines so as not to interfere with the proposed project.

   Note

   * If the utilities are on private right-of-way, the county is responsible for relocating any utility lines or equipment. If the utilities are on public right-of-way, the utility companies are responsible for relocation.*

8. After the R/W Division approves the plans and instruments, obtain the necessary R/W to construct the project. The R/W Division reviews the signed documents and approves them.
9. Request your consultant to submit preliminary plans to ODOT. Final corrections are made and approved.

10. The project is placed on a letting and the county pays its share of the cost.

11. ODOT issues a work order for the contractor, who starts work on the project. ODOT handles the construction inspection by hiring a consultant or using their own field personnel.

When a county requests federal aid, the project must meet federal, environmental, and R/W requirements. The project must meet minimum standards for width of roadway, width of shoulder, thickness of base, and thickness of surface paving. Appendix C contains information on minimum standards for county roads.

State Aid for Road Construction and Maintenance

County Road and Bridge Improvement Fund

The state also provides funds for county road construction through the County Road and Bridge Improvement Act. This act provides a revolving fund (administered by ODOT) for each county that enables counties to upgrade their road systems. Because it is a revolving fund, counties can plan large road construction projects and save the yearly money from this fund to finance it.

This same fund can be used to match federal funds for projects. This law allows for advance funding. A county can request up to 90% of the estimated four-year of the County Road and Bridge Improvement Fund for advance funding. However, no other project can be approved using this fund until the county has accumulated a surplus of three months of apportionment and repaid all funds advanced.

The County Road and bridge Improvement Fund’s use is restricted to the following areas:

- [Matching federal funds for the annual FHWA allocation to the Local Government Technology Center at Oklahoma State University for theFHWA Rural Technical Assistance Program]
- Project engineering costs
- Rights-of-way costs and utility relocation costs
- Reconstruction or replacement costs for roadway structures that are less than twenty feet in length]

69 O.S. § 657

69 O.S. § 660(D)

69 O.S. §§ 664, 665
• Any cost for administration, program management, engineering, or construction supervision incurred by the DOT

• Any cost related to a comprehensive plan for signing or inventory of signs on the county road system

• Costs of employing an engineer to assist a county in carrying out the daily operations of road and bridge maintenance and construction

Force Account Projects

On roadway projects where the county uses their own labor and equipment (except for specialized equipment and qualified operators for that equipment) to do the road construction, the law allows the county to be reimbursed up to a total amount of $200,000 from their County Road and bridge Improvement fund for the following expenses:

• Labor
• Equipment
• Materials

This limit excludes the costs of design engineering, right-of-way acquisition, and utility relocation. These projects must be programmed initially with the Local Government Division at ODOT and the unit prices must be agreed upon before any work begins.

On force account projects, the county is acting as the contractor and is required to follow ODOT specifications and procedures.

[Funds cannot be advanced for force account projects.]

Road and Bridge Construction

[Engineering Requirements]

When any culvert or bridge is to be constructed at an estimated cost of $50,000 or more, or any culvert or bridge is to be reconstructed at an estimated cost of $75,000 or more, or any grade-and-drainage project is to be developed, reconstructed, replaced or have major repairs that is estimated to cost more than $150,000, engineering plans and specifications must be prepared to ensure sound engineering practices. The Board of County Commissioners may use the county or CED engineer, employ an engineering consultant, or request assistance from ODOT to prepare these plans and specifications.
Road Maintenance

The Board of County Commissioners needs to understand two basic types of road maintenance, routine maintenance and road upgrades.

Routine Maintenance

Routine maintenance can include such activities as filling potholes, adding aggregate to a gravel road, grading shoulders, or other simple jobs needed to keep county roads in a safe, usable condition.

Routine maintenance can be performed without preparing engineering specifications no matter how much the job may cost. Contractors can be hired for routine maintenance, but these jobs are almost always performed by county road employees. Technical assistance is available to County Commissioners through ACCO and the Local Technical Assistance Program (LTAP) at Oklahoma State University. Experienced County Commissioners and road personnel can also provide assistance.

Road Upgrades

Road upgrades are the more difficult jobs that are needed when simple repairs and maintenance are no longer sufficient. Road upgrades require ripping up some or all of the original roadway and replacing it with a new one. For road upgrades, the Board of County Commissioners can decide whether to use county employees or hire a contractor.

Maintenance Plan

One basic maintenance plan will not fit the needs of every county. The Board of County Commissioners should develop a maintenance plan based on the road and bridge inventory and condition assessment. Figure 14-1 contains a flowchart that shows the basic steps in maintaining roads.

Bridge Repair and Replacement

Over 14,000 bridges are not on the State Highway System. Approximately fifty percent of the rural bridges in Oklahoma are functionally obsolete or structurally deficient (too narrow and low load limit). Federal and state funds are available to counties for repair or replacement of these bridges.

Federal Aid for Bridge Repair or Replacement

As with roads, federal funds are available to counties and are administered by ODOT. Currently, approximately 20 million... dollars of Bridge Replacement (BR) and Bridge Rehabilitation (BH) funds are allocated each year for the county road system. These bridges are built to the County Bridge Standards.

Extraordinary Bridge Program

Eighteen million dollars is allocated to all 77 counties in Oklahoma based on a distribution formula. In odd-numbered years, two million dollars are allocated to the Extraordinary Bridge Program.

This program was developed by ODOT and ACCO to provide financial assistance to counties that need to replace bridges whose costs exceed their funding capabilities.

For more information regarding the Extraordinary Bridge Program, contact the ACCO office.

County Bridge Inspection Program

During even-numbered years, the two and one-half-million dollar [Bridge Replacement (BR)] allocation is used to fund the County Bridge Inspection Program.

State Aid for Bridge Repair or Replacement

Counties receive County Road and bridge Improvement funds, which may be used to pay 100% of the bridge construction costs or match federal BR or BH funds to replace or repair the bridge. These funds may be used to pay for additional right-of-way, relocating utility lines, and rebuilding fence. The County Road and bridge Improvement Fund is primarily for bridges on the county’s major collector system, but may be used on school bus routes and mail routes.

Force Account Projects

On bridge projects where the county uses their labor to do the bridge construction, the law allows the county to get reimbursed up to $100,000 out of their County Road and bridge Improvement Fund for

- Labor
- Equipment
- Materials

This limit excludes the costs of engineering, right-of-way acquisition, and utility relocation. These projects must be programmed initially with Local Government Division and unit prices agreed upon before any work has begun.

For more information regarding the Extraordinary Bridge Program, contact the ACCO office.
County built bridges eligible for reimbursement from the County Road and bridge Improvement Fund must meet the following criteria:

- Registered professional engineer must provide field notes signed and stamped, that provide structural requirements to achieve a H.S. 20 load rating.

- The finished bridge must meet a 20-ton load rating based on the National Bridge Inventory (NBI) system.

- The subsurface foundation must meet minimum guidelines established by using approved engineering methods.

- The finished bridge must have a minimum roadway width of 24 feet.

- The material used in the construction of the bridge must meet or exceed the specifications for materials as specified in the current edition of the County Bridge Standards or certified in writing by the engineer or supplier.

Contact the ACCO office for a copy of the current County Bridge Standards.

On force account projects, the county is acting as the contractor and is required to follow ODOT specifications and procedures.
Routine Maintenance and Inspection

County Commissioners are responsible for the project plans and the contractor's work, and to ensure that the county’s money is used to best serve the most people. Therefore, they should be aware of basic road-building techniques in order to inspect the work being done. Two things will help County Commissioners judge the workmanship of a contractor or crew:

- Knowing the reasons roadwork fails
- Recognizing a good chip-seal technique

Causes of Failures

To serve as an effective inspector for the contractor or crew, County Commissioners need to know why roadwork sometimes fails. Three primary reasons are poor drainage, sloppy utility cuts, and mistakes with asphalt.

Drainage

Many times base failure or poor water drainage cause surface failures. Alligator cracks in flexible pavement surfaces indicate that water has eroded a soft spot below. In some cases, crews can relieve the moisture problem by providing an outlet for free water, which restores the base to its original strength. Cleaning and opening up shallow side ditches may appreciably improve sub-grade drainage as well.

Utility Cuts

One of the most difficult surface maintenance jobs is restoring utility cuts (electricity or phone lines). Utility cuts become a problem when utility companies dig out soil to install lines and then replace the soil in a loosened condition. Until the loose soil has been compacted by vibration plate-type compactors, vibratory rollers, or pounding of traffic, the road will settle or develop ruts. The best way to solve this problem is to prevent it by asking utility companies to sign permits to install their lines.

Public utilities and cable television systems have a right to use the right-of-way (R/W) on county roads for their lines; however, the Board of County Commissioners has the right to specify with a permit how utility companies will install these lines. Counties can specify that utility companies install their lines by boring underground or using poles rather than digging ditches across the road. If utility companies violate any of the installation instructions in the permit, they forfeit their right to use the R/W.
Figure 14-2 shows an example of a permit for installing utility lines. Many counties use this permit to establish installation conditions for utility companies.

Asphalt Failures

Typical asphalt failures include:

- Cracking usually caused by movement of subsoil
- Edge-cracking caused by excessive subgrade moisture or concentrated loads
- Potholes caused by structure weakness
- Alligator cracks caused by lack of support for pavement
- Raveling caused by wear or insufficient binder
- Bleeding caused by excess asphalt
- Settlement caused by subgrade consolidation or displacement
- Shoving or rutting caused by excess binder in the mix

Fixing asphalt failures is a long and costly job. Counties, therefore, should prevent these failures by eliminating the causes in the first place.

Chip-Seal Techniques

The second way to ensure quality work is by recognizing a good chip-seal technique. A chip-seal application to a road or street has two major objectives. First, it provides a surface to shed water to keep it from deteriorating the base. This prevents potholes and general road failure. Second, it provides a renewed riding surface. Figure 14-3 shows the steps in the chip-seal job.

A good chip-seal job is fairly simple to obtain either by contract or with a county crew. To guarantee a good job, the County Commissioner should be able to serve as inspector for either the contractor or the county crew. The following steps are essential to the success of a chip seal.

Road Surface Preparation

The job will not last if the roadbed is not properly prepared. Watch for proper crown; the shoulder should be four to six inches lower than the centerline.

Ensure proper road compaction—the roadbed must have a hard, compacted base no loose soil-surfaces with loose dirt should be tightbladed, watered, and rerolled.

Utility Line Installation on County R/W
(Submit in Triplicate)

TO THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS
__________________ COUNTY, STATE OF OKLAHOMA

We (I) the undersigned, hereby petition the Board of County Commissioners of _____________ County to grant a permit for the installation of (describe proposed installation):

Give legal description and attach a county map with location clearly marked:

Said line will conform to the following rules:

Petitioners shall notify the board of County Commissioners 48 hours prior to the actual start of the installation. There shall also be a 48 hour notification to the Board before any future maintenance or repair work, except in the case of emergency. In the case of emergency repair notification will be made as soon as possible. All work by petitioners in the public right-of-way shall be subject to the approval of the Board of County Commissioners, based on the rules listed herein. Petitioner shall notify the Board upon completion of the installation that a final inspection is required.

When paralleling the roadway it shall be located within 4 feet of the R/W line or the fence line if a fence is in place. If no fence exists the R/W line shall be located by an Oklahoma registered land surveyor at the petitioner’s expense. A copy of said survey shall be provided to the board prior to granting a permit. In no instance shall a line be placed within the limits of the roadbed.

All underground parallel installations shall be a minimum of 3 feet deep; all overhead parallel installations shall not cross any point of access to the county road at a height of less than 18 feet.

All underground installations which cross a county road with an asphaltic concrete, oil and chip, or concrete surface shall be jacked. Cutting of such “hard surfaced” roads will not be permitted. Crossings of unsurfaced and compacted to a minimum density of 95% of Standard Proctor maximum density. Results of the AASHTO T-99 Test as well as results of field density checks shall be submitted to the Board before final acceptance of the installation will be granted. The Board reserves the right to inspect any work during construction.

All underground crossings shall be a minimum of 4 feet below the elevation of the centerline of the road or 2 feet below the elevation of the ditch, whichever is greater. High pressure gasoline crossings shall be a minimum of 4 feet below the elevation of the ditch.

Petitioners agree to assume all responsibility for handling traffic during the construction, repair and maintenance of this line. Should any lowering, modification or relocation of the line be required during any future reconstruction or maintenance of the road, said lowering, modification or relocation shall be made without claim against the County. Should any damage to the line occur in the regular operation of roadwork, the petitioners or their successors, without claim against the County shall repair said damage.

Petitioner agrees to hold the county blameless for any damage to persons or property caused by the construction, maintenance operations or repair of its facilities on, over, or under said right-of-way, and agrees to reimburse the County for any and all monies expended by it in repairing any damage to the road caused by the construction, maintenance and operations of the petitioners.

Failure on the part of the petitioner to comply fully with the rules herein stated shall cause the petitioner to forfeit his/her right to easement on said county R/W, as per O.S. 69§1401 1981.

1. Prepare Road Surface
2. Check Road Temperature
3. Spray Asphalt
4. Apply Chips
5. Roll Road
Check the Roadbed

The roadbed must be dry and warm. A chip seal should never be applied when the air or ground temperature is below 50° F. Use a small bayonet thermometer to measure the temperature of the roadbed one-inch below the surface. Generally speaking, counties should not plan chip-seal work after November 1 in Oklahoma.

Spray the Asphalt

The two important factors in spraying asphalt are the application rate and the temperature. The road crew or contractor should spray the oil at the specified rate in the 1988 edition of Standard Specifications for Highway Construction, published by ODOT. The necessary temperature of the oil at the point of spraying varies with the type of asphalt being used:

- emulsified asphalt—100° to 140° F
- cut-back asphalt—225° to 275° F

Apply the Chips

Check the following criteria when a crew starts applying chips:

- Size—Standard Specifications for Highway Construction
- Cleanliness—slight amount of dust
- Application rate—Standard Specifications for Highway Construction
- Timing—immediately after oil is sprayed

Roll the Road

Rolling is the final step in applying a chip seal. Again, timing is important. Using a rubber tire roller, the crew or contractor should complete the first two passes within 20 minutes after the chips have been spread, otherwise the chips and asphalt may not bond well and the cover may peel up. They should make four passes, the last one slowly (5 to 7 mph).

County Auctions

Each year ACCO holds two state-wide county surplus equipment auctions, which allow counties to reduce surplus or gain needed equipment for construction and maintaining roads and other activities.

Counties can sell surplus items by writing a resolution declaring the equipment as surplus and taking the items to the auction.
For more information on the auctions and for dates, contact the ACCO office.

County Commissioners, county employees, and other interested parties watch as the auctioneer solicits bids on a piece of road equipment at an ACCO-sponsored auction in Oklahoma City.

Community Services

Community services are programs that the county establishes to increase the quality of life for county residents. For example, some Oklahoma towns are too small to have their own fire departments. The county can establish a fire protection district to serve that small town and the area around it. The county can also coordinate with cities to provide joint services that the city or county could not provide alone, such as a county health department.
This chapter identifies community services in the county and provides information for County Commissioners on providing these services to county residents.

Appendix B contains a list of OSU Extension Fact Sheets that would be helpful to County Commissioners regarding community services. Appendix B also contains copies of Extension Fact Sheet No. 801, Rules and Regulations Governing Emergency Medical Service; Extension Fact Sheet No. 841, Planning A Rural Fire Truck Service; and Extension Fact Sheet No. 844, Planning a Rural Fire Protection Service.

Community Service Districts

A community service district includes the area that is served by the community service. For example, if citizens of a small town or an area wish to establish a fire protection district, they must present a map of the area to be included in the district. Community service districts will not necessarily conform to County Commissioners’ districts.

Two types of community service districts are provided by Oklahoma law:

- Districts financed through millage tax levies
- Districts not financed through millage tax levies

Special Millage Districts

Districts financed through millage tax levies are called special millage districts. Special millage districts require a special election and must be approved by the voters in the proposed district area. Table 15-1 shows the methods used to create the various special millage districts.

Oklahoma Law allows for the following seven special millage districts.

1. Emergency medical service districts

   Emergency medical service districts provide ambulance service to rural areas. The Board of County Commissioners can call a special election or ten percent of the registered voters in the area can present a signed petition to the board to call an election.

If the voters approve the emergency medical service district, they are also approving a tax levy not to exceed 3 mills to provide funds to support, organize, operate, and maintain the district.

Once the district is approved, the Board of County Commissioners create a Board of Trustees, which has five members appointed by the board. This Board of Trustees can adopt rules and procedures and contract provisions necessary to provide emergency medical services.

2. Solid waste management districts

A solid waste management district provides landfills and trash collection for rural areas. A solid waste management district can be established in two ways:

1. 10% of the registered voters of the area must submit a signed petition asking the Board of County Commissioners to provide solid waste disposal services. The board can then call a special election.

2. The Solid Waste Planning Board of the area (which is created by the Board of County Commissioners) can draw up an agreement stating the legal boundaries of the proposed district and recommend to the Board of Commissioners that they call an election.

If the majority of the voters living in the area approve the solid waste management district, they also approve imposing a 3-mill tax levy to support the district. The district and the tax levy begin immediately after the election.

In addition to the tax levy, the new district may also need to finance itself in other ways:

♦ The Board can charge a user fee to persons who use the services provided by the district.

♦ The district can issue bonds. These bonds must be of an amount such that an additional 3-mill levy on ad valorem tax (additional to the 3 mills mentioned above) will be sufficient to pay off the principal and interest.

The county can also call another special election for approval to issue bonds for the following purposes:

27A O.S. §§ 2-10-101~2-10-103
§§ 2-10-201~2-10-205.1
§§ 2-10-301~2-10-308.1

♦ To acquire vehicles, equipment, and other necessary items
♦ To purchase landfill sites
♦ To finance construction landfills, transfer stations, or other facilities for solid waste management, disposal, and recycling

Any landfill that a county develops must comply with all Oklahoma Department of Health regulations.

♦ Operating and maintaining all of the above listed items

The solid waste management committee governs the new solid waste management district.

3. Fire protection districts

Fire protection districts provide fire department services to rural areas. To establish a fire protection district, 25% of the land titleholders outside of any city or town must present a signed petition to the Board of County Commissioners and request the board to call a special election. The land titleholders must also provide the board with a map of the proposed district and a bond to cover the special election costs.

The board must publicize for two weeks their intent to hold a special election in a newspaper with circulation in the area. The board must also hold a public hearing within twenty and not more than forty days after they received the initial petition. If the board believes that the fire protection district is in the best interest of the area after the hearing, they must call an election in a newspaper of general circulation in the area.

If the voters approve the district, the board declares the area fire protection district and establishes a Board of Directors for the district. The Board of County Commissioners must pass a Resolution Providing Approval by the County Commissioners. The board appoints three directors to serve until the next general election, at which time the voters will elect a new Board of Directors.

The Board of Directors of the district must develop a budget. After they determine the capital needs, the Board of Directors asks the County Clerk to call an election to determine whether the district will issue bonds for the amount of capital investment needed. If the voters approve the bonds, the Board of County Commissioners levies an assessment that is sufficient to pay the annual interest on the bonds and equal to the retiring bonds for each year.

In addition to issuing bonds, the new district can impose a tax levy to support itself. The Board of County Commissioners levies an annual assessment sufficient to cover the cost of operation of the district, the maintenance of the fire department and its equipment, and the payment of the district employees’ salaries. This assessment cannot exceed seven mills on the dollar of the assessed value of the property in the district.

Note

In this type of financial arrangement, all assessments legally levied by the district are a lien on the property until they are paid.

4. County health departments

A county health department provides health programs and health education in rural areas. Unlike other community service districts, the county health department is used and paid for by the entire county. The county board of health (Refer to Chapter Fourteen, Duties of the County Commissioner: County Offices, Boards, and Departments) can decide, with the approval of the Oklahoma Commissioner of Health, to establish a county health department.

In addition to funds that the County Excise Board may appropriate, the county can hold an election to levy a property tax to provide funds for a county health department. If the voters approve the tax, the county imposes a tax levy of up to 2 1/2-mill to support the district.

The County Health Board maintains the new county health department and the department operates under a Medical Director.

A county health department maintains a wide variety of health and safety programs, services, and facilities all authorized by law.

♦ Health education

♦ Health at work
♦ Nutrition
♦ Care for the chronically ill and the aged ♦ Vital records and statistics
♦ Mental health care
♦ Day care centers

5. County hospitals

A county hospital provides hospital services for the county. Unlike other community service districts, a county hospital is used and paid for by the entire county. If a county wants to establish a county hospital, the Board of County Commissioners can call an election, either on its own or at the request of 20% of the voters in the area who present a signed petition to the Board requesting an election. The Board must publish notice of the election in two daily or weekly newspapers in the county before they can hold the election.

If the voters approve the county hospital, they also give the district the right to issue bonds and impose tax levies. The district can issue bonds to pay for purchasing a site and constructing the hospital. The law also allows for two additional levies:

♦ An annual tax levy sufficient to cover interest and principal due on the bonds.
♦ An additional levy of 1/4 mill to pay for the care of county charity patients.

After the voters approve the new district, the Board of County Commissioners must either lease the building to a non-profit charitable organization or establish a Board of Control to manage the hospital. The Board of Control must present a financial statement to the Commissioners at the end of each fiscal year; this statement certifies the tax levy they need to maintain the hospital. The Oklahoma Statutes define the powers and duties of the Board of Control.

19 O.S. §§ 781, 782
19 O.S. §§ 784, 786
19 O.S. § 789
19 O.S. § 790.1
6. Sewer improvement districts

A sewer improvement district provides a sewage treatment plant and sewer pipes to rural areas. If a county wants to establish a County Sewer Improvement District, 50 residents of the area in question or a majority of land titleholders must present a signed petition to the Board of County Commissioners, requesting them to call an election.

Before the Board can call an election, they must publicize their intent to hold a public hearing in a newspaper for ten days, and then hold the hearing. If after the public hearing, the Board still feels the Sewer Improvement District is in the best interests of the area, they must publicize the election in a newspaper for two weeks before the election.

If the voters approve a sewer improvement district, they also approve imposing a tax levy. The Board can levy an annual assessment that will pay for the cost of the district's operation, repair, and maintenance. This assessment can not exceed 10 mills.

The district can also call another election to determine whether they can issue bonds. If the voters approve the sale of bonds, the Board must levy another annual assessment to retire the interest and principle of the bonds.

After the voters approve the sewer improvement district, the Board of County Commissioners must appoint a Board of Directors to maintain the district.

7. Rural road improvement districts

A rural road improvement district provides better roads for residents of rural areas. If a county wants to establish a Rural Road Improvement District, ten land titleholders located outside any corporate limits of a city or town can petition the Board of County Commissioners to call an election.

Before the Board can call an election, they must publicize their intent to hold a public hearing in a newspaper for two weeks, and then hold the hearing between 20 and 40 days after they received the initial petition. If after the public hearing, the Board still feels that a rural road improvement district is in the best interests of the area, they must publicize the election in a newspaper for two weeks before the election. If voters of the area approve the new district, the Board officially declares the area a rural road improvement district.
After the voters approve the district, the district can call another election to determine whether or not they will issue bonds to cover the estimated amount for road improvements. The district pays these bonds and any other debts they incur with revenue from the ad valorem-taxed property of the district.

The Board can also levy an assessment of 3 mills for the operating costs of the district.

When the Board declares the area a rural road improvement district, they also must set the date for the first meeting of the property owners within the district. These property owners then elect nine directors from among themselves to form a Board of Directors to manage the district.

A county cannot establish a special millage district without holding an election for the people who live within the proposed district.

Special Districts Without a Millage Levy

The Oklahoma Statutes provide for two other types of districts. These districts do not use property taxes for support. The people who benefit from the services pay for them. Table 15-2 shows information about these districts.

- Road improvement districts

  Similar to many special millage districts, the Oklahoma Statutes provide two ways for the Board of County Commissioners to call an election for a road improvement district. The first involves only the Board, and the second requires a petition.

  1. If the Board determines a need for a road improvement district, they must publicize for two weeks their intent to form one. During the two weeks, titleholders can file protests. If more than 40% of the titleholders file protests within 15 days of the last publication date, the Board cannot form the district. If less than 40% of the titleholders file protests, the Board must hold a public hearing. After the hearing, titleholders have 15 more days to protest. If they do not, the Board can begin forming the road improvement district.

2. 60% of the recorded titleholders of the area in question must petition for a road improvement district. Their petition must contain the following information:

- A list of titleholders
- The plat of area showing area of each parcel affected
- The preliminary plans, specifications, and estimated costs

Upon receiving the petition, the board must pass a resolution stating their intent to establish the district and begin the proposed project. Titleholders then have 15 days to file protests. If no valid protests are filed, the Board can begin forming the road improvement district.

The Board must follow certain steps to form the district:

1. They must pass a resolution that states the following information:

19 O.S. § 1236

19 O.S. § 1238
♦ No valid protests were filed.
♦ They affirm that they intend to proceed with the project.
♦ They request that the engineer submit detailed plans, specifications, and cost estimates.

2. Then, they must pass a resolution, within six months of the date that the titleholders filed the original petition, which encompasses the following statements:

♦ They accept the engineer's plans.
♦ They require the contractor to execute a bond to ensure completion of the project and protect the county and all titleholders from any loss or damage.
♦ They require a maintenance bond against any failure due to defective workmanship or material for a period of not less than one year.
♦ They direct the County Clerk to advertise for sealed bids.

3. After the required time, the Board must open the bids and select the lowest and best bid. That bid cannot exceed the amount of the final estimate. The Board cannot award the contract until the bonds mentioned above are approved.

4. Within ten days after the contractor or crew completes the project and determines the final cost, the Board, by resolution, must direct the County Assessor to appraise and apportion the cost to the various titleholders.

5. Within ten days after the County Assessor completes the assessment roll, the titleholders can file protests. The Board reviews any protests and makes a ruling on their validity. Titleholders must pay their assessments in ten annual installments with an interest rate not to exceed 13% per annum. The Board must levy these assessments by resolution. This

• Rural water, sewer, gas, and solid waste management districts

The Oklahoma Statutes allow counties to form rural water districts, rural sewer districts, rural gas districts, and rural solid waste management districts to provide rural areas with better water supplies, gas distribution facilities, sewage disposal facilities, and solid waste management systems. If a county wants to establish one or more of these districts, at least two landowners must petition the Board of County Commissioners. The Board then schedules a public hearing. The hearing must be publicized for two weeks. If after the hearing the Board believes that the area needs one or more of these districts, they can declare the area a rural water, sewer, gas, or solid waste management district.

After the district is formed, the property owners within the area meet and elect from among themselves a Board of Directors to manage the new services. This Board must have nine members.

The new district or districts will support itself through user fees. Each person who uses the new services must pay a share of the operating costs and other basic financial needs of the services. The district or districts have no power to levy any taxes or make assessments on any property.

County Libraries

The Oklahoma Statutes permit the County Excise Board to authorize an annual levy of up to one-half of one mill on all taxable property in addition to other levies to establish, extend, operate and maintain a county circulating library. If a county has less than 15,000 persons, the Board of County Commissioners has the authority to use these funds in cooperation with any city library to form a joint county and city library.
[ Care of the Indigent ]

[ The Oklahoma Statutes designate the Board of County Commissioners as overseers of the indigent. Every county is mandated to relieve and support all indigent persons who lawfully reside in that county. In counties of population over 200,000, the Board can set up a department to provide services to the indigent and hire a director. ]

56 O.S. §§31, 32, 33

[ The Board of any county can establish an indigent care facility by purchasing land, erecting, renting, or improving buildings. It can also solicit proposals from outside sources for indigent care. ]

56 O.S. §§ 32.1, 32.2

The Board of County Commissioners is responsible for granting temporary relief for persons who are ill or in distress who do not have money to pay for care. The Board is responsible for providing burial services for any person who dies within the county who does not have money or means to pay for funeral expenses.

56 O.S. § 54

City-county health department or county pharmacies may receive unused prescription drugs from nursing facilities for distribution to the medically indigent. Counties may also provide money for medicine.

63 O.S. § 1-1918.2

[ Flood Plain Management ]

[ The Board of County Commissioners is authorized by statute to establish floodplain boards for their counties, which may adopt, administer, and enforce floodplain management regulations. ]

Federal Aid with Community Services

The federal government has organized a database to help counties find federal aid programs for community services. The Federal Assistance Programs Retrieval System (FAPRS) is a computerized system that can provide information to the Board about federal aid for which their communities are eligible. In Oklahoma, counties can use FAPRS by contacting the Oklahoma Cooperative Extension Service at Oklahoma State University. With FAPRS, counties can use a computer to access information on available federal assistance for a specific community project.

Information is also available for the following categories:

- Community facilities
• Business and industrial development
• Planning and technical assistance
• Housing
• Education • Employment
• Health
• Social services programs

Each of these categories has several subcategories. Counties can choose a category and a subcategory and request a printout by program name and number of all the relevant programs for which the county may be eligible.

While it does not guarantee eligibility of any specific project or availability of program funds, FAPRS can serve as a valuable research aid in identifying possible sources of federal assistance. More detailed information about FAPRS can be found in the OSU Extension Facts Number 832 (see Appendix B), which is available through the Oklahoma Cooperative Extension Service at OSU.

State Aid with Community Services

Oklahoma Cooperative Extension Service

The Cooperative Extension Service can provide information to the Board about many rural development programs including the following examples:

• Rural water systems
• Transportation systems for the elderly
• Rental apartments
• Solid waste disposal
• Clinics
• Emergency medical services
• Fire protection
• Industrial sites (economic development)
• Mobile home park developments
• Sewer systems

65 O.S. §§ 4-201~4-206
The OCES can provide information on how a county could establish these programs, how much they would cost, how much revenue they might provide, and other helpful information.

Center for Local Government Technology

The Center for Local Government Technology provides technical assistance to counties in areas relating to roads and bridges, energy conservation, and data processing. The Center has a program that helps cities and counties determine computer needs, develop specifications to meet these needs, and evaluate proposals after bids have been received.

[ Oklahoma Association of Regional Councils ]

Eleven regional councils exist in Oklahoma through the Oklahoma Association of Regional Councils. The following services and programs are examples of assistance that may be provided by these councils:

- Supportive Services
- Resource Conservation and Development
- Community and Economic Development
- Workforce Development
- Resource Management
- Public Safety and Analysis
- Environmental Services

[ Development Acts ]

Several development acts have been created by statute to provide for various types of development in certain areas. These acts usually offer certain incentives and exemptions, for example, taxation exemptions.

[ The Oklahoma Housing Reinvestment Program Act ]

The purpose of the Oklahoma Housing Reinvestment Program Act is to encourage reinvestment in housing in those areas for which a demonstrated need for housing exists, but is not met through existing public and private efforts.

A municipality or county may provide an exemption from ad valorem taxes in a housing reinvestment district under certain conditions.
[The Oklahoma Rural Housing Incentive District Act]

The purpose of the Oklahoma Rural Housing Reinvestment Act is to encourage the development and renovation or housing in rural municipalities and counties. These districts may only be created in a municipality or county with a population of less than 300,000, and in which the percentage change in population is less than the national average. 62 O.S. §§ 870-880

[The Local Development Act]

The Local Development Act provides for taxation exemptions and incentives for the planning, financing, and development and redevelopment with certain areas of the state. 62 O.S. §§ 652-869

Duties of the County Commissioner: County Offices, Boards and Departments

One of the responsibilities of the Board of County Commissioners is to establish personnel policies for county employees. Therefore, the Board needs to understand the organization and duties and responsibilities of all county offices and county boards and departments. This chapter explains the County Commissioners’ tasks and responsibilities in working with these entities.

Many of these duties are discussed in greater detail in other chapters in this handbook. Please refer to Chapter One, County Government in...
Oklahoma, and Chapter Three, The County Budget Process for more information on county offices, boards, and departments. Table 16-1 shows the County Commissioners’ role related to county officers and county boards and departments.

Chapter Ten, Duties of the County Commissioner: County Administration, explains the County Commissioners’ duties and responsibilities for personnel policies and other county management.

The County Board System

The Board of County Commissioners

The Board of County Commissioners meets and holds sessions to transact business on the first Monday of each month. The meetings are held in the County Courthouse, at the county seat, and this board may remain in session for as long as the public business requires.

Please refer to Chapter Eight, Duties of the County Commissioner: Meetings, for more information on holding public meetings.

The Board of County Commissioners is involved in some way with almost all other county boards and departments. The Board must approve estimates and needs and apportion funds to many county boards and departments. The Board also appoints members on many of the county boards and departments. The County Commissioners themselves are sometimes members of various other boards.

County Excise Board

General

The County Excise Board meets at the county seat on the first Monday of July each year to organize and elects a chairman and vice-chairman to perform excise duties for that fiscal year. The County Clerk serves as Secretary to the County Excise Board and complies with public notices and publication of proceedings as required by law. Please refer to Chapter Eight, Duties of the County Commissioner: Meetings, for more information on notices.

Budgets

Annually, the County Excise Board provides an estimate of anticipated revenues to County Officers and meets with each officer before July 1 each year to discuss personnel needs for the next fiscal year.

The Board of County Commissioners, the governing bodies of cities and towns, and the governing boards of each school district submit an “estimate of needs” for their respective units of government to the County Excise Board. This board examines these estimates, makes temporary appropriations, obtains necessary justifications, determines statutory compliance, and ensures that these needs are within anticipated revenues. After the County Excise Board approves the various budgets, they are filed with the State Equalization Board. One copy is kept on file in the County Clerk’s office.

[ In counties with Budget Boards, the budget process is handled differently. ] Duties of county offices related to the budget process are discussed in detail in Chapter Three, The County Budget Process.

Members of the Payne County Budget Board (right to left) Sheriff Carl Hiner, Court Clerk Lisa Lambert, County Commissioner Jim Arthur, County Assessor Cheri Hall, County Clerk Sherri Schieffer, County Commissioners Gloria Hesser and Bill Deering, and County Treasurer Bonita Stadler, meet to work on the upcoming year’s budget.
Abstract of Assessments

Within ten days after the County Assessor receives the certificates of assessment of all property in the county from the State Board of Equalization, the County Assessor prepares and files an abstract of the assessed valuations with the County Clerk as secretary of the County Excise Board. This abstract is the valuation figure used by the County Excise Board in the budget process.

County Board of Equalization

Overview

The County Board of Equalization contains three members appointed in the following manner:

- One member is appointed by the Oklahoma Tax Commission.
- One member is appointed by the Board of County Commissioners.
- One member is appointed by the district judge(s).

The tenure of the County Board of Equalization must be the same as that of the first and third County Commissioners’ districts. Not more than one member can live in one County Commissioner’s district.

The County Board of Equalization’s primary duty is equalization. Each year this board goes into session to equalize that year’s assessment roll to ensure the following items:

- That all non-agricultural real property is appraised at its fair cash value according to its use
- That all agricultural real property is valued at its use value
- That all personal property is listed at its fair cash value

Use value is the appraisal of property in its actual use. The role of the County Board of Equalization is to maintain equity in the county’s property tax structure.

The County Clerk serves as secretary and complies with all public notices and publications of proceedings as required by law.

Training

Each member of the County Board of Equalization who holds office on or after January 1, 1991, must attend and successfully complete a course designed to instruct members about the duties imposed on this board by law. The course must be developed by the Center for...
Local Government Technology. Failure of a County Board of Equalization member to successfully complete the course within 18 months of the date when the member was appointed will result in forfeiture of the office. The vacancy must be filled in the manner provided by law.

Sessions

The session period for a County Board of Equalization varies according to the assessed valuation of the county. Table 16-2 shows the session periods related to assessed valuation.

Regular Sessions

The Chairman of the County Board of Equalization is empowered to schedule the meetings held during the regular session. If the Chairman fails at any time to schedule these meetings, then the remaining two members, by agreement, schedule the meetings.

The County Board of Equalization equalizes, corrects, and adjusts the assessment roll during a regular session. The County Assessor is required to have the assessment roll before this board by the fourth Monday in April. This board acts as a quasi-judicial body during the regular session to hear and settle protests from taxpayers on the following items:

- Considering real estate not increased over the previous year’s assessment
- Adding omitted property
- Canceling assessments of property not taxable
- Raising or lowering appraisals to conform to the fair cash value as defined by law

68 O.S. § 2863
Special Sessions

A special session is permitted if the County Board of Equalization determines that the number of protests filed is more than can be heard or settled during the regular session. No business can be carried out during the special session other than hearing or settling protests.

Duties

The County Board of Equalization has specific duties and authorities:

- To equalize, correct, and adjust the assessed valuation of real property by raising or lowering the property's valuation, of any taxpayer to conform to the fair cash value of the property, as defined by law.
- To add omitted property
- To cancel assessments of property not taxable
- [To hear all grievances and protests filed with the board’s secretary]
- To review all homestead exemption applications

Each County Board of Equalization must also cooperate with and assist the County Assessor in performing the duties imposed on the County Assessor by the statutes: to ensure that the required records are fully and accurately prepared and maintained, and that they agree with the assessed valuations of the county’s real property.

After the records have been prepared and the assessed valuations adjusted, the County Board of Equalization must not raise or lower the assessed valuation of any parcel or tract of real estate without preparing competent evidence justifying the change, or until at least one member of the board or a person designated by this board has made a personal inspection of the property and submitted a written report to this board. Under no circumstances can the County Board of Equalization make any changes if those changes are inconsistent with the equalized value of other similar property in the county.

Notice of Increase in Valuation

Whenever the County Assessor or the County Board of Equalization increases the fair value of property reported by the owner, or the fair cash value of real property from the preceding year, a change in valuation notice must be mailed to the owner. The change in valuation notice must include the following information:

- Fair cash value for the preceding and current years
• Assessment rate for the preceding and current years
• Assessed value for the preceding and current years

The County Assessor or the County Clerk keeps a duplicate copy of the notice sent by the County Board of Equalization. 68 O.S. § 2876

Protests (Written Complaints)

Taxpayers may file a written complaint with the County Assessor specifying objections to the County Assessor's actions. To be a valid protest, the taxpayer's written complaint must be filed within the following timeframe:

• Within 20 [ working ] days from the mailing date of the notice of an increase in assessed valuation, a written complaint must be filed with the County Assessor.

• By the first Monday in May for a real property assessment not increased above the previous year, a written complaint must be filed with the County Assessor.

• By the first Monday in May for personal property added by the County Assessor, a written complaint must be filed with the County Assessor.

Any complaint must be made on a form prescribed by the Oklahoma Tax Commission.

The County Assessor has to schedule an informal hearing with the taxpayer to hear the protest. The County Assessor has five working days after the hearing to make a final decision on whether an adjustment should be made and send a written notice to the taxpayer.

Appeals

If the taxpayer is not satisfied with the County Assessor’s determination, the taxpayer has ten [ working ] days to file an appeal with the County Equalization Board. The appeal is filed with the County Clerk as secretary of the board [ on a form prescribed by the Oklahoma Tax Commission. One copy of the form is mailed or delivered to the County Assessor and one copy is mailed or delivered to the County Board of Equalization. ]

Hearings

The County Board of Equalization sets a hearing date [ upon receiving an appeal from action by the County Assessor. ] When hearing an appeal, this board can perform the following actions:

• Take evidence pertinent to the protest
• Subpoena witnesses
• Subpoena books, records, and papers

Both the taxpayer and the County Assessor have the right to appeal a decision of the County Board of Equalization to the District Court and to the Supreme Court. A notice of appeal to the District Court must be filed with the County Clerk within ten days from the date the County Board of Equalization adjourns.

The County Clerk is required to prepare and maintain a record of the hearing and record all complaints, decisions, and orders of this board. This information becomes part of the record of any case that is appealed to the District Court.

The District Attorney represents the County Assessor in an appeal. Upon the request of the District Attorney or the County Assessor, an attorney from the Oklahoma Tax Commission must appear on behalf of the County Assessor the Board of County Commissioners and the County Excise Board have the mandatory duty to provide the County Assessor with funds to pay the costs incurred when appealing to the courts.

Board of Tax Roll Corrections

The Board of Tax Roll Corrections is authorized to hear allegations of error, mistakes, or differences as to any item(s) contained in the tax rolls. Members of this board include the Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners as Chairman, the Chairman of the County Board of Equalization as vice-chairman, and the County Assessor. The County Clerk serves as Secretary and is a nonvoting member of this board.

Any taxpayer or the County Assessor has the right to appeal any decision made by the Board of Tax Roll Corrections to the District Court.

The following paragraphs include information on some of the items of error, mistakes, or difference that can be heard by the Board of Tax Roll Corrections.

Assessment Errors

• Any personal or real property assessed to any person, firm, or corporation not owning or claiming not to own the property
• The same property, whether real or personal, assessed more than once for the taxes of the same year

Certificate of Error

When the Board of Tax Roll Corrections rules an error has been made, the County Clerk issues a certificate of error according to the following guidelines:

- For a tax increase
  A certificate of error is issued to the County Assessor to certify the increase to the County Treasurer.

- For no taxes due
  A certificate of error that shows the amount or other effect is issued to the County Treasurer to enter such correction on the tax roll.

- For a tax decrease
  A certificate of error is issued to the County Treasurer to decrease the amount of the tax charged and enter a credit in lieu of cash for the amount of the decrease.

County Extension Office

The County Extension Office provides assistance and advice for county residents as described in Chapter One, County Government in Oklahoma. The Oklahoma Statutes require the Board of County Commissioners to enter into a contract with the Oklahoma Cooperative Extension Service (OCES) at Oklahoma State University [to provide agricultural, rural development, family, and youth services.]

OCES runs the County Extension Office and hires, with the approval of the Board of County Commissioners, the Director of the office.

[Federal and state laws provide for funding personnel and programs through a cooperative agreement with USDA, OSU, state government, and county government. The Oklahoma Statutes require the Board of County Commissioners to include funds for the County Extension Service in the county’s estimate of needs. The county provides office space and funds for travel, and maintenance and operations. State and federal funds provide extension staff salaries and fringe benefits.]

County Board of Health

Every county in Oklahoma has the option to establish a County Board of Health. This board provides programs, services, and facilities in the interest of public health and safety. A County Board of Health has the authority to perform the following activities:

- Maintain a County Health Department
- Establish a District or Cooperative Department of Health with surrounding health boards
- Adopt regulations consistent with the laws of the State Board of Health

The County Board of Health has five members. The following entities appoint the indicated individuals as mandated by the Oklahoma Statutes:

- The Board of County Commissioners appoints one member with a MD or DD.
- The Board of County Commissioners appoints one County Commissioner or other appointee.
- The District Judge appoints one member with a school administrator’s certificate.
- The State Commissioner of Health appoints two members.

Department of Health or Superintendent of Health

The County Board of Health has the option to form a County Health Department, which operates under a Medical Director. If the board does not form a County Health Department, the State Commissioner of Health appoints a County Superintendent of Health.

City-County Board of Health

If a county has a population over 225,000 and a city with a population over 150,000, the Board of County Commissioners and the governing body of the city can agree to form a joint City-County Board of Health. This board has the same duties as a County Department of Health.

Membership

The City-County Board of Health has five members. The City Council or Commission of the city involved appoints five members and the Board of County Commissioners appoints four members.

Board of County Commissioners’ Role

If a county forms a City-County Board of Health, the Board of County Commissioners must take over some of the duties of the Board of Health. The City-County Board recommends regulations to the Board of County Commissioners. The Oklahoma Statutes then require the Board to enforce all of the recommended rules that they deem reasonable and consistent with the State Board of Health’s laws.

[City/County Parks and Recreation Department]

[Under the 1965 City-County Park and Recreation Act of Oklahoma, a densely populated county may contract with a city to establish and operate a recreation system. The county must not contain a city with a population of less than 1000.]

County Engineer

[Under the following conditions, the Oklahoma Statutes require the Board of County Commissioners to request an engineer or the Oklahoma Department of Transportation (ODOT) to prepare engineering specifications for the project. The state withholds any road funds from any county that does not employ an engineer or use an engineering consultant.]

- When any culvert or bridge is to be constructed at an estimated cost of $50,000
- When any culvert or bridge is to be reconstructed at an estimated cost of $75,000
- When a grade-and-drainage project is to be developed, or reconstructed, replaced, or repaired at an estimated cost of $150,000

[Counties may now join with other counties located within their Association of County Commissioners of Oklahoma (ACCO) districts to form Circuit Engineering Districts (see Chapter Thirteen, Duties of the County Commissioner: Circuit Engineering Districts). Counties within these Circuit Engineering Districts may share an engineer hired by, or under contract to, a district.]

Duties

A County Engineer, engineering consultant, or ODOT perform the following activities:

- Advise and assist in providing solutions to specific problem areas
- Provide guidance and make recommendations on procedures, methods, and materials with reference to roads, culverts, or bridges
- Assist in estimating overall job costs

69 O.S. § 624

69 O.S. § 1-1003

69 O.S. § 687.1
• Be available in emergency situations where engineering evaluation and judgment is necessary
• Inspect road and bridge conditions and prepare necessary reports of findings and recommendations
• Prepare engineering plans and specifications for specific upgrade projects where the estimated cost is $50,000 or greater
• Perform other such reasonable engineering functions that the Oklahoma Statutes prescribe

County Engineers and Consultants

Counties have the option to hire a County Engineer as a county employee or use an engineering consultant on a job-to-job basis. Because some counties do a large amount of roadwork, they find it more convenient to employ a County Engineer as a full or part-time county employee. Other counties prefer to use engineering consultants when they need them. If a county cannot afford to hire an engineer or use an engineering consultant, the Oklahoma Statutes allow two to ten counties to hire a County Engineer or engineering consultant and share the cost.

Oklahoma Department of Transportation

If a county cannot afford to employ a full or part-time engineer or hire an engineering consultant, even by sharing the cost with other counties, the county can request that ODOT provide engineering services free of charge. However, ODOT cannot act as a full-time engineer in charge of all county road activities.

If the necessary engineering specifications require an engineer to visit a site, the county can work with one of ODOT’s Field Divisions. ODOT has field offices throughout the state. If a county needs ODOT to visit the site on a project, a County Road Engineer from one of ODOT’s field offices can take over the engineering tasks.

County Board of Public Welfare

The County Board of Public Welfare is the local agent of the Oklahoma Department of Public Welfare, the department that administers state and federal assistance to the needy in Oklahoma.

Membership

The State Welfare Commission appoints three, five, or seven members. No member can be an elected official or candidate and all serve without compensation.
County Commissioner’s Role

The Board of County Commissioners provides the office quarters for the County Board of Public Welfare. The Board is also the official overseers of the poor and must take any lawful and necessary measures to assist the eligible poor in the county.

County Election Board

- Not less than thirty-five days before an election authorized by the county, the Secretary of the County Election Board sends the following information to the Board of County Commissioners:
  - An itemized estimate of the number of precinct inspectors, judges, clerks, and absentee voting board members necessary for the election
  - An estimate of the compensation and employer’s share of any benefits to be provided to each precinct inspector, judge, clerk, and absentee voting board member

Not less than fifteen days prior to the election, the Board of County Commissioners sends the Secretary of the County Election Board funds equal to the estimate for the items above. If the amount is not submitted ten days prior to the election, the Secretary is not required to hold the election. The Secretary deposits the funds received in the County Election Board Special Depository Account.

As soon as practicable after a county election, the Secretary of the County Election Board submits a claim to the Board of County Commissioners, The claim itemizes all of the election expenses and shows any payments already made. If any additional monies are owed, the Board of County Commissioners must pay the County Election Board within thirty days. The Secretary of the County Election Board deposits any monies received into the Special Depository Account and pays the election expenses.

County Law Library

Each county can establish its own Law Library to provide free legal resources for judges, government officials, members of the bar and county residents. A board of law library trustees oversees the management of the library. This board appoints the librarian.

All money collected for credit to the law library must be paid by the Court Clerk to the County Treasurer and kept in a separate continuing fund account called the Law Library Fund.
Planning Commission

A Planning Commission draws up plans and zoning laws to promote efficient and safe use of the land. When a county forms a Planning Commission, they also form a Board of Adjustment to hear citizens’ complaints.

A county has three choices in establishing a Planning Commission:

1. County Planning Commission
2. City-County Planning Commission
3. County Planning Commission for counties with over 500,000 population

County Planning Commission

A County Planning Commission requires a resolution of the Board of County Commissioners and then majority approval of county residents in a special election. This commission has jurisdiction over only the unincorporated portions of a county and cannot apply its regulations or plans to farm homes, agricultural buildings, or croplands. However, cities and towns can request the advisory or coordinating services from their County Planning Commission.

 Authorities of the Commission

Whenever the County Planning Commission formulates a plan, they must submit the plan to a public hearing before they can vote to adopt, amend, or reject it. At least four members of the Commission must approve the plan to adopt it. The plan becomes official when the Board of County Commissioners approves it. If a citizen wants to protest the plan, the Board of Adjustment holds public hearings to consider the complaint.

Commission Members

Since the concerns of the County Planning Commission are primarily county rather than municipal, the Board of County Commissioners determines most of the members of the commission:

- The Board of County Commissioners appoints three of the commission members.
- The Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners serves or chooses another member to serve.
- The mayor of each incorporated municipality with a population of over 1,000 selects each additional member.
The Board of County Commissioners also appoints all five members of the Board of Adjustment.

City-County Planning Commission

In any county with no city with a population over 200,000, county and local officials can create a Metropolitan Area Planning Commission (MAPC) and a County Board of Adjustment.

This commission meets monthly to consider planning proposals that would benefit the entire city-county community. The law stipulates that the Board of County Commissioners in a MAPC county must submit their proposed planning regulations to the commission for approval.

Authorities of the Commission

The law authorizes the City-County Commission to take advantage of all services, funds, and advice through federal, state, and local governments. In addition to receiving the necessary appropriations from city and county funds, the commission can also contract for state and federal grants to support its programs.

Although this commission demands a truly coordinated effort, city, and county each maintain distinct and separate powers. The city may make decisions concerning housing codes, additional urban planning, urban renewal, land use studies, surveys, conservation plans, and other needs and projects. The county’s jurisdiction includes such items as zoning, housing, building, and construction codes – generally excluding incorporated areas, transportation plans and facilities, capital improvement programs, regulations for land subdivisions, urban research, and conservation.

Commission Members

The membership of the commission reflects the cooperative nature of its functions and comprises the following members:

- The Board of County Commissioners appoints four members, who cannot be residents of any incorporated city or town.
- The mayor appoints four members who are confirmed by the City Council.
- Each incorporated town or city within the commission’s jurisdiction provides a member.
- The mayor or a member of the city’s governing body appointed by the mayor is an ex officio member.

19 O.S. § 866.2
19 O.S. § 866.7
• The Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners or a member appointed by the Chairman acts as an ex officio member.

County Planning Commission for Counties Over 500,000 Population

Large counties with populations over 500,000 can create a County Planning Commission and a County Board of Adjustment. This commission, like the other commission types, the city and county each maintains its distinct identity and jurisdiction. Both the Planning Commission and the Board of Adjustment have authority only over unincorporated areas, and any conflict is resolved in favor of the town or city.

Commission Members

The Board of County Commissioners appoints all seven members of this County Planning Commission:

- One member is a County Commissioner.
- Six members are residents of unincorporated parts of the county.

The five members of the Board of Adjustment include the following persons:

- Three members are resident property owners appointed by the Board of County Commissioners.
- One member is a resident of the county seat.
- One member is an attorney licensed by the Oklahoma Bar.

Board of County Commissioner’s Role

This Planning Commission is authorized to draw up a master plan, which they must present in one public hearing before they can adopt it. However the Board of County Commissioners has the authority to pass zoning regulations, not the Planning Commissioners.

Nevertheless, the Board of County Commissioners must submit any proposed zoning laws to the Planning Commission for recommendations and public hearings. After the Planning Commission prepares a report of its findings, the Board of County Commissioners can then vote to adopt the regulations or to return them for further study by the Planning Commission.
County Public Defender

If the presiding judge in a criminal proceeding determines that the accused cannot afford private counsel, the judge then requests the free services of the county’s Public Defender or a duly-appointed assistant. The Public Defender may represent such persons in any or all steps of the judicial process: the arraignment, trial, and appeal of conviction.

Appointment

The Board of County Commissioners appoints as Public Defender an attorney that the District Attorney and the Judge of the Court of Record recommend. Judges of Courts of Record decide whether the county can hire a full-time or part-time Public Defender when they work on a budget. They also determine whether they can employ assistants to the Public Defender.

Using the Oklahoma Statutes

Knowing how to find information in the Oklahoma Statutes is essential for County Commissioners.

Note

For any questions on how to interpret a statute or law, the County Commissioner should request legal advice from the District Attorney’s office.

19 O.S. § 215.5

The Oklahoma Statutes

The Oklahoma Statutes are made up of statutes, supplements, and session laws.

All the laws enacted, amended, and repealed since statehood comprise a multi-volume set published every ten years. For example, the Oklahoma Statutes, 2001 contains all the laws passed from statehood up to and including the 2001 legislative session.

The Supplements

Each year, legislators publish a Supplement containing all the laws enacted, amended, or repealed since the Oklahoma Statutes were last published. Therefore, a full reading of the law would require the reader to consult the Oklahoma Statutes and the latest Supplement.

Session Laws Citations

Following each session of the state legislature, all laws enacted in that session are published as the Oklahoma Session Laws for that year.

In the interim between the time legislators pass the laws and the time they publish the Annual Supplement to the Statutes, the Oklahoma Session Laws are the only reference available for the new laws. In order to find a law, either the date of passage or the number of the Bill is needed, as the Session Laws index lists laws both chronologically and by number.
Index

The last volume of the Oklahoma Statutes has two parts. The first part is an alphabetical index of topics found in the previous volumes. The second part presents tables showing where the laws from former revisions and compilations appear in the most recent compilation.

Alphabetical Index

The index to the Statutes is organized by major topics. Following each major topic heading is an alphabetical list of subentries to the major topic. Each subentry may be further subdivided as well. Following each subentry is the Title and section where you can find it. For example, to find the laws addressing fees charged by Court Clerks, locate the major topic heading "Court Clerk" and search the alphabetical list under the heading for "Fees."

This particular example appears in the index in the following manner:

COURT CLERKS

Fees, 28§31, 151 et. seq.
Alimony without divorce, 28§152
Conveyances, 28§32
Divorce Actions, 28§152

Therefore, statutes addressing fees are in Title 28, Section 31 and Section 151 and the following sections (et. seq. means "and following").

Other notations following a concept listing are

- generally, this index means the subentry is a major topic
- elsewhere in the index
- ante means the concept is listed prior to that listing under the same topic heading
- post means the concept is listed after that concept listing under the same topic heading
- topic heading

Tables

The tables in the index help locate a statute only the session law date and number are known. For example, to find the location of the session law "laws 1970, C. 110§1" in the Oklahoma Statutes, 1991, locate the table for "laws 1970" under the major heading "session laws 1931-1991." The table reads as follows:

Laws 1970

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Chapter</th>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>110</td>
<td>1-19</td>
<td>138.4</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A Closer Look

Statutes, supplements, and session laws are made up of Titles, which are divided into chapters, which are divided into sections.

Titles

Each part of the Oklahoma Statutes is organized into major categories called Titles, which are arranged alphabetically by the title of the category. These are Titles. Each Title is numbered consecutively in both the Table of Contents and throughout the Statutes. The Titles listed in Volume I begin as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1. Abstracting</td>
<td>187</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Agriculture</td>
<td>192</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. Aircraft and Airports</td>
<td>412</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Thus, a reference made to "Title 2 of the Statutes" is actually a reference to laws generally pertaining to agriculture.

Chapters and Sections

Each Title in the Statutes is organized by chapters which pertain to the major topic of the Title. Chapters are further divided into sections. Instead of starting over with one at every new chapter, sections are numbered continuously throughout each Title, so that only the Title and section number need be known. The chapter number is unnecessary.

At the beginning of each Title, a listing of the chapter headings and section numbers can be found. Thus, Title 19, Counties and County Officers, is subdivided in the following manner:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Chapter</th>
<th>Section</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1. Status and Powers of Counties</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Creation and Alteration of Counties</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. Assets and Liabilities Among Constitutional Counties</td>
<td>61</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
At the beginning of each chapter is a complete list of topics covered in that chapter and sections where topics are found. For example, Title 19, Chapter 1, begins as follows:

Chapter 1: Status and Powers of Counties

Section

1. Powers in General
2. Property of County
3. Powers of county exercised by Board of County Commissioners

The symbol designating a section in the Statutes is §. Therefore, Title 19, of the 2001 Oklahoma Statutes, section 116 is written 19 O.S. §116. Statutes from the 2001 volumes usually do not have a date indication. If the law has been changed or a new law has been passed, references from the Supplements are written 19 O.S. 2003, §116 to show that the law must be looked up in the 2003 Supplement for the latest version.

After each section of the Statutes will be a footnote listing the following information:

- The year in which the law enacted
- The year(s) in which amendments were made
- The date on which the law or amendment became effective if an emergency was declared
- The chapter (or page number) and the section of the Oklahoma Sessions
- The Laws at which the law or amendment is found

For example, following 19 O.S. §165 is the footnote:

Laws 1979, C. 221, §5, emerg. eff. May 30, 1979

Therefore the law relating to 19 O.S. §165 was enacted in 1979, is found at Chapter 221, Section 5 of the Oklahoma Session Laws 1979, and became effective May 30, 1979. The law was amended in 1980. The amendment can be found at Chapter 302, Section 2 of the Oklahoma Session Laws 1980. The amendment became effective July 1, 1980.

TITLE 23--HIGHWAYS

CHAPTER I--FEDERAL HIGHWAY ADMINISTRATION, DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

PART 650--BRIDGES, STRUCTURES, AND HYDRAULICS--Table of Contents

Subpart C--National Bridge Inspection Standards

Sec. 650.301 Application of standards.

The National Bridge Inspection Standards in this part apply to all structures defined as bridges located on all public roads. In accordance with the AASHTO (American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials) Transportation Glossary, a bridge is defined as a structure including supports erected over a depression or an obstruction, such as water, highway, or railway, and having a track or passageway for carrying traffic or other moving loads, and having an opening measured along the center of the roadway of more than 20 feet between undercopings of abutments or spring lines of arches, or extreme ends of openings for multiple boxes; it may also include multiple pipes, where the clear distance between openings is less than half of the smaller contiguous opening.

[44 FR 25435, May 1, 1979, as amended at 51 FR 16834, May 7, 1986]
Sec. 650.303  Inspection procedures.

(a) Each highway department shall include a bridge inspection organization capable of performing inspections, preparing reports, and determining ratings in accordance with the provisions of the AASHTO Manual and the Standards contained herein.

The AASHTO Manual referred to in this part is the Manual for Maintenance Inspection of Bridges 1983 together with subsequent interim changes or the most recent version of the AASHTO Manual published by the American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials. A copy of the Manual may be examined during normal business hours at the office of each Division Administrator of the Federal Highway Administration, at the office of each Regional Federal Highway Administrator, and at the Washington Headquarters of the Federal Highway Administration. The addresses of those document inspection facilities are set forth in appendix D to part 7 of the regulations of the Office of the Secretary (49 CFR part 7). In addition, a copy of the Manual may be secured upon payment in advance by writing to the American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials, 444 N. Capitol Street, NW., Suite 225, Washington, DC 20001.

(b) Bridge inspectors shall meet the minimum qualifications stated in Sec. 650.307.

(c) Each structure required to be inspected under the Standards shall be rated as to its safe load carrying capacity in accordance with section 4 of the AASHTO Manual. If it is determined under this rating procedure that the maximum legal load under State law exceeds the load permitted under the Operating Rating, the bridge must be posted in conformity with the AASHTO Manual or in accordance with State law.

(d) Inspection records and bridge inventories shall be prepared and maintained in accordance with the Standards.

(e) The individual in charge of the organizational unit that has been delegated the responsibilities for bridge inspection, reporting and inventory shall determine and designate on the individual inspection and inventory records and maintain a master list of the following:
(1) Those bridges which contain fracture critical members, the location and description of such members on the bridge and the inspection frequency and procedures for inspection of such members. (Fracture critical members are tension members of a bridge whose failure will probably cause a portion of or the entire bridge to collapse.)

(2) Those bridges with underwater members which cannot be visually evaluated during periods of low flow or examined by feel for condition, integrity and safe load capacity due to excessive water depth or turbidity. These members shall be described, the inspection frequency stated, not to exceed five years, and the inspection procedure specified.

(3) Those bridges which contain unique or special features requiring additional attention during inspection to ensure the safety of such bridges and the inspection frequency and procedure for inspection of each such feature.

(4) The date of last inspection of the features designated in paragraphs (e)(1) through (3) of this section and a description of the findings and follow-up actions, if necessary, resulting from the most recent inspection of fracture critical details, underwater members or special features of each so designated bridge.

(c) The maximum inspection interval may be increased for certain types or groups of bridges where past inspection reports and favorable experience and analysis justify the increased interval of inspection. If a State proposes to inspect some bridges at greater than the specified two-year interval, the State shall submit a detailed proposal and supporting data to the Federal Highway Administrator for approval. The maximum time period between inspections shall not exceed four years.

(b) An individual in charge of a bridge inspection team shall possess the following minimum qualifications:

(1) Have the qualifications specified in paragraph (a) of this section; or

(2) Have a minimum of 5 years experience in bridge inspection assignments in a responsible capacity and have completed a comprehensive training course based on the "Bridge Inspector's Training Manual," which has been developed by a joint Federal-State task force.

(3) Current certification as a Level III or IV Bridge Safety Inspector under the National Society of Professional Engineer's program for National Certification in Engineering Technologies (NICET) is an alternate acceptable means for establishing that a bridge inspection team leader is qualified.

For information on NICET program certification contact: National Institute for Certification in Engineering Technologies, 1420 King Street, Alexandria, Virginia 22314, Attention: John D. Antrim, P.E., Phone (703) 684-2835.

The findings and results of bridge inspections shall be recorded on standard forms. The data required to complete the forms and the functions which must be performed to compile the data are contained in section 3 of the AASHTO Manual.

CHAPTER I--FEDERAL HIGHWAY ADMINISTRATION, DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION
PART 650--BRIDGES, STRUCTURES, AND HYDRAULICS--Table of Contents
Subpart C--National Bridge Inspection Standards
Sec. 650.311 Inventory.
(a) Each State shall prepare and maintain an inventory of all bridge structures subject to the Standards. Under these Standards, certain structure inventory and appraisal data must be collected and retained within the various departments of the State organization for collection by the Federal Highway Administration as needed. A tabulation of this data is contained in the structure inventory and appraisal sheet distributed by the Federal Highway Administration as part of the Recording and Coding Guide for the Structure Inventory and Appraisal of the Nation's Bridges (Coding Guide) in January of 1979. Reporting procedures have been developed by the Federal Highway Administration.

(b) Newly completed structures, modification of existing structures which would alter previously recorded data on the inventory forms or placement of load restriction signs on the approaches to or at the structure itself shall be entered in the State's inspection reports and the computer inventory file as promptly as practical, but no later than 90 days after the change in the status of the structure for bridges directly under the State's jurisdiction and no later than 180 days after the change in status of the structure for all other bridges on public roads within the State.

County Project Ranking System

Purpose:

Several counties have expressed the need for funding bridge projects constructed at an existing low water crossing. The current federal highway bill, TEA-21, would penalize the state of Oklahoma dollar for dollar if federal Bridge Replacement, BR, funds were used. Instead, the federal Surface Transportation Program, STP, funds may be used, but this fund is very much in demand. This fund’s flexibility allows it to be used on many different types of projects. The Oklahoma Department of Transportation, ODOT, has not given the County Highway System any additional funds, but will allow the counties to swap their BR allocation with STP funds. This swapping, though, is limited by ODOT to a statewide amount of $1,000,000 dollars and thus necessitated putting a program together that would be fair to everyone. The Association of County Commissioners of Oklahoma, ACCO, Board has reviewed and approved this ranking system in August 2001.

Incorporates:

- Project ranking based on a point system.
- A certified average of consecutive seven-day traffic counts, Average Daily Traffic (ADT).
- The counties’ population will be based on the latest U.S. census.
- Accident history, three-year studies of preventable accidents. Counties will request, on official county letterhead (include a project location map), a three-year accident study from the Traffic Division, Oklahoma Department of Transportation, 200 NE 21st Street, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma 73105.
- The Detour length is the length in miles to get to the opposite side of the creek or river if the low water crossing was impassable.
- County Equipment Designation Order (updated yearly by ODOT).
- County’s Major or Minor Collector System (updated by the Board of County Commissioners).
Policies & Procedures:

- Bridge Replacement, BR, funds can not be used to fund a bridge project where the existing structure is a low water crossing, but Surface Transportation Program, STP, funds may be used. Both of these federal funds are administered by the Department of Transportation. The Department will now allow swapping up to $1,000,000 of BR funds with STP funds within a federal fiscal year to build these projects. This does not affect our current $6,000,000 STP road program.

- All applications will be considered by first come, first served basis and the ranking system developed, and will be based upon the financial limitation statewide in each federal fiscal year of $1,000,000 of Surface Transportation Program, STP, funds. A county’s Bridge Replacement, BR, allocation will be swapped for STP funds.

- The Federal Funding available for the project will be based on the amount of the county’s BR allocation in that fiscal year. The county’s BR allocation is swapped dollar for dollar with STP funds. The percent of federal funds applied will be set at the ratio of Bridge Replacement, BR funds to the bridge construction costs based on the initial programming estimate which shall include Engineering & Contingencies (E & C) costs up to 80% of the project’s construction cost. An increase in construction costs, including E & C, above the original estimate will be funded with local funds. (E & C is estimated at 8 1/2 % of project cost for construction inspection of the project.)

- For example: Comanche County considers applying for these federal funds and receives a yearly BR allocation of $380,548. The total construction cost for their bridge project is $600,000. The percent of federal funds would then be a ratio of BR allocation to construction cost.

  \frac{380,548}{600,000} = 63\%

  The project would be set as 63% STP funds to 37% local funds. The project can not receive any additional federal funding because of the $1,000,000 cap statewide. Comanche County, in this example, has then spent their BR allocation for the year.

- The Board of County Commissioners must approve the application. All three current commissioners must sign the application.

- Projects will be designed to the current County Bridge Standards which are the same standards that are used to develop BR projects. The projects will be let by ODOT. Please note that preliminary engineering should not begin until the county has been notified of a funding year. The county risks incurring engineering costs... that cannot be recovered through the CBRI funding program, if the project has not secured federal funding.

- The program will be developed for a five-year plan.

- One application (project) per county per federal fiscal year will be accepted by ACCO. You may select a specific year for your project. If your county has more than one project you must set a priority and assign a year to each project. One project, application, per year. The projects from different counties will be selected on a first come, first serve basis. If multiple county applications arrive at ACCO on the same day then the applications will be ranked against each other and placed in the appropriate fiscal year.

- Applications not approved will be returned to the county.

- Projects must have plans complete with R/W & Utilities cleared by April 1st in the same fiscal year as the project is assigned to use the federal STP funds. The ACCO Board and the availability of funds will be deciding factors on funding projects that miss this deadline.

- The counties will receive a packet of information from ACCO, which will include forms to completer.

Eligibility:

- The project must not be on the National Bridge Inventory, NBI. This project would be eligible for BR funding. For more information, please contact your County Bridge Coordinator or your Local Government Area Engineer.

- If a county has received funding under this program in the previous year and the county applies for the current year, the application will have 15 points deducted from its total score. (Ex. A county had a project funded in FFY 2005 and they apply for another project for FFY 2006. The project for FFY 2006 will have 15 points subtracted from its total score.) If the county has not received this funding the year before, points will not be subtracted from its score.

Responsibilities:

- ACCO’s responsibilities are:
  - To notify counties when the application period opens and closes.
  - To initially accept and reject applications.
  - To rank and assign federal fiscal years to the applications.
To notify counties, based on the ranking procedure, if the application was funded and the federal fiscal year approved.
To notify ODOT of projects selected and the targeted FFY construction year.
To return the county’s application if their project was not selected.
To set additional policies and procedures as necessary in concurrence with ODOT.

- Counties’ responsibilities are:
  - Providing certified average of seven-day traffic counts.
  - Providing a construction cost including E & C (8 1/2% of the construction costs).
  - Obtaining a three-year accident study.
  - Board approval of the application.
  - When the application is approved; a copy of the acceptance letter from ACCO, a programming resolution and an updated five year construction plan must be sent to ODOT to be able to program the project.
  - Obtaining R/W and moving utilities.

- ODOT’s responsibilities are:
  - To program approved applications and proceed with the project’s preconstruction activities.

History of the Handbook for County Commissioners of Oklahoma

In the fall of 1973, the Center for Local Government Technology and the Oklahoma State University Extension network conducted a series of seminars, workshops, and interviews throughout Oklahoma to learn what local officials needed in terms of technical assistance and service. One of their needs was a handbook for County Commissioners.

The First Edition

Although the Center for Local Government Technology scheduled actual work on the handbook project to begin January 1, 1975, both Craig and Pontotoc County Extension Directors requested that the Center for Local Government Technology (CLGT) complete the handbook by January 1, 1975, as both counties would have a completely new Board of County Commissioners assuming office at this time. A quick investigation indicated that over one-third of the County Commissioners of the state would be new to their office on January 1, 1975.

The Board of Directors of the Association of County Commissioners of Oklahoma (ACCO), the Office of the State Auditor and Inspector (SA&I), the Oklahoma Tax Commission, the Revenue Sharing expert of the Office of Community Affairs and Planning, and representatives of the Cooperative Extension Service were all contacted concerning the requests from Craig and Pontotoc Counties. Everyone agreed that in view of the current number of newly-elected County Commissioners across the state, a series of educational meetings for all newly-elected County Commissioners should be launched as soon as possible after January 1, 1975. The meetings would provide the necessary feedback for the development of a handbook specifically for newly-elected County Commissioners.
Thus, with feedback from meetings all over the state, the first County Commissioners’ Handbook was completed in 1975. Its purpose was to provide County Commissioners with an interpretation and explanation of their statutory and constitutional responsibilities. It was the first of several editions to follow.

The Second and Third Editions

In the Fall of 1978, once again a large number of County Commissioners were being elected for their first terms. ACCO requested that the County Government Services Center at OU and CLGT and the Oklahoma Cooperative Extension Service (OCES) at OSU revise the County Commissioners’ Handbook and conduct a series of meetings for newly-elected County Commissioners in January, 1979.

In May 1982, House Bill 1606 created the Commission on County Government Personnel Education and Training. It also specified that the Commission would accomplish its goals through the CLGT and OCES at Oklahoma State University. An Advisory Board of County Commissioners, in July 1982, requested that they create the third edition of the handbook as one of the first efforts of the Commission.

The Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth Editions

Since 1982, considerable legislative activity had rendered the handbook inaccurate or lacking in several areas. Therefore, the Center for CLGT and OCES revised the County Commissioners’ Handbook in December 1986, and then again in 1990 and 1994.

The Seventh Edition

The 1999 edition of the Handbook for County Commissioners of Oklahoma not only has a new name, but it has a new format and several new chapters. New information has been added to keep the handbook up-to-date with the changes in the Oklahoma Statutes and the increased responsibilities that County Commissioners face. This edition is a joint effort of the Education Committee of ACCO, CLGT, OCES, SA&I, and the Oklahoma Tax Commission.

The Eighth Edition

The 2004 edition of the Handbook for County Commissioners of Oklahoma uses new technology. The handbook is no longer a printed hard copy in a binder. It is now an interactive digital document on a compact disk (CD) with links to statute and other references, color, photos, and many other benefits afforded by a digital document.

Once again, this edition was a combined effort of the ACCO Handbook Review Committee, CLGT, OCES, SA&I, and the Oklahoma Tax Commission.

Several changes, revisions, and additions have been made to the handbook to reflect the new and revised statutes and the every-changing profile of the County Commissioner’s office.
Use Tax for County Government

Historical sources of funding for county government services are restricted and in some instances — particularly in rural counties — may not keep up with inflation. The use tax is a new option for county government. The purpose of this publication is to answer the fundamental questions about a county use tax. In-depth information can be obtained from the Oklahoma Tax Commission (405-521-3200) and/or the State Auditor and Inspector (405-521-3495), and through your local Oklahoma Cooperative Extension Service office.

What Is It?

Use tax is essentially the same as sales tax. Sales tax is collected on retail purchases from Oklahoma merchants. Use tax is collected on mail and phone order and Internet purchases from merchants who have no physical presence in Oklahoma. Use tax applies to the same items as sales tax. Vendor location is the key difference. It is a little known and widely ignored fact that purchases by mail, phone, or Internet from out-of-state vendors are taxable just like the purchases of similar goods from your local retail store. (Title 68, sections 1354.1 and following, Oklahoma Statutes) In 1998, the state Legislature adopted a law allowing counties to begin collecting the use tax, effective January 1, 1999. (Title 68, section 1411, Oklahoma Statutes)

As of January 2000, eight counties were collecting use tax. They were Caddo, Comanche, Cotton, Jefferson, Lincoln, Rogers, Tillman, and Tulsa. For the first seven months of the fiscal year, use tax as a percentage of sales tax collections varied from 1.6 percent to 8.0 percent, with the average being 4.0 percent, for these eight counties.

How to Adopt It?

Unlike the sales tax, the adoption of the use tax does not require a vote of the people. State law simply requires passage of a resolution by the governing board, that is, the Board of County Commissioners. However, use tax adoption is limited to those counties (and cities) that have already adopted, by vote of the people, a sales tax. (Title 68, section 1411, Oklahoma Statutes)

How to Use It?

Whereas the county sales tax must be used as designated by vote of the people, the use tax may be used for any function of county government. Thus, the Board of County Commissioners may designate its use for any legitimate purpose. There are no statutory restrictions.

Down the Road

Rapid growth in e-commerce — whether by Internet, telephone, or other electronic communications technology — could result in lost sales to local merchants, hence lost sales tax collections. Use tax could be part of the answer. Effective use tax collection would help ensure that local purchases generate local funds to support public services provided by county and city governments.
The Oklahoma Cooperative Extension Service
Bringing the University to You!

The Cooperative Extension Service is the largest, most successful informal educational organization in the world. It is a nationwide system funded and guided by a partnership of federal, state, and local governments that delivers information to help people help themselves through the land-grant university system.

Extension carries out programs in the broad categories of agriculture, natural resources and environment; home economics; 4-H and other youth; and community resource development. Extension staff members live and work among the people they serve to help stimulate and educate Americans to plan ahead and cope with their problems.

Some characteristics of the Cooperative Extension system are:

- The federal, state, and local governments cooperatively share in its financial support and program direction.
- It is administered by the land-grant university as designated by the state legislature through an Extension director.
- Extension programs are nonpolitical, objective, and based on factual information.
- It provides practical, problem-oriented education for people of all ages. It is designated to take the knowledge of the university to those persons who do not or cannot participate in the formal classroom instruction of the university.
- It utilizes research from university, government, and other sources to help people make their own decisions.
- More than a million volunteers help multiply the impact of the Extension professional staff.
- It dispenses no funds to the public.
- It is not a regulatory agency, but it does inform people of regulations and of their options in meeting them.
- Local programs are developed and carried out in full recognition of national problems and goals.
- The Extension staff educates people through personal contacts, meetings, demonstrations, and the mass media.
- Extension has the built-in flexibility to adjust its programs and subject matter to meet new needs. Activities shift from year to year as citizen groups and Extension workers close to the problems advise changes.

Some characteristics of the Cooperative Extension system are:

- The federal, state, and local governments cooperatively share in its financial support and program direction.
- It is administered by the land-grant university as designated by the state legislature through an Extension director.
- Extension programs are nonpolitical, objective, and based on factual information.

Defining of a Property Tax

Property taxes are authorized by the Oklahoma Constitution. Both the use of a property tax and the number of mills levied are listed in Article 10 of the Oklahoma Constitution as an ad valorem tax. Thus, the terms property tax and ad valorem tax are used interchangeably in Oklahoma.

Ad valorem simply means the tax is levied as a certain percent of the property's value. Real and personal property are taxed ad valorem. Real property is land and buildings. Personal property includes such items as household property, business equipment, inventories and improvements on leased property.

From the information provided in the above paragraphs a definition for a property tax in Oklahoma is developed as follows:

Definition of property tax:

A tax authorized by the Oklahoma Constitution under the term ad valorem tax; its tax rate is given in number of mills; and it is levied as a percentage of the taxable value of real and personal property.

Review of the Property Taxation Process

Property taxation is carried out in three steps. First, the fair cash value of the property is determined. Oklahoma bases its property tax on how the property is used; therefore the fair cash value is the market value of the property in its current use. In this context, fair cash value and use value are synonymous.

Secondly, the property's assessed value is found. Oklahoma is a fractional assessment state which means the assessed value is less than 100 percent of the property's fair cash value. The assessed value is found by multiplying the property's fair market value times an assessment rate. By Oklahoma constitutional law, the assessment rate cannot exceed 35 percent. For property assessed by the county assessor, the allowable assessment rate has not been greater than 15 percent in recent years.¹

If the property owner is entitled to an exemption, then the dollar amount of the exemption is subtracted from the property's assessed value to come up with a net assessed value. The net assessed value becomes the property's taxable value. If a property owner is not entitled to an exemption, then the assessed value is the property's taxable value.

Lastly, the property tax bill is calculated by multiplying the property's taxable value times a property tax rate. Here is where the term ad valorem enters, that is, the tax rate is levied as a percentage of the property's taxable value. The tax rate is given in number of mills. One mill equals one-thousandth of a dollar. For example, a tax rate equal to 80 mills is the same as 8 cents per dollar of taxable value (80 mills/$ .001 = $.08).

If the taxable value were $5,000, then the tax bill would be found by multiplying $5,000 times $.08 per dollar of taxable value. The result is a $400 property tax bill ($5,000 x $.08 = $400.00).

Sometimes it is easier to think of the tax rate as $1 dollar of tax for every $1,000 of taxable value. In the above example, every 1000 units of taxable value would be multiplied by 80 mills. For example, $5,000 would result in 5 units of taxable value ($5,000 1000). The five units of taxable value times the tax rate of 80 mills would produce a tax bill equal to $400 (5 units of taxable value x 80 mills = $400). A $400 dollar tax bill results from either method.

Purpose of Property Taxation

Ad valorem taxation generates revenues to support public services and projects, which are provided by the various units of local government. The amount of revenue generated from ad valorem taxation is based on the local government’s taxable valuation and the number of mills levied for its use. Total net assessed valuation is the taxable valuation of all the property subject to ad valorem taxation within a taxing jurisdiction. For a political subdivision, one mill would generate one dollar in revenue for every 1,000 dollars.

of total net assessed valuation.

The operations and services carried out by county government are financed by a county-wide ad valorem tax. These are referred to as general county government activities. The county road and bridge programs are not considered general county government activities and are mainly supported by motor fuel taxes, which are collected by the state and distributed to the counties.

There are several ad valorem tax levies which generate revenues for a common school district’s operating budget. A common school district is the local school district which is either classified as a dependent school district if it offers grades kindergarten through twelfth grade, or an independent school district if it only has grades kindergarten through eighth grade. Area vocational technical school districts and emergency medical service districts are other providers of local services which operate with revenues derived from ad valorem taxes.

Public indebtedness is incurred when counties, cities, towns and school districts finance the construction of new buildings, the renovation of existing buildings, and special projects by selling municipal bonds either as general obligation bonds or revenue bonds. Each year revenue must be generated by the political subdivision to service the debt through:

1. Annual interest payments to the investors who purchased the bonds, and
2. Annual deposits into a sinking fund to accumulate revenue to retire the bonds at maturity.

General obligation bonds differ from revenue bonds by how income is generated to service the debt.

Definition: General Obligation Bond
The interest and principal on the bond are paid through an ad valorem tax levy or a special assessment.

Definition: Revenue Bond
The interest and principal on the bond are paid from the revenue earned from the project wherefor the bond was issued.

General obligation bonds (GO) are backed by the full ad valorem taxing power of the political subdivision. An annual ad valorem tax is levied to service the debt on a GO bond. Both the capital improvement project and the amount of the bond must be approved at an election by the voters residing in the area impacted. Each year the county excise board determines the number of mills which are levied. Revenues from an annual levy are used to meet the annual interest payments and the required deposit into a sinking fund. Both the annual interest payment and sinking fund deposit along with the total net assessed valuation of the taxing jurisdiction are the factors which are considered by the county excise board when setting the annual levy. The sinking fund is given the same name as the capital improvement project.

An ad valorem tax can also be levied to service a general obligation limited tax bond or GOLTB. A GOLTB is similar to a general obligation bond since it is backed by the taxing ability of the political subdivision. The difference is revenues from the project wherefore the bond was issued are also used to service the debt. An ad valorem tax need not be levied if sufficient revenue is available from the project. General obligation limited tax bonds can be issued by counties and cities to support industrial development.

By constitutional law, public indebtedness is tied to a political subdivision's net assessed valuation. For a political subdivision, total indebtedness is limited as follows:

1. Counties. Five percent of the total net assessed valuation of the whole county.
2. Cities. Five percent of the total net assessed valuation for the whole city, or up to 10 percent if approved by 3/5 of the voters, or greater than 10 percent if for constructing or purchasing public utilities.
3. School Districts. Five percent of the total net assessed valuation of the whole school district, or 10 percent if approved by 3/5 of the voters.

Ad Valorem Tax Levies
For all ad valorem taxes, the county excise board sets the levies within the levels authorized by law. For a sinking fund the levy cannot exceed the level needed for servicing the debt. The levies are set in number of mills and certified to the county assessor who computes the property taxes and prepares a tax roll. The tax roll shows the amount of taxes owed by each owner of real and personal property. The tax bills are prepared and sent by the county treasurer to the owners of taxable property. The county treasurer also collects the property taxes.

An overview is provided on the ad valorem taxes that are permitted in Oklahoma. The maximum number of mills that can be levied are summarized in the table. The table is organized by county government, city government, school districts, and service districts.

County Government Levies

County General Fund
Up to 15 mills is guaranteed without a vote of the people. No less than 5 mills from the amount levied must be allocated to the common school districts within the county. The remainder is apportioned to the county by the county excise board. Cities and towns within the county may also receive a portion of the 10 mills available to the county although this seldom occurs. In practice, all 15 mills are usually levied. Ten mills of the total 15 mills are apportioned to the county general fund to support the services provided by county government.

Statutory law either allows or requires the county excise board to appropriate a portion of the 10 mills for the county general fund to various services and programs. Thus, some items are listed as mandatory and others as optional. Optional implies the appropriation is made at the discretion of the county excise board. The various services and programs are as follows:

1. County Audit — 1/10 mill, mandatory.
2. County Officers’ Accounts — levels necessary to operate the offices.
3. County Extension Office Account — adequate funding, mandatory.

4. Free Fair Budget Account — up to 1/2 mill if the county population is more than 15,000, optional; up to 1 mill if the county population is less than 15,000, optional; 1/4 mill if the county population is greater than 55,000 (excluding Oklahoma County and Tulsa County which receive money from the State for the state fairs), mandatory.

5. Free Fair Improvement Budget Account — up to 1 mill, optional.

6. Free Fair Additional Improvement Budget Account — up to 1 mill, optional.

8. Library Levy Account — up to 1/2 mill, optional.

10. Tick Eradication Levy Account — recommended by the board of county commissioners, optional.

Up to one-half (1/2) mill may be appropriated to cities and towns to finance urban renewal or redevelopment. The 1/2 mill or less may be appropriated up to 30 years. The county excise board determines the amount of revenue apportioned from the 10 mill levy for urban renewal within the district. Steps are outlined in the Oklahoma statutes for the county excise board to follow.

County Building Fund

A county may raise funds to erect new buildings or remodel old ones by levying up to five (5) mills on the taxable property in the whole county. The building fund and the number of mills levied must be approved by a majority of the voters in the county in a county-wide election. Once the levy is approved, a county building fund is created as a depository for the revenues that are collected from the annual ad valorem tax. The revenues need not be spent in the year they are received.

County Department of Health

Up to two and one-half (2 1/2) mills can be levied annually to maintain a County Department of Health. The number of mills must be approved by a majority of the voters in a county-wide election. A local department of health may be maintained jointly with a city or with another county. Other revenues in addition to the ad valorem tax may be used to finance the county department of health.

County Sinking Fund

Public indebtedness can be incurred through the sale of general obligation bonds to finance the construction, remodeling or repair of county facilities. An ad valorem tax for either of the aforementioned purposes and the amount of the bonds must be approved by a majority of the voters in a county-wide election.

The amount of the annual levy must be sufficient to cover the annual interest payments and the sinking fund accumulations needed to pay off the principal when the bonds mature. Public indebtedness cannot exceed 5 percent of the net assessed valuation of the county. County government can also use revenue from a sinking fund to pay for judgements against the county. Judgments are legal claims against a county which are settled in a court of law.

Cooperative Libraries

From one (1) to four (4) mills can be levied annually to establish and maintain a cooperative county or joint city/county libraries. The levy must be approved by a majority of the voters in a county-wide election.

The proceeds from the levy are distributed according to the county population reported at the most recent Federal Decennial Census. For counties with a population less than 100,000 people, the revenues from the tax levy shall be used for public libraries and library services in cooperation with one... or more other counties. In counties with a population greater than 100,000 people, the tax proceeds shall be used for a) a joint city/county public library, or b) public libraries in cooperation with one or more other counties.

County Industrial Development Fund

General obligation limited tax bonds may be issued by a county to provide revenue for industrial development. The revenue from the bonds must be used for developing and securing industry within the county. Five (5) mills or less can be levied county-wide to pay the interest on the bonds and to retire the principal. In any year the county may suspend the levy if sufficient revenue is available from the industrial development project to service the debt. The industrial development project and the amount of the bond must be approved by a majority of the voters in a county-wide election.

Money for industrial development can also be obtained from various state and private financial sources including the State Industrial Finance Authority. For the latter source, the money comes from the State Industrial Revolving Fund. The State Industrial Finance Authority makes loans to incorporated industrial development agencies. Such agencies can be for profit or non-profit but must be approved by the State Industrial Finance Authority.

Solid Waste Management District

Solid waste management services can be provided through an ad valorem tax. The formation of the district and the number of mills levied must be approved by the voters in a county-wide election.

Up to three (3) mills can be levied for operations and maintenance. Bonds may be issued to acquire revenue to purchase a site, vehicles and other equipment, and to construct the land fill site and other disposal or recycling facilities. Up to an additional three (3) mills can be levied to pay off the bonds. Both levies can be increased in a later election but neither one can exceed three mills.

Two or more counties may provide joint solid waste management services. The formation of a multicounty solid waste management service district must be approved by a majority of the voters in each county. The land fill site may be located in only one county.

The board of county commissioners can charge a fee for the service in addition to levying an ad valorem tax. Persons living outside the district are required to pay an annual fee equal to the actual cost of the service. The ad valorem tax collections from within the district are not included in the calculation of the actual cost of the service for users living outside the district.

A county can discontinue providing solid waste management services. However, the levies will continue until all the outstanding bonds and all other debts are retired.

City Government Levies

City Building Fund

A city or incorporated town, in the same manner as a county, may raise funds to erect new public buildings or renovate old ones by levying up to five (5) mills on the taxable property in the city. The building fund and the number of mills levied must be approved by a majority of the voters in a city-wide election. Once the levy is approved, a city building fund is created as a depository for the ad valorem tax revenues collected from the annual levy. The revenues need not be spent in the year they are received.

City Hospital

Up to five (5) mills can be levied to operate and maintain a hospital owned by a city. The number of mills must be approved by the voters in a city-wide election. The millage can be increased following voter approval at a subsequent election, but cannot exceed five (5) mills. The tax is levied on all the ad valorem taxed property within the city limits.

City Industrial Development Fund

Cities in the same manner as counties are allowed to support industrial development by selling general obligation limited tax bonds. Up to (5) mills can be levied each year for the annual interest payments and sinking fund deposits. In any year, the city may suspend the levy if sufficient revenue is available from the industrial development project to service the debt. Both the industrial development project and the amount of the bond must be approved at a city-wide election by a majority of the voters. Cities can apply for additional funds from the same sources available to counties for industrial development.

City Sinking Fund

In addition to the city building fund, public indebtedness can be incurred through the sale of general obligation bonds to finance the construction, remodeling or repair of city facilities. An ad valorem tax for either of the aforementioned purposes and the amount of the bond must be approved by a majority of the voters in a city-wide election.

The amount of the annual levy must be sufficient to cover the annual interest payments and to pay off the principal when the bonds mature. Public indebtedness cannot exceed 5 percent of the total net assessed valuation of the city.

Municipal Public Utilities

Bonded indebtedness can be incurred by a city or incorporated town to purchase, construct or repair a public utility. An ad valorem tax for this purpose and the amount of the bond must be approved by a majority of the voters in an election held throughout the city or incorporated town. The amount of the annual levy must be sufficient to cover the annual interest payments and annual accumulations for paying the principal when the bonds mature.

There is no limit on the amount of indebtedness incurred for a public utility. Thus, the value of the general obligation bonds issued may exceed 10 percent of the net assessed valuation of the city or incorporated town.

Municipal public utilities can also be financed through revenue bonds. This option requires three-fourths approval of the governing body of the city or town before it can be initiated. Also, it requires that a public trust be created.

Common School District Levies

County Apportioned School Levy

Five (5) mills of the 15 mills a county can levy without special provisions must be apportioned to the common school districts within the county. The levy is sometimes called the county apportioned school levy. Revenues from the levy can be used in the state funding formula for the State Guaranteed Program of the district.2

Guaranteed Levy

An additional four (4) mills is guaranteed for all school districts. This ad valorem tax is referred to as the school district guaranteed levy. The four mills are levied county-wide and are apportioned by average daily attendance within a school district. When a school district crosses county lines, the revenues collected from the levy are turned over to the county treasurer in the county with the greatest portion of the student population. No more than 75 percent of the annual revenues from the guaranteed levy can be used in the state guaranteed program formula when the state determines the school district’s allocation.

Board of Education Levy

The board of education can certify a 15 mill levy on all the taxable property in the school district. Revenue from the board of education levy is used to benefit all the schools within the school district. The amount of revenue from the levy is used in the State Guaranteed Program formula for the school district.

Emergency Levy

Up to five (5) mills can be levied throughout the school district to provide additional revenues that are needed for the fiscal year. The emergency levy must be approved annually by the voters in an election held throughout the school district. The school district is not required to use the revenues from this levy to finance its share of the State Guaranteed Program.

Local Support Levy

Up to 10 mills can be levied throughout the school district for special needs within the fiscal year. The local support levy must be approved annually by the voters in an election held throughout the school district. The school district is not required to use the revenues from this levy to finance its share of the State Guaranteed Program.

School District Building Fund

In the same manner as counties and cities, a school district can levy up to five (5) mills for constructing, remodeling or repairing school buildings. The revenues from the levy can also be used to purchase furniture. The building fund and the number of mills levied must be approved by a majority of the voters at an election held throughout the school district. The revenues are deposited into the school district building fund and need not be spent in the year they are received.

School District Sinking Fund

Public indebtedness can be incurred through the sale of general obligation bonds to finance the construction, remodeling or repair of school buildings. An ad valorem tax for either of the aforementioned purposes and the amount of the bond must be approved by a majority of the voters in an election held throughout the school district.

The amount of the annual levy must be sufficient to cover the annual interest payments and to pay off the principal when the bonds mature. A common school district can have more than one sinking fund. Each sinking fund and the number of mills levied must be approved by the voters in an election held throughout the school district. The combined public indebtedness cannot exceed 10 percent of the total net assessed valuation of the school district.

Area Vocational and Technical School District Levies

An Area Vocational and Technical School District can be formed following voter approval in an election held throughout the proposed district. There are several taxes which can be levied to support the area school district.

Administrative control of an area technical and vocational school district is vested in the area school board. For an area technical school district situated in more than one county, the district’s budget is filed with the county excise board chosen by the area school board.

Area School District Levy

Up to five (5) mills can be levied annually for establishing and operating an area school district. The number of mills must be approved by the voters at an election to establish the district.

Area School District Local Incentive Levy

Up to an additional five (5) mills can be levied as a local support levy. The levy must be approved by a majority of the voters in an election called for this purpose. The election is held throughout the area school district.

Area School District Building Fund

Five (5) mills can be levied for constructing, remodeling or repairing the school buildings. The revenue from the levy can also be used to purchase furniture. The building fund and the number of mills levied must be approved by a majority of the voters in an election held throughout the area school district. The revenues need not be spent in the year they are received.

Area School District Sinking Fund

Public indebtedness can be incurred through the sale of general obligation bonds to finance the construction, remodeling or repair of school buildings. The use of the ad valorem tax for either of the aforementioned purposes and the amount of the bond must be approved by a majority of the voters in an election held throughout the area school district. The amount of the annual levy must be sufficient to cover the annual interest payments and to pay off the principal when the bonds mature. For an area school district, public indebtedness is limited to five (5) percent of the total net assessed valuation of the district.

2 Elementary on up to high school students are assured equal educational opportunities in all common school districts in Oklahoma through the State Guaranteed Program. This program is based on a complex state aid funding formula. The formula allows financially weak school districts to be allocated higher generated from the ad valorem tax.
Emergency Medical Service District Levies

An Emergency Medical Service (EMS) district is sometimes called an ambulance district. An EMS district can encompass part of a county, a whole county or more than one county. The EMS district boundaries at all times must conform to the common school district boundaries. Thus, an EMS district cannot split a school district but must be within its entire boundaries.

The EMS district boundaries can be expanded at any time. Two requirements are necessary before the expansion can occur. One, an election must be held in the existing district for the voters to approve adding the new area. Secondly, an election must be held in the new area to allow the voters to approve joining the existing district.

Provisions exist for dissolving an EMS district. An election must be held for this purpose. If an EMS district is dissolved, the ad valorem tax for the sinking fund will continue to be levied until the outstanding bonds have been retired and all other debts have been paid off. The following ad valorem taxes can be levied to support the district.

EMS District Operating Levy

Up to three (3) mills can be levied annually to organize, operate and maintain an ems district. The number of mills must be approved by the voters during the election to establish a district. The election is held throughout the proposed district.

EMS District Sinking Fund

Public indebtedness can be incurred through the sale of general obligation bonds to finance the purchase of emergency vehicles and equipment and to construct or purchase facilities. No more than three (3) mills can be levied for an EMS district sinking fund. The purpose of the ad valorem tax and the number of mills levied must be approved by a majority of the voters in an election held throughout the district. The amount of the annual levy must be sufficient to cover the annual interest payments and to pay the principal when the bonds mature.

This OSU Extension Fact Sheet is part one of a two-part series on property taxes. OSU Fact Sheet No. 796 makes up part two and covers special assessments levied on property.
Special Assessments

Dolores A. Willett
Assistant Extension Specialist
Extension Economist

Special assessments and ad valorem taxes are the two primary sources of revenue used to finance local public projects and services in Oklahoma. Special assessments are discussed in this fact sheet. Ad valorem taxes are reviewed in the publication entitled “Ad Valorem Tax Levies,” OSU Extension Facts No. 795. The procedures for forming a special assessment district are discussed in “Providing Community Services Through Special Districts,” OSU Extension Facts No. 850.

Special assessments are assessed on property to support special assessment districts. A special assessment district is viewed as a local improvement project that benefits the property within the district’s boundaries. Examples of special assessment districts are fire protection districts and rural road improvement districts. Reference may be made to a “special assessment” or “a special assessment levy,” depending on how the law enables a district to generate revenue. Special assessments are usually a fixed dollar amount payable in annual installments over a specified number of years. Special assessment levies are sometimes stated in number of mills and follow similar procedures used to levy ad valorem taxes.

In Oklahoma, there are two distinct points that separate special assessments from ad valorem taxes. First, special assessments are authorized by statutory law while ad valorem taxes are authorized by constitutional law. Secondly, in Oklahoma only political subdivisions can levy ad valorem taxes. A special assessment district is not a political subdivision. Counties, cities and school districts are local political subdivisions. In general, the difference between an ad valorem tax and a special assessment can best be described by the benefits received. An ad valorem tax is levied as a percentage of the taxable property and pays for a service provided by the political subdivision levying the tax. Everyone residing within the political subdivision benefits from the service. A special assessment, by contrast, benefits the property within the district's boundaries.

Definition of Special Assessment:
A tax authorized by statutory law that is levied for a common beneficial project, and is proportional to the benefits received by all other properties in the special assessment district.

Special assessment districts provide a means for rural residents to obtain services similar to what is available in urban communities. A table is included in this fact sheet which summarizes the special assessments allowed in Oklahoma. The table is organized by assessment districts.

Fire Protection District

Fire protection districts are located in rural areas where fire protection service is unavailable by other means. A fire protection district provides special benefits to the property within its boundaries. Up to seven mills can be levied annually to operate and maintain the district. There is also a sinking fund levy. Fire protection districts are permitted to sell bonds to obtain the revenue for constructing a fire station and purchasing equipment and vehicles. The sinking fund levy is computed annually and is based on how much tax revenue is needed to cover the annual interest payments and principal payments when due. The process for levying fire protection district taxes is similar to levying ad valorem tax levies. Every year the county assessor provides the fire protection district clerk with the gross assessed value of the real and personal property located within the district's boundaries. The gross assessed value is the fair cash value of the property times an assessment rate. These are the same two factors used to compute ad valorem taxes. The district clerk then multiplies the gross assessed value by the district's millage which is the combined sinking fund levy and operations and maintenance levy.

By law, homestead exemptions are allowed when levying ad valorem taxes but not permitted when levying fire protection district assessments. For this reason homeowners in a fire protection district, who are eligible to receive a homestead exemption, will see the taxable value of their property as net assessed value on their ad valorem tax bill but gross assessed value on their fire protection district assessment bill.

Fire protection districts can also be funded through membership fees. Another source of revenue is billing for services. By law, a fire protection district may use these sources along with levying a special assessment tax.

An area can withdraw from a fire protection district. Any property withdrawn from the district would be subject, in the same manner as the property remaining within it, to the annual assessment for paying the interest and principal on the current outstanding bonds. If a district were dissolved, an annual assessment would be levied on all the property until all outstanding bonds were retired. In this case, the annual assessment would be based on the gross assessed value of the property at the time the district was dissolved.

Rural Road Improvement Districts

A rural road improvement district provides a means for improving the roads within the unincorporated areas of a county. Two sets of legislation authorize the creation of rural road improvement districts. One allows a district to levy an annual special assessment tax for operating the district and paying off debt from a bond issue. The second set of legislation requires property owners to pay for the road improvements through annual installments over a set number of years.

Rural Road Improvement District with a Special Assessment Tax

A rural road improvement district can be organized, under the “Oklahoma Rural Road Improvement Act,” to provide safe travel within an unincorporated area of a county. The district is allowed to sell bonds to finance the road improvements. Up to five mills can be levied annually to pay the interest and principal on the bonds. Three mills or less can be levied annually to operate the district.

A nine-member district board, made up of property owners in the district, sets the special assessment levies and establishes the rules for collecting the rural road district assessments. The district board is required to maintain a Rural Road Improvement District Property Record Book. The book is similar to the assessment roll maintained by the county assessor, and contains the names of the property owners along with the gross assessed value of their real and personal property. Rural road improvement districts follow the same procedures as fire protection districts when levying the special assessment tax. For both districts, the gross assessed value is the taxable value of the property.

Rural Road Improvement District With Special Assessment Installments

Laws also exist for organizing a rural road improvement district without the authority to levy a special assessment tax. This type of rural road improvement district requires at least 60 percent of the record title holders of land within the proposed area to file a petition with the board of county commissioners. The board of county commissioners is given the responsibility to assess the landowners their share of the road improvement costs. A landowner’s assessment is based on the benefits one’s land receives in proportion to the total benefits shared by all the lots or tracts within the district’s boundaries. The special assessments are a fixed dollar amount payable in ten equal annual installments.

Sewer Improvement District

A sewer improvement district, with the ability to levy a tax, can be formed in an unincorporated area of a county. The district has the authority to sell bonds to generate revenues for constructing a sewage treatment plant and installing the main sewer lines. A tax is levied annually to pay the interest on the bonds and the outstanding principal. Up to ten mills can be levied to operate the district. Both taxes are levied on the gross assessed value of the real property within the district.

Private lines installed on a landowner’s property are financed through another special assessment bond. Landowners are sent a special assessment statement showing the dollar amount due. The assessment is payable in five annual installments.

Rural Water, Sewer, or Gas Districts without a Special Assessment Tax

Under the “Rural Water, Sewer, Gas and Solid Waste Management Districts Act,” a nonprofit district can be formed without the authority to assess property or levy a special assessment tax. A district formed under this act acquires funds through a user fee. The act empowers the district’s board of directors to incur debt in the district’s name, determine a membership fee, and fix and collect the user fees and other necessary charges. Revenues are used to construct the facilities, and operate and maintain the district. Membership is by subscription and allocated in benefit units. By law, the board of directors divides the total benefits provided by the district into a suitable number of benefit units. One benefit unit equals one water meter. A member may subscribe to more than one benefit unit and thereby be assigned more than one water meter. The members participate in operating the district and are assigned one vote per person.

Solid waste management districts are included in the Act. The costs associated with constructing a solid waste site and operating a district could be greater than the revenues generated from user fees. Thus, the act is operable but not practical when applied to solid waste management. In 1986, the voters of Oklahoma rectified this problem by approving a constitutional amendment which allowed ad valorem taxation for solid waste management. The solid waste management levies are reviewed in OSU Extension Facts No. 795, entitled “Ad Valorem Tax Levies.”

This OSU Extension Facts is part two of a two-part series on property taxes. OSU Extension Facts No. 795 makes up part one and covers ad valorem taxes levied on property.

Topics within this fact sheet are covered in the County Government Personnel Education and Training Program. The program is overseen by the Commission on County Government Personnel Education and Training. Educational meetings and other types of training sessions are carried out jointly by the Oklahoma State University Cooperative Extension Service and the Center for Local Government Technology on the Oklahoma State University Campus.
Elected County Officials

By Oklahoma law, there are eight county offices where the officials responsible for the offices are elected by the eligible voters within the county. The elected officials include three county commissioners, a county clerk, a county assessor, a county treasurer, a county sheriff, a court clerk, a county superintendent of schools, and a district attorney. One exception is the district attorney who is elected by the voters from one or more counties within a district. Statutory law establishes the county or counties comprising a district. Another exception is the county superintendent of schools. Some counties may not have a county superintendent of schools since, by law, the office can be abolished if there are no dependent school districts within the county. In July 1993 this office will be abolished statewide.

Each elected officer serves a four year term in office. The terms stagger where every two years at the November general election there are ballots for several county offices. The schedule of election years and terms in office are outlined in Tables 1 and 2 respectively.

Board of County Commissioners

There are three county commissioners’ districts in every county in Oklahoma. The districts are approximately equal in population and numbered as district one, two and three. A county commissioner is elected by the electors within a district to serve on the board of county commissioners. The board of county commissioners is the chief administrative body for the county. Many citizens perceive a county commissioner as mainly being responsible for maintaining and constructing the county roads and bridges. While these are important duties required by the office, a county commissioner, as a member of the board, is also responsible for setting and administering policies for the county.

The board of county commissioners is required by law to hold, at the county seat, a regular meeting on the first Monday

* Beginning in the election year 1990, the term of office for the three county commissioners will stagger. Following the 1990 election, the District Two County Commissioner will serve six years in office for only one term, and will resume a four year term after the 1996 general election.
THE GENERAL ELECTION FOR COUNTY OFFICERS IS HELD IN NOVEMBER OF THE SCHEDULED ELECTION YEAR.
of each month to transact county business. The agenda might include legal, personnel and fiscal matters. In practice, more frequent meetings are held and an agenda is posted in advance within the courthouse. The board of county commissioners' business meetings are open to the public.

By law, the commissioners must act as a board when entering into contracts or other agreements affecting the county's welfare. Thus, actions taken by the board are voted on and approved by a majority of the commissioners.

The board of county commissioners has legal powers when acting in the county's welfare. Among the powers granted by law are the authority to:

- Sell or purchase public land or buildings for the county.
- Call a county bond election for approving a public project or creating a special district.
- Incur public indebtedness in the county's name.
- Implement an economic development program for the county.
- Purchase security contracts known as a blanket bond to insure all county officers and employees for any loss to the county when carrying out their duties.
- Approve the warrants for payments of claims for equipment or supplies purchased or leased by the county, and the warrants for the county payroll.
- Receive and approve all bids on major purchases or construction projects.
- Authorize and maintain an inventory of all the property owned or leased by the county which exceeds $250 in value.

- Audit the accounts of the county officers.
- Develop minimum personnel policies for the county employees with the approval of a majority of all the elected county officers.
- Designate and publish each year (in conjunction with the county excise board) the holidays on which the county offices may close.
- Lease tools, apparatus, machinery or equipment to another county, political subdivision or state agency, or jointly buy equipment with other counties.
- Maintain and construct the roads and bridges in the county highway system.

The board of county commissioners plays an integral part in the receiving and expending county funds. As the county's chief administrative body, the three county commissioners must make major financial decisions and transactions. Also, the board of county commissioners has the official duty to ensure the fiscal responsibility of the other county officers who handle county funds. By law, the board has the power and duty to audit the accounts of all the officers who receive and manage money belonging or appropriated to the county.

The board of county commissioners also has a role in the county budget process. Near the end of each fiscal year, the board must collect from each elected and nonelected county official a financial statement showing their expenditures and remaining revenues for the current fiscal year, and their estimate of needs for the upcoming fiscal year. Furthermore, the board is required by law to prepare a statement showing the county's current financial condition, and the anticipated revenues for the upcoming fiscal year along with an estimate of needs for each county office. The county clerk assists the board of county commissioners in carrying out these duties. The information is published in a newspaper by the board of

* Sworn into office the first Monday of January following the general election held in November of the previous year.

Beginning in January 1990, the term of office for the three county commissioners will stagger. The staggered terms will only impact the term of office for the district two county commissioner. Beginning with the January 1, 1991 term, the District two County Commissioner will serve six years in office for only one term, and will resume the four year term in office beginning in January 1997.

county commissioners and submitted to the county excise board. Final authority for funding each county office lies with the county excise board.

Unlike the misconception that county commissioners are only elected to build and maintain county roads and bridges, as members of the board of county commissioners, they are foremost policy makers and business managers for the county. All the review and approval procedures empowered to the board are a means to provide the public with a fiscally efficient system of county government.

County Clerk

The county clerk serves as the register of deeds and custodian of records for the county. Thus, all legal instruments filed with the county by private citizens and public officials are kept and preserved by the county clerk. Records and accounts belonging to the county are also kept by the county clerk.

By law the county clerk also serves as the secretary to several boards, including the board of county commissioners, the county excise board, the county board of equalization, and the board of tax roll corrections. Secretary in this context is an official title for the county clerk's role before, during and after the business meetings held by these boards. For example, the county clerk posts the agenda and ensures that the proceedings, decisions and official votes of each member are accurately recorded and maintained as permanent records. The duties and responsibilities of the county clerk also include the financial affairs of the county. The county clerk reviews all the claims for payment of goods and services purchased or contracted by the county, and prepares for the board of county commissioners the proper warrants for payment. Another duty is preparing the warrants for the county payroll. In carrying out these duties, the clerk is required to keep a financial ledger showing all the receipts and expenditures of the county.

As register of deeds, numerous private and public legal documents are recorded and filed in the county clerk's office by public officials, businesses and individuals. Examples are:

- Plat maps of cities, towns, additions and subdivisions.
- Instruments of title such as deeds and mortgages to real property.
- Chattel (personal property) mortgages.
- Oil and gas leases.
- Local, state and federal tax liens.
- Real estate liens, mechanic liens, oil and gas liens, and other liens against property located in the county.
- Military discharge papers.

The county clerk also maintains a "judgment docket" where orders from the district court on real property are entered. Purchases, rentals, lease purchase agreements, and repairs paid from county funds are processed and made through the county clerk's office. The county clerk, or one's designated deputy, serves as the purchasing agent for the county. By centralizing the county purchases within the county clerk's office, the county officers can rely on the purchasing agent to find the best buys available. This system is a means to ensure the public that tax dollars are being spent appropriately. Various records within the different county offices are classified as "open records," as such, they can be reviewed and mechanically copied by the public. The county clerk has on hand the schedules showing the fees charged by each county official for document searches and mechanical copies.

County Assessor

The county assessor has the responsibility to appraise and assess the real and personal property within the county for the purpose of ad valorem taxation. Also, the county assessor is required to compute the ad valorem taxes due on all the taxable property. By law, the county assessor appraises all the taxable real and personal property according to its fair cash value for which the property is actually being used as of January 1 of the taxable year, and assesses it at no more than 35 percent of its fair cash value. The formula used by the county assessor throughout the ad valorem taxation process includes:

\text{Fair Cash Value} \times \text{Assessment Rate} = \text{Assessed Value}

\text{Assessed Value} \times \text{Millage Rate} = \text{Tax Bill}

Property subject to ad valorem taxation is as follows:

- Real property — land and buildings
- Individual personal property — household furniture, and other personal belongs.
- Business personal property — equipment and inventory belonging to a business establishment.
- Public utility property — electrical utilities, pipelines, and transportation facilities such as rail-roads.

The county assessor only computes the taxes owed by the public utilities since by law the State Board of Equalization is responsible for appraising and assessing public utility property.

Constitutional law limits the assessment rate to 35 percent. The rate applied by the county assessor is much lower and within a range permitted by the State Board of Equalization. The county assessor carries out the process up to computing the amount of taxes due. Ad valorem taxes are collected by the county treasurer, who also prepares and sends out the tax bills.

A system of checks and balances comes into play before the ad valorem taxes are computed. That is, once the county assessor has appraised all the property and applied the assessment rate to come up with the assessed values of all the taxable real and personal properties within the county, the county assessor prepares an assessment roll and delivers it to the county board of equalization. Oklahoma law empowers the county board of equalization with the duty to equalize and certify the assessment roll. A duty which requires the board to ensure all the taxable real and personal property within the county is appraised at its fair cash value. Once the assessment roll has been equalized and certified by the county board of equalization, the county assessor must have the total assessed valuation certified by the State Board of Equalization. Lastly, the county assessor receives the certified millage rates from the county excise board and then computes the ad valorem taxes.

In carrying out one’s duties, the county assessor is required by law to build and maintain permanent records on the taxable real property and the tax exempt real property within the county. Information entered on each record includes the property’s legal description, taxable classification, owner’s name and address, and the homestead exemption status of the owner. The county assessor is authorized to allow a homestead exemption to homeowners who own and reside in their own home. The exemption amounts to a $1,000 or less reduction in the home’s net assessed value. Heads of households who qualify for the homestead exemption, and whose household income from all sources is $10,000 or less are entitled to an additional homestead exemption. An additional $1,000 or less is subtracted from the home’s net assessed value.

Another duty of the county assessor is to administer the personal property tax and the personal property exemptions. Heads of households are entitled to a $100 reduction in the net assessed value of their household personal property. Heads of households who were honorably discharged from the U.S. Armed Forces are entitled to an additional $200 reduction. If you are a veteran your personal property exemption amounts to $300.

County Treasurer

All the revenues received by county government from ad valorem taxes and other sources are deposited with the county treasurer. As the official depository for county revenues, the county treasurer operates under strict guidelines. State law requires the county treasurer to carry a surety bond valued at $50,000.

By law, the county treasurer exercises the power to collect ad valorem taxes for the county and its political subdivisions (such as schools, cities and towns). The county treasurer works from the tax roll prepared by the county assessor. In conjunction with collecting ad valorem taxes, the county treasurer is empowered to issue delinquent personal property tax warrants and to supervise the sale of a tax lien on real property for delinquent taxes.

The county treasurer is also custodian of school district funds unless the board of education chooses to appoint its own treasurer. All monies received by the county treasurer are recorded in the “Treasurer’s Cash Book” and credited to the proper fund. A duplicate book is maintained by the county clerk. The county treasurer has the duty to make only properly authorized deposits. Daily deposits are made into interest bearing accounts in banks designated by the board of county commissioners as county depositories. Thus, the county treasurer serves as the financial officer for county government.

Payments are made through warrants made out by the county clerk, approved by the board of county commissioners, and registered by the county treasurer. The county treasurer is required to keep a book called the “Payment Register” in which all the warrants are entered along with the date of payment and other information required by the State Auditor and Inspector.

To account for county revenues and expenditures, the county treasurer is required by law to maintain an accurate record of all the monies received and disbursed, and to prepare a financial statement for review by state and county officials. The State Auditor and Inspector’s Office prescribes all the forms used by the county treasurer, and at least twice a year inspects the county treasurer’s accounts. On the county level, the county treasurer is subject to the scrutiny of both the board of county commissioners and the county clerk who, through their official duties, require balanced books be maintained and a financial statement be submitted for review at least four times annually. These checks are another means to provide a fiscally efficient system of county government.

Court Clerk

The court clerk has the primary responsibility to record, file, and maintain as permanent records the proceedings of the district court. The court clerk and ones appointed deputies work with the different divisions of the district court which are as follows:

- Civil — damage, equity, writs (court order) and civil cases, injunctions and garnishments.
- Criminal — felony and misdemeanor cases, and traffic violations.
- Probate — guardianship, mental health, adoption, and other judicial determination cases.
- Juvenile — matters of the children’s court.
- Domestic Relations—divorces, separations, annulments, emergency protective orders, income assignments, and paternity cases.
- Small Claims — cases involving claims or damages under $2500, including garnishments, recovery of personal property, and recovery of money based on a contract or tort.

As a means of identifying a court proceeding, the court clerk is required to maintain various books such as an appearance docket, a plaintiff and defendant docket, and a journal docket. Duplicates of the documents filed in a case and all the documents signed by the judge are entered in the journal docket.

Synopses of the court proceedings are prepared by the court clerk or a deputy within the court clerk’s office and recorded in the appearance docket. Word-for-word transcripts are prepared by the court reporter and filed with the court clerk. All the court proceedings are public information except those related to juvenile, guardianship, adoption and mental health cases. Officers of the court and other authorized court personnel are mainly the only persons allowed to remove records or case files from the court clerk’s office. For transcripts of court cases open to the public, copies are obtained from the court reporter. The court reporter is a state employee assigned to the district court.

The court clerk also functions as a processor and licensing agent. For example, the court clerk also issues process papers such as warrants or writs (orders from a court) to be served by the county sheriff or another authorized party. As a licensing agent, the court clerk issues marriage licenses, passports, notary certifications, beer and pool hall licenses, and private process server licenses.

Fees for licenses and payments for court costs are paid to the court clerk. These payments are properly recorded and deposited by the court clerk into the court fund. Monies from the court fund are identified for distribution by the court clerk, in accordance with the law, to the appropriate units of county and state government.

The court clerk is mainly accountable to the Court Administrator’s Office which is a unit of state government and the Oklahoma Supreme Court. For statewide uniformity, every court clerk uses forms and follows procedures prescribed by the Court Administrator’s Office, the Oklahoma Supreme Court, and the State Auditor and Inspector.

County Sheriff

The county sheriff is responsible for preserving the peace and protecting life and property within the county’s jurisdiction. As the county’s chief law officer, the sheriff has the power and authority to suppress all unlawful disturbances, to apprehend and secure persons charged with a felony or breach of peace, and to operate the county jail. In some counties, a city contracts with the county sheriff to operate a city-county jail.

The county sheriff also works with other units of county government on a fee basis. By law, the county sheriff or one’s appointed deputy serves warrants and process papers ordered by the district court. The county board of health also may require the county sheriff to serve process papers or to assist with correcting any situation considered a nuisance or danger to public health.

The county sheriff is accountable for all the fees received by the sheriff’s department. Daily deposits are made into the “sheriff’s service fee account” within the county treasurer’s office. Expenses are itemized and reported monthly to the board of county commissioners. Each county the county sheriff prepares a report from the jail register and sends copies to the Secretary of State and the county clerk who files it with the board of county commissioners. A copy is also sent to the district judges at the opening of each district court’s term.

Along with law enforcement duties, the county sheriff issues permits to house movers and designates the routes for moving houses within the county. The sheriff is also required to post in each jail cell a list of all the attorneys practicing in the county.

County Superintendent

The county superintendent of schools is the overall administrator and supervisor of the dependent school districts within the county. Dependent school districts only have grades kindergarten through eighth grade, and are not recognized as independent districts by the State Board of Education.

The county superintendent of schools is required by law to carry out the rules and regulations handed down by the State Board of Equalization. Administrative duties encompass approving contracts, apportioning public funds among the dependent schools, executing the transfer of students between the school districts, and supervising the changing of school district boundaries. In counties where there currently is no county superintendent, a school district clerk performs the administrative and clerical duties required by the State Board of Education. This person is appointed by the board of county commissioners and maintains an office in the courthouse.

Recent legislation abolished the office of county superintendent of schools. However, officers presently serving as county superintendents will be allowed to complete their term in office which will expire in July 1993. At that time, the State Board of Education will oversee the transfer of students between school districts. Other administrative duties will also be overseen or directly carried out by the State Board of Education. Local assistance will be provided by a county school district clerk.

District Attorney

There are 27 district attorney districts in Oklahoma. The voters from every county in a district elect one district attorney every four years. The counties in each district are shown in Table 3. By law, a district attorney must be a licensed lawyer and cannot maintain a private practice while in office. The latter requirement serves to protect the public from the district attorney becoming involved in practices that might be in conflict with one’s role as a public official. Duties performed by the district attorney are as follows:

- Serves as the prosecutor in trial courts for crimes committed within the district.
- Assists a grand jury by giving legal advice, examining witnesses, and drawing up an indictment when necessary.
- Provides witness and victim assistance.
- Serves as the chief legal counsel for county government.

As the chief prosecutor for the district, the district attorney is required to prosecute in district court the crimes committed within one’s district. In Oklahoma, counties within a district court may be different than the counties within a district attorney’s district. Thus, a district attorney may have to work with a different set of district judges depending on the county where the crime occurred.

Witness and victim assistance is at the discretion of the district attorney and in some cases requires written approval by the district judge. Allowable witness assistance includes witness protection, information on procedures for obtaining witness fees, and employer intervention to ensure an employee can appear in court without substantial loss in pay and benefits. Victims can be assisted in obtaining financial aid and social services.

To aid in the massive number of cases reviewed and represented by the office, a district attorney may assign one or more assistant district attorneys and investigators to a county. The number that can be appointed depends on the population of the county.

For example, if the population within the county is 50,000 residents, then it would be eligible to have three assistant district attorneys. Assistants may maintain a private practice if receiving no more than 50 percent of the salary allotted for a full time assistant. One investigator is allowed per county plus an additional investigator for every 100,000 residents within a county.

When any county in the district is involved in a civil litigation, the district attorney serves as its defender or prosecutor. Non-Elected County Officials County government is managed by both elected and non-elected officials. Fact Sheet No. 802 gives an overview of the offices managed by elected officials. This fact sheet reviews the county offices and boards that are overseen by county residents who are appointed.

Budget and Tax Boards

Overview of County Excise/Equalization Boards

The same members serve on the county board of equalization as on the county excise board. Different roles are assumed by the members depending on the time of year one or the other board is required to meet. The county board of equalization is primarily responsible for equalizing the assessment roll. In carrying out this responsibility, the board is empowered to hear and settle protests on the taxable value of ad valorem taxed property. The county excise board reviews and approves the budgets of the political subdivisions within the county, and sets the ad valorem tax rates.

The Oklahoma Statutes specify who appoints the members. Each one is appointed by a different unit of state and local government as follows:

• One member by the Oklahoma Tax Commission.
• One member by the district judge or a majority of the district judges when a district has more than one.
• One member by the board of county commissioners.

Each member must meet the following qualifications before being appointed and while serving his/her term:

• He/she must be a resident and qualified elector of the county.
• He/she must not be not an elected officer in state, county, school district, or municipal government within two years preceding the appointment.
• He/she may not file for an elected office without first resigning from the excise/equalization board.
• He/she must not be an employee, official or attorney for any county, city, or town within the county.

Every four years a new board is appointed. The term coincides with the term in office of the district one and district two county commissioners. A member can be reappointed.

By law, the county clerk serves as the secretary to both the county board of equalization and the county excise board.

County Board of Equalization

The county board of equalization is required, by law, to equalize the assessment roll. For Oklahoma, an equalized assessment roll means taxable property within the county is assessed at fair cash value for its use. The members as a board have the authority to:

• Hear protests filed against a property’s appraised value, or taxable status or exempt status.
• Raise or lower appraised values to conform to the fair cash value of a property’s use.
• Add omitted property.
• Cancel assessments on property not taxable.

In its capacity to hear and settle protests, the county board of equalization is a quasi judicial body. An aggrieved taxpayer is first required to file an informal protest with the county assessor. If both parties cannot come to an agreement, then the taxpayer files an appeal with the county board of equalization.

At a protest session the board hears testimony from both the taxpayer and the county assessor. Sufficient evidence must be presented to support a change. If the protest is against a property’s appraised value, then the fair cash value of similar properties must be presented. The law is very clear on this matter. The county board of equalization shall not change the appraised value of a property if the adjustment results in an appraised value that would be inconsistent with the equalized values of similar properties. A taxpayer, or the county assessor, may file an appeal in the district court against a ruling by the board. Protests cannot be heard on the assessment rate since the board does not have the authority to change it. The assessment rate is set by the county assessor within a range permitted by the State Board of Equalization.

When the county board of equalization holds its session depends upon the net assessed valuation of the county. The schedule is as follows:

1. Special session—March 1 to March 31.
2. Regular Session—April 1 to May 31.
County Excise Board

The county excise board reviews the county budget and the budgets of the school districts and municipalities within the county. As stated in section 3006 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes, the board is "...part of a system of checks and balances required by the Constitution, and as such it is empowered to require accurate reporting of finances and expenditures for all budget and supplemental purposes..."

The excise board is charged with ensuring that the constitutional and statutory functions of the local governments are adequately funded within the revenues available. Another important duty assigned to the county excise board is setting the tax rates for the ad valorem taxing districts within the county. In general, the county excise board performs the following fiscal duties:

- Determines fiscal condition—By examining the financial statement portion of the budget to determine the true fiscal condition of each fund at the end of the prior fiscal year, and computing the total revenues available to each fund in the new fiscal year.
- Ensures proper funding—By examining the estimate of needs portion of the budget to ensure that mandatory governmental functions are included and funded within the available revenues, and unlawful items are not included.
- Fixes tax levies—By computing the ad valorem tax levies for the county, school district, and other ad valorem taxing districts within the county.

If an unlawful item is included or a lawful item is not adequately funded, then the county excise board has the authority to revise the budget. The board approves the budget by certifying it and filing a copy with the State Auditor and Inspector and the county clerk. The levies are included on the certified copy.

The board meets from the first Monday in July until all its duties have been performed. In practice, the board begins reviewing the budgets at a later date. Statutory law requires county government to file a budget with the county excise board on or before August 17 of each year. Incorporated towns must file their budgets by August 22. City budgets must be filed by August 27. School districts have until September 1 to file a budget with the county excise board.

Since public funds are being appropriated, the Statutes provide opportunities for public input. Before the budget is approved, the county excise board shall hold public hearings on the estimate of needs for the new fiscal year. Once the county excise board has certified a budget, the county clerk immediately publishes a notice announcing the budget and levies are available for public review. A taxpayer may protest a budget by filing a complaint with the State Auditor and Inspector or through the county clerk. If a tax levy is protested, then the Court of Tax Review is called into session to hear all charges of a disputed levy. The Court of Tax Review is made up of a panel of three district judges selected by the Justices of the Oklahoma Supreme Court. If the court rules in favor of the protestor, then the county excise board must revise the budget and the levy.

County Budget Board

Oklahoma law allows county government to create a county budget board through a resolution by the board of county commissioners. A county budget board allows all the elected county officers to work as a unit in preparing an annual budget. The chairman of the board of county commissioners serves as chairman of the county budget board.

When a budget is being prepared, the county budget board, rather than the board of county commissioners, examines the estimate of needs of each department. The budget board revises the estimate of needs as it deems advisable and prepares a budget. The board also conducts public meetings on the budget, and subsequently adopts a budget.

The budget board files the adopted budget with the county excise board. The county excise board examines it to ensure that mandatory governmental functions are adequately funded within the limits authorized by law. The county excise board also checks for unlawful items and whether the budget is within the revenues available. Changes are required, the county excise board returns the budget to the budget board. Once the budget is in order, the county budget board certifies it and files a copy with the county clerk and the State Auditor and Inspector. The procedures for publishing the budget and allowing for protests are the same as described in this fact sheet in the last paragraph of the section entitled County Excise Board.

Board of Tax Roll Corrections

The board of tax roll corrections is a quasi judicial board that is authorized to hear complaints or reports of errors in the tax roll after it has been certified and delivered by the county assessor to the county treasurer. Both elected and appointed officials serve on the board. By law the members serve as follows:

- Chairman—Chairman of the board of county commissioners.
- Vice chairman—Chairman of the county board of equalization.
- Member—The county assessor.

Complaints and allegations of error are filed with the county clerk who serves as secretary but a non-voting member of the board.

The county treasurer is the only person who can alter the tax roll once it is certified. However, the county treasurer cannot enter a change without a Certificate for Correction of Error from the board of tax roll corrections. Either a taxpayer, the county assessor, or the county treasurer can petition the board for a hearing. One important point is the board of tax roll corrections cannot hear complaints filed on the equalized value of a property. Such complaints must be heard by the county board of equalization. Statutory law permits the board of tax roll corrections to hear and settle the following complaints:
• Property lawfully exempt was assessed.
• Partial exemption was not deducted.
• Property tax was erroneously assessed to the wrong person or firm.
• Tax levy was erroneously computed.
• Tax was levied more than once on the same property.
• Property was taxed which has no taxable situs or does not exist in the county.
• Property was erroneously described.
• Wrong fair cash value was transferred onto the assessment roll and subsequent tax roll.
• Appraised or assessed value on the tax roll differs from the value on the equalized assessment roll.
• No adjustment was made to property destroyed or damaged by natural factors or fire prior to when the assessment roll was equalized.

If a taxpayer or the county assessor disagrees with the board, then he/she may file an appeal in district court. Certain constraints are built into the process. For one, the board cannot hear a complaint filed on an ad valorem tax account that has been delinquent for more than one year. Once the board has issued a Certificate for Correction of Error, the taxpayer must submit a claim for refund within six months. Otherwise the claim will be disallowed.

County Election Board

All the necessary steps in organizing and carrying out primary elections, runoff elections, and general elections come under the supervision of the county election board. Three members serve on the board and are appointed by the State Election Board. The county central committees representing the two largest political parties in the State submit lists of nominees to the State Election Board. A member is selected from each list to serve a four-year term. A third member is appointed for a two-year term and is designated by the State Election Board as the county election board secretary. The secretary is the chief administrative officer for the county board and may be reappointed by the state board.

Official duties assigned to the county election board include:

- Appointing members to the precinct boards.
- Appointing election counters in each precinct.
- Certifying list of candidates of each political party for the offices wherefore the board is authorized to accept filings for candidacy.
- Printing ballots for the primary, runoff primary, and general elections of state senators, state representatives, district attorney, county officers, and municipal officers.
- Certifying the successful election of candidates wherefore the board is authorized to accept filings for candidacy.

Each county election board has an official seal and, by law, affixes it to the certificates of election and all other official acts.

Each precinct in the county has a three-member precinct election board. These are the election officials a voter sees at the precinct poll. The members of the precinct election board serve a four-year term. The county election board appoints two members from lists submitted by the county central committees representing the two parties having the highest number of voters in the State. The county election board designates one member as a precinct judge and the other member as a precinct clerk. The third member is also appointed by the county election board and is designated as precinct inspector. The precinct inspector serves as the principal administrative officer of the precinct election board.

Any person is disqualified from serving on a county election board or a precinct election board, or participating as a precinct counter if:

- A candidate for office.
- A deputy or regular employee of a candidate.
- Related within the third degree to a candidate.

The member must resign his/her position no later than 10 days following the closing of the filing period for candidacy.

The secretary of the county election board is responsible for providing and processing the declaration of candidacy forms for elected offices in county government, municipalities, and school districts within a county. Anyone interested in running for a local office obtains the requirements for filings from the secretary of the county election board’s office located in the county courthouse.

Citizens register as voters with the secretary of the county election board or a voter registrar appointed by the secretary. A voter registrar may also serve as a precinct judge, clerk or inspector. Voter registration records are maintained by the secretary of the county election board.

County Cooperative Extension Service

Oklahoma State University as the State land-grant college offers on-going educational programs aimed at improving the quality of rural life. The county cooperative extension office is the local door to these programs. Information is available through the county extension office on new developments and improvements in agricultural practices and management, local government, small business and community development, family resource management, and youth programs. County extension agents and cooperative extension area and state specialists are available to assist rural residents, businesses, and local governments through direct consultations, demonstrations, short courses, meetings, and mass media. Information is also provided through publications under the general titles OSU Extension Facts, Current Reports and Oklahoma 4-H Volunteer.

Under the general management of the county extension director, farmers, community leaders, homemakers, and youth are provided access to educational resources in the following areas:

- Agriculture—Crop and livestock production and management, pest management, marketing systems, natural resource management, and farm safety.
- Rural Development—Community and economic development, business development, management and leadership programs, community infrastructure and services such as fire protection, solid waste management, transportation, etc., and public official education and assistance programs.
- Home Economics—Human nutrition and food safety, health and wellness, parenting education, individual family financial management, stress and resource management, and family and community leadership programs.
- 4-H/Youth—Leadership and citizenship programs, and technical skills development of youth in agriculture, home economics, health, science, and conservation.
The Oklahoma Cooperative Extension Service is tied to the United States Department of Agriculture. Federal and state laws provide for funding personnel and programs through a cooperative agreement with USDA, Oklahoma State University, state government, and county government. Counties benefit from this partnership. The majority of the cooperative extension professionals and staff are assigned to counties.

Program development starts with local input. Every county has a Program Planning Advisory Council (PPAC) made up of local residents appointed by the county extension director. Representatives from the county council serve on a district Council. Representatives from the district council are appointed to a state council, thereby allowing equal input from every region of the State.

County Free Fair Board

Every county may create a free fair association. Free fair means county and township fairs, livestock shows, and other agricultural shows, where:

- No admission fee is charged to enter the fair grounds.
- No exhibition fee is charged to enter an exhibit carrying a premium.

Through time several acts were passed by the Oklahoma Legislature under which a county free fair association can be organized. The one described below is currently practiced in most counties.

Under the 1937 Free Fair Act, the free fair association is managed by a nine-member board of directors. Three directors are elected from each county commissioner’s district for a three-year term. The terms stagger whereby every year each county commissioner calls an election to replace a member from his/her district. Each election is held at a mass meeting at 2 p.m. on the first Saturday in March. A candidate must be a qualified elector in the county commissioner’s district. There is no stipulation on the number of terms a member may serve.

Every year on the second Saturday in March the county free fair board of directors meets at the county seat to elect officers from among the nine members. Officers and duties are as follows:

- President—Serves as executive head of the board of directors and enforces and carries out orders of the board.
- Vice-president—Acts in the president’s absence.
- Secretary—Serves as clerk, and keeps all records and an account of all money and property of the free fair association; need not be a member of the board of directors.
- Treasurer—Keeps all monies and securities of free fair association and pays bills by warrants issued by the board of directors; must be bonded.

The board of directors manages the fiscal affairs of the association as well as the fair grounds and buildings. The board conducts the county free fair, district fairs, livestock shows, and other agricultural shows authorized by law. The board sets the time, place, and number of fairs and agricultural shows held in the county. One or more district fairs must be held in a county with a population exceeding 55,000. (Excluding Tulsa and Oklahoma County where state supported fairs are held.) Every spring the board must hold a junior livestock show where the animals are judged and awards are granted.

Monies to operate the county free fair association come from three main sources. One is fees charged for leasing the fair grounds and fees for renting concessions and advertising. Another source is donations. The third source is an appropriation from the proceeds of the ten mill ad valorem levy for operating county government. An annual budget is prepared by the board of directors, submitted to the board of county commissioners, and included in the county budget submitted to the county excise board. By law the county excise board apportions part of the ten mills to the county free fair as follows:

- County population less than 15,000—May apportion up to one mill.
- County population over 15,000—May apportion up to one-half mill.
- County population greater than 50,000—Shall apportion one-fourth mill.

A building fund may be created by a vote of the people to construct free fair buildings. The building fund and bonds issued to construct free fair buildings are managed by the board of county commissioners.

Health and Public Assistance Boards

County residents can be called to serve on local boards overseeing medical and public assistance programs supported by the county. Two boards created by law are the county board of health and county hospital board.

County Board of Health

The county board of health is the local connection to the State Commissioner of Health and the State Board of Health. Five members are appointed as follows:

- Two members—Appointed by the State Commissioners of Health.
- One member—Appointed by the district judge and is required to have a school administrator’s certificate.
- One member—Appointed by the board of county commissioners and is required to be a doctor of medicine or osteopathy.
- One member—Appointed by the board of county commissioners and may be a county commissioner.

The terms stagger so every year a member’s term expires and a new member is appointed. Members must be residents of the county.

The county board of health oversees the local public health programs, services, and facilities. Duties include adopting rules and regulations that are consistent with the policies of the State Board of Health, advising the State Commissioner of Health on local public health matters, and preparing an annual budget.

By statutory law, the county board of health may or may not establish and maintain a county department of health. The board, in the best interest of the county, may recommend and carry out one of the following actions:

- Establish a county department of health.
- Enter into an agreement with cities or school districts within the county, or with other counties, to establish a cooperative or district board of health.
- Not establish a county board of health, but in its place recommend a county superintendent of health be appointed.
The State Commissioner of Health is charged with approving the recommendation carried out by the local board. In counties with a county department of health, the State Commissioner of Health appoints a medical director to administer the facilities and staff. In counties without a department of health, the State Commissioner of Health appoints a county superintendent of health. For either situation, a licensed physician is appointed, and names are recommended by the county board of health.

The county department of health maintains programs for the prevention and control of diseases. Public health services include:

- Health education and guidance.
- School health services.
- Immunization, maternal and child health, and chronically ill and aged care.
- Nutrition.
- Environmental health and industrial safety.
- Guidance and school health care.
- Maintenance of vital public health records and statistics.

In counties without a county board of health, the board of county commissioners contracts with the county superintendent of health to control the spread of contagious diseases and enforce the rules and regulations of the State Board of Health.

Monies to operate a county board of health come from fees based on the ability to pay, a maximum two and one-half mill ad valorem levy levied for the health department, and funds from the State Commissioner of Health. The ad valorem levy must be approved by a majority of the votes cast at an election within the county or district. Up to one mill may be appropriated from the ten mill ad valorem tax levied for financing county government. Voters in some counties have approved a county sales tax with a portion of the proceeds earmarked for the county department of health.

A joint city-county board of health may be more efficient in counties with a large metropolitan area. Statutory law allows a nine-member city-county board of health in a county with a population over 225,000 and having a city with a population over 150,000. Five members are appointed by the city council or city commission, and four members are appointed by the board of county commissioners. The responsibilities are the same as previously described for a county board of health. A city-county health department requires prior approval by both the board of county commissioners and the governing body of the city.

County Hospital Board of Control

In counties with a county hospital, the board of county commissioners appoints a board of control to manage it. The board of control has the authority to hire a hospital administrator, oversee the budget and management of the hospital, adopt an admission policy, allow hospital participation in educational health programs, and carry out other functions provided by law.

Five, seven or nine members may be appointed to the board. The board of county commissioners, at their discretion, may call an election to fill the positions. Each member serves a four-year term. Very few counties operate a county hospital at this time. The costs to furnish and maintain a county hospital are beyond the revenues available to most county governments.

County Law Library Board of Trustees

Every county, by law, is permitted to establish its own law library to provide legal resources for judges, government officials, attorneys, and county residents. The county law library is overseen by a five member board of trustees. Members are as follows:

- Two district judges selected by the district judges, or the district judge and associate district judge when there is only one district judge.
- District attorney or assistant district attorney designated by the district attorney.
- Two members of the county bar association chosen by the membership.

The board of trustees establishes the rules for administering the law library, appoints a librarian and staff, and authorizes the purchase of books, journals, and other publications needed for legal research. If the board chooses not to appoint a librarian, then the court clerk serves as the custodian of the law library. Law books and periodicals, reports of the Oklahoma Supreme Court and district courts, and Attorney General Opinions are among the legal resources maintained at the county law library.

Financial support for the law library comes from revenues derived from court costs and surpluses in the court fund. By law, the library is located in the county seat, and its use is free. A branch law library may be established elsewhere in the county by the board of county commissioners or the law library board of trustees.

City-County Park and Recreation Commission

Under the 1965 City-County Park and Recreation Act of Oklahoma, a densely populated county may contract with a city to establish and operate a recreation system. One criterion is that there be no city in the county with a population less than 1000. The purpose of the Act is to:

- Provide all citizens of the county equal access to comprehensive recreational facilities.
- Avoid duplication in maintaining and operating recreational facilities within the county.

Both the governing body of the city and the board of county commissioners need to pass a resolution to create the city-county park and recreation system.

A joint park and recreation system is overseen by an eleven-member city-county park and recreation commission. Five members are appointed by the mayor. The board of county commissioners appoints four members. Both the chairman of the board of county commissioners and the mayor are members of the city-county recreation commission. Members serve a three-year term and cannot succeed themselves after serving two consecutive terms.

The city-county park and recreation commission has the authority to:

- Adopt rules and regulations to operate the system.
- Purchase and lease land and buildings.
- Accept and decline donations of land.
- Accept and convey legal title in the commission’s name.
- Erect and operate recreational facilities.

The commission is also charged with appointing a director of the joint recreation system.
Land Use Planning Commissions

There are a myriad of laws allowing county commissioners to establish land use planning commissions to bring about the orderly development of the unincorporated areas within the county. The laws vary depending on the size of the county and the metropolitan areas within it. The laws are too complex to include in this review of non-elected county officials. OSU Fact Sheet No. 809 entitled Summary of Oklahoma Planning and Zoning Laws summarizes the laws on land use planning commissions.

Is Your County Money Secured by Healthy Banks and Proper Collateral?

Notie H. Lansford
Assistant Professor and Extension Economist

Title 62, section 516 of the Oklahoma Statutes requires that county treasurers receive collateral from banks in which they keep county monies whenever the balance exceeds the amount insured by FDIC. Hence, if a bank defaults, the county can seize the collateral and recover all county funds. This article addresses the related issues of bank health and adequate collateral.

Title 62, section 348.1 of the Oklahoma Statutes provides that the county governing body may authorize the county treasurer to invest money not immediately needed for the operation of county government. Investment of county money may range from interest bearing checking accounts to money market accounts to certificates of deposit to United States treasury bonds. As a practical matter, many treasurers keep most, if not all, monies in checking accounts, money market accounts, and certificates of deposits that are backed by the financial institution itself. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) insures county accounts in any given bank (who is a member of FDIC) up to a maximum of $100,000. Hence, if a county has an interest bearing checking account and a money market account in a particular bank, both are secure as long as the sum of the two does not exceed $100,000. State law requires that county funds exceeding this amount be backed by certain types of bank collateral. This collateral protects taxpayer monies in the event a bank defaults or becomes bankrupt. Care must be taken to ensure that a bank is financially sound, the collateral is of sufficient quality, and the amount of county money deposited or invested at a bank does not exceed the market value of the pledged collateral.

Statutory Collateral

Securities acceptable as collateral are prescribed by law. Title 62, section 516.3 of the Oklahoma Statutes lists as options United States government securities, State of Oklahoma securities, and Oklahoma local government securities. U.S. Treasury bonds, notes, and bills are backed by the full faith and credit of the United States. Likewise, State of Oklahoma bonds are payable by the State Treasurer and the full faith and credit of the State is pledged to the payment thereof. Bonds issued by Oklahoma counties, school districts, and boards of education are also acceptable. In addition, the law provides for the use of other securities issued or insured by several federal government agencies and by certain public trusts. Finally, the law provides that surety company bonds can be used in lieu of the securities already listed.

U.S. Treasury securities are considered to be the most credit worthy securities in the nation. They are virtually free of credit or default risk. Securities issued by the State of Oklahoma and local governments in Oklahoma should typically be of low risk also. To judge the relative risk of various state and local government securities, one can consult publications such as Moody’s Municipal and Government Manual. Published annually, this manual normally includes income statements, balance sheets, bond ratings, amount of bonds issued, interest rates, and maturity dates of state and local government bonds. Moody’s assigns bond ratings to an entity based on the financial health of the entity and its ability to pay off its debt. These ratings are defined in the opening pages of the manual. Ratings range from Aaa (best quality securities) to C (poor quality investment). There are other organizations with similar rating schemes. Securities of relatively small local governments may not have a rating and may not be listed in financial publications. The State Treasurer relies on a report published by the Municipal Rating Committee of Oklahoma, Inc. for ratings on local government securities and does not accept as collateral those securities that have not been rated. The State Treasurer of Oklahoma approves all collateral submitted by banks, yet occasionally requires the County Treasurer to sign a letter of acceptance on securities that constitute suitable collateral but for which market value information is difficult to obtain.

1 “Branch banks” are not considered to be separate banks by FDIC. Several accounts in branches of the same bank are insured only if the sum of all accounts is less than $100,000.
Safeguarding Funds—Healthy Banks

There are three factors that determine the safety of county deposits: (1) health of the bank, (2) quality of the collateral, and (3) market value of the collateral. Accountants, financial analysts, and others can assess the financial health of a bank by examining its balance sheet and income statement. Various ratios may be examined and compared to the ratios of other banks or to time-tested rules-of-thumb. One commonly used ratio is the capital to assets ratio. "Capital" refers to owner or equity capital. "Assets" refers to the total assets of the bank. Bank regulators generally expect banks to maintain a capital to assets ratio of .05 (5%) or greater. Smaller ratios can indicate excessive liabilities and/or erosion of investment capital. This ratio or the data from which to compute this ratio is published quarterly in newspapers within a bank’s service area. In many cases, inspection of these quarterly reports should be sufficient to assure that a bank is financially sound. Past copies of these public information reports can be obtained from the bank or the newspaper office. Furthermore, the Oklahoma Banking Association publishes an annual report that includes basic financial statements from which the capital/assets ratio can be calculated. Currently, the cost for this annual directory is $35 per year. Various private financial services provide similar information. One example is the Veribanc Bank State Rating Report. Veribanc produces a quarterly report on 419 Oklahoma banks. The cost of this report is currently $110 per quarter or $330 per year.

Public libraries often have other reports that provide insight into banking. "Sheshunoff: Banks of Oklahoma" is a widely used annual report published by Sheshunoff Information Services. In the 1989 edition, 465 banks were covered. This publication has a large amount of detailed information on each bank, including explanations of each statistic and ratio presented. The county treasurer may use these sources of information to identify any weak banks in which county money is held. By minimizing the amount of funds in those banks, the treasurer can minimize the chance of having to seize bank collateral and liquidate it in order to recover county money. Even if the collateral is sufficient to recover all county funds, the process of seizing the collateral and selling it could require several months time.

Safeguarding Funds—Quality Collateral

The quality of the collateral is a second consideration of a safe investment. U.S. Treasury bills and notes, along with the other types of authorized securities (discussed above) constitute high quality collateral. When considering state and municipal bonds, it is a good idea to determine the bond rating of the issuing entity. Before the State Treasurer approves bank collateral, the instruments pledged must meet certain rating requirements.

A majority of Oklahoma county treasurers prefer specific types of collateral. Most of them prefer, even demand, U.S. Treasury notes. Others also accept U.S. Treasury bonds, State of Oklahoma bonds, and Oklahoma municipal bonds.

Safeguarding Funds—Collateral Market Value

Finally, fluctuating interest rates and variable payout provisions mean that the actual market value of financial instruments may vary over time. The "face" value of a treasury note or other instrument may not reflect its market value. Face value is the dollar amount printed on the security. Market value, rather than the stated face value of a security, is of interest to the treasurer since the market value is what the security is actually worth at a point in time. Market value is the dollar amount the security will sell for if placed for sale at a public auction. For example, a five year treasury note in the amount of $100,000, issued in 1989 at an interest rate of 9% had a market value of $100,000 or very close to it at the time it was issued. That is, the market value was very close to "par" (100% of face value). Three years later, if interest rates on new bonds drop to 7%, the 1989 bond will probably be worth more than $100,000. The reason is fairly simple, the 1989 bond is still paying interest of $9,000 per year, whereas, the new bond is paying only $7,000 per year. Common sense tells an investor that a bond paying $9,000 per year is worth more than a bond paying $7,000 per year.

On the other hand, if the instrument offered for collateral has a lower interest rate than the current rate of interest on a similar investment, the instrument will probably be worth less today than its stated value. If the face value is $100,000, it probably will have a current market value less than $100,000. It is true that on the designated date of maturity (sometime in the future), the U.S. government will pay the face value but some counties may not be able to wait until the maturity date to recover their money. This is one reason that some treasurers require collateral whose stated value is at least 120% of the amount to be covered. The State Treasurer requires 110% collateral on State monies. Likewise, eighty-nine percent of county treasurers require 110% or more collateral. By requiring collateral whose stated value is in excess of the amount of money being secured, the treasurer makes some provision for market fluctuations.

The market price of a security can be obtained on a regular basis from the pledging bank or from independdent sources, such as, the Wall Street Journal, Moody's, or an investment banker. A treasurer may estimate market values himself/herself with the use of a financial calculator and/or financial tables. Estimating the value of financial instruments oneself requires a bit more work than receiving the current market price from an outside source but the skills necessary to estimate the market value of securities can be learned with a little practice. The Appendix contains an example of how to use a financial table to quickly estimate the value of a U.S. treasury note.

Summary

In summary, it may be concluded that the best way for the county treasurer to insure the safety of county deposits is to know your banks, know your bankers, do not hesitate to ask questions (either of your banker or the State Treasurer's collateral department) about the collateral being offered, and do not hesitate to reject collateral whose safety and value cannot be supported.

For more information, contact the author, the State Treasurer's office, or a county treasurer who is known to be knowledgeable in this area.

Appendix

Estimating Market Value of a Collateral Instrument

Suppose a bank offers as collateral a two year U.S. treasury note that it obtained one year ago. The face or par value is $100,000 and the indicated interest rate (coupon rate) is 7%. Treasury notes pay the holder semi-annual interest payments. Hence, the bank receives half a year's interest every six months. That is, the bank receives an interest payment of $3,500 every six months. At the end of the second year, the owner of the note is entitled to the final $3,500 and the principal amount, $100,000. Interest rates have been falling and the Wall Street Journal and other publications containing financial information indicate that two-year treasury notes are now sold at an interest rate of 5%. What is the current value of the collateral being offered?

Answer: financial factor X face value

1.0193 \times 100,000 = 101,930

The "financial factor" was obtained from the table of financial factors shown below. This table is built on the assumption that interest is paid semi-annually and that the principal is returned on the date of maturity. The table shows that a note with a coupon rate of 7% maturing one year from now is worth 1.0193 times the face value if the current rate is 5%.

The table of financial factors greatly simplifies the actual computations necessary to estimate market value (sometimes called "present value"). The formula is actually:

\text{present market value} = \text{pmt} \left( \frac{1 - (1/(1 + i)^n))}{i} \right) + \left( \frac{\text{fv}}{(1 + i)^n}) \right)

where

- \(\text{pmt}\) is the $3,500 or the semi-annual interest payment
- \(i\) is the current interest rate or 5% divided by 2 since interest payments are made twice a year
- \(\text{fv}\) is the future face value, $100,000
- \(n\) is 2 or the number of interest payments to be received in the future

Various financial tables are available in most textbooks dealing with finance. Books of tables are also in print. Perhaps the easiest way to estimate market values is with a financial calculator or a computer. Financial calculators and computer programs allow one to estimate the market value of almost any security in a matter of seconds.
The Cooperative Extension Service is the largest, most successful informal educational organization in the world. It is a nationwide system funded and guided by a partnership of federal, state and local governments that delivers information to help people help themselves through the land-grant university system.

Extension carries out programs in the broad categories of agriculture, natural resources and environment; home economics; 4-H and other youth; and community resource development. Extension staff members live and work among the people they serve to help stimulate and educate Americans to plan ahead and cope with their problems.

Some characteristics of the Cooperative Extension system are:

- The federal, state and local governments cooperatively share in its financial support and program direction.
- It is administered by the land-grant university as designated by the state legislature through an Extension director.
- Extension programs are nonpolitical, objective and based on factual information.
- It provides practical, problem-oriented education for people of all ages. It is designated to take the knowledge of the university to those persons who do not or cannot participate in the formal classroom instruction of the university.
- It utilizes research from university, government and other sources to help people make their own decisions.
- More than a million volunteers help multiply the impact of the Extension professional staff.
- It dispenses no funds to the public.
- It is not a regulatory agency, but it does inform people of regulations and of their options in meeting them.
- Local programs are developed and carried out in full recognition of national problems and goals.
- The Extension staff educates people through personal contacts, meetings, demonstrations and the mass media.
- Extension has the built-in flexibility to adjust its programs and subject matter to meet new needs. Activities shift from year to year as citizen groups and Extension workers close to the problems advise changes.
Bills, Laws and Regulations as Legal References

This fact sheet is designed to help individuals use legal references that contain statutes and government regulations. Better understanding of these laws can be very useful for government officials, business managers, and individuals. Because of the technical nature of statutes and regulations, however, the reader may be better served by obtaining the advice of legal counsel rather than relying solely on personal interpretation.

Legal references may be generally classified into the following categories:

1. State and federal statutes,
2. Rules and regulations of state and federal agencies,
3. Case reporters,
4. Digests of cases,
5. Attorney general opinions,
6. Legal encyclopedias and treatises,
7. Shepards Citations and
8. Legal periodicals.

Each of these types of reference has its own indexing system. Some of the references have multiple indexing systems. This fact sheet will discuss only statutes and regulations and the documents leading to their creation.

Oklahoma state law is compiled in a multiple volume set called the Oklahoma Statutes. This fact sheet explains how the Oklahoma Statutes are arranged and how to find a law or other information within any volume. Other legal resources identified and discussed are: 1) Oklahoma senate and house bills, 2) Oklahoma Session Laws, 3) state agency rules and regulations in Oklahoma, 4) federal statutes, and 5) federal regulations.

Oklahoma Senate and House Bills

New laws, amended laws and repealed laws are processed by actions originating within either the Senate Chamber or House Chamber. The process involves several steps:

1. A bill is drafted in the chamber of origin.
2. A summary ("title") of it is read before the whole chamber.
3. It is sent to a committee(s) within the chamber for study and recommendations.
4. It is returned to the chamber for a "do pass" vote or a vote to send it back to the committee for further study.

A bill given a "do pass" by the chamber of origin is sent to the other chamber for consideration. If it is amended by the other chamber, then it may be brought before a conference committee made up of both senators and representatives. Amendments may be made by the conference committee. The original or amended bill becomes a law when passed by both chambers and signed by the governor.

One or more laws may be created, amended or repealed by a bill. Each law is codified with a unique title number and a section number(s). These numbers identify a law and show where it will be placed in the Oklahoma Statutes. The legislature sometimes passes resolutions. Some resolutions do not become law but rather express the opinion of one or both houses.

The notation for senate and house bills and resolutions is defined as follows:

- SB or HB (Senate or House Bill)—becomes law when passed by both houses and signed by the governor.
- SJR or HJR (Senate or House Joint Resolution)—has the effect of law when passed by both houses and signed by the governor but is short-lived and expires when its content is completed. A joint resolution may be used to add to or amend the state constitution by initiating a state referendum. The change occurs when approved by a simple majority of the votes cast by the eligible voters. The joint resolution itself expires when the state referendum is carried out. The legislature also uses a joint resolution to ratify a proposed amendment to the U.S. Constitution. Oklahoma law requires that the ratification proposal include an expiration date.
- SCR or HCR (Senate or House Concurrent Resolution)—does not become law but officially records the joint opinion of both houses when passed by both and signed by the governor.
- SR or HR (Senate or House Resolution)—does not become law but officially records the opinion of the house of origin when passed only by it.
All bills and resolutions are consecutively numbered as introduced during the legislative year. Senate bills and resolutions begin with the number one (e.g., SB 1, SJR 1, SCR 1 and SR 1). House bills and resolutions are given a four-digit number starting with 1001 (e.g., HB 1001, HJR 1001, HCR 1001 and HR 1001).

Session Laws

Laws and resolutions passed during a legislative session are published in the Oklahoma Session Laws (year of session). Each bill is given a heading that corresponds to the subject matter within it and a chapter number that is chronologically assigned by the date it was approved by the governor or filed with the secretary of state. A chapter heading and chapter number from Oklahoma Session Laws 1985 is shown below.

<table>

</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>S.B. No. 2</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(Approved Feb 4, 1985)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A table entitled "Alphabetical Table of Laws and Resolutions" alphabetically lists the subject matter and corresponding chapter and page numbers. From 1931 to 1961 only a page number was used. Other information included in the Session Laws publication are:

1. Table of Senate and House Bills enacted into law, and Joint and Concurrent Senate and House Resolutions that passed.
2. Table of laws amended, repealed or otherwise affected by the newly enacted legislation.
3. Table showing status of state question initiatives and referendums.
4. A list of executive officers and members of the legislature (with addresses).

A subject index is located in the back of each Session Laws volume.

As bills are passed during a legislative session, they are printed in a paperback copy of the Oklahoma Sessions Laws. There will be several different paperback copies printed throughout the legislative session to include additional bills as they are passed by the legislature. A hardbound copy is printed within a few months after the legislature adjourns and contains all of the bills passed during the session. Until the annual supplement to the Oklahoma Statutes is printed, it is important to refer to the paperback or hard bound copies of the current Oklahoma Session Laws to determine the status of laws recently added, amended or repealed.

Oklahoma Statutes

A multiple volume set of Oklahoma Statutes is published every ten years. It contains all of the currently valid Oklahoma Statutes as of the date of publication.

The most recent decennial edition is a six volume set entitled Oklahoma Statutes 1991. Volume 1 of the Oklahoma Statutes 1991 includes the Constitution of the State of Oklahoma, as well as the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States. Volume 1 also includes Magna Carta, the Organic Act which established the Oklahoma Territory in 1890, the Enabling Act of 1906 which admitted Oklahoma and Indian Territory as a state, and the Proclamation of Statehood of 1907. Volumes 1 through 5 contain the statutory laws. Volume 6 has an index of Volumes 1 through 5 and tables that show where laws passed in previous years appear in the 1991 decennial edition of the Oklahoma Statutes.

A supplement is published annually to show legislative changes since the last decennial edition was published. Each year's supplement is an accumulation of the laws enacted, amended and repealed during that year's legislative session and since the last decennial set of Oklahoma Statutes. For example, Oklahoma Statutes 1992 Supplement will contain the laws enacted, amended and repealed during the 1992 Legislative Session and subsequent supplements will contain an accumulation of additions and changes from 1992 to the year of publication. Thus, the latest supplement must be consulted along with the most recent decennial edition of the Oklahoma Statutes and the session laws to determine the current status of a law. A Supplement is published within six months after each regular legislative session ends. The last supplement for the Oklahoma Statutes 1991 will be published in the year 2000. In the year 2001, a new decennial edition will be published.

Organization of the Oklahoma Constitution by Articles

The Constitution of the State of Oklahoma is organized by articles. The articles are preceded by the preamble and followed by a schedule (additions to the Constitution). There are 27 articles. Each article is identified by a Roman numeral and a descriptive heading. The articles are listed in front of the Constitution in ascending order, as shown in Table 1 in the back of this fact sheet. Each Article is organized by sections. The sections are the topics within an article. A list of sections is provided at the beginning of each article. An example is shown below.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>ARTICLE X.—REVENUE AND TAXATION</th>
<th>GENERAL PROVISIONS</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Sec. 1. Fiscal year</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Tax to defray state expenses</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

884.2
As shown above, Article X begins with the heading "GENERAL PROVISIONS." Section 1 addresses the topic "Fiscal year," and section 2 addresses "Tax to defray state expenses." Not all articles will begin with a heading.

Organization of the Statutes by Title

The Oklahoma Statutes are alphabetically arranged by major subject. Each major subject section is called a title. A list of all titles can be found in Table 2 at the end of this fact sheet. A table of contents in the front of each volume of the statutes lists the titles within the volume. Titles are numbered consecutively throughout the statutes. Some titles listed in the table of contents of Volume 1 are as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1. Abstracting</td>
<td>207</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Agriculture</td>
<td>209</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12A. Commercial Code</td>
<td>1547</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

Title 2 of the Oklahoma Statutes 1991 refers to the laws under the heading "Agriculture." Title 2 begins on page 209 of Volume 1. Title 12A refers to laws related to the "Commercial Code." Title 12A begins on page 1547 in Volume I. Pages are numbered consecutively throughout all volumes. For example, Volume 1 ends on page 1738 and Volume 2 begins on page 1739.

A subject covered extensively in one title may also be found under another title. For example, an assessor is a county officer. The laws addressing the duties performed by the county assessor are found in Title 68. Other laws affecting the county assessor as well as other county officers are found in Title 19.

Subdivision of Title by Chapters and Sections

Each title in the statutes is subdivided into chapters. The chapters are divided into sections. The sections begin with the number one and are consecutively numbered throughout a title. The chapter numbers, chapter headings and the first section number in a chapter are listed directly under the title number and title heading. For example, Title 19, Counties and County Officers, is listed as shown below.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>TITLE 19 Counties and County Officers</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Chapter</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1. Status and Power of Counties</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Creation and Alteration of Counties</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Each chapter begins with a complete list of the section headings and section numbers. For example, Title 19, Chapter 1 contains 7 sections as shown.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>CHAPTER 1. STATUS AND POWER OF COUNTIES</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Section</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1. Powers in general</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Property in county</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7. County Government Council</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

The chapter number is not noted when referring to a statute. Only the title number and section number are noted. Legal convention dictates the section number symbol § be used as an abbreviation for section. For example, Title 19, section 131 of the Oklahoma Statutes 1991 is written as 19 O.S. 1991, § 131. Two §§ are used when more than one section is referenced. An example is 19 O.S. 1991, §§131 and 131.1.

One or more notes are added at the end of each section to summarize the law's history. Information conveyed in the footnotes includes the year the statute was added and years in which it was amended or repealed, if any. For example, R.L. 1910 stands for revised laws (of 1910); C.S. 1921 means compiled statutes (of 1921), St. 1931 means the Oklahoma Statutes of 1931, and Laws 1985 refers to the Session Laws of 1985 or the year specified.

All legislation becomes law 90 days after the legislative session ends unless otherwise stated in the bill. The notation "emerg. eff." stands for emergency effective and means the bill that added, amended or repealed this law had an emergency clause. Legislation with an emergency clause becomes law as soon as the governor signs the bill or on a date specified in the bill. Operative and "eff." (effective) are used interchangeably to indicate the date the legislation became law. For example, Title 25, § 14 was added to the Oklahoma Statutes 1983 Supplement with the following footnote: "Amended by Laws 1983, C. 164 3, emerg. eff. June 6, 1983." Thus, this law was amended in 1983, is found in Chapter 164, section 3 in Oklahoma Session Laws 1983, and went into effect when signed by the governor on June 6, 1983.

Court cases are also cited as footnotes. These footnotes are organized according to the subject of the case. Cases that deal with the validity or interpretation of the statute are listed under "Validity" or "Construction and application." Other cases may be listed under additional subjects. A case citation such as 451 P2d 1453 would refer to volume 451 of the Pacific Reporter, second series, page 1453.
Organization of Title 68, Revenue and Taxation

The organization of Title 68, Revenue and Taxation, slightly differs from what was described above. Title 68 is organized first by chapters, secondly by articles and thirdly by sections. The sections are still numbered consecutively and indicate where chapters and articles begin. The table of contents for Title 68 begins as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>TITLE 68</th>
<th>REVENUE AND TAXATION</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Chapter</td>
<td>Section</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.</td>
<td>Tax Codes</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.</td>
<td>Miscellaneous Tax Provisions</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The article number is the first numeral in the section number. An example is shown for Chapter 1.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>CHAPTER 1. - TAX CODES</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Article</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>28.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>60.</td>
</tr>
</table>

In the example, Article 1, Oklahoma Tax Commission, begins with section 101; Article 2, Uniform Tax Codes, begins with section 201, and so on. Article 24, Ad Valorem Taxes, was recodified in 1988. The laws which were in Article 24 are now in Article 28 (also entitled Ad Valorem Taxes); Article 29, Exemptions, Collection and Payment; and Article 30, Levies. Volume 4 of the Oklahoma Statutes 1991 cross references the ad valorem recodified laws with the prior section codes in Article 24.

Alphabetical Index

The Index to the Oklahoma Statutes 1991 is in Volume 6. It is organized by subject matter. Following each major heading is an alphabetical list of topics. Some topics may be divided into subtopics. Following each topic and subtopic is a title and section number. For example, to find the statutes addressing duties of county assessors, locate the major heading "Tax Assessors" and search the alphabetical list underneath for "Powers and Duties." This example appears in the Index as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>TAX ASSESSORS</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Powers and Duties,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Abstracts of assessment roll, 68 § 2867</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Destruction of records, 19 § 155.1</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Thus statutes addressing powers and duties of tax assessors are in Title 19, section 155.1, Title 68, section 2817 and other Titles that follow. The abbreviation O.S. for Oklahoma Statutes is not included with the title and section number in the index. Notation used in the index is defined as follows:

- This index—this topic is a major heading elsewhere in the index.
- Generally, this index—the topic or some form of it is a major heading elsewhere in the index.
- Generally, ante—the subtopic is also a topic earlier in this index under the same major heading.
- Generally, post—the subtopic is also a topic later in this index under the same major heading.
- Et. seq.—this follows the section number and implies this section number and several section numbers that immediately follow.

Tables

Table 1 in Volume 6 cross references the Session Laws publications from 1931 to 1991 within Oklahoma Statutes 1991. This table shows if a law enacted prior to 1991 has been amended, repealed or recodified. It is organized by years with four columns under each year. Columns one and two refer to the prior Session Laws publications and columns three and four apply to Oklahoma Statutes 1991. The first column is labeled “page” for years 1931 to 1961 but “Chap.” thereafter. An example is given below.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>LAW 1980</th>
<th>O.S. 1991</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Chap.</td>
<td>Sec.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>59</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The procedure for using Table 1 is as follows:
1. Locate the year of enactment (for example, 1980).
2. Go down the “Chap.” column to the appropriate chapter number “1.”
3. Move across to column 2 “Sec.” and down to the appropriate section number "2."
4. Move across to the "Title" and "Section" columns "Title 59," "section 1008."
The title and section number may be used to locate the law in Oklahoma Statutes 1991. The latest supplement should then be consulted to determine if there have been changes since 1991.
Table 2 shows where to find the Revised 1910 Laws in Oklahoma Statutes 1991. Tables 3 and 4 do the same for the Compiled Laws of 1921 and Oklahoma Statutes 1931, respectively.

Oklahoma Statutes Annotated

The Oklahoma Statutes Annotated contain not only the text of the statutes, but also paragraph summaries of cases that interpreted or applied each section. These case listings are much more complete than the ones found in the Oklahoma Statutes. For each case there is a one or two-sentence statement of the court ruling. The set of Oklahoma Statutes Annotated contains a multi-volume index of the statutes. A new set is not published every ten years as is done with the Oklahoma Statutes. Changes in the laws or additions are included in paperback supplements which are inserted in a pocket on the back cover of each volume. Periodically individual volumes are updated.

Rules and Regulations of State Agencies: The Oklahoma Administrative Code

The secretary of state has responsibility for compilation of the Oklahoma Administrative Code. This code contains the rules and regulations of state agencies. Effective January 1, 1992, any permanent state agency rule not included in the Oklahoma Administrative Code was declared void and of no effect. The secretary of state was directed to index and publish all codified agency rules by July 1, 1992. After January 1, 1992, new rules may be adopted by publication in the Oklahoma Register. If properly adopted, these rules will be valid even though they are not in the current code or supplement.

The Office of Administrative Rules within the Office of the Secretary of State is responsible for publishing the Oklahoma Register and the Oklahoma Administrative Code. The rules are currently compiled in loose-leaf notebooks. Each agency has been assigned an individual Code title number. The State Department of Agriculture is Title 35 and the Oklahoma Tax Commission is Title 710. A list of all title numbers and agencies is published in the Oklahoma Register. A table of contents can be found at the front of each title. The titles are subdivided into chapters, subchapters and sections.

Federal Statutes

Federal statutes may be found in the U.S. Code (USC), the U.S. Code Annotated (USCA), or the U.S. Code Service (USCS). The differences are summarized as follows:
1. USC—codified version of the federal statutes.
2. USCA—codified version of the federal statutes which includes footnotes of the cases.
3. USCS—exact language of the federal statute as originally enacted.

The USCA and the USCS are much like the Oklahoma Statutes Annotated. They include not only the laws but also paragraph summaries of cases that have interpreted or applied the law. The USCS contains the exact language of the statutes before codification. The USC is just like the USCA except it does not include the case summaries.

The same title and section numbers apply in all references. A reference to 7 USCS Sec. 87, refers to Title 7, section 87. Each reference set contains a multi-volume index set. A table of contents is located at the beginning of each volume of USCA. These tables of contents list the chapter headings and beginning page of each chapter. USCA then has a section and subsection listing at the beginning of each chapter.

A table of contents is also found in the beginning of each volume of the USCS. The table of contents identifies the beginning section of each chapter. USCS also has a title index at the end of each title.

The Code of Federal Regulations

Federal agency regulations can be found in the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR). This is a multivolume paperback set of books organized according to the title of the U.S. Code that contains the underlying legislation. Department of Agriculture rules are found in Title 7. Title 9 contains regulations dealing with animals and animal products. Title 40 deals with protection of the environment. In many cases, several volumes are required for a title. In 1991, 19 volumes were required for Title 7 regulations.

A new set of regulations is published each year, containing prior regulations that remain in effect as well as regulations adopted in the previous year. Each year's CFR set includes a one-volume index. An example of the index is shown on the following page. A four-volume index of the CFR is also available at some libraries. When new regulations are proposed, they are published in the Federal Register. Individuals are usually given an opportunity to comment on the rules before they become final regulations.
Supplements (Pocket Parts)

It is usually important in legal research to have the most up-to-date information possible. Laws and regulations are modified over time and new court interpretations may be developed as cases arise. In using the Oklahoma Statutes Annotated, the U.S. Code Annotated and the U.S. Code Service, it is important to check the pocket parts (supplements inserted in a pocket in the back of the hard-bound volume) to see if a statute has been modified, repealed or interpreted since the hard-bound volume was published. These supplements are generally published once a year, contain only the changes, and are organized by title and section just like the main volume. An index may be found in the back of each supplement.

The Oklahoma Cooperative Extension Service
Bringing the University to You!

The Cooperative Extension Service is the largest, most successful informal educational organization in the world. It is a nationwide system funded and guided by a partnership of federal, state and local governments that delivers information to help people help themselves through the land-grant university system.

Extension carries out programs in the broad categories of agriculture, natural resources and environment; home economics; 4-H and other youth; and community resource development. Extension staff members live and work among the people they serve to help stimulate and educate Americans to plan ahead and cope with their problems.

Some characteristics of the Cooperative Extension system are:

- The federal, state and local governments cooperatively share in its financial support and program direction.
- It is administered by the land-grant university as designated by the state legislature through an Extension director.
- Extension programs are nonpolitical, objective and based on factual information.
- It provides practical, problem-oriented education for people of all ages. It is designated to take the knowledge of the university to those persons who do not or cannot participate in the formal classroom instruction of the university.
- It utilizes research from university, government and other sources to help people make their own decisions.
- More than a million volunteers help multiply the impact of the Extension professional staff.
- It dispenses no funds to the public.
- It is not a regulatory agency, but it does inform people of regulations and of their options in meeting them.
- Local programs are developed and carried out in full recognition of national problems and goals.
- The Extension staff educates people through personal contacts, meetings, demonstrations and the mass media.
- Extension has the built-in flexibility to adjust its programs and subject matter to meet new needs. Activities shift from year to year as citizen groups and Extension workers close to the problems advise changes.

Topics within this fact sheet are covered in the County Government Personnel Education and Training Program. The program is overseen by the Commission on County Government Personnel Education and Training. Educational meetings and other types of training sessions are carried out jointly by the Oklahoma State University Cooperative Extension Service and the Center for Local Government Technology on the Oklahoma State University Campus.
Overview

County officials are accountable to the law and the people they serve. To ensure fiscal responsibility, Oklahoma law requires all units of county government to annually prepare a financial statement and estimate of needs. These financial reports make up the county budget for the new fiscal year. State law also requires the county budget be available for inspection by county and state officials and by the public.

County government can function in one of two ways when it comes time to prepare the annual budget. One, the board of county commissioners can recommend a budget to the county excise board who ultimately is responsible for preparing and finalizing the county budget. The other method requires the county officers as a unit, under the title “county budget board,” to prepare a county budget. With this method the county excise board is primarily responsible for ensuring the budget is within the revenues available for financing county government in the new fiscal year.

This fact sheet reviews the budgetary responsibilities carried out by county officials. Important budgetary terms are defined. Step-by-step instructions on preparing the county budget can be found in the publication entitled County Financial Statement Guidebook. The guidebook is available through the County Government Personnel Education and Training Program carried out by the OSU Cooperative Extension Service and the Center for Local Government Technology.

County Budget Preparation by County Excise Board

Role of the County Excise Board

The county excise board is an agency of the state as part of a system of checks and balances. In this role, the county excise board has the responsibility to require the following:

1. Adequate and accurate reporting of revenues and expenditures for all budget and supplemental purposes.
2. Adequate provisions for the performance of mandatory constitutional and statutory governmental functions within the available revenues.

The budget process begins with the county excise board holding an annual budget planning conference with each county officer and department head. The budget planning conferences are held before July 1. At the conference the excise board provides the principal officers with an estimate of probable revenues for the upcoming fiscal year.

County Officers Annual Report

Following the Budget Planning Conference, each county officer prepares the County Officer’s Annual Report. The report is made on a budget form provided by the county clerk. The report consists of:

1. An estimate of earnings.
2. A report of prior expenditures.
3. An estimate of needs.

The estimate of earnings and the report of prior expenditures show the income received along with the cost of operating the office in the outgoing fiscal year. The estimate of needs is an itemized statement of the revenue needed to operate the office during the upcoming fiscal year. Items included are personnel services, travel expenses, maintenance and operations, and capital outlays.

The County Officer’s Annual Report is submitted to the board of county commissioners (or county clerk acting as the secretary of the board) by the first Monday in July.

Role of the Board of County Commissioners

On the first Monday in August, the board of county commissioners is required to begin:

1. Reviewing the county officers’ annual reports.
2. Preparing the county’s annual financial statement as of June 30.
3. Preparing the county’s annual estimate of needs.

The county’s Annual Financial Statement and Annual Estimate of Needs make up the county’s annual budget report. After completing the Financial Statement and Estimate of Needs, the board of county commissioners must publish it in at least one newspaper within the county. The board of county commissioners must submit the annual financial statement and estimate of needs to the county excise board by August 17.

Finalizing the Annual Budget

The county excise board, within the means available, is charged with providing each county officer with adequate funds to carry out the constitutional and statutory duties of the office. The excise board is empowered to require all revenue and expenses be reported adequately and accurately. In approving the county budget, the excise board proceeds as follows:

1. Examines the financial statements of the county officers.
   a. Determines the true fiscal condition of each fund and the accounts within each fund as of June 30.
   b. Requests additional financial information when necessary.
2. Examines the estimate of needs.
   a. Determines if a request is lawful and is adequate to fund an item of appropriation.
   b. Provides for mandatory items that were not included.
3. Computes the total revenues available to each fund.
4. Revises the budget in whole or part when the total estimate of needs exceeds the total revenues available by
   a. Reducing items for functions authorized but not required by constitutional law or statutory law, then if necessary,
   b. Reducing items for functions required by statutory law, and then if necessary,
   c. Reducing items for functions required by constitutional law.

The county excise board is without authority “to deny an appropriation for a lawful purpose if within the revenue and income provided.”

Public hearings are held by the county excise board. The time and location of the public hearings must be published in a newspaper with a general circulation in the county. Taxpayers may appear before the county excise board to speak for or against any item of appropriation.

Budget Terminology

Definition: Fiscal Year

An accounting period over which time revenues and expenditures are budgeted.

The word “fiscal,” in general, refers to financial matters. Another term for fiscal year is budget year. The fiscal year for county government, as well as state government, cities, towns, and school districts, begins on July 1 of the current calendar year and ends on June 30 of the next calendar year. Revenues are appropriated on July 1 to fund the various offices in county government. At the end of the fiscal year a financial statement is prepared to show the monies expended and any unexpended money that may be transferred to the budget for the new fiscal year.

Definition: General Fund

The repository for revenues used to operate the county; the portion of the county budget that consists of the budget accounts for the county operations including the budget account for each county office.

Revenues deposited into the general fund come from recurring sources. Ad valorem taxes are the primary source followed by fees collected by various county offices. Payments in lieu of ad valorem taxes are another source. Examples of in lieu payments are automobile and boat registration fees collected by the Oklahoma Tax Commission, and payments from public housing authorities. Interest from investments of county funds is another source. Revenue is also obtained from miscellaneous fees such as homestead exemption reimbursements from the state and vending machine revenues. In several counties, the voters have approved a county sales tax. Revenue from the county sales tax is deposited in the general fund and appropriated to the specific budget accounts and funds stated on the ballot at the sales tax election.

Definition: Budget Account

A category within the general fund and is made up of items of appropriation.

A budget account is also called a governmental budget account or an appropriation account. Items of appropriation include salaries, travel, maintenance and operations, computer operations, and capital outlays. Each county office has a budget account within the general fund. Money is appropriated into the account for carrying out the regular duties of the office.

Definition: Estimate of Probable Income

Income for the general fund that is expected to be received in the new fiscal year from recurring sources.

Recurring sources are primarily ad valorem tax revenues. The term “recurring” means the source is guaranteed from each year. The county excise board provides the county officers with an estimate of probable income each year prior to the budget planning conference. This information helps the other county officers in preparing the estimate of needs for their respective offices.

Definition: Temporary Appropriation

Money appropriated at the start of the fiscal year to carry out government functions until a budget is finalized and approved.

Temporary appropriations prevent the services provided by county government from being interrupted. After July 1 and until the county budget is approved, the county offices can be granted a temporary appropriation. A temporary appropriation is not additional dollars for a county office. The appropriation approved in the final budget includes the dollars granted as a temporary appropriation.

A county budget is usually not finalized until mid-September. The lapse in time from July 1, the beginning of the fiscal year, to mid-September is necessary to allow a) time to determine the true financial condition of the county at the close of the past fiscal year; b) sufficient time for the county equalization board, under its official duties, to ensure the appropriations do not exceed the revenues estimated for the new fiscal year; and c) time for public hearings.

Definition: Cash Fund Appropriation

Appropriations made on a periodic bases, usually monthly or quarterly, into a specific cash fund after receipt of monies. A cash fund is earmarked for a specific purpose. Revenues usually come from monies collected by the state and transferred to counties. One example is the county highway cash fund. A portion of the motor fuels revenues collected by the state are transferred to every county to maintain the county roads. All cash funds are set up by a title that identifies where the revenue is deposited and its use. Revenue in one cash fund cannot be transferred to another fund. A cash fund appropriation cannot be made until the revenue is received and deposited into the fund. Upon receipt of the monies the board of county commissioners prepares and submits an estimate of needs and request for appropriation to the county excise board.

Definition: Supplemental Appropriations

Additional appropriations are made when surplus monies are available, and whenever the public welfare and needs of the county or a county office require additional monies for current expenses. The request for a supplemental appropriation is made by the board of county commissioners to the county excise board. A supplemental appropriation cannot be made in excess of the income and revenue provided or accumulated for the fiscal year. No supplemental appropriation can be made and considered by the county excise board without a financial statement showing current revenues and delinquent collections along with current expenses and outstanding warrants.

Definition: Transfer of Appropriation

Monies transferred within a fund from an account with a surplus to another account needing additional revenue. Monies can be transferred within a fund but cannot be transferred from one fund to another fund. Thus, the transfer of appropriation will neither increase nor decrease the fund’s balance. A transfer of appropriation may occur between budget accounts within the general fund. For example, a transfer of appropriation within the general fund may be made from the nonexpended and nonencumbered balance of an account of a county office with less urgent needs to the account of a county office with immediately urgent needs. In the general fund, monies cannot be transferred out of a special purpose account having an ad valorem tax or sales tax levied for its specific use.

When necessary, a county officer makes a request in writing to the board of county commissioners for a transfer of appropriation for additional needs. The following information must be included with the requests:

1. Additional needs.
2. Reason for such additional needs.
3. Detailed list of items.
4. Detailed list of items proposed to be cancelled in the account wherefrom the transfer is made.
5. Written consent of county officer in charge of the account wherefrom the transfer is made.

Approval is only needed by the board of county commissioners. Their approval both permits the transfer and cancels or reduces the appropriation in the original account.

Definition: Transfer of Special Fund Balance

Monies transferred to the general fund from a special fund that is no longer needed. The laws governing the special fund must be followed before it can be discontinued. Special funds include debt service funds and special assessment funds. Debt service funds are also called sinking funds. For example, a solid waste district sinking fund was created as a depository for ad valorem tax revenues collected for paying the interest and principal on bonds sold to construct the solid waste disposal site. Once the bonds are retired, the sinking fund is eliminated. Revenue remaining in it can be transferred to the county general fund.

Definition: Warrant

Claim against an appropriation account for payment of salaries, an item purchased, or a service provided. A warrant is not a check. A warrant authorizes a bank to accept a claim for payment and pay the amount shown on it. Warrants are prepared by the county clerk, approved by the board of county commissioners and signed by the chairman of the board. Information included on a warrant is the department and the account charged for the payment of a purchase or service. The county clerk delivers a signed warrant to the county treasurer for registration and then sends the warrant to the vendor. The county treasurer is notified by the appropriate bank handling the county’s money when a warrant has been claimed by a vendor. When money is available in the specific account, the county treasurer redeems the warrant by writing a County Treasurer’s Check to the bank. All warrants must be redeemed by a check signed by the county treasurer.

County Budget Board

A county budget board is established once the board of county commissioners vote to have the budget procedures come under the “County Budget Act.” The budget board shall consist of each elected county officer and shall be structured as follows:

1. Chairman—chairman of the board of county commissioners.
2. Vice Chairman—elected by budget board members.
3. Secretary—county clerk.
The vice chairman serves in the chairman’s absence.

Once the board of county commissioners elect to come under the “County Budget Act,” this act takes precedence over any other state laws applicable to the county budget. Any action of the board of county commissioners to implement or repeal the application of this act shall be effective at the beginning or end of a budget year. The “County Budget Act” allows the elected county officials to work as a unit in preparing the county budget.

Reports of Estimated Revenues and Expenses

Each county officer, department head and commission must submit a report of estimated revenues and expenditures on a form provided by the budget board. The information must be reported in the following manner:

1. Actual revenues and expenditures during the preceding fiscal year.
2. Budget estimates for current fiscal year.
3. Actual revenues and expenditures for a period of six to nine months for the current fiscal year.
4. Estimated actual revenues and expenditures for the current fiscal year.
5. Estimated revenues and expenditures for the new budget year.

Prior to submitting the report, each county officer and department head meets with the budget board to discuss needs.

Budget Preparation

The county budget board is required to prepare a budget for each county fund 30 days prior to the beginning of the fiscal year. The budget format is prescribed by the State Auditor and Inspector and must include:

1. Revenues and expenditures from the preceding fiscal year.
2. Estimated revenues and expenditures for the current fiscal year.
3. Estimated revenues and expenditures for the new fiscal year.

A complete financial plan is required for the new fiscal year.

Three basic events occur before and during the budget preparation process.

1. Anticipated revenues by source and fund are provided by county excise board.
2. County budget board reviews budget requests of each county officer and department head.
3. County budget board revises budget request when justifiable and then finalizes the proposed budget.

The county budget board must hold a public hearing on the proposed budget no later than 15 days before the new fiscal year. The time and location must be published in a newspaper, with a general circulation in the county, at least five days before the meeting.

Once a budget is adopted, it is filed with the county excise board and state auditor and inspector. An affidavit showing proof of publication must be affixed to it when filed. From the day the adopted budget is filed with the state auditor and inspector, a taxpayer has 15 days to file a protest.

Adoption of Budget

After the public hearings and at least seven days before the new fiscal year, the county budget board must adopt a budget for each fund. The adopted budget is filed with the county excise board, county clerk and state auditor and inspector on or before the first day of the fiscal year. The budget shall be in effect the first day of the new fiscal year. Also, the budget will constitute an appropriation for each fund, subject to the final approval of the county excise board.

Role of County Excise Board

Duties and powers assigned to the county excise board are as follows:

1. Provide estimate of anticipated revenues on or before date set by the county budget board.
2. Examine the adopted budget.
3. Strike unlawful items from the adopted budget and reduce unlawful amounts to authorized levels.
4. Return adopted budget to county budget board if mandatory items or amounts are not provided, or if appropriations from ad valorem tax revenues exceed the revenues available.
5. Approve adopted budget if within the available revenues.
6. Compute the ad valorem tax levies.
7. Certify the approved budget to the county budget board, county treasurer and state auditor and inspector.

The county budget board has 15 days from the return of a budget to revise and resubmit it to the county excise board. Copies of the certified budget are filed with the county clerk and state auditor and inspector.

Amended Budget

Budgets can be amended by the county budget board after the budget is approved. Amendments can be made to allow for a supplemental appropriation, transfer of appropriation, and a transfer of special fund balance. Amendments for supplemental appropriations must be adopted by an official action of the county budget board. Copies of the supplemental appropriation must be filed with the county clerk, county excise board and state auditor and inspector. The same procedures are followed for amending a budget prepared by the county budget board as one prepared by the county excise board.
Primary Sources of County Road Funding

Introduction

The vast majority of county road funding typically comes from five excise taxes: (1) gasoline, (2) diesel, (3) special fuels, (4) gross production, and (5) motor vehicle license and registration. Counties also receive varying amounts of federal matching funds, state revolving fund monies, Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) funds, and other miscellaneous sources of road and bridge revenues. These are not discussed here. The purpose of this fact sheet is to explain the tax levies and apportionment of tax collections pertaining to the five primary excise taxes.

Overview

Gasoline, diesel, and special fuels taxes are a specified amount per gallon defined by statute. Hence, motor fuel tax collections vary according to the number of gallons sold. The gross production tax is a certain percentage of the total value of production. The amount of gross production tax generated depends on both the amount of production and the price per barrel of oil or price per thousand cubic feet of natural gas. Motor vehicle license and registration fees depend upon the type, age, and value of the vehicle. It should also be noted that there are a number of exemptions from these taxes. For example, state and federal government are exempt from license fees and gasoline taxes.

These taxes are collected by the Oklahoma Tax Commission (OTC) and apportioned according to statute. In several instances, the statutes provide a specified portion of the tax to be retained by the OTC to pay for collection services. The laws authorize OTC to apportion monies to the State’s general fund, Department of Transportation, cities, schools, and counties among others. Each county receives a set proportion of the gross production tax generated within its borders. The motor fuel and vehicle excise taxes are apportioned to counties for county roads according to formulas that take into account the number of miles of county roads, the land area of the county, and the population. A detailed discussion of each tax follows.

Gasoline Tax

Since 1987 when the Oklahoma legislature passed an additional six cents per gallon, the gasoline excise tax has been a total of 16 cents per gallon. This tax applies both to gasoline purchased in Oklahoma and in certain cases, gasoline “imported” into Oklahoma. Table 1 shows the breakdown of the gasoline tax. The second column of Table 1 indicates the designated portion of each tax levy that is to be placed in the county highway (road) fund for unrestricted use. The third column indicates the proportion of each tax that is restricted in use. Cities, school districts, and state government receive the remainder of each tax. The fourth column shows the statutory reference for each component of the tax. The column labelled “Explanation” provides a description of the method of apportionment and the stated purpose for the county revenues. Each of the tables presented in this paper follow the same format.

Out of the 16-cent tax, $.0412 actually goes to counties for roads and bridges. Of this amount, $.0382 is apportioned to individual counties according to road mileage, land area, and population. Close inspection of the “Explanation” column reveals that the weight given to each of these apportionment factors varies among the individual gasoline taxes created by the various statutes.

O.S. 68 1991 §§ 504, 519, 502.2, and 502.6 call for apportionment among counties such that 30% weight is given to the latest bureau of the Census population figure, 30% weight is given to the square miles of land area in the county, and 40% weight is given to the miles of county road as certified by the Oklahoma Department of Transportation. An exception to this allocation scheme is found in O.S. 68 1991 § 523 that calls for equal weighting (1/3 each) among population,

1 The production tax also applies to minerals such as lead, silver, gold and zinc.

2 The purpose of Tables 1-4 is to show the breakdown of each tax plus the details of apportionment and use for those monies that flow, more or less, automatically to the county highway fund.

*All references are to the 1991 Oklahoma Statutes except 69 O.S., Sec. 687 as amended in 1992.

land area, and road mileage. However, the population to be used is the rural population, defined as the population of all municipalities within a county with a population of less than 5,000.

The remaining $.003 cent per gallon is apportioned by Department of Transportation formula, similar to the way County Bridge Program funds are apportioned but also taking into consideration terrain and traffic volume. This $.003 cent is restricted to use for maintenance on the primary road system (69 O.S. § 654).

Diesel

The total state diesel tax is $.13 per gallon (Table 2), with $.03255 of the $.13 designated for county road construction and maintenance. Apportionment of this amount among the counties again depends on more than one weighting scheme. The weighing schemes are similar to the formulas used to apportion the gasoline tax revenues. A breakdown of the $.0555 levy shows a $.04 component, a $.01 component and a $.005 component. From the $.04 component, 24.25% goes to counties and is distributed by giving 50% weight to county population based on the latest decennial census, and 50% weight to square miles of land area in a county. All of the $.01 levy is deposited in the State Transportation Fund. One hundred percent of the $.005 levy is distributed to counties based on the 30% population, 30% square miles of land area, and 40% of county road miles formula.

One hundred percent of the $.01 levy authorized by 68 O.S. § 523.1 is distributed by giving equal weight to county rural population, land area, and road miles. The $.02 levy authorized by 68 O.S. § 502.3 goes 24.25% to counties. It is apportioned among counties in the same fashion as the $.04 levy component mentioned above—50% weight to land area and 50% weight to population.

The tax also applies to imported diesel and $.003 cent per gallon out of the $.03255 to counties is restricted to county primary road maintenance.

Special Fuel Excise Tax

Special fuels are defined by statute as all combustible gases and liquids, including liquefied gases, which exist in the gaseous state at a temperature of 60° F (such as butane and propane). The total tax is $.16 per gallon (Table 3), with $.04255 per gallon going to counties for road construction and maintenance. As with gasoline and diesel fuel, part of this tax revenue is apportioned to counties using the 40%, 30%, and 30% weights for road mileage, land area, and population, respectively. Furthermore, O.S. 68 1991 § 706 says that $.01 per gallon of the tax is to be apportioned giving equal weight to road mileage, land area, and population. But unlike the similarly apportioned gasoline tax, the population figure to be used is the rural population from the 1950 Census. Another portion of the special fuel tax is apportioned to counties with equal weight given to land area and population and no weight given to road mileage (68 O.S., Sec. 704). Finally, $.003 cent per gallon is apportioned similarly to the County Bridge Program funds but also giving consideration to terrain and traffic volume. Its use is restricted to primary road system maintenance. Notice that the special fuel tax applies to imported special fuel, as well as that sold in Oklahoma.

Gross Production Tax

Most gross production tax revenues are generated by the 7% levy on the value of production of oil and gas. A tax of three-fourths of one percent of the gross value of asphalt, ores bearing lead, zinc, jack, gold, silver and copper is also levied. This discussion pertains primarily to the petroleum production tax. The county road revenue allocation of the gross production in a given county is ten percent of five-sevenths of the total tax levy (Table 4). Each county receives tax revenues according to production within its borders. Hence, counties with little or no production receive little or no gross production tax revenue.

Motor Vehicle License and Registration Fees

There are a wide variety of license and registration fees that apply to the various categories of motor vehicles. Generally speaking, these taxes vary according to type, age, value, and use of the vehicle. Thirteen percent of license and registration fees are returned to counties for construction and maintenance of roads and bridges (Table 4). Most of this revenue (73%) is allocated using the 40%, 30%, and 30% weighting method described earlier in which the population figure is the most recent Census count or estimate. However, as indicated in Table 4, the use of part of this amount is restricted. Its purpose is to match federal funds for the construction of federal aid projects on county roads.

The remaining license and registration revenue designated to counties (3.5% of the total tax revenue) is apportioned according to an Oklahoma Department of Transportation formula that considers county major and minor collector miles (20% weight), vehicles miles of travel (20% weight), and the bridge apportionment factor (60% weight). The apportionment factor for each county is then adjusted for terrain. This money goes into the county highway fund.

Exemptions

There are a number of exemptions specified for each of the excise taxes. Comprehensive coverage of these exemptions is beyond the scope of this paper but a brief summary is presented along with statute references. The exemptions from gasoline, special fuel, and diesel taxes are quite similar, allowing them to be discussed as a group. Gross production and motor vehicle tax exemptions are addressed individually.

The following is a partial listing of motor fuel excise tax exemptions (all found in O.S. 68 1991):

1. Sales between motor fuel distributors (§ 507).
2. Fuel used in aircraft engines (§ 508).
3. Fuel used in agriculture and other “off-road” purposes (§ 509).
5. Fuel used in machinery and equipment in the process of constructing and maintaining public roads (§ 708).

There are two basic exemptions from the gross production tax: enhanced recovery project production and production from horizontally drilled wells. Both exemptions are limited to the project payback period or a two- to three-year period, whichever is shorter. These exemptions are found in O.S. 68 1991 §1001 (d) (1) and (2) plus § 1001 (e) (1).

Finally, motor vehicle license and registration fee exemptions are granted to people who don’t live in Oklahoma but commute into Oklahoma to work and to certain special mobilized machinery. These are found in O.S. 47 1991 §§ 1125 and 1129. Furthermore, some farm trucks and trailers including trailers used to haul forest products are exempt or are subject to special license and registration fees. These can be found in O.S. 47 1991 § 1134.

Apportionment Formulas

The following is an example showing how these excise taxes are apportioned. Although County Z is fictitious, the state totals for population, road mileage, and area are the actual amounts used by the Oklahoma Tax Commission for fiscal 1991-1992. In the example, the County/State ratio is simply the county amount divided by the state total. The County Z allocation is the portion of the total revenue to counties that is to be transferred to County Z. Notice that in all four cases, County Z receives between one and two percent of the total amount transferred to counties.

The formulas on the following page indicate that County Z receives 1.4172% of the state total $.01 gasoline and diesel taxes, 1.2122% of the total state collection from the $.01 special fuel tax, and 1.0379% of the state’s $.06 (68 O.S. §§ 703 and 707.1) special fuel tax collection. County Z receives 1.0447% of all other motor fuel excise taxes and of the motor vehicle license and registration fees. The county will also receive 1.2484% of the funds restricted to county primary road maintenance. As mentioned before, the county receives gross production tax revenues in relation to production within the county.

Allocation of bridge and road construction funds from revolving fund accounts is not automatic. Application procedures are required and are more complex. For these reasons an example is not given.

When budgets are squeezed yet public services must be maintained, county and city government must take a closer look at their fiscal management. The oil boom of the 1970s and early 1980s brought rapid revenue growth to numerous Oklahoma counties. Since that time, many municipal governments in Oklahoma have experienced a significant decline in their revenue base. The decline in the petroleum industry took away jobs and the loss of jobs caused a decline in general economic activity, population, and property value in many areas. This is particularly true in the more rural areas. For example, outside the two most metropolitan and populous counties (Oklahoma and Tulsa Counties) the average county population declined over 1,100 people between fiscal 1986 and 1992 (Table 1). During this period, average county government general fund revenue increased 11% yet inflation rose 23%.

Ad valorem taxes provide the majority of the average county's revenue. Within these seventy-five counties, the assessed value of taxable property rose 11% from 1986 to 1992 (Table 1). Since the mill levy is fixed at 10 mills for county general fund use, the 23% rise in prices resulted in reduced county purchasing power. In this climate, county officers are challenged to maintain the quality and quantity of services with shrinking financial resources. A similar story could probably be told for many small towns and cities experiencing declining or insufficient revenues due to declining population, declining economic activity, and the accompanying loss in sales tax revenues. The purpose of this paper is to present some financial analysis tools that may be employed to assist fiscal policy decision making. Although county government examples are used, parallel analysis can be performed for cities and towns.

Financial Analysis

Horizontal Analysis

Four commonly used techniques for financial analysis are horizontal, vertical, trend, and ratio analysis (Needles). These techniques are widely used although their names may not be familiar. Horizontal analysis, as its name implies, focuses on changes from one year to the next on each item of a comparative financial statement, that is, across years or “horizontally” across the printed financial statement. For example, a comparative financial statement for a county shows two years data listed side by side down the page. Total revenue in 1993 is shown to be $100,000 and for 1992 is $80,000. Horizontal analysis answers the questions (1) what was the amount of change from one year to the next? and (2) what was the percentage change from one year to the next? In this case, the dollar change was +$20,000 and the percentage change was +25%. Total revenue was $20,000 greater in 1993 than it was in 1992, an increase of 25% ($20,000/ $80,000). The advantage of horizontal analysis is the information provided with regard to changes in the entity in the most recent fiscal years. That is, it reveals the most current trends.

Table 2 is a horizontal analysis of actual expenditure accounts for an Oklahoma county. The expenditures in fiscal years 1991 and 1992 are listed side by side. The third column shows the actual dollar amount of change from 1991 to 1992. The fourth column shows the change as a percentage of the 1991 amount. This horizontal analysis makes clear things such as:

• Which account expends the largest number of dollars (General Government)
• Which account spent less in 1992 than in 1991 (County Clerk)
• The total change in expenditure from one year to the next ($49,343 or 9.72%)

Horizontal analysis of expenditures, revenue sources, changes in cash carry-over, and other financial data is not only informative, but may serve to raise relevant managerial questions. The information in Table 2, for example, may prompt county decision makers to ask:

1. Why did the Treasurer have a 17% increase when the county as a whole spent only 10% more?
2. How did the Clerk manage to get by with less money in 1991 than in 1992 and are further decreases possible?
3. What are the individual items within “All Other Expenditures” that caused such a large increase in expenditures?

The information summarized in this horizontal analysis is a significant step toward raising significant financial management questions. The answers to these questions may be of considerable help in budgeting for the future.

Vertical Analysis

Vertical analysis, as its name implies, focuses on the various items listed up and down the page of a financial statement for a given year. On the income statement of a business, for example, gross revenue may be shown at the top, followed by each of the expenses of the business and net income at the bottom. Vertical analysis answers the question, what portion does each item contribute to the whole? More specifically, in the case of an income statement, vertical analysis tells what percentage each item is of gross income. If net income is $100,000 and gross income is $500,000, then net income is 20% of gross income. One benefit of vertical analysis is that by converting all numbers to percentages, it is much easier to compare differently sized entities whether they be private businesses or local governments. Once the numbers have been converted to percentages, they can be compared directly. This is especially true when large numbers are involved. Using percentages assists in understanding the relative importance of each item. Table 3 presents a vertical analysis of two years’ revenue for an Oklahoma county.

Table 3 indicates that this county derived almost 65% of its general fund revenues from ad valorem taxes in fiscal 1991 and almost 67% in 1992. Hence, it is obvious that the county is very dependent upon this revenue source. Another item of interest is that the “Other Sources of Revenue” declined in relative importance from 1991 to 1992. In 1991 other sources composed almost 19% of revenues but in 1992 provided almost 11%. Such an analysis brings to mind questions such as: What are the particular revenue sources within “Other Sources of Revenue” that declined so radically and what action can be taken to change the situation?

Vertical analysis is probably of greatest help when used to compare the subject entity (in this case a county) to a comparable entity or groups of entities. For example, it may be helpful for county officials to compare their county to the sum of all counties in Oklahoma (Table 4). The comparison reveals that the subject county is more dependent on the ad valorem tax for revenue than the average county. The average county in Oklahoma derives 55% of its revenue from ad valorem taxes, whereas, the subject county derives almost 67% of its revenue from this source. The typical county relies more heavily on county sales tax dollars and on “Other Sources” that are not explicitly shown in Table 4. Also, the subject county receives a larger portion of its revenue from county clerk fees.

Armed with this information, a decision maker in the county has a better picture of the similarities and differences of his/her county to all counties. This may raise questions such as:

1. What “other sources” of revenue are we missing out on or getting too little of?
2. Why have some counties turned to a sales tax?

Trend Analysis

Trend analysis of county revenues and expenditures have proven to be very beneficial to county officers across the state. Presented in tabular and graphic form, changes over time provide useful management information to county officials and other local leaders trying to efficiently manage public funds and to provide adequate services on a tight budget. Historical trends are often helpful in educating the citizenry about the need for additional tax revenues.

Trend analysis is much like horizontal analysis in that it looks at changes over time. However, trend analysis examines changes over several years in an attempt to see where an entity is headed. A trend index or a graph provides the analyst with a good method of seeing the direction an entity is headed and how fast it is headed there. It may also indicate changes that raise questions for further investigation. The primary advantage of trend analysis over horizontal analysis is the greater amount of information. Even though a historical trend does not assure continuation in the future, a multi-year trend provides a better indicator of future events than does a single-year change. Table 5 presents a trend analysis of the same county for which horizontal and vertical analyses have already been performed.

The top half of Table 5 contains the actual dollar amounts of revenue from several sources over the six year period. The bottom half of the table contains the trend indices which are computed by dividing each dollar amount of revenue by the base year revenue. In this case the base year is 1987. Hence, the indices for ad valorem revenues are computed by dividing the amount in any given year by $312,855, the amount of ad valorem revenue in fiscal 1987. For instance, the index number for ad valorem revenues in 1987 is 1.00 (312,855/312,855). The index number for 1988 is 1.08 (337,282/312,855). The 1989 index number for county clerk fees is 0.80 (87,644/110,211). Once index numbers are computed, the change from the base year to the year in question is easily read. The index number for ad valorem revenues in 1988, 1.08, indicates that ad valorem revenues in 1988 were 108% as much as in 1987. The 1.15 in 1989 indicates that ad valorem revenues in 1989 were 115% (or 1.15 times) the amount in the base year, 1987. The decision maker can easily see that ad valorem revenues rose from 1987 to 1989, declined in 1990 and 1991, and finally rose a bit in 1992. Not only can this trend pattern be observed, but the percent change relative to the base year is also presented.

The indices presented in Table 5 give a clear picture of how each general fund revenue stream has changed since 1987. For example, the only revenue stream that was greater than a third the size of ad valorem revenues. Each of the other three revenue streams are less than a third the size of ad valorem revenues.

Ratio Analysis

The name, ratio analysis, also implies the obvious - the ratio of one statistic or measure to another. Return on investment or return on equity is a familiar financial ratio. In simple terms this is just the ratio of financial benefit (such as net income) divided by the amount of money invested. For example, a person buys a rent house for $50,000 and after one year receives net rental income after expenses of $4,000. The ratio, $4,000 / $50,000, indicates a return on investment of .08 or 8%. The natural question to ask is, how does this “ratio” compare to the normal or typical ratio for return on equity for rental housing? This is precisely the type of thought process that analysts use in ratio analysis.

Various ratios can be computed, but to be meaningful, they must be compared to some standards or benchmarks. Caution must be exercised in making such comparisons because differences in accounting methods and differences in size of the entity may cause various degrees of noncomparability. Yet business analysts continually find it useful to compare ratios of one company to the average ratio of the typical or average company in a particular industry group. Hence, the 8% return on the rental house should be compared to the normal or average return on similar rental housing. If the normal return is 10%, the 8% return is low and management may take appropriate steps to get a larger return on investment. If the normal return is 7%, the owner/manager may be quite satisfied with the 8% return and seek to continue management of the rent house as in the past.

Local government is not in the business of making a profit and generating a monetary return on investment. Nevertheless, local officials may employ some financial ratios in an effort to make local government as efficient as possible and maximize the services and benefits to the taxpayers.

Financial ratios are commonly used in the private sector but use of ratios in local government is uncommon and will require some creative thinking on the part of local officials. The following is a list of possible ratios. It is neither a comprehensive list of ratios that might be used nor the best ratios that might be used. It is a beginning point to stimulate thought and discussion.

1. Ad Valorem Revenue / Total Revenue
   This ratio provides a measure of the degree of dependence of the county on ad valorem tax receipts to finance operations. The larger the ratio, the larger is the county’s dependence on ad valorem dollars. In fiscal 1992, the average ratio for Oklahoma counties (excluding Tulsa and Oklahoma) was 0.54.

2. Co. Sheriff Expenditure / Population

3. Election Expense / Population
4. Revaluation Expense / Population

These three ratios plus any number of additional ratios could be derived to show the cost per person of a particular county government service. The Co. Sheriff Expenditure to Population ratio is one way of measuring the amount of law enforcement provided for each citizen. If the ratio is too low it is possible that too little law enforcement is being provided. On the other hand, if the ratio is too high, perhaps an excessive amount of law enforcement is being provided. Each county should compare its ratio to the average ratio of other, similar counties. The average ratio for Oklahoma counties (excluding Tulsa and Oklahoma) in fiscal 1992 was 14.45.

Election Expense / Population gives an indication of the degree of efficiency in holding elections. The fiscal 1992 average is 2.15. Revaluation Expense / Population gives an indication of the degree of efficiency in revaluing the county’s taxable property. The fiscal 1992 average is 4.30.

5. Insurance Expense / Employment

If each county would compute the amount of health insurance or liability insurance premium it pays per employee, then compare it to the amount paid by other counties for similar insurance, each county could get a better indication of the relative cost of their insurance coverage. County officials would get a better understanding of the cost relative to the benefits of their insurance policy.

6. County Sales Tax Revenue / Population

For those counties that have a county sales tax, this ratio would give an approximation of the average amount of sales tax paid by each person. That is, it would give an idea of the sales tax burden borne by each citizen. Of course, the county sales tax rate directly affects the amount of sales tax paid. Therefore, counties imposing a one-cent-sales tax would compare their ratio to that of other counties levying a one-cent tax.

In fiscal 1992, seventeen counties levied a 1% sales tax for the entire year. The average amount per person was $35.81. Six counties levied a 0.5 cent tax for all part of the year and another levied a 0.625 cent sales tax. Among these seven counties, the annualized average amount per citizen was $19.62. This is very close to half the amount paid in counties levying a full percent. Hence, if a county finds that its sales tax per person is relatively small, this may be a sign that the citizens are either relatively poor (having little money to spend) or that the citizens make a lot of purchases outside the county or both. If, for example, local leaders find that citizens are doing a lot of shopping outside the community, then they may launch a campaign with local chambers of commerce to promote local shopping.

On the other hand, if a county finds that it collects a relatively large amount of sales tax per citizen, it may be that the county has a significant number of visitors. In this case, the economic health of the entire community is enhanced by actions that promote continued visitation. Regardless of the particular situation, careful analysis is needed to assure that local officials are well informed before taking action. As mentioned above, any number of ratios may be computed and compared to the ratios of other counties. Which ratios are most appropriate is beyond the scope of this paper. Local officials in each community may find it useful to compute a number of ratios and over time, decide which ones are the most useful.

Summary and Conclusions

Upon completion of horizontal, vertical, trend, and ratio analysis, the analyst is ready to summarize the findings and draw conclusions. General statements can usually be made about the trend in revenues and expenditures, the ad valorem tax base, which activities require the greatest amount of money, and what particular items, such as health care insurance, are growing the fastest. Probably just as important, if not more so, are the questions that may be raised:

1. Why are motor vehicle license revenues increasing more rapidly than other sources of revenue?
2. Why did general fund expenditures for county treasurer functions increase at the same time that county clerk expenditures decreased?
3. How did the county treasurer manage to earn more interest income in 1992 than in 1991 during a time when interest rates were falling and can this trend be maintained?
4. How long can the county continue to maintain all current services with the amount of inflation exceeding the growth in revenues?
5. What services will be cut if revenue growth continues to be insufficient?
6. How will new legislation change county cash flows?

Answering such questions and prescribing policies and plans of actions to face the underlying problems is the heart of financial analysis. The methods of analysis described in this paper are simply the tools to help managers and decision makers identify the real problems. Once the underlying problems are correctly identified and understood, then they can be dealt with appropriately.

Data for a community and for the state can be obtained from county and city offices and several state agencies. Each city, county, and school district annually files an “Estimate of Needs and Financial Statement” with the State Auditor and Inspector. Copies of this report are available in local government offices or at the State Auditor and Inspector’s office. Copies of the financial report for past years are kept in the State Archives section of the State Library. Other reports, such as “State Payments to Local Governments are produced by the Oklahoma Tax Commission and may be available in libraries. Oklahoma Cooperative Extension Service compiles and publishes county financial data that is available upon request.

County officers annually go through the general fund budget process and decide how limited funds will be allocated among numerous county services. Budgeting can be a stressful process and county officials often search for guidelines and information that is helpful to them. A common practice is to compare one county to other counties of similar size (in terms of population and/or taxable value). Revenue and expenditure data for each county in Oklahoma is published annually by the Oklahoma Cooperative Extension Service.1 These data allow one to one county comparisons. However, little information has been published that examines county revenues and expenditures by size groups. This report provides a stratification of county revenues and expenditures by two size variables: (1) population and (2) net assessed (taxable) value. This information will aid comparison and contrast of counties, especially at budget time.

Stratification or dividing the state’s counties into size groups is necessary because of the wide range of population sizes and the economic and geographic diversity encountered across Oklahoma. In this report, two methods are used to group counties: (1) population and (2) net assessed value. Tulsa and Oklahoma Counties are by far the most populous and the wealthiest in terms of total assessed value. These distinctions make them unique in comparison to the other seventy-five counties. Because of the great difference that exists, this report excludes Tulsa and Oklahoma Counties.

County Rankings

Table 1 ranks the remaining seventy-five counties in order of increasing population size. The 1997 assessed value (1998 Fiscal Year) is also shown in the table. Table 2 ranks these seventy-five counties in order of increasing assessed value. Each county’s population is also presented. It is interesting to compare a county’s place in Table 1 with its place in Table 2. For example, Harmon County has the next to smallest population (Table 1) and has the smallest net assessed value (Table 2). On the other hand, Cimarron County has the smallest population but is listed twelfth in Table 2. One could surmise from this that Harmon County has a relatively small number of people and a relatively small tax base. Cimarron County has relatively few people but relatively more assessed value per person. Beaver County is even more pronounced in this regard. Beaver is ranked eighth in population, but is ranked thirty-ninth in assessed value. Generally speaking, the greater the tax base (assessed value) per capita, the easier it is for county government services to be provided at adequate levels and quality to the citizens.

Since the ad valorem tax is so important in financing county government, counties with larger assessed valuations, especially valuation per capita, can more easily finance county government services. Counties with smaller assessed values and smaller populations will tend to have a heavier tax burden per person even when minimal levels of county services are provided. Tables 3-8 support these assertions.

Stratification

Stratification of counties was performed in such a way as to have several counties in each group and to make the groups cover a reasonably similar range of population or assessed value. Four population groups were selected: (1) Group I – populations up to 9,000; (2) Group II – populations of 9,000 to 15,000; (3) Group III – populations of 15,000 to 40,000; and, (4) Group IV – populations of 40,000 to 200,000. For assessed value, five groups were selected: (1) Group I – assessed values of up to $35 million; (2) Group II - $35 to $70 million; (3) Group III – assessed values $70 to $105 million; (4) Group IV - $105 to $170 million; and, (5) Group V - $170 million to $700 million. Tables 3-8 show the average amounts of several revenue and expenditure categories for the seventy-five counties altogether and for each stratification grouping. Tables 3-5 contain the averages for each of the population groups. Tables 6-8 contain the averages for each of the assessed value groups. Tables 3 and 6 provide category averages of total funding and expenditures for each group, while Tables 5 and 8 provide per capita averages.

Population

Average cash surplus (carry-over), revenue streams, and expenditures for all 75 counties and for each of the four populations groups are shown in Table 3. Cash surplus plus total revenue equals the total dollars available for financing county general fund activities. Twelve specific expenditure activities are listed to show how funds were used. “Other

1 “Abstract of the General Fund for Counties in Oklahoma” and “Oklahoma Ad Valorem Mill Levies.”
For example, county sheriff expenditures are consistently about 20% of expenditures for all four groups (Table 4). General government (including maintenance and operation, insurance and employee benefits, and workers compensation) varies between 21.42% and 29.39% of expenditures. County clerk expenditures average 7.88%. County sheriff, county clerk, and general government comprise more than half of general fund expenditures for the average county.

The importance of stratifying county government expenditures and revenues becomes clear when examining Table 5. Revenues and expenditures per person are much larger in the smaller counties, especially Group I. Contrast the revenues per person in all counties (“Counties”) with revenues per person in Group I. An average $63.02 in ad valorem taxes is paid by each person in counties with less than 9,000 people, versus an average $33.01 for all counties. An average $36.38 per person in county sales taxes are collected in Group I counties versus $19.12 per capita for all counties. Total revenue (largely taxes) per person in Group I ($143.19) is more than double the aggregate average ($70.28). The same is also true of total expenditures. These numbers suggest that either small counties collect and spend too much on county government or that there is a basic, fixed cost associated with either small counties collect and spend too much on county government or that there is a basic, fixed cost associated with smaller counties, especially Group I. Contrast the revenue for this explanation. First, counties usually adopt a last resort, when basic county services are support for this explanation. First, counties usually adopt a

I and II indicate that more small counties have adopted a sales tax. 2 Second, expenditures of general fund dollars in the “County Commissioners” account is generally zero or quite small in counties facing financial stress. “County Commissioner” account expenditures per capita in Group I is only $70, whereas in Groups III and IV it is $1.85 and $1.59, respectively. In summary, counties with less than 9,000 people spend more than $130 per person on county government services financed out of the county general fund and the larger counties (Groups III and IV) spend less than $60 per person for the same (and, in many cases, additional) services. This phenomenon is called economies of size. Economies of size can be defined as a reduction in cost per person (average cost) because resources are used more intensively, that is, the same building, piece of office equipment, computer, and such can be used to serve more people. Another way of saying this is that a resource (such as a computer) is more fully utilized. Or, economies of size could be exhibited in that the amount of additional resources necessary for each additional person is smaller. For example, one computer costing $10,000 might serve the needs of a 9,000 person county or the same computer with $4,000 of additional memory might serve the needs of a 15,000 person county. Thus, the cost for the additional 6,000 people is much smaller per person.

2 Twenty-five of the 33 counties with less than 15,000 people have a sales tax in effect. Twenty-four of the 42 larger population counties have a sales tax.
V are significantly less. Group V collections per person, for example, are about two-thirds that of Group I.

Another important point is the apparent economies of size in the provision of county government services. Economies of size refer to the ability to produce a larger quantity of services at a lower cost per unit of service. That is, the larger the county size, the smaller the cost to provide an additional unit of output. For example, Group I counties spend an average $23.96 per capita on general government (Table 8). Group II supplies these services at $27.45 per capita. Groups III and IV at $15.29 and $14.19 per capita, respectively, and Group V at $12.40 per capita. Hence, the larger the county, the smaller the cost per additional citizen. (Note the assumption is made that the same or similar level of services is provided in all counties.) This economies of size characteristic is also shown for county sheriff, county treasurer, cooperative extension, county clerk, court clerk, court assessor, revaluation/visual inspection, excise/equalization board, and election expense. Total expenditures per capita range from $90.82 to $53.77 per capita (Table 8). In summary, there is strong evidence indicating the potential for cost savings through economies of size. Unfortunately, several smaller counties are losing rather than gaining population. Fortunately, new technologies are constantly being developed that may assist counties in maintaining services at reasonable cost.

The notable exception to declining cost per capita as county size increases is the county commissioners general fund budget. In this case, the cost per person is generally proportional to county size. Most likely, this reflects greater financial and economic health among larger counties. Greater health allows commissioners the freedom to pay some personnel salaries or other expenses from the general fund and have more road money to apply directly to road construction and maintenance.

Summary and Conclusions

In the current economic and institutional environment in Oklahoma, county government in smaller counties (in terms of population and taxable value) collects almost twice as much revenue per capita to finance county general fund expenditures. Larger counties benefit from economies of size in the provision of county government services. Smaller counties must rely heavily on the county sales tax to supplement property tax revenues. Larger counties with an adequate tax base (plenty of property wealth) can often avoid imposing a county sales tax on their citizens. For many smaller counties already struggling to maintain or build their economy and population, the current framework of county government finance may hinder rather than help their efforts. That is, if taxes are relatively high, businesses and industries may locate elsewhere. Also, if services are under-funded, new or expanding industries may seek another location where services are not jeopardized. Nevertheless, since county sales taxes are voted on locally, each county has some control of its own future in this regard. If citizens adopt a sales tax, it must be assumed that they are willing to pay the price in order to maintain a certain set of county government services.

§ 8. Valuation of property for taxation - Limit on percentage of fair cash value - Approval by voters.

§ 8A. Approval of exemption of household goods of heads of families and livestock employed in support of family - Adjusted millage rate - Computation procedure - Maximum rate

(a) If a county approves an exemption of household goods of the heads of families and livestock employed in support of the family from taxation pursuant to the provisions of subsection (b) of Section 6 of this article, the millage rate levied against the net taxable valuation of all property of each taxing jurisdiction located within such county levying ad valorem taxes for a general fund or a building fund shall be adjusted pursuant to the provisions of subsection (b) of this section to compensate for the potential loss of revenue to the taxing jurisdiction directly attributable to the exemption of all such property. For purposes of this section, "taxing jurisdiction" shall include, but not be limited to, counties, cities, towns, common school districts, vocational-technical school districts and any other unit of government authorized to collect ad valorem taxes from millage levied against the taxable value of property.

(b) The adjusted millage rate for a general fund or building fund of each taxing jurisdiction located within a county which exempts household goods of the heads of families and livestock employed in support of the family from ad valorem taxation pursuant to the provisions of subsection (b) of Section 6 of this Article shall be computed, for each taxing jurisdiction, by dividing the net taxable valuation of all property for the year preceding the year in which the exemption of such property becomes effective by the difference between the net taxable valuation of all property for the year preceding the year in which the exemption of such property becomes effective and the net taxable valuation of the household goods of the heads of families and livestock employed in support of the family for the year preceding the year in which the exemption of such property becomes effective. The resulting quotient shall be the millage adjustment factor, and shall be multiplied by the millage rate which would otherwise have been applied for the year in which the exemption of such property becomes effective to derive the adjusted millage rate, which shall be levied against the net taxable valuation of all property, other than the exempt property, within the jurisdiction for the year in which the exemption of household goods of the heads of families and livestock employed in support of the family becomes effective; provided, such adjusted millage rate may be increased or decreased in the manner provided by the provisions of this Article.

(c) If a county approves an exemption of household goods of the heads of families and livestock employed in support of the family from ad valorem taxation pursuant to the provisions of subsection (b) of Section 6 of this article, the maximum allowable millage for any millage levied by any taxing jurisdiction located within such county for a general fund or building fund, as prescribed by Sections 9, 9A, 9B, 9C, 9D, 10, 10A, 10B and 35 of this article or as otherwise authorized by Section 36 of Article V of the Oklahoma Constitution, shall be adjusted by multiplying such millage by the millage adjustment factor as specified in subsection (b) of this section. The resulting product shall be the adjusted maximum allowable millage for that particular millage levied by such taxing jurisdiction for a general fund or building fund.

(d) If approved by the people, this section will become effective January 1, 1993.
Despite any provision to the contrary, the fair cash value of any parcel of locally assessed real property shall not increase by more than five percent (5%) in any taxable year. The provisions of this section shall not apply in any year when title to the property is transferred, changed, or conveyed to another person, or when improvements have been made to the property. If title to the property is transferred, changed, or conveyed to another person, the property shall be assessed for that year based on the fair cash value as set forth in Section 8 of Article X of this Constitution. If any improvements are made to the property, the increased value to the property as a result of the improvement shall be assessed for that year based on the fair cash value as set forth in Section 8 of Article X of this Constitution. The provisions of this section shall be effective January 1, 1997, and thereafter for counties which are in compliance with the applicable law or administrative regulations governing valuation of locally assessed real property as of such date. For counties which are not in compliance with such laws or regulations as of January 1, 1997, the provisions of this section shall be effective January 1 of the year following the date the county is deemed to be in compliance with such laws or regulations as provided by law. The provisions of this section shall not apply to any personal property which may be taxed ad valorem or any property which may be valued or assessed by the State Board of Equalization.

The Legislature shall enact any laws necessary to implement the provisions of this section.

Historical Data

Added by State Question No. 676, Legislative Referendum No. 306, adopted at election held on Nov. 5, 1996.
Limit on fair cash value on homestead.
§ 9. Amount of ad valorem tax.

(a) Except as herein otherwise provided, the total taxes for all purposes on an ad valorem basis shall not exceed, in any taxable year, fifteen (15) mills on the dollar, no less than five (5) mills of which is hereby apportioned for school district purposes, the remainder to be apportioned between county, city, town and school district, by the County Excise Board, until such time as a regular apportionment thereof is otherwise provided for by the Legislature.

No ad valorem tax shall be levied for State purposes, nor shall any part of the proceeds of any ad valorem tax levy upon any kind of property in this State be used for State purposes.

(b) A tax of four (4) mills on the dollar valuation of all taxable property in the county shall be levied annually in each county of the State for school purposes and, until otherwise provided by law, the proceeds thereof shall be apportioned to the school districts of the county by the County Treasurer on the basis of the legal average daily attendance for the preceding school year as certified by the State Board of Education. Provided that in case a school district lies in more than one county, such district shall be deemed a school district of the county having the greater part of the area comprising such district, unless otherwise provided by law, and shall be entitled to participate in the proceeds of such tax on the same basis as districts lying wholly within such county but revenue from such tax on the assessed valuation of the district in other counties shall, when collected, be transmitted to the County Treasurer of such county having the greater part of the area comprising the district, unless otherwise provided by law, and be apportioned as hereinbefore provided for the proceeds of such tax on the assessed valuation of such county. Not to exceed seventy-five per centum (75%) of the amount received by a school district from the proceeds of such county levy in any year shall be required to finance the State guaranteed program of such district.

(c) Upon certification of a need therefor by the board of education of any school district an additional tax of not to exceed fifteen (15) mills on the dollar valuation of all taxable property in the district shall be levied for the benefit of the schools of such district.

(d) In addition to the levies hereinbefore authorized, any school district may make an emergency levy for the benefit of the schools of such district, in an amount not to exceed five (5) mills on the dollar valuation of the taxable property in such district when approved by a majority of the electors of the district voting on the question at an election called for such purpose. This emergency levy shall provide only sufficient additional revenue to meet the needs of the district each fiscal year as determined by the board of such district and must be approved by a majority of the electors voting on said question at such an election for each fiscal year.

(d-1) In addition to the levies hereinbefore authorized, any school district may make a local support levy for the benefit of the schools of such district, in an amount not to exceed ten (10) mills on the dollar valuation of the taxable property in such district, when approved by a majority of the ad valorem taxpaying voters voting on said question at an election for each fiscal year called for such purposes. This local support levy shall provide only sufficient additional revenue to meet the needs of the district for each such fiscal year as determined by the board of such district; provided, an elector desiring to vote upon such local support levy must present an ad valorem tax receipt for the year immediately preceding before being issued a ballot, or sign a sworn affidavit certifying the fact of such payment.

(e) The amount of revenue from school district ad valorem taxes levied under (a) and (c) of this Section which any school district may be required to use to finance its State guaranteed program shall not be in excess of its share, based upon its relative taxpaying ability as may be defined by law, of an amount equivalent to the net proceeds from a fifteen (15) mill tax levy on the aggregate net assessed valuation of the State; but until such relative taxpaying ability is defined by the Legislature, the amount of revenue from such taxes which any school district may be required to use to finance its State guaranteed program shall not be in excess of the net proceeds from an ad valorem tax levy of fifteen (15) mills on the dollar net assessed valuation of the district. No part of the proceeds from any ad valorem levy for emergency levy and local support levy under (d) and (d-1) of this Section shall be required to finance the State guaranteed program of such district.

Nothing in the amendments to the Constitution incorporated herein shall be construed to amend, alter or supersede the present application of Article XII-A, Sections 1 and 2 of the Oklahoma Constitution.

(f) Should the amendment contained in subsection (d-1) hereof be adopted on September 14, 1965, the school board of any school district in the State may within ten (10) days thereafter file with the Excise Board of the county a supplemental estimate of needs and call a special election within fifteen (15) days after such call upon the new local support levy or emergency levy if not previously submitted, or both. The school board shall advertise notice of such election by publication in at least one issue of a newspaper having general circulation in the school district, or by posting in five public places in the district at least five (5) days before such election. Should the electors of the school district vote such additional levy in such election, the County Excise Board shall forthwith compute the levy and certify appropriations for all affected school districts and refile the budgets with the County Clerk and with the State Auditor. Notice of the filing of said budget shall be given as required by law. The forty (40) day protest period shall begin immediately upon the filing of said budgets.

For the fiscal year 1965-66, the Excise Board of each county shall not finally compute the levy nor certify the appropriations for the school districts of the State until after the school district shall have had the opportunity to hold a special election as provided herein.

Temporary appropriations, up to forty per centum (40%) of the estimated funds needed by the school board of any district in the State for the fiscal year 1965-66, may be approved any time after the beginning of such fiscal year.

Upon the computation of the levy and certification of appropriations by the Excise Board, the County Assessor shall prepare or revise the tax rolls and deliver the same to the County Treasurer who shall proceed with the collection of the taxes as required by law.

Should it become necessary, because of the delay in computing levies and certifying appropriations as herein provided, the Governor may, by executive order, extend the time when taxes will be delinquent for the year of 1965, and that year only. Such extension of time shall be for the minimum time necessary to permit the County Assessor and County Treasurer to perform their duties as required by law.
§ 9A. Additional county ad valorem tax levy for department of health.

For the purpose of maintaining or aiding in maintaining a department of health within any county of the State, an additional levy not to exceed two and one-half mills on the dollar of the assessed valuation of the county may be levied annually, when such levy is approved by a majority of the qualified ad valorem tax paying voters of the county, voting on the question at an election called for such purpose by the Board of County Commissioners, or by initiative petition by voters of a county. A maximum levy of two and one-half mills may be made for such purpose after such approval until repealed by a majority of the qualified ad valorem tax paying voters of the county, voting on the question at an election called for such purpose by the Board of County Commissioners, or by initiative petition by voters of a county. Such department of health may be maintained jointly or in conjunction with one or more counties, cities, towns or school districts, or any combination thereof, and shall be maintained as now or hereafter provided by law. Nothing herein shall prohibit other levies or the use of other public funds for such department of health.
A. Technology center school districts for technology center schools may be established and a levy of not to exceed five (5) mills on the dollar valuation of the taxable property in any technology center school district so established may be made annually, for the district, when the levy is approved by a majority of the electors of the technology center school district, voting on the question at an election called for that purpose. The levy shall be in addition to all other levies authorized by this Constitution, and when approved, shall be made each fiscal year thereafter until repealed by a majority of the electors of the technology center school district, voting on the question at an election called for that purpose. Any technology center school district so established shall be considered as a school district for the purposes of Sections 10 and 26 of this Article. The administrative control and direction of the technology center school district shall be vested in a school board which shall be constituted and empowered as provided for by law for school boards of independent school districts. Provisions of other subsections of this section notwithstanding, in any case where a college technology center school district recognized pursuant to Section 4423 of Title 70 of the Oklahoma Statutes and established by vote of the people after December 31, 1968, overlaps and includes territory which is included within the district of a technology center school established as prescribed by the State Board of Career and Technology Education pursuant to Section 14-108 of Title 70 of the Oklahoma Statutes, only the levies made by the college technology center school district shall be applied to said overlap territory, and revenues from the overlap area collected pursuant to any incentive levy so made shall be apportioned one-half to the college technology center school district making the levy and one-half to the overlapped technology center school district. In any case where a college technology center school district recognized pursuant to Section 4420.1 of Title 70 of the Oklahoma Statutes overlaps and includes territory which is included within the district of a technology center school established as prescribed by the State Board of Career and Technology Education pursuant to Section 14-108 of Title 70 of the Oklahoma Statutes, said overlap territory shall be subject to all levies of both kinds of districts that are approved by a majority of the electors.

B. In addition to any other levies authorized by this section, a technology center school district may make a local incentive levy for the benefit of the technology center school district in an amount not to exceed five (5) mills on the dollar valuation of the taxable property in the technology center school district when approved by a majority of those registered voters of the technology center school district voting on the question at an election called for that purpose. Except as otherwise provided, this levy, when approved, shall be made each fiscal year thereafter until repealed by a majority of the electors of the technology center school district voting on the question at an election called for that purpose. A technology center school district which has previously failed to approve a local incentive levy at two consecutive elections held between January 1, 1994 and May 31, 1994 may make a local incentive levy for the benefit of the technology center school district only if approved by a majority of the registered voters of the technology center school district voting on said question at such an election for each fiscal year. If a majority of voters approve the local incentive levy for three (3) consecutive years, the levy approved on the third year shall be made each fiscal year thereafter until repealed by a majority of the electors of the technology center school district voting on the question at an election called for that purpose.

C. Upon the establishment of technology center school districts, such districts are authorized to become indebted separate and apart from the indebtedness of any school district included in the technology center school district up to five percent (5%) of the net valuation of taxable property within the technology center school district for capital improvements, including purchasing sites and constructing, purchasing, improving, and equipping real property and buildings when the indebtedness is approved by a majority of the electors of the technology center school district voting on the question in an election called for that purpose.

D. Until otherwise provided for by law, technology center school districts and the government thereof shall be established in accordance with criteria and procedures prescribed by the State Board of Career and Technology Education.

E. The Legislature may alter, amend, delete, or add to the provisions of this section by law.

Historical Data

Amended by Laws 2001, HB 1214 c. 33 § 183, emerg. eff. April 9, 2001 (superseded document available).
§ 9C. Emergency Medical Service Districts

(a) The board of county commissioners, or boards if more than one county is involved, may call a special election to determine whether or not an ambulance service district shall be formed. An election shall also be called by the board or boards involved upon petition signed by not less than ten percent (10%) of the registered voters of the area affected. Said area may embrace a county, a part thereof, or more than one county or parts thereof, and in the event the area covers only a part or parts of one or more counties, the area must follow school district boundary lines. All registered voters in such area shall be entitled to vote, as to whether or not such district shall be formed, and at the same time and in the same question authorize a tax levy not to exceed three (3) mills for the purpose of providing funds for the purpose of support, organization, operation and maintenance of district ambulance services, known as emergency medical service districts and hereinafter referred to as "districts." If the formation of the district and the mill levy is approved by a majority of the votes cast, a special annual recurring ad valorem tax levy of not more than three (3) mills on the dollar of the assessed valuation of all taxable property in the district shall be levied. The number of mills shall be set forth in the election proclamation, and may be increased in a later election, not to exceed a total levy of three (3) mills. This special levy shall be in addition to all other levies and when authorized shall be made each fiscal year thereafter.

Each district which is herein authorized, or established, shall have a board of trustees composed of not less than five members. Such trustees shall be chosen jointly by the board or boards of county commissioners, provided that such membership shall be composed of not less than one individual from each county or part thereof which is included in said district.

Original members of the board of trustees shall hold office, as follows: At the first meeting of said board, board members shall draw lots to determine each trustee's original length of term in office. The number of lots to be provided shall be equal to the number of original members of the board, and lots shall be numbered sequentially from one through five, with lots in excess of the fifth lot being also numbered sequentially from one through five until all lots are numbered. Each original member or members added by an expansion area of the board shall hold office for the number of years indicated on his or her lot. Each year, as necessary, the board or boards of county commissioners shall appoint successors to such members of the board of trustees whose terms have expired, and such subsequent appointments shall be for terms of five (5) years.

Such board of trustees shall have the power and duty to promulgate and adopt such rules, procedures and contract provisions necessary to carry out the purposes and objectives of these provisions, and shall individually post such bond as required by the county commissioners, which shall not be less than Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00).

The district board of trustees shall have the additional powers to hire a manager and appropriate personnel, contract, organize, maintain or otherwise operate the emergency medical services within said district and such additional powers as may be authorized by the Legislature.

(b) Any district board of trustees may issue bonds, if approved by a majority vote at a special election for such purpose. All registered voters within the designated district shall have the right to vote in said election. Such bonds shall be issued for the purpose of acquiring emergency vehicles and other equipment and maintaining and housing the same.

c) The bonds authorized above shall not bear interest at a greater rate than that authorized by statute for the issuance of city municipal bonds. Such bonds shall be sold only at public sale after twenty (20) days' advertisement in a newspaper for publication of legal notices with circulation in the district. Any district may refund its bonds as is now provided by law for refunding municipal bonds.

d) Any district board of trustees, upon issuing bonds as authorized in subsection (b) of this section, shall levy a special annual ad valorem tax upon the property within the district, payable annually, in a total amount not to exceed three (3) mills on the dollar, on the real and personal taxable property in such district, for the payment of principal and interest on outstanding bonds, until same are paid. However, the trustees may, from time to time, suspend the collection of such annual levy when not required for the payment of the bonds. In no event shall the real and personal taxable property in any city or town be subject to a special tax in excess of three (3) mills for the payment of bonds issued hereunder. (e) There may also be pledged to the payment of principal and interest of the bonds herein authorized to be issued:
(1) any net proceeds from operation of the district that the board of trustees of the district shall deem not necessary to the future operation and maintenance of said emergency medical service; or (2) any monies available from other funds of the district not otherwise obligated.

(f) Bonds shall be issued for designated sums with serial numbers thereon and maturing annually after three (3) years from date of issue. All bonds and interest thereon shall be paid upon maturity and no bonds shall be issued for a period longer than thirty (30) years. Any district board of trustees may in its discretion schedule the payment of principal over the thirty-year period so that when interest is added there will be approximately level annual payments of principal and interest.

(g) In the event the mill levy as set forth in the original election proclamation is less than three (3) mills, the board of trustees may request the county commissioners to call a subsequent election to consider increasing the mill levy; provided, however, the total levy authorized by subsection (a) hereof shall not exceed three (3) mills.

(h) The board of trustees of any district shall have jurisdiction over the sale or refunding of any bonds issued by the district and shall be responsible for the economical expenditure of the funds derived from the bonds.

(i) Such districts shall be empowered to charge fees for services, and accept gifts, funds or grants from sources other than the mill levy, which shall be used and accounted for in a like manner. Persons served outside the district shall be charged an amount equal to the actual costs for the service, not taking into account any income the district receives from millage or sources within the district. The board of trustees shall have legal authority to bring suits necessary to collect accounts owed and to sue and defend as necessary for the protection of the board. The State Examiner and Inspector shall conduct an annual audit of the operations of such districts.

(j) Any emergency medical service district may expand to include other counties or parts thereof, provided that an election is called by the county commissioners whose county or counties, or parts thereof, are to be added to in the established district; and provided further, that the county commissioners in the original district concur in the calling of said election. The proposed expansion area shall only be added to the original district if approved separately by a majority vote, by the voters in both the original district and in the expansion area, at an election called for that purpose. The county in which the expansion area is located shall have not less than one member on the board of trustees. Appropriate millage or other approved method of financial support shall be levied in the expansion area, when said area is added to the original district which millage shall be levied at the rate used to cover operational costs and outstanding bonded indebtedness as provided in Section 9C, (d) and (e), Article X.
(k) Any district may be dissolved, or the millage levy changed, by a majority vote of the registered voters voting at an election called for that purpose by the county commissioners of each county or part thereof included within the district; provided that such an election shall not be called unless either three-fifths (3/5) of the trustees of such district request the county commissioners to call such an election, or the respective county commissioners are presented a petition signed by not less than twenty percent (20%) of all registered voters in the district.

(l) In the event a district is dissolved, any mill levy used to support, organize, operate and maintain the emergency medical service district shall cease, provided that such mill levy shall not cease until all outstanding emergency medical service bonds of that district are retired and all other debts incurred by the emergency medical service district have been satisfied.

(m) All elections called under the provisions hereof shall be conducted by the county election board or boards of each county or counties involved, upon receipt of an election proclamation, issued by a majority of the board or boards of county commissioners in the area affected. In the event more than one county is involved, said proclamation must be a joint proclamation from a majority of the board of county commissioners of each county involved. Said proclamation shall be published in one issue of a newspaper of general circulation in each county involved in the area affected at least ten (10) days prior to said election, and said proclamation shall set forth the purpose of the election, and the date thereof. The county election board or boards shall certify the results of an election to the board or boards issuing such proclamation.

(n) The board of any district shall have capacity to sue and be sued. Provided, however, the board shall enjoy immunity from civil suit for actions or omissions arising from the operation of the district, so long as, and to the same extent as, municipalities and counties within the state enjoy such immunity.

(o) In lieu of proceeding to establish a district as outlined hereinabove through the county commissioners, the governing body of any incorporated city or town may proceed to form a district, join an existing district or join with other incorporated cities or towns in forming a district. In such case, said governing body shall be considered as being substituted as to the powers and duties of said county commissioners as set forth hereinabove; provided, further, said city or town shall be considered as being substituted as to the powers and duties of a district formed, as set forth hereinabove. All rights, duties, privileges and obligations of the residents and voters in such city or town shall be the same as those outlined for the district as set forth above.
§ 9D. Solid waste management services.

A. The board of county commissioners of any county may call a special election to determine whether or not the board shall provide solid waste management services for the county. An election shall also be called by the board upon petition signed by not less than ten percent (10%) of the registered voters of the county. All registered voters in such county shall be entitled to vote, as to whether or not such services shall be provided, and at the same time and in the same question authorize a tax levy of not to exceed three (3) mills for the purpose of providing funds for the purpose of support, organization, operation and maintenance of such services. If the provision of the services and the mill levy is approved by a majority of the votes cast, a special annual recurring ad valorem tax levy of not more than three (3) mills on the dollar of the assessed valuation of all taxable property in the county shall be levied. The number of mills shall be set forth in the election proclamation, and may be increased in a later election, not to exceed a total levy of three (3) mills. This special levy shall be in addition to all other levies and when authorized shall be made each fiscal year thereafter.

B. Upon passage of the question, the board of county commissioners shall provide solid waste management services for county residents and businesses. The board may provide for one or more disposal facilities and for solid waste collection services. The board may purchase landfill sites, construct and operate landfills and transfer stations and other solid waste disposal and handling facilities. The board shall provide a solid waste disposal and collection system for the county, using the funds available from the millage levy and any service charges the board may assess. The board may purchase, operate, and maintain vehicles for curbside or roadside solid waste collection. In rural areas where curbside collection services may not be economically feasible, the board may construct and operate transfer stations for areawide collection and transfer of solid waste to ultimate disposal sites.

C. The board of county commissioners of a county in which the question has passed shall have the power and duty to promulgate and adopt such rules, procedures and contract provisions necessary to implement the purposes and objectives of this section. The board of county commissioners shall have the additional powers to hire a manager and appropriate personnel, contract, organize, maintain or otherwise operate the solid waste management services within said county and such additional powers as may be authorized by the Legislature.

D. Two or more counties in which the question has passed may enter into agreements with each other to provide solid waste management services in all counties involved in the most economical fashion, including agreements to provide collection and disposal services for each other where areas in one county may be more economically served by facilities located in another county.

E. In addition to other powers provided for pursuant to the provisions of this section, the board of county commissioners of any county in which the question has passed may issue bonds, if approved by a majority vote at a special election for such purpose. All registered voters within the county shall have the right to vote in said election. Such bonds may be issued for the purpose of:

1. acquiring vehicles, equipment and other necessary items;
2. purchasing landfill sites;

3. constructing landfills, transfer stations, or other facilities for solid waste management, disposal, and recycling; and

4. operating and maintaining all of the above listed items.

Landfill sites, equipment and other items, no longer needed, shall be disposed of as provided for by law for the sale of county-owned property.

F. The bonds authorized, pursuant to the provisions of subsection E of this section shall not bear interest at a greater rate than that authorized by statute for the issuance of city municipal bonds. Such bonds shall be sold only at public sale after twenty (20) days' advertisement in a newspaper of general circulation in the county. Any county may refund its bonds as is now provided by law for refunding municipal bonds.

G. Any board of county commissioners, upon issuing bonds as authorized in subsection E of this section, shall levy a special annual ad valorem tax upon the property within the county, payable annually, in a total amount not to exceed three (3) mills on the dollar, on the real and personal taxable property in such county, for the payment of principal and interest on outstanding bonds, until same are paid. However, the board may suspend, from time to time, the collection of such annual levy when not required for the payment of the bonds.

H. There may also be pledged to the payment of principal and interest of the bonds authorized to be issued:

1. any net proceeds from operation of the county solid waste management services that the board of county commissioners shall deem not necessary to the future operation, maintenance or closure of said solid waste management services and facilities; or

2. any monies available from other funds of the county not otherwise obligated.

I. Bonds shall be issued for designated sums with interest payable semiannually and with the principal maturing annually beginning not more than three (3) years from date of issue. All bonds and interest thereon shall be paid upon maturity and no bonds shall be issued for a period longer than thirty (30) years. Any board of county commissioners may in its discretion schedule the payment of principal over the period of maturity of the bond issue, so that when interest is added there will be approximately level annual payments of principal and interest.

J. In the event the mill levy as provided for in the original election proclamation is less than three (3) mills, the board of county commissioners may call a subsequent election to consider increasing the mill levy; provided, however, the total levy authorized by subsection A of this section shall not exceed three (3) mills.

K. The board of county commissioners shall have jurisdiction over the sale or refunding of any bonds issued by the county pursuant to the provisions hereof, and shall be responsible for the economical expenditure of the funds derived from the bonds.

L. The board of county commissioners shall be empowered to charge fees for services, and accept gifts, funds or grants from sources other than the mill levy, which shall be used and accounted for in a like manner. Persons served outside the county shall be charged an amount equal to the actual costs for providing the service, not taking into account any income the county receives from millage or sources within the county. The board shall have legal authority to bring such suits necessary to collect accounts owed and to sue and defend as necessary for the protection of the board. The State Auditor and Inspector shall conduct an annual audit of the solid waste management operations of such counties.

M. Any county may cease providing solid waste management services, or cause the millage levy authorized by subsection G of this section to be changed, by a majority vote of the registered voters voting at an election called for that purpose by the board of county commissioners. Such an election shall not be called unless either two-thirds (2/3) of the board members vote to call such an election, or the board is presented a petition signed by not less than twenty percent (20%) of all registered voters in the county.

N. If a county ceases to provide solid waste management services, any mill levy used to support, organize, operate and maintain the services and facilities shall cease, provided that such mill levy shall not cease until all outstanding solid waste management services bonds of that county are retired, all other debts incurred by the county in providing solid waste management services have been satisfied, and all facilities have been properly closed as provided for by law.

O. All elections called pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be conducted by the county election board of each county involved, upon receipt of an election proclamation, issued by the board of county commissioners in the county affected. Said proclamation shall be published in one issue of a newspaper of general circulation in the county at least ten (10) days prior to said election. The proclamation shall set forth the purpose of the election, and the date thereof. The county election board shall certify the results of the election to the board issuing the proclamation.
§ 10. Increased rate for public buildings or for building fund for school districts.

For the purpose of erecting public buildings in counties or cities, or for the purpose of raising money for a building fund for a school district which may be used for erecting, remodeling or repairing school buildings, and for purchasing furniture, the rates of taxation herein limited may be increased, when the rate of such increase and the purpose for which it is intended shall have been submitted to a vote of the people, and a majority of the qualified voters of such county, city, or school district, voting at such election, shall vote therefor: Provided, that such increase shall not exceed five (5) mills on the dollar of the assessed value of the taxable property in such county, city, or school district.
§ 10A. Tax levy for cooperative county libraries and joint city-county libraries.

To provide funds for the purpose of establishing and maintaining or aiding in establishing and maintaining public libraries and library services, a special annual recurring ad valorem tax shall be levied when such levy is approved by a majority vote of the qualified electors of the county voting on the question at an election called for that purpose by the Board of County Commissioners, either upon its own initiative or upon petition initiated by not less than ten percent (10%) of the qualified electors of the county based on the total number of votes cast at the last general election for the county office receiving the highest number of votes at such an election.

Except as provided in this section, in a county having less than one hundred fifty thousand (150,000) population, according to the most recent Federal Decennial Census, the special annual recurring ad valorem tax levy shall be not less than one (1) mill nor more than four (4) mills on the dollar of the assessed valuation of all taxable property in the county. In a county having more than one hundred fifty thousand (150,000) population or in a multicounty library system with a county having more than one hundred fifty thousand (150,000) population, according to the most recent Federal Decennial Census, the special annual recurring ad valorem tax levy for each such county shall be not less than one (1) mill nor more than six (6) mill on the dollar of the assessed valuation of all taxable property in the county.

This special levy shall be in addition to all other levies and when authorized shall be made each fiscal year thereafter until such authority shall be cancelled by a majority vote of the qualified electors of the county voting on the question at an election called for that purpose by the Board of County Commissioners upon petition initiated by not less than twenty percent (20%) of the qualified electors of the county based on the total numbers of votes cast at the last general election for the county office receiving the highest number of votes at such an election.

The proceeds of such levy shall be used by the county for creation, development, operation and maintenance of such public libraries and library services as are authorized by the Legislature. Nothing herein shall prohibit other levies for public libraries and library services or the use of other public funds for such purposes. All expenditures of the proceeds of such levies shall be made in accordance with laws heretofore or hereafter enacted concerning such libraries and library services. The provisions hereof shall be self-executing.

Historical Data

A. A municipal governing body may cause property within the municipal limits to be cleaned of trash and weeds or grass to be cut or mowed in accordance with the following procedure:

1. At least ten (10) days' notice shall be given to the owner of the property by mail at the address shown by the current year's tax rolls in the county treasurer's office before the governing body holds a hearing or takes action. The notice shall order the property owner to clean the property of trash, or to cut or mow the weeds or grass on the property, as appropriate, and the notice shall further state that unless such work is performed within ten (10) days of the date of the notice the work shall be done by the municipality and a notice of lien shall be filed with the county clerk against the property for the costs due and owing the municipality. At the time of mailing of notice to the property owner, the municipality shall obtain a receipt of mailing from the postal service, which receipt shall indicate the date of mailing and the name and address of the mailee. However, if the property owner cannot be located within ten (10) days from the date of mailing by the municipal governing body, notice may be given by posting a copy of the notice on the property or by publication, as defined in Section 1-102 of this title, one time not less than ten (10) days prior to any hearing or action by the municipality. If a municipal governing body anticipates summary abatement of a nuisance in accordance with the provisions of subsection B of this section, the notice, whether by mail, posting or publication, shall state: that any accumulations of trash or excessive weed or growth on the owner's property occurring within six (6) months from and after the date of this notice may be summarily abated by the municipal governing body; that the costs of such abatement shall be assessed against the owner; and that a lien may be imposed on the property to secure such payment, all without further prior notice to the property owner;

2. The owner of the property may give written consent to the municipality authorizing the removal of the trash or the mowing of the weeds or grass. By giving written consent, the owner waives the owner's right to a hearing by the municipality;

3. A hearing may be held by the municipal governing body to determine whether the accumulation of trash or the growth of weeds or grass has caused the property to become detrimental to the health, benefit, and welfare of the public and the community or a hazard to traffic, or creates a fire hazard to the danger of property;

4. Upon a finding that the condition of the property constitutes a detriment or hazard, and that the property would be benefited by the removal of such conditions, the agents of the municipality are granted the right of entry on the property for the removal of trash, mowing of weeds or grass, and performance of the necessary duties as a governmental function of the municipality. Immediately following the cleaning or mowing of the property, the municipal clerk shall file a notice of lien with the county clerk describing the property and the work performed by the municipality, and stating that the municipality claims a lien on the property for the cleaning or mowing costs;

5. The governing body shall determine the actual cost of such cleaning and mowing and any other expenses as may be necessary in connection therewith, including the cost of notice and mailing. The municipal clerk shall forward by mail to the property owner specified in paragraph 1 of this subsection a statement of such actual cost and demanding payment. If the cleaning and mowing are done by the municipality, the cost to the property owner for the cleaning and mowing shall not exceed the actual cost of the labor, maintenance, and equipment required. If the cleaning and mowing are done on a private contract basis, the contract shall be awarded to the lowest and best bidder;

6. If payment is not made within thirty (30) days from the date of the mailing of the statement, the municipal clerk shall forward a certified statement of the amount of the cost to the county treasurer of the county in which the property is located and the same shall be levied on the property and collected by the county treasurer as other taxes authorized by law. Once certified by the county treasurer, payment may only be made to the county treasurer except as otherwise provided for in this section. Until fully paid, the cost and the interest thereon shall be the personal obligation of the property owner from and after the date the cost is certified to the county treasurer. In addition the cost and the interest thereon shall be a lien against the property from the date the cost is certified to the county treasurer, coequal with the lien of ad valorem taxes and all other taxes and special assessments and prior and superior to all other titles and liens against the property, and the lien shall continue until the cost shall be fully paid. At the time of collection the county treasurer shall collect a fee of Five Dollars ($5.00) for each parcel of property. The fee shall be deposited to the credit of the general fund of the county. If the county treasurer and the municipality agree that the county treasurer is unable to collect the assessment, the municipality may pursue a civil remedy for collection of the amount owing and interest thereon by an action in personam against the property owner and an action in rem to foreclose its lien against the property. A mineral interest, if severed from the surface interest and not owned by the surface owner, shall not be subject to any tax or judgment lien created pursuant to this section. Upon receiving payment, if any, the municipal clerk shall forward to the county treasurer a notice of such payment and directing discharge of the lien;
and

7. The municipality may designate by ordinance an administrative officer or administrative body to carry out the duties of the governing body in subsection A of this section. The property owner shall have a right of appeal to the municipal governing body from any order of the administrative officer or administrative body. Such appeal shall be taken by filing written notice of appeal with the municipal clerk within ten (10) days after the administrative order is rendered.

B. If a notice is given by a municipal governing body to a property owner ordering the property within the municipal limits to be cleaned of trash and weeds or grass to be cut or mowed in accordance with the procedures provided for in subsection A of this section, any subsequent accumulations of trash or excessive weed or grass growth on the property occurring within a six-month period may be declared to be a nuisance and may be summarily abated without further prior notice to the property owner. At the time of each such summary abatement the municipality shall notify the property owner of the abatement and the costs thereof. The notice shall state that the property owner may request a hearing within ten (10) days after the date of mailing the notice. The notice and hearing shall be as provided for in subsection A of this section. Unless otherwise determined at the hearing the cost of such abatement shall be determined and collected as provided for in paragraphs 5 and 6 of subsection A of this section. This subsection shall not apply if the records of the county clerk show that the property was transferred after notice was given pursuant to subsection A of this section.

C. The municipal governing body may enact ordinances to prohibit owners of property or persons otherwise in possession or control located within the municipal limits from allowing trash to accumulate, or weeds to grow or stand upon the premises and may impose penalties for violation of said ordinances.

D. As used in this section:

1. "Weed" includes but is not limited to poison ivy, poison oak, or poison sumac and all vegetation at any state of maturity which:
a. exceeds twelve (12) inches in height, except healthy trees, shrubs, or produce for human consumption grown in a tended and cultivated garden unless such trees and shrubbery by their density or location constitute a detriment to the health, benefit and welfare of the public and community or a hazard to traffic or create a fire hazard to the property or otherwise interfere with the mowing of said weeds;

b. regardless of height, harbors, conceals, or invites deposits or accumulation of refuse or trash;

c. harbors rodents or vermin;

d. gives off unpleasant or noxious odors;

e. constitutes a fire or traffic hazard; or

f. is dead or diseased.

The term "weed" shall not include tended crops on land zoned for agricultural use which are planted more than one hundred fifty (150) feet from a parcel zoned for other than agricultural use.

2. "Trash" means any refuse, litter, ashes, leaves, debris, paper, combustible materials, rubbish, offal, or waste, or matter of any kind or form which is uncared for, discarded, or abandoned.

3. "Owner" means the owner of record as shown by the most current tax rolls of the county treasurer.

4. "Cleaning" means the removal of trash from property.

E. The provisions of this section shall not apply to any property zoned and used for agricultural purposes or to railroad property under the jurisdiction of the Oklahoma Corporation Commission. However, a municipal governing body may cause the removal of weeds or trash from property zoned and used for agricultural purposes pursuant to the provisions of this section but only if such weeds or trash pose a hazard to traffic and are located in, or within ten (10) yards of, the public right-of-way at intersections.

Historical Data

A. A municipal governing body may cause dilapidated buildings within the municipal limits to be torn down and removed in accordance with the following procedures:

1. At least ten (10) days’ notice that a building is to be torn down or removed shall be given to the owner of the property before the governing body holds a hearing. A copy of the notice shall be posted on the property to be affected. In addition, a copy of the notice shall be sent by mail to the property owner at the address shown by the current year’s tax rolls in the office of the county treasurer. Written notice shall also be mailed to any mortgage holder as shown by the records in the office of the county clerk to the last-known address of the mortgagee. At the time of mailing of notice to any property owner or mortgage holder, the municipality shall obtain a receipt of mailing from the postal service, which receipt shall indicate the date of mailing and the name and address of the mailee. However, if neither the property owner nor mortgage holder can be located, notice may be given by posting a copy of the notice on the property, or by publication as defined in Section 1-102 of this title. The notice may be published once not less than ten (10) days prior to any hearing or action by the municipality pursuant to the provisions of this section;

2. A hearing shall be held by the governing body to determine if the property is dilapidated and has become detrimental to the health, safety, or welfare of the general public and the community, or if the property creates a fire hazard which is dangerous to other property;

3. Pursuant to a finding that the condition of the property constitutes a detriment or a hazard and that the property would be benefited by the removal of such conditions, the governing body may cause the dilapidated building to be torn down and removed. The governing body shall fix reasonable dates for the commencement and completion of the work. The municipal clerk shall immediately file a notice of dilapidation and lien with the county clerk describing the property, the findings of the municipality at the hearing, and stating that the municipality claims a lien on the property for the destruction and removal costs and that such costs are the personal obligation of the property owner from and after the date of filing of the notice. The agents of the municipality are granted the right of entry on the property for the performance of the necessary duties as a governmental function of the municipality if the work is not performed by the property owner within dates fixed by the governing body;

4. The governing body shall determine the actual cost of the dismantling and removal of dilapidated buildings and any other expenses that may be necessary in conjunction with the dismantling and removal of the buildings, including the cost of notice and mailing. The municipal clerk shall forward a statement of the actual cost attributable to the dismantling and removal of the buildings and a demand for payment of such costs, by mail to the property owner. In addition, a copy of the statement shall be mailed to any mortgage holder at the address provided for in paragraph 1 of this subsection. At the time of mailing of the statement of costs to any property owner or mortgage holder, the municipality shall obtain a receipt of mailing from the postal service, which receipt shall indicate the date of mailing and the name and address of the mailee. If a municipality dismantles or removes any dilapidated buildings, the cost to the property owner shall not exceed the actual cost of the labor, maintenance, and equipment required for the dismantling and removal of the dilapidated buildings. If dismantling and removal of the dilapidated buildings is done on a private contract basis, the contract shall be awarded to the lowest and best bidder; and

5. When payment is made to the municipality for costs incurred, the municipal clerk shall file a release of lien, but if payment attributable to the actual cost of the dismantling and removal of the buildings is not made within six (6) months from the date of the mailing of the statement to the owner of such property, the municipal clerk shall forward a certified statement of the amount of the cost to the county treasurer of the county in which the property is located. Once certified to the county treasurer, payment may only be made to the county treasurer except as otherwise provided for in this section. The costs shall be levied on the property and collected by the county treasurer as are other taxes authorized by law. Until finally paid, the costs and the interest thereon shall be the personal obligation of the property owner from and after the date of the notice of dilapidation and lien is filed with the county clerk. In addition the cost and the interest thereon shall be a lien against the property from the date the notice of the lien is filed with the county clerk. The lien shall be coequal with the lien of ad valorem taxes and all other taxes and special assessments and shall be prior and superior to all other titles and liens against the property. The lien shall continue until the cost is fully paid. At the time of collection, the county treasurer shall collect a fee of Five Dollars ($5.00) for each parcel of property. The fee shall be deposited to the credit of the general fund of the county. If the county treasurer and the municipality agree that the county treasurer is unable to collect the assessment, the municipality may pursue a civil remedy for collection of the amount owing and interest thereon including an action in personam against the property owner and an action in rem to foreclose its lien against the property. A mineral interest, if severed from the surface interest and not owned by the surface owner, shall not be subject to any tax or judgment lien created pursuant to this section. Upon receiving payment, the municipal clerk shall forward to the county treasurer a notice of such payment and shall direct discharge of the lien.

B. The municipality may designate, by ordinance, an administrative officer or administrative body to carry out the duties of the governing body specified in this section. The property owner shall have the right of appeal to the municipal governing body from any order of the administrative officer or administrative body. Such appeal shall be taken by filing written notice of appeal with the municipal clerk within ten (10) days after the administrative order is rendered.

C. For the purposes of this section:

1. "Dilapidated building" means:

   a. a structure which through neglect or injury lacks necessary repairs or otherwise is in a state of decay or partial ruin to such an extent that the structure is a hazard to the health, safety, or welfare of the general public,

   b. a structure which is unfit for human occupancy due to the lack of necessary repairs and is considered uninhabitable or is a hazard to the health, safety, and welfare of the general public,

   c. a structure which is determined by the municipal governing body or administrative officer of the municipal governing body to be an unsecured building, as defined by Section 22-112.1 of this title, more than three times within any twelve-month period,
d. a structure which has been boarded and secured, as defined by Section 22-112.1 of this title, for more than thirty-six (36) consecutive months, or

e. a structure declared by the municipal governing body to constitute a public nuisance; and

2. "Owner" means the owner of record as shown by the most current tax rolls of the county treasurer.

D. Nothing in the provisions of this section shall prevent the municipality from abating a dilapidated building as a nuisance or otherwise exercising its police power to protect the health, safety, or welfare of the general public.

E. The officers, employees or agents of the municipality shall not be liable for any damages or loss of property due to the removal of dilapidated buildings performed pursuant to the provisions of this section or as otherwise prescribed by law.

F. The provisions of this section shall not apply to any property zoned and used for agricultural purposes.

Historical Data

A. After a building has been declared dilapidated, as provided in Section 22-112 of this title, and before the commencement of the tearing and removal of a dilapidated building, the governing body of any municipality may authorize that such a building be boarded and secured. However, if the dilapidated building is vacant and unfit for human occupancy, the governing body of any municipality may authorize the structure to be demolished pursuant to Section 22-112 of this title.

B. A governing body of any municipality may cause the premises on which an unsecured building is located to be cleaned of trash and weeds in accordance with the provisions of Section 22-111 of this title.

C. A governing body of any municipality may cause an unsecured building to be boarded and secured in accordance with the following procedures:

1. Before the governing body orders such action, at least ten (10) days’ notice that such unsecured building is to be boarded and secured shall be given by mail to any property owners and mortgage holders as provided in Section 22-112 of this title. At the time of mailing of notice to any property owner or mortgage holder, the municipality shall obtain a receipt of mailing from the postal service, which receipt shall indicate the date of mailing and the name and address of the mailee. A copy of the notice shall also be posted on the property to be affected. However, if neither the property owner nor mortgage holder can be located, notice may be given by posting a copy of the notice on the property or by publication as defined in Section 1-102 of this title. Such notice shall be published one time, not less than ten (10) days prior to any hearing or action by the municipality pursuant to the provisions of this section. If a municipal governing body anticipates summary abatement of a nuisance in accordance with the provisions of paragraph 9 of this subsection, the notice shall state: that any subsequent need for boarding and securing the building within a six-month period after the initial boarding and securing of the building pursuant to such notice may be summarily boarded and secured by the municipal governing body; that the costs of such boarding and securing shall be assessed against the owner; and that a lien may be imposed on the property to secure such payment, all without further prior notice to the property owner or mortgage holder;

2. The owner of the property may give written consent to the municipality authorizing the boarding and securing of such unsecured building and to the payment of any costs incurred thereby. By giving written consent, the owner waives any right the owner has to a hearing by the municipal governing body;

3. If the property owner does not give written consent to such actions, a hearing may be held by the municipal governing body to determine whether the boarding and securing of such unsecured building would promote and benefit the public health, safety or welfare. Such hearing may be held in conjunction with a hearing on the accumulation of trash or the growth of weeds or grass on the premises of such unsecured building held pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 3 of subsection A of Section 22-111 of this title. In making such determination, the governing body shall apply the following standard: the governing body may order the boarding and securing of the unsecured building when the boarding and securing thereof would make such building less available for transient occupation, decrease a fire hazard created by such building, or decrease the hazard that such building would constitute an attractive nuisance to children.

Upon making the required determination, the municipal governing body may order the boarding and securing of the unsecured building;

4. After the governing body orders the boarding and securing of such unsecured building, the municipal clerk shall immediately file a notice of unsecured building and lien with the county clerk describing the property, stating the findings of the municipality at the hearing at which such building was determined to be unsecured, and stating that the municipality claims a lien on the property for the costs of boarding and securing such building and that such costs are the personal obligation of the property owner from and after the date of filing the notice;

5. Pursuant to the order of the governing body, the agents of the municipality are granted the right of entry on the property for the performance of the boarding and securing of such building and for the performance of all necessary duties as a governmental function of the municipality;

6. After an unsecured building has been boarded and secured, the governing body shall determine the actual costs of such actions and any other expenses that may be necessary in conjunction therewith including the cost of the notice and mailing. The municipal clerk shall forward a statement of the actual costs attributable to the boarding and securing of the unsecured building and a demand for payment of such costs, by mail to any property owners and mortgage holders as provided in Section 22-112 of this title. At the time of mailing of the statement of costs to any property owner or mortgage holder, the municipality shall obtain a receipt of mailing from the postal service, which receipt shall indicate the date of mailing and the name and address of the mailer.

If a municipality boards and secures any unsecured building, the cost to the property owner shall not exceed the actual cost of the labor, materials and equipment required for the performance of such actions. If such actions are done on a private contract basis, the contract shall be awarded to the lowest and best bidder;

7. When payment is made to the municipality for costs incurred, the municipal clerk shall file a release of lien, but if payment attributable to the actual costs of the boarding and securing of the unsecured building is not made within thirty (30) days from the date of the mailing of the statement to the owner of such property, the municipal clerk shall forward a certified statement of the amount of the costs to the county treasurer of the county in which the property is located. Once certified to the county treasurer, payment may only be made to the county treasurer except as otherwise provided for in this section. At the time of collection the county treasurer shall collect a fee of Five Dollars ($5.00) for each parcel of property and such fee shall be deposited to the general fund of the county. The costs shall be levied on the property and collected by the county treasurer as are other taxes authorized by law. Until fully paid, the costs and the interest thereon shall be the personal obligation of the property owner from and after the date the notice of unsecured building and lien is filed with the county clerk. In addition the costs and the interest thereon shall be a lien against the property from the date the notice of the lien is filed with the county clerk. The lien shall be coequal with the lien of ad valorem taxes and all other taxes and special assessments and shall be prior and superior to all other titles and liens against the property. The lien shall continue until the costs and interest are fully paid. If the county treasurer and the municipality agree that the county treasurer is unable to collect the assessment, the municipality may pursue a civil remedy for collection of the amount owing and interest thereon by an action in personam against the property owner and an action in rem to foreclose its lien against the property. A mineral interest if severed from the surface owner, shall not be subject to any tax or judgment lien created pursuant to this section. Upon receiving payment, the municipal clerk shall forward to the county treasurer a notice of such payment and shall direct discharge of the lien;
8. The municipality may designate by ordinance an administrative officer or administrative body to carry out the duties of the governing body specified in subsection C of this section. The property owner or mortgage holder shall have a right of appeal to the municipal governing body from any order of the administrative officer or administrative body. Such appeal shall be taken by filing written notice of appeal with the municipal clerk within ten (10) days after the administrative order is rendered;

9. If a municipal governing body causes a structure within the municipal limits to be boarded and secured, any subsequent need for boarding and securing within a six-month period constitutes a public nuisance and may be summarily boarded and secured without further prior notice to the property owner or mortgage holder. At the time of each such summary boarding and securing, the municipality shall notify the property owner and mortgage holder of the boarding and securing and the costs thereof. The notice shall state that the property owner may request an appeal with the municipal clerk within ten (10) days after the mailing of the notice. The notice and hearing shall be as provided for in paragraph 1 of this subsection. Unless otherwise determined at the hearing the cost of such boarding and securing shall be determined and collected as provided for in paragraphs 6 and 7 of this subsection;

10. A governing body of any municipality may determine that a building is unsecured and order that such building be boarded and secured in the manner provided for in this subsection even though such building has not been declared, by the governing body, to be dilapidated; and

11. For the purposes of this subsection:

   a. “boarding and securing” or “boarded and secured” means the closing, boarding or locking of any or all exterior openings so as to prevent entry into the structure,

   b. “unsecured building” shall mean any structure which is not occupied by a legal or equitable owner thereof, or by a lessee of a legal or equitable owner, and into which there are one or more unsecured openings such as broken windows, unlocked windows, broken doors, unlocked doors, holes in exterior walls, holes in the roof, broken basement or cellar hatchways, unlocked basement or cellar hatchways or other similar unsecured openings which would facilitate an unauthorized entry into the structure, and

   c. “unfit for human occupancy” means a structure that due to lack of necessary repairs is considered uninhabitable and is a hazard to the health, safety, and welfare of the general public.

D. The provisions of this section shall not apply to any property zoned and used for agricultural purposes.

Historical Data

A. The municipal clerk, after the date of maturity of any installment and interest and no earlier than the first day of July and no later than the tenth day of July of the following year, shall certify the installment and interest then due to the county treasurer of the county in which the assessed property is located. Once certified to the county treasurer, payment may only be made to the county treasurer except as otherwise provided for in this section. At the time of collection the county treasurer shall collect a fee of Five Dollars ($5.00) for each parcel of property and such fee shall be deposited to the general fund of the county. The county treasurer shall place the installment and interest upon the November delinquent tax list of the same year, which is prepared by the county treasurer, and collect the installment and interest as other delinquent taxes are collected. The county treasurer shall collect the installments of assessment, together with interest and penalty, as certified to him by the municipal clerk, but any taxpayer shall have the right to pay his ad valorem taxes to the county treasurer regardless of the delinquency of such assessments. The failure of the municipal clerk to publish notice of the maturing of any installment and interest shall in no way affect the validity of the proceedings to collect the same under the provisions of this section. All payments to the municipal treasurer on account of such assessments shall be certified by him to the municipal clerk for crediting on the Street Assessment Record.

B. All penalties for delinquent taxes, including penalties on special assessments and the interest of bonds for paving or other special assessment bonds, over and above the amount specified on the face thereof, shall be the property of the municipality and shall be collected by the county treasurer, it being the intent of this provision to have such penalties go to the street repair fund of the municipality.

Historical Data

A. After the designation by the municipal governing body of a tax increment allocation district, the city clerk shall transmit a copy of the description of the district, a copy of the resolution or ordinance designating the district and a map or plat indicating the boundaries of the district to the clerk, assessor and treasurer of the county in which the tax increment allocation district is located. These documents shall be transmitted as promptly as practicable following the designation of the district, but in any event on or before January 1 of the next year following the designation of the district.

B. As soon as possible after the documents referred to in subsection A of this section have been received by the county assessor's office, the county assessor shall assess the value of all real property located in the tax increment allocation district. This assessed valuation, hereinafter referred to as the "base year net assessed valuation", shall be certified to the county clerk and the city clerk on or before July 1 of the next year following the designation of any tax increment allocation district.

Historical Data

For every year in which tax increment allocations are used by a city or an Urban Renewal Authority, the county excise board shall apportion to the city in which such tax increment allocation district is located, a part of the millage authorized by subsection (a) of Section 9 of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution. The procedure for apportioning such millage shall be as follows:

1. Upon notice of such use by the city, the county assessor shall reassess the amount of increase from the base year net assessed valuation of real property within a tax increment allocation district and shall certify such amount to the county clerk and the county excise board before July 1 of each year. Such amount, to the extent not already included, shall be added to the net assessed valuation of the tax increment allocation district and the total shall be referred to as the current year net assessed valuation;

2. The county excise board shall then determine the amount to be apportioned. The procedure for determining such amount shall be as follows:

   a. compute the revenue derived from the tax increment allocation district's base year net assessed valuation by multiplying the total millage levied during the prior year against the base year net assessed valuation of the tax increment allocation district,

   b. compute the revenue derived from the tax increment allocation district's current year net assessed valuation by multiplying the total millage levied during the prior year against the current year net assessed valuation of the tax increment allocation district,

   c. compute the incremental tax revenue of the tax increment allocation district subtracting the revenue derived from the base year net assessed valuation from the revenue derived from the current year net assessed valuation, and

   d. divide the incremental tax revenue by the current year net assessed valuation of the city in which the tax increment allocation district is located. The result represents the

Historical Data

Repealed by Laws 1977, c. 86, § 1, eff. October 1, 1977.
A. Scope. This section applies to all judgments of courts of record of this state, and judgments of courts of record of the United States not subject to the registration procedures of the Uniform Federal Lien Registration Act, Section 3401 et seq. of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes, which award the payment of money, regardless of whether such judgments also include other orders or relief.

B. Creation of Lien. A judgment to which this section applies shall be a lien on the real estate of the judgment debtor within a county only from and after a Statement of Judgment made by the judgment creditor or the judgment creditor's attorney, substantially in the form prescribed by the Administrative Director of the Courts, has been filed in the office of the county clerk in that county.

1. Presentation of a Statement of Judgment and tender of the filing fee, shall, upon acceptance by the county clerk, constitute filing under this section.

2. A lien created pursuant to this section shall affect and attach to all real property, including the homestead, of judgment debtors whose names appear in the Statement of Judgment; however, judgment liens on a homestead are exempt from forced sale pursuant to Section 1 of Title 31 of the Oklahoma Statutes and Section 2 of Article XII of the Oklahoma Constitution.

C. Judgment Index. A judgment index shall be kept by each county clerk in which the name of each person named as a judgment debtor in a Statement of Judgment filed with the county clerk shall appear in alphabetical order.

1. It shall be the duty of the county clerk, immediately after the filing of the Statement of Judgment, to make in the judgment index a separate entry in alphabetical order of the name of each judgment debtor named therein, which entry shall also contain the name(s) of the judgment creditor(s), the name of the court which granted the judgment, the number and style of the case in which the judgment was filed, the amount of the judgment, including interest, costs and attorney's fees if shown on the Statement of Judgment, the date of filing of the judgment with the court clerk of the court which granted it, and the date of filing of the Statement of Judgment with the county clerk.

2. It shall also be the duty of the county clerk, immediately after the filing of a Release of Judgment Lien, to make a notation in each entry in the judgment index made when any Statement of Judgment was filed with respect to the judgment being released, of the date of filing of the Release with the county clerk, the name of the judgment creditor on whose behalf the Release is filed, and whether the Release states that it is only a partial Release.

D. Execution of Judgment. Execution shall be issued only from the court which granted the judgment being enforced.

E. Release of Lien of Judgment. The lien of a judgment upon the real estate of judgment debtor in any county, which has not become unenforceable by operation of law, is released only upon the filing in the office of the county clerk in that county of a Release of Judgment Lien, or a copy thereof certified by the court clerk of the court which granted the judgment.

1. A judgment lien may be released, in whole or in part, by filing a Release of Judgment Lien with the county clerk by the judgment creditor or his or her attorney.
a. A Release of Judgment Lien shall either recite the name of the court which granted the judgment, the number and style of the case, the name of each judgment debtor with respect to whom the lien is being released, the name of each judgment creditor in favor of whom the lien was created, or otherwise adequately identify the judgment lien being released and the judgment debtor against whom the lien is indexed. The Administrative Director of the Courts shall prescribe a form of Release of Judgment which may be used at the option of the judgment creditor.

b. If the release is only partial, it shall also contain a description of the lands then being released from the judgment lien or identify the particular judgment debtors, if less than all, with respect to whom the lien is then being released, or both, as the case may be.

c. A Release of Judgment Lien may also be filed with the court clerk of the court which granted the judgment but filing with the court clerk does not release any judgment lien created pursuant to this section.

2. The lien of any judgment which has been satisfied by payment or otherwise discharged and which has not been released by the judgment creditor shall be released by the court upon written motion.

a. The motion shall be accompanied by an affidavit stating the grounds for the motion, and shall contain or be accompanied by a notice to the judgment creditor that, if the judgment creditor does not file with the court a response or objection to the motion within fifteen (15) days after the mailing of a copy of the motion to the judgment creditor, the court will order the judgment lien released.

b. A copy of the motion shall be mailed by certified mail by the party seeking release of the lien to the judgment creditor at the last-known address of the judgment creditor, and to the attorney of record of the judgment creditor, if any. There shall be attached to the filed motion, and to each copy of the motion to be mailed, a Certificate of Mailing showing to whom copies of the motion were mailed, the addresses to which they were mailed, and the date of mailing.

c. If the judgment creditor does not file a response or objection to the motion within fifteen (15) days after the mailing of a copy of the motion, the court shall order the judgment lien released.

d. When a judgment lien is ordered released by the court, the court shall cause a Release of Judgment Lien, in the form provided by the Administrative Director of the Courts, to be prepared. Instructions shall be printed on such form advising the judgment debtor to file the Release in the office of the county clerk of the county in which the real estate is situated in order to obtain the release of the lien of the judgment upon the real estate of the judgment debtor in such county.

e. The party filing the motion for release shall pay all costs of the proceeding and any recording fees.

F. Effect of Filing or Recording a Judgment. The filing or recording of a judgment itself in the office of a county clerk on or after October 1, 1993, shall not be effective to create a general money judgment lien upon real estate, but a certified copy of a judgment may be recorded in such office for the purpose of giving notice of its contents, whether or not recording is required by law.

G. Acceptance by County Clerk. The county clerk shall accept for filing and file any Statement of Judgment or Release of Judgment Lien without requiring any formalities of execution other than those provided in this section.

POST JUDGMENTS

A. 1. Except as otherwise provided by this section, all judgments of courts of record, including costs and attorney fees authorized by statute or otherwise and allowed by the court, shall bear interest at a rate prescribed pursuant to this section.

2. Costs and attorney fees allowed by the court shall bear interest from the earlier of the date the judgment or order is pronounced, if expressly stated in the written judgment or order awarding the costs and attorney fees, or the date the judgment or order is filed with the court clerk.

B. Judgments, including costs and attorney fees authorized by statute or otherwise and allowed by the court, against this state or its political subdivisions, including counties, municipalities, school districts, and public trusts of which this state or a political subdivision of this state is a beneficiary, shall bear interest during the term of judgment at a rate prescribed pursuant to this section, but not to exceed ten percent (10%), from the date of rendition. No judgment against this state or its political subdivisions, including counties, municipalities, school districts, and public trusts of which this state or a political subdivision of this state is a beneficiary, inclusive of postjudgment interest, shall exceed the total amount of liability of the governmental entity pursuant to the Governmental Tort Claims Act.

C. The postjudgment interest authorized by subsection A or subsection B of this section shall accrue from the earlier of the date the judgment is rendered as expressly stated in the judgment, or the date the judgment is filed with the court clerk, and shall initially accrue at the rate in effect for the calendar year during which the judgment is rendered until the end of the calendar year in which the judgment was rendered, or until the judgment is paid, whichever first occurs. Beginning on the first day of January of the next succeeding calendar year until the end of that calendar year, or until the judgment is paid, whichever first occurs, the judgment, together with postjudgment interest previously accrued, shall bear interest at the rate in effect for judgments rendered during that calendar year as certified by the Administrative Director of the Courts pursuant to subsection I of this section. For each succeeding calendar year, or part of a calendar year, during which a judgment remains unpaid, the judgment, together with postjudgment interest previously accrued, shall bear interest at the rate in effect for judgments rendered during that calendar year as certified by the Administrative Director of the Courts pursuant to subsection I of this section. A separate computation using the interest rate in effect for judgments as provided by subsection I of this section shall be made for each calendar year, or part of a calendar year, during which the judgment remains unpaid in order to determine the total amount of interest for which the judgment debtor is liable. The postjudgment interest rate for each calendar year or part of a calendar year a judgment remains unpaid shall be multiplied by the original amount of the judgment, including any prejudgment interest, together with postjudgment interest previously accrued. Interest shall accrue on a judgment in the manner prescribed by this subsection until the judgment is satisfied or released.

D. If a rate of interest is specified in a contract, the rate specified shall apply and be stated in the journal entry of judgment. The rate of interest shall not exceed the lawful rate for that obligation. Postjudgment interest shall be calculated and accrued in the same manner as prescribed in subsection C of this section.

PREJUDGMENT INTEREST
E. Except as provided by subsection F of this section, if a verdict for damages by reason of personal injuries or injury to personal rights including, but not limited to, injury resulting from bodily restraint, personal insult, defamation, invasion of privacy, injury to personal relations, or detriment due to an act or omission of another is accepted by the trial court, the court in rendering judgment shall add interest on the verdict at a rate prescribed pursuant to subsection I of this section from the date the suit resulting in the judgment was commenced to the earlier of the date the verdict is accepted by the trial court as expressly stated in the judgment, or the date the judgment is filed with the court clerk. The interest rate for computation of prejudgment interest shall begin with the rate prescribed by subsection I of this section which is in effect for the calendar year in which the suit resulting in the judgment is commenced. This rate shall be in effect until the end of the calendar year in which the suit resulting in judgment was filed or until the date judgment is filed, whichever first occurs. Beginning on the first day of January of the next succeeding calendar year until the end of that calendar year, or until the date the judgment is filed, whichever first occurs, and for each succeeding calendar year thereafter, the prejudgment interest rate shall be the rate in effect for judgments rendered during each calendar year as certified by the Administrative Director of the Courts pursuant to subsection I of this section. After the computation of all prejudgment interest has been completed, the total amount of prejudgment interest shall be added to the amount of the judgment rendered pursuant to the trial of the action, and the total amount of the resulting judgment shall become the amount upon which postjudgment interest is computed pursuant to subsection A of this section.

F. If a verdict of the type described by subsection E of this section is rendered against this state or its political subdivisions, including counties, municipalities, school districts, and public trusts of which this state or a political subdivision of this state is a beneficiary, the judgment shall bear interest at the rate prescribed pursuant to subsection I of this section, but not to exceed ten percent (10%) from the date the suit was commenced to the earlier of the date the verdict is accepted by the trial court as expressly stated in the judgment or the date the judgment is filed with the court clerk. The interest rate for computation of prejudgment interest shall begin with the rate prescribed by subsection I of this section which is in effect for the calendar year in which the suit resulting in the judgment is commenced. This rate shall be in effect until the end of the calendar year in which the suit resulting in judgment was filed or until the date the judgment is rendered, whichever first occurs. Beginning on the first day of January of the next succeeding calendar year until the end of that calendar year, or until the date judgment is rendered, whichever first occurs, and for each succeeding calendar year thereafter, the prejudgment interest rate shall be the rate in effect for judgments rendered during each calendar year as certified by the Administrative Director of the Courts pursuant to subsection I of this section. After the computation of prejudgment interest has been completed, the amount shall be added to the amount of the judgment rendered pursuant to the trial of the action, and the total amount of the resulting judgment shall exceed the total amount of liability of the governmental entity pursuant to the Governmental Tort Claims Act.

G. If exemplary or punitive damages are awarded in an action for personal injury or injury to personal rights including, but not limited to, injury resulting from bodily restraint, personal insult, defamation, invasion of privacy, injury to personal relations, or detriment due to an act or omission of another, the interest on that award shall begin to accrue from the earlier of the date the judgment is rendered as expressly stated in the judgment, or the date the judgment is filed with the court clerk.

H. If a judgment is rendered establishing the existence of a lien against property and no rate of interest exists, the court shall allow prejudgment interest at a rate prescribed pursuant to subsection I of this section from the date the lien is filed to the date of verdict.

I. For purposes of computing either postjudgment interest or prejudgment interest as authorized by this section, interest shall be determined using a rate equal to the average United States Treasury Bill rate of the preceding calendar year as certified to the Administrative Director of the Courts by the State Treasurer on the first regular business day in January of each year, plus four percentage points.

J. For purposes of computing postjudgment interest, the provisions of this section, including the amendments prescribed by this act, shall be applicable to all judgments of the district courts rendered on or after January 1, 2000. Effective January 1, 2000, the method for computing postjudgment interest prescribed by this section shall be applicable to all judgments remaining unpaid rendered prior to January 1, 2000.

K. For purposes of computing prejudgment interest, the provisions of this section, including the amendments prescribed by this act, shall be applicable to all actions which are filed in the district courts on or after January 1, 2000, for which an award of prejudgment interest is authorized by the provisions of this section.

Historical Data

NOTE: The following text remains effective until July 1, 2001:

(1) Documents, Instruments, Letters of Credit, and Ordinary Goods.

(a) This subsection applies to documents, instruments, rights to proceeds of written letters of credit, and to goods other than those covered by a certificate of title described in subsection (2) of this section, mobile goods described in subsection (3) of this section, and minerals described in subsection (5) of this section.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, perfection and the effect of perfection or nonperfection of a security interest in collateral are governed by the law of the jurisdiction where the collateral is when the last event occurs on which is based the assertion that the security interest is perfected or unperfected.

(c) If the parties to a transaction creating a purchase money security interest in goods in one jurisdiction understand at the time that the security interest attaches that the goods will be kept in another jurisdiction, then the law of the other jurisdiction governs the perfection and the effect of perfection or nonperfection of the security interest from the time it attaches until thirty (30) days after the debtor receives possession of the goods and thereafter if the goods are taken to the other jurisdiction before the end of the thirty-day period.

(d) When collateral is brought into and kept in this state while subject to a security interest perfected under the law of the jurisdiction from which the collateral was removed, the security interest remains perfected; but if action is required by Part 3 of this article to perfect the security interest:

(i) if the action is not taken before the expiration of the period of perfection in the other jurisdiction or the end of four (4) months after the collateral is brought into this state, whichever period first expires, the security interest becomes unperfected at the end of that period and is thereafter deemed to have been unperfected as against a person who became a purchaser after removal, or

(ii) if the action is taken before the expiration of the period specified in subparagraph (i), the security interest continues perfected thereafter.

(2) Certificate of Title.

(a) This subsection applies to goods covered by a certificate of title issued under a statute of this state or of another jurisdiction under the law of which indication or delivery for indication of a security interest on the certificate is required as a condition of perfection.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, perfection and the effect of perfection or nonperfection of the security interest are governed by the law, including the conflict of laws rules, of the jurisdiction issuing the certificate until four (4) months after the goods are removed from that jurisdiction and thereafter until the goods are registered in another jurisdiction, but in any event not beyond surrender of the certificate. After the expiration of that period, the goods are not covered by the certificate of title within the meaning of this section.

(c) Except with respect to the rights of a buyer described in the next paragraph, a security interest, perfected in another jurisdiction otherwise than by notation on a certificate of title, in goods brought into this state and thereafter covered by a certificate of title issued by this state is subject to the rules stated in paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of this section.

(d) If goods are brought into this state while a security interest therein is perfected in any manner under the law of the jurisdiction from which the goods are removed, and a certificate of title is issued by this state and the certificate does not show that the goods are subject to the security interest or that they may be subject to security interests not shown on the certificate, the security interest is subordinate to the rights of a buyer of the goods who is not in the business of selling goods of that kind to the extent that he gives value and receives delivery of the goods after issuance of the certificate and without knowledge of the security interest.

(3) Accounts, General Intangibles and Mobile Goods.

(a) This subsection applies to accounts, other than an account described in subsection (5) of this section on minerals, and general intangibles, other than uncertificated securities, and to goods which are mobile and which are of a type normally used in more than one jurisdiction, such as motor vehicles, trailers, rolling stock, airplanes, shipping containers, road building and construction machinery and commercial harvesting machinery and the like, if the goods are equipment or are inventory leased or held for lease by the debtor to others and are not covered by a certificate of title described in subsection (2) of this section.

(b) The law, including the conflict of laws rules, of the jurisdiction in which the debtor is located governs the perfection and the effect of perfection or nonperfection of the security interest.

(c) If, however, the debtor is located in a jurisdiction which is not a part of the United States and which does not provide for perfection of the security interest by filing or recording in that jurisdiction, the law of the jurisdiction in the United States in which the debtor has its major executive office in the United States governs the perfection and the effect of perfection or nonperfection of the security interest through filing. In the alternative, if the debtor is located in a jurisdiction which is not a part of the United States or Canada and the collateral is accounts or general intangibles for money due or to become due, the security interest may be perfected by notification to the account debtor. As used in this paragraph, “United States” includes its territories and possessions and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

(d) A debtor shall be deemed located at his place of business if he has one, at his chief executive office if he has more than one place of business; otherwise, at his residence. If, however, the debtor is a foreign air carrier under the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, [FN1] it shall be deemed located at the designated office of the agent upon whom service of process may be made on behalf of the foreign air carrier.

(e) A security interest perfected under the law of the jurisdiction of the location of the debtor is perfected until the expiration of four (4) months after a change of the debtor’s location to another jurisdiction or until perfection would have ceased by the law of the first jurisdiction whichever period first expires. Unless perfected in the new jurisdiction before the end of that period, it becomes unperfected thereafter and is deemed to have been unperfected as against a person who became a purchaser after the change.

(4) Chattel Paper.

The rules stated for goods in subsection (1) of this section apply to a possessory security interest in chattel paper. The rules stated for accounts in subsection (3) of this section apply to a nonpossessory security interest in chattel paper, but the security interest may not be perfected by notification to the account debtor.
(5) Minerals.

Perfection and the effect of perfection or nonperfection of a security interest which is created by a debtor who has an interest in minerals or the like, including oil and gas, before extraction and which attaches thereto as extracted, or which attaches to an account resulting from the sale thereof at the wellhead or minehead are governed by the law, including the conflict of laws rules, of the jurisdiction wherein the wellhead or minehead is located.

(6) Investment Property.

(a) This subsection applies to investment property.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in paragraph (f) of this subsection, during the time that a security certificate is located in a jurisdiction, perfection of a security interest, the effect of perfection or nonperfection, and the priority of a security interest in the certificated security represented thereby are governed by the local law of that jurisdiction.

(c) Except as otherwise provided in paragraph (f) of this subsection, perfection of a security interest, the effect of perfection or nonperfection, and the priority of a security interest in an uncertificated security are governed by the local law of the issuer's jurisdiction as specified in subsection (d) of Section 8-110 of this title.

(d) Except as otherwise provided in paragraph (f) of this subsection, perfection of a security interest, the effect of perfection or nonperfection, and the priority of a security interest in a security entitlement or securities account are governed by the local law of the securities intermediary's jurisdiction as specified in subsection (e) of Section 8-110 of this title.

(e) Except as otherwise provided in paragraph (f) of this subsection, perfection of a security interest, the effect of perfection or nonperfection, and the priority of a security interest in a commodity contract or commodity account are governed by the local law of the commodity intermediary's jurisdiction. The following rules determine a "commodity intermediary's jurisdiction" for purposes of this paragraph:

(i) If an agreement between the commodity intermediary and commodity customer specifies that it is governed by the law of a particular jurisdiction, that jurisdiction is the commodity intermediary's jurisdiction.

(ii) If an agreement between the commodity intermediary and commodity customer does not specify the governing law as provided in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph, but expressly specifies that the commodity account is maintained at an office in a particular jurisdiction, that jurisdiction is the commodity intermediary's jurisdiction.

(iii) If an agreement between the commodity intermediary and commodity customer does not specify a jurisdiction as provided in subparagraph (i) or (ii) of this paragraph, the commodity intermediary's jurisdiction is the jurisdiction in which is located the office identified in an account statement as the office serving the commodity customer's account.

(iv) If an agreement between the commodity intermediary and commodity customer does not specify a jurisdiction as provided in subparagraph (i) or (ii) of this paragraph and an account statement does not identify an office serving the commodity customer's account as provided in subparagraph (iii) of this paragraph, the commodity intermediary's jurisdiction is the jurisdiction in which is located the chief executive office of the commodity intermediary.

(f) Perfection of a security interest by filing, automatic perfection of a security interest in investment property granted by a broker or securities intermediary, and automatic perfection of a security interest in a commodity contract or commodity account granted by a commodity intermediary are governed by the local law of the jurisdiction in which the debtor is located. Paragraphs (c), (d) and (e) of subsection (3) of this section apply to security interests to which this paragraph applies.

NOTE: The following text remains effective until July 1, 2001:

Goods are:

1. "consumer goods" if they are used or bought for use primarily for personal, family or household purposes;

2. "equipment" if they are used or brought for use primarily in business (including farming or a profession) or by a debtor who is a nonprofit organization or a governmental subdivision or agency or if the goods are not included in the definitions of inventory, farm products or consumer goods;

3. "farm products" if they are crops or livestock or supplies used or produced in farming operations or if they are products of crops or livestock in their unmanufactured states (such as ginned cotton, wool-clip, maple syrup, milk and eggs), and if they are in the possession of a debtor engaged in raising, fattening, grazing or other farming operations. If goods are farm products they are neither equipment nor inventory;

Prior Statutory Provisions:
15 O.S. §§ 631-637.
46 O.S. §§ 57-60.
60 O.S. § 318.

Text and derivation of prior provisions, see Appendix at end of this title.

Comment:
The Commercial Code completely changes the filing system in Oklahoma, and adopts the "notice filing" method originally adopted by the Uniform Trust Receipts Act which was not enacted in Oklahoma. It is similar to the system provided by former 15 O.S. §§ 631-637 as to accounts receivable. Under this "notice filing" system, the security agreement itself need not be filed, but a simple notice containing the information required by Section 9-402 and signed by both parties, called a "Financing Statement" may be filed. The security agreement may be filed if it contains said information and is signed by both parties, in which case a separate financing statement need not be taken or filed. A financing statement may be filed before the security agreement is itself signed and before advances are in fact made. Only an "original" instrument may be filed. This means the instrument filed must contain the actual signatures of the parties. There, of course, may be more than one "original", the bodies of which are carbon copies as long as they contain actual signatures.

(1) Optional paragraph (a) and the first line of optional paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of the Official Text of the Uniform Commercial Code were adopted in Oklahoma.

Note the changes in the place of filing, which are quite different from previous Oklahoma law. Use of the property determines the place of filing, filing under (1) (a) is in the county of debtors residence rather than the county where the property is located as under previous Oklahoma law. Filing as to business property (equipment and inventory), is done centrally by filing in Oklahoma County. All property of a partnership or corporation is business property.
The definitions in Section 9-109 apply to determine the categories of property and therefore the place of filing. The definitions of "consumer goods" and "equipment" contain the phrase "for use primarily". If the primary use is in doubt, filing in both the county of debtors residence and centrally in Oklahoma County may be advisable as a precaution. A change in the use of the property does not impair the effectiveness of the original filing. (Subsection (3)).

(2) Self-explanatory. Previous Oklahoma cases held a defect in the execution of a chattel mortgage or a defect in filing caused by the mortgagee prevented the filing from becoming "constructive notice". New Era Milling Co. v. Thompson, 107 Okl. 114, 230 P. 486 (1924); Thompson v. Crosby, 16 Okl. 316, 82 P. 643 (1905); Poage v. Nix, 186 Okl. 388, 98 P.2d 610 (1940); Merchants National Bank of Sallisaw v. Frazier et al., 60 Okl. 156, 159 P. 647 (1916). Therefore, the Commercial Code is more liberal than previous Oklahoma law. Note the provision of one instance when actual knowledge is of importance. See discussion thereof at Section 9-312.

(3) Oklahoma adopted alternative subsection (3) of the official text of the Uniform Commercial Code. This is similar to previous Oklahoma law, former 46 O.S. § 58. See Oklahoma Comment at Section 9-103 (3) which is a similar provision as to property brought into this state for a detailed discussion of the problems arising under this provision.

Comment:

(1) Errors of the County Clerk do not impair the secured party's rights. Previous Oklahoma law was the same. Dabney v. Hathaway, 51 Okl. 658, 152 P. 77 (1915).

(2) This is a major change of Oklahoma law as to the period for which filing is effective. Also under the Commercial Code, the security interest becomes unperfected upon the expiration of the effective time of the filing period, and as any unperfected interest it becomes junior in priority to a security interest which is still within the effective period as to filing, even though it had priority during its filing period. For example, A takes a security interest in goods and files thereon. Thereafter, B takes a security interest in the same goods and files. At this point, A has priority over B. A allows the filing of his security interest to lapse by the expiration of time. B kept his interest perfected. B now has priority.

(3), (4) and (5) are self-explanatory.

C. 1. Any person aggrieved by the refusal of a county clerk to file any notice provided for in subsection A of this section may petition the district court for a writ of mandamus to compel the county clerk to record the notice.

order shall include a notation of the book and page number of the index in which the notice of refusal is located and a statement that abstractors shall not show the pages on which the attachment to the notice of refusal is located in any abstract. For any notice which the court orders to be filed pursuant to this subsection, the date of filing shall be retroactive to the date the notice of refusal was filed.

A. Sections 180.58 through 180.68 of this title shall apply to all counties which do not approve an exemption of household goods of the heads of families and livestock employed in support of the family from ad valorem taxation pursuant to the provisions of Section 6 of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution.

B. The purpose of Sections 180.58 through 180.68 of this title is to codify and revise the laws of the state relating to the salaries and wages of county officers and their deputies and employees, and to establish said salaries and wages by general law applicable throughout the state under a uniform schedule fixing such salaries and wages and future increases and reductions thereof upon the following bases:

1. The available revenues of the several counties out of which such salaries and wages may be paid;

2. The amount of services required to be performed;

3. The monetary value of such services in relation to that of nongovernmental services of similar nature in the areas wherein such services are performed; and

4. The relative amounts of services required of the various county officers, their deputies and employees upon investigation and full consideration of the applicable facts.

C. The Legislature has determined that the foregoing bases of such schedule gradations generally are cognate to the combination of the following factors:

1. The net valuation of all tangible taxable property of the county (total taxable valuation less homestead exemption allowances except those additional homestead exemptions authorized and allowed pursuant to Section 2890 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes), hereinafter referred to as "service-ability"; and

2. The population of the county, hereinafter referred to as the "service-load".

The application of said factors properly establishes a rational and relevant formula for uniformity of salaries and wages and of future increases and decreases thereof.

Section 180.68 - Changes in Salaries and Rates of Pay to Take Effect as of July 1st.
Cite as: O.S. § __ __

The date on which changes in the salaries and rates of pay for county officers and their deputies, aides and assistants under this act due to changes in population or valuation in any county shall take effect, shall be as of, on and after the first day of July of each fiscal year based upon the population as shown by the latest Federal Decennial Census for the State of Oklahoma, and the total net assessed valuations of tangible properties for such year as shown by the official certificate which the county assessor files with the county excise board for the purpose of computing appropriations and levies for such year.

Historical Data

A. Sections 180.71 through 180.83 of this title shall apply to all counties which approve an exemption of household goods of the heads of families and livestock employed in support of the family from ad valorem taxation pursuant to the provisions of Section 6 of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution.

B. The purpose of Sections 180.71 through 180.83 of this title is to codify and revise the laws of the state relating to the salaries and wages of county officers and their deputies and employees, and to establish said salaries and wages by general law applicable throughout the state under a uniform schedule fixing such salaries and wages and future increases and reductions thereof upon the following bases:

1. The available revenues of the several counties out of which such salaries and wages may be paid;

2. The amount of services required to be performed;

3. The monetary value of such services in relation to that of nongovernmental services of similar nature in the areas wherein such services are performed; and

4. The relative amounts of services required of the various county officers, their deputies and employees upon investigation and full consideration of the applicable facts.

C. The Legislature has determined that the foregoing bases of such schedule gradations generally are cognate to the combination of the following factors:

1. The total amount of revenue authorized to be collected from the millage rate levied against the taxable valuation of property within the county, including such revenue which would have otherwise been authorized to be collected if the provisions of Section 2890 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes had not been enacted, which is apportioned for county purposes pursuant to subsection (a) of Section 9 of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution, hereinafter referred to as "service-ability"; and

2. The population of the county, hereinafter referred to as the "service-load".

The application of said factors properly establishes a rational and relevant formula for uniformity of salaries and wages and of future increases and decreases thereof.

This section shall consist of appropriation requests for "maintenance and operation" and for "capital outlay" as defined in Section 2490 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes, and such other accounts as may be prescribed by the State Auditor and Inspector and approved by the District Attorneys Council. The total of these requests shall not exceed the amount certified by the Council as being available for that county; and

2. The second section shall include those appropriation requests which are to be financed by county funds as provided by law.

Historical Data

The district attorney's requested estimate of needs shall be incorporated without change in the county general fund's estimate of needs in the same manner as the estimate of needs of the various offices, departments and agencies of the county are compiled for submission to the county excise board. The amount certified by the District Attorneys Council as being available to the county shall also be included in the estimate of the county general fund's miscellaneous revenue receivable.

Within five (5) working days after receipt of such notice, the district attorney shall give written notice to the county excise board of the amount each appropriation account is to be increased or decreased and the total net effect of the change. If the net total of the changes agrees with the total change certified by the Council, it shall be mandatory for the county excise board to approve the requested changes. Provided, any transfer of appropriations between state reimbursable accounts which does not change the net total appropriations of such funds shall be requested in writing by the district attorney and shall be approved as requested by the county excise board without other formality. Provided further, no transfers shall be made between state reimbursable appropriation accounts and county financed appropriation accounts nor shall county funds be used to supplement or otherwise increase the appropriation accounts required to be financed from state funds. The unused or unencumbered balances in the district attorney's county appropriation accounts at the end of the fiscal year shall lapse to surplus in the same manner as other county general fund appropriation accounts.

Historical Data

Purchases made from district attorney appropriations shall be made in accordance with the procedures prescribed by statute for county officers, departments and agencies except that neither the purchases nor the expenditures for such purchases shall be subjected to the approval of the board of county commissioners. It shall be the mandatory duty for the designated county officials to issue, sign, attest, register and pay the warrants required to pay such obligations.

Historical Data

The requirements for temporary appropriations pending final approval of the county's estimate of needs and the prohibition on expenditures during the tax protest period shall not apply to the requested appropriations for the district attorney's office which are to be reimbursed from state funds. The entire amount certified by the District Attorneys Council shall be available for the purposes requested unless otherwise restricted in writing by the Council and filed with the county clerk.

Historical Data

Within five (5) working days after the end of each month, the county clerk shall report to the District Attorneys Council the amount expended or encumbered from the state reimbursable appropriations during the preceding month. The report shall list each warrant or purchase order number, the payee and the amount and shall be totaled to show the full amount to be reimbursed to the county. Warrants or purchase orders issued from appropriations of a prior fiscal year shall be listed separately in the report of the month in which the warrants or purchase orders were issued. The Council shall immediately reimburse the county from state funds appropriated for that purpose.

Historical Data

The reimbursement provisions contained herein shall not apply to county appropriations made and provided for office space, law library, legal publications, expenses connected with handling of county suits and matters and other matters to be borne by the county as provided in Section 215.36 of Title 19 of the Oklahoma Statutes.

Whenever fifty persons, resident of a given area, or a majority of the holders of title to lands in such area, in any county susceptible of being furnished sewer systems for domestic use by the same system or by a combined system of sewer lines, desire to provide for a common sewerage system, they may propose the organization of a sewer improvement district, under the provisions of this act, and when so organized each district shall have the powers conferred herein or that may hereafter be conferred by law upon such sewer improvement districts.

Historical Data

A petition shall be filed with the board of county commissioners signed by a majority of the holders of title to lands in the proposed district desiring to be embraced in such district, which petition shall set forth the name of the proposed district, the boundaries of the proposed district, and shall pray that the same be organized into a sewer improvement district under the provisions of this act. The petition must be accompanied by a map of the proposed district, such map showing the boundaries of said district, and the approximate proposed location of sewer line or lines, and the sewage treatment plant, if any. The map shall be drawn to a scale of not less than two (2) inches to the mile. The petitioners must accompany the petition with a good and sufficient bond, to be approved by the board of county commissioners in double the amount of the probable cost of organizing such district, conditioned that the bondsmen will pay all costs in case said organization shall not be effected. Such petition shall be filed with the county clerk.

Notice shall be published one time at least ten (10) days before the time at which such petition will be considered in some newspaper printed and published in the county, stating the time when the petition will be considered by the board of county commissioners, and that all persons interested may appear and be heard. Such notice, when published, shall contain therein a brief substance of the contents of the petition. The board of county commissioners shall have exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine all contests and objections to the creation of such district and all matters pertaining to the same, and at the time set for said hearing the same, the board may amend the plan for such improvement district by excluding from within its boundaries any lands which it may deem will not be benefited by the formation of such district, or by including other lands as a part of such district, upon the application of the owner filed at or prior to said hearing. At such hearing said board shall also determine whether or not the formation of such improvement district as originally presented or in a modified form will be conducive or beneficial to the public health and if said board determines that it will, then said board shall make an order establishing such sewer improvement district subject to the result of an election to be held therein and said board shall give notice of an election to be held in such proposed improvement district for the purpose of determining whether or not the same shall be organized under the provisions of this act. Such notice shall describe the boundaries as established and shall designate a name for such proposed district and said notice shall be published for at least two (2) weeks prior to said election in some newspaper of general circulation in the county. Such notice shall require the electors to cast ballots which contain the words: "Sewer Improvement District _______ Yes", or "Sewer Improvement District _______ No", or words equivalent thereto. All persons, resident of such proposed district, who are qualified electors in their respective precincts, shall be qualified to vote on the proposition.

Historical Data

Such election shall be conducted in accordance with the general election laws of the state and the regular election officials shall be in charge at the usual polling place of each regular precinct or part of a precinct, within the boundaries of said proposed district, and shall make their return direct to the board of county commissioners. The board of county commissioners shall meet on the second Monday next following such election and proceed to canvass the vote cast thereat, and if upon such canvass it appears that at least a majority of all the votes cast are "Sewer Improvement District _____ Yes", the board shall, by an order entered on their minutes, declare such territory duly organized as a sewer improvement district under the name and title theretofore designated. The board of county commissioners shall cause a copy of such order, duly certified, to be immediately filed for record in the office of the county clerk and from and after the date of such filing the organization of such district shall be complete. The county clerk shall keep a record of all such districts so formed, and they shall be numbered consecutively in the order of their formation.

Historical Data

The board of county commissioners shall, after the organization of the sewer improvement district, appoint a board of directors for such improvement district to be composed of three (3) members, one of whom shall be designated director, one as clerk and one as member, who shall hold office for a term of two (2) years from date of appointment and until their respective successors shall be appointed and qualified. No person shall be eligible for appointment to the board of directors who is not a land owner within the district so formed. Vacancies on said board shall be filled in the same manner as an original appointment. The board of county commissioners shall have jurisdiction and authority to remove any member from the board of directors for malfeasance in office or conduct flagrantly inimical to the best interest of the district, and removal by a member of the board from the district or inability of such member to serve shall constitute a vacancy on said board. Such board is authorized and empowered to manage and conduct the affairs of the sewer improvement district, make and execute all necessary contracts, employ such agent and employees as may be necessary, adopt and establish rules and regulations for sewer service both within and without the district, and generally, to perform all acts necessary to fully carry out the purposes of this act, including the right and power to contract with municipalities owning and operating an established sewer system, or with other sewer improvement districts for the proper handling of sewage. The clerk of the board shall be the custodian of the funds of the district, and shall give such bond as may be required by the board. The board of directors shall make a report to the board of county commissioners on January 1 and July 1 of each year, and the members thereof shall receive such compensation as shall be fixed by the board of county commissioners.

Historical Data

Whenever such district sewer or sewers shall have been authorized, the said board of directors shall then proceed to employ a registered professional engineer licensed in the State of Oklahoma, and cause to be prepared profiles, plans and specifications for the work, together with a complete estimate of the cost. Upon the completion of such plans and specifications and their adoption by the said board of directors, they shall advertise for sealed bids for the performance of such work for at least ten (10) days, if published in a daily newspaper, or at least two (2) successive weeks if published in a weekly newspaper. In either case, such newspaper must be one of general circulation within the district and such notice may contain any reasonable conditions to be imposed by said board of directors with reference to the letting of such contracts and shall require the giving of a good and sufficient bond for the faithful execution of work and the performance of the contract and for the protection of the district and all property owners against any loss or damage by the negligent execution of such work. Such notice shall also advise all parties interested that they may appear and protest against such proposed improvement or any part thereof. At the time and place specified in the notice the board of directors shall award the contract to the lowest and best bidder for the work, which contract shall in no case exceed the aggregate estimate of cost submitted with the plans and specifications and shall be subject to the right of the board of directors to reject any and all bids and to readvertise for other bids, when none of the same is, in their judgment, satisfactory.

Historical Data

As soon as any subdistrict sewer line or lines shall have been completed the engineer having charge of the work shall compute the whole cost thereof which shall also include the cost of advertising, appraising, engineering and such other expense necessary or essential or incident to the completion of such work and shall apportion the same against all of the lots or pieces of ground in such district in proportion to the area of the whole subdistrict, exclusive of the public highways, and such officer shall report the same to the board of directors and the said board of directors shall thereupon assess a special tax against each lot or piece of ground within said subdistrict, which assessment so made shall be published in some newspaper of the county of general circulation within said district for two consecutive weeks, during which time said assessments without interest may be paid to the clerk. If at the expiration of such time the amount named in such assessment together with the cost of publication, shall not be paid, then said board of directors shall cause special assessment bonds to be issued against such lots or pieces of ground in said subdistrict, which special assessment bond shall recite the date and fact of the making of such assessment, the amount of the assessment, the description of the property against which the same is made, and that the same will be charged or levied against said property in five equal annual installments with interest thereon at the rate of not to exceed six percent (6%) per annum, each of said installments to become due and payable on the 1st day of September in each year which shall become delinquent if not paid before October 1st in said year and said bonds shall be signed by the director of the board of directors and countersigned by the clerk and delivered to the contractor, provided, that the other expenses incurred by said district in addition to the contract price of the work shall be paid to the district by the contractor in cash and the aggregate amount of such bonds delivered to the contractor shall not exceed his contract price, and the amount of the expenses paid in cash to the district by the contractor; provided, further, that in no case shall said district be empowered to pay any such special bonds from any of the funds of said district, nor shall it be liable for the amount of such bonds, until the amount of said assessment shall be collected from the property described in said bonds. Said bonds shall bear four coupons evidencing respectively the first, second, third and fourth installments due thereon; together with interest on the same and interest on the unmatured installment or installments. The bond shall evidence the fifth payment and interest thereon.

Historical Data

The clerk of said district shall no earlier than the first day in July and no later than the tenth day in July in each year certify the installments of assessments coming due on the first day of September in said year, together with interest on the same, and on all unmatured installments, to the county treasurer of said county, to be collected as other taxes; which money, when collected by the county treasurer shall, with interest thereon at the rate of six percent (6%) per annum, until paid, be paid to the clerk of said sewer improvement district. Provided, that no such certification shall be made to the county treasurer unless the clerk of said district shall have sent a notice of the nature and amount of the assessments by restricted delivery mail on or before June 1 of said year to the last-known address of the owner of the assessed property. Provided, that in case any special assessment bond or coupon provided for in Section 881 of this title becomes delinquent, then such bond or coupon shall draw interest as a penalty after delinquency at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum, and when collected six percent (6%) of such interest or penalty shall be paid to the then holder of such bond or coupon and six percent (6%) thereof shall be paid to the sewer improvement district which issued said bond, which amount shall go to the general fund of said sewer improvement district. Such special assessments and each installment thereof and the interest and penalty thereon are hereby declared to be a lien against the lots and tracts of land so assessed from the date of the publication of the ordinance levying the same, coequal with the lien of ad valorem taxes, all other taxes and special assessments, and prior and superior to all other titles and liens against such lots or tracts of land, and such lien shall continue as to unpaid installments, interest and penalty until such installments, interest and penalty thereof shall be fully paid, but unmatured installments shall not be deemed to be within the terms of any general covenant of warranty.

If any installment of assessment shall remain unpaid for six (6) months after the same is due, the holder of any bond or coupon, issued under the provisions of this act, may institute an action in the district court to foreclose the lien of such assessment, stating in the petition generally the ownership of such bond, or coupon, describing the property assessed, the nature of the improvement, the amount of the unpaid assessment and interest, and penalty, and praying for the foreclosure of such lien. All bonds and coupons issued in said district and held by plaintiff may be included in one action. Upon the filing of such action, all unmatured installments of assessments shall become immediately due and payable and the lien of such assessments foreclosed in such action. Summons shall be issued on such petition as in other civil actions and the cause tried by the district court. J udgment shall be entered for the amount of such unpaid assessments, and installments, together with penalty thereon at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the due date of each installment, and reasonable attorney's fees. The judgment shall bear interest at the rate of six percent (6%) per annum.

In the event said judgment, together with interest and costs, including attorney's fee, is not paid within thirty (30) days from its date, an order of sale shall issue by the clerk of said court, directed to the sheriff of the county, to sell said real estate in manner and form as in case of said real estate, without appraisement. Such judgment shall carry the costs of the action, including a reasonable attorney's fee to plaintiff, together with the costs of such sale; and upon the payment of such judgment, to the sheriff or court clerk, the amount thereof exclusive of costs and attorney's fees shall be paid to the county treasurer. Such judgment shall provide for the sale of said real estate, subject to existing general ad valorem taxes and special assessments. All owners and incumbrancers shall be made parties defendant in such action. The entire unpaid assessment, as to each tract, shall be foreclosed. All such actions to foreclose said assessment shall be commenced within three (3) years from the maturity date of the last installment thereof.
Historical Data

As soon as practicable after the organization of such improvement district, the board of directors shall, by resolution entered on its record, formulate a general plan of proposed operation for the district, in which shall be stated what constructed works or other property is proposed to be purchased and the cost of purchasing the same, and what amount of construction is proposed to be done and the cost of doing the same. For the purpose of ascertaining the cost of any such construction work, the board shall cause such preliminary surveys, examinations, plans and specifications to be made as shall furnish a proper basis for the estimation of the cost of such work. Such estimate of cost shall include the cost of advertising, appraising, engineering, election, and such other expense as is necessary or essential to the completion of the improvements. All such surveys, examinations, maps, plans and estimates shall be made under the direction of a registered professional engineer licensed under the laws of the State of Oklahoma and certified by him and filed with the secretary of the district. Upon the filing of such plans and specifications the board of directors shall proceed to determine the amount of money necessary to be raised and shall immediately thereupon call a special election, at which shall be submitted to the electors of such district the question of whether or not the bonds of said district shall be issued in the amount so determined; provided, such bonds shall not be issued for more than the actual estimated cost of such improvements and construction work as certified by such engineer. Notice of such election must be given by posting notice in three public places in each election precinct in said district, as established by said board, for at least ten (10) days, and also by publication of such notice in some newspaper published in the county once a week for at least two (2) consecutive weeks. Such notice must specify the time of holding the election, the amount of bonds proposed to be issued, and state generally the purpose of the same and the election must be held and the result thereof determined and declared in all respects as nearly as practicable in conformity with the statutory provision governing the holding of elections in cities for the issuance of general obligation bonds; provided, no informalities in conducting such election shall invalidate the same if the elections shall have been otherwise fairly conducted. At such an election the ballots shall contain the words, "Bonds ______ Yes", or "Bonds _____ No", or words equivalent thereto. If a majority of the ballots cast are "Bonds ______ Yes", the board of directors shall pass a resolution providing for the issuance of said bonds. Such bonds shall be payable in lawful money of the United States and shall run for a period of from ten (10) to twenty (20) years as determined by the board of directors. The principal and interest shall be payable at the office of the clerk of the board of directors or at any bank or fiscal agency designated by the board of directors. Such bonds shall be each of the denomination of not less than One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) nor more than One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00), shall be negotiable in form, executed in the name of the district and signed by the director and the clerk and the seal of the district shall be affixed thereto. Facsimile signatures and seals may be used as provided in the Registered Public Obligations Act of Oklahoma.

In the event the election hereinabove provided for is in favor of the issue of said bonds then the board of directors of said district shall cause final estimates, plans, profiles and specifications to be made for the work included in the preliminary plans and specifications by a registered professional engineer licensed under the laws of the State of Oklahoma in which shall be included the cost of advertising, appraising, engineering and such other expenses as is necessary or essential to the completion of said improvement and shall by resolution adopt the same.

The bonds shall express on their face that they were issued by the authority of Sections 871 [19-871] et seq. of this title, stating its title and date of approval. The clerk or appointed agent shall keep a record of the bonds. The bonds shall bear interest at a rate of not exceeding six percent (6%) per annum.
Should the election herein provided for result in a failure to authorize the issuance of such bonds, the sewer improvement district shall be automatically dissolved, after the expiration of sixty (60) days from the date of such election; provided, that should the board of directors call a second bond election, within said sixty (60) days period, then the life of said sewer improvement district shall be extended subject to the results of said second election. Should the second election result in a failure to authorize the issuance of said bonds then said district shall be deemed to be automatically dissolved. The county election board shall file a report of all bond elections hereunder with the clerk of said board of directors and with the county clerk of said county.

Cite as: O.S. §, __ __

No change of any grade previously established by such county shall be made without making due compensation to the record title holders of abutting property for any damage caused by such grade change to the permanent improvements erected on said property with reference to the grade previously established. The failure to make such compensation shall in no way invalidate such assessments on the property chargeable with such assessments as provided in Section 1240 of this title.

Historical Data

When the board of county commissioners deems it necessary to construct a project, grade, pave, macadamize, chat, gravel, curb, gutter, drain, or otherwise improve any road, street, alley, avenue, lane, or any part thereof, which has been established, within the unincorporated area of such county, it shall, by resolution, require the county engineer, or if there is no county engineer, a licensed engineer whose services have been contracted for, as provided by law, to prepare preliminary plans which shall include a typical section of the contemplated work or improvement, type or types of material, approximate thicknesses and widths, a preliminary estimate of the cost of such improvement, together with the cost of any improvements or draining connections directly chargeable to the property, and an assessment plat showing the area to be assessed. The resolution may provide for one or more types of construction, and the engineer shall separately estimate the cost of each type of construction. Each estimate may be in a lump sum or by unit prices, whichever seems most desirable to said engineer, for the complete improvement. The estimate shall also include the cost of advertising, appraising, engineering, and such other expense or contingencies, including attorneys and fiscal agents fees which in the judgment of such engineer are necessary or essential to the completion of such work or improvement and the payment of the cost thereof. Should more than one road, street, avenue, alley, lane, public place, or part thereof, be included in such resolution, separate estimates as to each shall be made, and any protest or objection shall be made and considered separately. For the purpose of protest in accordance with Section 1234 of this title, disconnected parts of the same street shall be treated as separate streets.

The resolution shall also require the county assessor to prepare a preliminary assessment roll based on the cost estimates of the preliminary plans and the assessor's estimate of the apportionment of benefits to the respective lots or tracts of land.

Historical Data

A. Any county creating a road improvement district pursuant to the provisions of Sections 1230 through 1262 of this title, except as provided for in Section 1236 of this title, shall provide notice to the affected record title holders of private property and an opportunity to protest against said improvements. Any number of roads, streets, avenues, lanes, alleys, or other public places, or parts thereof, to be improved may be included in one notice. Any protest or objection shall be made and considered separately as to each road, street, avenue, lane, alley, or other public place, or parts thereof. For purposes of protest in accordance with this section, disconnected parts of the same street shall be treated as separate streets.

B. Upon the filing of said plans, plat, typical section, and preliminary estimate of the cost of such work or improvements with the county clerk, the board of county commissioners shall examine the same and, if found satisfactory, shall by resolution adopt and approve the same and declare the improvement necessary to be done. Said resolution shall be published in six consecutive issues of a daily newspaper or two consecutive issues of a weekly newspaper published in the county and having a general circulation within the county. The resolution shall provide that the record title holders of more than forty percent (40%) of the area of land liable to assessment to pay for the improvement of any road, street, avenue, lane, alley, or other public place, or part thereof, choosing to protest such road improvement shall file with the county clerk of said county their protest in writing against the improvement within fifteen (15) days after the last publication of the resolution. If such protest is not filed within the specified period, the county shall have the power to cause such improvements to be made and to contract for such improvements and to levy assessments for the payment of such improvements. Any number of roads, streets, avenues, lanes, alleys, or other public places, or parts thereof, to be improved may be included in one resolution. After any road, street, avenue, lane, alley, or other public place, or part thereof, has been protested by the record title holders of more than forty percent (40%) of the land liable to assessment for such improvement, the board of county commissioners of said county shall not include the same in proceedings pursuant to the provisions of Sections 1230 through 1262 of this title for a period of six (6) months except upon petitions as provided by Section 1236 of this title.

C. If sufficient protests are filed as to any one or more of such roads, streets, avenues, lanes, alleys, or other public places, or parts thereof, the same shall be eliminated from said proceedings, but the other roads, streets, avenues, lanes, alleys, or other public places, or parts thereof, as to which sufficient protests have not been filed shall not be affected thereby. The provisions of this subsection shall not apply to any development pursuant to the provisions of Section 1236 of this title.

D. Any person, firm, corporation, administrator, or guardian holding the title to said lands liable to assessment may enter a protest or objection.

E. The finding of the board as to the sufficiency or insufficiency of the protest shall be conclusive and binding for all purposes and against all persons. The board shall have the power to have hearings on said protest and compel the attendance of witnesses under oath to determine the sufficiency of said protest. No action or suit to question the findings of the board on the sufficiency of said protests shall be commenced later than fifteen (15) days after such finding. Not less than ten (10) days before the hearing the county clerk shall notify each record title holder of lots or tracts of land within said district as shown by the current ownership rolls prepared and certified by the county clerk within sixty (60) days last preceding the date of the notification in the following manner:
1. By mailing a postal card directly to said record title holder at his last-known address as shown by the ownership roll, notifying said record title holder of the initiation of proceedings and advising him that his property will be liable to assessment and referring him to the issues of the newspaper in which the resolution is or will be published. If titles to several tracts appear to be held by the same person, all may be included in the same notification; or

2. In lieu of the mailing of a postal card, the county clerk may mail to each record title holder a copy of the newspaper publication. Proof of the notification given shall be made by certificate of the clerk which shall be filed in his office. Failure of any one of said record title holders to receive said notification shall not invalidate any of the proceedings made pursuant to the provisions of this section.

Historical Data

Any record title holder of property or other person interested in such proposed improvement shall have the right to institute an action to contest the action of the board of county commissioners of such county in adopting and approving the plans, plats, typical sections, or estimates filed by the engineer in the district court of the county in which a road improvement district is located at any time not later than fifteen (15) days after publication of the resolution provided for in Section 1234 of this title. Any suit instituted after the expiration of said fifteen (15) days shall not be maintained to question such plans, plats, typical sections, or estimates and the record title holders of property liable for assessment shall be deemed to have waived all objections to such proposed improvement.

Historical Data

If the record title holders of more than sixty percent (60%) of the area of the land liable to assessments for any improvement petition the county commissioners of such county for the improvement of any road, street, alley, lane, or avenue, or part thereof, not less than six hundred (600) feet in length, the petition shall describe the character of the improvement desired, the width of the same, and the materials preferred by the petitioners for such improvement. The petition shall show the petitioners are the record title holders of the land liable for assessment and shall include a plat of the area to be assessed which shows the area of each parcel of land to be assessed on a pro rata basis of the entire area to be assessed, the preliminary plans, typical sections, and estimates. The notice providing for determining the necessity of such improvements shall not be published as provided in Section 1234 of this title.

The finding of the board of county commissioners as to the sufficiency of any such petition shall be conclusive and binding for all purposes, including prohibiting protest or objection to such improvement, and against all persons. The board shall have the power to have hearings on said petition and compel the attendance of witnesses under oath to determine the sufficiency of said petition, and no action or suit to question the findings of the board on the sufficiency of said petition shall be commenced later than fifteen (15) days after such finding. Upon finding the petition sufficient, the board shall cause such improvements to be made in accordance with the prayer of said petition as nearly as may be practicable.

Historical Data

Whenever the petition provided for by Section 1236 of this title is presented, or when the board of county commissioners of any county has determined to pave or otherwise improve any road, street, avenue, lane, alley, or other public place, and has passed the required resolution, the board shall then have the power to establish all rules and regulations as may be necessary to require the record title holders of all property subject to assessment to pay the cost of such improvement, to cause to be put in and constructed all drainage in and underneath the streets, avenues, lanes, and alleys, and other public places where such improvements are made, and all cost and expense for making such connections not paid for by the record title holder of property may be contracted for by said county and shall be taxed as a direct charge against such property and shall be included in and made a part of the assessment to cover the cost of such improvement.

Any assessment made pursuant to this section shall be subject to an annual revision by the county commissioners. Such revision shall be made to equitably distribute the benefits and costs of such improvements. The commissioners shall not raise the revision above the amount of the original assessment.

Historical Data

After the expiration of the time for objection or protest on the part of the record title holders of property to an improvement, or if insufficient protest is filed, the board of county commissioners shall adopt a resolution declaring that no such protest has been filed, or that such protest, if filed, was insufficient and expressing the determination of the board to proceed with the improvement. Such resolution shall require the engineer to immediately file detailed plans, profiles, specifications, and estimates of probable cost. After the filing of said plans, profiles, specifications, and estimates, the board shall examine the same, and if found satisfactory, shall, by resolution, adopt and approve the same. The resolution shall state the material to be used and that the work or improvement will be constructed in accordance with the final detailed plans, specifications, and profiles of the engineer. The resolution shall set forth any reasonable terms and conditions that the board of county commissioners deems proper to impose. The board, by resolution, shall also provide that the contractor shall execute to the county a good and sufficient bond in an amount to be stated in the resolution, conditioned for the full and faithful execution of the work and the performance of the contract for the protection of the county and all record title holders of property interested, against any loss or damage by reason of the negligence of the contractor, improper execution of the work or improvement, or the use of inferior material, and shall also require a bond, in an amount to be stated in said resolution, for the maintenance of said improvements against any failure due to defective workmanship or materials for a period of not less than one (1) year from the time of its completion and acceptance. Such maintenance bond shall not be required where such road improvements consist of oil and chips or graveling. The resolution shall also require the execution of a good and sufficient bond for payment of labor and material conditioned in accordance with the laws of this state. The resolution shall also direct the county clerk after the filing of said final plans, profiles, specifications, and estimates to advertise for sealed bids for furnishing the materials and performing the work necessary in making the improvement. The notice for such bids shall state the roads, streets, avenues, or other public places to be improved, the kind of improvements proposed, what bonds will be required to be executed by the contractor, shall refer to the plans and specifications, and shall state the date, time, and place where such sealed bids shall be filed, and the date and place the same will be considered by the board. The notice shall be published in accordance with the provisions of the Public Competitive Bidding Act of 1974. No action or suit to question the adoption of said resolution, or the sufficiency of the same or the final, detailed estimate of the engineer, shall be commenced later than fifteen (15) days after the first publication of said notice.

The resolution provided for in this section shall be adopted not later than six (6) months after the adoption of the resolution of necessity provided for in Section 1234 of this title or within six (6) months after the filing of a proper petition for the construction of the contemplated improvements.

Historical Data

At the time and place specified in the notice to contractors, the board of county commissioners shall examine all bids received and, without unnecessary delay, award the contract to the lowest and best bidder, who will perform the work and furnish the materials which have been selected, and perform all the conditions imposed by the board, as prescribed in the resolution for the work or improvement and notice for proposals. The aggregate amount of the contract shall not exceed the final estimate of cost submitted by the engineer for the improvement as provided in Section 1238 of this title. In the event of any excess in cost over said engineer's estimate, the excess shall be void and no assessments for such excess levied. The board shall have the right to award a contract for all or a portion of such improvement or to reject any or all bids, and to readvertise for other bids when any such bids are not, in its judgment, satisfactory. The letting of the bid shall not be complete until the contract is duly executed, and the bonds approved.

Historical Data

Within ten (10) days of the filing of the final plans, specifications and cost estimates with the county clerk, the board of county commissioners shall, by resolution, direct the county assessor to appraise and apportion the benefits to the several lots and tracts of land which shall be described in the resolution according to the record title of the land. Any error in the description of any lot or tract of land liable for assessments shall not invalidate such assessment or lien.

Historical Data

It shall be the duty of the county assessor, within five (5) days after being directed to appraise the property, to proceed to appraise and apportion the benefits to such lots and tracts of land as shall have been designated by the board of county commissioners, according to the title as aforesaid, after having taken and subscribed an oath to make a true and impartial appraisement and apportionment. A written report of such appraisement and apportionment shall be returned and filed with the county clerk within ten (10) days from the date of notice to the county assessor.

Historical Data

When the report required pursuant to the provisions of Section 1241 of this title has been returned, the board of county commissioners shall appoint a time for holding a hearing to hear any complaints or objections that may be made concerning the appraisal and apportionment as to any of such lots or tracts of land. Notice of such hearing shall be published by the county clerk in six consecutive issues of a daily newspaper or two consecutive issues of a weekly newspaper of general circulation published in said county. The time fixed for said hearing shall be not less than five (5) nor more than ten (10) days from the last publication. Not less than ten (10) days before said hearing the clerk shall notify each listed record title holder of lots or tracts of land within said district as shown by the current ownership rolls in the county treasurer’s office in the manner provided pursuant to the provisions of Section 1234 of this title.

Historical Data

A. The board of county commissioners conducting said hearing or any adjournment thereof shall have the power to review and correct said appraisal and apportionment, and to raise or lower the same as to any lots or tracts of land, as they shall deem just, and shall, by resolution, confirm the same as so revised and corrected by them.

B. At or prior to said hearing, any person, firm or corporation may file objections in writing against the validity or amount of any proposed assessment, specifically setting forth the nature thereof, and shall have full opportunity to be heard thereon. The board of county commissioners shall adjudicate and determine said objections and shall make such order as may be just and proper. Any objections to the regularity of the proceedings with reference to the making of the improvement or the validity or the amount of any assessment, shall be deemed waived unless presented at the time and in the manner herein specified.

Historical Data

Any property which a city, town, county, or any board of education or school district shall hold title to shall be treated and considered the same as the property of other record title holders. Such city, town, county, school district, or board of education within the district to be assessed may pay the total assessment against its property without interest within thirty (30) days from the date of the publication of the resolution levying the assessment or, in the event the assessment is not paid in full without interest within the thirty-day period, the city, town, county, school district, or board of education shall annually provide by the levy of taxes in a sufficient sum to pay the maturing installments of assessments and interest on said assessments.

A. The board of county commissioners, in its discretion, may provide for the payment of the cost for improving streets, roads, intersections, alley crossings, or any part thereof, out of the county road fund.

B. The Transportation Commission is authorized in its sole discretion to enter into agreements with the board of county commissioners of any county for participation with State Highway Construction and Maintenance Funds in the cost of any improvements on roads and streets which are a part of the state highway system, and such agreements may provide for the award and supervision of the contract by said county, the state's share of the cost to be due and payable upon completion of the project.

Historical Data

Assessments in conformity to the appraisement and apportionment, as corrected and confirmed by the board of county commissioners, shall be payable in ten equal annual installments. The assessments shall bear interest at the rate of not more than thirteen percent (13%) per annum until paid, payable in each year at such time as the installments are made payable. The board of county commissioners of said county shall levy assessments by resolution in accordance with said appraisement and apportionment, as confirmed, against the record title holders of lots and tracts of land liable for said assessments. The resolution shall provide that the record title holders of the assessed property shall have the privilege of paying the amounts of their respective assessments without interest within thirty (30) days from the date of the publication of such resolution. The special assessments and each installment of such assessments and the interest on such assessments are hereby declared to be a lien against the lots and tracts of land assessed from the date of the publication of the resolution levying the same. Said lien shall be coequal with the lien of other taxes and prior and superior to all other liens against such lots or tracts of land. The lien shall continue for unpaid installments and interest until such assessments and interest thereon shall be fully paid. Unmatured installments shall not be deemed to be within the terms of any general covenant of warranty.

Historical Data

As soon as the assessing ordinance is adopted, the county clerk shall prepare a book which shall be known as the road assessment record in which he shall enter the names of each person holding title to the land to be assessed as ascertained from the records of the county, or in case the name of the record title holder is not known, a statement to that effect and description of the lot, tract, or subdivision, with a blank space for entering the amount of the assessment and with a suitable column for entering the payments which may be made from time to time on account of such assessment.

Historical Data

The first installment of the assessment, together with interest upon the whole assessment from the date of the passage of the assessing resolution to the first day of the next September, shall be due and payable in cash on or before the first day of September next succeeding the passage of the resolution. If such assessing resolution is not passed prior to the first day of July, the first installment of such assessment shall be due and payable in cash with interest from the date of the passage of such assessing resolution to the first day of September of the following year. In case any installment or interest is not paid when due, the installment so matured and unpaid and the unpaid interest thereon shall draw interest at the rate of fifteen percent (15%) per annum from maturity until paid, except otherwise provided. All assessments and interest shall be collected by the county clerk and shall be paid to the county treasurer who shall keep the same in a separate special fund for the purpose of paying the bonds and interest thereon, issued against such assessments. After the payment of all bonds and interest thereon, any surplus remaining in said fund shall be used for the purpose of repairing and maintaining any improvement for which assessments have been levied, and for no other purpose. No statute of limitations shall commence to run against any installment until after the maturity of all installments.

Historical Data

The assessments provided for and levied pursuant to the provisions of Sections 1230 through 1262 of this title shall be payable as the installments become due, together with the interest on said installments, to the county clerk who shall give proper receipts for such payments and credit the same upon the road assessment record. The county clerk shall be required to execute a good and sufficient bond, with sureties, and in an amount to be approved by the board of county commissioners, payable to the county, conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties enjoined upon him as provided by Sections 1230 through 1262 of this title as collector of said assessments. It shall be the duty of the county clerk to keep an accurate account of all such collections made by him and to pay to the county treasurer daily the amounts of such assessments collected by him. The amounts so collected and paid to the county treasurer shall constitute a separate, special fund to be used and applied to the payment of such bonds and the interest thereon, as provided by Sections 1257 through 1260 of this title. It shall be the duty of the county clerk, not less than thirty (30) days and not more than forty (40) days before the maturity of any installment of such assessments, to publish in two successive issues of a daily newspaper or in one issue of a weekly newspaper, published in the county and of general circulation in said county, a notice advising the record title holder of the land affected by such assessment of the date when such installment and interest will be due, and designating the road, street, streets, or other public places, or parts thereof, for the improvement of which such assessments have been levied, and that unless such assessments shall be promptly paid, said installment and interest shall bear interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum until paid, and proceedings taken according to law to collect said installment and interest. It shall be the duty of the county clerk, promptly after the date of maturity of any such installment and interest and on or before the fifteenth day of September in each year, to certify such installment and interest due to the county treasurer of the county in which the improvement district is located, which installment and interest shall be placed by said county treasurer upon the November delinquent tax list of the same year prepared by the treasurer of said county and collected as other delinquent taxes are collected. It shall be the duty of the county treasurer to collect such installments of assessment, together with interest and penalty, so certified to him by the county clerk, as provided for in this section, but any taxpayer shall have the right to pay his ad valorem taxes to the county treasurer regardless of the delinquency of such assessments. Within thirty (30) days from the receipt of such delinquent assessments, interest and penalty collected by the county treasurer shall be disbursed in accordance with the provisions of Sections 1230 through 1262 of this title. Failure of the county clerk to publish notice of the maturing of any installment and interest shall in no way affect the validity of the proceedings to collect such installment and interest pursuant to the provisions of this section. All payments to the county treasurer on account of such assessments shall be certified by him to the county clerk to be credited on the road assessment record.

Historical Data

Any holder of any road improvement bond issued pursuant to the provisions of Sections 1230 through 1262 of this title shall have the right to institute, in the name of the county issuing such bond, an action in the district court of the county in which said property is located to foreclose the lien of such assessment whenever such assessment, or any installment thereof, is delinquent for a period of at least twelve (12) months. The petition shall state generally the ownership of such bond, describing the property assessed, the nature of the improvement, the amount of the unpaid delinquent assessment and penalty thereon at the rate of fifteen percent (15%) per annum, and praying for the foreclosure of such lien. Summons shall be issued on such petition as in other civil actions and the cause tried in the district court. Judgment may be entered on such petition for the amount of such unpaid assessment or installment together with interest thereon at the rate of fifteen percent (15%) per annum from the date such assessment or installment was due and payable up to the time of the institution of such action and for the sum of fifteen percent (15%) interest on said judgment from the time of the institution of such action until said judgment is paid. In the event said judgment, together with interest and costs, is not paid within six (6) months after the date the judgment was rendered, an order of sale shall be issued by the clerk of said court directing the sheriff of the county to sell said real estate in manner and form as in the case of sale of real estate under execution. The judgment shall carry the costs of such action together with the costs of such sale. Upon the payment of such judgment, the amount of the payment, exclusive of costs, shall be paid to the county treasurer and become a part of the fund to pay such outstanding bonds and interest. The judgment shall provide for the sale of the real estate subject to existing general or ad valorem taxes and special assessments. All record title holders or encumbrancers shall be made parties defendant in such suit. Upon the institution of an action to collect delinquent and unpaid assessments in any improvement district within one (1) year of the completion of any improvement, county commissioners of any county shall require the contractor performing such work or improvement to make and execute a good and sufficient surety bond or deposit sufficient securities or obligations of the United States of America, of this state, or some municipality subdivision thereof, to be approved by said board of county commissioners in the sum to be determined by the board of county commissioners, in no case to be less than ten percent (10%) of the contract price, conditioned that the contractor will immediately reimburse the county for the maintenance of said improvements against any failure due to defective workmanship or materials for a period of one (1) year from the time of its completion and acceptances.

B. If at any time during the budget year it appears probable that revenues available will be insufficient to meet the amount appropriated, or that due to unforeseen emergencies there is temporarily insufficient money in a particular fund to meet the requirements of appropriation in the fund, the county budget board shall take such action as it deems necessary. For that purpose, it may amend the budget to reduce one or more appropriations or it may amend the budget to transfer money from one fund to another fund, but no appropriation for debt service may be reduced and no appropriation may be reduced by more than the amount of the unexpended and unencumbered balance thereof. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the transfer of supplies, materials, or equipment between county departments upon a written agreement between county officers.

B. The bid procedure for selecting a vendor for the purchase, lease-purchase, or rental of supplies, materials, and equipment used by a county shall be as follows:

1. The county purchasing agent shall request written recommendations from all county officers pertaining to commonly used supplies, materials, and equipment. From such recommendations and available requisition, purchase, or inventory records, the county purchasing agent shall prepare a list of items commonly used by county officers. The county purchasing agent shall request from the Purchasing Division of the Department of Central Services all contracts quoting the price the state is paying for the items. The county purchasing agent shall either request the Purchasing Division of the Department of Central Services to make the purchase for the county or solicit bids for unit prices on the items for periods of not to exceed twelve (12) months in the manner described in paragraph 2 of this subsection. If the county purchasing agent receives a requisition for an item for which the county purchasing agent does not have a current bid, the county purchasing agent shall request from the Purchasing Division of the Department of Central Services all contracts quoting the price the state is paying for the item. The county purchasing agent shall either request the Purchasing Division of the Department of Central Services to make the purchase for the county or solicit bids in the manner described in paragraph 2 of this subsection. Nothing in this paragraph shall prohibit bids from being taken on an item currently on a twelve-month bid list, at any time deemed necessary by the county purchasing agent.

Whenever the county purchasing agent deems it necessary to take a bid on an item currently on a twelve-month bid list, the reason for the bid shall be entered into the minutes of the board of county commissioners;
2. Bids shall be solicited by mailing a notice to all persons or firms who have made a written request of the county purchasing agent that they be notified of such bid solicitation and to all other persons or firms who might reasonably be expected to submit bids. Notice of solicitation of bids shall also be published one time in a newspaper of general circulation in the county. Notices shall be mailed and published at least ten (10) days prior to the date on which the bids are opened. Proof of the mailing shall be made by the affidavit of the person mailing the request for bids and shall be made a part of the official records of the county purchasing agent. Whenever any prospective supplier or vendor dealing in or listing for sale any particular item or article required to be purchased or acquired by sealed bids fails to enter or offer a sealed bid for three successive bid solicitations, the name of the supplier or vendor may be dropped from the mailing lists of the board of county commissioners;

3. The sealed bids received from vendors and the state contract price received from the Purchasing Division of the Department of Central Services shall be given to the county clerk by the county purchasing agent. The board of county commissioners shall keep a written record of the meeting as required by law, and any time the lowest bid was not considered to be the lowest and best bid, the reason for such conclusion shall be recorded. The quotes shall be recorded on a form prescribed by the State Auditor and Inspector and shall be attached to the purchase order and filed with the county clerk's copy of the purchase order. Any time the lowest quote was not considered to be the lowest and best quote, the reason for this conclusion shall be recorded by the county purchasing agent and transmitted to the county clerk, or
c. if three quotes are not available, a memorandum to the county clerk from the county purchasing agent shall describe the basis upon which a purchase is authorized. The memorandum shall state the reasons why the price for such a purchase is the lowest and best under the circumstances. The county clerk shall then attach the memorandum to the county clerk's copy of the purchase order and file both in the office of the county clerk.

B. Where personal property held under the circumstances provided in subsection A of this section is determined by the agency having custody to be unsuitable for disposition by public sale due to its condition or assessed by agency personnel as having limited or no resale value, it may be destroyed, discarded as solid waste or donated to a charitable organization designated by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service as a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization. Where disposition by destruction, discard, or donation is made of personal property, a report describing the property by category and quantity, and indicating what disposition was made for each item or lot, shall be submitted to the presiding judge of the district court within ten (10) days following the disposition.

C. The court shall set said application for hearing not less than ten (10) days nor more than twenty (20) days after filing.

Notice shall be given by the sheriff's office or campus police agency of said hearing to each and every owner known and as set forth in said application by certified mail directed to their last-known address at least ten (10) days prior to the date of said hearing. Said notice shall contain a brief description of the property of said owner and the place and date of the hearing. In addition thereto notice of said hearing shall be posted in three public places in the county, one being the county courthouse at the regular place assigned for the posting of legal notices.

A sheriff's office having in its possession money or legal tender under the circumstances provided in subsection A of this section, prior to appropriating the same for deposit into a special fund, shall file an application in the district court of its county requesting the court to enter an order authorizing it to so appropriate said money for deposit in said special fund. Said application shall describe the money or legal tender, together with serial numbers, if any, the date the same came into the possession of the sheriff's office or campus police agency, and the name and address of the owner, if known. Upon filing, said application, which may be joined with an application as described in subsection C of this section, shall be set for hearing not less than ten (10) days nor more than twenty (20) days from the filing thereof, and notice of said hearing shall be given as provided in subsection D of this section. Such notice shall state that, upon no one appearing to prove ownership to said money or legal tender, the same will be ordered by the court to be deposited in the special fund by the sheriff's office or campus police agency. Said notice may be combined with a notice to sell personal property as set forth in subsection D of this section. At the hearing, if no one appears to claim and prove ownership to said money or legal tender, the court shall order the same to be deposited by the sheriff's office or campus police agency in the special fund, as provided in subsection H of this section.

G. Where a sheriff's office or campus police agency has in its possession under the circumstances provided in subsection A of this section, personal property deemed to have potential utility to that sheriff's office, campus police agency or another governmental subdivision, prior to appropriating the personal property for use, the sheriff's office or campus police agency shall file an application in the district court requesting the court to enter an order authorizing it to so appropriate or transfer the property for use. The application shall describe the property, together with serial numbers, if any, the date the property came into the possession of the sheriff's office or campus police agency and the name and address of the owner, if known. Upon filing, the application, which may be joined with an application as described in subsection C of this section, shall be set for hearing not less than ten (10) days nor more than twenty (20) days from the filing thereof. Notice of the hearing shall be given as provided in subsection D of this section. At the hearing, if no one appears to claim and prove ownership to the personal property, the court shall order the property to be available for use by the sheriff's office or campus police agency or delivered to an appropriate person for use by the authorizing institution or another governmental subdivision.

The notice shall be mailed by registered or certified mail at the option of the county clerk.

If cash is deposited, the county clerk shall immediately show the lien released of record. If a bond is deposited, the lien claimant shall have ten (10) days after the notice is mailed within which to file a written objection with the county clerk. If a written objection is not timely filed the county clerk shall immediately show the lien released of record. If an objection is timely made, the county clerk shall set a hearing within ten (10) days thereafter and notify by ordinary mail both the lien claimant and the party making the deposit of the date and time thereof. The only grounds for objection shall be that: The surety is not authorized to transact business in this state; the bond is not properly signed; the penal amount is less than one hundred twenty-five percent (125%) of the claim; the power of attorney of the surety's attorney-in-fact does not authorize the execution; there is no power of attorney attached if the bond is executed by anyone other than the surety's president and attested by its secretary; or a cease and desist order has been issued against the surety either by the Insurance Commissioner or a court of competent jurisdiction. Within two (2) business days following the hearing the county clerk shall either sustain or overrule the objections and notify the parties of the county clerk’s ruling by ordinary mail. If the objections are sustained, the ruling of the county clerk shall be conclusive for lien release purposes unless appealed within ten (10) days to the district court. If the objections are overruled, the county clerk shall immediately show the lien released of record.

The bond shall: Name the lien claimant as obligee and the party seeking the release as principal; be executed by both the principal and the surety; have a proper power of attorney attached if executed by an attorney-in-fact; be executed by a corporate surety authorized to transact business in this state; and be conditioned that the principal and surety will pay the full amount of the claim as established in any appropriate court proceeding, plus any court costs and attorney's fees awarded the lien claimant, but in no event shall the liability of the principal or surety under the bond exceed the bond penalty. The preceding clause shall not limit the common law liability of the party who created the indebtedness upon which the lien claim is based. The conditions of any bond filed pursuant to this section shall be deemed to comply with the requirements hereof, regardless of the language or limitations set forth therein, if both the principal and surety intend that the bond be filed to secure a lien release under this section.
The cash deposit or bond, as the case may be, shall stand in lieu of the released lien, and the lien claimant must proceed against the substituted security in the same time and manner as is required for foreclosure of a lien claim. The cash deposit or bond shall stand liable for such principal, interest, court costs and attorney's fees to the extent they could be awarded in a lien foreclosure proceeding.

The only proper parties to an action against the substituted security are: The party making the cash deposit; the bond principal and surety; the party primarily liable for the indebtedness giving rise to the lien claim; and anyone else who may be liable to the lien claimant for the same indebtedness. The party making the cash deposit and the bond principal and surety are necessary parties to an action against the substituted security, and by making a deposit or filing a bond the parties subject themselves to personal jurisdiction in the court where the action is properly filed and may be served with process as in other cases.

If the lien claimant fails to timely file a foreclosure action, upon application of the party making the deposit or filing the bond and the payment of a fee of Ten Dollars ($10.00), the county clerk shall return the cash to the party making the deposit or appropriately note on the bond that the same has been released. The clerk shall not incur liability to any lien claimant for an inadvertent release of cash or bond. At the end of ten (10) years and after the county clerk has attempted written notification to the lien claimant at the address shown on the lien claim, if no foreclosure has been commenced by the lien claimant or such money has not been withdrawn upon application of the depositing party, the cash deposit plus all accrued interest shall be forfeited to the county general fund.

Nothing contained in this section shall preclude the lien claimant and other interested parties from entering into agreements for the substitution of a different form of security in lieu of the lien claim.

The county clerk shall invest the deposited cash in the manner provided for county treasurers in Section 348.1 of Title 62 of the Oklahoma Statutes. Any interest earned thereon shall become a part of the deposit and be either returned to the party making the deposit, if no action is filed, or paid in accordance with any final judgment rendered by the court in the action against the substituted security. If a district court judgment adverse to the depositing party is entered, in setting the amount of supersedeas bond the court shall take into consideration the existing cash deposit or bond.

A.

1. Except for a security interest in vehicles held by a dealer for sale or lease, and a vehicle being registered in this state which was previously registered in another state and which title contains the name of a secured party on the face of the other state certificate or title, a security interest in a vehicle as to which a certificate of title may be properly issued by the Oklahoma Tax Commission shall be perfected only when a lien entry form, and the existing certificate of title, if any, or application for a certificate of title and manufacturer's certificate of origin containing the name and address of the secured party and the date of the security agreement and the required fee are delivered to the Tax Commission or to a motor license agent. As used in this section, the term "dealer" shall be defined as provided in Section 1-112 of this title and the term "security interest" shall be defined as provided in paragraph (37) of Section 1-201 of Title 12A of the Oklahoma Statutes. When a vehicle title is presented to a motor license agent for transferring or registering and the documents reflect a lien holder, the motor license agent shall perfect the lien pursuant to subsection G of Section 1105 of this title. For the purposes of this section, the term "vehicle" shall not include special mobilized machinery, machinery used in highway construction or road material construction and rubber-tired road construction vehicles including rubber-tired cranes. The filing and duration of perfection of a security interest, pursuant to the provisions of Title 12A of the Oklahoma Statutes, including, but not limited to, Section 1-9-311 of Title 12A of the Oklahoma Statutes, shall not be applicable to perfection of security interests in vehicles as to which a certificate of title may be properly issued by the Tax Commission, except as to vehicles held by a dealer for sale or lease and except as provided in subsection D of this section. In all other respects Title 12A of the Oklahoma Statutes shall be applicable to such security interests in vehicles as to which a certificate of title may be properly issued by the Tax Commission.

2. Whenever a person creates a security interest in a vehicle, the person shall surrender to the secured party the certificate of title or the signed application for a new certificate of title, on the form prescribed by the Tax Commission, and the manufacturer's certificate of origin. The secured party shall deliver the lien entry form and the required lien filing fee within twenty-five (25) days as provided hereafter with certificate of title or the application for certificate of title and the manufacturer's certificate of origin to the Tax Commission or to a motor license agent. If the lien entry form, the lien filing fee and the certificate of title or application for certificate of title and the manufacturer's certificate of origin are delivered to the Tax Commission or to a motor license agent within twenty-five (25) days after the date of the lien entry form, perfection of the security interest shall begin from the date of the execution of the lien entry form, but otherwise, perfection of the security interest shall begin from the date of the delivery to the Tax Commission or to a motor license agent.

3. a. For each security interest recorded on a certificate of title, or manufacturer's certificate of origin, such person shall pay a fee of Ten Dollars ($10.00), which shall be in addition to other fees provided for in the Oklahoma Vehicle License and Registration Act. Upon the receipt of the lien entry form and the required fees with either the certificate of title or an application for certificate of title and manufacturer's certificate of origin, a motor license agent shall, by placement of a clearly distinguishing mark, record the date and number shown in a conspicuous place, on each of these instruments. Of the ten-dollar fee, the motor license agent shall retain Two Dollars ($2.00) for recording the security interest lien.

b. It shall be unlawful for any person to solicit, accept or receive any gratuity or compensation for acting as a messenger and for acting as the agent or representative of another person in applying for the recording of a security interest or for the registration of a motor vehicle and obtaining the license plates or for the issuance of a certificate of title therefor unless the Tax Commission has appointed and approved the person to perform such acts; and before acting as a messenger, any such person shall furnish to the Tax Commission a surety bond in such amount as the Tax Commission shall determine appropriate.

4. The certificate of title or the application for certificate of title and manufacturer's certificate of origin with the record of the date of receipt clearly marked thereon shall be returned to the debtor together with a notice that the debtor is required to register and pay all additional fees and taxes due within thirty (30) days from the date of purchase of the vehicle.

5. Any person creating a security interest in a vehicle that has been previously registered in the debtor's name and on which all taxes due the state have been paid shall surrender the certificate of ownership to the secured party. The secured party shall have the duty to record the security interest as provided in this section and shall, at the same time, obtain a new certificate of title which shall show the secured interest on the face of the certificate of title.

6. The lien entry form with the date and assigned number thereof clearly marked thereon shall be returned to the secured party. If the lien entry form is received and authenticated, as herein provided, by a motor license agent, the agent shall make a report thereof to the Tax Commission upon the forms and in the manner as may be prescribed by the Tax Commission.

7. The Tax Commission shall have the duty to record the lien upon the face of the certificate of title issued at the time of registering and paying all fees and taxes due on the vehicle.

B.

1. A secured party shall, within seven (7) business days after the satisfaction of the security interest, furnish directly or by mail a release of a security interest to the Tax Commission and mail a copy thereof to the last-known address of the debtor. If the security interest has been satisfied by payment from a licensed used motor vehicle dealer to whom the motor vehicle has been transferred, the secured party shall also, within seven (7) business days after such satisfaction, mail an additional copy of the release to the dealer. If the secured party fails to furnish the release as required, the secured party shall be liable to the debtor for a penalty of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) and, in addition, any loss caused to the debtor by such failure.

2. Upon release of a security interest the owner may obtain a new certificate of title omitting reference to the security interest, by submitting to the Tax Commission or to a motor license agent:

   a. a release signed by the secured party, an application for new certificate of title and the proper fees, or

   b. by submitting to the Tax Commission or the motor license agent an affidavit, supported by such documentation as the Tax Commission may require, by the owner on a form prescribed by the Tax Commission stating that the security interest has been satisfied and stating the reasons why a release cannot be obtained, an application for a new certificate of title and the proper fees.

Upon receiving such affidavit that the security interest has been satisfied, the Tax Commission shall issue a new certificate of title eliminating the satisfied security interest and the name and address of the secured parties who have been paid and satisfied. The Tax Commission shall accept a release of a security interest in any form that identifies the debtor, the secured party, and the vehicle, and contains the signature of the secured party. The Tax Commission shall not require any particular form for the release of a security interest.

The words “security interest” when used in the Oklahoma Vehicle License and Registration Act do not include liens dependent upon possession.

C. The Tax Commission shall file and index certificates of title so that at all times it will be possible to trace a certificate of title to the vehicle designated therein, identify the lien entry form, and the names and addresses of secured parties, or their assignees, so that all or any part of such information may be made readily available to those who make legitimate inquiry of the Tax Commission as to the existence or nonexistence of security interest in the vehicle.

D.

1. Any security interest in a vehicle properly perfected prior to July 1, 1979, may be continued as to its effectiveness or duration as provided by Sections 1-9-501 and 1-9-515 of Title 12A of the Oklahoma Statutes, or may be terminated, assigned or released as provided by Sections 1-9-512, 1-9-513 and 1-9-514 of Title 12A of the Oklahoma Statutes, as fully as if this section had not been enacted, or, at the option of the secured party, may also be perfected under this section, and, if so perfected, the time of perfection under this section shall be the date the security interest was originally perfected under the prior law.

2. Upon request of the secured party, the debtor or any other holder of the certificate of title shall surrender the certificate of title to the secured party and shall do such other acts as may be required to perfect the security interest under this section.

E. If a manufactured home is permanently affixed to real estate, the original document of title may be surrendered to the Tax Commission or a motor license agent for cancellation. When the document of title is surrendered, the owner shall provide the legal description or the appropriate tract or parcel number of the real estate and other information as may be required on a form provided by the Tax Commission. The Tax Commission may not cancel a document of title if a lien has been registered or recorded. The Tax Commission or motor license agent shall notify the owner and any lienholder that the title has been surrendered to the Tax Commission and that the Tax Commission may not cancel the title until the lien is released. Such notification shall include a description of the lien and such notification to the owner shall be accompanied by the return of title surrendered. Permanent attachment to real estate does not affect the validity of a lien recorded or registered with the Tax Commission before the document of title is cancelled pursuant to this section. The rights of a prior lienholder pursuant to a security agreement or the provisions of a credit transaction and the rights of the state pursuant to a tax lien are preserved. The Tax Commission or motor license agent shall forward the information to the county assessor of the county where the real estate is located and indicate whether the original document of title has been canceled. A fee of Five Dollars ($5.00) shall accompany the application for cancellation of title. When the fee is paid by a person making an application directly with the Tax Commission, the fee shall be deposited in the Oklahoma Tax Commission Revolving Fund. A fee paid to a motor license agent shall be retained by the agent. A security interest in a manufactured home perfected pursuant to this section shall have priority over a conflicting interest of a mortgagee or other lien encumbrancer, or the owner of the real property upon which the manufactured home became affixed or otherwise permanently attached. The holder of the security interest in the manufactured home, upon default, may remove the manufactured home from such real property. The holder of the security interest in the manufactured home shall reimburse the owner of the real property who is not the debtor and who has not otherwise agreed to access the real property for the cost of repair of any physical injury to the real property, but shall not be liable for any diminution in value to the real property caused by the removal of the manufactured home, trespass, or any other damages caused by the removal. The debtor shall notify the holder of the security interest in the manufactured home of the street address, if any, and the legal description of the real property upon which the manufactured home is affixed or otherwise permanently attached and shall sign such other documents, including any appropriate mortgage, as may reasonably be requested by the holder of such security interest.

F. In the case of motor vehicles or trailers, notwithstanding any other provision of law, a transaction does not create a sale or security interest merely because it provides that the rental price is permitted or required to be adjusted under the agreement either upward or downward by reference to the amount realized upon sale or other disposition of the motor vehicle or trailer.

Upon the filing of a registration application and the payment of the fees provided for in the Oklahoma Vehicle License and Registration Act, the Oklahoma Tax Commission shall assign to the vehicle described in the application a distinctive number, and issue to the owner of the vehicle a certificate of registration and one license plate or a yearly decal for the year that a license plate is not issued. The yearly decal shall have an identification number and the last two numbers of the registration year for which it shall expire. Except as provided by Section 1113A of this title, the license plate shall be affixed to the exterior of the vehicle until a replacement license plate is applied for. The license plate and decal shall be of such size, color, design and numbering as the Tax Commission may direct. However, yearly decals issued to the owner of a vehicle who has filed an affidavit with the appropriate motor license agent in accordance with Section 7-607 of this title shall be a separate and distinct color from all other decals issued under this section.

2. The license plate shall be securely attached to the rear of the vehicle, except truck-tractor plates which shall be attached to the front of the vehicle. The Tax Commission may, with the concurrence of the Department of Public Safety, by joint rule, change and direct the manner, place and location of display of any vehicle license plate when such action is deemed in the public interest. The license plate, decal and all letters and numbers shall be clearly visible at all times. The operation of a vehicle upon which the license plate is covered, overlaid or otherwise screened with any material, whether such material be clear, translucent, tinted or opaque, shall be a violation of this paragraph.

Upon payment of the annual registration fee, the Tax Commission shall issue a certificate of registration that shall be carried at all times in the vehicle for which it is issued. Provided, if the registrant submits its application through electronic means, such qualified owners of one hundred or more commercial motor vehicles, properly registered pursuant to the provisions of Section 1133 of this title, may elect to receive a permanent certificate of registration that shall be carried at all times in the vehicle for which it is issued.

2. The provisions of the Oklahoma Vehicle License and Registration Act regarding the issuance of yearly decals shall not apply to the issuance of apportioned license plates, including license plates for state vehicles, and exempt plates for governmental entities and fire departments organized pursuant to Section 592 of Title 18 of the Oklahoma Statutes;
3. Within the limits herein prescribed the Tax Commission shall redesign the official vehicle license plates which currently bear the legend "Oklahoma OK" or "Oklahoma is OK!" and substitute therefor the legend "Oklahoma Native America" as further described in this paragraph. Except for personalized license plates and license plates issued for motorcycles and mopeds, the emblem on the state flag of Oklahoma as provided for in Section 91 of Title 25 of the Oklahoma Statutes shall be a part of all license plates issued after December 31, 1988. The Tax Commission may continue to issue license plates with the legend "Oklahoma is OK!" or "Oklahoma OK" until any inventory of such license plates is depleted but the Tax Commission shall not produce or cause to be produced any additional license plates with these legends. Except for personalized license plates, license plates issued for commercial vehicles, and license plates issued for motorcycles and mopeds, the "Oklahoma Native America" emblem shall be a part of all license plates issued after December 31, 1993. The specifications for lettering style and appearance for the legend "Oklahoma Native America" shall be provided to the Tax Commission by the Oklahoma Tourism and Recreation Department. The license plates shall be issued with the letters and numerals in the colors of green and white. All license plates and decals shall be made with reflectorized material as a background to the letters, numbers and characters impressed thereon. The reflectorized material shall be of such a nature as to provide effective and dependable brightness during the service period for which the license plate or decal is issued;

Such license plate shall expire on December 31 of each year. When the vehicle, travel trailer or commercial trailer is parked on the dealer's licensed place of business, it shall not be required to have a license plate of any kind affixed. A dealer shall obtain from the Oklahoma Tax Commission at a cost of Ten Dollars ($10.00) a dealer license plate for demonstrating, transporting or any other normal business of a dealer. A dealer may obtain as many additional license plates as may be desired upon the payment of Ten Dollars ($10.00) for each additional license plate. Use of the used dealer license plate by a licensed dealer for other than the purposes as set forth herein shall constitute grounds for revocation of the dealer's license. The Oklahoma Tax Commission shall design the official used dealer license plate to include the used dealer's license number issued to him or her each year by the Commission or the Used Motor Vehicle and Parts Commission.

B. Upon the purchase or transfer of ownership of an out-of-state used motor vehicle, travel trailer or commercial trailer to a licensed dealer, the dealer shall make application for an Oklahoma certificate of title pursuant to the Oklahoma Vehicle License and Registration Act, Section 1101 et seq. of Title 47 of the Oklahoma Statutes. Upon receipt of the Oklahoma certificate of title, the dealer shall follow the procedure as set forth in subsection A of this section. Provided, nothing in this title shall be construed as requiring a dealer to register a used motor vehicle, travel trailer or commercial trailer purchased in another state which will not be operated or sold in this state.

C. Upon sale or transfer of ownership of the used motor vehicle or travel trailer, the dealer shall place upon the reassignment portion of the certificate of title a tax stamp issued by the county treasurer of the county in which the dealer has his or her primary place of business. The tax stamp shall be issued upon payment of a fee of Three Dollars and fifty cents ($3.50) and shall be in lieu of the dealer's ad valorem tax on the inventories of used motor vehicles or travel trailers but shall not relieve any other property of the dealer from ad valorem taxation.

D. Upon sale of a used motor vehicle or travel trailer to another licensed dealer, the selling dealer shall place the tax stamp required in subsection C of this section upon the certificate of title. The used dealer license plate or wholesale dealer license plate shall be removed by the selling dealer. Such temporary documentation shall be valid for two (2) days following the date of sale.
E. The purchaser of every used motor vehicle, travel trailer or commercial trailer, except as otherwise provided by law, shall obtain registration and title for the vehicle or trailer within thirty (30) days from the date of purchase of same. The temporary license plate shall show the license number which is issued to the dealer each year by the Oklahoma Tax Commission or the Used Motor Vehicle and Parts Commission, the date the used motor vehicle, travel trailer or commercial trailer was purchased and the company name of the selling dealer. Such temporary license plate shall be valid for a period of thirty (30) days from the date of purchase. The purchaser shall display the temporary license plate for a period not to exceed thirty (30) days or until registration and title are obtained as provided in this section.

When the amount of the aggregate losses presented by a single claimant exceeds the limits of paragraph 1 or 2 of subsection A of this section, each person suffering a loss shall be entitled to that person's proportionate share.

E. The total liability of resident physicians and interns while participating in a graduate medical education program of the University of Oklahoma College of Medicine, its affiliated institutions and the Oklahoma College of Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery shall not exceed One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000.00).

The state or political subdivision shall be allowed to interplead in any action which may impose on it any duty or liability pursuant to this act.
G. The liability of the state or political subdivision under The Governmental Tort Claims Act shall be several from that of any other person or entity, and the state or political subdivision shall only be liable for that percentage of total damages that corresponds to its percentage of total negligence. B. F. Judgements, orders, and settlements of claims shall be open public records unless sealed by the court for good cause shown.

Historical Data

As an alternative to paying the money judgment out of the sinking fund at the rate of one-third (1/3) each year, the court, based on consideration of evidence and proof, may provide for the judgment to be paid over a period of not less than one (1) nor more than ten (10) years. The interest rate on any judgment when payment is extended more than three (3) years shall be at the rate prescribed by law for the first three (3) years and at the rate of six percent (6%) for each remaining year.

The Governmental Tort Claims Act
Section 162 - "Constitutional or Statutory Rights, Privileges or Immunities - Violation by Employee - Defending - Indemnification - Right of Recovery - Punitive or Exemplary Damages. The Government Tort Claims Act."

The Government Tort Claims Act.

A. The state or any political subdivision, subject to procedural requirements imposed by this section, other applicable statute, ordinance, resolution or written policy, shall:

1. Provide a defense for any employee as defined in Section 152 of this title when liability is sought for any violation of property rights or any rights, privileges or immunities secured by the Constitution or laws of the United States when alleged to have been committed by the employee while acting within the scope of employment;

2. Pay or cause to be paid any judgment entered in the courts of the United States, the State of Oklahoma or any other state against any employee or political subdivision or settlement agreed to by the political subdivision entered against any employee, and any costs or fees, for a violation of property rights or any rights, privileges or immunities secured by the Constitution or laws of the United States which occurred while the employee was acting within the scope of employment. The maximum aggregate amount of indemnification paid directly from funds of the state or any political subdivision to or on behalf of any employee pursuant to this section shall not exceed the maximum figures authorized by the provisions of Section 154 of this title, regardless of the number of persons who suffer damage, injury or death as a result of the occurrence, unless, in the case of a political subdivision, the political subdivision establishes higher limits by ordinance, if a municipality, or, as to other political subdivisions, by resolution, published as required by law; and

3. For any cause of action filed against an employee on or after January 1, 1990, post or cause to be posted any supersedeas or other bond ordered by the court.

B.

1. The state or a political subdivision shall not be required to indemnify any employee of the state or a political subdivision under the provisions of this section, unless the employee is judicially determined to be entitled to such indemnification and a final judgment therefor is entered. The exclusive means of recovering indemnification from the state shall be by filing an application for indemnification in the district court of the county where venue is proper as provided for in paragraph 2 of this subsection. The exclusive means of recovering indemnification from a political subdivision shall be by filing an application for indemnification in the trial court where the judgment was entered. If the federal trial court cannot hear the action, such application shall be filed in the district court of the county where the situs of the municipality is located. Actions to determine entitlement to indemnification shall be tried to the court, sitting without a jury.

2. Venue for actions to determine entitlement to indemnification from the state shall be in Oklahoma County, except that a constitutional state agency, board or commission may, upon a resolution being filed with the Secretary of State, designate another situs for venue in lieu of Oklahoma County.

3. All applications for indemnification from the state or a political subdivision shall be filed in the name of the real party or parties in interest, and in no event shall any application be presented nor recovery made under the right of subrogation. Indemnification from the state as provided for in this subsection shall extend only to acts or omissions occurring on or after January 1, 1984. The employee of the state or a political subdivision must file an application for indemnification within thirty (30) days of final judgment, or the right to seek indemnification shall be lost forever.

4. In order to recover indemnification from the state or a political subdivision pursuant to this subsection, the court shall determine by a preponderance of the evidence that:

   a. the employee reasonably cooperated in good faith in the defense of the action upon which the judgment or settlement was awarded and for which indemnification is sought;

   b. the actions or omissions upon which such a judgment or settlement has been rendered were not the result of fraudulent conduct or corruption by the employee;

   c. the employee, in committing the acts or omissions upon which a judgment or settlement has been rendered was acting in good faith and within any applicable written administrative policies known to the employee at the time of the omissions or acts alleged;

   d. the employee was acting within the scope of employment at the time that the acts or omissions upon which a judgment or settlement has been rendered were committed by the employee;

   e. the acts or omissions of the employee upon which a judgment or settlement has been rendered were not motivated by invidious discriminatory animus directed toward race, sex, or national origin; and

   f. when punitive or exemplary damages are included in the total award rendered against the employee of a political subdivision, the indemnification amount sought for fees and costs does not include amounts attributable to the employee's defense against the punitive or exemplary damages in accordance with subsection D of this section.

   a. Any indemnification judgment against the state under this section shall be an encumbrance against otherwise available unencumbered monies and unallocated unencumbered monies in the appropriations of the agency on whose behalf the employee to be indemnified was acting at the time of the act or omission upon which the judgment or settlement was awarded and for which indemnification was sought.

   b. If sufficient unencumbered monies or unallocated unencumbered monies do not exist in the agency's appropriations to pay the indemnification, the agency shall make application to the Risk Management Division of the Office of Public Affairs for full payment of the indemnification out of the Tort Claims Liability Revolving Fund established pursuant to Section 85.35 of Title 74 of the Oklahoma Statutes. Payment out of this fund shall be authorized if there are sufficient monies greater than the sum total of the then pending fund indemnification judgment requests, and the reserves for future tort claims as certified by the Director of Risk Management.

c. If sufficient monies do not exist in the Tort Claims Liability Revolving Fund, the agency shall request the Legislature to make an appropriation sufficient to pay the indemnification.

d. Any indemnification judgment against a political subdivision shall be paid as provided in Sections 361 through 365.6 of Title 62 of the Oklahoma Statutes and Section 159 of this title.

C. The state or political subdivision shall have the right to recover from an employee the amount expended by the state or political subdivision to provide a defense, or pay a settlement agreed to by the employee and the state or political subdivision, or pay the final judgment, if it is shown that the employee's conduct which gave rise to the action was fraudulent or corrupt or if the employee fails to reasonably cooperate in good faith in defense of the action.

D. The state or a political subdivision shall not, under any circumstances, be responsible to pay or indemnify employee for any punitive or exemplary damages rendered against the employee, nor to pay for any defense, judgment, settlement, costs or fees which are paid or covered by any applicable policy or contract of insurance. Where any civil rights judgment upon which indemnification under subsection B of this section is applied for by an employee of the state includes an award for both actual and punitive or exemplary damages, the total amount of fees and costs for which indemnification may be allowed shall be limited to the percentage of fees and costs in the total award that the percentage of the award of actual damages bears to the total judgment awarded. It is the public policy of the State of Oklahoma that the state or a political subdivision may indemnify its employee for actual damages, fees, and costs as provided herein in any case in which the findings set out in paragraph B of this section have been determined.

E. Nothing in this section shall be construed to waive any immunities available to the state under the terms of the Eleventh Amendment to the Constitution of the United States. Any immunity or other bar to a civil lawsuit under state or federal law shall remain in effect. The fact that the state or a political subdivision may relieve an employee from all judgments, settlements, costs or fees arising from the civil lawsuit shall not, under any circumstances, be communicated to any trier of fact in the case of any trial by jury.

1. A certified check, cashier's check or bid bond equal to five percent (5%) of the bid, which shall be deposited with the awarding public agency as a guaranty; or

2. An irrevocable letter of credit containing terms the Construction and Properties Division of the Department of Central Services prescribes, issued by a financial institution insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation for the benefit of the state, on behalf of the awarding public agency, in an amount equal to five percent (5%) of the bid. The awarding public agency shall deposit the irrevocable letter of credit with the Division.

B. The cost of republication of the notice to bidders, actual expenses incurred by reason of the bidder's default and the difference between the low bid of the defaulting bidder and the amount of the bid of the bidder to whom the contract is subsequently awarded, but not to exceed the amount of the certified check, cashier's check, bid bond or irrevocable letter of credit may, at the discretion of the awarding public agency, be forfeited to the awarding public agency in the event the apparently successful bidder fails to execute the contract or fails to provide the required bonds or irrevocable letters of credit and insurance to the awarding public agency.

C. A. Except as otherwise provided by law, within the period of time, not to exceed sixty (60) days, specified in the bid notice by the awarding public agency, a contract embodying the terms set forth in the bidding documents shall be executed by the awarding public agency and the successful bidder. 1. A bond or irrevocable letter of credit complying with the provisions of Section 1 of this title;

2. A bond in a sum equal to the contract price, with adequate surety, or an irrevocable letter of credit containing terms prescribed by the Construction and Properties Division of the Department of Central Services issued by a financial institution insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation for the benefit of the state, on behalf of the awarding public agency, in a sum equal to the contract price, to ensure the proper and prompt completion of the work in accordance with the provisions of the contract and bidding documents;

4. Public liability and workers’ compensation insurance during construction in reasonable amounts. A public agency may require the contractor to name the public agency and its architects or engineers, or both, as an additional assured under the public liability insurance, which requirement, if made, shall be specifically set forth in the bidding documents.

E. No public agency shall require for any public construction project, nor shall any general contractor submit a project bid based on acquiring or participating in, any wrap-up, wrap-around, or controlled insurance program. For the purposes of this subsection, “wrap-up, wrap-around, or controlled insurance program” means any insurance program that has the effect of disabling or rendering inapplicable any workers’ compensation, commercial general liability, builders’ risk, completed operations, or excess liability insurance coverage carried by a subcontractor that is engaged or to be engaged on a public construction project.

At the time of deposit of any securities the same shall be endorsed, if necessary, and shall be accompanied by a conditional assignment to the awarding public agency, or to the other public body designated as "owner" in the contract documents, which will empower the awarding public agency, or other appropriate public official designated to have custody of same, to negotiate same at any time to the extent necessary to cause the contract to be fulfilled. Persons willfully violating this section shall be guilty of a felony. Each bidder shall accompany his bid with a sworn statement that he has not been a party to any such agreement. The form of the statement shall be substantially as provided in Section 85.22 of Title 74 of the Oklahoma Statutes, but modified in wording to refer to the appropriate public agency requesting bids.

Historical Data

Historical Data

A. In order to determine the responsibility of bidders, the awarding public agency may require prospective bidders, general contractors, subcontractors and material suppliers to prequalify as responsible bidders prior to submitting bids on a public construction contract. Notice of any such prequalification requirement shall be made equally and uniformly known by the awarding public agency to all prospective bidders and the public in the same manner as proposals to award public construction contracts as set forth in Section 104 of this title. Financial information including, but not limited to, audited financial statements required by the awarding public agency as part of prequalification shall remain confidential.

B. The Oklahoma Transportation Commission and the Oklahoma Transportation Authority may establish a system for prequalifying prospective bidders on construction and maintenance contracts to be awarded by the Commission or Authority. The Commission and the Authority shall be the sole judge of the qualifications of prospective bidders and shall ascertain, to their exclusive satisfaction, the qualifications of each prequalified bidder. Any contractor or subcontractor prequalified as of the effective date of this act performing signing, highway lighting, or traffic signal installation or maintenance for the Oklahoma Department of Transportation or the Oklahoma Transportation Authority shall be allowed to continue to bid and perform such work without obtaining any additional license from this state or any political subdivision of this state. However, no contractor or subcontractor may transfer, convey or assign this exemption to any other person or entity.

Historical Data

1. To reimburse counties of this state for loss of revenue due to exemptions of ad valorem taxes for new or expanded manufacturing or research and development facilities;

2. To reimburse counties of this state for loss of revenue for school district and county purposes due to exemptions granted pursuant to the provisions of Section 2890 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes; and Monies apportioned to this fund also may be transferred to other state funds or otherwise expended as directed by the Legislature by law.

B. The county commissioners of each county seeking reimbursement for lost revenue from the Ad Valorem Reimbursement Fund shall make claims for reimbursement on forms prescribed by the Tax Commission prior to April 30 of each year. Claims for reimbursement for loss of revenue due to exemptions of ad valorem taxes for new or expanded manufacturing or research and development facilities shall be made separately from claims for reimbursement for loss of revenue for school district and county purposes due to exemptions granted pursuant to the provisions of Section 2890 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes and separately from claims for reimbursement for loss of revenue for decreased valuation and assessment of buffer strips. For the purposes of simplifying budgetary accounting of the several counties and other municipal subdivisions of the State of Oklahoma, all public officers charged under the law with making financial statements, budgets, levies, and accounting for public funds of such municipal subdivisions of the state are hereby directed and required to account for all such public funds in the manner provided for in this act.

First. All funds for current requirements arising out of an ad valorem tax levy assessed and collected under the provisions of Section 9, Article 10, Constitution, as amended, except Separate School Funds, are hereby declared to constitute the "General Fund" of such county, city, town, independent or dependent school district, or other municipal subdivisions of the state. All special "funds" arising out of an ad valorem tax levy, within the limitations of said Section 9, Article 10, Constitution, except Separate School Funds, authorized or required by existing laws to be devoted to a specific or special purpose, or that may hereafter be so authorized or required, unless specifically excepted, shall, from and after the effective date of this act, be accounted for as integral "budget accounts" within and as a part of the said "General Fund." Each such integral budget account shall bear the title ascribed by law to such special purpose, and it shall be subject to be so itemized for purpose of appropriation as the law may direct for the accomplishment of such special purpose, and none of the items of appropriation within such special budget account shall ever be expended for any purpose other than provided by the law creating such special fund (now budget account) nor shall any part of it ever be available for transfer to any other budget account within the General Fund. It is provided, however, that cancellation and/or transfer between the several items of appropriation for a special purpose within the limitations and in the manner provided by law is hereby authorized.

The total of the items of appropriation for a special purpose for which it is not mandatory to make a levy, if now or hereafter limited to a fixed or maximum rate of ad valorem mill levy, shall be limited in amount to the equivalent of the net proceeds of such ad valorem tax rate, plus ninety percent (90%) of the miscellaneous revenue collected from such source during the preceding fiscal year.

If a levy for a special purpose be mandatory, under legislative exercise of the sovereign powers of the state to direct a constitutional function, the total of the several items of appropriation for such mandatory special purpose must be fixed by the county excise board at the equivalent of the net proceeds of such ad valorem rate as the law may direct, plus the amount of any unexpended balance of appropriations for the same special purpose of the preceding year; provided, however, that if the said governing board of the municipality attach to the estimate of needs for the ensuing year a certificate executed under oath that all of the requirements of the legislative mandate involving such special fund or account have been fully met, the total of appropriations then to be approved shall be limited to the equivalent of the net proceeds of such mandatory levy, plus ninety percent (90%) of the miscellaneous revenue collected from such source during the preceding fiscal year.

The total of the several items of appropriation currently necessary for salaries generally and other governmental requirements other than those authorized or required to be provided by special funds, or budget accounts as herein provided, shall constitute an integral account within the General Fund, to be known henceforth as the "Governmental Budget Account" to be itemized as now provided by law.
Out of such portion of the fifteen (15) mills that may be apportioned to county purposes by the county excise board, or the Legislature, under the provisions of Section 9, Article 10, Constitution, as amended, there is hereby specifically apportioned, and the equivalent of the net proceeds thereof required to be used for:

crippled children, mandatory to provide aid to curable defectives, one-tenth (1/10) mill;

County audit, mandatory to police county public funds, one-tenth (1/10) mill; and the residue of that portion of the fifteen-mill limit apportioned to county purposes shall be used, so far as may be necessary, together with other income and surpluses legally accruing to the county general fund, other than those indicated in the "Fifth" provision of this section, to provide for the estimate of needs submitted by the board of county commissioners, until otherwise provided by law, as follows:

Governmental Budget Account, optional with board of county commissioners; Highway Levy Budget Account, optional with board of county commissioners; Free Fair Budget Account, optional within limit of applicable statute; Free Fair Improvement Budget, optional within net proceeds of one (1) mill; Free Fair Additional Improvement Budget, optional within net proceeds of one (1) mill; Library Budget Account, optional within net proceeds of one-half (1/2) mill; Public Health Budget Account, optional within net proceeds of one (1) mill; Tick Eradication Account, optional with board of county commissioners; Bovine T. Such portion of the fifteen (15) mills that may be apportioned to city and/or town purposes by the county excise board, or the Legislature, under the provisions of Section 9, Article 10, Constitution, as amended, shall be used, so far as may be necessary, together with other income and surpluses legally accruing to the general fund of such city or town, other than those indicated in the "Fifth" provision of this section, as defined herein, to provide for the estimate of needs as submitted by the governing board of such city or town, until otherwise provided by law, as follows:

Such portion of the fifteen (15) mills that may be apportioned to school purposes by the county excise board, or the Legislature, together with the number of mills excess levy legally voted, under the provisions of Section 9, Article 10, Constitution, as amended, shall be used, so far as may be necessary, together with other income and surpluses accruing to the General Fund of such school district, other than those indicated in the "Fifth" provision of this Section, to provide for the estimate of needs as submitted by the governing boards of the several school districts as follows:
Governmental Budget Account, limited in ratio of the nontransferred pupils to the enumerated pupils as to total appropriation; Transfer Budget Account, limited in ratio of the transferred pupils to the enumerated pupils as to total appropriation; unless the Legislature should, at some future time, provide for other special budget accounts within the General Fund.

When the totals of all "General Fund" appropriations as integrated and defined under this subsection shall have been determined for each municipality and the levy and/or levies computed, according to law, the levy and/or levies so computed shall thenceforth cease to be separate but shall be certified, extended, collected, and distributed as a "General Fund Levy" for such municipality, accounted for, together with any other current general fund revenue, as its "General Fund," and expended by issuance of one series of General Fund Warrants for such year.

Third. All funds created by tax levy under the provisions of Section 10, Article 10, Constitution, are hereby declared to constitute the "Building Fund" of such municipality as may authorize such fund by legal election under the terms of said Section; and such levy shall be separately computed, certified, distributed when collected, and so expended.

Fourth. All funds required to be provided by ad valorem tax levy to pay outstanding indebtedness created under authority of Section 26 and/or Section 27, Article 10, Constitution, are hereby declared to constitute the "Sinking Fund" of such county or other municipal subdivision, to be used for the payment of coupons, bonds, and judgments as provided by law.

Fifth. All excise taxes collected by the State of Oklahoma and distributed to the counties or other municipal subdivisions under legislative enactment for specific purposes, and all contributions by the State of Oklahoma out of its General Revenues to any of the municipal subdivisions of the State to be expended under direction of statute, and all local collections required by law to be accounted for as cash funds, shall, when received by the treasurer thereof, to set up in a distinct and separate "Cash Fund", identified in the title thereof by the purpose for which such distribution or contribution is made; and all warrants drawn thereon shall be payable on demand. None of these excise taxes or state contributions shall be appropriated by the county excise board before the cash is actually on hand; then the governing board involved shall prepare an estimate of needs to be met therefrom and submit it to the county excise board, and if said excise board finds said estimate to be for legal purposes and the treasurer thereof certifies that the cash is actually on hand, then the excise board shall approve such estimate.
