Cite as: O.S. §. __ __

The governing board of any county, city, town, township, board of education, school district or any other municipal corporation of this state, holding in its sinking fund either warrants, judgments or bonds, is authorized to enter into an agreement with the governing board of the municipality against which said warrants, judgments or bonds are an obligation thereof, to accept funding or refunding bonds in lieu of said obligations. Said agreement shall provide for the rate of interest said funding or refunding bonds shall bear, which may be less than the rate of interest the indebtedness to be funded bears.

Historical Data

Laws 1937, p. 152, § 1.
A. The governing board of any county, city or town, or school district is authorized to rent on a monthly basis real or personal property as authorized by the governing board and to pay the rental charges thereon for usage during any fiscal period, or portion thereof, out of appropriations made and approved for such purposes for, or during, such fiscal year. Any such rental contract extending beyond June 30 of the fiscal year shall contain provisions for mutual ratification of renewal under the conditions provided in this section.

B. As used in this section, the term "personal property" shall include, but not be limited to:

1. Portable, or otherwise moveable, buildings and structures;
2. Prefabricated metal buildings and structures, along with necessary utility services for such buildings or structures;
3. Roofs placed over existing roof structures; provided, retrofit metal roofs shall not be included within the definition of "personal property" for purposes of this section; and
4. Other structures or property that can be disassembled after installation and removed without permanent physical damage to existing property.

Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 7 of Title 60 of the Oklahoma Statutes, such personal property shall retain its status as personal property and shall not be deemed to become attached to the real estate for the duration of the lease-purchase agreement.

C. It is the purpose of this section to authorize such governing boards to enter into lease and lease-purchase contracts but not to incur any obligation upon the part of their respective municipal or governmental subdivisions in excess of the income and revenue thereof provided for such purposes for the fiscal year in which the lease contract is effectively operative.

D. Any agreement to lease and purchase real or personal property, where title is to be acquired by the municipal or governmental subdivision, shall state the purchase price of the real or personal property so leased and in no event shall the lease be extended so as to cause payment of more than the stated purchase price of the real or personal property plus interest not to exceed ten percent (10%) simple interest on the unpaid balance due as of each payment date. When the purchase price plus interest has been paid, the property shall belong to the lessee and the lessor shall deliver a bill of sale to the property to the lessee. Any lease-purchase agreement may include an option to purchase, transfer and acquire title during the term of the lease upon payment of the balance of the agreed purchase price, and each agreement shall include a provision to transfer title to the lessee at the end of the completed lease term for nominal or no additional consideration.

E. The payment for the lease or rental of real or personal property shall be made only from annual and supplemental appropriations specifically designated for such purpose, and no appropriation for the purpose of paying rentals on real or personal property shall be transferred or diverted to any other purpose, except as may be authorized by the terms of the agreement or by law.
F. When any real or personal property has been leased or rented during any fiscal year under any contract which permits continuance of such rental for the remainder of the fiscal year, the renting or leasing thereof shall be continued for the remainder of the fiscal year unless the governing body renting or leasing the same, by proper resolution entered in the minutes of the governing body, shall certify that the continuance of such rental is unnecessary and contrary to the public interest. However, to affect a contract termination of lease or lease-purchase equipment, written notice shall be sent by certified mail to the vendor thirty (30) days prior to the termination of the contract. Such notice shall be accompanied by payment of all sums then owed up to the date of the termination of the contract and shall certify that the canceled equipment is not being replaced by equipment performing similar functions. All equipment covered by such contract termination shall be returned to the vendor at the expense of the governmental agency terminating such contract. Such equipment shall be returned in good condition to a location designated by the vendor and the equipment, when returned, shall be free of all liens and encumbrances. Satisfaction of all of the requirements of this section shall release the governmental agency terminating such contract from any further obligation to make any further payments to the vendor.

Cite as: O.S. §, __ __

A. It shall be the duty of the officers of each municipal corporation in the State of Oklahoma by law authorized to levy taxes to make a levy each year for a sinking fund, which shall, with cash actually on hand and lawful investments in such fund, excluding taxes in process of collection, be sufficient to pay:

1. All the bonded indebtedness of such municipality coming due prior to April 1 of the second ensuing fiscal year for which no prior levy has been made;

2. The interest accrued but unpaid and to accrue on all outstanding bonds of such municipality to June 30th of the ensuing fiscal year;

3. A sinking fund to pay any interest payable on the last and final bond maturity coming due after such June 30th but before the tax levy of the succeeding fiscal year may be made and collected;

4. A sum, after reserving from said cash and investments on hand for bond and bond-interest accruals as aforesaid and judgment accruals theretofore levied for bonds unpaid, equal to one-third (1/3) of the original amount of all outstanding judgments against the municipality when one-third (1/3) or more of such judgment remains due and unpaid, and in case less than one-third (1/3) of such judgment remains due then for the entire amount of such judgment yet remaining unpaid; and

5. The interest accrued but unpaid and to accrue on all unsatisfied judgments within the ensuing fiscal year but not beyond June 30th of such year.

B. The foregoing formula shall be applied by said taxing officials each year in determining the amount necessary to raise by tax levy for sinking fund purposes, independently of actions taken in previous years; and, if by omission to make a levy which could have been validly made for any judgment, bonds or interest coupons, or where from any cause the cash and valid investments in the sinking fund does not equal the accrual liabilities, it shall be the duty of said taxing officials to readjust the annual bond accrual in accordance with the foregoing formula in order that said bonds shall be paid when due, save and except only that where the cash and valid investments in the sinking fund at the close of any fiscal year, after reserving for interest accrued and accruing under the priority therefor as contained in Section 28 of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution, is insufficient to pay and retire any bonds matured or to mature before another tax levy may be made and collected and no action has been instituted to refund such matured bonds or to convert them to judgment, it shall be the duty of said taxing officials to include, in addition to interest thereon or aforesaid, an accrual therefor in an amount equal to the bonds so matured or to mature or the annual accrual first lawfully applicable to the issue thereof, whichever is the lesser.

C. It is the sole intention of this section to require that the pledge contained in Sections 26, 27 and 35 of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution, be fulfilled, and that sinking funds be applied as provided by Section 28 of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution.

No warrant, certificate of indebtedness or bond shall be a valid charge until registered by the treasurer of the municipality issuing the same as herein provided. Nothing herein shall prevent the appointment and compensation from time to time by the governing body of any county, city, town or school district and to maintain books and records relating thereto. Warrants and all evidences of indebtedness shall draw a rate of interest to be fixed by the governing board not to exceed the maximum rate provided by Section 498.1 of this title from and after its registration by the treasurer, unless there is cash on hand to pay the same when presented for registration and then the treasurer shall make the same “payable” after registering the same, and no interest shall be computed or allowed thereon when paid. When the treasurer has money on hand to pay warrants duly registered, the treasurer shall publish notice thereof in one issue of a newspaper, or by posting five notices in public places, and interest shall cease on the warrants after thirty (30) days from the date of the publication or posting of said notice.

Historical Data

From and after the passage of this act, without regard to the time when funds may be collected and are available to pay the same, any and all warrants issued in payment of obligations of counties, townships, school districts, cities, towns and other municipal subdivisions or corporations of this state, shall as to time of payment, become due one (1) year after the close of the fiscal year for which the same was issued, and action thereon may be commenced in any court of competent jurisdiction to enforce the liability evidenced thereby. Unless action be commenced by the filing of suit thereon and service of summons by the aforesaid due date, the same shall be forever thereafter barred, and it shall not be necessary that such lapse of time be asserted as a defense in any such action in order that the defendant be relieved of liability thereon.

Historical Data

No check issued or voucher registered by the treasurer of any county in this state shall be honored by the bank on which it is drawn or by his registration made payable if not presented within a reasonable time under the circumstances, or in any event unless presented within one (1) year of the date of issue.

When one (1) year shall have elapsed after the date of issue of any county treasurer's check drawn against any public funds in the county treasurer's custody or of any voucher drawn by any public officer against the public officer's official depository account with the county treasurer, other than checks and vouchers which may be issued to another public officer for the benefit of the state or a subdivision thereof, it shall be the duty of the county treasurer to make entry of cancellation opposite the record of the check or registration of the voucher, and shall forthwith credit the amount thereof to the fund on which it was drawn and report the action on forms and in the manner prescribed by the State Auditor and Inspector.

Provided, that nothing in this act shall supersede or repeal any of Section 693 of Title 58 of the Oklahoma Statutes.

Repealed by Laws 2000, c. 136, § 17, eff. July 1, 2000

Historical Data

A. A treasurer of a public entity shall require that financial institutions deposit collateral securities or instruments to secure the deposits of the public entity in each such institution. The amount of collateral securities or instruments to be pledged for the security of public deposits shall be established by the treasurer of the public entity consistent with the provisions of the Security for Local Public Deposits Act; provided, such amount shall not be less than the amount of the deposit to be secured, less the amount insured.

B. Upon authorization by the treasurer of a public entity, a financial institution shall place required collateral securities in a restricted account at a Federal Reserve Bank which serves Oklahoma, a Federal Home Loan Bank which serves Oklahoma or with another financial institution located in this state that is not owned or controlled by the same institution or holding company. The State Treasurer shall designate a number of such financial institutions authorized to serve as safekeeping or custodial institutions. The financial institution depositing collateral securities shall deliver to the treasurer of the public entity a power of attorney authorizing the treasurer to transfer or liquidate the securities in the event of a default, financial failure or insolvency of a public depository. The State Treasurer must approve any forms or pledge agreements used by public entities and financial institutions in securing public deposits of public entities.

C. Securities eligible for collateral shall be valued at market value. The treasurer shall review and determine the market value of collateral pledged for security not less than quarterly. The market value of pledged securities shall be provided to the treasurer by either the financial institution holding the deposit or the financial institution holding the collateral securities, which market value must have been obtained from an independent, recognized and documented source. The State Treasurer shall promulgate rules to provide for the valuation of collateral if the market value is not readily determinable. The State Treasurer shall prescribe reporting requirements and forms for financial institutions to list collateral securities pursuant to this section.

D. The State Treasurer shall promulgate rules for the acceptance of collateral instruments described in Section 12 of this act, to secure deposits of the public entity. Such rules shall require that sufficient documentation exists to establish that the provider of the collateral instrument will protect the public entity in the event of a default, financial failure or insolvency of a public depository.

E. All securities purchased by a treasurer of a public entity or held in custody for other departments of the public entity by the treasurer shall be held in financial institutions not involved in such transactions and shall not be held by the treasurer or a broker.

A. For purposes of securing public deposits, the treasurer of a public entity may accept as collateral only those securities and other instruments listed below. To insure the safety of public funds, the treasurer may establish standards which restrict, or limit further, any of the types or classes of securities or instruments listed below which may be accepted. Any treasurer of a public entity may request the State Treasurer to determine the eligibility of an individual security for pledging under this section. The treasurer may select the following securities and instruments for the purpose of securing public deposits:
1. Obligations, including letters of credit of the United States Government, its agencies and instrumentalities;
2. Obligations of this state or of a county, municipality, or school district of this state or of an instrumentality of this state or a county, municipality or school district of this state;
3. General obligation bonds of any other state of the United States; and
4. A surety bond if:
   a. subject to the terms and conditions of the bond, it is irrevocable and absolute,
   b. the surety bond is issued by an insurance company authorized to do business in Oklahoma, and which has been approved by the State Treasurer,
   c. the issuer of the surety bond does not provide surety bonds for any one financial institution in an amount that exceeds ten percent (10%) of the surety bond insurer's policyholders' surplus and contingency reserve, net of reinsurance, and
   d. the claims-paying ability of the authorized insurance company is rated, at all relevant times, in the highest category by at least two nationally recognized rating agencies acceptable to the State Treasurer.
B. A financial institution may substitute different forms of collateral from time to time, provided that the collateral is acceptable to the treasurer, and meets the requirements of this section and the rules of the State Treasurer.

Historical Data

In the event of a default or insolvency of a public depository, the treasurer of a public entity shall implement the following procedures:

1. In cooperation with the State Department of Banking and other regulatory officials, the treasurer shall ascertain the amount of public funds on deposit at the defaulting institution and the amount of deposit insurance applicable to such deposit;

2. The potential loss to the public entity shall be calculated by the treasurer. The loss to the public entity shall be satisfied, insofar as possible, first through any applicable deposit insurance and then through the sale of securities pledged, or through the proceeds of collateral instruments pledged, by the defaulting depository institution. Such sales shall be conducted by the treasurer;

3. The securities, bonds or other forms of collateral shall become forfeited to and become the property of the public entity. If the securities, bonds or other forms of collateral are valued at less than the amount of principal and interest due to the public entity plus the cost of the ensuing sale, the securities, bonds and other forms of collateral shall be sold by the treasurer, and the treasurer shall be entitled to recover from the financial institution such balances with costs and attorney's fees. If the market value of the securities, bonds or other forms of collateral exceeds the principal and interest due to the public entity plus the cost of the ensuing sale, the securities, bonds and other forms of collateral may be sold by the treasurer and the excess of the proceeds shall be returned to the pledging financial institution or its receiver, without further process of law.

Historical Data

Laws 1959, p. 258, § 5.
The Treasurer of the State of Oklahoma, the county treasurer in any county when authorized by the board of county commissioners, and the lawful treasurer of any city, town or board of education, when authorized so to do by the lawfully constituted governing body of such city, town, or board of education may invest the sinking funds in his custody in United States bonds, United States Treasury notes, United States Treasury certificates or Postal Savings certificates, to the payment of which the faith and credit of the United States is pledged by the terms of such bonds, notes or certificates, or in State bonds, Public Building Bonds, State Warrants or State Treasury notes of the State of Oklahoma issued under authority of legislative enactment, or in the bonds or judgments of courts of record of the particular and specific municipality whose sinking funds are to be invested, or in current warrants of his own registration, provided the securities so purchased mature prior to the time the money so invested is required by law to be on hand in cash for the purpose of meeting the bonded indebtedness of the state or the municipal subdivision thereof whose sinking funds are so invested, and further, provided the bonds of the particular municipality whose sinking funds are to be so invested or the current warrants of such treasurer's own registration, can be purchased at not to exceed par and accrued interest. If deemed advisable to invest the sinking funds in the custody of the county treasurer, or in the custody of the lawful treasurer of any city, town or board of education, in lawfully issued county, city, town, township, board of education, or dependent school district bonds issued by a municipal subdivision of the State of Oklahoma, other than the one whose sinking fund is proposed to be invested, or if deemed advisable to invest the sinking fund of such municipal subdivision in its own bonds at the market for more than par and accrued interest, then the county treasurer or the lawful treasurer of such city, town, or board of education, if authorized by the duly constituted governing board to whom he is by law required to render account, either at his own instigation or by the lawfully constituted attorney of such county, city, town or board of education, may file a duplicate application in writing in the district court, in which application he shall set forth the full nature and description of the securities which he proposed to purchase, together with the estimated value thereof, the aggregate amount thereof and the proposed price of purchase; and he shall further disclose in said application, the condition of the sinking fund account so proposed to be invested, and the bond, coupon and judgment indebtedness payable therefrom with maturities and accruals scheduled in detail. Thereupon it shall be the duty of the court clerk of such county to docket such application, without cost, upon the appearance docket of such district court as other civil actions; and it shall be the immediate duty of such court clerk to transmit the duplicate application, schedules, and exhibits to the district attorney who shall enter his appearance in such instance on behalf of the public and who may, at the discretion of the court, require such further information by detailed exhibits, schedules or statistics as may seem advisable. Within three (3) days after the filing of such application, the judge of such district court shall enter an order setting such application for hearing, and directing the court clerk to give such notice to the public of such application and the date of hearing thereof as said district judge may deem proper for the protection of the public and the taxpayers of such county and/or the municipal subdivisions thereof, and, if such notice be directed to be had by publication in some newspaper named by the court, the expense thereof shall be borne out of any appropriation for legal expense of such county, city, town or board of education. It shall be the duty of the district attorney to file in said proceedings, in writing, at the date appointed for such hearing, a correct report setting forth the opinion of such district attorney as to the soundness of such investments and advisability thereof, the validity of such securities, and particularly whether or not the municipality issuing the same has a net bonded indebtedness in excess of five percent (5%) of the net assessed valuation thereof as last certified by the county assessor to its county excise board. Upon the date set for such hearing, any taxpayer shall have the right to appear in person, either with or without the aid of counsel, and make such protest or objection to such investment as he may deem proper for the protection of himself or the taxpayers of such county. Thereupon it shall be the duty of the district judge, informally and in open court to hear any and all evidence and protests, either in support of or opposition to said proposed investment, and at the close of such hearing, to enter an order with reference to such application for investment as may be found and determined by the court for the protection and best interest of the county or municipal subdivision thereof whose sinking funds are proposed to be invested, and to the best interest of the public and taxpayers thereof; and thereupon, such district court may, by journal entry of judgment entered and recorded in such proceedings, either authorize in whole or in part that such investment be made, or deny such application.

Historical Data

A. The clerk of any municipal subdivision, county, city, town, or school district, is hereby authorized and empowered to issue a second or duplicate check, warrant or voucher in lieu of any check, warrant or voucher that has been issued and subsequently lost or destroyed. Except as provided in subsection B of this section or unless the treasurer of any municipal subdivision, county, city, town or school district has evidence that a stop-payment order has been issued, no second or duplicate check, warrant or voucher shall be issued until an affidavit setting forth the facts as to the loss or destruction of the original check, warrant or voucher has been filed with the clerk, together with an indemnifying bond running to the treasurer of the municipal subdivision, county, city, town or school district, or to the Treasurer of the State of Oklahoma, in double the amount of such lost or destroyed check, warrant or voucher. The conditions of such bond shall be to indemnify and protect the municipal subdivision, county, city, town or school district, or to the Treasurer of the State of Oklahoma, from any loss or harm occasioned or sustained on account of the issue of such second or duplicate check, warrant or voucher. The bond shall be satisfactory to the treasurer of such municipal subdivision, county, city, town or school district, or to the Treasurer of the State of Oklahoma, who shall, upon being satisfied as to the sufficiency of the bond, endorse approval thereon. The clerk and treasurer shall make such records in their respective offices as will, as nearly as possible, preclude any loss being sustained by the municipal subdivision, county, city, town or school district, or to the Treasurer of the State of Oklahoma, on account of the issue of any second or duplicate check, warrant or voucher. Warrants issued by the State Treasurer against claims submitted through the Director of State Finance in payment of obligations of the state which may subsequently be lost or destroyed will be governed by the provisions of Section 34 of Title 74 of the Oklahoma Statutes.

B. If a board of education of a school district approves, an alternate warrant with a new number may be issued by a school district for a lost or destroyed warrant, upon affidavit of the payee as set forth in subsection A of this section and upon the treasurer stopping payment on the original warrant, and if such warrant also serves as a check, upon stopping payment of the check by the payor bank.

Historical Data

A. The Code provides that interest with respect to certain obligations may not be exempt from federal income taxation unless they are in registered form. It is therefore a matter of state concern that public entities be authorized to provide for the issuance of obligations in such form. It is a purpose of this act to empower all public entities to establish and maintain a system pursuant to which obligations may be issued in registered form within the meaning of the applicable provisions of the Code.

B. Obligations have traditionally been issued in bearer rather than in registered form, and a change from bearer to registered form may affect the relationships, rights and duties of issuers of and the persons that deal with obligations, and by such effect, the costs. Such effects will impact the various issuers and varieties of obligations differently depending on their legal and financial characteristics, their markets and their adaptability to recent and prospective technological and organizational developments. It is therefore a matter of state concern that public entities be provided flexibility in the development of such systems and control over system incidents, so as to accommodate such differing impacts. It is a purpose of this act to empower the establishment and maintenance, and amendment from time to time, of differing systems of registration of obligations, including system incidents, so as to accommodate the differing impacts upon issuers and varieties of obligations. It is further a purpose of this act to authorize systems that will facilitate the prompt and accurate transfer of registered public obligations and developing practices with regard to the registration and transfer of registered public obligations.

C. In order that all state and local obligations issued after July 1, 1983, retain their tax exempt status and avoid other penalties, the Legislature of the State of Oklahoma hereby urges and encourages all state and local obligations be in registered form unless:

1. The obligation is not of a type offered to the public;

2. The obligation has a maturity at issue of one (1) year or less; or

3. The obligation is sold only to foreign persons and interest on such obligation is payable only outside the United States and its possessions. These exemptions from registration shall be construed in light of Internal Revenue Code Regulations interpreting 16 U.S.C.A. Section 310(b).

Historical Data

Added by Laws 1983, c. 170, § 3, eff. July 1, 1983.
A. Each issuer is authorized to establish and maintain a system of registration with respect to each obligation which it issues. The system may either be:

1. A system pursuant to which only certificated registered public obligations are issued; or

2. A system pursuant to which only uncertificated registered public obligations are issued; or

3. A system pursuant to which both certificated and uncertificated registered public obligations are issued. The issuer may amend, discontinue and reinstitute any system, from time to time, subject to covenants.

B. The system shall be established, amended, discontinued or reinstituted for the issuer by, and shall be maintained for the issuer as provided by, the official or official body.

C. The system shall be described in the registered public obligation or in the official actions which provide for original issuance of the registered public obligation, and in subsequent official actions providing for amendments and other matters from time to time. Such description may be by reference to a program of the issuer which is established by the official or official body.

D. The system shall define the method or methods by which transfer of the registered public obligation shall be effective with respect to the issuer, and by which payment of principal and any interest shall be made. The system may permit the issuance of registered public obligations in any denomination to represent several registered public obligations of smaller denominations. The system may also provide for the form of any certificated registered public obligation or of any writing relating to an uncertificated registered public obligation, for identifying numbers or other designations, for a sufficient supply of certificates for subsequent transfers, for record and payment dates, for varying denominations, for communications to holders or owners of obligations, and for accounting, canceled certificate instruction registration and release of security interests and other incidental matters. Unless the issuer otherwise provides, the record date for interest payable on the first or fifteenth day of a month shall be the fifteenth day or the last business day of the preceding month, respectively, and for interest payable on other than the first or fifteenth day of a month, shall be the fifteenth calendar day before the interest payment date.

E. Under a system pursuant to which both certificated and uncertificated registered public obligations are issued, both types of registered public obligations may be regularly issued, or one type may be regularly issued and the other type issued only under described circumstances or to particular described categories of owners and provision may be made for registration and release of security interests in registered public obligations.

F. The system may include covenants of the issuer as to amendments, discontinuances, and reinstatements of the system and the effect of such on the exemption of interest from the income tax provided for by the Code.
G. Whenever an issuer shall issue an uncertificated registered public obligation, the system of registration may provide that a true copy of the official actions of the issuer relating to such uncertificated registered public obligation be maintained by the issuer or by the person, if any, maintaining such system on behalf of the issuer, so long as the uncertificated registered public obligation remains outstanding and unpaid. A copy of such official actions, verified to be such by an authorized officer, shall be admissible before any court of record, administrative body or arbitration panel without further authentication.

H. Nothing in this act shall preclude a conversion from one of the forms of registered public obligations provided for by this act to a form of obligation not provided for by this act if interest on the obligation so converted will continue to be exempt from the income tax provided for by the Code.

I. The rights provided by other laws with respect to obligations in forms not provided for by this act shall, to the extent not inconsistent with this act, apply with respect to registered public obligations issued in forms authorized by this act.

The portion of the costs of the system not provided to be paid for by the transferor or transferee or out of proceeds shall be the liability of the issuer.

B. The issuer may as a part of a system of registration provide for reimbursement or for satisfaction of its liability by payment by others. The issuer may enter into agreements with others respecting such reimbursement or payment, may establish fees and charges pursuant to such agreements or otherwise, and may provide that the amount or estimated amount of such fees and charges shall be reimbursed or paid from the same sources and by means of the same collection and enforcement procedures and with the same priority and effect as with respect to the obligations.

The bonds may be issued in one or more series, may bear such date or dates, may mature at such time or times, not exceeding thirty (30) years from their respective dates, may bear interest at such rate or rates, not exceeding the maximum rate provided by Section 498.1 of this title, may be in such form, may be executed in such manner, may be payable in such medium of payment, at such place or places, may be subject to such terms of redemption, and may contain such terms, covenants, and conditions as the resolution may provide including without limitation those pertaining to the custody and application of the proceeds of the bonds, the collection and disposition of revenues, the maintenance of various funds and reserves, the nature and extent of the security, the rights, duties, and obligations of the trustees and the trustee for the holders or registered owners of the bonds, and the rights of the holders or registered owners of the bonds. There may be successive bond issues for the purpose of financing the same industrial project (lands, buildings, or facilities) involving one or more industries, and there may be successive bond issues for financing the cost of reconstructing, replacing, constructing additions to, extending, improving, and equipping industrial projects (lands, buildings, or facilities) already in existence, whether or not originally financed by bonds issued under this act, with each successive issue to be authorized as provided by this act. Priority between and among issues and successive issues as to security of the pledge of revenues and mortgage lien on the lands, buildings, and facilities involved may be controlled by the ordinance or resolution authorizing the issuance of bonds hereunder. The bonds shall have all the qualities of negotiable instruments under the negotiable instruments laws of this state.

(b) Said resolution may provide for the execution by the trustees of an indenture which defines the rights of the bondholders and provides for the appointment of a trustee for the bondholders. Such indenture may control the priority between successive issues and may contain any other terms, covenants, and conditions that are deemed desirable, including without limitation those pertaining to the custody and application of the proceeds of the bonds, the collection and disposition of revenues, the maintenance of various funds and reserves, the nature and extent of the security, the rights, duties, and obligations of the trustees and the trustee for the holders or registered owners of the bonds, and the rights of the holders or registered owners of the bonds; provided, the indenture shall state that it constitutes no obligation against or pledge of the full faith and credit of the municipality and county.

The bonds may be sold with the privilege of conversion into an issue bearing other rate or rates of interest, upon such terms that the trustees receive no less and pay no more than they would receive and pay if the bonds were not converted, and the conversion shall be subject to the approval of the trustees.

(d) The bonds shall be executed by the chairman and secretary of the trustees, and in case any of the officers whose signatures appear on the bonds shall cease to be such officers before the delivery of such bonds or coupons, such signatures shall nevertheless be valid and sufficient for all purposes. Facsimile signatures may be used as provided in the Registered Public Obligations Act of Oklahoma.
Amended by Laws 1983, c. 170, § 58, eff. July 1, 1983.
Such revenue bonds shall not be general obligations of the municipality or county, and in no event shall the revenue bonds constitute an indebtedness of the municipality or county within the meaning of any constitutional or statutory limitation. It shall be plainly stated on the face of each bond that the same has been issued under the provisions of this act, and under the terms of 60 O.S. 1951 Sections 176 - 180, inclusive, as amended by Sections 1 and 2, Chapter 4, Title 60, page 277, Oklahoma Session Laws 1953 (60 O.S. Supp. 1959, Sections 176 and 177), relating to public trusts, and that it does not constitute an indebtedness of the municipality or county within any constitutional or statutory limitation. The principal of and the interest on the revenue bonds, and paying agent's fees, shall be payable in the first instance from gross revenues derived from the lands, buildings, and/or facilities acquired, constructed, reconstructed, extended, and/or improved, in whole or in part, with the proceeds of the bonds. In addition, the trustees, with prior approval of the municipality or county, are authorized to pledge to and use for the payment of the principal of and interest on the bonds, and paying agent's fees, such revenues derived from other lands, buildings, and/or facilities used and useful or securing and developing industry and/or surplus revenues derived from water, sewer, gas, and electric utilities owned by the municipality or county and by such beneficiary transferred or leased to the trustees for such purpose, provided that such transfer or lease shall have been included in the question voted upon and approved in the election required to be held under Section 4 of this act. for the purpose of this section the phrase "surplus revenues" is hereby defined to be any revenues over and above the costs of financing the general government and utility functions of the municipality or county in any fiscal year, or any prior commitments of such revenues.

Historical Data

Such refunding bonds may be combined with bonds issued under the provisions of Section 3 of this act into a single issue. When bonds are issued under this section for refunding purposes, such bonds may either be sold or delivered in exchange for the outstanding obligations. If sold, the proceeds may be either applied to the payment of the obligations refunded or deposited in escrow for the retirement thereof. All bonds issued under this section shall in all respects be authorized, issued, and secured in the manner provided for other bonds issued under this act and shall have all the attributes of such bonds. Subject to the subsequent provisions of this section, there shall exist a statutory mortgage lien upon the lands, buildings, and/or facilities acquired, constructed, reconstructed, extended, equipped, or improved, in whole or in part, with the proceeds of revenue bonds issued under this act which shall exist in favor of the holders of the bonds and in favor of the holders of the coupons attached to said bonds, and said lands, buildings, and/or facilities shall remain subject to such statutory mortgage lien until payment in full of the principal of and interest on said revenue bonds. Anything herein to the contrary notwithstanding, the resolution and/or indenture referred to in Section 5 of this act may impose a foreclosable mortgage lien upon the lands, buildings, and/or facilities acquired, constructed, reconstructed, extended, equipped, or improved, in whole or in part, with the proceeds of revenue bonds issued under this act and the nature and extent of said mortgage lien may be controlled by the resolution or indenture including, without limitation, provisions pertaining to the release of all or part of the lands, buildings, and/or facilities from the mortgage lien and the priority of mortgage lien in the event of successive bond issues as authorized by Section 5 of this act. Subject to such terms, conditions, and restrictions as may be contained in the resolution or indenture authorizing and/or securing the said bonds, any holder of bonds issued under the provisions of this act, or of any coupon attached thereto, may, either at law or in equity, enforce the mortgage lien and may, by proper suit, compel the performance of the duties of the officials of the issuing trustees set forth in this act and set forth in any resolution and/or indenture authorizing and/or securing the said bonds.

The receiver shall have the power to operate and maintain the said lands, buildings, and/or facilities and to charge and collect rates and/or rents sufficient to provide for the payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds, after providing for the payment of any cost of receivership and operating expenses of said lands, buildings, and/or facilities, and to apply the income and revenues derived from said lands, buildings, and/or facilities in conformity with this act and the resolution or indenture authorizing and/or securing the said bonds. When the default has been cured, the receivership shall be ended and the properties returned to the trustees. The relief afforded by this section shall be construed to be in addition and supplemental to the remedies that may be afforded the trustee for the bondholders and the bondholders in the resolution or indenture authorizing and/or securing the bonds, and shall be so granted and administered as to accord full recognition to priority rights of bondholders as to the pledge of revenues from, and the mortgage lien on, said lands, buildings, and/or facilities as specified in and fixed by the resolutions or indentures authorizing and/or securing successive bonds issues.

C. It is the intention of the Legislature in adopting the Local Development Act that no long-term contractual obligation be created by the mere adoption of an ordinance or resolution establishing an increment district. Notwithstanding any provision contained in an ordinance, resolution or project plan, an ordinance or resolution establishing an increment district shall constitute a legislative act and may be repealed, modified or amended at any time during the term of the increment district, by subsequent action of the governing body. However, nothing in the Local Development Act shall restrict the ability of:

1. Any city, town or county to:

   a. issue debt in accordance with the applicable provisions of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution, and any statutes enacted in connection therewith, and

   b. use incremental revenues derived from an increment district to pay principal, interest or premium associated with such indebtedness; or

2. Any public entity, other than a city, town or county, to:

   a. issue tax apportionment bonds or notes in accordance with Section 863 of this title or to issue other types of revenue bonds or notes in accordance with other applicable provisions of Oklahoma law, and

b. use incremental revenues derived from an increment district to pay principal, interest or premium associated with such indebtedness.

Local Development Act
Section 860 - Project Plan - Granting of Incentives or Exemptions from Local Taxation

A. A project plan may contain a provision that certain local taxes may be subject to incentives or may be exempted in reinvestment areas, historic preservation areas or enterprise areas.

B. The governing body may grant incentives or exemptions from local taxation only on the new investment made. No ad valorem tax incentives or exemptions may be granted on the value of property which has been assessed or which is subject to assessment prior to the adoption of the project plan. No ad valorem tax incentives or exemptions authorized in this section may be granted for retail establishments. If a retail establishment is located in property which otherwise qualifies for an incentive or exemption pursuant to this section, the incentive or exemption shall not be allowed for that portion of the property used for such retail establishment. As used in this subsection, “retail establishment” shall not include an establishment that provides lodging, including but not limited to a hotel, apartment hotel, public rooming house or motel. No ad valorem tax incentives or exemptions authorized in this section may be granted if the property is located in an increment district or as long as the property is subject to the ad valorem tax exemption for new or expanding manufacturing facilities as authorized by Section 6B of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution. In the event of disposition by lease or sublease to a lessee not entitled to an ad valorem tax exemption, the improvements placed thereon shall not be entitled to an ad valorem tax exemption provided for in Section 850 et seq. of this title. The incentives or exemptions, which may be full or partial, may be granted for a period not to exceed five (5) years; however, in enterprise zones incentives or exemptions may be granted for a period not to exceed six (6) years.

C. No incentives or exemptions may be granted to any business or firm that is relocating within the state and is subject to or in the process of recruitment by two or more governmental entities within the state unless the governmental entity in which the business or firm does not locate adopts a resolution giving their approval to the granting of incentives or exemptions to the business or firm locating in the competing governmental entity. No incentives or exemptions may be granted to an out-of-state business or firm that is subject to or in the process of recruitment by two or more governmental entities within the state except as otherwise provided for in this subsection. The prohibition against incentives or exemptions to a business or firm relocating within the state may be waived upon application by the governing body to, and approval of, the Director of the Oklahoma Department of Commerce. In order for the Director to approve the waiver, the Director must find that the incentives or exemptions are necessary and sufficient to attract the business or firm and that the benefits generated by the business location outweigh the costs of the business location.

D. A project plan may contain a provision that ad valorem taxes may be exempted in a commercial historic preservation area that is adjacent to and serves designated historical residential areas for neighborhood commercial preservation purposes in order for the neighborhood to retain its basic character and scale. No ad valorem tax exemption may be granted on the value of property which has been assessed or which is subject to assessment prior to the adoption of the project plan. No ad valorem tax exemption shall be granted pursuant to the provisions of this subsection for single-family residences. The governing body may grant the exemption only on the increase in value of the property. The exemptions may be granted for a specific period of time as determined by a written agreement between the property owners of the area and the governing body and may be renewed. Uses of the property eligible for this exemption may include but not be limited to commercial, office or multifamily residential use.

Local Development Act
Section 861 - Project Plan - Apportionment of Increment from Local Taxes or Fees.

A. A project plan may contain a provision that the increments from certain local taxes or fees may be used to finance project costs in areas qualified under the Local Development Act. The increment from local taxes or fees levied from and after the effective date of the approval of such plan shall be apportioned in the following manner for a period not to exceed twenty-five (25) years or the period required for payment of project costs, whichever is less:

1. That portion of the ad valorem taxes which are produced by the levy at the rate fixed each year by or for each such ad valorem taxing entity upon the base assessed value of the increment district determined pursuant to Section 862 of this title and as to an area later added to the increment district, the effective date of the addition to the increment district, shall be paid to each taxing entity and all or any portion of local sales taxes, other local taxes or local fees collected each year which are not subject to apportionment shall be paid or retained as otherwise provided by law; and

2. All or any portion of:
   a. ad valorem taxes, in excess of such amount specified in paragraph 1 of this subsection, b. the increment of local sales taxes, other local taxes or local fees, or a combination thereof, paid to or for the benefit of the city, town, or county approving the plan, and
   c. with its consent, evidenced by agreement in writing, the increment of local sales tax, other local taxes or local fees, or combination thereof, payable to any other local public taxing entity, shall be apportioned to, and when collected, shall be paid into an apportionment fund established for the project pursuant to the project plan. Such revenues shall be used for the payment of the project costs and for the payment of the principal of, the interest on, and any premiums due in connection with the bonds of, loans, notes, or advances of money to, or indebtedness incurred to finance project costs, whether funded, refunded, assumed, or otherwise, for financing, in whole or in part, eligible project costs. Nothing shall prohibit the increments from being used to directly pay eligible project costs. When all eligible project costs and such bonds, loans, advances of money or indebtedness, if any, including interest thereon and any premiums due in connection with them, have been paid and the governing body adopts an ordinance or resolution dissolving the tax apportionment financing, all ad valorem taxes upon the taxable property within the boundary of such district shall be paid into the funds of the respective taxing entities.

B. If a project plan contains a provision for apportionment as provided in subsection A of this section, and notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the governing body shall direct in the resolution or ordinance approving the plan which portion of the increments, including whether any or all, to be paid into the apportionment fund shall constitute a part of the general fund to be appropriated annually by the governing body, and which portion, including whether any or all, shall constitute funds of a public entity authorized to issue tax apportionment bonds or notes or to incur project costs.

C. To the extent that collections exceed project costs and the provisions for payment of principal and interest along with sufficient reserves on any bonds issued pursuant to the provisions of Section 863 of this title, the excess shall be paid into the funds of the respective taxing entities unless the taxing entity agrees to some other use of such collections.

D. Except as provided in subsection E of this section, for any year in which taxes or fees are apportioned in the manner specified in paragraph 2 of subsection A of this section, any increase in assessed valuation of taxable real property or taxable personal property within the boundaries of such district in excess of the base assessed value shall not be considered by any taxing entity in computing any debt limitation or for any other purpose except for the levy of taxes and in determining the amount to be apportioned.

E. In the event there is a general reassessment of ad valorem tax property valuations of any property within the boundaries of an increment district, the portions of valuations for assessment pursuant to paragraphs 1 and 2 of subsection A of this section shall be proportionately adjusted in accordance with such reassessment.

F. Nothing in this section shall be construed as relieving property in such project area from being assessed as provided in the Ad Valorem Tax Code of the Oklahoma Statutes, or as relieving owners of such property from paying a uniform rate of taxes, as required by Section 5 of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution.

G. If property in an increment district is owned by a public trust or public entity and is leased for a private use, the lease shall require the private user to pay ad valorem taxes or an in lieu ad valorem tax payment, whichever is appropriate, on the value of the leasehold.

A. Upon approval of a plan containing apportionment financing as provided in Section 861 of this title, the county assessor shall, within ninety (90) days, determine the total assessed value of all taxable real property and all taxable personal property within the boundaries of an increment district which shall be certified by the assessor as the "base assessed value".

B. Any school district located within the boundaries of an increment district may file a protest with the governing body of the city, town or county as to the amount certified by the county assessor as the "base assessed value" of the increment district. Such protest shall be filed within thirty (30) days after the "base assessed value" is certified by the county assessor. The governing body of the city, town or county shall notify the county assessor of the protest. Within thirty days after being notified of the protest, the county assessor shall redetermine the total assessed value of all taxable real property and all taxable personal property within the boundaries of the increment district and shall certify to the governing body of the city, town or county the redetermined amount as the "base assessed value" of that district.

C. After the county assessor has certified the "base assessed value" of the taxable real property and all taxable personal property in such increment district, then in respect to every taxing jurisdiction receiving taxes levied in the increment district, the county assessor or any other official required by law to ascertain the amount of the equalized assessed value of all taxable property within such increment district for the purpose of computing the tax levy to be extended upon taxable property within such increment district, for the purpose of calculating the general state school aid formula, or for the purpose of computing any debt limitation, shall in every year that the tax apportionment is in effect ascertain the amount of value of taxable property in such increment district by including in such amount the certified "base assessed value" of all taxable real property and all taxable personal property in such increment district in lieu of the equalized assessed value of all taxable real property and all taxable personal property in such increment district. The tax levy determined shall be extended to the current equalized assessed value of all property in the increment district in the same manner as the tax levy is extended to all other taxable property in the increment district. The method of extending taxes established under the provisions of this section shall terminate when the governing body adopts an ordinance or resolution dissolving the tax apportionment financing. The provisions of this act shall not be construed as relieving property owners within an increment district from paying a uniform rate of taxes upon the current equalized assessed value of their taxable property as required by Section 5 of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution.

Section 863 - Tax Apportionment Bonds or Notes - Issuance.

Cite as: O.S. §, __ __

A. With the approval of the governing body, a public entity, other than a city, town or county, may issue tax apportionment bonds or notes, the proceeds of which may be used to pay project costs pursuant to the plan. Subject to the approval of the governing body, such public entity may issue refunding bonds or notes for the payment or retirement of bonds or notes previously issued by the public entity to pay project costs pursuant to the plan.

B. The public entity issuing tax apportionment bonds or notes may, as authorized by the governing body, irrevocably pledge all or part of the apportioned increments and other revenue for payment of the tax apportionment bonds or notes. The part of the apportioned increments pledged in payment may be used only for the payment of the bonds or notes or interest on the bonds or notes until the bonds or notes have been fully paid. A holder of the bonds or notes or of coupons issued on the bonds has a lien against the apportionment fund and the future increments for payment of the bonds or notes and interest on the bonds or notes and may protect or enforce the lien at law or in equity.

C. The issuing public entity may provide in the contract with the owners or holders of tax apportionment bonds that they will pay into the apportionment fund all or any part of the revenue produced or received from the operation or sale of a facility acquired, improved, or constructed pursuant to a project plan, to be used to pay principal and interest on the bonds. If the public entity agrees, the owners or holders of these bonds may have a lien or mortgage on a facility acquired, improved, or constructed with the proceeds of the bonds.

D. Tax apportionment bonds may be issued to mature in a period not to exceed twenty-five (25) years in one or more series. The trust indenture, ordinance, or resolution approved, issued in connection with such bond or note, shall provide:

1. The date that the bond or note bears;

2. That the bond or note is payable on demand or at a specified time;

3. The interest rate that the bond or note bears;

4. The denomination of the bond or note;

5. Whether the bond or note is in coupon or registered form;

6. The conversion or registration privileges of the bond or note;

7. The manner of execution of the bond or note;

8. The medium of payment in which and the place or places at which the bond or note is payable;

9. The terms of redemption, with or without premium, to which the bond or note is subject;
10. The manner in which the bond or note is secured; and

11. Any other characteristic of the bond or note.

E. A bond or note issued pursuant to the provisions of the Local Development Act is fully negotiable. In a suit, action, or other proceeding involving the validity or enforceability of a bond or note issued pursuant to the provisions of the Local Development Act or the security of a bond or note issued pursuant to the provisions of the Local Development Act, if the bond or note recites in substance that it was issued by the public entity pursuant to the Local Development Act, the bond or note is deemed to have been issued for that purpose, and the recital shall be conclusive of its validity and the regularity of its issuance.

F. A bank, trust company, savings bank or institution, savings and loan association, investment company or other person carrying on a banking or investment business; an insurance company, insurance association, or other person carrying on an insurance business; or an executor, administrator, curator, trustee, or other fiduciary may invest any sinking funds, money, or other funds belonging to it or in its control in tax apportionment bonds or notes issued under the Local Development Act. This act does not relieve any person of the duty to exercise reasonable care in selecting securities or of complying with other applicable laws.

G. A tax apportionment bond or note issued pursuant to the provisions of this section is not a debt, liability, or obligation of the city, town or county creating or approving the plan, project or increment district. The bond or note does not give rise to a charge against the general credit or taxing powers of such city, town or county and is not payable except as provided by the Local Development Act. Bonds or notes issued pursuant to the provisions of this section are not general obligations of the state and have no claim on the revenues or resources of the state. A bond or note issued pursuant to the provisions of this section must state the restrictions of this subsection on its face.

H. A tax apportionment bond or note issued pursuant to the provisions of this section may not be included in any computation of the general obligation debt of the city, town or county creating or approving the plan, project or increment district.

I. A public entity may not issue bonds or notes, pursuant to the provisions of this section, in an amount that exceeds the total cost of implementing the project plan for which the bonds or notes are issued except to the extent that bond or notes issues may be sized to include costs of issuance, credit enhancement fees or premiums, and reasonably required reserves.

J. All bonds issued pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be reviewed by the Oklahoma State Bond Advisor who will give a recommendation on such bonds to the issuing entity.

Historical Data

A. In accordance with the requirements of Section 6C of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution, the tax incentives or exemptions granted pursuant to the provisions of Section 860 of this title shall only be allowed for that portion of the tax under jurisdiction of another local taxing entity by written agreement between said other local taxing entity and the governing body of the city, town or county.

B. In order for the tax incentives or exemptions to be granted for that portion of the tax under the jurisdiction of each taxing entity within the district, the governing body of the taxing entity must adopt the agreement provided for in subsection A of this section upon a majority vote of those members eligible to vote as determined by Section 857 of this title. Action on the agreement by these governing bodies must occur within sixty (60) days after the governing body of the city, town or county submits the proposed agreement to the governing bodies of such taxing entities.

Such increase shall be subtracted for each fiscal year during which the incentives or exemptions are granted in the case of property within an incentive district or such increase shall be subtracted for each fiscal year the increment is captured in the case of property within an increment district. Except for a security interest in vessels or motors held by a dealer for sale or lease, a security interest, as defined in paragraph (37) of Section 1-201 of Title 12A of the Oklahoma Statutes, in a vessel or motor as to which a certificate of title may be properly issued by the Oklahoma Tax Commission shall be perfected only when a lien entry form prescribed by the Commission, and the existing certificate of title, if any, or application for a certificate of title and manufacturer's certificate of origin or other identification number containing the name and address of the secured party and the date of the security agreement and the required fee are delivered to the Commission or to a motor license agent. The filing and duration of perfection of a security interest, pursuant to the provisions of Title 12A of the Oklahoma Statutes, including, but not limited to, Section 1-9-311 of Title 12A of the Oklahoma Statutes, shall not be applicable to perfection of security interests in vessels or motors as to which a certificate of title may be properly issued by the Commission, except as to vessels or motors held by a dealer for sale or lease and except as provided in subsection D of this section. In all other respects Title 12A of the Oklahoma Statutes shall be applicable to such security interests in vessels or motors as to which a certificate of title may be properly issued by the Commission.

2. Whenever a person creates a security interest in a vessel or motor, such person shall surrender to the secured party the certificate of title or the signed application for a new certificate of title, on the form prescribed by the Commission, and the manufacturer's certificate of origin or other identification number. The secured party shall deliver the lien entry form and the required lien filing fee within twenty (20) calendar days as provided hereafter with certificate of title or the application for certificate of title, and the manufacturer's certificate of origin or other identification number to the Commission or to a motor license agent. Perfection of the security interest shall begin from the date of the delivery to the Commission or to a motor license agent of (i) the lien entry form, (ii) the lien filing fee, and (iii) the certificate of title or application for certificate of title and the manufacturer's certificate of origin or other identification number. When a vessel or motor title is presented to a motor license agent for transfer or registration and the documents reflect a lienholder, the motor license agent shall perfect the lien as provided for in subsection G of Section 1105 of Title 47 of the Oklahoma Statutes.

3. Upon the receipt of the lien entry form and the required fees with either the certificate of title or an application for certificate of title and manufacturer's certificate of origin or other identification number, a motor license agent shall, by placement of a clearly distinguishing mark, record the date and number shown in a conspicuous place, on each of these instruments.

4. The certificate of title or the application for certificate of title and manufacturer's certificate of origin or other identification number with the record of the date of receipt clearly marked thereon shall be returned to the debtor together with a notice that the debtor is required to register and pay all additional fees and taxes due within thirty (30) calendar days from the date of purchase of said vessel or motor.

5. Any person creating a security interest in a vessel or motor that has been previously registered in the debtor's name and on which all taxes due the state have been paid shall surrender the certificate of ownership to the secured party. The secured party shall have the duty to record the security interest as provided in this section and shall, at the same time, obtain a new certificate of title which shall show the secured interest on the face of such certificate of title.
6. The lien entry form with the date and assigned number thereof clearly marked thereon shall be returned to the secured party. If the lien entry form is received and authenticated, as herein provided, by a motor license agent, such agent shall make a report thereof to the Commission upon the forms and in the manner as may be prescribed by the Commission.

7. The Commission shall have the duty to record the lien upon the face of the certificate of title issued at the time of registering and paying all fees and taxes due on such vessel or motor.

B. 1. A secured party shall, within seven (7) business days after the satisfaction of such security interest, furnish directly or by mail a release of a security interest to the Commission and mail a copy thereof to the last-known address of the debtor. If the security interest has been satisfied by payment from a licensed used boat dealer to whom the used vessel or motor has been transferred, the secured party shall also, within seven (7) business days after such satisfaction, mail a certified copy of copy number one of the release of security interest to such dealer. If the secured party fails to furnish such release as herein required, the secured party shall be liable to the debtor for a penalty of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) and, in addition, any loss caused to the debtor by such failure.

2. Upon release of a security interest the owner may obtain a new certificate of title omitting reference to the security interest, by submitting to the Commission or to a motor license agent:
   a. a release signed by the secured party, an application for new certificate of title and the proper fees, or
   b. by submitting to the Commission or the motor license agent an affidavit, supported by such documentation as the Commission may require, by the owner on a form prescribed by the Commission stating that the security interest has been satisfied and stating the reasons why a release cannot be obtained, an application for a new certificate of title and the proper fees.

Upon receiving such affidavit that the security interest has been satisfied, the Commission shall issue a new certificate of title eliminating the satisfied security interest and the name and address of the secured parties who have been paid and satisfied.

The words “security interest” when used in the Oklahoma Vessel and Motor Registration Act, Section 4002 et seq. of this title, do not include liens dependent upon possession.

C. The Commission shall file and index certificates of title so that at all times it will be possible to trace a certificate of title to the vessel or motor designated therein, identify the lien entry form, and the names and addresses of secured parties, or their assignees, so that all or any part of such information may be made readily available to those who make legitimate inquiry of the Commission as to the existence or nonexistence of security interest in the vessel or motor.

D. 1. Any security interest in a vessel or motor properly perfected prior to January 1, 1990, may be continued as to its effectiveness or duration as provided by subsection (3) of Section 9-401 and subsection (3) of Section 9-403 of Title 12A of the Oklahoma Statutes, or may be terminated, assigned or released as provided by Sections 9-404, 9-405 and 9-406 of Title 12A of the Oklahoma Statutes, as fully as if this section had not been enacted, or, at the option of the secured party, may also be perfected under this section, and, if so perfected, the time of perfection under this section shall be the date said security interest was originally perfected under the prior law.

2. Upon request of the secured party, the debtor or any other holder of the certificate of title shall surrender said certificate of title to the secured party and shall do such other acts as may be required to perfect said security interest under this section.

The manufacturer or factory representative of the same product line may obtain a waiver of protest from each new vessel or new motor dealer of the same product line within that relevant market area. If a waiver of protest from each dealer within the relevant market area is not attached to the application for the new dealer seeking to establish, the Commission shall render a final decision no later than sixty (60) days after the Commission's receipt of the notice of protest. In any hearing held pursuant to this section on additional dealerships or relocation of dealerships the new dealer or existing dealer relocating shall have the burden of proof. For the purposes of this section, the reopening in a relevant market area of a new vessel or new motor dealership that has not been in operation for two (2) years or more shall be deemed the establishment of a new vessel or new motor dealership. 5. Whether the establishment of an additional new vessel or new motor dealership would increase competition, and therefore be in the public interest.

A manufacturer or distributor may refuse to honor the existing dealer agreement with the designated successor for good cause or criteria agreed to in the existing dealer agreement, and may require the designated successor to supply personal and financial data necessary to determine whether the existing dealer agreement should be honored.

B. Within sixty (60) days after receiving the notice of the designated successor's intent to succeed the dealer in the ownership and operation of the dealership or within sixty (60) days after receiving the requested personal and financial data, whichever last occurs, if a manufacturer or distributor believes that good cause or other criteria exists for refusing to honor the succession, the manufacturer or distributor may serve upon the designated successor notice of its refusal to approve the succession.

There is hereby levied an excise tax of one cent ($0.01) upon the use within this state of each and every gallon of special fuel, which shall be reported and collected in the same manner as provided by law for the reporting and collecting of all other tax levies upon the use of special fuel within this state.

B. The tax levied by this section shall not apply to special fuel which is exempt from tax pursuant to the provisions of Section 708 of this title.

C. The excise tax of one cent ($0.01) per gallon of special fuel levied by this section, together with any interest and penalties thereon, collected by the Oklahoma Tax Commission shall be apportioned as set forth in paragraph 5 of subsection A and subsection C of Section 500.6 of this title.

Historical Data

A. There is hereby levied upon the production of asphalt, ores bearing lead, zinc, jack, gold, silver and copper a tax equal to three-fourths of one percent (3/4 of 1%) on the gross value thereof.

B.

1. Effective January 1, 1999, through June 30, 2004, except as otherwise exempted pursuant to subsections D, E, F, G, H, I and J of this section, there is hereby levied upon the production of oil a tax as set forth in this subsection on the gross value of the production of oil based on a per barrel measurement of forty-two (42) U.S. gallons of two hundred thirty-one (231) cubic inches per gallon, computed at a temperature of sixty (60) degrees Fahrenheit. If the average price of Oklahoma oil as determined by the Oklahoma Tax Commission pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 3 of this subsection equals or exceeds Seventeen Dollars ($17.00) per barrel, then the tax shall be seven percent (7%). If the average price of Oklahoma oil as determined by the Tax Commission pursuant to paragraph 3 of this subsection is less than Seventeen Dollars ($17.00) but is equal to or exceeds Fourteen Dollars ($14.00) per barrel, then the tax shall be four percent (4%). If the average price of Oklahoma oil as determined by the Tax Commission pursuant to paragraph 3 of this subsection is less than Fourteen Dollars ($14.00) per barrel, then the tax shall be one percent (1%).

2. Effective July 1, 2004, except as otherwise exempted pursuant to subsections D, E, F, G, H, I and J of this section, there shall be levied upon the production of oil a tax equal to seven percent (7%) of the gross value of the production of oil based on a per barrel measurement of forty-two (42) U.S. gallons of two hundred thirty-one (231) cubic inches per gallon, computed at a temperature of sixty (60) degrees Fahrenheit.

3. Effective January 1, 1999, through June 30, 2004, the average price of Oklahoma oil for purposes of this section shall be computed by the Tax Commission based on the total value of oil reported each month that is subject to the tax levied under this section. At the first of each month, the Tax Commission shall compute the average price paid per barrel of oil reported on the monthly tax report for the most current production month on file. The average price as computed by the Tax Commission shall be used to determine the applicable tax rate for the second month following production. Effective July 1, 2002, through June 30, 2007, the average price of gas for purposes of this section shall be computed by the Tax Commission based on the total value of gas reported each month that is subject to the tax levied by this section. At the first of each month, the Tax Commission shall compute the average price paid per thousand cubic feet (mcf) of gas as reported on the monthly tax report for the most current production month on file. The average price as computed by the Tax Commission shall be used to determine the applicable tax rate for the second month following production.

4. Effective July 1, 2002, through June 30, 2007, except as otherwise exempted pursuant to subsections D, E, F, G, H, I and J of this section, there is hereby levied upon the production of gas a tax as set forth in this subsection on the gross value of the production of gas. If the average price of gas as determined by the Tax Commission pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 3 of this subsection equals or exceeds Two Dollars and ten cents ($2.10) per thousand cubic feet (mcf), then the tax shall be seven percent (7%). If the average price of gas as determined by the Tax Commission pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 3 of this subsection is less than Two Dollars and ten cents ($2.10) per thousand cubic feet (mcf) but is equal to or exceeds One Dollar and seventy-five cents ($1.75) per thousand cubic feet (mcf), then the tax shall be four percent (4%). If the average price of gas as determined by the Tax Commission pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 3 of this subsection is less than One Dollar and seventy-five cents ($1.75) per thousand cubic feet (mcf), then the tax shall be one percent (1%).

5. Effective July 1, 2007, except as otherwise exempted pursuant to subsections D, E, F, G, H, I and J of this section, there shall be levied a tax equal to seven percent (7%) of the gross value of the production of gas.

C. The taxes hereby levied shall also attach to, and are levied on, what is known as the royalty interest, and the amount of such tax shall be a lien on such interest.

1. Except as otherwise provided in this section, any incremental production attributable to the working interest owners which results from an enhanced recovery project shall be exempt from the gross production tax levied pursuant to this section from the project beginning date until project payback is achieved for new enhanced recovery projects or until project payback is achieved but not to exceed a period of thirty-six (36) months for tertiary enhanced recovery projects existing on July 1, 1988. This exemption shall take effect July 1, 1988, and shall apply to enhanced recovery projects approved or having a project beginning date prior to July 1, 1993. Project payback pursuant to this paragraph for enhanced recovery projects qualifying for this exemption on or after July 1, 1990, and on or before June 30, 1993, shall be determined by appropriate payback indicators which will not include any expenses beyond the completion date of the well. Project payback pursuant to this paragraph for enhanced recovery projects qualifying for this exemption on or after October 17, 1987, and on or before June 30, 1990, shall be determined by appropriate payback indicators as previously established and allowed by the Tax Commission for projects qualifying during such period.

2. Except as otherwise provided in this section, for secondary recovery projects approved and having a project beginning date on or after July 1, 1993, and before July 1, 2000, any incremental production attributable to the working interest owners which results from such secondary recovery projects shall be exempt from the gross production tax levied pursuant to this section from the project beginning date until project payback is achieved but not to exceed a period of ten (10) years. Project payback pursuant to this paragraph shall be determined by appropriate payback indicators which will provide for the recovery of capital expenses and fifty percent (50%) of operating expenses, in determining project payback.

3. Except as otherwise provided in this section, for secondary recovery properties approved or having an initial project beginning date on or after July 1, 2000, and before July 1, 2006, any incremental production attributable to the working interest owners which results from such secondary recovery property shall be exempt from the gross production tax levied pursuant to this section for a period not to exceed five (5) years from the initial project beginning date or for a period ending upon the termination of the secondary recovery process, whichever occurs first.

4. Except as otherwise provided in this section, for tertiary recovery projects approved and having a project beginning date on or after July 1, 1993, and before July 1, 2006, any incremental production attributable to the working interest owners which results from such tertiary recovery projects shall be exempt from the gross production tax levied pursuant to this section from the project beginning date until project payback is achieved, but not to exceed a period of ten (10) years. Project payback pursuant to this paragraph shall be determined by appropriate payback indicators which will provide for the recovery of capital expenses and operating expenses, excluding administrative expenses, in determining project payback. The capital expenses of pipelines constructed to transport carbon dioxide to a tertiary recovery project shall not be included in determining project payback pursuant to this paragraph.

5. The provisions of this subsection shall also not apply to any enhanced recovery project using fresh water as the primary injectant, except when using steam.

6. For purposes of this subsection:

   a. "incremental production" means the amount of crude oil or other liquid hydrocarbons which is produced during an enhanced recovery project and which is in excess of the base production amount of crude oil or other liquid hydrocarbons. The base production amount shall be the average monthly amount of production for the twelve-month period immediately prior to the project beginning date minus the monthly rate of production decline for the project for each month beginning one hundred eighty (180) days prior to the project beginning date. The monthly rate of production decline shall be equal to the average extrapolated monthly decline rate for the twelve-month period immediately prior to the project beginning date as determined by the Corporation Commission based on the production history of the field, its current status, and sound reservoir engineering principles, and

   b. "project beginning date" means the date on which the injection of liquids, gases, or other matter begins on an enhanced recovery project.

7. The Corporation Commission shall promulgate rules for the qualification for this exemption which shall include, but not be limited to, procedures for determining incremental production as defined in subparagraph a of paragraph 6 of this subsection, and the establishment of appropriate payback indicators as approved by the Tax Commission for the determination of project payback for each of the exemptions authorized by this subsection.

8. For new secondary recovery projects and tertiary recovery projects approved by the Corporation Commission on or after July 1, 1993, and before July 1, 2006, such approval shall constitute qualification for an exemption.

9. Any person seeking an exemption shall file an application for such exemption with the Tax Commission which, upon determination of qualification by the Corporation Commission, shall approve the application for such exemption.

10. The Tax Commission may require any person requesting such exemption to furnish information or records concerning the exemption as is deemed necessary by the Tax Commission.

11. Upon the expiration of the exemption granted pursuant to this subsection, the Tax Commission shall collect the gross production tax levied pursuant to this section.

The additional tax levied pursuant to this section shall be paid at the time of importation or storage of the property within the county or municipality. This tax shall be assessed to only property purchased outside Oklahoma.

Any person liable for payment of the tax authorized pursuant to this section, may deduct from such tax any local, county or municipal sales tax previously paid on such goods or services. However, the amount deducted shall not exceed the amount that would have been due if the taxes imposed by the county or municipality had been levied on the sale of such goods or services.

Cite as: O.S. §, __ __

If the principal indebtedness secured or which by any contingency may be secured by a mortgage is not determinable from the terms of the mortgage, or if a mortgage is given to secure the performance by the mortgagor, or of any other person of a contract obligation other than the payment of a specific sum of money and the maximum amount secured or which by any contingency may be secured by the mortgage is not expressed therein, such mortgage shall be taxable upon the value of the property covered by the mortgage, which shall be determined by the county treasurer to whom such mortgage is presented for taxation, unless at the time of presenting such mortgage for taxation the owner thereof shall file with the county treasurer a sworn statement of the maximum amount secured by the mortgage. If such maximum amount is expressed in the mortgage or in a sworn statement filed as required by this section, such amount shall be the basis for assessing the tax levied by this article. The statement filed by the owner of a mortgage pursuant to this section shall thereafter at all times be binding upon and conclusive against such owner, the holders of any bonds or obligations secured by such mortgage and all persons claiming through the mortgagee any interest in the mortgage or the mortgaged premises. If the maximum amount secured or which by any contingency may be secured by the mortgage is not expressed in the mortgage or in a sworn statement so authorized by this section, the county treasurer at the time such mortgage is offered for taxation may require the mortgagor or mortgagee to furnish him with proofs as to such facts as he deems necessary for the purpose of computing the value of the property covered by the mortgage, and such proofs shall be preserved in his office. His determination as to the basis for computing the tax on such mortgage shall be subject to review on appeal to the district court under the same procedure as cases appealed from the county commissioners to the district court.

Historical Data

Laws 1965, c. 31, § 2.

No mortgage of real property which is subject to the taxes levied by this article shall be released, discharged of record or received in evidence in any action or proceeding, nor shall any agreement extending any such mortgage be recorded unless the taxes levied thereon by this article shall have been paid as provided in this article. No judgment or final order in any action or proceeding shall be made for the foreclosure or enforcement of any mortgage which is subject to the taxes levied by this article or of any debt or obligation secured by or which secures any such mortgage unless the taxes levied by this article shall have been paid as provided in this article.

Historical Data

In the case of mortgages made by corporations in trust to secure payments of bonds or obligations issued or to be issued thereafter, if the total amount of principal indebtedness which under any contingency may be advanced or accrued, or which may become secured by any such mortgage which is subject to this article has not been advanced or secured thereon or become secured thereby before such mortgage is recorded, it may contain at the end thereof a statement of the amount which at the time of the execution and delivery thereof has been advanced or accrued thereon or which is then secured by such mortgage; thereupon the tax payable on the recording of the mortgage shall be computed on the basis of the amount so stated to have been so advanced or accrued thereon, or which is stated to be secured thereby. Such statement shall thereafter at all times be binding upon and conclusive against the mortgagee, the holders of any bonds or obligations secured by such mortgage and all persons claiming through the mortgagee any interest in the mortgage or in the mortgaged premises. Whenever a further amount is to be advanced under the original mortgage, or shall accrue thereon or become secured thereby, the corporation making such mortgage shall, at or before the time when such amount is to be advanced, accrues or becomes secured, file in the office of the county treasurer in the county where such mortgage has been or is first recorded, a statement, verified by the secretary, treasurer or other proper officer of said corporation of the amount of principal indebtedness to be so advanced, accruing or becoming secured, and the tax on such amount shall become due and payable at the time of filing such statement. Such additional tax shall be paid to the county treasurer in the county where such mortgage has been or is first recorded and a receipt therefor shall be noted in the margin of the record of such mortgage and if requested a duplicate receipt for such payment shall also be given to the party paying such tax and the note of such payment or additional payment or such receipt shall have the same force and effect as the record of receipt of the tax which under this article is payable at or before the recording of the mortgage. If such additional tax is not paid as required by this section, the trust mortgagee shall not certify any bond or other obligation issued on account thereof, and the district attorney of the county in which such mortgage has been or is first recorded may maintain an action against the corporation making such mortgage to recover the amount of such tax, with interest at the rate of one percent (1%) per month from the date when the same became due, and upon recovering such tax and interest such district attorney shall pay the same to the county treasurer of such county in satisfaction of such tax. The corporation making such mortgage or the owner of the property which secures the mortgage debt shall annually within thirty (30) days after July 1st, until the maximum amount of principal indebtedness secured by such mortgage has been advanced, has accrued or become secured and the tax thereon paid, file in the office of the county treasurer in the county where such mortgage has been or is first recorded, a statement, verified by the secretary, treasurer or other proper officer of said corporation, of the total amount of principal indebtedness that has been advanced or has accrued on such mortgage, or has become secured thereby, prior to the first day of July preceding the filing of such statement. A failure to file any statement required by this section within the time required shall subject the corporation making such mortgage to a penalty of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) per day for each day such failure continues, recoverable by the district attorney of the county in which such mortgage has been or is first recorded. Provided, however, that where a mortgage, or deed of trust, is executed to secure the payment of bonds issued by any domestic railroad, transportation, transmission or industrial corporation and the money derived from the sale of said bonds so secured by said mortgage, or deed of trust, is to be used for the creation, construction, building, improving and erecting of property that will be subject to an ad valorem tax in the county where same is situated, there shall be paid a recording fee on said mortgage, or deed of trust, so executed for recording said mortgage, or deed of trust, the sum of twenty-five cents.
($0.25) for first folio and ten cents ($0.10) for each additional folio and fifty cents ($0.50) for indexing and recorder's certificate instead of the fees designated in this article, and on payment of same shall not be subject to the penalties prescribed in this article.

Historical Data

Laws 1965, c. 31, § 2.
When property is in more than one county, or when the real property covered by a mortgage is assessed in more than one county, it shall be the duty of the county treasurer of the county where said mortgage is offered for taxation to ascertain the assessed value of the property in each county and to apportion the amount upon which the tax shall be paid to the county treasurer in each of the said counties upon the basis of the relative assessments. Where the mortgage is a first lien upon the real property situate in another county, it shall be his duty to apportion the amount of the tax property to be credited to said county by ascertaining the valuation of each parcel as appears from the last preceding assessment roll of the county in which such parcel is located, after deducting therefrom the taxable amount of any prior lien. If, however, the whole or a part of the property covered by the mortgage in a county is not assessed in the last preceding assessment roll or rolls of said county in which it is located, or is assessed as a part of a larger tract in such a manner that the assessed value cannot be determined from the assessment rolls or roll, or improvements have been made upon the property so assessed, the county treasurer may determine the value of the property covered by the mortgage and for such purpose may require the mortgagor or mortgagee to furnish him with proofs as to such facts as he deems necessary for the purpose of computing such value, and the value so determined shall be deemed to be the assessed value for the purpose of such apportionment. When the real property covered by a mortgage is located partly within the state and partly without the state, it shall be the duty of the county treasurer to whom said mortgage is offered for taxation to determine what proportion shall be taxable under this article by determining the relative value of the mortgaged property within this state as compared to the total value of the entire mortgaged property, taking into consideration in so doing the amount of all prior encumbrances upon such property or any portion thereof. If a mortgage covering property located partly within the state and partly without the state is presented for taxation before such determination has been made, then there may be presented to the recording officers, with such mortgage, or at the time when the first advance is made on prior advance mortgage as provided in Section 1911 of this article, a statement in duplicate verified by the mortgagor or an officer or a duly authorized agent or attorney of the mortgagor, specifying the value of the property covered by the mortgage within the state and the property covered by the mortgage without the state, stated separately. Such statements shall be filed with the county treasurer. The tax payable under this article shall be computed upon such properties of the principal indebtedness secured by the mortgage or of the sum advanced thereon, as the case may be, as the value of the mortgaged property within the state shall bear to the total value of the entire mortgaged property, as set forth in such statement. In determining the separate values of the property covered by any such mortgage within and without the state for the purpose of ascertaining the proportion of the principal indebtedness secured by the mortgage which is taxable under this Article, the county treasurer shall consider only the value of the tangible property covered by each mortgage, taking into consideration in so doing the amount of all prior encumbrances thereon. For the purpose of determining such value the county treasurer may require the mortgagor or mortgagee to furnish him by affidavit or verified report such information or data as he deems needed for the purpose, or he may take the testimony of the mortgagor or any other person in relation thereto, and if any person whose testimony is desired can be found within the state, may require him by subpoena to attend before him at a specified time and place for the purpose of testifying in relation to the value of said property. He may also determine at the same time the proportion of the tax which shall be paid by the county treasurer who has received the same to the several county treasurers of the respective counties in the state in which parts of the mortgaged property are situated. When such county treasurer shall pay any portion of such tax to the county treasurer of any other county, he shall at the same time file in the office of the county clerk of such county a brief description of the mortgage on which such tax is paid sufficient to identify the same, together with a statement of the payment of such tax, and the amount thereof, and the county clerk of such other county shall note on the margin of the record of such mortgage the fact of such payment, attested by his signature.

Failure to give notice as required by this section shall delay the effective date of the rate change to the first day of the next calendar quarter.

D. The change in the boundary of a municipality shall be effective, for sales and use tax purposes only, on the first day of a calendar quarter after a minimum of sixty (60) days' notice to vendors.

A. No manufactured home shall be entered upon the assessment roll of any county for an assessment year in which the manufactured home was previously assessed for ad valorem taxation in such county or any other county of this state. The county assessor may use the following method to determine the fair cash value of such a manufactured home:

1. If a bill of sale is provided to the county assessor, the actual consideration reflected thereon may be used as the fair cash value; or

2. If a bill of sale is not provided to the county assessor, the total delivered price may be used as the fair cash value, depreciated at a rate of ten percent (10%) per year for the first three (3) years of age of such manufactured home and at a rate of three percent (3%) per year for each year thereafter until accumulated depreciation shall equal eighty percent (80%), after which the depreciated fair cash value shall remain at such level.

B. The county assessor of the county in which a manufactured home is located shall require satisfactory proof of registration, payment of ad valorem taxes and excise taxes on a manufactured home. An ad valorem tax receipt for a manufactured home presented as evidence of payment of ad valorem taxes for such home shall be conclusive as to proper payment of ad valorem taxes upon such home for all assessment years preceding the year of the receipt by the county issuing such receipt.

C. Any person owning a manufactured home and refusing to show satisfactory proof of registration of such manufactured home pursuant to the provisions of this section or payment of ad valorem taxes, if due, pursuant to the provisions of the Ad Valorem Tax Code upon demand by the county assessor of the county in which the manufactured home is located, upon conviction, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

D. A used manufactured home held for resale, on a sales lot, by a licensed manufactured housing dealer on January 1, shall be exempt from ad valorem taxation and the dealer shall be required to obtain a current certificate of title and registration decal for the manufactured home. A purchaser of a used manufactured home held for resale for which a certificate of title and registration decal has been obtained shall provide to the county assessor of the county in which the home is to be located the information specified in subsection E of Section 2813 of this title. The manufactured home shall not be subject to ad valorem taxation until the first January 1 date following the date of purchase.

Historical Data
A. Subject to the provisions of subsection B of Section 2813 of this title, a manufactured home which is located on land owned by the owner of the manufactured home shall be listed and assessed in the county in which it is located for ad valorem taxation as is real property pursuant to the provisions of the Ad Valorem Tax Code. The person owning and residing in such manufactured home may apply for homestead exemption. The county assessor shall approve the application of such person if all requirements of law for such exemption have been met.

C. Each year that a manufactured home is subject to ad valorem taxes as provided by law, the county assessor and the county treasurer shall transmit the information relating to ad valorem tax payment to the Oklahoma Tax Commission which shall identify the manufactured home and record the payment in the computer system provided for by Section 1113 of Title 47 of the Oklahoma Statutes. The county assessor and treasurer of each county shall provide such information as may be required in order to implement the provisions of this section.

Historical Data

A. On the first day of January of each year, the county assessor of the county in which a manufactured home is located shall list, assess and tax such manufactured home as required by the provisions of Section 2812 of this title and the Ad Valorem Tax Code, Section 2801 et seq. of this title.

B. In addition to the other requirements prescribed by law for the listing and assessing of real property pursuant to the provisions of the Ad Valorem Tax Code, when listing the value of real property on which a manufactured home is located and owned by the person owning the manufactured home and when listing the value of the improvements thereon, the county assessor shall separately describe and identify the value of the manufactured home apart from other real property and the value of the other improvements thereon. The value of the real property, the manufactured home, and the other improvements shall be shown separately.

C. Except as authorized by subsection E of this section, when a manufactured home is moved, or whenever title to a manufactured home is transferred, any county treasurer shall collect all ad valorem taxes due for the current calendar year and all delinquent taxes due and owing prior to the change of title or location and shall issue a receipt of taxes paid, which shall be a Form 936, and a tax payment decal. These transactions may be handled by mail or facsimile transmission at the option of the taxpayer, except for tax payments which shall be handled either by mail or in person.

D. After issuance of a receipt of taxes paid and a decal pursuant to the provisions of subsection C of this section and after notification by the county treasurer of such payment, the county assessor of the county in which the manufactured home is located shall furnish to the county assessor of the county where the manufactured home is to be located, the following information:

1. The name of the owner of the manufactured home;

2. The serial number or identification number of the manufactured home;

3. The registration number given to the manufactured home by the Oklahoma Tax Commission;

4. The address or legal description where the manufactured home is to be located;

5. The actual retail selling price of the manufactured home, excluding Oklahoma state taxes; and

6. Any other information necessary to enable the county assessor to list and assess the proper ad valorem taxes for the manufactured home for the following year.

E. When lawfully repossessing a manufactured home which has been listed and assessed as real property pursuant to the provisions of subsection A of Section 2812 of this title, a holder of a perfected security interest in the home is authorized to pay the ad valorem taxes for the full current year and any registration fees or ad valorem taxes which may be due for any prior year on the manufactured home based on the assessed value of the home pursuant to the provisions of subsection B of this section apart from other real property and the other improvements thereon. When lawfully repossessing a manufactured home which has been listed and assessed as personal property pursuant to the provisions of subsection B of Section 2812 of this title, a holder of a perfected security interest in the home is authorized to pay the ad valorem taxes for the full current year and any registration fees or ad valorem taxes which may be due for any prior years. The county treasurer shall issue a receipt of taxes paid to said holder and a decal showing the payment of such taxes. Such receipt shall be issued notwithstanding the existence of a tax sale certificate issued as a result of a tax sale to a purchaser of property upon which a manufactured home is located and for which the holder of a perfected security interest makes payment as authorized by this subsection. Such receipt shall be issued if the procedures prescribed by Section 3106 of this title are followed. If a tax sale certificate has been issued as required by law and the notice of sale contained the statement concerning the right of a secured party to repossess the manufactured home, the amount of taxes paid by the holder of the security interest shall be refunded to the holder of the tax sale certificate. The receipt shall be evidence of payment of the ad valorem taxes for purposes of obtaining a permit. The Department shall issue a permit immediately to the holder of a perfected security interest or licensed representative thereof, if the holder or representative is bonded by the state, to move the manufactured home to a secure location with a repossession affidavit. However, all excise taxes and ad valorem taxes due on such a manufactured home shall be required to be paid within thirty (30) days of the issuance of the permit. A certificate of title for a manufactured home shall not be issued pursuant to a repossession prior to the furnishing of proof satisfactory to the Oklahoma Tax Commission or motor license agent that all ad valorem taxes due have been paid. If the home is subject to registration pursuant to the provisions of the Oklahoma Vehicle License and Registration Act, the holder of a perfected security interest in a manufactured home may repossess the manufactured home and transport the manufactured home within the state for the purpose of securing the property after registering the manufactured home pursuant to the provisions of Section 1113 or 1117 of Title 47 of the Oklahoma Statutes.

F. 1. The decal shall be affixed to the manufactured home license plate as evidence of the ad valorem tax paid and shall remain on the license plate, which shall be affixed to the exterior of the manufactured home, while the manufactured home is in transit.

2. It shall be a misdemeanor for any person to transport or cause to be transported a manufactured home without the decal affixed as required by this section.

3. The decal issued pursuant to subsection C of this section shall be of such size, color, design and numbering as the Tax Commission may direct. The tax payment decals shall be made with reflectionized material so as to provide effective and dependable brighteners during the service period for which the tax payment decal is issued. The Tax Commission shall issue such tax payment decals to the various county treasurers of the state in order for a manufactured home owner or repossessor to move the manufactured home.

Historical Data

A. All taxable personal property, except intangible personal property, personal property exempt from ad valorem taxation, or household personal property, shall be listed and assessed each year at its fair cash value, estimated at the price it would bring at a fair voluntary sale, as of January 1.

The fair cash value of household personal property shall be valued at ten percent (10%) of the appraised value of the improvement to the residential real property within which such personal property is located as of January 1 each year. The assessment of household personal property as provided by this section may be altered by the taxpayer listing such property at its actual fair cash value. For purposes of establishing the value of household personal property, pursuant to the requirement of Section 8 of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution, the percentage of value prescribed by this section for the household personal property shall be presumed to constitute the fair cash value of the personal property.

All unmanufactured farm products shall be assessed and valued as of the preceding May 31. Every person, firm, company, association, or corporation, in making the assessment, shall assess all unmanufactured farm products owned by the person, firm, company, association or corporation on the preceding May 31, at its fair cash value on that date instead of January 1.

Stocks of goods, wares and merchandise shall be assessed at the value of the average amount on hand during the preceding year, or the average amount on hand during the part of the preceding year the stock of goods, wares or merchandise was at its January 1 location.

B. All taxable real property shall be assessed annually as of January 1, at its fair cash value, estimated at the price it would bring at a fair voluntary sale for:

1. The highest and best use for which the property was actually used during the preceding calendar year;
or

2. The highest and best use for which the property was last classified for use if not actually used during the preceding calendar year.

The Ad Valorem Division of the Tax Commission shall be responsible for the promulgation of rules which shall be followed by each county assessor of the state, for the purposes of providing for the equitable use valuation of locally assessed real property in this state. Agricultural land and nonresidential improvements necessary or convenient for agricultural purposes shall be assessed for ad valorem taxation based upon the highest and best use for which the property was actually used, or was previously classified for use, during the calendar year next preceding January 1 on which the assessment is made.

C. The use value of agricultural land shall be based on the income capitalization approach using cash rent. The rental income shall be calculated using the direct capitalization method based upon factors including, but not limited to:

1. Soil types, as depicted on soil maps published by the Natural Resources Conservation Service of the United States Department of Agriculture;
2. Soil productivity indices approved by the Ad Valorem Division of the Tax Commission;

3. The specific agricultural purpose of the soil based on use categories approved by the Ad Valorem Division of the Tax Commission; and

4. A capitalization rate to be determined annually by the Ad Valorem Division of the Tax Commission based on the sum of the average first mortgage interest rate charged by the Federal Land Bank for the immediately preceding five (5) years, weighted with the prevailing rate or rates for additional loans or equity, and the effective tax rate.

The final use value will be calculated using the soil productivity indices and the agricultural use classification as defined by rules promulgated by the State Board of Equalization. This subsection shall not be construed in a manner which is inconsistent with the duties, powers and authority of the Board as to valuation of the counties as fixed and defined by Section 21 of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution.

However, in calculating the use value of buffer strips as defined in Section 2817.2 of this title, exclusive consideration shall be based on income production from such buffer strips, not including federal or state subsidies, when valued as required by subsection C of Section 2817.2 of this title.

D. The use value of nonresidential improvements on agricultural land shall be based on the cost approach to value estimation using currently updated cost manuals published by the Marshall and Swift Company or similar cost manuals approved by the Ad Valorem Division of the Tax Commission. The use value estimates for the nonresidential improvements shall take obsolescence and depreciation into consideration in addition to necessary adjustments for local variations in the cost of labor and materials. This section shall not be construed in a manner which is inconsistent with the duties, powers and authority of the Board as to equalization of valuation of the counties as determined and defined by Section 21 of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution.

The use value of facilities used for poultry production shall be determined according to the following procedures:

1. The Ad Valorem Division of the Tax Commission is hereby directed to develop a standard system of valuation of both real and personal property of such facilities, which shall be used by all county assessors in this state, under which valuation based on the following shall be presumed to be the fair cash value of the property:

   a. for real property, a ten-year depreciation schedule, at the end of which the residual value is twenty percent (20%) of the value of the facility during its first year of operation, and

   b. for personal property, a five-year depreciation schedule, at the end of which the residual value is zero;

2. Such facilities shall be valued only in comparison to other facilities used exclusively for poultry production. Such a facility which is no longer used for poultry production shall be deemed to have no productive use;

3. During the first year such a facility is placed on the tax rolls, its fair cash value shall be presumed to be the lesser of the actual purchase price or the actual documented cost of construction; and

4. For the purpose of determining the valuation of nonresidential improvements used for poultry production, the provisions of this subsection shall be applicable and such improvements shall not be considered to be commercial property.
E. The value of investment in property used exclusively by a small oil refinery, as defined in Section 2 of this act, that is used wholly as a facility, device or method for the desulphurization of gasoline or diesel fuel shall not be included in the capitalization used in the determination of fair market value of a small oil refinery.

F. The transfer of real property without a change in its use classification shall not require a reassessment thereof based exclusively upon the sale value of the property. However, if the county assessor determines:

1. That by reason of the transfer of a property there is a change in the actual use or classification of the property; or

2. That by reason of the amount of the sales consideration it is obvious that the use classification prior to the transfer of the property is not commensurate with and would not justify the amount of the sales consideration of the property;

then the assessor shall, in either event, reassess the property for the new use classification for which the property is being used, or, the highest and best use classification for which the property may, by reason of the transfer, be classified for use.

G. When the term “fair cash value" or the language “fair cash value, estimated at the price it would bring at a fair voluntary sale" is used in the Ad Valorem Tax Code, in connection with and in relation to the assessment of real property, it is defined to mean and shall be given the meaning ascribed and assigned to it in this section and when the term or language is used in the Code in connection with the assessment of personal property it shall be given its ordinary or literal meaning.

H. Where any real property is zoned for a use by a proper zoning authority, and the use of the property has not been changed, the use and not zoning shall determine assessment. Any reassessment required shall be effective January 1 following the change in use. Taxable real property need not be listed annually with the county assessor.

I. If any real property shall become taxable after January 1 of any year, the county assessor shall assess the same and place it upon the tax rolls for the next ensuing year. When any building is constructed upon land after January 1 of any year, the value of the building shall be added by the county assessor to the assessed valuation of the land upon which the building is constructed at the fair cash value thereof for the next ensuing year. However, the building shall be deemed to have a value for assessment purposes of the fair cash value of the materials used in such building only, until the building and the land on which the building is located shall have been conveyed to a bona fide purchaser or shall have been occupied or used for any purpose other than as a sales office by the owner thereof, or shall have been leased, whichever event shall first occur. The county assessor shall continue to assess the building based upon the fair market value of the materials used therein until the building and land upon which the building is located shall have been conveyed to a bona fide purchaser or is occupied or used for any purpose other than as a sales office by the owner thereof, or is leased, whichever event shall first occur. However, the fair cash value of a lot in any platted addition or a subdivision in a city, town or county zoned for residential, commercial, industrial or other use shall be deemed to be the total purchase price paid by the developer of the addition or subdivision for the land comprising the platted addition or subdivision divided by the number of lots contained in the addition or subdivision until the lot with building or buildings located thereon shall have been conveyed to a bona fide purchaser or shall have been occupied other than as a sales office by the owner thereof, or shall have been leased, whichever event shall first occur. The cost of any land or improvements to any real property required to be dedicated to public use, including, but not limited to, streets, curbs, gutters, sidewalks, storm or sanitary sewers, utilities, detention or retention ponds, easements, parks or reserves shall not be utilized by the county assessor in the valuation of any real property for assessment purposes.
J. In case improvements on land or personal property located therein or thereon are destroyed by fire, lightning, storm, winds, floodwaters, overflow of streams or other cause, or the value of land is impaired, damaged or destroyed by fire, lightning, storm, winds, floodwaters, overflow of streams or other cause, after January 1 and before the adjournment of the county board of equalization during any year, the county board of equalization, in cooperation with the county assessor, shall determine the amount of damage, and shall make an order directing the assessment of the property for that year at the fair cash value of the property, as defined herein, taking into account the damage occasioned by fire, lightning, storm, winds, floodwaters, overflow of streams or other cause.

Historical Data

A. For purposes of implementing Section 8B of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution, the fair cash value of locally assessed real property shall not be automatically increased five percent (5%) each year, the five-percent limitation on the increase in the fair cash value shall not be cumulative, and the five-percent limitation shall not be considered as a twenty-percent increase every four (4) years.

B. For purposes of implementing Section 8B of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution, improvements made to locally assessed real property shall be assessed in accordance with law by the county assessor based on the fair cash value of the improvement. The assessed value of the improvement shall then be added to the existing assessed value of the property, except as otherwise provided in the Oklahoma Housing Reinvestment Program Act. The existing property shall continue to be subject to the five-percent limitation on the increase in valuation as set forth in Section 8B of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution. Except when title to the property is transferred, changed, or conveyed to another person as defined in Section 32802.1 of this act title, and in accordance with Legislative intent as set forth in subsection A of this section, under no circumstances shall the fair cash value of the existing property increase by more than five percent (5%) in any taxable year.

Historical Data

A. The return of the taxpayer shall not be conclusive as to the value or amount of any property. The county assessor shall have the authority and it shall be his duty to raise or lower the returned value:

1. Of any personal property, to conform to the fair cash value thereof, estimated at the price it would bring at a fair voluntary sale; or

2. Of any real property so that the assessment thereof shall be made in accordance with the provisions of Section 2817 of this title and with all provisions of the Ad Valorem Tax Code applicable to the valuation of real property.

B. The county assessor shall assess and value all property, both real and personal, which is subject to assessment by him, and shall place a separate value on the land and improvements in assessing real estate; and he shall do all things necessary, including the viewing and inspecting of property, to enable him to assess and value all taxable property, determine the accuracy of assessment lists filed with him, discover and assess omitted property, and determine the taxable status of any property which is claimed to be exempt from ad valorem taxation for any reason.

C. In the performance of his duties, the county assessor, or his duly appointed and authorized deputy, shall have the power and authority to:

1. Go upon any premises and enter any business building or structure and view the same and the property therein, and to view, inspect or appraise any property located within his county, however, the county assessor shall not have the power or authority to enter the private dwelling of a taxpayer except as provided for in subsection D of this section; and

2. Examine any person under oath in regard to the amount or value of his property.

D. In the event of a dispute concerning the valuation of household personal property, a taxpayer may request the county assessor to perform a visual inspection of such property.

E. Prior to entering the business or commercial premises of any taxpayer for purposes of discovering personal property, the county assessor or deputy shall request permission to enter the business or commercial premises and shall state the reason for the inspection. If access to the business or commercial premises is denied, the county assessor or deputy shall be required to obtain a search warrant in order to conduct an inspection of the interior of the business or commercial premises. A search warrant may be obtained upon a showing of probable cause that personal property located within particularly described business or commercial premises is subject to ad valorem taxation, but not listed or assessed for ad valorem taxation as required by law.
Historical Data

Taxable values of real and personal property shall be established in accordance with the requirements of Sections 8, 8B and 8C of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution. The county assessor shall determine the taxable value of all taxable property that the assessor is required by law to assess and value and shall determine such taxable value in accordance with the requirements of Sections 8, 8B and 8C of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution.

Historical Data

A. Each county assessor shall conduct a comprehensive program for the individual visual inspection of all taxable property within his respective county. Each assessor shall thereafter maintain an active and systematic program of visual inspection on a continuous basis and shall establish an inspection schedule which will result in the individual visual inspection of all taxable property within the county at least once each four (4) years.

B. The first cycle of visual inspections for property shall begin upon January 1, 1991, as prescribed by Section 2481.1 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes, and shall end upon December 31, 1994. Thereafter, each succeeding four-year cycle for visual inspections shall begin upon January 1 of the year following the fourth year of the preceding cycle and shall end upon December 31 of the applicable four-year cycle. The county assessor shall utilize the standard parcel identification system required by law to assign each parcel of real property a unique identification code or number. The code or number shall be used to ensure that the inspection sequence for real property results in a visual inspection of each parcel at least once each four (4) years. Each successor of the county assessor shall use the same cycle as used by the assessor's predecessor in office for visual inspections of property.

C. Prior to the beginning of the first visual inspection cycle and each subsequent visual inspection cycle, the county assessor shall develop a plan that details the number of real property parcels to be inspected in each year of the cycle by use category, geographic area or other basis, the resources and budget proposed to complete the inspections and the valuation methodology to be used in determining the fair cash value of the real property and improvements thereon. The plan shall be adequate to ensure the visual inspection of all parcels of real property within the county at least once each four (4) years. The plan shall also be adequate to ensure that the information collected from the visual inspection of real property each year is sufficient to establish a representative sample from each use category in order to conduct the proper valuation of all taxable property within each use category by means of an accepted standard for mass appraisal practice. The county assessor shall submit the proposed plan to the Oklahoma Tax Commission by the first working day in October preceding the beginning of the four-year cycle. The Oklahoma Tax Commission shall either approve the plan if the plan and resources are adequate to complete the cycle and if the plan will result in a representative sample from each use category in order to value all taxable property each year or shall correct and modify the plan in order to establish a program for visual inspection that will be completed by the end of the cycle and that will provide a representative sample from each use category in order to value all taxable property each year. An approved plan shall be made for each county as of the beginning date of each cycle and a copy of such plan shall be filed with the Oklahoma Tax Commission.

D. Each year the county assessor shall submit a progress report to the Oklahoma Tax Commission indicating the number of real property parcels inspected by use category, geographic area or other basis, the resources and budget expended in the last completed fiscal year and the valuation methodology used to determine fair cash values of the real property and improvements. The Oklahoma Tax Commission shall correct and modify any visual inspection plan during the four-year cycle if progress reports indicate that inspection of real property parcels will not be completed or will be performed in violation of legal requirements for such inspections. The county assessor shall be required to complete the four-year cycle in accordance with such plan as corrected and modified.
E. Each county assessor shall prepare and submit to the Oklahoma Tax Commission a detailed report of the progress made in the visual inspection program in his county to the date of the report and it shall be made a matter of public record. Such report shall be submitted upon forms supplied by the Oklahoma Tax Commission and shall consist of such information as the Oklahoma Tax Commission requires. The progress report shall be submitted not later than October 15 each year or the first working day thereafter. Based in part on all such county progress reports, the Oklahoma Tax Commission shall prepare its own report from all sources and transmit a copy of its own report to the Legislature and the State Board of Equalization.

A. Each county assessor shall cause real property to be physically inspected as part of the visual inspection cycle and shall require such examination as will provide adequate data from which to make accurate valuations.

B. The information gathered from the physical inspection shall be relevant to the type of property involved, its use category, the valuation methodology to be used for the property, whether the methodology consists of the cost approach, an income and expense approach or sales comparison approach, and shall be complete enough in order to establish the fair cash value of the property in accordance with accepted standards for mass appraisal practice.

C. Information gathered during the physical inspection shall be recorded using a standard method as prescribed by the Oklahoma Tax Commission in computerized or noncomputerized form. The information may include property ownership, location, size, use, use category, a physical description of the land and improvements or such other information as may be required.

D. In order to conduct the visual inspections of real property during the four-year cycle, each county assessor shall acquire and maintain cadastral maps and a parcel identification system. The standards for the cadastral maps and the parcel identification system shall be uniform for each county of the state and shall be in such form as developed by the Ad Valorem Task Force.

E. The county assessor shall maintain a comprehensive sales file for each parcel of real property within the county containing relevant property characteristics, sales price information, adjustments to sales price for purposes of cash equivalency, transaction terms and such other information as may be required in order to establish the fair cash value of taxable real property.

Each county assessor shall ensure that the office is equipped with adequate drafting facilities, tools, equipment and supplies in order to produce or update maps, sketches or drawings necessary to support the proper administration of the ad valorem tax and such other tools or equipment as may be required to perform duties imposed by law for the discovery and valuation of taxable property.

Section 2822 - Budget Provision for Visual Inspection of Real Property - Authorization and Levy by County Excise and Budget Board for Visual Inspection Program.
Cite as: O.S. § __ __

A. Each county assessor in budgets submitted to the county excise board or county budget board shall make adequate provision to effect countywide visual inspections of real property during the four-year cycle.

B. Each jurisdiction within a county which receives revenue from an ad valorem mill rate shall receive a copy of the budget for the countywide visual inspection program for that county. The county excise board or county budget board shall notify all such jurisdictions of any meetings at which discussion or action on the budget for the comprehensive program of visual inspections is or may be on the agenda. Such jurisdictions shall have the opportunity to appear before the county excise board or the county budget board, prior to approval of such budgets, to provide testimony, comments, information and documentation concerning the budgets submitted by the county assessor pursuant to subsection A of this section.

C. The several county excise and budget boards, in passing upon budgets submitted by the several assessors, shall authorize and levy amounts which will suffice to carry out the countywide visual inspection program as approved by the Oklahoma Tax Commission under Section 2820 of this title. Such amounts shall be separate from other funds allocated to the office of county assessor and shall be used exclusively to carry out the countywide visual inspection program. The allocation of such amounts shall not serve to decrease other funds allocated to the office of county assessor by the county excise board or the county budget board. Any disputes as to the amount authorized to carry out the countywide visual inspection program shall be resolved by the county excise board; provided, the Oklahoma Tax Commission shall take such action as may be necessary to ensure that such amounts are used exclusively to carry out the countywide visual inspection program and that the allocation of such amounts does not serve to decrease other funds allocated to the office of county assessor.

_Historical Data_

A. For each fiscal year, the cost of the comprehensive program of visual inspections for real property and the cost of physical inspections of personal property shall be paid by appropriate warrants from those who receive the revenues of the mill rates levied on the property of the county as prescribed by this section. School districts are hereby authorized to pay such costs from revenues accruing to their building funds. The county assessor shall prepare a budget for the comprehensive program of visual inspections for real property and the cost of physical inspections of personal property and file such budget with the county excise board or county budget board.

B. The county excise board or county budget board shall apportion such cost among the various recipients of revenues from the mill rates levied, including the county, all cities and towns, all school districts, all sinking funds of such recipients, and all jurisdictions specified in subsection D of this section, in the ratio which each recipient's total tax collection authorized from its mill rates levied for the preceding year bears to the total tax collection authorized of all recipients from all their mill rates levied for the preceding year. The cost shall include only those expenses directly attributable to the visual inspection program and those expenses directly attributable to physical inspections of personal property and shall not include any expenses of the office of the county assessor which, in the judgment of the county excise board or county budget board, are expenses of county assessor's office which would exist in the absence of such program or in the absence of physical inspection of personal property. Expenses that are attributable both to the visual inspection program and physical inspection of personal property, and which would exist in the absence of such program or inspection, including but not limited to salaries, employee benefits, office supplies and equipment, may be prorated; provided, no portion of the salary of the county assessor shall be included in such costs.

C. Upon receipt of the billing statement provided for in subsections D and E of this section by each such recipient, the mill rates to be established by the board for each such recipient for the current year shall include and be based upon such amounts and shall constitute an appropriation of such amounts to the county assessor for expenditure for the expenses of administering the visual inspection program each year. In the case of a sinking fund of a recipient, if, after approving its budget, the governing body of a recipient notifies the board in writing that there are no funds appropriated to pay the amount of the billing statement for such sinking fund, such notice shall constitute conclusive evidence of a financial obligation of the recipient as it relates to such sinking fund. The board may seek a judgment for the amount of such obligation and court costs in the district court of the county in which the board is located.

D. The county assessor shall render a statement to each of the jurisdictions within the county which receive revenue from an ad valorem mill rate. Such statement shall include the following information:

1. The current fiscal year in which the charge has been incorporated in the jurisdiction's budget;

2. All jurisdictions receiving statements from the county assessor, the mill rate for each in the previous year, and the proportion of each to the combined mill rates of all jurisdictions within the county for the previous year. The proportions specified in this paragraph should equal a total of one hundred percent (100%).
3. The charge for the entity receiving the statement as well as the charge for each jurisdiction of the county based upon the proportions specified in paragraph 2 of this subsection. The total of all current year charges for all county jurisdictions should equal the total visual inspection program budget for the current fiscal year;

4. The amount of the total budget for the office of the county assessor and the percentage that visual inspection program expenses are of such total budget; and

5. A copy of the County Budget Visual Inspection Account and a brief description of the areas to be visually inspected for the current fiscal year, consistent with the plan on file with the Oklahoma Tax Commission pursuant to Section 2820 of this title.

E. In any county wherein any jurisdiction's budget and mill rates are not subject to review and approval by the county excise board, the county assessor shall nevertheless include any such jurisdiction in the calculations required under subsection A of this section. The county assessor shall also render a billing statement to any such jurisdiction showing the charge for the current fiscal year due from the jurisdiction. Such billing statement shall also show all the information specified in subsection D of this section. Such billing statement shall clearly indicate that the charge payable by the jurisdiction is due and payable by December 31 of the current fiscal year.

Section 2829 - Establishment of Fair Cash Value of Taxable Property - Mass Appraisal Methodology.

A. Each county assessor, in order to comply with the provisions of Section 17 of this act requiring the annual valuation of all taxable real and personal property within the county, shall establish the fair cash value of such taxable property using an accepted mass appraisal methodology.

B. For purposes of this section "accepted mass appraisal methodology" shall mean the process for making estimates of fair cash value for a property about which no direct or timely information is available concerning economic value by using known information about the property characteristics, location, use, size, sales price and other information of similar properties. Such mass appraisal methodology may include multiple regression analysis or other statistical techniques for mass appraisal. If information of similar properties is not available in the taxing jurisdiction, the county assessor may use other applicable regional or national information to annually determine the fair cash value of a property estimated at the price it would bring at a fair voluntary sale as provided in Section 17 of this act.

C. Each county assessor shall utilize the information gathered from the visual inspection of real property conducted during each year of the four-year cycle for such inspections and shall conduct such statistical calculations using the data so acquired together with sales price or other information available as may be required to make accurate estimates of fair cash values for all taxable real or personal property within the county each year. The results of such calculations shall be recorded on the assessment roll of the county on an annual basis in order to reflect any increase or decrease in the fair cash value of any property in any year.

D. The statistical analysis required by this section shall be performed within each county using such computer facilities as may be available, but shall be conducted in accordance with procedures established for the uniform mass appraisal program established by the Oklahoma Tax Commission.

Historical Data

A. The Oklahoma Tax Commission shall monitor the progress of valuation in each county as it occurs each year. Such monitoring may be conducted by periodic audits of assessments through visits to the county or through an analysis of assessment activity by means of a computer-assisted monitoring program.

B. The Oklahoma Tax Commission shall establish guidelines for determining the extent of noncompliance with the applicable law or administrative rules governing valuation of taxable property. Such guidelines shall establish three categories of noncompliance. The categories shall be respectively denominated as Category 1, Category 2 and Category 3. Each category shall represent progressive degrees of noncompliance. Provided, if the Tax Commission finds that a county assessor is not annually valuing taxable real and personal property within the county as required by Sections 2817 and 2829 of this title, the Tax Commission shall certify that the county is not in compliance with such statutes and shall be required to take action as prescribed by this section for the appropriate category of noncompliance according to the guidelines established pursuant to the provisions of this subsection. The Oklahoma Tax Commission shall be authorized to take action as prescribed by this section for each category of noncompliance as follows:

Category 1: The Oklahoma Tax Commission shall notify the county assessor of the nature of the noncompliance and shall indicate the action required to correct such noncompliance.

Category 2: The Oklahoma Tax Commission shall order the action to be taken in order to bring the county into compliance. The Oklahoma Tax Commission is authorized to do any or all of the following:

1. Impose a schedule of required actions by county officials to bring the county into compliance;

2. Establish deadlines for bringing the county into compliance; or

3. Impose changes in procedures in the assessor's office, if necessary, to facilitate continued compliance.

Category 3: The Oklahoma Tax Commission shall notify the board of county commissioners and the county assessor of the affected county that the county is in violation of law or regulations relating to the valuation function for the administration of the ad valorem tax. The Oklahoma Tax Commission shall conduct a conference, within thirty (30) days after such notice, in that county with the board of county commissioners, the county assessor and the county board of equalization, to formally notify the county of the extent of noncompliance and the measures necessary to correct it. The Oklahoma Tax Commission is authorized to do any or all of the following:
1. Impose a schedule of required actions by county officials to bring the county into compliance;

2. Establish deadlines for bringing the county into compliance;

3. Impose changes in procedures in the assessor's office, if necessary, to facilitate continued compliance;

4. Place the county valuation function under the temporary supervision of a qualified Oklahoma Tax Commission employee;

5. Require additional training for the assessor, deputies or members of the equalization board; or

6. Provide written or oral reports to the board of county commissioners and the county board of equalization of the progress in regaining compliance status for the county. Such reports shall be public records.

The Oklahoma Tax Commission shall periodically conduct a review of the extent of noncompliance in each county determined to be in Category 3 noncompliance. When the Oklahoma Tax Commission determines that such a county is in substantial compliance with the applicable law or administrative regulations governing valuation of taxable property, the Commission shall so certify.

C. The Oklahoma Tax Commission may request the Court of Tax Review to order a county determined to be in Category 3 noncompliance to reimburse the Oklahoma Tax Commission from the county assessor's budget as established in Section 2823 of this title for all costs incurred as a result of the assumption of the valuation function by the Commission. The salary of the county assessor shall not be paid during the time that a qualified employee of the Oklahoma Tax Commission is supervising the valuation function in the county, but shall be restored as of the date the Commission certifies to the board of county commissioners that noncompliance has been corrected.

D. The county assessor shall have the right to appeal an order issued by the Oklahoma Tax Commission to correct Category 2 noncompliance or to appeal a decision finding Category 3 noncompliance in the manner provided by Section 2883 of this title.

In city and town districts, distinction shall be made as to urban and rural locations;

2. A list or lists of all taxable lands in the county or school districts of the county, not including city or town lots, nor unplatted tracts of land inside a city or town, in numerical order, commencing with the lowest numbered section and the different subdivisions and fractional parts thereof in the lowest numbered township in the lowest numbered range in the county, and ending with the highest numbered section, township and range, with the number of the school district located in and the name of the owner in each instance, the assessed valuation of each tract, and the total amount of taxes extended in separate columns opposite each tract in the same manner as provided in the alphabetical list or lists of names; except where homestead exemptions are involved, then by distinctive valuations and amounts of tax as hereinafter provided; and the owner's receipt a statement that the owner "paid voluntarily without demand, request or duress";

or

17. Any personal property assessment and personal tax charge has been entered upon the assessment and tax rolls except upon proper return of assessment by the taxpayer or increase thereof with due notice, or as a delinquent assessment made by the county assessor or his deputies in detail either on view or reliable information; then, in the event any of the grounds stated in this subsection are present, it shall be the duty of the board of tax roll corrections to make and the secretary to enter its findings of fact and to correct such error, if such exists, by issuing its order, in words and figures, to accomplish such:
a. if such error increases the amount of tax charged, the county clerk shall issue a certificate of error to the county assessor ordering the assessor to certify such correction or increase to the county treasurer for entry on the tax rolls, and

b. if such error does not increase the amount of tax charged, the county clerk shall issue a certificate of error to the county treasurer if the tax be not paid, stating the amount or other effect of such order, and it shall be the duty of such county treasurer to make and enter such correction upon the tax rolls and, if there be a decrease to the amount of tax charged, to enter a credit, in lieu of cash, for the amount of decrease of tax shown in such certificate.

D. If, prior to such hearing by the board, as provided by this section, the tax has been paid, no certificate shall issue; but if less than one (1) year shall have elapsed after the payment of the tax and before the filing of such application for correction of error, and after such hearing the findings of fact disclose that less tax was due to have been paid than was paid, then the person who paid the tax, or such person’s heirs, successors, or assigns, may execute a cash voucher claim setting forth facts and findings, verify it, and file it with the county clerk, who shall thereupon deliver such claim to the county treasurer for designation of the fund from which the claim must be paid and approval of the claim as to availability of funds by the county treasurer. If taxes have been paid under protest, the county treasurer must designate the refund to be paid from such protest fund. If taxes have been paid but not paid under protest and if there are funds available in current collections of the taxing unit which received the taxes paid, then the county treasurer must designate the refund to be paid from such current collections of such taxing unit. The county clerk shall thereupon issue his cash voucher against the appropriate fund of the county, directing the county treasurer to pay to such person the amount so found to be erroneous. The word “person” as used in this subsection shall comprehend the person, firm, or corporation who paid such tax and the heirs, assigns or successors, as the case may be. No such claim for refund shall be allowed and paid unless the same be filed within six (6) months after the effective date of the order of correction.

E. If there be any error in the taxes collected from any person, the overpayment or duplicate payment of any such taxes collected in error may be recovered by the taxpayer, and the county treasurer may make such payment from the resale property fund of the county if funds are not available as stated in subsection D of this section.

F. Beginning January 1, 1987, notwithstanding the one-year limitations period for filing a claim for refund as provided in subsection D of this section, if there be any error in taxes collected from any person on property constitutionally exempt under Section 6B of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution, by the county treasurer in counties with a population in excess of five hundred thousand (500,000) persons, according to the latest Federal Decennial Census, to the extent that such county has been reimbursed from the Ad Valorem Reimbursement Fund provided by Section 193 of Title 62 of the Oklahoma Statutes, the overpayment or duplicate payment of any such taxes collected in error may be recovered by the taxpayer as provided by law.

G. Upon dismissal of a complaint or denial of relief to the taxpayer, the county clerk, as secretary of the board of tax roll corrections, shall prepare a letter order of dismissal or denial which shall be mailed to the taxpayer or person at the address found on the complaint.

H. Both the taxpayer and the county assessor shall have the right of appeal from any order of the board of tax roll corrections to the district court of the same county. In case of appeal the trial in the district court shall be de novo.

I. Notice of appeal shall be served upon the county clerk, as secretary of the board of tax roll corrections, and a copy served upon the county assessor. The appeal shall be filed in the district court within fifteen (15) days of the date of the mailing of the order of the board of tax roll corrections to the taxpayer.
Historical Data

The board of tax roll corrections shall be authorized to modify a valuation of property in accordance with the standards prescribed by or for a purpose authorized by Section 71 of this act irrespective of whether or not the valuation so modified has been affected by an order of the State Board of Equalization for purposes of equalizing assessments within a county or between the several counties as authorized by law. Any modification by the board of tax roll corrections to a value that has been modified as a result of an order by the State Board of Equalization shall be reported to the Oklahoma Tax Commission. The Oklahoma Tax Commission shall determine the impact, if any, that the modification made by the board of tax roll corrections has upon equalization within the county or between the several counties and shall make recommendations to the State Board of Equalization for any action required.

Section 2874 - Authority of County Treasurer to Correct Tax Rolls - Clerical Error Certificates.

Whether upon discovery by the county treasurer or county assessor or any of their deputies, or upon complaint of the taxpayer, the agent or attorney or any person acting on behalf of the taxpayer, upon certificate of clerical error issued by the county assessor to the county treasurer, with a copy to the county clerk and a copy retained, the county treasurer shall be authorized to make correction upon the tax rolls of either of the following specifically enumerated errors of strictly clerical import not involving valuations assessed and equalized and not involving any exemption allowed whether of homestead, service in the armed forces, charitable, educational, religious, or other authorized exemptions, and which clerical error certificates shall issue only under the conditions stated as to each, as follows:

1. Error in the name of the person assessed, upon affidavit verifying the name of the true owner as of January 1 of the taxable year involved;

2. Error in the address of the person, firm or corporation assessed, when furnished by such person or a representative of the firm or corporation;

3. Error in the legal description of real property, when verified by the county clerk, certifying to the description on his land records as of January 1 of the taxable year involved;

If a school district boundary change occurs after April 15 of such taxable year, the opinion of the district attorney as to the applicable school district designation to such property for purpose of levy of such taxable year shall be attached to the certification;

6. If the error of school district designation caused the application of levies not applicable thereto, then also the "extension of tax", when verified by the county clerk with proof of computation attached;

7. Error commonly called duplicate assessment, but only in instances where the two entries as delivered to the county treasurer are verified by the county treasurer or deputy to be completely identical in every specific detail; and

8. Error in transcribing to the tax rolls from assessment rolls or assessment lists, conditioned on complete absence of all indication of erasures or other alteration of original entry when confirmed by endorsement to the certificate by the county clerk certifying to personal visual inspection and verifying absence of all indication of erasure or change in original entry.

Historical Data

A. The full amount of the taxes assessed against the property of any taxpayer who has appealed from a decision affecting the value or taxable status of such property as provided by law shall be paid at the time and in the manner provided by law. If at the time such taxes or any part thereof become delinquent and any such appeal is pending, it shall abate and be dismissed upon a showing that the taxes have not been paid.

B. When such taxes are paid, or by December 31, whichever is earlier, the persons protesting the taxes shall give notice to the county treasurer that an appeal involving such taxes has been taken and is pending, and shall set forth the total amount of tax that has been paid under protest or required by law to be paid prior to April 1 that will be paid under protest. The notice shall be on a form prescribed by the Tax Commission. If taxes are paid in two equal installments and the amount paid under protest does not exceed fifty percent (50%) of the full amount of assessed taxes, all protested taxes shall be specified in the second installment payment. If such amount does exceed fifty percent (50%) of the full amount of assessed taxes, then the portion of protested taxes that exceeds fifty percent (50%) of the full amount of assessed taxes shall be specified in the first installment payment and the entire second installment shall be specified to be paid under protest. The taxpayer shall attach to such notice a copy of the petition filed in the court or other appellate body in which the appeal was taken. For railroads, air carriers, and public service corporations, the amount of taxes protested shall not exceed the amount of tax calculated on the protested assessed valuation specified in the complaint filed pursuant to the provisions of subsection A of Section 2881 of this title.

C. It shall be the duty of the county treasurer to hold taxes paid under protest separate and apart from other taxes collected. Any portion of such taxes not paid under protest shall be apportioned as provided by law. The treasurer shall invest the protested taxes in the same manner as the treasurer invests surplus tax funds not paid under protest, but shall select an investment medium which will permit prompt refund or apportionment of the protested taxes upon final determination of the appeal.

D. 1. Prior to January 31 of each year, the county treasurer shall determine the amount of ad valorem taxes paid under protest and those ad valorem taxes that will be paid under protest pursuant to subsection B of this section. The county treasurer shall then notify the State Auditor and Inspector of the total amount of paid protested ad valorem taxes and anticipated protested ad valorem taxes, the total amount of protested taxes and anticipated protested taxes by each individual taxpayer, and how such paid protested ad valorem taxes and anticipated protested ad valorem taxes would have been apportioned to each school district and technology center school district by fund had such amount of protested ad valorem taxes not been protested.

2. The State Auditor and Inspector shall compile all of the information submitted by the county treasurers in a format which shall set forth the total amount of paid and anticipated protested taxes for each school district and technology center school district by fund and a total for each school district and technology center school district by fund. This information shall then be submitted by the State Auditor and Inspector to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, the Director of the Oklahoma Department of Career and Technology Education, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the President Pro Tempore of the Senate. If any of the information submitted to the State Auditor and Inspector changes after being submitted, the county treasurer shall notify the State Auditor and Inspector and the State...
Auditor and Inspector shall submit revised information to the parties enumerated in this paragraph within thirty (30) days of such change.

3. Within ten (10) days of the release of the escrowed ad valorem taxes by the county treasurer, as required by subsection E of this section, the county treasurer shall submit a schedule showing the disposition of the released funds, separated by fund for each school district and technology center school, to the State Auditor and Inspector. The State Auditor and Inspector shall certify the apportionment schedule and transmit a copy to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and the Director of the Oklahoma Department of Career and Technology Education.

4. The State Auditor and Inspector shall promulgate any necessary rules to implement the provisions of this subsection.

E. 1. In cases involving taxpayers other than railroads, air carriers, or public service corporations, if upon the final determination of any such appeal, the court shall find that the property was assessed at too great an amount, the board of equalization from whose order the appeal was taken shall certify the corrected valuation of the property of such taxpayers to the county assessor, in accordance with the decision of the court, and shall send a copy of such certificate to the county treasurer. Upon receipt of the corrected certificate of valuation, the county assessor shall compute and certify to the county treasurer the correct amount of taxes payable by the taxpayer. The difference between the amount paid and the correct amount payable, with accrued interest, shall be refunded by the treasurer to the taxpayer upon the taxpayer filing a proper verified claim therefor, and the remainder paid under protest, with accrued interest, shall be apportioned as provided by law.

2. If upon the final determination of any appeal, the court shall find that the property of the railroad, air carrier, or public service corporation was assessed at too great an amount, the State Board of Equalization from whose order the appeal was taken shall certify the corrected valuation of the property of the railroads, air carriers, and public service corporations to the State Auditor and Inspector in accordance with the decision of the court. Upon receipt of the corrected certificate of valuation, the State Auditor and Inspector shall certify to the county treasurer the correct valuation of the railroad, air carrier, or public service corporation and shall send a copy of the certificate to the county assessor, who shall make the correction as specified in Section 2871 of this title. The difference between the amount paid and the correct amount payable with accrued interest shall be refunded by the treasurer upon the taxpayer filing a proper verified claim, and the remainder paid under protest with accrued interest shall be apportioned according to law.

F. If an appeal is upon a question of valuation of the property, then the amount paid under protest by reason of the question of valuation being appealed shall be limited to the amount of taxes assessed against the property for the year in question less the amount of taxes which would be payable by the taxpayer for that year if the valuation of the property asserted by the taxpayer in the appeal were determined by the court to be correct.

G. If an appeal is upon a question of assessment of the property, then the amount paid under protest by reason of the question of assessment being appealed shall be limited to the amount of taxes assessed against the property for the year in question less the amount of taxes which would be payable by the taxpayer for that year if the assessment of the property asserted by the taxpayer in the appeal was determined by the court to be correct.

Historical Data

On or before January 1st of each year, the Oklahoma Tax Commission shall prescribe suitable blank forms to be used by all claimants for homestead exemption. Such forms shall contain provisions for the showing of all information which the Oklahoma Tax Commission may deem necessary to enable the proper county officials to determine whether each claim for exemption should be allowed. It shall be the duty of the county assessor of each county in this state to furnish such forms, upon request, to each person desiring to make application for homestead exemption on property located within that county. The forms so prescribed shall be used uniformly throughout the state and no application for exemption shall be allowed unless the applicant uses the regularly prescribed form in making his or her application.

Historical Data

A. To receive a homestead exemption, a taxpayer shall be required to file an application with the county assessor. Such application may be filed at any time. However, the county assessor shall, if such applicant otherwise qualifies, grant a homestead exemption for a tax year only if the application is filed on or before March 15 of such year. Except as provided in this subsection, if an application for a homestead exemption is filed after March 15, the county assessor shall, if such applicant otherwise qualifies, grant the homestead exemption beginning with the following tax year. B. Any taxpayer who has been granted a homestead exemption and who continues to occupy such homestead property as a homestead, shall not be required to reapply for such homestead exemption.

C. Once granted, the homestead exemption shall remain in full force and effect for each succeeding year, so long as:

2. The instrument of ownership is on record in the county clerk’s office;
3. The owner-taxpayer is in all other respects entitled by law to the homestead exemption; and
4. The taxpayer has no delinquent accounts appearing on the personal property tax lien docket in the county treasurer’s office. On October 1 of each year, the county treasurer will provide a copy of the personal property tax lien docket to the county assessor. Based upon the personal property tax lien docket, the county assessor shall act to cancel the homestead exemption of all property owners having delinquent personal property taxes. Such cancellation of the homestead exemption will become effective January 1 of the following year and will remain in effect for at least one (1) calendar year; however, such cancellation will not become effective January 1 of the following year if the taxpayer pays such delinquent personal property taxes prior to January 1. Cancellation of the homestead exemption will require the county assessor to notify each taxpayer no later than January 1 of the next calendar year whose homestead is canceled and will require the taxpayer to refile an application for homestead exemption by those dates so indicated in this section and the payment of all delinquent personal property taxes before the homestead can be reinstated.
D. Any purchaser or new owner of real property must file an application for homestead exemption as herein provided.

E. The application for homestead exemption shall be filed with the county assessor of the county in which the homestead is located.

A taxpayer applying for homestead exemption shall not be required to appear before the county assessor in person to submit such application.

F. The property owner shall sign and swear to the truthfulness and correctness of the application's contents. If the property owner is a minor or incompetent, the legal guardian shall sign and swear to the contents of the application.

G. The county assessor and duly appointed deputies are authorized and empowered to administer the required oaths.

The notice of change in homestead exemption status of property shall be in writing and may be filed with the county assessor at any time on or before March 15 of the next following year after which such change occurs. The filing of a deed or other instrument evidencing a change of ownership or use shall constitute sufficient notice to the county assessor.

I. Any single person of legal age, married couple and their minor child or children, or the minor child or children of a deceased person, whether residing together or separated, or surviving spouse shall be allowed under this Code only one homestead exemption in the State of Oklahoma.

J. Any property owner who fails to give notice of change to the county assessor and permits the allowance of homestead exemption for any succeeding year where such homestead exemption is unlawful and improper shall owe the county treasurer:

1. An amount equal to twice the amount of the taxes lawfully due but not paid by reason of such unlawful and improper allowance of homestead exemption; and

2. The interest and penalty on such total sum as provided by statutes on delinquent ad valorem taxes. There shall be a lien on the property while such taxes are unpaid, but not for a period longer than that provided by statute for other ad valorem tax liens.

K. Any person who has intentionally or knowingly permitted the unlawful and improper allowance of homestead exemption shall forfeit the right to a homestead exemption on any property in this state for the two (2) succeeding years.

The county assessor shall examine each application for homestead exemption filed with him and shall determine whether or not such application should be approved or rejected and if approved, determine the amount of the exemption. If the application is approved, he shall mark the same "approved" and show thereon the amount of exemption allowed and make the proper deduction upon his assessment rolls. In case he finds that the exemption should not be allowed by reason of not being in conformity to law, he shall mark the application "rejected" and state thereon the reason for such rejection. In any case where the county assessor disallows or reduces an application for exemption, he shall notify the applicant of his action by mailing written notice to him at the address shown in the application, which notice shall be on forms prescribed by the Oklahoma Tax Commission. All applications for exemption, showing thereon the action of the county assessor, shall be delivered to the county board of equalization on or before the fourth Monday of April of each year.

Historical Data

A. All homesteads shall be separately listed and assessed and separately described on the assessment rolls and tax rolls wherever possible. No homestead exemption shall be allowed on any improvements on real estate or other buildings which are used for business or commercial purposes, but where the same improvement or building is used both as a dwelling and for business purposes the value of that portion used as a dwelling shall be considered to be a part of the homestead and subject to exemption.

D. In the case of rooming houses, duplexes, apartment buildings, or any other building occupied by more than one family, and used entirely for residential purposes, the homestead and part subject to exemption shall be considered only that proportion of the total assessed value of the land and improvements as the number of rooms occupied by the owner bears to the total number of rooms of such building. The renting of not to exceed three bedrooms shall not constitute business or commercial use or affect the exemption of a homestead and at no part of any hotel, motel, hostelry or apartment hotel shall be exempt.

E. In the case of rural homesteads, the homestead shall consist of not more than one hundred sixty (160) acres of land, which shall include and be about and contiguous or adjacent to the land upon which the dwelling house stands, to be selected by the owner, and the land designated as the homestead shall, as nearly as possible, consist of some legal subdivision of a section or sections.

3. Any exemption as to the expansion of an existing manufacturing facility shall be limited to the increase in ad valorem taxes directly attributable to the expansion;

4. Except as provided in paragraphs 5 and 6 of this subsection, all initial applications for any exemption for a new, acquired or expanded manufacturing facility shall be granted only if:

   a. there is a net increase of Two Hundred Fifty Thousand Dollars ($250,000.00) or more in annualized payroll, or a net increase of Two Million Dollars ($2,000,000.00) or more in capital improvements while maintaining or increasing payroll. The Oklahoma Tax Commission shall verify all payroll information through the Oklahoma Employment Security Commission. Payroll shall be verified by the Oklahoma Tax Commission by using the average of the third and fourth quarter Oklahoma Employment Security Commission reports of the calendar year immediately preceding the year for which initial application is made for base-line payroll, and

b. the facility offers, or will offer within one hundred eighty (180) days of the date of employment, a basic health benefits plan to the full-time-equivalent employees of the facility, which is determined by the Department of Commerce to consist of the elements specified in subparagraph b of paragraph 1 of subsection A of Section 3603 of this title or elements substantially equivalent thereto.

For purposes of this section, calculation of the amount of increased payroll shall be measured from the start of initial construction or expansion to the completion of such construction or expansion or for three (3) years from the start of initial construction or expansion, whichever occurs first. For the facilities of any qualified manufacturing concern the construction or expansion of which began on or after January 1, 1996, and for which an application for the exemption authorized by this section was filed prior to the effective date of this act, the amount of increased payroll shall include payroll for full-time-equivalent employees in this state who are employed by an entity other than the facility which has previously or is currently qualified to receive an exemption pursuant to the provisions of this section and who are leased or otherwise provided to the facility, if such employment did not exist in this state prior to the start of initial construction or expansion of the facility. The manufacturing concern shall submit an affidavit to the Tax Commission, signed by an officer, stating that the construction, acquisition or expansion of the facility will result in a net increase in the annualized payroll as required by this paragraph and that full-time-equivalent employees of the facility are or will be offered a basic health benefits plan as required by this paragraph. If, after the completion of such construction or expansion or after three (3) years from the start of initial construction or expansion, whichever occurs first, the construction, acquisition or expansion has not resulted in a net increase in the amount of annualized payroll, if required, or any other qualification specified in this paragraph has not been met, the manufacturing concern shall pay an amount equal to the amount of any exemption granted, including penalties and interest thereon, to the Tax Commission for deposit to the Ad Valorem Reimbursement Fund; provided, for facilities having previously qualified for an exemption under this section, if the total amount of capital improvements made to the facility during any five-year period is at least Ten Million Dollars ($10,000,000.00), the requirements for a net increase in the amount of annualized payroll or for maintaining payroll and the requirements for increasing or maintaining payroll for previous years shall be deemed to have been met for purposes of this section for the entire five-year period of the exemption and payment to the Tax Commission shall not be required. In such event, the facility shall continue to receive the exemption for the entire original five-year period;

5. Any new, acquired or expanded automotive final assembly manufacturing facility which does not meet the requirements of paragraph 4 of this subsection shall be granted an exemption only if all other requirements of this section are met and only if the investment cost of the construction, acquisition or expansion of the manufacturing facility is Three Hundred Million Dollars ($300,000,000.00) or more and the manufacturing facility retains an average employment of one thousand seven hundred fifty (1,750) or more full-time-equivalent employees in the year in which the exemption is initially granted and in each of the four (4) subsequent years only if an average employment of one thousand seven hundred fifty (1,750) or more full-time-equivalent employees is maintained in the subsequent year. Calculation of the number of employees shall be made in the same manner as required under Section 2357.4 of this title for an investment tax credit. As used in this paragraph, "expand" and "expansion" shall mean and include any increase to the size or scope of a facility as well as any renovation, restoration, replacement or remodeling of a facility which permits the manufacturing of a new or redesigned product; and

6. Any new, acquired or expanded manufacturing facility which does not meet the requirements of subparagraph a of paragraph 4 of this subsection shall be granted an exemption only if all other requirements of this section are met and only if:
a. the investment cost of the construction, acquisition or expansion of the manufacturing facility is Two Hundred Million Dollars ($200,000,000.00) or more and such investment is made on or after July 1, 1997, and

b. the manufacturing facility retains employment of five hundred (500) or more full-time-equivalent employees in the year in which the exemption provided by this paragraph is granted and in each of the four (4) subsequent years only if employment of five hundred (500) or more full-time-equivalent employees is maintained in the subsequent year. Calculation of the number of employees shall be made in the same manner as required under Section 2357.4 of this title for an investment tax credit.

As used in this paragraph, "expand" and "expansion" shall mean and include any increase to the size or scope of a facility as well as any renovation, restoration, replacement or remodeling of a facility which permits the manufacturing of a new or redesigned product or a technological enhancement of the manufacturing process.

D. The five-year period of exemption from ad valorem taxes for any qualifying manufacturing facility property shall begin on January 1 following the initial qualifying use of the property in the manufacturing process.

E. Any person, firm or corporation claiming the exemption herein provided for shall file each year for which exemption is claimed, an application therefor with the county assessor of the county in which the new, expanded or acquired facility is located. The application shall be on a form or forms prescribed by the Tax Commission, and shall be filed before March 15, except as provided in Section 2902.1 of this title, of each year in which the facility desires to take the exemption or within thirty (30) days from and after receipt by such person, firm or corporation of notice of valuation increase, whichever is later. In a case where completion of the facility or facilities will occur after January 1 of a given year, a facility may apply to claim the ad valorem tax exemption for that year. If such facility is found to be qualified for exemption, the ad valorem tax exemption provided for herein shall be granted for that entire year and shall apply to the ad valorem valuation as of January 1 of that given year. For applicants which qualify under the provisions of subparagraph b of paragraph 1 of subsection B of this section, the application shall include a copy of the affidavit and any other information required to be filed with the Tax Commission.

F. The application shall be examined by the county assessor and approved or rejected in the same manner as provided by law for approval or rejection of claims for homestead exemptions. The taxpayer shall have the same right of review by and appeal from the county board of equalization, in the same manner and subject to the same requirements as provided by law for review and appeals concerning homestead exemption claims. Approved applications shall be filed by the county assessor with the Tax Commission no later than June 15, except as provided in Section 2902.1 of this title, of the year in which the facility desires to take the exemption. Incomplete applications and applications filed after June 15 will be declared null and void by the Tax Commission. In the event that a taxpayer qualified to receive an exemption pursuant to the provisions of this section shall make payment of ad valorem taxes in excess of the amount due, the county treasurer shall have the authority to credit the taxpayer's real or personal property tax overpayment against current taxes due. The county treasurer may establish a schedule of up to five (5) years of credit to resolve the overpayment.

G. Nothing herein shall in any manner affect, alter or impair any law relating to the assessment of property, and all property, real or personal, which may be entitled to exemption hereunder shall be valued and assessed as is other like property and as provided by law. The valuation and assessment of property for which an exemption is granted hereunder shall be performed by the Tax Commission.

H. The Tax Commission shall have the authority and duty to prescribe forms and to promulgate rules as may be necessary to carry out and administer the terms and provisions of this section.
A. Except as otherwise provided by subsection H of Section 3658 of this title pursuant to which the exemption authorized by this section may not be claimed, a qualifying manufacturing concern, as defined by Section 6B of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution, and as further defined herein, shall be exempt from the levy of any ad valorem taxes upon new, expanded or acquired manufacturing facilities, including facilities engaged in research and development, for a period of five (5) years. The provisions of Section 6B of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution requiring an existing facility to have been unoccupied for a period of twelve (12) months prior to acquisition shall be construed as a qualification for a facility to initially receive an exemption, and shall not be deemed to be a qualification for that facility to continue to receive an exemption in each of the four (4) years following the initial year for which the exemption was granted. Such facilities are hereby classified for the purposes of taxation as provided in Section 22 of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution.

B. For purposes of this section, the following definitions shall apply:

1. "Manufacturing facilities" shall mean facilities engaged in the mechanical or chemical transformation of materials or substances into new products and shall include:

   c. establishments primarily engaged in computer services and data processing as defined under Industrial Group Numbers 7372 and 7373 of the SIC Manual, latest revision, and which derive at least fifty percent (50%) of their annual gross revenues from the sale of a product or service to an out-of-state buyer or consumer, and as defined under Industrial Group Number 7374 of the SIC Manual, latest revision, which derive at least eighty percent (80%) of their annual gross revenues from the sale of a product or service to an out-of-state buyer or consumer. Eligibility as a manufacturing facility pursuant to this subparagraph shall be established, subject to review by the Oklahoma Tax Commission, by annually filing an affidavit with the Tax Commission stating that the facility so qualifies and such other information as required by the Tax Commission. For purposes of determining whether annual gross revenues are derived from sales to out-of-state buyers, all sales to the federal government shall be considered to be an out-of-state buyer, or

      2) employment of at least one hundred (100) full-time-equivalent employees, as certified by the Oklahoma Employment Security Commission,
      3) payment of wages or salaries to its employees at a wage which equals or exceeds one hundred seventy-five percent (175%) of the federally mandated minimum wage, as certified by the Oklahoma Employment Security Commission, and
      4) commencement of construction prior to December 31, 2006, with construction to be completed within three (3) years from the date of the commencement of construction.
Eligibility as a manufacturing facility pursuant to this subparagraph shall be established, subject to review by the Tax Commission, by annually filing an affidavit with the Tax Commission stating that the facility so qualifies and containing such other information as required by the Tax Commission.

Provided, eating and drinking places, as well as other retail establishments, except as otherwise provided in subsection E of this section, shall not qualify as manufacturing facilities for purposes of this section, nor shall centrally assessed properties.

2. For tax years beginning after December 31, 1992, "manufacturing facilities" shall mean those facilities as defined in paragraph 1 of this subsection for which the investment cost of the construction, acquisition or expansion of the manufacturing facility is Two Hundred Fifty Thousand Dollars ($250,000.00) or more;

3. "Facility" and "facilities" shall mean and include the land, buildings, structures, improvements, machinery, fixtures, equipment and other personal property used directly and exclusively in the manufacturing process; and

4. "Research and development" shall mean activities directly related to and conducted for the purpose of discovering, enhancing, increasing or improving future or existing products or processes or productivity.

C. For applications for a five-year exemption submitted after the effective date of this act, the following provisions shall apply:

1. A manufacturing concern shall be entitled to the exemption herein provided for each new manufacturing facility constructed, each existing manufacturing facility acquired and the expansion of existing manufacturing facilities on the same site, as such terms are defined by Section 6B of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution and by this section; provided, if a facility has initially qualified for an exemption pursuant to the provisions of this section on or after January 1, 1999, and ownership of the facility changes during the five-year period of the exemption, the exemption shall continue in effect for the balance of the five-year period as long as all other qualifications provided in this section are met;

2. Except as otherwise provided in paragraph 5 of this subsection, no manufacturing concern shall receive more than one five-year exemption for any one manufacturing facility unless the expansion which qualifies the manufacturing facility for an additional five-year exemption meets the requirements of paragraph 4 of this subsection and the employment level established for any previous exemption is maintained;

3. Any exemption as to the expansion of an existing manufacturing facility shall be limited to the increase in ad valorem taxes directly attributable to the expansion;

4. Except as provided in paragraphs 5 and 6 of this subsection, all initial applications for any exemption for a new, acquired or expanded manufacturing facility shall be granted only if:

The Oklahoma Tax Commission shall verify all payroll information through the Oklahoma Employment Security Commission. Payroll shall be verified by the Oklahoma Tax Commission by using the average of the third and fourth quarter Oklahoma Employment Security Commission reports of the calendar year immediately preceding the year for which initial application is made for base-line payroll, and

For purposes of this section, calculation of the amount of increased payroll shall be measured from the start of initial construction or expansion to the completion of such construction or expansion or for three (3) years from the start of initial construction or expansion, whichever occurs first. For the facilities of any qualified manufacturing concern the construction or expansion of which began on or after January 1, 1996, and for which an application for the exemption authorized by this section was filed prior to June 6, 2002, the amount of increased payroll shall include payroll for full-time-equivalent employees in this state who are employed by an entity other than the facility which has previously or is currently qualified to receive an exemption pursuant to the provisions of this section and who are leased or otherwise provided to the facility, if such employment did not exist in this state prior to the start of initial construction or expansion of the facility. The manufacturing concern shall submit an affidavit to the Tax Commission, signed by an officer, stating that the construction, acquisition or expansion of the facility will result in a net increase in the annualized payroll as required by this paragraph and that full-time-equivalent employees of the facility are or will be offered a basic health benefits plan as required by this paragraph. If, after the completion of such construction or expansion or after three (3) years from the start of initial construction or expansion, whichever occurs first, the construction, acquisition or expansion has not resulted in a net increase in the amount of annualized payroll, if required, or any other qualification specified in this paragraph has not been met, the manufacturing concern shall pay an amount equal to the amount of any exemption granted, including penalties and interest thereon, to the Tax Commission for deposit to the Ad Valorem Reimbursement Fund;

5. Any new, acquired or expanded automotive final assembly manufacturing facility which does not meet the requirements of paragraph 4 of this subsection shall be granted an exemption only if all other requirements of this section are met and only if the investment cost of the construction, acquisition or expansion of the manufacturing facility is Three Hundred Million Dollars ($300,000,000.00) or more and the manufacturing facility retains an average employment of one thousand seven hundred fifty (1,750) or more full-time-equivalent employees in the year in which the exemption is initially granted and in each of the four (4) subsequent years only if an average employment of one thousand seven hundred fifty (1,750) or more full-time-equivalent employees is maintained in the subsequent year. As used in this paragraph, "expand" and "expansion" shall mean and include any increase to the size or scope of a facility as well as any renovation, restoration, replacement or remodeling of a facility which permits the manufacturing of a new or redesigned product; and

Any new, acquired, or expanded computer data processing, data preparation, or information processing services provider classified in Industrial Group Number 7374 of the SIC Manual, latest revision, and U.S. Industry Number 514210 of the North American Industrial Classification System (NAICS) Manual, latest revision, which has made an initial application pursuant to paragraph 4 of this subsection on or after January 1, 2003, and before July 1, 2003, which application has been approved by the county assessor, may apply for additional exemptions under this section for each year in which new, acquired, or expanded capital improvements to the facility are made if:

D. The five-year period of exemption from ad valorem taxes for any qualifying manufacturing facility property shall begin on January 1 following the initial qualifying use of the property in the manufacturing process.

E. Any person, firm or corporation claiming the exemption herein provided for shall file each year for which exemption is claimed, an application therefor with the county assessor of the county in which the new, expanded or acquired facility is located. In a case where completion of the facility or facilities will occur after January 1 of a given year, a facility may apply to claim the ad valorem tax exemption for that year. If such facility is found to be qualified for exemption, the ad valorem tax exemption provided for herein shall be granted for that entire year and shall apply to the ad valorem valuation as of January 1 of that given year. For applicants which qualify under the provisions of subparagraph b of paragraph 1 of subsection B of this section, the application shall include a copy of the affidavit and any other information required to be filed with the Tax Commission.

F. The application shall be examined by the county assessor and approved or rejected in the same manner as provided by law for approval or rejection of claims for homestead exemptions. The taxpayer shall have the same right of review by and appeal from the county board of equalization, in the same manner and subject to the same requirements as provided by law for review and appeals concerning homestead exemption claims. Approved applications shall be filed by the county assessor with the Tax Commission no later than June 15, except as provided in Section 2902.1 of this title, of the year in which the facility desires to take the exemption. Incomplete applications and applications filed after June 15 will be declared null and void by the Tax Commission. In the event that a taxpayer qualified to receive an exemption pursuant to the provisions of this section shall make payment of ad valorem taxes in excess of the amount due, the county treasurer shall have the authority to credit the taxpayer's real or personal property tax overpayment against current taxes due. The county treasurer may establish a schedule of up to five (5) years of credit to resolve the overpayment.

G. Nothing herein shall in any manner affect, alter or impair any law relating to the assessment of property, and all property, real or personal, which may be entitled to exemption hereunder shall be valued and assessed as is other like property and as provided by law. The valuation and assessment of property for which an exemption is granted hereunder shall be performed by the Tax Commission.

2. If the first half of the taxes levied upon an ad valorem basis for any such fiscal year has been paid before the first day of January, the second half shall be paid before the first day of April thereafter and if not paid shall become delinquent on that date.

In no event may payment be made in more than two equal installments subject to the provisions of the payment schedule specified in this subsection.

B. Mortgage servicers, as defined in 24 C.F.R., part 3500.17, shall pay all accounts which they are servicing in one annual payment before the first day of January or the entire tax levy for such fiscal year shall become delinquent on that date.

C. If the total tax owed is Ten Dollars ($10.00) or less, then the total amount must be paid before January 1. If the total tax is not paid before January 1, the unpaid balance owing shall become delinquent on the first day of January and shall be subject to delinquent charges as provided for in this section.

D. All delinquent taxes shall bear interest at the rate of one and one-half percent (1 1/2 %) per month or major fraction thereof until paid. In no event shall such interest exceed a sum equal to the unpaid principal amount of tax, and when such interest has accumulated to a sum equivalent to one hundred percent (100%) of the unpaid tax the further accumulation of interest shall cease.

E. The county treasurer shall stamp the date of receipt on each letter received containing funds for payment of taxes and no interest shall be added or charged after the receipt of such letter or the amount due. It shall be the duty of every person subject to taxation according to the law to attend the county treasurer's office and pay his or her taxes. If any person neglects to pay his or her taxes until after they have become delinquent, the county treasurer is directed and required to collect the delinquent tax as provided for by law. The first half of taxes payable pursuant to the provisions of this section shall not become delinquent until thirty (30) days after the tax rolls have become completed and filed by the county assessor with the county treasurer.

F. The county treasurer may waive penalties or interest in any case where it is shown to the county treasurer that such penalties or interest were incurred through no fault of the taxpayer. Each waiver of penalties or interest shall be audited by the Office of the State Auditor and Inspector each year during the annual audit of the county offices.

Historical Data
The county treasurer of each county upon receipt of the tax rolls shall proceed with the collection of the taxes as therein extended, issuing, in triplicate, receipts upon all collections, delivering the original to the taxpayer and filing the triplicate with the county clerk. Such receipts shall be, in manner and form, the same as the tax rolls, and shall have endorsed thereon in red ink the amount of delinquent taxes levied against the property.

Historical Data

A. It shall be the duty of every person subject to taxation under the Ad Valorem Tax Code, Section 2801 et seq. of this title to attend the treasurer's office and pay taxes; and if any person neglects to attend and pay taxes until after they have become delinquent, the treasurer shall collect the same in the manner provided by law. If any person owing taxes, removes from one county to another in this state, the county treasurer shall forward the tax claim to the treasurer of the county to which the person has removed, and the taxes shall be collected by the county treasurer of the latter place as other taxes and returned to the proper county, less legal charges. The county treasurer may visit, in person or by deputy, places other than the county seat for the purpose of receiving taxes. Nothing herein shall be so construed as to prevent an agent of any person subject to taxation from paying the taxes.

B. The county treasurer of each county shall, within thirty (30) days after the tax rolls have been completed and delivered to the office of the county treasurer by the county assessor, mail to each taxpayer at the taxpayer's last-known address a statement showing separately the amount of all ad valorem taxes assessed against the taxpayer's real and personal property for the current year and all delinquent taxes remaining unpaid thereon for previous years. It is expressly provided, however, that failure of any taxpayer to receive such statement, or failure of the treasurer to so mail the same, shall not in any way extend the date by which such taxes shall be due and payable nor relieve the taxpayer of the duty and responsibility of paying same as provided by law.

C. The statement required by this section shall contain an explanation of how the ad valorem tax bill is calculated using language so that a person of common understanding would know what is intended. The statement shall also contain an explanation of the manner in which ad valorem taxes are apportioned between the county, school district or other jurisdiction levying ad valorem taxes and shall identify the apportionment of the taxes for the current year on the subject property. The State Auditor and Inspector shall promulgate rules necessary to implement the provisions of this subsection.

D. It shall be the mandatory duty of the county treasurer to request an appropriation for necessary postage and expense to defray the cost of furnishing taxpayers the statement herein provided and it shall be the mandatory duty of the board of county commissioners and the county excise board to make such appropriation.

Historical Data

All state, county, school district, city, town, or other taxes shall be paid to the county treasurer, either in lawful currency, or by check or draft upon a bank therein stated, or by post office or express order, or at the option of the county treasurer, by a nationally recognized credit or debit card as determined acceptable by the Oklahoma Tax Commission. If payment is made by a credit or debit card, the county treasurer may add an amount equal to the amount of the service charge incurred for the acceptance of such card. County treasurers may enter into contracts for credit card processing services according to applicable county purchasing law or may enter into agreements with the State Treasurer to participate in any credit card processing agreements entered into by the State Treasurer. It shall be unlawful for any county treasurer to receive in payment of any taxes to be collected, any state, county, school district, city or town warrants. No county treasurer shall be required to execute a tax receipt for any taxes except those paid in lawful money, until the check, draft, post office or express order has been actually paid, and in case any such check, draft, post office or express order should prove to be worthless, it shall not operate as a payment of the tax for the payment of which it was given, and any tax receipt or other receipt given therefor shall be illegal and void.

Historical Data

The receipts for taxes issued by the county treasurers shall be in the form prescribed by the State Auditor and Inspector. The said county treasurer shall furnish, when requested, a printed list of the several items and rates of tax levy, by and upon which such tax is authorized to be collected.

Historical Data

All tax receipts issued by the county treasurer shall be numbered consecutively, commencing with number one on the first receipt issued for the taxes of any year, and he shall not receipt for more than one (1) year's taxes on the same property in one tax receipt, but shall keep a separate and distinct series of numbers of receipts, issued for the taxes of each year for which the same have been levied and assessed.

Historical Data

Whenever any taxes are paid, the county treasurer shall write upon the tax roll, opposite the description of the real estate or property whereon the same were levied, the word "Paid", together with the date of such payment and the name of the person paying the same.

Historical Data

At the end of each calendar month the county treasurer shall apportion all collections for said month, and distribute the same among the different funds to which they belong.

Historical Data

The county treasurer shall at the end of each month after apportioning the collections of that month, make a statement to the county clerk of the amount apportioned each town, city and school district for all monies which are required by law to be paid to the treasurers of such towns, cities and school districts by the county treasurer, and the county clerk shall issue a warrant for the amount shown by the statement of the county treasurer, payable to the treasurer of such town, city or school district. The form of the warrant and the manner in which they shall be turned over to the various treasurers of the towns, cities, and school districts shall be prescribed by the State Auditor and Inspector.

Historical Data

Whenever the United States, the state, or a city, town, county, school district, or any other political subdivision, including, but not limited to, a turnpike authority, municipal trust, water or conservation district, flood control district, levee or waterway improvement district, urban renewal authority, public housing authority, or any other authority authorized by law, state or federal, acquires title to any real property for a governmental purpose between January 1 and October 1 of the tax year, such property shall be relieved of ad valorem tax for the remaining months of the year beginning with the first of the month next succeeding the date its acquisition for public purposes becomes a matter of public record, if the deed thereto was recorded prior to October 1; provided, however, that all taxes assessed against such property prior to its acquisition shall be paid in full and there be paid a sum equal to one-twelfth (1/12) times the number of months that the property remained in private ownership of an amount estimated by the county treasurer of the county wherein the real property lies to be substantially equal to the amount of tax which would have been or will become due and payable for the year had the real property not been acquired for public purposes. In estimating the amount of taxes which would have been or will become due and payable for the tax year had the real property not been acquired for public purposes the county treasurer shall use as a basis the current assessment and the tax rate for the preceding year, unless the tax for the current year shall be by then determined and set, in which event he shall use as basis the new assessment and rate. The public agency acquiring the property shall deduct the amount of such taxes from the purchase price payable to the private owner and remit the same to the county treasurer in satisfaction of such taxes. The county treasurer of any county is hereby authorized upon order of the board of tax roll corrections to cancel of record all taxes assessed against such property for the year of its acquisition when the deed thereto was recorded prior to October 1 and the aforesaid estimated amount of the tax for the months that the property was in private ownership is paid, which order shall be issued upon application of the acquiring authority.

Historical Data

Any and all ad valorem taxes and assessments, together with interest, penalty and costs, heretofore or hereafter levied for any year upon any real property and any lien created thereby in this state are hereby released and extinguished forever upon the expiration of seven (7) years after the date upon which any part thereof became or shall become due, and any lien for ad valorem taxes or assessments together with interest, penalty and costs, for any tax year or years which has heretofore accrued or may hereafter accrue because of the failure of any real property to have been assessed or taxed and placed upon any tax roll, shall be and are hereby extinguished upon the expiration of seven (7) years from the date when such lien would have accrued had such assessment or assessments been made or placed upon the tax rolls as required by law.

Such financial statement shall be supported by schedules or exhibits showing, by classes, the amount of all receipts and disbursements, and shall be sworn to as being true and correct. The statement of estimated needs shall be itemized so as to show, by classes: first, the several amounts necessary for the current expenses of the political subdivision and each officer and department thereof as submitted in compliance with the provisions of Section 3004 of this title; second, the amount required by law to be provided for sinking fund purposes; third, the probable income that will be received from all sources, including interest income and ad valorem taxes; and shall be detailed in form and amount so as to disclose the several items for which the excise board is authorized and required, by this article, to approve estimates and make appropriations.

B. Each municipality that does not prepare an annual audit pursuant to Section 17-105 of Title 11 of the Oklahoma Statutes shall make a financial statement as required by this section. Every municipality shall adopt a budget, which shall contain estimates of expenditures and revenues, including probable income by source, for the budget year; provided, that all municipalities may use estimated fund balances if final certified fund balances are not available. The budget shall be in a format similar to the estimate of needs or, at the municipality’s discretion, to Sections 17-207 and 17-212 through 17-214 of Title 11 of the Oklahoma Statutes. This section shall not apply to any municipality that has opted to prepare a budget pursuant to the Municipal Budget Act.

Historical Data

A. It shall be unlawful for the governing board of any county, city, town, school district, or other governmental subdivision of this state, in preparation of its budget for any fiscal year, to estimate as probable income from sources other than ad valorem tax of such governmental subdivision of the state and other than any excise or other tax assessed by legislative enactment and distributed in lieu of ad valorem taxes, any revenue from nonrecurrent sources, regardless of such collections in the immediately preceding fiscal year, to be derived from or the result of sales, forfeitures, penalties, gifts, federal aid allotments of every kind, windfalls, seizures, sheriff's sales, court actions whether civil or criminal, injunctions or protests won or released by dismissal, or from any other such source not normally recurrent year after year and so made recurrent by legislative enactment. Provided, that upon a finding by the governing board of any county, city, town, school district, or other governmental subdivision of this state, that a source of income, although nonrecurrent, will actually be available for the next ensuing fiscal year, the board may include such income in its estimate of probable income. Provided that shared revenues of the federal government, if ascertainable, shall be allowed to be included in the estimates. It shall also be unlawful for any excise board to approve or require the same, or for any supervisory state board, commission, or officer, or for any agent or employee of either thereof to countenance, approve, or require the same or to diminish in any degree the distribution or allotment of state revenues or appropriations by reason of such collections in a prior year or prospect of such collections in the ensuing year; nor shall any revenue received by a school district from gross production taxes during the immediately preceding fiscal year, which was payable to such district in another year or years, be considered as minimum program income of such district for state aid purposes. The provisions of Section 21 of Title 21 of the Oklahoma Statutes shall be applicable where the foregoing prohibitions are disregarded. Revenue received by a school district during the immediately preceding year, which was earned by, or which was payable to, such school district in another year or years, shall not be considered as minimum program income of such district for state aid purposes.

B. All funds received by counties, cities, towns or other subdivisions of government in the State of Oklahoma, hereinafter referred to as the recipient government, from the federal government pursuant to the distribution of funds authorized by the state shall be deposited in the treasury of the recipient government in a fund which shall be recorded and accounted for separately and apart from all other funds. Principal and interest received from investments of the federal monies, proceeds from the sale of assets purchased from the federal monies, and other miscellaneous income derived from the direct operation of the federal monies may be deposited in the fund from which the federal monies were deposited if required by the federal government or by the governing board of the recipient government.

The unappropriated cash balance on hand may be appropriated as needed upon the request of the governing board of the recipient government and approval by the county excise board, provided, if the governing board of the recipient government determines the need to do so, it may estimate the amount remaining to be collected from its entitlement from federal funds during the remainder of its fiscal year and include such estimate in its request for appropriations. The estimate shall not exceed the amount of the entitlement which is to be received during the remainder of the recipient government's fiscal year or, if the amount of the entitlement has not been certified, ninety percent (90%) of such funds received during a corresponding period of the previous fiscal year; provided that if the entitlement is less than that estimated or if the entitlement to be collected during the recipient government's fiscal year, in addition to the unappropriated cash balance, is reduced below the amount appropriated for the fiscal year, the governing board of the recipient government shall request the county excise board for an adequate reduction of appropriations in the fund.

All disbursements made from the fund in which federal monies are deposited shall be made in the same manner as those made from the general fund of the recipient government; provided that, no warrants shall be drawn on the fund unless sufficient monies are available to pay the warrants.

All forms and procedures necessary for the effective operation of this act shall be prescribed by the office of the State Auditor and Inspector.

C. All monies distributed by the federal government and received by any state agency, board, or commission to administer and distribute to counties, cities, towns, or other subdivisions of the government in the State of Oklahoma, hereinafter referred to as the recipient government, that do not follow procedures in subsection B of this section may utilize the letter of commitment appropriation process as specified in this subsection. The recipient government shall receive approval for the program as required by the agency, board, or commission administering the program and by the federal government, if required. Once approved, the state agency, board or commission may authorize a letter of commitment of federal monies available to the recipient government. The Excise Board may approve an appropriation in the amount of the letter of commitment. Each recipient government may establish a separate appropriation within a special revenue fund designated for federal monies. The recipient government may encumber funds in an amount not to exceed the sum of the total letter of commitment, which is a binding commitment of funding which the recipient government will receive for the project or projects eligible for such federal funding. The encumbrance of funds authorized by this section shall be made in accordance with procedures prescribed by the State Auditor and Inspector and shall be administered in accordance with rules and regulations concerning such distribution adopted by the federal government and the state agency, board, or commission. Any expenditure incurred by the recipient government using the letter of commitment appropriation process and disallowed by the federal government or state agency, board, or commission administering the funds shall be paid by the recipient government.

Historical Data

The county excise board shall meet at the county seat on the first Monday of July of each year as provided in Section 2494 of Title 68 or on such earlier date in the year as determined by the excise board, and organize by electing one of its members as chairman, and another as vice chairman who shall preside in the absence of the chairman, for the purpose of performing the duties required of it by law during such fiscal year. Thenceforth, said board may meet from day to day, or adjourn from day to day and time to time thereafter for said purpose. In its functionings it is hereby declared an agency of the state, as a part of the system of checks and balances required by the Constitution, and as such it is empowered to require adequate and accurate reporting of finances and expenditures for all budget and supplemental purposes, charged with the duty of requiring adequate provision for performance of mandatory constitutional and statutory governmental functions within the means available, but it shall have no authority thereafter to deny any appropriation for a lawful purpose if within the income and revenue provided.

Historical Data

As to each budget, original or supplemental, the county excise board shall proceed in the following order:

(1) Examine the financial statements contained therein for the purpose of ascertaining the true fiscal condition of each of the several fund accounts of the municipality as of the close of the previous fiscal year, or as of the date reported for supplemental purposes; and it may require such additional statistics or financial statements from the municipal officers as will enable it to make such determination, and correct such statements if need be.

(2) Examine specifically the several items and amounts stated in the estimate of needs, and if any be contained therein not authorized by law or that may be contrary to law, or in excess of needs, as determined by the excise board, said item shall be ordered stricken and disregarded. If the amount as to any lawful item exceeds the amount authorized by law, it shall be ordered reduced to that extent; otherwise, the excise board joins in responsibility therefor.

(3) Examine the content of the estimate of needs, and if the governing board has failed to make provision for mandatory governmental functions, whether such mandate be of the Constitution or of the Legislature, or if the provision submitted by estimate be deemed inadequate, the county excise board shall, whether on request in writing by the officer charged with a mandatory duty or of its own volition, prepare an estimate by items and amounts, either by the items submitted or by additional items, and cause publication thereof in some newspaper of general circulation in the county, in one issue if published in a weekly paper, and in two consecutive issues if published in a daily paper, and thereafter attach such estimate, together with affidavit and proof of publication, to that submitted by the governing board, for further consideration. However, nothing herein contained shall prevent any governing board, upon a timely finding that its estimate of needs as first filed is inadequate, from filing a written request with the excise board to increase such estimate as to any item or items, whether mandatory or not; whereupon the excise board shall cause publication thereof, as aforesaid, at the expense of the municipality.

(4) Compute the total means available to each fund, except the sinking fund, by the converse of the formula provided by law for computing the tax levy, as provided in Section 2497 of this Code.

(5) If the total of the several items of estimated needs for lawful purposes as heretofore ascertained is within the income and revenue lawfully available, the excise board shall approve the same by items and compute the levy required. If said total exceeds the means provided to finance the same, the excise board will proceed to revise the same by reducing items, in whole or in part, in the following order: (a) first apply such revision by reduction of items for governmental functions merely authorized but not required; (b) if further reduction be necessary, second, by reduction of items required by the Legislature but not within Constitutional requirement; (c) if still further reduction be necessary and no other items remain, third, by reduction of items for Constitutional governmental functions until the total thereof be within the income and revenue provided. At the option of the excise board, the governing board may collaborate in such reductions; but the final order shall be that of the county excise board.
Historical Data

The county excise board may require the attendance of the District Attorney at any of its sessions when passing upon the validity or invalidity of items of appropriation; or it may request his opinion in writing as to any such item. Said board is hereby empowered to require such further detail as to any item of any estimate as it deems necessary and proper for such determination, and it may place such restrictions thereon as will limit the use thereof to purposes authorized by law; but such further detail and such restrictions shall not enlarge upon the number of accounts in the bookkeeping systems prescribed and kept as provided by law. However, such further detail and any restrictions imposed thereon shall be disclosed by statements attached to the original copy of such budget filed with the county clerk, and to the duplicate copy of such budget filed with the State Auditor and Inspector. If such excise board desires assistance for the purpose of inspecting and correcting financial statements and accounts, and inspection of levies, it may invoke those provisions of law providing such assistance (74 O.S. 1961 Section 212), provided there shall have been made an appropriation for county audit and an assignment to such county for such purpose.

Historical Data

The county excise board shall comply with the following:

(a) Provision and levy for the sinking funds of any municipality shall be made in strict conformity to the special statute therefor (62 O.S. 1961 Section 431): but no surplus shall be disclosed or computed in any sinking fund account except it be in cash and investments actually on hand in excess of all accrual liabilities, whether collections exceed anticipations or not.

(b) Building fund appropriations and levies under Section X, Article 10, Oklahoma Constitution, shall be computed by the same formula and subject to the same defenses as general funds, but need be itemized only as to the amount needed for construction of new buildings, remodeling or repairing buildings, and purchasing furniture, and for a reserve for interest on warrant issues according to statute.

(c) The general fund shall comprehend and include all appropriations and expenditures financed from levy of ad valorem tax under any of the provisions of Section 9, Article X, Oklahoma Constitution, and all revenues from sources other than ad valorem taxation except the proceeds derived from the sale of bonds and those revenues specifically required by law to be deposited into the sinking fund, the building or replacement funds, or in cash funds, or in any other fund or funds so specifically denominated by statute. If a portion of the ad valorem levies under said Section 9, Article 10, Oklahoma Constitution, and specific revenues from other sources, be required by law to be devoted to a special purpose, other than those specifically required to be accounted for in cash funds, such special purpose shall be provided for by a special budget account within the general fund, distinguished from the governmental budget account, and assigned such appropriation account or accounts as will accomplish such special purpose and include sums at least equivalent to the net estimate of revenues or levy thus specially applied. As to counties, cities, and towns, except as hereinafter provided, the governmental budget account shall be departmentalized, and the appropriations made for the use of each separate office, board, commission or department shall be stated in separate items, and no appropriation shall be available for the use of more than one office, board, commission or department; and the appropriations so made for the use of each such separate office, board, commission or department, or for any special function of either of them, of the several municipalities, including the general fund appropriations of municipalities not so departmentalized, shall not be increased or diminished after such appropriations become final, except in the manner provided by law (Section 24101 of this Code), or by order of a court of competent jurisdiction.

Historical Data

Each of the items of appropriation as hereinafter defined and enumerated shall represent, in the broadest permissible sense, a specific purpose, and each such item of appropriation shall be the estimate made and approved for such purpose, subject to encumbrance and expenditure therefor under restrictions otherwise provided by law. The distinctive functional purpose of each shall be that assigned by statute, charter or ordinance to the office, board, commission or department for counties, cities and towns, and to quasi-municipal boards serving a particular function but lacking corporate powers. Section 3011 - Departments Operated Within General Fund - Special Budget and Cash Accounts - Items of Appropriation.
Cite as: O.S. §, __ __

(1) For each office, board, commission and department, including public utilities operated within the general fund, and special budget accounts and cash accounts, of counties, cities and towns, the items of appropriation shall, unless otherwise provided by law, be as follows: "personal services," "maintenance and operation," and "capital outlay," applied as enumerated and defined in the preceding section. Provided, that public utilities owned or controlled and managed by the city may be operated within the budget as a department within the general fund or may be separately operated as a private enterprise, not controlled by general taxation statutes, and expenditures for operating expenses, replacements and extensions may be made from the income derived from the operation of such utility without appropriation. Nothing herein contained shall operate to prevent the governing board from transferring any surplus, not needed for the operation of such public utilities, to the general fund or sinking fund of the municipality.

(2) The board of trustees of a town (not a city) having a population less than that required by law to become a city, may at its option submit its estimate of needs in short form, not departmentalized, showing in separate items the amounts of funds estimated and appropriated for the functions and purposes thereof, but defined as follows: "personal services," "maintenance and operation" and "capital outlay" as enumerated and defined in the preceding section. Small utilities managed directly by such board of town trustees may be operated within such budget or separately operated and reported as are city utilities separately operated; but if within the budget and as separate department, the departmentalized budget form shall be used.

Historical Data

The county excise board of each county shall at its first annual meeting fix the time and place for public hearings before such board at which meeting any taxpayer may appear and be heard for or against any part of the statements of estimated needs for current expense purposes for the current fiscal year as certified by each of the municipalities.

Historical Data

The notice of such hearing shall be given by one publication in a newspaper of general circulation in such county and such notice shall fix the time and place of such hearing.

The hearing shall be continued from day to day until concluded, not to exceed a total of ten (10) days; provided, however, that such hearing shall be concluded before the expiration of ten (10) days if there are no requests on file with the board at such hearing. Upon the request of any taxpayer at such hearing, the excise board shall have the power to call in the official or person in charge of any office, department, or municipality for examination concerning estimated needs for current expense purposes for the current fiscal year, as certified by the various municipalities.

Historical Data

A. The county excise board shall meet on the first Monday of July of each year, or on such earlier date in the year as determined by the excise board, for the purpose of performing the duties required of it by law, and shall meet from day to day until all of the levies shall have been fixed and the appropriations approved.

B. As used in this section, “municipality” or “municipal subdivision” shall mean a taxing jurisdiction authorized by law to levy ad valorem taxes.

C. It shall be the duty of said board to certify the levies of each municipality to the county assessor on the same date that such levies are fixed; and it shall be the duty of the county assessor to proceed to extend such levies on his tax rolls immediately upon receipt of such certificates, without regard to any protest that may be filed against any levy. It shall further be the duty of the county assessor to deliver the tax rolls to the county treasurer when the same shall have been completed, and at the same time, to file a true and correct abstract of such tax rolls with the county clerk. The county clerk shall charge the county treasurer with the amount contained in said abstract. Should there be any correction or change in the levy of any municipality, after such levy has been certified by the county excise board to the county assessor, regardless of whether such change is made by order of the county excise board or by a court of competent jurisdiction, it shall be the duty of the county assessor to deliver the tax rolls to the county treasurer, without regard to such change; and it shall be the duty of the county treasurer, with the assistance of the county assessor, to make the necessary corrections on the tax rolls after the same shall have been delivered to the said county treasurer.

D. The county excise board shall fix the levies and make the appropriations of each municipality within fifteen (15) days after the financial statement and estimate of any such municipality is filed, unless the valuations of the county, and the municipal subdivisions thereof, have not been certified to it; and, in that event, said excise board shall have thirty (30) days from the date of receipt of such valuations. If any such municipality extends into a county for which the valuations have not been certified, it shall be the duty of the county excise board to fix the levies and make appropriations for such municipality based upon the certified valuation of the other county for the preceding year. Such municipality shall have thirty (30) days from receipt of the certified valuations of the other county or counties to request modification of the appropriations.

E. It shall be the duty of the county assessor in the preparation of the tax roll to separately list and extend on the rolls all real property by separately listing all city and town lots and all other real property in subdivisions of a quarter of a quarter of a section, or less, if such subdivisions are owned in less quantity, describing the same in the usual and customary manner, or by metes and bounds and showing the value of all buildings and improvements on each separate and distinct piece of property. The county assessor shall, notwithstanding the filing of any protest against the levies or budgets or the pendency of any procedure with reference to the correctness of the assessment of any property or as to the legality of any levy, complete the tax roll and abstract thereof, and deliver the same to the county treasurer and county clerk, respectively, on or before the first day of October of each year. The county treasurer shall accept the said rolls and upon the date fixed when taxes shall become due and payable the county treasurer shall proceed to collect the taxes as provided by law.
Historical Data

The county excise board shall meet for the purpose of performing the duties required of it by law as provided by the preceding section, and shall on or before July 25th of each year apportion the millage as authorized by Section 9, Article X, Oklahoma Constitution.

Historical Data

Should any municipality fail to make and submit an estimate as herein provided, the county excise board shall have authority to make an appropriation for current expense and sinking fund purposes and make such levy therefor as it may find necessary to meet the probable needs of such municipality, provided that no such estimate shall be approved until the same shall have been by the county excise board advertised in like manner to items that shall be added to or increased in an estimate.

Historical Data

When the excise board shall have ascertained the total assessed valuation of the property taxed ad valorem in the county and in each municipal subdivision thereof, and shall have computed the total of the several items of appropriation for general fund, sinking fund, and other legal purposes for the county and each municipal subdivision thereof, said board shall then proceed to compute the levy for each fund of each municipality. The procedure for the computation of such levies shall be as follows:

First: Determine the total amount of the several items of appropriation for each fund.

Second: Deduct from such total appropriation the actual cash fund balance of the immediately preceding fiscal year.

Third: Deduct from the remainder thus ascertained the estimated probable income from sources other than ad valorem taxation; however, in no event shall the amount of such estimated income exceed ninety percent (90%) of the actual collections from such sources for the previous fiscal year. Provided, that the amount of such estimated income for a school district may be the amount that is chargeable as minimum program income of the district for the purpose of receiving state equalization aid. Also, deduct the estimated probable revenue to be derived from additional collection from taxes in the process of collection of the immediately preceding taxable year; provided that the amount so estimated shall be cash fund balance as hereinafter defined, and shall include none of that portion of the reserve added at the beginning of such year for delinquent tax, and shall not exceed ninety percent (90%) of the actual collections of additional back taxes legally accrued to and credited to the same fund account of the immediately preceding fiscal year.

Fourth: Add to the remainder a reserve for delinquent taxes, the amount of which reserve shall be determined by the excise board, except for any municipality which has opted by resolution to come under the provisions of Section 11-17-201 et seq. of Title 11 of the Oklahoma Statutes, in which case the governing body of such municipality shall determine the needs of the municipality for sinking fund purposes, after taking into consideration the amount of uncollected taxes for the previous year or years; provided that the reserve so added shall not exceed twenty percent (20%) or be less than five percent (5%); and provided, further, that the reserve so added shall not be subject to review.

Fifth: Compute the levy necessary to raise an amount of money equal to the remainder thus ascertained, based upon the total assessed valuation of the county or subdivision thereof, taking into consideration any deduction which must be made because of the exemption of homesteads as required by Section 2406 et seq. of this Code.

Sixth: Compute the reduction in levy necessary to be made because of monies being required by law to be used for the purpose of reducing ad valorem tax levies.

The rates of levy for general fund, sinking fund, and other purposes authorized by law shall be separately made and stated, and the revenue accruing therefrom respectively, when collected, shall be credited to the proper fund accounts.
Historical Data

If and when an actual cash fund balance shall accrue in any fund for any prior fiscal year, such fund balance shall forthwith be transferred to the same fund for the fiscal year next succeeding the year for which the taxes were originally levied, and shall be used to pay any warrants and interest thereon which may be outstanding and unpaid for such year. After all warrants and interest on such warrants for such year have been paid or reserved for, the fund balance, if any, shall forthwith be transferred to the next succeeding year for the same purpose. This procedure shall be followed for each succeeding fiscal year until all warrants issued prior to the current fiscal year are paid or reserved for, and then any cash fund balance remaining shall accrue and be transferred to the current fiscal year, to be used to pay any legal warrant and interest charges of such year. The term "actual cash fund balance", as used herein, is hereby defined to mean an excess of actual cash actually on hand over and above all legal obligations. Taxes in process of collection shall not be considered in determining the actual cash fund balance for any fund for any fiscal year or years.

Historical Data

The secretary of the excise board shall immediately certify each appropriation as made by the excise board to the clerk or other issuing officer of the municipality for which the same is made. The several items of the estimate as made and approved by the excise board for each fiscal year shall constitute and are hereby declared to be an appropriation of funds for the several and specific purposes named in such estimate, and the appropriations thus made shall not be used for any other fiscal year or purposes whatsoever, except as provided in the preceding section. Each clerk or other issuing officer shall open and keep an account for the amount of each item of appropriation, showing the purpose for which the same is appropriated, and the date, number, and amount of each warrant thereon. No warrant or certificate of indebtedness in any form shall be issued, approved, signed or attested, on or against any appropriation for a purpose other than that for which the said item of appropriation was made, or in excess of the amount thereof.

Historical Data

A. The excise boards of the various counties in the state may convene at any time after the beginning of any fiscal year, upon call of the chairman of the board, for the purpose of approving temporary appropriations for the counties, cities, school districts and other municipal subdivisions of the state. Whenever the governing board of any such county, city, school district or other municipal subdivision of the state shall present to the excise board of such county or of the county in which any such city, school district or other municipal subdivision is located in whole or in part, a verified application showing that the needs of such county, city, school district or other municipal subdivision so require, such excise board may make temporary appropriations for lawful current expenses of such county, city, school district or other municipal subdivision. School districts shall cause the application for the temporary appropriation to be published at least one time in a newspaper of general circulation in the county, at least three (3) days prior to the date on which the excise board shall consider the application for temporary appropriations. No appropriations to school districts shall be made and considered by the excise board in the absence of proper publication as required hereby.

B. Warrants may be drawn against such temporary appropriations pending action by the excise board upon the annual estimate of needs and budget of such county, city, school district or other municipal subdivision for such fiscal year. The amount which may be appropriated by such temporary appropriations shall in no event exceed the entire amount which the governing board, making the application, estimates will be available for the entire fiscal year for each purpose for which a temporary appropriation is requested; provided, however, the limitation on appropriations and any requirement for request or approval of temporary appropriations shall not apply to any city or town if the revenue from the ad valorem tax to the municipal general fund amounted to less than five percent (5%) of the total revenues accruing to the municipal general fund during the prior fiscal year. Such cities and towns may pay for lawful current expenditures pursuant to the estimate of needs as filed by the city or town and pending final action of the excise board.

C. Any such temporary appropriations so approved by the excise board of any county shall, when the annual budget for such county, city, school district or other municipal subdivision is finally approved, be merged in the annual appropriations for the same purposes and any warrant which has been, in the meantime, drawn against such temporary appropriations shall be charged against the final approved annual appropriations of such county, city, school district or other municipal subdivision for the said current fiscal year.

Historical Data

Whenever the public welfare or the needs of any county, city, town, or school district shall require, the excise board may, on call of the chairman, convene at any time for the purpose of making supplemental or additional appropriations for current expense purposes; provided, that all such appropriations authorizing the creation of an indebtedness shall come within the limitations of Section 26, Article X, Oklahoma Constitution. No supplemental or additional appropriation shall be made for any county, city, town or school district in excess of the income and revenue provided or accumulated for the year. As to all such proposed appropriations the following procedure shall be followed:

First: The proper officers of the county, city, town or school district shall make and file with the excise board a financial statement showing its true fiscal condition as at the close of the month next preceding or as of May 15 or June 20, or both said dates, preceding the date of filing, and shall submit therewith a statement of the amount and purpose for which each proposed supplemental appropriation is to be used. The financial statement shall show, as to current expense or general fund, the amount of cash in the treasury; the amount of taxes in process of collection as to which the date of sale for delinquency has not elapsed; the amount of the uncollected portion of the estimated income other than ad valorem tax as fixed by the excise board for the current fiscal year; the amount of warrants outstanding and an estimate of the interest accrued and accruing thereon; the amount of unexpended balance of all appropriations for current expense purposes as to which a period of six (6) months has not elapsed from the date of the close of the fiscal year for which the appropriation was available; and the surplus or deficit in revenue, if any, in each fund.

Second: If the financial statement herein required shall correctly reflect a surplus in revenue in any fund available for current expenses, and the excise board shall so affirmatively find, it may make supplemental appropriations to an amount not exceeding the aggregate of such surplus.

Third: If the surplus of revenue, as found and determined by the excise board, shall be insufficient for the additional needs and requirements of the county, or other municipal subdivision, the excise board shall have the power and authority to revoke and cancel in whole, or in part, any appropriation or appropriations, or parts thereof, previously made to any officer or department of government of any county, city, town or school district and to make in lieu thereof such supplemental and additional appropriations for current expense purpose as the interest of the public may require; provided, that no appropriation or part thereof shall be revoked or canceled against which there may be an unpaid claim or contract pending. The total amount of all such appropriations shall not exceed the aggregate of the amount of appropriations so revoked or canceled, and the surplus or unappropriated revenue, if any, of the county, city, town or school district for which it is proposed to make such additional appropriation; provided, that before any appropriation or part thereof shall be revoked or canceled, the officer or officers in charge of the office or department of government for which any such appropriation is available shall be notified of the proposed revocation or cancellation, and shall be afforded an opportunity, if he so desires, to appear before the excise board and protest against such proposed action. As to counties, cities and school districts, the financial statement and request for supplemental appropriations herein required to be filed with the excise board shall be published at least one time in some newspaper of general circulation in the county or city for which made. Said publication shall be made at least three (3) days prior to the date on which the excise board shall consider the proposed supplemental or additional appropriations. No appropriations shall be made and considered by the excise board in the absence of the financial statement herein required to be filed.

Within sixty (60) days after taxes on personal property shall become delinquent as of April 1, the county treasurer shall mail notice to the last-known address of such delinquent taxpayer and cause a general notice to be published one time in some newspaper of general circulation, published in the county, giving the name of each person owing delinquent personal property taxes, stating the amount thereof due, and stating that such delinquent personal property taxes, if not paid within thirty (30) days from date of this publication, shall be placed on a personal property tax lien docket in the office of the county treasurer and the homestead exemption of such taxpayer shall be canceled pursuant to Section 2892 of this title. Such liens are superior to all other liens, conveyances or encumbrances filed subsequent thereto, on real or personal property. The tax lien shall be a lien on all real and personal property of the taxpayer in the county for a period of seven (7) years, except as otherwise provided in subsection B of Section 3103 of this title. From and after the entry of the tax upon the tax lien docket, any person claiming any interest in any land or personal property can sue the county treasurer and board of county commissioners in the district court to determine the validity or priority of the lien.

Historical Data

A. Within thirty (30) days after publication of the general notice required in the provisions of Section 3102 of this title, the county treasurer shall cause a personal property tax lien record to be made in a docket for such purpose, showing the names and addresses of all persons, firms, and corporations owing delinquent personal property taxes, setting forth the delinquent years and amounts due and unpaid, together with penalty and costs as provided for by Section 2913 of this title. The liens are superior to all other liens, conveyances or encumbrances filed subsequent thereto, on real or personal property. The tax lien shall be a lien on all personal and real property of the person, firm, or corporation owing the delinquent tax for a period of seven (7) years from the date of the tax lien, except as otherwise provided in subsection B of this section. If such a lien is not collected within seven (7) years from the date upon which such tax became due and payable, the unpaid personal property taxes shall cease to be a lien upon any real or personal property of the person, firm, or corporation owing the tax. The provisions of this section shall not apply to taxes which became due or payable prior to January 1, 1971.

B. A tax lien on real property of a business arising from delinquent personal property taxes of the business may be released for purposes of a sale of such real property upon application to and approval of the county treasurer. No lien shall be released unless all excess proceeds of the sale are paid to the county treasurer in payment of the personal property taxes which are the subject of the lien. If a county treasurer determines that such a lien should be released, the county treasurer shall make an entry in the county treasurer's tax records indicating that the lien has been removed from the real property to be sold. The tax lien shall remain valid as to all other property of the taxpayer. As used in this subsection, "excess proceeds" means all proceeds over those needed to satisfy any liens on the property which have priority over the personal property tax lien of the county.

C. It shall be the duty of the county treasurer to collect all delinquent personal taxes due and unpaid, together with penalties and costs, as provided for by Section 2913 of this title, and costs and lien fee in the amount of Five Dollars ($5.00), and, upon receiving the same, shall release the lien on the personal property tax lien docket.

D. The county treasurer shall keep a personal tax lien docket in the form prescribed by the State Auditor and Inspector and shall enter on said docket the names and addresses of delinquent taxpayers along with the other information required by the provisions of this section.

E. Upon compliance with the provisions of this section and Section 3102 of this title, the county treasurer may enter in the personal property tax lien docket the following statement:

"All unpaid items contained in this tax roll have been transferred to the personal property tax lien docket for this year." No further entries are required and the personal property tax roll for that year may be closed. The provisions of this section apply to all personal property tax rolls after 1970. Except as otherwise provided by subsection B of this section, all unpaid personal property taxes shall become a lien on any real estate owned by the taxpayer.

Historical Data
A. 1. The county treasurer shall issue tax warrants for the collection of delinquent personal taxes upon demand of any person, or whenever the treasurer shall deem it advisable, on a form as prescribed by the State Auditor and Inspector, to the sheriff for the collection of such delinquent personal taxes.

   2. The tax warrant shall be issued or directed against any person or legal entity who had possession, control or an interest in personal property at the time the taxes were assessed.

   3. The tax warrant shall command the sheriff to collect the amount due for unpaid taxes, penalties and interest thereon, cost of advertising, sheriff's collection fees and any other lawful fees on personal property belonging to the person to whom such taxes were assessed, and if no personal property is found, then upon any real property such person owns or in which he has an interest.

B. 1. The sheriff, upon receiving a tax warrant, shall levy said warrant and sell the property of the taxpayer in the manner and form as provided for the sale of personal and/or real property on execution.

   2. The sheriff shall pay the total amount received from the sale of personal and/or real property to the county treasurer.

   3. The tax warrant shall be returned by the sheriff within sixty (60) days after its issuance.

   4. Failure to collect or return the tax warrant as provided in this section, shall subject the sheriff to the same penalties as provided by law for the failure to collect or return execution.

   5. The sheriff shall be entitled to the same fees as are provided by law for like sales on execution.

C. 1. It shall be the duty of the county treasurer to forward a copy of the record of an existing personal tax lien, filed in the treasurer's personal tax lien docket, to the county treasurer of any county in Oklahoma where the delinquent taxpayer resides or possesses real or personal property.

   2. The name and address of the delinquent taxpayer, together with the amount due for unpaid taxes, penalties, interest and cost, shall be recorded in the recipient county treasurer's personal tax lien docket. The treasurer of said county shall proceed with the collection of the delinquent taxes, interest, penalties and other lawful fees as herein provided. Upon receiving the total amount due, the county treasurer shall release the personal tax lien and forward the sum, less the lawful fees for collection, to the treasurer of the county where the tax lien originated.

Historical Data

A. The county treasurer shall in all cases, except those provided for in subsection B of this section, where taxes are a lien upon real property and are unpaid on the first day of April of any year proceed, as hereinafter provided, to advertise and sell such real estate for such taxes, special assessments and costs, and shall not be bound before so doing to proceed to collect by sale all personal taxes on personal property which are by this Code made a lien on realty, but shall include such personal tax with that due on the realty, and shall sell the realty for all of said taxes and special assessments.

B. In counties with a population in excess of one hundred thousand (100,000) persons according to the most recent federal decennial census, the county treasurer shall not conduct a tax sale of such real estate where taxes are a lien upon real property if the following conditions are met:

1. The real property contains a single-family residential dwelling;

2. The individual residing on the property is sixty-five (65) years of age or older and owes the taxes due on the real property;

3. The real property is not currently being used as rental property;

4. The individual living on the property has an annual income that does not exceed the HHS Poverty Guidelines as established each year by the United States Department of Health and Human Services that are published in the Federal Register and in effect at the time that the proposed tax sale is to take place; and

5. The fair market value of the real property as reflected on the tax rolls in the office of the county assessor does not exceed One Hundred Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($125,000.00).

C. It shall be the duty of the individual owning property subject to the provisions of subsection B of this section to make application to the county treasurer for an exemption from a tax sale no later than sixty (60) days prior to the date the property is scheduled to be sold. It shall also be the duty of the individual to provide evidence to the county treasurer that the individual meets the financial requirements outlined in paragraph 4 of subsection B of this section to qualify for the exemption. Any individual claiming the exemption provided in this section shall establish eligibility for the exemption each year the exemption is claimed.

D. Taxes, interest and penalties will continue to accrue while the exemption is claimed. The exemption from sale of property described in this section shall no longer be applicable and the county treasurer shall proceed with the sale of such real estate if any of the conditions prescribed in this section are no longer met.

E. Every notice of tax sale or tax resale shall contain language approved by the Office of the State Auditor and Inspector informing the taxpayer of the provisions of this section.
Historical Data

The county treasurer shall give notice of the sale of real property for delinquent taxes and special assessments by publication of said sale once a week for the two (2) consecutive weeks immediately prior to the third Friday in September preceding the sale, in some newspaper in the county to be designated by the county treasurer. Such notice shall contain a notification that all lands on which the taxes are delinquent and remain due and unpaid will be sold, the time and place of the sale, a list of the lands to be sold, the name or names of the last owner or owners as reflected by the records in the office of the county treasurer, and the amount of taxes due and delinquent. Such notice shall also contain the following language: “The sale hereby advertised is conditional and subject to a two-year right of redemption by the record owner as provided in Section 24323 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes.” If the sale involves property upon which is located a manufactured home the notice shall also contain the following language: “The sale hereby advertised involves a manufactured home which may be subject to the right of a secured party to repossess. A holder of a perfected security interest in such manufactured home may be able to pay ad valorem taxes based upon the value of the manufactured home apart from the value of real property. If a secured party exercises this right, the holder of the tax sale certificate will be refunded the amount of taxes paid upon the value of the manufactured home.” In addition to said published notice, the county treasurer shall give notice by certified mail by mailing to the owner of said real property, as shown by the last tax rolls in his office, a notice of said sale stating the time and place of said sale and showing the legal description of the property of the owner being sold. Failure to receive said notice shall not invalidate said sale. The county treasurer shall charge and collect, in addition to the taxes, interest and penalty, the publication fees as provided by the provisions of Section 121 of Title 28 of the Oklahoma Statutes, and Five Dollars ($5.00) plus postage for mailing the notice by certified mail, which shall be paid into the county treasury, and the county shall pay the cost of the publication of such notice. But in no case shall the county be liable for more than the amount charged to the delinquent lands for advertising and the cost of mailing.

In the event that more than one such person shall so appear at the same time the county treasurer shall decide the issue by fair and impartial drawing. Parcels of land shall be sold to prospective purchasers on a first-come, first-served basis. The county treasurer is hereby authorized at all tax sales made under the laws of this state, in case there are no other purchasers offering the amount due, to purchase all or any real estate offered at the sale for the amount of taxes, penalty, interest and costs due and unpaid thereon, in the name of the county in which the sale takes place, the county acquiring all the rights both legal and equitable that any other purchaser could acquire by reason of the purchase. If any person is desirous of purchasing the interest of the county in the real estate, the person shall have an absolute right to purchase a certificate by paying to the county treasurer the amount of all the taxes, penalties, interest and costs of sale and transfer, for the year or years so purchased, up to the date of the purchase; and thereupon the treasurer shall issue, assign and deliver to the purchaser a certificate of purchase to the real estate which assignment and transfer shall convey to the purchaser all the rights and interest of the county as fully as if the purchaser had been the original purchaser at the tax sale. The county treasurer shall note the assignment on the tax sale record.

Historical Data

The certificate shall be signed by the treasurer in the treasurer’s official capacity and shall be presumptive evidence of the regularity of all prior proceedings. The county treasurer shall collect an additional Ten Dollars ($10.00) for the issuance and acknowledgment of the certificate. The purchaser shall have a lien on the land for the delinquent taxes and if the purchaser subsequently pays the taxes levied on the land, whether levied for one (1) year or years, previous or subsequent to the sale, the purchaser shall have the same lien for the delinquent taxes and may add the delinquent taxes to the amount paid in the purchase. Historical Data

The owner of any real estate sold for taxes, or any person having a legal or equitable interest therein, may redeem the same from the lien resulting from tax sale at any time before the execution of a deed of conveyance therefor by the county treasurer, by paying to the county treasurer, if the tax sale certificate is held by an individual purchaser, the sum paid to the county for such certificate and all taxes paid and endorsed thereon, together with interest thereon at the rate of eight percent (8%) per annum from the date of sale or purchase thereof from the county, and interest at the rate of eight percent (8%) per annum on taxes endorsed on such certificate from the date of each such endorsement, and in addition thereto costs provided in this article, for the use of the owner of the certificate of such sale, and the county treasurer shall hold the money paid to the order of such certificate owner, his or her agent, or attorney; and if the county is the holder of such tax lien, by paying to the county treasurer the sum for which the property was sold with penalty at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum and such additional costs as may have accrued; provided, that minors or incapacitated or partially incapacitated persons may redeem from taxes any real property belonging to them within one (1) year after the expiration of such disability, with interest and penalty at not more than ten percent (10%) per annum. Upon such redemption, the county treasurer shall enter the same upon the sales record, giving a receipt therefor to the person redeeming, file the duplicate with the county clerk, and retain the triplicate in the county treasurer's office.

Historical Data

(a) The county treasurer shall keep a redemption record upon forms prescribed by the State Auditor and Inspector, upon which shall be entered all tax sales certificates held by individuals which have been redeemed. This record shall be posted daily and shall show the number of the certificate redeemed, the date of the original sale, the date of redemption, the number of the redemption certificate, the name of the record owner of the certificate redeemed, and the amount of money collected for the benefit of the holder of such redeemed certificate.

(b) Within fifteen (15) days after each redemption the county treasurer shall mail notice of such redemption to the record owner of the certificate at his last-known address. The certificate owner may at any time surrender said certificate to the county treasurer, who shall thereupon issue a check for the amount due to such certificate holder. Upon making such payment the county treasurer shall require the certificate holder to receipt such payment, and the county treasurer shall note upon such redemption record the date of payment and the number of the check issued therefor.

Historical Data

A. If the owner of any tax sale certificate desires to:

1. Surrender such certificate for cancellation;

2. Surrender it for payment of redemption money; or

3. Take a certificate tax deed upon such certificate, and the certificate has become lost or destroyed, the owner may make proof of such loss or destruction and make indemnity bond to the county treasurer, which bond, upon the approval and its acceptance by the county treasurer, shall be deposited with the county treasurer in lieu of the surrender of the tax sale certificate, and shall have the same force and effect as if the tax sale certificate had been surrendered.

B. The amount of such bond shall be as follows:

1. For surrender and cancellation, double the amount of the face of the certificate and all endorsements thereon, plus interest and penalty to date;

2. For obtaining payment of redemption money, double the amount of the money so held by the treasurer; and

3. For obtaining a tax deed, a sum equal to the value of the property conveyed.

C. An indemnity bond shall not be accepted unless the person making such bond is the record owner of such certificate and makes affidavit that the person has never assigned or transferred the certificate, but is the actual owner thereof. Such bond shall be in such form as may be prescribed by the State Auditor and Inspector.

Historical Data

(a) A statute of limitation of seven (7) years is hereby fixed for tax sale certificates. No firm, association, corporation or individual holding a tax sale certificate shall be entitled to have a tax deed issued thereon after seven (7) years shall have elapsed from the date of the issuance of said tax sale certificate. In such cases the right to such deed shall be barred by the lapse of said seven-year period unless he has kept the taxes for all subsequent years endorsed thereon. The county treasurer of said county is directed to make the proper entry on the tax rolls and sale records of said county showing that said certificate has been canceled, and the county clerk of said county is directed to make the proper entry on his sales record showing that said certificate has been canceled.

(b) When a person entitled to redeem from a tax sale as evidenced by a tax sale certificate held by a firm, association, corporation or individual, pays sufficient money to the county treasurer to redeem said property from said tax sale, the holder of said tax certificate shall not be entitled to recover or receive said redemption money unless the tax sale certificate shall be presented and surrendered to the county treasurer within seven (7) years from the date such redemption money is paid to the county treasurer. After the expiration of said seven-year period, said redemption money shall be credited by the county treasurer to the general fund of the county, and he shall mark his records accordingly.

Historical Data

A. If no person shall redeem any land on which the tax lien has been sold within two (2) years, at any time after the expiration, thereafter and on production of the certificate of purchase, the county treasurer of the county in which the sale of such land took place shall execute to the purchaser, or the heirs or assigns of the purchaser, a deed for land remaining unredeemed. The deed shall vest in the grantee an absolute estate in fee simple in the lands, subject however, to all claims which the state may have on the lands for taxes or other liens or encumbrances and shall extinguish the rights of any mortgagee of record of the lands to whom notice was sent as provided for by law. However, before any holder of a certificate of purchase issued at any tax sale of real estate shall be entitled to a deed as provided in this section, the holder of a certificate of purchase shall cause a written notice signed by such holder to be served, either by process server, by the sheriff or by restricted certified mail with return receipt requested, upon the owner of the land if the owner is within the state, upon the person in possession of the land, if the same be occupied, and upon all mortgagees and lienholders of record of the land, which notice shall recite the sale of the lands, specifying the date of such sale and notifying such person that unless redemption is made from such sale within sixty (60) days after the date of the service of such notice, a tax deed will be demanded and will issue as provided by law. If the real property to be sold is listed as homestead property on the last tax rolls, then in addition to all other notification requirements, the applicant shall also cause the notice of sale to be posted on the front door of the property by the county sheriff at least thirty (30) days prior to such deed being issued. The cost of the posting of the notice shall be added to the amount necessary to redeem the property from sale.

B. If it shall be made to appear by the affidavit of the holder of the tax certificate or such person's agent, filed in the office of the county clerk, that the owner or any mortgagee or lienholder of record of the real estate are nonresidents of the state, or that the residence or place of business of such owner or any mortgagee or lienholder of record is not known to the holder of such tax certificate, and cannot be ascertained by any means within the control of such holder of the tax certificate, and that the holder of such tax certificate cannot by the exercise of reasonable diligence make service upon such owner or any mortgagee or lienholder of record within the state, then in such cases, service shall be made by publication for three (3) successive weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published at the county seat of the county in which such real estate is situated, and the sixty (60) days shall begin to run from the date of the first publication of such notice. Until the expiration of the sixty (60) days, redemption may be made by any person authorized by law to redeem. All service and return shall be made in the same manner as that of summons in courts of record. The notice, with the tax sale certificate, after being duly served or published, or both, shall be returned and filed in the office of the county clerk, who shall make notation of its date and the date of service on the delinquent sale record, and the fee for such service and publication shall be the same as for like service of summons, and shall be added to the amount necessary to redeem such sales along with any title search fees, if the title search is obtained through the county treasurer's office. The notice provided for in this section may be served at any time after a date not exceeding sixty (60) days prior to the expiration of two (2) years subsequent to the day of sale. Neither failure to send notice to any mortgagee or lienholder of record of the land nor failure to receive notice as provided for by this section shall invalidate the certificate tax sale, but the certificate tax sale deed shall be ineffective to extinguish any mortgage or lien on the lands of a mortgagee or lienholder to whom no notice was sent.

Section 3124 - Invalid Sales - Refund.
Cite as: O.S. §, __ __

When lands or lots which have been sold, and tax sale certificates or tax deeds issued by the county treasurer therefor, on which land or lots no tax was due, or where said sale was or is otherwise illegal, or a portion of such tax covered improvements which were not on the premises at the time same were assessed, the county shall save the purchaser or his assigns harmless by refunding and paying to him or them the original purchase money paid thereon together with subsequent payments, with interest from date of payment at six percent (6%) per annum. No action for such refund shall be commenced after the expiration of five (5) years from the time a tax deed might have been applied for, had the sale been valid.

Historical Data

If any real estate purchased by the county at delinquent tax sale shall remain unredeemed for a period of two (2) years from date of sale, and no person shall offer to purchase the same for the taxes, penalty and costs due thereon, the county treasurer shall proceed to sell such real estate at resale, which shall be held on the second Monday of June each year in each county.

Historical Data

The county treasurer shall give notice of the resale of such real estate by publication of said notice once a week for four (4) consecutive weeks preceding such sale, in some newspaper, having been continuously published one hundred four (104) consecutive weeks with admission to the United States mails as second-class mail matter, with paid circulation and published in the county where delivered to the mails, to be designated by the county treasurer; and if there be no paper published in the county, or publication is refused, he shall give notice by written or printed notice posted on the door of the courthouse. Such notice shall contain a description of the real estate to be sold, the name of the owner of said real estate as shown by the last tax rolls in the office of the county treasurer, the time and place of sale, a statement of the date on which said real estate was sold to the county for delinquent taxes, the year or years for which taxes have been assessed but remain unpaid and a statement that the same has not been redeemed for the period of two (2) years from the date of sale, the total amount of all delinquent taxes, costs, penalties and interest accrued, due and unpaid on the same, and a statement that such real estate will be sold to the highest bidder for cash. It shall not be necessary to set forth the amount of taxes, penalties, interest and costs accrued each year separately, but it shall be sufficient to publish the total amount of all due and unpaid taxes, penalties, interest and costs. The county treasurer shall, at least thirty (30) days prior to such resale of real estate, give notice by certified mail, by mailing to the owner of said real estate, as shown by the last tax rolls in his office, and to all mortgagees of record of said real estate a notice stating the time and place of said resale and showing the legal description of the real property to be sold. If the county treasurer does not know and cannot, by the exercise of reasonable diligence, ascertain the address of any mortgagee of record, then the county treasurer shall cause an affidavit to be filed with the county clerk, on a form approved by the State Auditor and Inspector, stating such fact, which affidavit shall suffice, along with publication as provided for by this section, to give any mortgagee of record notice of such resale. Neither failure to send notice to any mortgagee of record of said real estate nor failure to receive notice as provided for by this section shall invalidate the resale, but the resale tax deed shall be ineffective to extinguish any mortgage on said real estate of a mortgagee to whom no notice was sent. Beginning on the effective date of this act, no encumbrancer of real property in this state shall be permitted to file any instrument purporting to encumber real property in any county of the state with any county clerk unless the instrument states on its face the mailing address of such encumbrancer.

Historical Data

A. On the day real estate is advertised for resale, the county treasurer shall offer same for sale at the office of the county treasurer between the hours of nine a.m. and four p.m. and continue the sale thereafter from day to day between such hours until all of the real estate is sold. The real estate shall be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash.

B. All property must be sold for a sum not less than two-thirds of the assessed value of such real estate as fixed for the current fiscal year, or for the total amount of taxes, penalties, interest and costs due on such property, whichever is the lesser. If there is no bid equal to or greater than the sum so required, the county treasurer shall bid off the same in the name of the county. All property bid off in the name of the county shall be for the amount of all taxes, penalties, interest and costs due thereon, and the county treasurer shall issue a deed therefor to the board of county commissioners for the use and benefit of the county.

C. The county shall not be liable to the state or any taxing district thereof for any part of the amount for which any property may be sold to such county. All property bid off in the name of the county shall be exempt from ad valorem taxation as long as title is held for the county.

D. 1. The county shall not be civilly liable for any environmental problems or conditions on any property which existed on the property prior to the county's involuntary ownership of the property pursuant to this section, or which may result from such environmental problems or conditions on the property. During the period of the county's involuntary ownership of the property, the person or persons who would be legally liable for the environmental problems or conditions on the property but for the county's ownership shall continue to be liable for such environmental problems or conditions.

2. In addition, the county shall not be subject to civil liability with regard to any actions taken by the county to remediate any problems or conditions on the property resulting from the environmental problems or conditions if the remedial action is not performed in a reckless or negligent manner.

Historical Data

Monies received by the county treasurer at resale from individual purchasers, not redemptioners, shall nevertheless be deemed to be collections of tax, and if no redemption be had before issuance and delivery of a deed therefor, the tax monies so collected, not including excess proceeds to be held for the owner thereof, shall be credited and apportioned as such taxes would have been apportioned had they been paid in the proper time and manner, and the monies so collected representing penalties on ad valorem tax, listing fees and publication costs shall be credited to the "resale property fund" of such county as hereinafter provided. In instances where vacant lots are offered for sale for both ad valorem taxes and special improvement taxes, but are sold for less than the total sum due, the county treasurer shall, after deducting the listing fees and publication costs, apportion the proceeds of such sale ratably between the ad valorem and special improvement tax accounts in the same ratio such proceeds bear to the total tax published as due for such resale.

Historical Data

A. Within thirty (30) days after resale of property, the county treasurer shall file in the office of the county clerk a return, and retain a copy thereof in the county treasurer's office, which shall show or include, as appropriate:

1. Each tract or parcel of real estate so sold;

2. The date upon which it was resold;

3. The name of the purchaser;

4. The price paid therefor;

5. A copy of the notice of such resale with an affidavit of its publication or posting; and

6. The complete minutes of sale, and that the same was adjourned from day to day until the sale was completed.

Such notice and return shall be presumptive evidence of the regularity, legality and validity of all the official acts leading up to and constituting such resale. Within such thirty (30) days, the county treasurer shall execute, acknowledge and deliver to the purchaser or the purchaser's assigns, or to the board of county commissioners where such property has been bid off in the name of the county, a deed conveying the real estate thus resold. The issuance of such deed shall effect the cancellation and setting aside of all delinquent taxes, assessments, penalties and costs previously assessed or existing against the real estate, and of all outstanding individual and county tax sale certificates, and shall vest in the grantee an absolute and perfect title in fee simple to the real estate, subject to all claims which the state may have had on the real estate for taxes or other liens or encumbrances. Twelve (12) months after the deed shall have been filed for record in the county clerk's office, no action shall be commenced to avoid or set aside the deed. Provided, that persons under legal disability shall have one year after removal of such disability within which to redeem the real estate.

B. Any number of lots or tracts of land may be included in one deed, for which deed the county treasurer shall collect from the purchaser One Dollar ($1.00) for the first tract, and ten cents ($0.10) for each additional tract included therein. The county treasurer shall also charge and collect from the purchaser at such sale an amount in addition to the bid placed on such real estate, sufficient to pay all expenses incurred by the county in preparing, listing and advertising the lot or tract purchased by such bidder, which sums shall be credited and paid into the resale property fund hereinafter provided, to be used to defray to that extent the costs of resale.

C. When any tract or lot of land sells for more than the taxes, penalties, interest and cost due thereon, the excess shall be held in a separate fund for the prior owner of such land to be withdrawn any time within two (2) years. At the end of two (2) years, if such money has not been withdrawn or collected from the county, it shall be credited to the county resale property fund.
Historical Data

A. Any property acquired by the county under the provisions of the resale tax laws may be sold by the county treasurer, after notice by publication, at a price as may be approved by the board of county commissioners, the notice to be given after receipt of bid on the property. The notice shall be published by the county treasurer once during each of the three (3) consecutive weeks preceding the sale, and if there be no paper published in the county, the county treasurer shall give notice by written or printed notice posted on the door of the courthouse. The notice shall embrace a description of the property, the amount bid and the name of the bidder, and state that the sale of the property so listed shall be made at the price and to the bidder at a given date, beginning at an hour to be specified therein, subject to the approval of the board of county commissioners, unless higher bids are received at the sale. On the date stated in the notice, the property shall be sold by the county treasurer to the highest competitive bidder, for cash in hand, or to the original bidder if there be no higher price offered. The sale in any event shall be subject to the approval of the board of county commissioners in its discretion. The cost of the advertisement and other expense incident to the sale, as provided by law, shall be apportioned to the respective tracts listed in the sale and shall be added to the sale price of the real estate as a separate and additional charge and shall be paid by the purchaser, in addition to the amount bid upon the real estate. A deposit shall be required of any bidder before advertisement of the property to cover the advertisement and costs. Upon declaring the successful bidder at the sale, and before closing the sale, the bidder shall be required to make, or increase, the bid sufficient to cover cost of advertising and sale, and sufficient to cover the fees of the county clerk for the recording mandatorily required by law upon approval by the board of county commissioners, otherwise the sale shall continue. Upon approval of the sale as hereinbefore provided, the chair of the board of county commissioners shall execute a deed conveying title to the purchaser of the property in as full and ample manner as by law provided on a form prescribed by the State Auditor and Inspector.

B. In addition to the methods provided for in subsection A of this section, the county may also periodically hold auctions to sell any property or properties acquired by the county under the provisions of the resale tax laws. The auctions shall be held at a time, date and place as set by the county treasurer with the approval of the county commissioners. On the date of the auction, the property or properties shall be sold by the county treasurer to the highest competitive bidder, for cash in hand. Any bid which is less than all of the real estate ad valorem taxes owed at the time of the original resale shall be accepted only upon approval of the county commissioners and the county excise board. The county treasurer and county commissioners may contract with an auctioneer to conduct the auction for a fee or commission as may be mutually agreed upon. If an auctioneer is employed, the auctioneer shall be responsible for conducting the auction and all the necessary advertising.

Historical Data

(a) All penalties, interest and forfeitures which may accrue on delinquent ad valorem taxes, whether real or personal, tangible or intangible, on any properties, persons, firms or corporations within any county, city, town or school district within a county; the proceeds of sale of property acquired by the county at resale, the proceeds of leases, rentals and other royalties arising from the management, control and operation by the county commissioners of property acquired by the county at resale, when collected shall be credited to and accounted for in a special cash fund to be styled the "resale property fund" of such county, except the proceeds of sale of such property located in any special improvement district and by the resale of which any special improvement taxes were canceled, in which event the proceeds of sale thereof after having been acquired by the county shall be divided ratably between the resale property fund and the special improvement-tax account (paving, etc.) of the special improvement district in which such property is located, in the same ratio as the ad valorem tax bears to the special improvement taxes in the total amount of such taxes published as due at the time of the resale whereby the county acquired title to such property. That portion so accruing to such special improvement-tax account shall, in keeping with the statutes relating thereto, be applied to the fund provided for retirement of bonds and interest coupons of such improvement district.

(b) The resale property fund herein created for each county is hereby declared to be a continuous fund, not subject to fiscal year limitations, and is hereby dedicated, insofar as may be necessary, to the enforcement of the tax laws of the state, and is authorized to be expended for the following purposes:

(1) For the purchase of necessary records, printing, supplies and equipment, and the employment of necessary clerical personnel, either on whole or part-time basis, in connection with delinquent personal tax lists and personal tax warrants, delinquent real estate tax lists and lists of unredeemed delinquent real estate subject to tax sale or resale, such costs to be limited to those incurred by the county treasurer.

(2) For payment of the cost of advertising or publication, or posting if publication cannot be had, of any such lists.

(3) For the reimbursement of the purchaser at resale or at commissioners' sale of any lot, tract, or parcel of real estate, sold at resale, against which no tax was due, or where the inclusion of such lot, tract, or parcel in the publication and offer for resale has been held invalid by a court of competent jurisdiction, or where the title thereto is vested in the Commissioners of the Land Office of the State of Oklahoma, or where such Commissioners of the Land Office have instituted or successfully terminated mortgage foreclosure proceedings in relation thereto prior to issuance of either a resale tax deed or a county commissioners' deed, or where such tract or parcel was nontaxable at the time of the assessment thereof for taxes, or where the sale thereof to such purchaser was illegal for any other reason; and such purchaser has no adequate recourse against the property thus sold; such reimbursement shall be made in the order of the claims filed with the county treasurer therefore, when properly supported by evidence satisfactory to said treasurer that the claimant is entitled to reimbursement hereunder. Provided, however, that no claim for refund not filed, as herein provided, within a period of three (3) years from the date of such sale shall be allowed or paid from said fund.
(4) For all rebates allowed under authority of statute by the board of county commissioners or the tax roll correction board of the county upon taxes found to have been illegally or erroneously collected, or on sale of certificate or issue of tax deed on lands or lots on which no tax was due or as to which the sale thereof is or was illegal for any reason. Provided, however, before the owner of such invalid deed may be reimbursed as aforesaid, he shall first be required to divest himself of purported title by attaching a quitclaim deed or other disclaimer to his claim for refund, setting out the reason for invalidity of the tax deed. The same procedure for refund shall apply whether the tax deed be from the county treasurer or the chairman of the board of county commissioners. The determination of whether such property has been erroneously sold for taxes to such purchaser, shall be made by the board of county commissioners; and in event title under an invalid resale tax deed remains with the county commissioners, the board of county commissioners so finding same invalid shall execute its resolution or order of disclaimer which shall be filed in the deed records of the county clerk without fee. No fee shall be charged for recording any quitclaim deed or disclaimer from the purchaser under the provisions of this section.

(c) The expenditures so made shall be made only upon sworn itemized claims approved by the county treasurer and filed with the county clerk and paid by cash voucher drawn by the county clerk payable from said fund. Claims for cost of publication shall take precedence over all other claims on said fund, otherwise said approved claims shall be paid in the order filed as funds accrue from sale of county property as hereinbefore provided. If any such claim has not been paid within three (3) years, the same shall cease to be an obligation of the resale property fund of such county; but nothing in this article shall operate to prevent the payment for such services from an appropriation for such purpose in the general fund of the county in the manner and under the restrictions provided by law.

(d) Any residue of cash actually on hand in said fund at any time, after providing for the expense of delinquent tax publication, and for the mandatory holding of sales and resales, made or about to be made, the purchase of necessary records, printing and supplies and the payment of clerical hire, such expenditures, or reserve therefor, to be limited to the necessary expenses incurred by virtue of the authorization herein granted, may be expended by the county commissioners, without further appropriation, in the upkeep, repair and maintenance of unsold properties acquired by the county at resale, by the issuance of cash warrants on such fund in payment of sworn itemized claims therefor; limited in amount to the sum certified to by the county treasurer as being actually on hand in excess of the amount reserved for the purposes hereinbefore stated.

(e) On the 15th of June of each year the county treasurer shall file a financial statement of the resale property fund with the county clerk for the approval of the board of county commissioners, setting forth the necessary reserves for expenditures either made or anticipated, to cover: (1) The cost of preparing and making delinquent tax publications, as hereinbefore set out; (2) The purchase of necessary records, printing and supplies and the payment of clerical hire, such reserves therefor, to be limited to the necessary expenses incurred by virtue of the authorization herein granted; (3) To pay claims and encumbrances for the upkeep, repair and maintenance of unsold properties; (4) To pay all rebates allowed under authority of statute by the board of county commissioners or the board of tax roll corrections upon taxes found to have been illegally or erroneously collected; and (5) To pay for tax sale certificates or issue of deeds on lands or lots on which no tax was due or as to which the sale thereof was illegal for any reason.

(f) Any balance remaining on hand over and above the necessary reserves for the above mentioned items shall be apportioned forthwith by the county treasurer in the following manner:

(1) In each county having a net assessed valuation in excess of Eight Million Dollars ($8,000,000.00):
One-third (1/3) of such surplus residue to such county to be applied first to the payment of delinquent warrants of such county, thereafter to its current general fund; one-third (1/3) to the cities and towns of such county, in the ratio that the last certified assessed valuation of each bears to the total such assessed valuation of all such cities and towns in such county, to be by each of them applied in the payment of any delinquent warrants of such city or town, thereafter to its current general fund; one-third (1/3) to the various school districts of the county on a scholastic enumeration basis, to be applied by each of them to the payment of any delinquent warrants of such district and thereafter to its current general fund.

(2) In each county having a net assessed valuation of Eight Million Dollars ($8,000,000.00) or less:

   a. In the ratio that the county, city or town and school district levy bears to the fifteen-mill levy as allocated by the county excise board.

   b. Such surplus to the cities and towns of such county in the ratio that the last certified assessed valuation of each bears to the total assessed valuation of all such cities or towns in such county.

   c. Such surplus to the school districts of the county on a scholastic enumeration basis.

   d. The amounts apportioned to each county, city or town and school district shall be applied by each of them to the payment of any delinquent warrants of such municipality and thereafter to its current general fund.

(g) Nothing in this section shall be construed to repeal, amend, alter or modify any of the provisions of Sections 2479 or 2480 of this article, but shall be construed to be cumulative thereto.

A. In addition to any other duties prescribed by law, at the meeting required by paragraph 1 of Section 23 of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution to be held in December 1999, the State Board of Equalization shall determine for fiscal year 2001;

1. The amount of funds available for appropriation if the provisions of subsection C of Section 5011 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes are not in effect; and

2. The amount by which such funds will be reduced if such provisions are in effect.

If the amount determined pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 1 of this subsection less the amount of funds available for appropriation for fiscal year 2000 is greater than the amount determined pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 2 of this subsection, the Board shall make a finding that economic growth in the state warrants the taking effect of the provisions of subsection C of Section 5011 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes and such provisions shall be effective for the following calendar year. If the amount determined pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 1 of this subsection less the amount of funds available for appropriation for fiscal year 2000 is less than the amount determined pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 2 of this subsection, but the amount determined pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 1 of this subsection less the amount of funds available for appropriation for fiscal year 2000 is greater than the amount determined pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 1 of this subsection, the Board shall make a finding that economic conditions in the state do not warrant the continuation of the provisions of subdivision (a) of division (8) of subparagraph a of paragraph 1 of subsection A of Section 2355 and subsection C of Section 5011 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes shall be suspended for the following calendar year 2000 and the Board shall proceed pursuant to the provisions of subsection C of this section.

B. In addition to any other duties prescribed by law, at each meeting required by paragraph 1 of Section 23 of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution to be held following a meeting at which the provisions of subdivision (a) of division (8) of subparagraph a of paragraph 1 of subsection A of Section 2355 and subsections B and C of Section 5011 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes are not suspended pursuant to the provisions of this section, the Board shall determine the amount of funds available for appropriation for the following fiscal year. If such amount is greater than the amount of funds available for appropriation for the then-current fiscal year, the Board shall make a finding that economic conditions in the state warrant the continuation of the provisions of subdivision (a) of division (8) of subparagraph a of paragraph 1 of subsection A of Section 2355 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes and of subsection C of Section 5011 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes shall be suspended for the calendar year 2000 and the Board shall proceed pursuant to the provisions of subsection C of this section.
C. In addition to any other duties prescribed by law, at the meeting required by paragraph I of Section 23 of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution to be held in December of any calendar year for which the provisions of subdivision (a) of division (8) of subparagraph a of paragraph 1 of subsection A of Section 2355 and subsection C of Section 5011 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes are suspended pursuant to the provisions of subsection B of this section, the State Board of Equalization shall determine for the following fiscal year:

1. The amount of funds available for appropriation if the provisions of subdivision (a) of division (8) of subparagraph a of paragraph 1 of subsection A of Section 2355 and the provisions of subsection C of Section 5011 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes are not in effect; and

2. The amount by which such funds will be reduced if such provisions are in effect.

If the amount determined pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 1 of this subsection less the amount of funds available for appropriation for the then-current fiscal year is greater than the amount determined pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 2 of this subsection, the Board shall make a finding that economic growth in the state warrants the taking effect of the provisions of subdivision (a) of division (8) of subparagraph a of paragraph 1 of subsection A of Section 2355 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes and of subsection B of Section 5011 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes and such provisions shall be effective for the following calendar year. If such finding is not made, such provisions and the provisions of subsection C of Section 5011 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes shall be suspended for the following calendar year and the Board shall again proceed pursuant to the provisions of this subsection.

D. In addition to any other duties prescribed by law, at the first meeting required by paragraph 1 of Section 23 of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution to be held following a meeting at which the provisions of subdivision (a) of division (8) of subparagraph a of paragraph 1 of subsection A of Section 2355 and subsection B of Section 5011 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes are not suspended pursuant to the provisions of subsection C of this section, the Board shall determine for the following fiscal year:

1. The amount of funds available for appropriation for the following fiscal year if the provisions of subsection C of Section 5011 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes are not in effect; and

2. The amount by which such funds will be reduced if such provisions are in effect.

If the amount determined pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 1 of this subsection less the amount of funds available for appropriation for the then-current fiscal year is greater than the amount determined pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 2 of this subsection, the Board shall make a finding that economic growth in the state warrants the taking effect of the provisions of subsection C of Section 5011 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes and such provisions shall be effective for the following calendar year. If the amount determined pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 1 of this subsection less the amount of funds available for appropriation for the then-current fiscal year is less than the amount determined pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 2 of this subsection, but the amount determined pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 1 of this subsection is greater than the amount of funds available for appropriation for the then-current fiscal year, the Board shall make a finding that economic growth in the state does not warrant the taking effect of the provisions of subsection C of Section 5011 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes and the provisions of subdivision (a) of division (8) of subparagraph a of paragraph 1 of subsection A of Section 2355 and subsection B of Section 5011 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes shall remain in effect for the following calendar year and the Board shall again proceed pursuant to the provisions of this subsection. If the amount determined pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 1 of this subsection is less than the amount of funds available for appropriation for the then-current fiscal year, the provisions of subdivision (a) of division (8) of subparagraph a of paragraph 1 of subsection A of Section 2355 and the provisions of subsections B and C of Section 5011 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes shall be

A. The tax stamp or stamps required by Section 5402 of this title to be affixed upon the dealer’s copy of the sales invoice covering each new or used whole goods agricultural equipment or whole goods attachment thereto sold shall be manufactured or purchased by the Oklahoma Tax Commission in the required amounts. Said tax stamps shall be of such design, color combination and material and value in multiples of Six Dollars ($6.00) as the Tax Commission shall deem necessary for the administration of this tax and to afford the best security to the tax revenue involved. Said stamps shall be purchased by dealers in the county where the business is located.

B. The Commission may require any manufacturer of such tax stamps to furnish a bond in such amount as it deems necessary to protect the state and local taxing entities against loss.

C. The Tax Commission shall distribute such tax stamps to the county treasurer of each county, taking such receipt therefor as may be necessary. The county treasurer shall have the responsibility of the custody and the sale of the stamps to the person required by Section 5402 of this title to obtain such stamps. In addition, the county treasurer shall have the duty of accounting for said stamps to their respective counties, and to the Oklahoma Tax Commission as it may require.

The county treasurer shall apportion each month all collections from the sale of tax stamps pursuant to Section 5402 of this title as follows:

1. Two percent (2%) shall be deposited to the credit of the General Revenue Fund of the State Treasury; and

2. Ninety-eight percent (98%) shall be distributed as if said funds had been collected as ad valorem tax where the farm implement dealer's business is located.

Funds received by taxing jurisdictions from this source shall be utilized as if the said funds had in fact been generated by ad valorem taxes, including servicing of debt by sinking funds. On and after January 1, 1993, and at the end of each calendar year thereafter, the treasurer shall furnish a report to the county assessor, which shall show the total amount of in-lieu taxes authorized by this act and apportioned during the fiscal year to those taxing jurisdictions authorized to receive revenue from such in-lieu taxes. The assessor shall calculate annually the amount of assessed valuation that otherwise would be displaced by such in-lieu tax, by dividing the total amount of revenue derived from such tax apportioned to each taxing jurisdiction by the actual millage rate levied by each taxing jurisdiction during the fiscal year. The assessor shall add the result of that calculation to the actual assessed valuation of each taxing jurisdiction to determine the new adjusted assessed valuation of each taxing jurisdiction, and said adjusted assessed valuation shall be used for all purposes, including the determination of debt limits, in the following fiscal year whenever the term "assessed valuation" is required to be used.

(e) In the event a board of county commissioners determines that it cannot afford to employ a full-time county engineer, or if it cannot enter into an agreement with other counties to jointly employ a part-time county engineer, then said board shall enter into an agreement with the Department of Transportation for the provision of necessary county engineering services. Any engineering services provided by the Department of Transportation shall be furnished without cost or expense to the county. However, nothing in this section shall be construed to relieve a board of county commissioners of the responsibilities or costs associated with the efficient and necessary construction and maintenance of roads, bridges, culverts and drainage projects within its jurisdiction, or as otherwise provided by law. Road funds shall be withheld from any county failing to employ or utilize county engineering services as provided herein.

The project shall be advertised for bids as provided for in Section 1101 of this title, and the contract shall be let only after such notice at a public letting. If such construction work can be completed for a cost below or equal to the engineer's estimate or below any bid submitted at a public letting and so entered in its journal, nothing in this title shall prevent the board from causing the same to be built by day labor, force account, and purchase by the county of materials as provided by law.

Cite as: O.S. §, __ __

A. Counties shall enter into lease or lease-purchase contracts for road machinery and equipment pursuant to the provisions of Sections 636.1 through 636.7 of this title or pursuant to the provisions of Sections 1500 through 1505 of Title 19 of the Oklahoma Statutes and may not otherwise lease road machinery or equipment except in the case of an emergency, when specialized road machinery or equipment for projects of short durations is required for periods not to exceed thirty (30) days.

B. A county shall be eligible to enter into a lease or lease-purchase contract with the Department of Transportation for road machinery and equipment on a priority basis determined by the county funding classification designation during any fiscal year for the purchase of road machinery and equipment. The county funding classification designation shall be developed by the Department of Transportation and the Association of County Commissioners of Oklahoma and approved by the Oklahoma Department of Transportation County Advisory Board. Upon approval by the Department of Transportation County Advisory Board, the funding classification designation shall be submitted to the Transportation Commission for final approval. The counties receiving the least appropriations per mile of road may receive the highest priority rating. A county may also enter into a full warranty lease contract for road machinery and equipment pursuant to the provisions of subsection F of this section. Nothing in Sections 636.1 through 636.7 of this title shall prohibit a county from purchasing road machinery and equipment if it has adequate funds appropriated during any fiscal year for such purpose.

C. Whenever a county desires to lease or lease-purchase road machinery and equipment with funds from the County Road Machinery and Equipment Revolving Fund, it shall notify the Department of Transportation of its requirements and specifications and shall provide a list of vendors from which bids will be requested for the lease or lease-purchase agreements.

D. Upon receiving such notification from a county, the Department shall be authorized to purchase requested road machinery or equipment for lease or lease-purchase to that county or may lease or lease-purchase surplus or used road machinery and equipment to a county provided such road machinery or equipment meets the requirements and specifications of the requesting county.

E. If there are no funds available in the County Road Machinery and Equipment Revolving Fund, the Department of Transportation, upon notification that a county desires to lease or lease-purchase road machinery or equipment, shall certify to the county that there are no funds available in the County Road Machinery and Equipment Revolving Fund for such purposes. The county may then request the Purchasing Director of the Department of Central Services to solicit bids or request bids pursuant to the provisions of Section 1500 et seq. of Title 19 of the Oklahoma Statutes to lease or lease-purchase the requested road machinery or equipment.

F. When funds are available in the County Road Machinery and Equipment Revolving Fund the Department of Transportation shall, after receiving notification from a county desiring to lease or lease-purchase equipment, authorize the county to request bids pursuant to the provisions of this act and allocate funds equal to the estimated cost of the equipment or machinery requested. However, if the lowest and best bid received by the county exceeds the estimated purchase price of the equipment or machinery, the county shall pay any difference above the estimated purchase price if accepted. The county shall use the bid procedure provided for in Section 1500 et seq. of Title 19 of the Oklahoma Statutes. The county shall forward the lowest and best bid received to the Department of Transportation which shall authorize the lease or lease-purchase of the equipment or machinery.

G. A county may enter into a full warranty lease contract for road machinery and equipment if the county has adequate funds appropriated during any fiscal year for such purpose. Whenever a county desires to enter into a full warranty lease contract for road machinery or equipment, the county must notify the State Auditor and Inspector of its intent and must provide the State Auditor and Inspector with its requirements and specifications along with the proper documentation to be advertised for bids. Upon receiving the notification and documentation from a county, the State Auditor and Inspector shall review the documentation and, upon approval, shall forward the documentation and specifications to the State Purchasing Division of the Department of Central Services. The Purchasing Director of the Department of Central Services shall solicit bids to lease the requested road machinery or equipment according to the documentation and specifications of the county as approved by the State Auditor and Inspector. The term of any full warranty lease contract authorized pursuant to this subsection may be for any period up to one (1) year, provided the term shall not extend beyond the end of any fiscal year, with an option to renew such lease subject to the requirement that adequate funds are appropriated during the fiscal year by the county for such purpose. The State Auditor and Inspector shall prescribe the lease forms and other documentation necessary for implementing the provisions of this subsection.

H. Except as provided in subsection G of this section, the Department of Transportation shall promulgate such rules and regulations and is authorized to require from the counties such information, forms and reports as are necessary for properly and efficiently administering Sections 636.1 through 636.7 of this title.

The County Commissioners shall make space available in which the records can be maintained, preserved and made secure. Except for those records specifically required by state or federal statutes to be kept confidential, public access shall be made available to all of the records.

After the records of a former county superintendent of schools are transferred to and the responsibility of maintaining the records are assigned to a deputy, aide, assistant or other employee of the county clerk's office, the county clerk and county commissioners of the county shall recommend to the county excise board that additional salary be considered for the employee based upon the additional responsibilities if funds are available and approved. Any additional salary of such employee shall be subject to the limitations set forth in Section 180.65 of Title 19 of the Oklahoma Statutes.

Historical Data

All independent school districts in Oklahoma shall be those which shall have maintained during the previous year a school offering high school subjects fully accredited by the State Board of Education.

A reasonable deviation from any of the requirements enumerated herein shall not operate to prohibit the State Board of Education from designating any district as independent if the other requirements are sufficiently superior to the minimum standards required herein, but standards therefor shall be reduced to writing and a copy thereof sent to all districts maintaining high schools in Oklahoma at least one (1) year prior to the time the requirements become effective. Until the effective date thereof, the requirements hereinabove enumerated shall remain in full force and effect. As a basis for attaining the status of independent school district, high schools shall be inspected by a member of the division of secondary education of the State Board of Education or such other representative as the State Board of Education shall designate, and all of the standards prescribed by the State Board of Education shall be carefully checked in the presence of the district superintendent of schools or board of education of the district. A written report shall be made and mailed to the district superintendent of schools and board of education within thirty (30) days after the time of such inspection. Such report shall indicate if the high school meets the requirements and, if not, a statement shall be made as to what must be done in order to comply therewith.

After any school district has become independent, it shall remain so until removed from independent status by the State Board of Education, which, however, shall not remove any school district from independent status until it is satisfied that the minimum standards for independent school districts are not being maintained. Any order of the State Board of Education removing a school district from independent status shall not become effective until the close of the fiscal year in which such order is made, and any order removing a school district from independent status which has heretofore been made by the State Board of Education, regardless of notice or effective date thereof, is hereby validated. A reasonable variation from year to year in the minimum number of teachers required shall not affect the status of any independent school district.

Historical Data

Elementary school districts shall offer grades kindergarten through eight and are those which have not met the minimum standards for, and have not been designated as, independent school districts by the State Board of Education. On and after July 1, 1991, every place in the Oklahoma Statutes which refers to "dependent school district" shall mean "elementary school district".

Historical Data

Repealed by Laws 1988, c. 296, § 12, eff. June 1, 1990.
No person shall be eligible to be a candidate for or serve on a board of education if he or she is currently employed by the school district governed by that board of education or is related within the second degree by affinity or consanguinity to any other member of the board of education or to any employee of the school district governed by the board of education, it being the purpose of this section both to prohibit persons who are related within the second degree by affinity or consanguinity from serving simultaneously on the same board of education of any school district of this state and to prohibit persons who are related within the second degree of consanguinity or affinity to an employee of a school district from serving on the board of education governing the school district while such relative is employed. If the relationship is based on affinity, these prohibitions shall not apply to prevent members of boards of education who are serving on September 1, 1995, from serving the term for which they were elected or from serving successive terms for which they may be elected, unless it is the member's spouse who is a member of the board of education or an employee of the school district, then such prohibitions shall apply.

Any member of a board of education who violates the provisions of this section shall be subject to the penalties prescribed by Sections 485 and 486 of Title 21 of the Oklahoma Statutes.

Historical Data

A. Except as otherwise provided herein, no person may be employed or put under contract by a school district if that person is related to a member of the board of education of that school district within the second degree of consanguinity or affinity. A teacher or employee already under contract to or otherwise employed by the school district at the time the relationship is established may continue in said employment. Except as otherwise provided, a board member already serving at the time the relationship is established may serve out the term for which the member was elected but shall not be eligible to be a candidate for or serve successive terms of office for which the member may be elected. This provision shall not prevent a board member from serving successive terms of office if otherwise eligible under the provision of Section 70-5-113 of this title. No member of the board of education who has resigned from the board before his or her term has expired may be reappointed to the board to complete the remainder of his or her term if a teacher or employee related to the resigned member of the board within the second degree of consanguinity or affinity was put under contract or otherwise employed by the school district after the board member resigned.

Any member of a board of education who is related to a teacher or other employee of the district within the second degree of consanguinity or affinity shall not attend or participate in any regular or executive session of the board held to consider any personnel matter or litigation relating to said teacher or employee; provided however, the member may vote on collective bargaining agreements or the renewal of contracts as a group if the vote is necessary to form a quorum of the board of education members. If more than one member of the board of education is related to a teacher or employee, only the minimum number of those members which is necessary to form a quorum shall be allowed to vote. Each board of education so affected shall adopt a written policy establishing procedures on when such a member may vote on the renewal of contracts or collective bargaining agreements.

B. Any member of a board of education who violates the provisions of this section shall be subject to the penalties prescribed by Sections 485 and 486 of Title 21 of the Oklahoma Statutes.

Historical Data

Any school board member who, before serving or while serving on the board of education, initiated litigation against the school district, school board of education, or an individual board member of the board of education on which he/she serves, or who is a governing member of a group, organization, or entity that has authorized and initiated litigation against that school district, school board of education, or an individual board member of the board of education on which he/she serves, may be excluded upon a majority vote of the board members from any executive session where the litigation is discussed or from any other form of participation in the board's defense of the litigation, including any vote on issues related to that legal action.

Historical Data

A. The county treasurer of each county shall be the treasurer of all school districts in the county, except that the board of education of a school district may appoint a local treasurer for the school district and, in its discretion, an assistant local treasurer of the district, each of whom shall serve at the pleasure of the board for such compensation as the board may determine. The assistant local treasurer may perform any of the duties and exercise any of the powers of the local treasurer with the same force and effect as if the same were done or performed by the local treasurer. Before entering upon the discharge of the duties of the assistant treasurer, the assistant treasurer shall give a bond in such amount as the board of education may designate, with good and sufficient sureties to be approved by the board, conditioned for the faithful performance of his or her duties. A local treasurer or assistant local treasurer need not be a resident of the school district appointed to serve, although any local treasurer or assistant local treasurer shall be a resident of this state. Nothing herein shall prevent a local treasurer or assistant local treasurer from being appointed for more than one school district.

B. Whenever a county treasurer is designated as the treasurer for a school district, the county treasurer may elect to charge for such services. If charges are assessed, the treasurer shall prepare a special estimate of needs each fiscal year, covering all expenditures of the office on behalf of any school districts for which the county treasurer serves as treasurer. The estimate for treasurer services shall be itemized by personal services and maintenance and operation expenditures and shall be filed with the county excise board. In reviewing and approving this estimate, the county excise board shall authorize and levy amounts for treasurer services which in the judgment of the board will be sufficient to perform the services. The board shall apportion the cost among the school districts for which the treasurer services are to be charged in the ratio which each school district's total appropriations for the preceding year bears to the total appropriations of all such school districts receiving treasurer services for the preceding year. The amounts shall be included in, or added to, the estimates of needs or budget of each such school district. The amount as approved and appropriated by the county excise board shall be paid by the school district, by appropriate warrants, to the county for deposit in the county general fund.

A. Unless the context clearly shows otherwise, the term “treasurer”, as used in this section, includes a county treasurer acting as the treasurer of a school district pursuant to the provisions of Section 5-114 of this title. The treasurer so appointed shall execute, before entering upon the duties of the office of the treasurer, a surety bond in an amount which it is estimated by the board of education the treasurer will have on hand at any one time during the current year, and the amount of securities held as investments shall not be considered. The board of education is empowered to require the treasurer to increase or decrease the bond of the treasurer as the amount of funds on hand may require. Provided, the bond of a school district shall not, in any event, be required to be in an amount greater than that of the county treasurer of the county. The premium on the bond shall be paid by the board of education out of district funds. Provided, however, the treasurer of such district shall require the depository wherein school district funds are deposited to insure or guarantee the deposit by proper securities, which shall be of the same class of securities as are required to insure deposits of county treasurers of the various counties, and the securities shall be pledged, taken and kept in the manner provided by Sections 517.1 through 517.7 of Title 62 of the Oklahoma Statutes.

B. In all districts which are permitted by law to select a local treasurer, the county treasurer shall act as treasurer thereof until such time as a local treasurer shall be appointed and has executed the surety bond required by this section. In no instance in which the county treasurer is the treasurer of any school district shall any additional bond be required, but the official bond of the county treasurer shall stand for any and all funds and securities coming into the hands of the county treasurer.

C. The local treasurer of a district, when required by the board of education, shall prepare and submit in writing a report of the condition of the finances of the district and shall produce at any meeting of the board or to any committee appointed for the purpose of examining the accounts of the treasurer all books and papers pertaining to the office of the treasurer. Upon failure to make reports as provided for herein or as may otherwise be required by law, the board may at any regular or special meeting thereof summarily suspend the treasurer, and while so suspended the treasurer shall perform no act pertaining to the office of the treasurer. Such suspension shall continue until ended by order of the board or by judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction.

D. The local treasurer of a school district shall keep a separate cash ledger for each fund in the custody of the treasurer. The local treasurer shall enter each collection and disbursement in the cash ledger of the applicable fund by recording the date and classification of each transaction and such other information as may be deemed desirable. Additional ledgers shall also be maintained to record the investments made from each fund. Such investment ledgers shall disclose the date, description and principal amount paid for each investment purchased and the date and principal amount received for each investment liquidated.

E. Upon suspension by the board, the treasurer shall immediately turn over to the board of education or to the acting treasurer if one has been appointed by the board all books and papers and other property pertaining to the office of the treasurer.
F. Except as otherwise provided by law, no treasurer of any district shall pay out school district funds in the care of the treasurer except upon warrants signed by the proper school district officials authorized by the law to sign such warrants, provided, this restriction shall not apply to sinking funds or to the investment of school district funds. Authorized sinking fund payments and payment for investments or receipt of liquidated investments may be made by check, wire transfer or other instrument or method through the Federal Reserve System.

G. The board of education shall, each month, set aside funds to an operating account and to an investment account. Investments by the treasurer shall be made in accordance with a written policy adopted by the board of education. The written investment policy shall address liquidity, diversification, safety of principal, yield, maturity, quality of the instrument, and capability of investment management. Acting within the investment policy, the treasurer shall place primary emphasis on safety and liquidity in the investment of funds. Taking into account the need to use sound investment judgment, school districts shall, to the extent practicable, use competitive bids when they purchase direct obligations of the United States Government or other obligations of the United States Government, its agencies or instrumentalities. Such system shall be designed to maximize yield within each class of investment instrument, consistent with the safety of the funds invested. The board of education must review the investment performance of the treasurer on a regular basis and no less than each month. The treasurer of every school district shall invest the full amount of the investment account in:

1. Direct obligations of the United States Government to the payment of which the full faith and credit of the Government of the United States is pledged; provided, a treasurer of a school district who has completed the program pursuant to the provisions of subsection H of this section may invest funds in the investment account in other obligations of the United States Government, its agencies or instrumentalities;

2. Obligations to the payment of which the full faith and credit of this state is pledged;

3. Certificates of deposits of banks when such certificates of deposits are secured by acceptable collateral as in the deposit of other public monies;

4. Savings accounts or savings certificates of savings and loan associations to the extent that such accounts or certificates are fully insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation. Provided, that the income received from the investments may be placed in the general fund of the governmental subdivision to be used for general governmental operations;

5. Repurchase agreements that have underlying collateral consisting of those items specified in paragraphs 1 and 2 of this subsection including obligations of the United States, its agencies and instrumentalities, and where the collateral has been deposited with a trustee or custodian bank in an irrevocable trust or escrow account established for such purposes;

6. County, municipal or school district direct debt obligations for which an ad valorem tax may be levied or bond and revenue anticipation notes, money judgments against such county, municipality or school district ordered by a court of record or bonds or bond and revenue anticipation notes issued by a public trust for which such county, municipality or school district is a beneficiary thereof. All collateral pledged to secure public funds shall be valued at no more than market value. The income received from an investment may be placed in the general fund of the governmental subdivision to be used for general governmental operations, the sinking fund, the building fund, or the fund from which the investment was made;

7. Money market mutual funds regulated by the Securities and Exchange Commission and which investments consist of obligations of the United States, its agencies and instrumentalities, and investments in those items and those restrictions specified in paragraphs 1 through 6 of this subsection;
8. Warrants, bonds or judgments of the school district; or

9. Qualified pooled investment programs, the investments of which consist of those items specified in paragraphs 1 through 8 of this subsection, as well as obligations of the United States agencies and instrumentalities, regardless of the size of the district’s budget. To be qualified, a pooled investment program for school funds must be governed through an interlocal cooperative agreement formed pursuant to Section 5-117b of this title, and the program must competitively select its investment advisors and other professionals. Any pooled investment program used must be approved by the board of education.

H. The board of education is hereby empowered to require the treasurer to satisfactorily complete an investment education program approved by the State Board of Education and the State Board of Career and Technology Education. Such program shall be designed to allow treasurers to make informed decisions regarding the safety, return, liquidity, costs and benefits of various investment options allowed under this section.

I. The income received on an investment may be placed in the fund from which the investment was made, the general fund, the building fund, or the sinking fund.

Historical Data

A. The State Board of Career and Technology Education shall prescribe criteria and procedures for the establishment and governance of technology center school districts, as provided by Section 9B, Article X, Oklahoma Constitution, and such districts so established shall be operated in accordance with rules of the State Board of Career and Technology Education, except as otherwise provided in this title.

B. A technology center school district shall be a body corporate and shall possess the usual powers of a corporation for public purposes. Its official name shall be designated by the State Board of Career and Technology Education, in which name it may sue and be sued, and be capable of contracting and being contracted with, and holding real and personal estate. Its governing board shall be a board of education consisting of not less than five (5) nor more than seven (7) members elected in a manner prescribed by the State Board of Career and Technology Education. Such board of education shall have the same powers and duties that boards of education of independent school districts have. It may require nonresident students to pay reasonable tuition fees, which may be paid for a student by the independent or elementary school district in which the student resides.

C. An election to vote on the question of making a levy of not to exceed five (5) mills on the dollar valuation of the taxable property in a technology center school district under the provisions of subsection A, Section 9B, Article X, Oklahoma Constitution, shall be called by the board of education and conducted by the county election board of such district in the same manner that elections for emergency levies in school districts under the provisions of Section 9(d), Article X, Oklahoma Constitution, are called and conducted. When such levy is approved by a majority of the electors of the technology center school district voting on such election, the levy shall be made each fiscal year thereafter until repealed by a majority of the electors of the district voting on the question at an election called for such purpose. An election to vote on the question of making a local incentive levy of not to exceed five (5) mills on the dollar valuation of the taxable property in a technology center school district under the provisions of subsection B of Section 9B of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution, may be called by the board of education; and elections on a levy for a building fund for an area school district under the provisions of Section 10, Article X, Oklahoma Constitution, shall be called by the board of education of such district and conducted by the county election board in the same manner that elections for similar levies are called and conducted in independent school districts.

D. Annual estimates of needs of technology center school districts shall be made and approved in the same manner that those of independent school districts are made and approved. Provided, that the State Board of Career and Technology Education shall prescribe a list of appropriation accounts by which the funds of technology center school districts shall be budgeted, accounted for and expended. Any such estimate of needs may include an estimate of federal funds as probable income from sources other than ad valorem tax of the district and other than any excise or other tax assessed by legislative enactment and distributed in lieu of ad valorem taxes. If a technology center school district lies in more than one county, the districts estimate of needs shall be filed with and approved by the county excise board of the county designated by the school district board of education.
E. Territory may be annexed to or detached from a technology center school district, in accordance with rules prescribed by the State Board of Career and Technology Education. If the State Board of Career and Technology Education requires the submission of a petition in order for an election to be called for the purpose of annexation or deannexation of territory to a technology center school district, such petition shall not be required to bear a number of technology center school district electors' signatures which exceed fifty percent (50%) of the number of technology center school district electors who voted in the last school board election in the territory proposed to be annexed or deannexed. Provided, the period of time from which the petition is initiated to its time of filing with the State Board shall not exceed ninety (90) days.

F. Schools of technology center school districts shall be subject to classification, inspection and accreditation by the State Board of Education.

G. The technology center school board of education may designate a county treasurer to serve as treasurer of the school district or may appoint an independent treasurer.

H. Within four (4) years after the creation of a technology center school district, such school district may, at its discretion, permit a teacher to transfer any or all accrued benefits upon employment including credit for years of service in the previous school district by the technology center school district, if the teacher at the time of hiring is employed as a teacher by an independent or elementary school district which is all or partly within the boundaries of the technology center school district or is employed as a teacher in a skills center within the boundaries of the school district.

I. The board of education of a technology center school district may convey personal property without consideration to a school district that is within the boundary of the technology center school district or a public school offering secondary level education which was created and is operated by the State of Oklahoma and that is within the boundary of the technology center school district.

J. The board of education of a technology center school district may, without prior approval of the State Board of Career and Technology Education, approve all plans and specifications for technology center school buildings, additions, and major modifications to school buildings that are designed to provide for the offering of vocational-technical education programs and services when the cost of the building project is to be paid with local levies or state bond monies or both local levies and state bond monies.

Historical Data

A. Beginning with the 1997-98 school year, and each school year thereafter, each school district shall have its initial allocation of State Aid calculated based on the state dedicated revenues actually collected during the preceding fiscal year, the adjusted assessed valuation of the preceding year and the highest weighted average daily membership for the school district of the two (2) preceding school years. The State Department of Education shall notify each school district by July 15 of the district’s initial allocation level. Each school district shall submit the following data based on the first nine (9) weeks, to be used in the calculation of the average daily membership of the school district:

1. Student enrollment by grade level;
2. Pupil category counts; and
3. Transportation supplement data.

On or before December 30, the State Department of Education shall determine each school district’s current year allocation pursuant to subsection D of this section. The State Department of Education shall complete an audit, using procedures established by the Department, of the student enrollment by grade level data, pupil category counts and transportation supplement data to be used in the State Aid Formula pursuant to subsection D of this section by December 1 and by January 15 shall notify each school district of the district’s final State Aid allocation for the current school year. The January payment of State Aid and each subsequent payment for the remainder of the school year shall be based on the final State Aid allocation as calculated in subsection D of this section. Except for reductions made due to the assessment of penalties by the State Department of Education according to law, the January payment of State Aid and each subsequent payment for the remainder of the school year shall not decrease by an amount more than the amount that the current chargeable revenue increases for that district.

B. The State Department of Education shall retain not less than one and one-half percent (1 1/2%) of the total funds appropriated for financial support of schools, to be used to make midyear adjustments in State Aid and which shall be reflected in the final allocations. If the amount of appropriated funds, including the one and one-half percent (1 1/2%) retained, remaining after January 1 of each year is not sufficient to fully fund the final allocations, each school district shall receive a proportionate reduction in funding.

C. On and after July 1, 1997, the amount of State Aid each district shall receive shall be the sum of the Foundation Aid, the Salary Incentive Aid and the Transportation Supplement, as adjusted pursuant to the provisions of subsection G of this section and Section 18-112.2 of this title; provided, no district having per pupil revenue in excess of three hundred percent (300%) of the average per pupil revenue of all districts shall receive any State Aid or Supplement in State Aid.

The July calculation of per pupil revenue shall be determined by dividing the district's second preceding year's total weighted average daily membership (ADM) into the district's second preceding year's total revenues excluding federal revenue, insurance loss payments, reimbursements, recovery of overpayments and refunds, unused reserves, prior expenditures recovered, prior year surpluses, and less the amount of any transfer fees paid in that year.

The December calculation of per pupil revenue shall be determined by dividing the district's preceding year's total weighted average daily membership (ADM) into the district's preceding year's total revenues excluding federal revenue, insurance loss payments, reimbursements, recovery of overpayments and refunds, unused reserves, prior expenditures recovered, prior year surpluses, and less the amount of any transfer fees paid in that year.

D. For the 1997-98 school year, and each school year thereafter, Foundation Aid, the Transportation Supplement and Salary Incentive Aid shall be calculated as follows:

1. Foundation Aid shall be determined by subtracting the amount of the Foundation Program Income from the cost of the Foundation Program and adding to this difference the Transportation Supplement.

a. The Foundation Program shall be a district's highest weighted average daily membership based on the first nine (9) weeks of the current school year, the preceding school year or the second preceding school year of a school district, as determined by the provisions of subsection A of Section 18-201.1 of this title and paragraphs 1, 2, 3 and 4 of subsection B of Section 18-201.1 of this title, multiplied by the Base Foundation Support Level.

b. The Foundation Program Income shall be the sum of the following:

(1) The adjusted assessed valuation of the current school year of the school district, minus the previous year protested ad valorem tax revenues held as prescribed in Section 2884 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes, multiplied by the mills levied pursuant to subsection (c) of Section 9 of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution, if applicable, as adjusted in subsection (c) of Section 8A of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution. For purposes of this subsection, the “adjusted assessed valuation of the current school year” shall be the adjusted assessed valuation on which tax revenues are collected during the current school year, and

(2) Seventy-five percent (75%) of the amount received by the school district from the proceeds of the county levy during the preceding fiscal year, as levied pursuant to subsection (b) of Section 9 of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution, and

(3) Motor Vehicle Collections, and

(4) Gross Production Tax, and

(5) State Apportionment, and

(6) R.E.A. Tax.

The items listed in divisions (3), (4), (5), and (6) of this subparagraph shall consist of the amounts actually collected from such sources during the preceding fiscal year calculated on a per capita basis on the unit provided for by law for the distribution of each such revenue.

2. The Transportation Supplement shall be equal to the average daily haul times the per capita allowance times the appropriate transportation factor.

a. The average daily haul shall be the number of children in a district who are legally transported and who live one and one-half (1 1/2) miles or more from school.
b. The per capita allowance shall be determined using the following chart:

c. The formula transportation factor shall be 1.39.

3. Salary Incentive Aid shall be determined as follows:

a. Multiply the Incentive Aid guarantee by the district's highest weighted average daily membership based on the first nine (9) weeks of the current school year, the preceding school year or the second preceding school year of a school district, as determined by the provisions of subsection A of Section 18-201.1 of this title and paragraphs 1, 2, 3 and 4 of subsection B of Section 18-201.1 of this title.

b. Divide the district's adjusted assessed valuation of the current school year minus the previous year's protested ad valorem tax revenues held as prescribed in Section 2884 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes, by one thousand (1,000) and subtract the quotient from the product of subparagraph a of this paragraph. The remainder shall not be less than zero (0).

c. Multiply the number of mills levied for general fund purposes above the fifteen (15) mills required to support Foundation Aid pursuant to division (1) of subparagraph b of paragraph 1 of this subsection, not including the county four-mill levy, by the remainder of subparagraph b of this paragraph. The product shall be the Salary Incentive Aid of the district.

E. By June 30, 1998, the State Department of Education shall develop and the Department and all school districts shall have implemented a student identification system which is consistent with the provisions of subsections C and D of Section 3111 of Title 74 of the Oklahoma Statutes. The student identification system shall be used specifically for the purpose of reporting enrollment data by school sites and by school districts, the administration of the Oklahoma School Testing Program Act, the collection of appropriate and necessary data pursuant to the Oklahoma Educational Indicators Program, determining student enrollment, establishing a student mobility rate, allocation of the State Aid Formula and mid-year adjustments in funding for student growth. This enrollment data shall be submitted to the State Department of Education in accordance with rules promulgated by the State Board of Education. Funding for the development, implementation, personnel training and maintenance of the student identification system shall be set out in a separate line item in the allocation section of the appropriation bill for the State Board of Education for each year.

F. Historical Data

A. The transportation of all unlawful oil or unlawful gas is hereby declared to be a public nuisance and such unlawful gas or unlawful oil shall be forfeited to the state. Except as provided by this section and Section 8 of this act all vehicles being used to transport said unlawful oil or unlawful gas shall also be forfeited to the state.

B. Except as authorized by subsection C of this section, all property taken or detained under this section by any authorized person shall not be repleviable, and shall be deemed to be in the custody of the office of the district attorney of the county in which such property was seized, subject only to the decree of a court of competent jurisdiction. If sufficient evidence exists, as determined by the district attorney, that any oil or gas seized is unlawful oil or unlawful gas or that any vehicle seized was used to transport such unlawful oil or unlawful gas, said district attorney shall follow the procedures provided in Section 8 of this act dealing with notification of seizure, intent and forfeiture, final disposition procedures, and release to innocent claimants with regard to all property seized by such authorized persons. If sufficient evidence does not exist, as determined by the district attorney, that any oil or gas seized is unlawful oil or unlawful gas or that any vehicle seized was used to transport such unlawful oil or unlawful gas, the district attorney may release such oil or gas or vehicle but shall notify any appropriate state or federal agency of any possible permit or license violations.

C. 1. The owner of a vehicle, upon submission of a written statement, under oath, to the office of the district attorney of the county in which said property was seized that such owner had no knowledge of the unlawfulness of the oil or gas or that the oil or gas became unlawful without his knowledge after the creation of his interest or that the vehicle was being used for the purpose charged without his knowledge, and upon execution of a lien pursuant to this subsection and entry of the lien on the certificate of title, shall be entitled to recover the possession of the vehicle prior to the commencement of the action.

   2. The office of the district attorney of the county in which property was seized shall have a lien upon any vehicle seized pursuant to this section. If the title to the vehicle is not with the person from whom such vehicle was seized, the person having title shall be given notice within five (5) days of such seizure and of the opportunity to recover the vehicle pursuant to this subsection. The lien on such vehicle shall be preferred to all other liens or encumbrances which may attach to or upon such vehicle.

   3. The office of the district attorney claiming the lien within ten (10) days of seizure of the vehicle shall file in the office of the county clerk of the county in which such property was seized a statement verified by affidavit setting forth:

      a. the registration number of the seized vehicle;

      b. the name of the person having title to said vehicle; and

      c. a description of the vehicle including its value. In addition, the office of the district attorney claiming the lien shall provide for the entry of the lien on the certificate of title pursuant to the Motor Vehicle Title Act. Such statement shall be filed and the lien recorded on the certificate of title prior to the recovery of the vehicle by the owner pursuant to this subsection.

4. Any person having title to the seized vehicle on which a lien is claimed pursuant to this subsection may at any time discharge the lien by depositing with the county clerk of the county in which property was seized a corporate surety bond made payable to the state in an amount not less than the value of the vehicle seized. Within three (3) business days after the deposit of bond is made, the county clerk shall serve upon the office of the district attorney claiming the lien, written notice setting forth:

a. the number of the lien claim;

b. the name of the vehicle owner;

c. the property description shown on the lien claim;

d. the names of the principal and surety; and

e. the bond penalty.

The party seeking to discharge the lien shall prepare and deliver the notice to the county clerk of the county in which the property was seized and pay a fee of Five Dollars ($5.00) to cover the cost of filing and mailing. An abbreviated notice may be used if the same refers to and encloses a copy of the lien claim and a copy of the bond with the clerk's filing stamp thereon. The notice shall be mailed by registered or certified mail at the option of the county clerk.

If a bond is deposited, the district attorney shall have five (5) days after the notice is mailed within which to file a written objection with the county clerk of said county. If a written objection is not timely made, the county clerk shall immediately show the lien released of record. If an objection is timely made, the county clerk shall set a hearing within five (5) days thereafter and notify by ordinary mail both the office of the district attorney and the party making the deposit of the date and time thereof. The only grounds for objection shall be that: The surety is not authorized to transact business in this state; the bond is not properly signed; the amount is less than the value of the vehicle seized; the power of attorney of the surety's attorney-in-fact does not authorize the execution; there is no power of attorney attached if the bond is executed by anyone other than the surety's president and attested by its secretary; or a cease and desist order has been issued against the surety either by the Insurance Commissioner or a court of competent jurisdiction. Within two (2) business days following the hearing the county clerk shall either sustain or overrule the objections and notify the parties of his ruling by ordinary mail. If the objections are sustained, the ruling of the county clerk shall be conclusive for lien release purposes unless appealed within ten (10) days to the district court. If the objections are overruled, the county clerk shall immediately show the lien released of record.

The bond shall: Name the office of the district attorney in which the property was seized as obligee and the party seeking the release as principal; be executed by both the principal and the surety; have a proper power of attorney attached if executed by an attorney-in-fact; be executed by a corporate surety authorized to transact business in this state; and be conditioned that the principal and surety will pay the full amount of the claim as established in any appropriate court proceeding, plus any court costs, but in no event shall the liability of the principal or surety under the bond exceed the bond penalty. The conditions of any bond filed pursuant to this section shall be deemed to comply with the requirements hereof, regardless of the language or limitations set forth therein, if both the principal and surety intend that the bond be filed to secure a lien release under this section.

The bond shall stand in lieu of the released lien. The bond shall stand liable for such principal, interest, and court costs. The bond principal and surety are necessary parties to an action against the substituted security, and by filing a bond the parties subject themselves to personal jurisdiction in the court where the action is properly filed and may be served with process as in other cases.

5. If the district attorney fails to file a forfeiture proceeding pursuant to Section 8 of this act, upon application of the party filing the bond and the payment of a fee of Ten Dollars ($10.00), the county clerk shall appropriately note on the bond that the same has been released. The clerk shall not incur liability to any lien claimant for the release of a bond in good faith.

6. Upon conviction of the owner of the vehicle for violating the provisions of this act, the vehicle so seized upon which a lien has been filed pursuant to this subsection or any bond posted for the discharge of the lien on such vehicle shall be forfeited to the state pursuant to forfeiture proceedings provided by Section 8 of this act.

7. Upon the acquittal of such person charged with violating the provisions of this section or upon the dismissal with prejudice of said charge against such person or it is shown that the owner of such vehicle was not knowledgable concerning the illegal use of his vehicle, the lien on the vehicle shall be immediately discharged in accordance with procedures for the discharge of liens, or the bond posted shall be returned to the person posting such bond.

Title 22. Criminal Procedure
Chapter 16
Suspension of Judgement and Sentence § 991f-1.1 - Creation of the Restitution and Diversion Program

A. Each district attorney shall create within the district attorney’s office a Restitution and Diversion Program and assign sufficient staff and resources for the efficient operation of such program. The purpose of the Restitution and Diversion Program is to allow the district attorney the discretion to divert criminal complaints involving property crimes from criminal court and to monitor restitution payments. At the discretion of the district attorney, the program may be administered by the Bogus Check Restitution Program operated by the county.

B. 1. Referral of a criminal complaint to the Restitution and Diversion Program shall be at the discretion of the district attorney. This act shall not limit the power of the district attorney to prosecute criminal complaints.

2. Upon receipt of a criminal complaint involving property, the district attorney shall determine if the complaint is one which is appropriate for deferred prosecution.

3. In determining whether to defer prosecution and refer a case to the Restitution and Diversion Program, the district attorney shall consider the following factors:

   a. whether the criminal complaint alleges an offense involving property,

   b. whether the alleged offense was committed in an aggressive, violent, premeditated or willful manner,

   c. the prospects for adequate protection of the public if the accused person is processed through deferred prosecution in the Restitution and Diversion Program,

   d. the number of criminal complaints against the defendant previously received by the district attorney,

   e. whether or not there are other criminal complaints currently pending against the defendant,

   f. the strength of the evidence of the particular criminal complaint, and

   g. the wishes of the victim.

C. Upon referral of a complaint to the Restitution and Diversion Program, a notice of the complaint shall be forwarded by mail to the accused person. The notice shall contain:

1. The date the act which is the subject of the complaint occurred;
2. The name of the victim;

3. The date before which the accused person must contact the office of the district attorney concerning the complaint; and

4. A statement of the penalty for the crime which is the subject of the complaint.

D. The district attorney may enter into a written agreement with the accused person to defer prosecution on the criminal complaint for a period to be determined by the district attorney, not to exceed two (2) years pending restitution being made to the victim of the complaint and payment of necessary fees.

E. Each restitution agreement shall include a provision requiring the accused person to pay to the district attorneys office a fee equal to the amount which would have been assessed as court costs upon the filing of the case in district court plus Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) for each criminal complaint covered by the agreement. This fee may be deposited in a special fund with the county treasurer to be known as the "Restitution and Diversion Program Fund" or in the Bogus Check Restitution Fund. The monies deposited in the Restitution and Diversion Program Fund shall be used by the district attorney to make any lawful expenditure associated with the district attorney’s office. The district attorney shall keep records of all monies deposited to and disbursed from these funds. The records of these funds shall be audited at the same time the records of county funds are audited.

F. 1. Restitution to be paid by the accused person to the victim shall include out-of-pocket expenses the victim incurred as a direct result of the crime having been committed. A restitution agreement may include provisions for restitution in an amount up to treble the amount of property involved except such restitution shall not apply to false or bogus checks. If, instead of paying restitution directly to the victim, the accused person delivers restitution funds to the office of the district attorney, the district attorney shall deposit such funds in a depository account in the office of the county treasurer to be disbursed to the victim by a warrant signed by the district attorney or a member of the district attorney’s staff assigned to the Restitution and Diversion Program. The district attorney shall keep full records of all restitution monies received and disbursed. These records shall be audited at the same time the county funds are audited;

2. If the accused person fails to comply with the provisions of the Restitution and Diversion Program agreement, the district attorney may file an information and proceed with the prosecution of the accused person as provided by law.

G. Members of the district attorney’s staff shall perform duties in connection with the Restitution and Diversion Program in addition to any other duties which may be assigned by the district attorney.
H. 1. District attorneys shall prepare and submit an annual report to the District Attorneys Council showing total deposits and total expenditures in the Restitution and Diversion Program.

A copy of the report shall be distributed to the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the chairs of the House and Senate Appropriations Committees. This report shall include the number of cases processed, the total dollar amount for which restitution was made, the total amount of the restitution collected, the total amount of fees collected, the total cost of the program, and such other information as required by the District Attorneys Council.

Historical Data

Chapter 23 of this title shall be known and may be cited as the Oklahoma Floodplain Management Act.

Historical Data

A. The State of Oklahoma recognizes the personal hardships and economic distress caused by flood disasters; in particular, the loss of life from floods, the physical and emotional impact of flooding on individuals and communities, public and private property damage and disruption, the increased cost for disaster relief and the need for preservation and restoration of the natural resources and functions of floodplains. Oklahoma also recognizes that it has become uneconomical for the private insurance industry alone to make flood insurance available to those in need of such protection on reasonable terms and conditions. Recognizing these problems, Congress enacted the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968, which, among other things, requires the development of a unified national program for floodplain management which sets out a framework for national goals towards which agencies at all levels of government and in the private sector can work each within its own mission and role.

B. The purpose of the Oklahoma Floodplain Management Act pursuant to the most current version of a unified program for floodplain management is to:

1. Protect the natural and beneficial functions of the floodplain, to reduce damage and disruption to property from floods, to reduce costs of disaster relief and to reduce injury and loss of life from floods;

2. Assist state agencies, local governments and the private sector in developing local floodplain management programs and in obtaining training and funding therefor; and

3. Procure flood insurance for those citizens that desire to participate in this federal program.

2. The term of the energy conservation contract and the lease-purchase agreement shall include the installation period and the lease repayment period.

3. If the term of an energy conservation contract exceeds one (1) year, the contractual obligation of the political subdivision, excluding any initial partial payment, in any year during the term of the energy conservation contract may not exceed the total savings, including, but not limited to, electrical, gas, or other utility cost savings and savings from lowered maintenance as determined by the governing board.

4. Maintenance for energy conservation measures may be a part of the energy conservation contract.

5. The governing board shall consider all costs of the energy conservation measures, including, but not limited to, costs of design, engineering, installation, maintenance, maintenance tools and equipment, spare parts, repairs, and debt service.

D. 1. An energy conservation contract, with respect to existing buildings or facilities, may be funded through a lease-purchase agreement that meets federal tax requirements for tax-free municipal leasing or long-term financing.

2. The repayment period of the lease-purchase agreement shall not exceed the lesser of fifteen (15) years or the weighted average equipment life of equipment to be installed under the energy conservation contract.

E. 1. Energy conservation contracts and lease-purchase agreements executed pursuant to this section shall be let under competitive proposal procedures.

Requests for proposals must solicit quotations and must specify the relative importance of guaranteed savings, price, financial performance and stability, quality, technical ability, experience and other evaluation factors.

3. The contract shall be awarded to the responsible offeror whose proposal, following negotiations, is determined to be the most advantageous to the political subdivision considering the guaranteed savings and other evaluation factors set forth in the request for proposals.

2. If bonding industry limitations prevent execution of a performance bond which covers guaranteed savings for the entire term of the lease-purchase agreement the contract may allow an option for:

At the completion of the bond term, if the bond cannot be renewed as provided in subparagraph a of this paragraph and if there has been a guaranteed savings shortfall during the last twelve (12) months, the governing board may assume a continued annual shortfall of the same amount and request repayment from the contractor of the net present value of the shortfall through the end of the lease repayment period. The discount factor to calculate the net present value shall be the annual percentage rate of the lease-purchase agreement.

C. 1. The governing board may enter into an energy conservation contract for a period of more than one (1) year for the implementation of energy conservation measures with a person or business entity if:

Provided further, that in the event said fees shall not be sufficient to operate the planning commission, the difference may be supplied by appropriation as provided by law. The commission may adopt the master plan in whole or in part and subsequently amend or extend the adopted plan or portion thereof. Before the adoption, amendment or extension of the plan or portion thereof the commission shall hold at least one public hearing thereon. Such hearing may be adjourned from time to time. The adoption of the plan, or part thereof, shall be by resolution carried by not less than a majority vote of the full membership of the commission. From and after the date of the adoption of a plan for major streets or highways as a part of the master plan for the physical development of the unincorporated areas of the county and the adoption of the rules and regulations hereinafter in this section provided for, no plat of a subdivision of land within the unincorporated areas of said county shall be recorded in the office of the county clerk until it shall have been approved by such county planning commission and such approval be endorsed in writing on the plat. The approval of the planning commission required by this section or the refusal to approve shall take place within forty-five (45) days from and after the submission of the plat for final approval unless stipulation for additional time is agreed to by the applicant; otherwise, said plat shall be deemed to have been approved, and the certificate of the said county planning commission as to the date of the submission of the plat for approval and the failure to take action thereon within such time shall be sufficient in lieu of the written endorsement or evidence of approval herein required. The ground of refusal or approval of any plat submitted, including citation of or reference to the rule or regulation violated by the plat, shall be stated upon the record of the commission.

Such county planning commission shall adopt rules and regulations of uniform application governing plats and subdivisions of land falling within its jurisdiction. Such regulations shall provide for: the proper arrangement of streets or other highways in relation to existing or planned streets or highways or to the master plan of the county; building lines; open spaces for traffic, utilities, access of fire fighting apparatus, recreation and light and air; and the avoidance of congestion of population, including the minimum width and area of lots. Such rules and regulations shall not require the dedication to the general public of open grounds or space other than streets and ways and utility easements, nor any requirement as to the minimum percentage of lot occupancy, nor as to height, bulk, location or use of buildings; and minor streets shall not be required to be wider than sixty (60) feet. Said regulations may include provisions as to the extent to which streets and other highways shall be graded and improved and to which water, sewer and other utility mains, piping or other facilities shall be installed or assured as a condition precedent to the approval of the plat; and the board of county commissioners is hereby authorized to prepare such specifications and to make such orders, inspections, examinations and certificates as may be necessary to protect and carry out such provisions and make them effective. Such general rules shall provide for the modification thereof by the county planning commission in specific cases where unusual topographical or other exceptional conditions may require the same. Said regulations shall provide for tentative approval of the plat previous to the installation or assurance of such improvements and facilities; provided that any such tentative approval shall be revocable and shall not be entered upon the plat. Such regulations shall provide that, in lieu of the completion of the construction of the required improvements and facilities prior to the final approval of the plat, the county planning commission may accept bond of not less than ten percent (10%) and not to exceed one hundred percent (100%) of the cost of construction of the proposed improvements and facilities for the board of county commissioners in the amount and with surety and conditions satisfactory to it, providing for and securing to the board of county commissioners the actual construction of such improvements and facilities within a period specified by the county planning commission, and the board of county commissioners is hereby granted the power to enforce such bond by all legal and equitable remedies. Such regulations shall be adopted, changed or amended only after a public hearing has been held thereon. Upon adoption, said general rules shall be certified to the board of county commissioners and to the county clerk.

If the governing body of a city or town protests against a subdivision plat of any land lying within three (3) miles of the limits of the incorporated area of such city or town, the plat shall be approved only by a favorable vote of two-thirds (2/3) of the whole membership of the county planning commission with the reasons therefor spread upon its minutes.

Chapter 19A § 868.9 - Building Line Regulations.

Cite as: O.S. §, __ __

Whenever a plan for major highways has been adopted and filed by the county planning commission, the board of county commissioners, upon recommendation of the county planning commission, is hereby authorized and empowered to establish, regulate and limit, and to change and amend, building or set-back regulations on such major highways, and to prohibit any new building’s being located within such building or set-back lines outside the corporate limits of any city or town. In establishing such building line, the board of county commissioners shall take into consideration the present stage of development along such highways, including the type of buildings and nature of their use, as well as their number and location, the present width of such highways and type of construction, the amount of traffic using such highways, and probable future needs to protect safety and provide adequate transportation along such highways in view of the trend of development of residential, commercial and industrial areas served by such highways.

Regulations authorized by this section shall not be adopted, changed or amended by the board of county commissioners until a public hearing has been held thereon by the county planning commission.

Historical Data

Added by Laws 1972, c. 244, § 9, emerg. eff. April 7, 1972.
After the board of county commissioners shall have established building or set-back lines on such major highways, no new building or structure shall be erected within such building or set-back lines outside the corporate limits of any city or town, and no permit for such building shall be issued by the county engineer who is hereby designated as the officer to administer and enforce such building or set-back line regulations. The county board of adjustment, hereinbefore created, shall hear appeals of any property owner aggrieved by such building line regulations. Said board of adjustment shall have the power to modify or vary the building or set-back line regulations in specific cases, in order that unwarranted hardship, which constitutes an unreasonable deprivation of uses as distinguished from a mere grant of privilege, may be avoided, the intended purpose of the regulations strictly observed, and the public welfare and public safety protected.

Historical Data

Added by Laws 1972, c. 244, § 10, emerg. eff. April 7, 1972.
The board of county commissioners is hereby empowered to adopt zoning regulations effective in the unincorporated areas of the county for the purposes of promoting the health, safety, peace, morals, comfort and the general welfare of the inhabitants; lessening danger and congestion in public transportation and travel; securing safety from fire and other dangers; preventing overcrowding of land; avoiding undue concentration of population; providing adequate police protection, transportation, water, sewerage, schools, parks, forests, recreational facilities, airports, military and naval facilities, and other public requirements; and preventing undue encroachment thereon. The zoning power hereby conferred shall not be exercised so as to deprive the owner of any existing property of its use or maintenance for the purpose to which it is then lawfully devoted except as hereinafter provided; nor shall the provisions of this act apply to the erection, installation and use of structures and equipment by public utilities subject to the jurisdiction and regulation of the Corporation Commission of the State of Oklahoma or other similar state or federal regulatory bodies; nor to the erection or use of the usual farm buildings for agricultural purposes, the planting of agricultural crops or the extraction of minerals.

Historical Data

Added by Laws 1972, c. 244, § 11, emerg. eff. April 7, 1972.
Zoning regulations are hereby defined as regulations restricting the height, number of stories and size of buildings, the percentage of lots that may be occupied, the size of yards, courts and other open spaces, the density of population, the location and use of buildings, structures and land for trade, industry, residence, recreation or other purposes. For the purpose of such zoning regulations the unincorporated territory of the county may be divided into districts of such number, shape and area as may be deemed best suited to carry out the purpose of this act and shall be shown upon the zoning plan; and within such district, the erection, construction, reconstruction, alteration or use of buildings, structures or land may be regulated and restricted. All such regulations shall be uniform for each class or kind of buildings or land uses throughout each district, but the regulations in one district may differ from those in other districts. The regulations shall be made in accordance with a comprehensive plan, and they shall give reasonable consideration, among other things, to the existing character of the district and its suitability for practical usage, while conserving the value of buildings and of existing development and encouraging the most appropriate use of land throughout the county.

In formulating the zoning regulations, a survey shall be made of the area to be zoned and information collected concerning the topography of the land, the types of uses to which land and buildings are currently put, the extent of development, the density of population, the public utilities currently available and transportation facilities, and other information pertinent to the formulation of such zoning regulations. In each district created by the zoning regulations there shall be specified a maximum height of buildings, the size of yards, courts and open spaces, the uses of land and buildings permitted and the intensity thereof, and parking requirements for vehicles. All of such requirements shall be reasonable in view of the information obtained in the survey in order that the benefits hereinbefore named shall be secured to the community as a whole.

The classification of the various uses of lands and buildings shall provide separate districts for single family dwellings, two family dwellings, multiple family dwellings, commercial areas devoted to small shops or stores designed to serve limited residential areas, less restrictive business and industrial uses, and unrestricted uses. The height of buildings shall in no event be restricted to less than three (3) stories except in districts limited to one and two family dwellings in which buildings may be limited to a height of two (2) stories. The intensity of use of lands and buildings shall not be limited to less than one family per lot of two (2) acres and the regulation of yards and open spaces shall bear a relationship to the uses of lands and buildings which are permitted in the district. The height limitation and yard requirements of residential districts may be imposed upon a commercial district which is located immediately adjacent to a dwelling district. The parking requirement for vehicles shall bear reasonable relationship to the uses permitted in the district and the physical size and arrangement of streets.

The county planning commission shall make a preliminary report of its recommendations for such zoning regulations and shall hold a public hearing thereon for each township to be affected by the proposed regulations. Such hearings may be adjourned from time to time. Within ninety (90) days after the final adjournment of such hearings the county planning commission shall make its final report together with its proposed zoning regulations and a summary of the results of the public hearings to the board of county commissioners. The board of county commissioners may then adopt the proposed regulation or refer it back to the county planning commission for further consideration. If a written protest against the proposed zoning of any land lying within one and one-half (1 1/2) miles of the limits of any municipality having a zoning ordinance is received from the governing body thereof, the board of county commissioners shall not adopt the proposed zoning regulations of such land except by a record vote of all members and after a statement of the reasons for such action shall be spread upon its minutes or records.

In case of written protest against any proposed amendment, signed and acknowledged by the owners of twenty percent (20%) of the frontage within one thousand (1,000) feet to the right or left of the frontage proposed to be changed, or by the owners of twenty percent (20%) of the frontage directly opposite, or directly in the rear of the frontage proposed to be altered, or, in cases where the land affected lies within one and one-half (1 1/2) miles of the limits of a municipality, by the governing body of the zoned municipality, filed with the county planning commission, such amendment may not be passed except by the favorable vote of all members of the board of county commissioners.

Historical Data

The Attorney General has received your request for an official opinion asking, in effect:
1. Does 61 O.S. 3 (1981) require employees of elected county officers to work an eight-hour workday; and
2. If the answer to the first question is yes, would the same provision necessarily require county officers to maintain office hours of not less than eight hours per workday?

I.

1. Article XXIII, Section 1 of the Oklahoma Constitution provides:

"Hours of labor on public work

"Eight hours shall constitute a day's work in all cases of employment by and on behalf of the State or any county or municipality."

2. The corresponding enabling statutes are found at 61 O.S. 3 / 61 O.S. 4 and 61 O.S. 5 (1981). Section 61 O.S. 3 provides:

"Working day for public employees

"Eight (8) hours shall constitute a day's work for all laborers, workmen, mechanics, prison guards, janitors of public institutions, or other persons now employed or who may hereafter be employed by or on behalf of the state, or by or on behalf of any county, city, township or other municipality, except in cases of extraordinary emergency which may arise in time of war, or in cases where it may be necessary to work more than eight (8) hours per calendar day for the protection of property or human life...."

3. The answer to the first part of your question depends upon a determination of whether elected county officials and their employees are within that class of persons contemplated by the provisions of Okla. Const., Article XXIII, Section 1 and its enabling statutes, 61 O.S. 3 / 61 O.S. 4 and 61 O.S. 5 (1981). This identical issue was addressed by the Oklahoma Supreme Court in White v. Wint, 638 P.2d 1109 (Okl. 1981). In that case, the Supreme Court determined that White, a Biologist I with the Department of Wildlife Conservation, did not occupy the status of the persons enumerated in Okla. Const., Article XXIII, Section 1 and 61 O.S. 3 / 61 O.S. 4 and 61 O.S. 5. In explaining the determination thus made, the Supreme Court stated:
"The provisions of Title 61, Sections 3 and 4 relate to 'laborers, workmen, mechanics, prison guards, janitors of public institutions, or other persons now employed . . . by . . . the State.' As evidenced there is an enumeration of specific words constituting a class which is not exhausted by the enumeration and which is followed by a general reference ('or other persons'). In such a situation, 'the meaning of the general words will be ordinarily presumed to be restricted by the particular designation [of subjects or classes of persons enumerated in the statute] and to include only things or persons of the same kind, class,'or nature as those specifically enumerated, unless there is a clear manifestation of a contrary purpose.' Walton v. Donnelly, 83 Okl. 233, 235, 201 P. 367, 369 (1921)." 638 P.2d at 1114.

¶4 Therefore, the phrase "other persons now employed" (61 O.S. 3 (1981)) is restricted and described by the terms, "laborers, workmen, mechanics, prison guards, and janitors of public institutions," and does not operate to expand this restricted class of persons to "every" employee of the State.

¶5 It was further determined in White v. Wint, supra, that "[t]he protection of the health and welfare of persons employed to perform manual labor requiring great physical effort" constitutes the purpose for which the provisions of Okla. Const., Article XXIII, Section 1 and its enabling statutes were enacted. It was recognized as early as 1909 that the manifest purpose of Okla. Const., Article XXIII, Section 1 was to promote the industrial welfare of the people by fixing a high standard for employees on public works. Byars v. State, 102 P.804 (Okl.1909). The purpose of the foregoing constitutional and statutory provisions was to place a limitation upon the number of hours worked by that particular class of employees, and in no manner constitutes a requirement as to the number of hours which must be worked.

¶6 The duties and responsibilities of county officers and their employees, though they may be at times physically demanding, are not analogous to those of "laborers, workmen, mechanics, prison guards" and janitors of public institutions." County officers and their employees are not therefore subject to the potential abuse contemplated in the employment situations listed in the statutes. White v. Wint, supra.

¶7 The answer to the first part of your question must therefore be in the negative. The provisions of 61 O.S. 3 (1981) (Okla. Const., Article XXIII, Section 1) do not require that employees of elected county officials work an eight-hour day.

¶8 The second part of your question must likewise be answered in the negative initially for the reasons previously noted, but additionally, because a plain reading of the provisions of Okla. Const., Article XXIII, Section 1 and 61 O.S. 3 / 61 O.S. 4 and 61 O.S. 5 (1981) do not, directly or implicitly, dictate or regulate the office hours of any public officer. The intent of the Legislature must appear from the language of the Act itself, either expressly or by implication. Meaning cannot otherwise be given to an Act unless provided for somewhere therein by its terms. Lingo-Leeper Lumber Co. v. Carter, 17 P.2d 365 (Okl. 1932).
II.

¶9 Our inquiry does not end here, however, for while our research has revealed no constitutional or statutory authority which imposes upon county officers the duty to maintain specific daily office hours, there is some authority that county officers must keep their offices open for the benefit of the public "during all business hours of the day."

¶10 Title 51 O.S. 24 (1981) provides that:

"It is hereby made the duty of every public official of the State of Oklahoma, and of its subdivisions, who are required by law to keep public records pertaining to their said offices, to keep the same open for public inspection for proper purposes, at proper times and in proper manner, to the citizens and taxpayers of this state, and its subdivisions, during all business hours of the day; provided, however, the provisions of this act shall not apply to income tax returns filed with the Oklahoma Tax Commission, or other records required by law to be kept secret." (Emphasis added).

¶11 The Legislature has defined "record" at 67 O.S. 153(b) (1981) as follows:

"Record means document, book, paper, photograph, microfilm, sound recording, or other material, regardless of physical form or characteristics, made or received pursuant to law or ordinance or in connection with the transaction of official business but does not include library and museum material made or received solely for reference or exhibition purposes."

¶12 The officers defined as "county officers" are provided for in 19 O.S. 161(1) (1981) which provides:

"As used in this act:

"1. 'County Officer' means the county clerk, county commissioner, county assessor, county superintendent of schools, district court clerk, county treasurer and county sheriff...."

¶13 All of these county officers are obligated to prepare, maintain, safeguard and keep some kinds of "records." 51 O.S. 24 (1981). County clerks have numerous duties to prepare, file and maintain various records, 19 O.S. 244 - 19 O.S. 300 (1991), the most widely known of which is to index, file and record property records of the county. 19 O.S. 284 - 19 O.S. 300 (1981). County commissioners must keep records of their orders and decisions, 19 O.S. 333 (1981), and must further maintain records of warrants denied, paid, cancelled or destroyed. 19 O.S. 335 - 19 O.S. 337. The county sheriff must maintain and keep certain jail records. 57 O.S. 48 / 57 O.S. 61 - 57 O.S. 63 (1981). County treasurers are entrusted with various recordkeeping duties pertinent to the official business of that office, including receipt and disbursement of monies utilized by the county. 19 O.S. 625 (1981), et seq. The county assessor must prepare and keep a "land identifying all real estate in the county, 68 O.S. 2470 (1981), for tax assessment and collection purposes. County superintendents of schools are required to keep records of teacher's certificates, their official acts and statistical and financial reports. 70 O.S. 4-104 (1981). District court clerks are charged with recording duties relating to the court fund, 20 O.S. 1307 (1981), deposit of monies, 19 O.S. 681 (1981), assignment of cases, 20 O.S. 91.2 (1981), and many others.

 ¶14 This list, of course, is far from exhaustive, but it is clear that every county officer maintains some type or types of "records" pursuant to the duties as county officer. 51 O.S. 24 (1981).

 ¶15 The purpose of public recordkeeping statutes is to enable the public to have access to the records of a public office. In addition, such statutes have the intended purpose of allowing individuals to use such records for their private purposes, such as engaging in the business of abstracting. 1 O.S. §§ 1-14.

 ¶16 The Oklahoma Supreme Court, in recognizing the above principles, has had an occasion to construe the phrase "regular business hours" in State ex rel. Cartwright v. Oklahoma Industries Authority, 629 P.2d 1244 (Okl. 1981).

 ¶17 Among many issues decided by that case relating to public officers, trusts and recordkeeping duties, the Supreme Court interpreted the phrases "all business hours," citing 51 O.S. 24 (1981), supra, and "regular business hours" as provided in 60 O.S. 178(D) (1981) relating to public trusts. Section 178(D) of Title 60 provides in pertinent part:

 "... Records of the trust and minutes of the trust meetings of any public trust shall be written and kept in a place, the location of which shall be recorded in the office of the county clerk of each county, wherein the trust instrument shall be recorded. Such records and minutes shall be available for inspection by any person during regular business hours...."

 ¶18 In interpreting these phrases, the Oklahoma Supreme Court adopted the construction of a similar federal rule which provided that the clerk's office be open "during business hours." State ex rel. Cartwright v. Oklahoma Industries Authority, supra, at 1251:

 "The term "business hours" is not defined in the rule. In its natural sense, the term means those hours during which persons in the community generally keep their places open for the transaction of business." (quoting Casalduc v. Diaz, 117 F.2d 915, 916 (1st Cir. 1941)).

 ¶19 Thereafter, the Court made the following specific holding at 629 P.2d 1251:

 "Accordingly, we hold that the phrase 'regular business hours' means those hours during which persons in the community keep similar businesses open for the transaction of business."
"[W]e think it appropriate that the term 'regular business hours' of such Trust be dictated by the 'regular business hours' of most State offices. As is commonly known, most State offices are not open on the weekend and on State holidays, but are open on week-day mornings and afternoons for approximately eight hours. This being the case, we hold that the phrase 'regular business hours', as used in 60 O.S. 178 (1976), requires a public trust to make its records available for public inspection on week-day mornings and afternoons." (Emphasis added).

¶20 It is, therefore, the official opinion of the Attorney General that:
1. Neither the provisions of Okla. Const., Article XXIII , Section 1, nor the enabling statutes, 61 O.S. 3 / 61 O.S. 4 and 61 O.S. 5 (1981) require employees of elected county officers to work an eight-hour workday, nor do they require elected county officers to maintain office hours of not less than eight hours per workday.
2. Elected county officers, as defined in 19 O.S. 161 (1981), in performing recordkeeping duties, are required by the provisions of 51 O.S. 24 (1981) to make their records available to the public on weekday mornings and afternoons, excluding holidays, for approximately eight hours.

ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL
Title 62. Public Finance
Chapter 5B § 695.25
Private Activity Bond Allocation Act
Maximum Total Volume of Private Activity Bonds - Notice Specifying Amount of State Ceiling for Calendar Year - Applications

This Statute Will Go Into Effect
On: 01/01/2005
See Historical Data for Current Version

A. On January 1 of each calendar year or the first business day thereafter, the State Bond Advisor shall determine the maximum total volume of private activity bonds that may be issued pursuant to federal law by the state during that year.

B. On or before February 15 of each calendar year, the State Bond Advisor shall cause to be published in The Oklahoma Register, or any successor publication, a notice specifying the amount of the state ceiling for the calendar year.

C. Allocations from the pools set forth in Section 695.24 of this title will be processed on the basis of the chronological order of receipt of completed applications for state ceiling allocation unless otherwise provided in said section, and on the basis of the information and provisions set forth in subsections D, E, F, G and H of this section. Allocations from the Consolidated Pool will be processed on the basis of the system set out in subsection I M of Section 695.24 of this title and on the basis of information and provisions set forth in subsections D, E, F, G and H of this section.

D. An issuer which proposes to issue private activity bonds for a specific project or purpose shall make application for an allocation of a portion of the state ceiling for the particular project or purpose by submitting to the State Bond Advisor an application for state ceiling allocation together with copies of the following:

1. A certified copy of the resolution or other action adopted by the issuer for the purpose of taking "official action" as required by the Treasury Regulations relating to Section 103 of the Internal Revenue Code, if the issuer of private activity bonds for which the allocation is requested requires "official action" under applicable Treasury Regulations and the Internal Revenue Code; and

2. A final resolution of the beneficiary of the issuer evidencing its approval of the issuance of the issuer's obligations, if the issuer is a municipal or county public trust, or a certificate signed by the Governor of the state evidencing his approval of the issuance of the issuer's obligations, to the extent required under the Internal Revenue Code, if the issuer is a public trust having the state as its beneficiary.

E. The application for state ceiling allocation shall contain the following information:

1. The name and mailing address of the issuer, the beneficiary and jurisdiction thereof, the name of the presiding officer of the issuer and the respective pool from which an allocation is requested;

2. The name and mailing address or other definitive description of the location of the project or bonds and the purpose for which an allocation of the state ceiling is requested, the name and mailing address of both the initial owner or operator of the project, where applicable, and an appropriate person from whom information regarding the project or bonds can be obtained, and the name and address of the person to whom the confirmation should be sent;

3. The amount of the state ceiling which the Issuer is requesting;

4. A statement of bond counsel for the issuer that the proposed issue requires, pursuant to Section 103, Section 146 or such other applicable sections of the Internal Revenue Code, an allocation of a portion of the state ceiling; and

5. Where applicable, the intention to exchange single-family mortgage bond authority for mortgage credit certificates.

F. 1. Applications for single-family mortgage bonds or mortgage credit certificate programs shall also include the submission of information demonstrating a reasonable expectation to use an allocation of the state ceiling for its intended purpose. This information shall include historical usage of mortgage revenue bond proceeds or mortgage credit certificates in the geographic area subject to an application over the previous twenty-four-month period and the impact of known or possible competing programs that would act to reduce demand. This information may also include demand surveys. Provided, in cases where historical usage cannot be documented, demand surveys shall be included with an application.

2. Applications for qualified student loan bonds shall also include the submission of information showing a reasonable expectation to use the state ceiling for its intended purpose. This information shall include historical lending activity over the previous twenty-four-month period as well as a demonstration of need based upon such factors as increased enrollment costs, enrollment increases, or new federal regulations that act to increase demand by making changes to eligibility requirements to certain federally guaranteed or subsidized student loan programs. This information may also include demand surveys. Provided, in cases where historical usage cannot be documented, demand surveys shall be included with an application.
3. Applications shall also include evidence of a structure to deliver the financing derived from single-family mortgage bond proceeds or mortgage credit certificates or from qualified student loan bond proceeds to ultimate users, particularly the extent of lender participation in the case of mortgage revenue bonds or mortgage credit certificate programs.

G. 1. Upon receipt of the completed application for state ceiling allocation, copies of the official action and final resolutions or certificates as required by subsection D of this section and the information required by subsections E and F of this section and assuming availability of the sum requested and compliance with the Oklahoma Private Activity Bond Allocation Act, the State Bond Advisor shall send, within five (5) business days of the receipt thereof, a confirmation of the allocation of the state ceiling for the subject project or purpose to the person designated in the application for state ceiling allocation. Provided, the State Bond Advisor may reject an application or deny a confirmation pursuant to the provisions of this subsection.

2. The State Bond Advisor may reject any application which is incomplete or filed with insufficient information. The State Bond Advisor may reject any application where, in the State Bond Advisor’s judgment, a reasonable likelihood has not been shown that single-family mortgage and student loan bond proceeds or mortgage credit certificates will be used for their intended public purposes. In the event an application or confirmation is denied, within five (5) business days following such denial, the State Bond Advisor shall send the applicant written notice of the denial of an application or confirmation together with the reason or reasons therefor. In the case of disapprovals of applications or confirmations, an applicant may appeal the disapproval by submitting a new application to the Council of Bond Oversight, along with an explanation addressing the reasons for disapproval cited in the State Bond Advisor’s letter. The Council of Bond Oversight, through affirmative action of the Council, may accept an application rejected by the State Bond Advisor, or order the State Bond Advisor to issue a confirmation of allocation, subject to provisions of the Oklahoma Private Activity Bond Allocation Act. Applicants may submit only one new application based on an appeal of any specific application previously submitted.

3. Only complete applications, as determined by the State Bond Advisor, shall be used to establish the chronological order of applications. In the case of a new application submitted based on an appeal, chronological order shall be established at the time the new application is submitted.

H. An original confirmation shall cease to be effective to assure allocation of any portion of the state ceiling unless the bonds, notes, other evidences of indebtedness, or the appropriate election filed with the Internal Revenue Service exchanging mortgage bond authority for mortgage credit certificate authority have been issued or filed within one hundred twenty (120) days after the date of such confirmation. No extensions shall be granted. Such issuance shall be evidenced by the mailing, transmittal or delivery of a final certification to the State Bond Advisor within the time specified by this subsection. Receipt by an issuer of a confirmation as contemplated by this section shall entitle the issuer to rely conclusively upon the accuracy of the State Bond Advisor’s mathematical calculation and the allocation for purposes of closing.

I. The confirmation given in advance of bond issuance or mortgage credit certificate election will assure allocation for only the amount of such bonds or mortgage credit certificate authority as is therein set forth, unless a supplementary application for state ceiling allocation for an increase in amount is filed with and a supplementary confirmation is issued by the State Bond Advisor for such requested allocation prior to such bond issuance or such election, pursuant to the Oklahoma Private Activity Bond Allocation Act. The supplementary confirmation shall be effective for the same period as the prior confirmation which it supplements. Provided, however, no supplementary confirmation shall be effective to preempt any intervening confirmation as to allocation of a portion of the state ceiling.

J. Notwithstanding the provisions of this section, all confirmation dates for an issue of private activity bonds or mortgage credit certificate programs expire on December 20 of each calendar year. Final certification of issuance shall be delivered to the State Bond Advisor by 9:00 a.m. on December 20 of each calendar year.

K. On or after 9:00 a.m. on December 20 of each calendar year, issuing authorities may apply to the State Bond Advisor to carry forward a portion of the state ceiling for such calendar year allocated to any qualified carryforward project, as said term is used in Section 103(n)(10) and 146(f) of the Internal Revenue Code and which shall be evidenced by the issuance of confirmations for all carryforward projects within the limitations of the state ceiling. Provided, issuers or projects with more than Twenty Million Dollars ($20,000,000.00) of carryforward outstanding as of the date of the application for carryforward shall only be eligible for carryforward allocations to the extent other issuers with less than Twenty Million Dollars ($20,000,000.00) of outstanding carryforward authority do not fully commit the state ceiling. Allocations on carryforward projects shall be processed on the basis of the chronological receipt of applications. No portion of the state ceiling carried forward for any given year may be carried forward for a period in excess of three (3) calendar years following the calendar year in which the carryforward arose, except as otherwise permitted under federal law.

L. The State Bond Advisor shall maintain continuous and cumulative records which shall include a list and cumulative dollar total of the private activity bonds for which:

1. Private activity bonds have been issued or state ceiling exchanged for mortgage credit certificate authority and final certifications have been received by the State Bond Advisor;

2. Confirmations of carryforward have been issued; and

3. Confirmations in effect and outstanding for which no private activity bonds or mortgage credit certificate elections have been issued or filed.
The State Bond Advisor shall keep continuous and cumulative records and totals for each of the categories specified in paragraphs 1, 2 and 3 of this subsection as well as the aggregate total of all categories. The State Bond Advisor shall not give further confirmations at such time as the aggregate amount of bonds, other indebtedness, carryforward or mortgage credit certificate elections specified by paragraphs 1, 2 and 3 of this subsection equals the state ceiling authorized for the applicable year. The State Bond Advisor shall not award a confirmation if such award would cause indebtedness, carryforward or elections as specified by paragraphs 1, 2 and 3 of this subsection to exceed the state ceiling. Confirmation records shall be compiled and furnished to any local issuer and state issuer upon written request and payment of a fee of Fifteen Dollars ($15.00) which shall be apportioned to the General Revenue Fund. Upon issuance of a confirmation, the amounts of the proposed bond issue, mortgage credit certificate election and carryforward confirmation shall be included in the continuing, mathematical calculation, until the same shall have been terminated in accordance with this section.

M. The person signing any confirmation for any allocations granted pursuant to the Oklahoma Private Activity Bond Allocation Act shall certify under penalty of perjury that such allocation was not made in consideration of any bribe, gift, gratuity or direct or indirect contribution to any political campaign.

N. A state or local issuer, who intentionally over issues mortgage credit certificates or bonds, shall be prohibited from making application for an allocation of the state ceiling for any purpose for a period of three (3) years following discovery of such over issuance.

Historical Data

The municipal governing body may, after the expiration of thirty (30) days from the publication of the assessing ordinance, within which period the whole of any assessment may be paid without interest, provide by resolution for the issuance of bonds to pay all or any part of the cost of the street improvement. The bonds shall be payable on or before the first of October next succeeding the September 1 on which the last installment of assessments shall mature. The interest on the bonds shall be at the rate of not to exceed twelve percent (12%) per annum, payable on October 1 following the due date of the first installment of assessments, and semiannually thereafter, until maturity, and fifteen percent (15%) per annum after maturity. The county purchasing agent shall either request the Purchasing Division of the Department of Central Services to make the purchase for the county or solicit bids for unit prices on the items for periods of not to exceed twelve (12) months in the manner described in paragraph 2 of this subsection. If the county purchasing agent receives a requisition for an item for which the county purchasing agent does not have a current bid, the county purchasing agent shall request from the Purchasing Division of the Department of Central Services all contracts quoting the price the state is paying for the item. The county purchasing agent shall either request the Purchasing Division of the Department of Central Services to make the purchase for the county or solicit bids in the manner described in paragraph 2 of this subsection. 2. A final resolution of the beneficiary of the issuer evidencing its approval of the issuance of the issuer's obligations, if the issuer is a municipal or county public trust, or a certificate signed by the Governor of the state evidencing his approval of the issuance of the issuer's obligations, to the extent required under the Internal Revenue Code, if the issuer is a public trust having the state as its beneficiary.

E. The application for state ceiling allocation shall contain the following information:

1. The name and mailing address of the issuer, the beneficiary and jurisdiction thereof, the name of the presiding officer of the issuer and the respective pool from which an allocation is requested;

2. The name and mailing address or other definitive description of the location of the project or bonds and the purpose for which an allocation of the state ceiling is requested, the name and mailing address of both the initial owner or operator of the project, where applicable, and an appropriate person from whom information regarding the project or bonds can be obtained, and the name and address of the person to whom the confirmation should be sent;

3. The amount of the state ceiling which the Issuer is requesting;

4. A statement of bond counsel for the issuer that the proposed issue requires, pursuant to Section 103, Section 146 or such other applicable sections of the Internal Revenue Code, an allocation of a portion of the state ceiling; and

5. Where applicable, the intention to exchange single-family mortgage bond authority for mortgage credit certificates.

F. 1. Applications for single-family mortgage bonds or mortgage credit certificate programs shall also include the submission of information demonstrating a reasonable expectation to use an allocation of the state ceiling for its intended purpose. This information shall include historical usage of mortgage revenue bond proceeds or mortgage credit certificates in the geographic area subject to an application over the previous twenty-four-month period and the impact of known or possible competing programs that would act to reduce demand. This information may also include demand surveys. Provided, in cases where historical usage cannot be documented, demand surveys shall be included with an application.

2. Applications for qualified student loan bonds shall also include the submission of information showing a reasonable expectation to use the state ceiling for its intended purpose. This information shall include historical lending activity over the previous twenty-four-month period as well as a demonstration of need based upon such factors as increased enrollment costs, enrollment increases, or new federal regulations that act to increase demand by making changes to eligibility requirements to certain federally guaranteed or subsidized student loan programs. This information may also include demand surveys. Provided, in cases where historical usage cannot be documented, demand surveys shall be included with an application.
3. Applications shall also include evidence of a structure to deliver the financing derived from single-family mortgage bond proceeds or mortgage credit certificates or from qualified student loan bond proceeds to ultimate users, particularly the extent of lender participation in the case of mortgage revenue bonds or mortgage credit certificate programs.

G. 1. Upon receipt of the completed application for state ceiling allocation, copies of the official action and final resolutions or certificates as required by subsection D of this section and the information required by subsections E and F of this section and assuming availability of the sum requested and compliance with the Oklahoma Private Activity Bond Allocation Act, the State Bond Advisor shall send, within five (5) business days of the receipt thereof, a confirmation of the allocation of the state ceiling for the subject project or purpose to the person designated in the application for state ceiling allocation. Provided, the State Bond Advisor may reject an application or deny a confirmation pursuant to the provisions of this subsection.

2. The State Bond Advisor may reject any application which is incomplete or filed with insufficient information. The State Bond Advisor may reject any application where, in the State Bond Advisor's judgment, a reasonable likelihood has not been shown that single-family mortgage and student loan bond proceeds or mortgage credit certificates will be used for their intended public purposes. In the event an application or confirmation is denied, within five (5) business days following such denial, the State Bond Advisor shall send the applicant written notice of the denial of an application or confirmation together with the reason or reasons therefor. In the case of disapprovals of applications or confirmations, an applicant may appeal the disapproval by submitting a new application to the Council of Bond Oversight, along with an explanation addressing the reasons for disapproval cited in the State Bond Advisor's letter. The Council of Bond Oversight, through affirmative action of the Council, may accept an application rejected by the State Bond Advisor, or order the State Bond Advisor to issue a confirmation of allocation, subject to provisions of the Oklahoma Private Activity Bond Allocation Act. Applicants may submit only one new application based on an appeal of any specific application previously submitted.

3. Only complete applications, as determined by the State Bond Advisor, shall be used to establish the chronological order of applications. In the case of a new application submitted based on an appeal, chronological order shall be established at the time the new application is submitted.

H. An original confirmation shall cease to be effective to assure allocation of any portion of the state ceiling unless the bonds, notes, other evidences of indebtedness, or the appropriate election filed with the Internal Revenue Service exchanging mortgage bond authority for mortgage credit certificate authority have been issued or filed within one hundred twenty (120) days after the date of such confirmation. No extensions shall be granted. Such issuance shall be evidenced by the mailing, transmittal or delivery of a final certification to the State Bond Advisor within the time specified by this subsection. Receipt by an issuer of a confirmation as contemplated by this section shall entitle the issuer to rely conclusively upon the accuracy of the State Bond Advisor's mathematical calculation and the allocation for purposes of closing.

I. The confirmation given in advance of bond issuance or mortgage credit certificate election will assure allocation for only the amount of such bonds or mortgage credit certificate authority as is therein set forth, unless a supplementary application for state ceiling allocation for an increase in amount is filed with and a supplementary confirmation is issued by the State Bond Advisor for such requested allocation prior to such bond issuance or such election, pursuant to the Oklahoma Private Activity Bond Allocation Act. The supplementary confirmation shall be effective for the same period as the prior confirmation which it supplements. Provided, however, no supplementary confirmation shall be effective to preempt any intervening confirmation as to allocation of a portion of the state ceiling.

J. Notwithstanding the provisions of this section, all confirmation dates for an issue of private activity bonds or mortgage credit certificate programs expire on December 20 of each calendar year. Final certification of issuance shall be delivered to the State Bond Advisor by 9:00 a.m. on December 20 of each calendar year.

K. On or after 9:00 a.m. on December 20 of each calendar year, issuing authorities may apply to the State Bond Advisor to carry forward a portion of the state ceiling for such calendar year allocated to any qualified carryforward project, as said term is used in Section 103(n)(10) and 146(f) of the Internal Revenue Code and which shall be evidenced by the issuance of confirmations for all carryforward projects within the limitations of the state ceiling. Provided, issuers or projects with more than Twenty Million Dollars ($20,000,000.00) of carryforward outstanding as of the date of the application for carryforward shall only be eligible for carryforward allocations to the extent other issuers with less than Twenty Million Dollars ($20,000,000.00) of outstanding carryforward authority do not fully commit the state ceiling. Allocations on carryforward projects shall be processed on the basis of the chronological receipt of applications. No portion of the state ceiling carried forward for any given year may be carried forward for a period in excess of three (3) calendar years following the calendar year in which the carryforward arose, except as otherwise permitted under federal law.

L. The State Bond Advisor shall maintain continuous and cumulative records which shall include a list and cumulative dollar total of the private activity bonds for which:

1. Private activity bonds have been issued or state ceiling exchanged for mortgage credit certificate authority and final certifications have been received by the State Bond Advisor;

2. Confirmations of carryforward have been issued; and

3. Confirmations in effect and outstanding for which no private activity bonds or mortgage credit certificate elections have been issued or filed.
The State Bond Advisor shall keep continuous and cumulative records and totals for each of the categories specified in paragraphs 1, 2 and 3 of this subsection as well as the aggregate total of all categories. The State Bond Advisor shall not give further confirmations at such time as the aggregate amount of bonds, other indebtedness, carryforward or mortgage credit certificate elections specified by paragraphs 1, 2 and 3 of this subsection equals the state ceiling authorized for the applicable year. The State Bond Advisor shall not award a confirmation if such award would cause indebtedness, carryforward or elections as specified by paragraphs 1, 2 and 3 of this subsection to exceed the state ceiling. Confirmation records shall be compiled and furnished to any local issuer and state issuer upon written request and payment of a fee of Fifteen Dollars ($15.00) which shall be apportioned to the General Revenue Fund. Upon issuance of a confirmation, the amounts of the proposed bond issue, mortgage credit certificate election and carryforward confirmation shall be included in the continuing, mathematical calculation, until the same shall have been terminated in accordance with this section.

M. The person signing any confirmation for any allocations granted pursuant to the Oklahoma Private Activity Bond Allocation Act shall certify under penalty of perjury that such allocation was not made in consideration of any bribe, gift, gratuity or direct or indirect contribution to any political campaign.

N. A state or local issuer, who intentionally over issues mortgage credit certificates or bonds, shall be prohibited from making application for an allocation of the state ceiling for any purpose for a period of three (3) years following discovery of such over issuance.

(a) Recognizing that safe and efficient highway transportation is a matter of important interest to all the people in the state, the Legislature hereby determines and declares that an integrated system of roads and highways is essential to the general welfare of the State of Oklahoma.

(b) The provision of such a system of facilities, and its efficient management, operation and control, are recognized as urgent problems, and as the proper objectives of highway legislation.

(d) In designating the highway systems of this state, as hereinafter provided, the Legislature places a high degree of trust in the hands of those officials whose duty it shall be, within the limits of available funds, to plan, develop, operate, maintain and protect the highway facilities of this state, for present as well as for future use.

(e) To this end, it is the intent of the Legislature to make the State Highway Commission and its Director, and the Department of Highways of the State of Oklahoma acting through the Commission, custodian of the State Highway System and to provide sufficiently broad authority to enable the Commission and the Department to function adequately and efficiently in all areas of appropriate jurisdiction, subject to the limitations of the Constitution and the legislative mandate hereinafter imposed.

(f) The Legislature intends to declare, in general terms, the powers and duties of the Commission and its Director, leaving specific details to be determined by reasonable rules, regulations and policies which may be promulgated by the Commission. In short, the Legislature intends by a general grant of authority to the Commission to delegate sufficient power and authority to enable the Commission and the Department to carry out the broad objectives stated above.

(g) It is the further intent of the Legislature to bestow upon the boards of county commissioners similar authority with respect to the county highway system. The efficient management, operation and control of our county roads and other public thoroughfares are likewise a matter of vital public interest. The problem of establishing and maintaining adequate roads and highways, eliminating congestion, reducing accident frequency, providing parking facilities and taking all necessary steps to ensure safe and convenient transportation on these public ways is no less urgent.

(h) While it is necessary to fix responsibilities for the location, design, construction, maintenance and operation of the several systems of highways, it is intended that the State of Oklahoma shall have an integrated system of all roads, highways and streets to provide safe and efficient highway transportation throughout the state. The authority hereinafter granted to the Commission and to counties and municipalities to assist and cooperate with each other and to coordinate their activities is therefore essential.

(i) The Legislature hereby determines and declares that this Code is necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety, for promotion of the general welfare, and as a contribution to the national defense.

The Commission, on or before the first day of June of each year, shall certify to the Oklahoma Tax Commission the county road mileage of each county and the total county road mileage of the state as such mileage existed on the first day of January of such year. Such mileage shall be the computation of the existing road mileage for counties including any mileage represented by streets or roads in municipalities with a population of less than two thousand five hundred (2,500) and any other streets and roads in municipalities with a population of less than five thousand (5,000) that the county has agreed to construct, maintain, or repair. Any roads removed from the State Highway System by the Transportation Commission and returned to the county road system shall be added to the total county road mileage of the said county.

Historical Data

A. The county highway system shall be composed of all public roads within any county, less any part of any road or roads which may be designated as a state highway by the State Transportation Commission. It shall be the duty of the board of county commissioners in each county to construct and maintain as county highways those roads which best serve the most people of the county. For this purpose the board of county commissioners is authorized to use any funds which are in the county highway fund, subject to statutory restrictions on the use of any of such funds, together with any money or item of value derived from any agreement entered into between the county and the Transportation Commission, the federal government, this state, any other county or political subdivision of this state or other governmental entity, or any citizen or group of citizens who have made donations for that purpose. Short Title.

This act shall be known and may be cited as the "County Bridge and Road Improvement Act".

Historical Data
A. There is hereby created within the Department of Transportation a county road branch. Such office shall administer the provisions of the County Bridge and Road Improvement Act. In addition, the county road branch shall assume all the duties currently assigned to the local government coordination branch and any personnel assigned to that branch may continue to serve in the county road branch, along with any additionally authorized personnel.

B. There is hereby created within each field division of the Department, an office to be known as the county road engineering unit. The position of county road engineer shall be established in each such unit. There shall also be assigned to each such unit not more than two associate engineers, who shall assist the county road engineer. Such employees shall be considered a part of the county road branch of the Department and shall be responsible for the administration of the provisions of the County Bridge and Road Improvement Act.

It shall be the duty of such units to coordinate all local road or bridge programs administered by the Department as provided for in the County Bridge and Road Improvement Act and to assist local governmental units or their designated engineers in the selection, preparation and construction of the projects involved in these programs and to act as liaison between all persons and organizations involved in local road and bridge programs.

Historical Data

The Department of Transportation is hereby authorized to develop a complete set of county bridge standards, including standards for demonstration bridge projects and standards for county bridges with low average daily traffic volumes as defined by the latest published version of the County Roads Design Guidelines Manual. Such standards shall be developed under the direction of the Bridge Division of the Department and prior to implementation shall be approved by the State Association of County Commissioners and the Transportation Commission. Such standards shall be furnished without cost to local units of government. Engineering for projects authorized pursuant to the County Bridge and Road Improvement Act may be provided by the Department of Transportation at the request of a county. The cost to the Department for such engineering shall be charged to the project. Monies received by the county pursuant to the County Bridge and Road Improvement Act, Section 657 et seq. of this title, may be used for purposes of obtaining engineering services. Only registered professional engineers, approved by the Department, experienced in the design and construction of highway and related facilities, shall be used for such services. Counties acquiring engineering services as provided for in this section shall require the engineers providing such services to execute professional service contracts which include a requirement that the engineer shall maintain an adequate policy of professional liability insurance.

Bridge Replacement Or Repair Projects - Funding.

Cite as: O.S. §, __ __

A. The Local Government Division of the Department of Transportation shall immediately establish a program to aid counties in replacing or reconstructing bridges and roads. The bridges and roads to be replaced or reconstructed shall be those that are structurally inadequate, functionally obsolete or have been destroyed or rendered unusable.

B. Funds made available for the purposes of the County Bridge and Road Improvement Act may be used to pay the cost of county bridge inspections, classifications, and evaluations, and county road inspections, classifications, and evaluations for federal and state purposes and to match federal or state funds, provided the applicable federal or state funds are available.

C. Except as otherwise specified in this act, the county collector system, including any future revisions thereto, shall constitute the system of roads wherein the bridges and roads are located that are eligible for project funding under this act. Official maps showing the county collector system in each county shall be maintained on file by the Department of Transportation and shall be furnished each county at no cost.

D. The Department of Transportation may approve the utilization of up to ninety percent (90%) of the estimated four-year apportionment to the county for county projects. However, no additional projects may be approved for the county until the county has accumulated a surplus of three (3) months of apportionments and repaid all funds advanced from the State Highway Construction and Maintenance Fund.

Historical Data

A. While the legislative intent of the County Bridge and Road Improvement Act is to replace or reconstruct structurally obsolete bridges and roads on the county collector system, it is recognized that specific conditions may exist in a county justifying the need to reconstruct or replace a bridge or a road on a road section not included in the county collector system. In such specific instance, the Oklahoma Department of Transportation may approve a project not on the county collector system. Justification for such projects shall include use of the bridge or road for school bus routes, mail routes, heavy and extensive industrial or agricultural operations, or such other unique purposes as may be acceptable to the Department of Transportation. However, in all instances projects located on school bus routes shall have priority on funds provided for the implementation of this act. Right-of-way acquisition and utility relocation shall be the responsibility of the county in which the project is located. Monies received by counties pursuant to the County Bridge and Road Improvement Act may be used for right-of-way acquisition and utility relocation.

B. When a county receives monies pursuant to the County Bridge and Road Improvement Act, a county shall give priority to reconstructing, replacing, or closing those bridges in the county that are rated less than three (3) tons or fifteen (15) tons or less for those bridges on school bus routes. Each county shall submit to the Department of Transportation a plan to reconstruct, replace, or close the types of bridges specified in this subsection within the county before January 1 of each year. Bridge and road replacement or reconstruction projects shall be selected by the individual boards of county commissioners with the concurrence of the Department of Transportation and shall be based on a countywide assessment of bridge and road reconstruction and replacement needs. Each request for project funds will be transmitted to the Department of Transportation in the form of an official programming resolution bearing the signatures of a majority of the county commissioners. Where more than one project is programmed in a single county, the board of county commissioners shall designate the priority in which it wishes the projects to be undertaken.

C. These funds shall be apportioned among the various counties by the Transportation Commission on an equitable basis consistent with the identifiable bridge and road needs on the collector system in each county.

D. On or before July 1 of each year, the Department of Transportation shall review the County Bridge and Road Program in each county. Said review shall examine the status of all programmed projects, funds carried over from previous fiscal year allocations, and funds anticipated to be available from future allocations. The purpose of the review is to estimate the rate of County Bridge and Road Fund utilization by the various counties and to assess the progress of the County Bridge and Road Program throughout the state.

Historical Data

A. The program and funds shall be administered by the Oklahoma Department of Transportation under a minimum of policies, guidelines and engineering design standards. Approved projects will be awarded to contractors by the State Transportation Commission or by other federal or state agencies under their normal competitive bidding procedures, excluding prequalification of bidders. Force account road projects may be approved for a county by the Transportation Commission. No force account county bridge project shall be reimbursed in excess of One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000.00). No county road project in excess of Two Hundred Thousand Dollars ($200,000.00), excluding the cost for engineering, right-of-way acquisition, and utility relocation, in cost shall be done by the force account method.

B. Funds available for the County Bridge and Road Improvement Act shall not be subject to fiscal year limitations and shall be available for encumbrance and expenditure purposes for a period of thirty (30) months from the effective date such funds are appropriated.

C. In order to receive reimbursement for constructing a force account bridge, a county shall have sufficient funds in the County Bridge and Road Improvement Fund to pay the reimbursement request cost. Upon completion of a force account bridge, the board of county commissioners shall request an inspection of the bridge in accordance with the criteria set forth by the National Bridge Inventory Program.

D. When the force account bridge has been inspected and achieves a load rating of H. twenty (20) tons or greater, the board of county commissioners may submit a request for reimbursement to the Department of Transportation. The county shall receive reimbursement for all costs claimed relating to the construction of the bridge provided the inspection report indicates that the county has met or exceeded the criteria set forth in this section. The resolution for reimbursement submitted by the board of county commissioners shall serve to satisfy the requirements of Section 41.16 of Title 62 of the Oklahoma Statutes. County force account bridges eligible for reimbursement from the County Bridge and Road Improvement Fund shall meet or exceed the following criteria:

1. The bridge has been built according to the current edition of the County Bridge Standards manual or from field notes drawn by a registered professional engineer that provide the basic structural requirements to achieve a load rating of H. twenty (20) tons or greater. Field notes may be handwritten specifications or sketches which have been stamped or signed;

2. The finished bridge shall achieve a twenty-ton or greater rating. The rating criteria shall be determined by the National Bridge Inventory and approved by the Department of Transportation for bridges twenty (20) feet or more in length;

3. The subsurface foundation of the bridge shall meet the minimum guidelines established by using approved engineering methods, details of which shall be kept as shop notes;

4. The finished bridge shall have a minimum roadway width of twenty-four (24) feet; and

5. Materials used in the construction of the bridge shall meet or exceed the specifications for materials as specified in the current edition of the County Bridge Standards or certified in writing by the engineer or supplier.

E. Monies from the County Bridge and Road Improvement Fund may be used to establish minimum standards for guardrail applications on low-traffic-volume county roads. The board of directors of the association representing the county commissioners of Oklahoma may request the development of guardrail standards for bridges on low-traffic-volume county roads, as defined in the county road standard manual, the cost of which shall be paid from monies from the County Bridge and Road Improvement Fund.

F. Prior to construction of the bridge, a county may request that construction supervision be provided by the Circuit Engineering District of which the county is a member to ensure quality control and quality assurance.

11. Have authority to adopt such bylaws, rules and regulations as they deem desirable for their own guidance and the administration of the hospital, not inconsistent with the law.

12. Do all things necessary for the management, control, and government of said hospital and exercise all the rights and duties pertaining to hospital boards generally, unless such rights are specifically denied or prohibited by law.

(c) In the operation of a county hospital by the board of control the following funds shall be established in connection with a county hospital:

1. The proceeds from the sale of bonds as provided in Section 784 of this title, shall be deposited in a fund known as the "county hospital bond fund" in the treasury of the county, which shall be paid out by the county treasurer upon the orders of the board of county commissioners from time to time as the same is needed.

2. The proceeds from the tax levy provided by Section 786 of this title, and funds received by the hospital for services or otherwise not specifically designated to a special fund by the board of control shall be deposited in the treasury of the county in the "county hospital fund". Current receipts by the hospital, including tuition fees of any school operated by the hospital, shall be deposited in said fund at least every week. Such money in the "county hospital fund" shall be paid out only upon itemized and acknowledged claims duly approved by the board of control or in the procedure prescribed by said board by warrants drawn by the administrator or such other person as may be designated by the board of control, which warrants must be authenticated by the treasurer of the board of control or a duly qualified officer of the board of control. If a county hospital shall operate a home for nurses, then the current receipts of said home for nurses shall be deposited with the county treasurer in the Home for Nurses Fund.

(d) The board of control may by resolution establish such other funds as it deems advisable for the efficient and proper management of the hospital, which may or may not be in the county treasury, and prescribe the procedure for the handling, expending, and withdrawal of such funds. All checks to be signed by the administrator or his assistant and one member of the board of control.

1. If a majority of the board of control shall vote in favor of the establishment of a refund account, then the board shall designate a bank, and set up an account. Thereafter, when it becomes necessary to refund monies to a patient for the overpayment of an account, a check shall be drawn on said refund account, and after said check has been signed by the administrator or his designee and one member of the board of control, the same shall be delivered to said patient. The account may be replenished as deemed necessary.

After the establishment of said account, the administrator shall certify the list of actual refunds which have been made to patients during the interim since last approval. Upon acceptance by the board of control, the certified list of refunds shall be used to support the preparation of a warrant to be drawn on the county treasurer and charged to county hospital fund for the replenishment of said refund account.

2. If a majority of the board of control shall vote in favor of the establishment of a salary account, the board shall then designate a bank covered by F.D.I.C., set up an account, and deposit a warrant drawn upon the "county hospital fund", not to exceed One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00) in amount, to open the account, and the necessary resolutions requisite to the establishment of an account shall be performed. Thereafter, as soon as the complete payroll has been prepared, a warrant shall be drawn upon the "county hospital fund" for the amount of the payroll and deposited in the salary fund of _______ Hospital. The individual payroll checks shall be signed by the administrator or his designee and one member of the board of control.
3. If a majority of the board of control shall vote in favor of the establishment of a nursing home operating account, then a bank account shall be opened in a bank designated as a state or county depository.

Thereafter the board of control shall draw a warrant on the county treasurer to be charged to the nursing home fund, said warrant to be in the exact amount of a certified list of current obligations of said nursing home. Said list shall be drawn by the administrator and certified by him to the board of control and shall contain the details of all expenditures to be made for the nursing home for the previous months' operations including salaries.

The proceeds of said warrant shall then be deposited in the nursing home operating account in the bank above designated. Thereafter the administrator shall prepare individual checks in payment of the list of current obligations. Provided, however, that said checks shall be signed by the administrator and by one member of the board of control.

4. If a majority of the board of control shall vote in favor of the establishment of a petty cash account, then a warrant shall be drawn on the county treasurer in an amount not to exceed the sum of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00). The warrant shall be charged by the county treasurer to the hospital fund. The proceeds of said warrant shall be used for the payment of small bills for freight, postage due, minor expenses, et cetera, all of a minor amount; and the hospital shall secure proper receipts for the disbursement of said proceeds.

Thereafter, the administrator shall certify the list of petty expenditures, and, after approval by the board of control, a warrant shall be drawn on the county treasurer, county hospital fund, for the replenishment of said petty cash account.

Likewise, and in the same manner, a petty cash account may be established in any nursing home or related institution of the same if operated by the hospital.

5. If a majority of the board of control shall vote in favor of the use of a facsimile signature machine in signing checks upon the "county hospital fund" or any other fund, a machine shall be utilized to imprint the facsimile signature of the administrator and the treasurer of the board of control upon said checks. Proper procedures must be implemented to control the use of the signature machine; such controls to be established by the board of control. Any person having a key to operate the machine shall be bonded by the county blanket bond and the company furnishing the machine shall furnish a surety bond in an amount not less than Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00) to protect and indemnify against bogus or forged checks or warrants from being issued from the machine.

(e) Any unencumbered balances in any of the funds of the county hospital at the close of the fiscal year shall not lapse, but shall be carried forward to the next fiscal year.
(f) The provisions of the Oklahoma Statutes relative to counties or funds of counties, except Sections 781 et seq. of this title shall not be applicable to county hospitals.

A. To further the goals promoted in the Oklahoma Recycling Initiative, Section 2-10-205 of this title, it is necessary to protect recycled material and the businesses who handle it from unnecessary and burdensome regulation. To prevent such impediments:

1. The generator of recoverable materials shall retain ownership of those materials until the generator donates or sells those materials to another entity. Units of government shall not require such a generator to convey, donate or sell recoverable materials to that government or to a designated facility, nor restrict such a generator's right to donate or sell recoverable materials to any other entity; and

2. The ownership of recoverable materials is transferred to the operator of a recoverable collection program at the time such materials are placed into a container provided by the operator for the collection of such materials. Section 2-10-301 - Permit Required - Notice

Cite as: O.S. §, __ __

A. Except as otherwise specified in this section:

1. No person shall dispose of solid waste at any site or facility other than a site or facility for which a permit for solid or hazardous waste disposal has been issued by the Department of Environmental Quality;

2. No person shall own or operate a site or facility at which solid waste is disposed other than a site or facility for which a permit for solid or hazardous waste disposal has been issued by the Department;

3. No person shall knowingly transport solid waste to an unpermitted site or facility; and

4. The Department shall not bring an enforcement action against any unit of local government which undertakes any remediation of an illegal dump which the local government had no role in creating provided that the unit of local government first consults with and follows the remediation advice of the Department. The Department is authorized to recommend remediation of illegal dumps by burial of the material on location, when such burial appears to pose less risk than failure to remediate.

B. No provision of the Oklahoma Solid Waste Management Act shall be construed to prevent a person from disposing of solid waste from his or her household upon his or her property provided such disposal does not create a nuisance or a hazard to the public health or environment or does not violate a local government ordinance.

C. Notice of permit actions shall be in accordance with the Uniform Permitting Act.

D. The Department shall issue a permit to be effective for the life of a given site. In order to assure adequate financial assurance as required by this section, each permittee who operates a landfill disposal site, other than a generator owned and operated private industrial nonhazardous monofill, shall submit information on an annual basis at such times and in such form as the Department shall require, sufficient to allow the Department to know the remaining landfill life.
E. Information and data submitted in support of a permit application or a permit modification application for any site serving a population equivalent of five thousand (5,000) or more persons shall be prepared and sealed by a professional engineer licensed to practice in this state. Applicants for smaller site permits are encouraged but not required to seek professional engineering assistance.

F. The Department shall not issue any permit for the siting or expansion of an asbestos monofill which will be located closer than five hundred (500) yards from any occupied residence. No asbestos monofill shall be constructed within three (3) miles of the corporate boundaries of any city or town.

G. Disposal sites approved by the Department to receive only solid waste shall not accept for disposal any waste classified as hazardous waste.

H. No permit shall be required for a disposal site constructed pursuant to an order issued by the Department in an effort to remediate an abandoned or inactive waste site. Such disposal site shall only receive waste from the remediation project, and shall be designed, constructed, and operated in accordance with the technical standards established in the applicable rules promulgated by the Environmental Quality Board. Such rules shall not be less stringent than those which would apply to a federally funded remediation project pursuant to the federal Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act.

I. The Department shall not issue any permit for the siting of a new municipal solid waste landfill in any location that is both:

1. Within a locally fractured or cavernous limestone or cherty limestone bedrock; and

2. Within five (5) miles of any water well owned by a rural water district that is used or has the potential to be used to provide water to customers of the district.

J. No permit shall be required for a project approved by the Department and a local conservation district to use suitable portions of the solid waste stream to reclaim and restore Oklahoma lands.

A. 1. Except as provided in paragraph 2 of this subsection, all applicants for the issuance or transfer of any solid waste permit, license, certification or operational authority shall file a disclosure statement with their applications.

2. If the applicant is a publicly held company required to file periodic reports under the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934, or a wholly owned subsidiary of a publicly held company, the applicant shall not be required to submit a disclosure statement, but shall submit the most recent annual and quarterly reports required by the Securities and Exchange Commission, which provide information regarding legal proceedings in which the applicant has been involved. The applicant shall submit such other information as the Department of Environmental Quality may require pursuant to this section that relates to the competency, reliability, or responsibility of the applicant and affiliated persons.

B. The Department is authorized to revoke or to refuse to issue, amend, modify, renew or transfer a permit for the disposal of solid waste from or to any person or an affiliated person who:

1. Is not, due solely to the applicant's actions or inactions, in substantial compliance with any final agency order or final order or judgment of a court of record secured by the Department issued pursuant to the provisions of the Oklahoma Solid Waste Management Act; or

2. Is not in substantial compliance with any final agency order or final order or judgment of a court of record secured by any state or federal agency, as determined by that agency, relating to the storage, transfer, transportation, treatment or disposal of any solid waste; or

3. Has evidenced a history of a reckless disregard for the protection of the public health and safety or the environment through a history of noncompliance with state or federal environmental laws, including without limitation the rules of the Department, regarding the storage, transfer, transportation, treatment or disposal of any solid or hazardous industrial waste.

C. The application shall be signed under oath by the applicant.
D. The Department may suspend or revoke a permit issued pursuant to the Oklahoma Solid Waste Management Act to any person who has failed to disclose or states falsely any information required pursuant to the provisions of this section.

E. Any person who willfully fails to disclose or states falsely any such information, upon conviction, shall be guilty of a felony and may be punished by imprisonment for not more than five (5) years or a fine of not more than One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000.00) or both such fine and imprisonment.

F. Noncompliance with a final agency order or final order or judgment of a court of record which has been set aside by a court on appeal of such final order or judgment shall not be considered a final order or judgment for the purposes of this section.

A. Requests for variances from specific requirements of any particular rule must be made a part of the permit application of any applicant and the opportunity to request a public meeting or administrative permit hearing, or both, shall have been offered prior to authorization of the variance to any applicant, including any unit of government. Further, any application for a variance for substitute technology which equals or exceeds the protection accorded by the particular rule shall not be granted unless an opportunity to request a public meeting or administrative permit hearing, or both, has been offered.

B. Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, the Department shall not approve a variance from the rules of the Board for a solid waste disposal site to be located within any one-hundred year flood plain unless the variance is conditioned upon the subsequent redefinition of the one-hundred year plain to not include the land area proposed for the variance. A variance may be granted for the siting of a solid waste transfer station within a one-hundred year flood plain conditioned upon the requirement that no solid waste will be retained or stored by any means during nonoperating hours on any portion of the permitted site that is within the one-hundred year flood plain.

Section 2-10-501 - Issuance of Permit for Landfill Disposal Site Accepting Unspecified Nonhazardous Industrial Solid Waste.

Cite as: O.S. §, __ __

A. The Department of Environmental Quality may issue a permit for a landfill disposal site, which is not a hazardous waste facility, which accepts unspecified nonhazardous industrial solid waste, only under the following circumstances:

1. The landfill is located outside of areas of principal groundwater resource or recharge areas as determined and mapped by the Oklahoma Geological Survey or is on a proposed site on property owned or operated by a person who also owns or operates a hazardous waste facility or solid waste facility, on or contiguous to property on which a hazardous waste facility or solid waste facility is operating pursuant to a permit and the site is designed to meet the most environmentally protective solid waste rules promulgated by the Environmental Quality Board and includes a leachate collection system; or

2. The landfill complies with all siting and public participation requirements as though the solid waste landfill were a hazardous waste landfill; or

3. The site is proposed and designed as a nonhazardous industrial solid waste landfill which will be owned, operated, or owned and operated by an industry or manufacturer for its exclusive noncommercial use; or

4. The landfill is owned or operated by a municipality or is a privately owned landfill which regularly serves one or more municipalities and which has been accepting nonhazardous industrial solid waste under approval of the Department.

B. The provisions of this section shall apply to all pending applications for which final agency action has not been taken, future permit applications and facilities which are not fully operational.

C. Except as otherwise provided in subsection A of this section, the Department shall not allow a solid waste disposal site to accept any nonhazardous industrial solid waste type unless:

1. Said site is permitted by the Department to accept such waste type;
2. The landfill is owned or operated by a municipality or is a privately owned landfill which regularly serves one or more municipalities and which has been accepting nonhazardous industrial solid waste under approval of the Department; or

3. The site is proposed, designed, and permitted as a nonhazardous industrial solid waste monofill.

D. 1. New landfills which accept nonhazardous industrial solid waste shall not be constructed nor shall such existing landfills be expanded which are located within a seismic impact zone unless the applicant demonstrates that all containment structures, including liners, leachate collection systems, and surface water control systems, are designed to resist the maximum horizontal acceleration in lithified earth material for the site.

2. No nonhazardous industrial solid waste landfill shall be located within five (5) miles of a known epicenter of an earthquake of more than 4.0 on the Richter Scale or a number V on the modified Mercalli Scale as recorded by the Oklahoma Geological Survey.

3. Paragraphs 1 and 2 of this subsection shall not apply to a nonhazardous industrial solid waste landfill which is owned or operated by:

   a. an industry or manufacturer and utilized for such industry's or manufacturer's exclusive noncommercial use, or

   b. a municipality, or is a privately owned landfill which regularly serves one or more municipalities, and which has been accepting nonhazardous industrial solid waste under approval of the Department.

E. 1. Except as otherwise provided by this subsection, the Department shall not issue, amend or modify a permit to allow a solid waste landfill to accept more than one type of nonhazardous industrial solid waste for disposal unless said landfill is equipped with a composite liner and a leachate collection system designed and constructed in compliance with rules promulgated by the Board.

2. Any landfill which is owned, operated, or owned and operated by an industry or manufacturer and utilized for such industry's or manufacturer's exclusive noncommercial use may be required to install a composite liner and a leachate collection system as determined to be necessary by the Department on a case-by-case basis.

3. The Department shall not require composite liners and leachate collection systems for any nonhazardous industrial solid waste landfill initially licensed by the Department prior to July 1, 1992, which is owned and operated by an industry or manufacturer and utilized for such industry's or manufacturer's exclusive noncommercial use.

F. No limitation shall be placed on the percentage of nonhazardous industrial solid waste that may be accepted for disposal at solid waste landfills which have a composite liner and a leachate collection system designed and constructed in compliance with rules promulgated by the Board.

G. Solid waste disposal site operators shall submit to the Department an itemized monthly report of the type, quantity and source of nonhazardous industrial solid waste accepted the previous month. Solid waste disposal sites that are owned and operated by an industry or manufacturer which are utilized for such industry's or manufacturer's exclusive noncommercial use are not required to submit monthly reports to the Department but shall maintain in the operating record information regarding the type and quantity of nonhazardous industrial waste accepted each month. Information maintained in the operating record shall be made available to the Department upon request.

H. 1. Before sending waste identified as nonhazardous industrial solid waste for disposal in an Oklahoma solid waste landfill, a certification that the waste is not a hazardous waste as such term is defined in the Oklahoma Hazardous Waste Management Act shall be submitted to the Department. Such certification shall be made by:

a. the original generator,

b. a person who identifies and is under contract with a generator and whose activities under the contract cause the waste to be generated,

c. a party to a remediation project under an order of the Department or under the auspices of the Oklahoma Energy Resources Board or other agencies of other states, or

d. a person responding to an environmental emergency.

2. The Department may require the certifier to substantiate the certification by appropriate means, when it is reasonable to believe such waste may be hazardous. Such substantiation may include Material Safety Data Sheets, an explanation of specific technical process knowledge adequate to identify that the waste is not a hazardous waste, or laboratory analysis.

I. Any generator seeking to exclude a specific nonhazardous industrial solid waste, which is also an inert waste, from the provisions of this section may petition the Department for a regulatory exclusion. The generator shall demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Department that the waste is inert and that it may be properly disposed.

J. Unless otherwise specified in this section, by January 1, 1993, solid waste landfills existing on the effective date of this section which are required by this section to utilize composite liners and leachate collection systems and are not doing so shall cease to accept nonhazardous industrial solid waste.

K. Notwithstanding any other provision of the Oklahoma Solid Waste Management Act, no solid waste permit shall be required for an incineration facility burning nonhazardous solid waste for the purpose of disposing of the waste if:
1. The incinerator has an air quality permit from the Department;

2. Storage of waste at the site prior to incineration is limited to the lesser of twenty (20) tons or the volume reasonably expected to be incinerated within ten (10) days, considering the nature of the waste and the manufacturer's approved charge rate for the incinerator;

3. The waste is stored at a location and managed in a manner which minimizes the risk of a release, exposure or other incident which could threaten human health or the environment, including the storage of liquids within adequate secondary containment;

4. All ashes and residues from the incineration process are managed in accordance with applicable statutes and rules; and

5. a. The incinerator is owned and operated by a business or industry for the incineration of its own waste exclusively, or

b. The waste feed rate of the incinerator does not exceed five (5) tons per day.

Historical Data

A. Municipalities, counties and regional solid waste management districts may directly, or through a public trust of which they are a beneficiary, enter into agreements or multiple beneficiary public trusts to combine or pool funds by contract with other municipalities, counties, regional solid waste management districts, and public trusts for management and investment when deemed necessary to provide escrow or security funds to ensure operation, maintenance, or closure of solid waste management systems and disposal sites under applicable federal, state or local law.

B. One or more municipalities may establish or participate in a program that provides for each participating municipality or any participating county or regional solid waste management district to furnish financial assurance as required by the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act, 42 U.S.C., Section 6901 et seq., or any other federal, state or local law. The program may establish any combination of financing mechanisms necessary to ensure that funds will be available in a timely fashion when needed to meet a participating entity's obligation thereunder. The program may provide for participating entities to use any means available to them to meet financial obligations pursuant to laws of the state. The program may ensure enforcement of the payment of any financial assurance obligation by a participating entity.

Historical Data

A. All disposal site owners shall provide a closure plan to the Department of Environmental Quality for approval which defines operational phases and includes cost estimates, and plans and specifications for final closure. A site may be closed in phases according to a closure plan approved by the Department.

1. Owners of landfills that receive household solid waste, defined as Municipal Solid Waste Landfill Facilities in the federal regulations adopted under Subtitle D of the federal Solid Waste Disposal Act, and owners of commercial nonhazardous industrial waste landfills shall provide for the maintenance and monitoring of such works for thirty (30) years. Provided, the owner of any landfill that stops receiving waste on or before April 9, 1994, and has completed final closure of the site on or before October 9, 1994, shall provide for the maintenance and monitoring of such site for eight (8) years after final closure has been completed. A permittee who stopped receiving waste at his permitted solid waste municipal landfill on or before April 9, 1994, may apply to the Department for a modification of his permit to operate an on-site solid waste transfer station, a yard-waste composting facility or a citizen's collection station. Provided no land disposal occurs, such site shall not require monitoring or financial assurance as a municipal solid waste landfill.

2. Generator owned and operated private industrial nonhazardous monofills shall only be required to have an eight-year postclosure period or such postclosure time period as may be mandated under the federal Solid Waste Disposal Act. Generator owned and operated private industrial nonhazardous landfill disposal sites and all construction and demolition landfill disposal sites shall only be required to have an eight-year postclosure period or such postclosure time period as may be mandated under the federal Solid Waste Disposal Act or determined necessary by the Department on a case-by-case basis considering the nature of the waste disposed.

3. Disposal sites other than land disposal sites shall have a closure plan which would accomplish the removal and proper disposal of any remaining waste and the elimination of potential environmental health hazards.

B. The Department shall require that financial assurances be provided in an amount sufficient to cover the estimated cost of closure and any postclosure. The Department shall establish financial assurance mechanisms which will ensure that the funds necessary to meet the costs of closure, postclosure care and corrective action for known releases will be available whenever such funds are needed. An increase in financial assurance shall be required when any permittee deviates from the approved closure plan or when the cost of closure or postclosure is found to have increased. Owners of landfills that receive household solid waste shall increase financial assurance if corrective action is required.

C. 1. Disposal site owners as identified in subsection A of this section shall provide financial assurance to guarantee the performance of final closure and for any required postclosure as required by the Department pursuant to this section. Except in cases where owners utilize a financial test provided by rule, the state shall be the sole beneficiary of any such assurance solely for the cost of performance of closure and postclosure and shall have a security interest therein.

2. The financial assurance shall be in a form described in rules promulgated by the Environmental Quality Board or the owner may provide the Department with cash or certificates of deposit payable to the Department of Environmental Quality Revolving Fund for deposit with the State Treasurer's Office.

3. Disposal site owners may satisfy the financial assurance requirements of this section by creating a trust in accordance with the federal regulations adopted under Subtitle D of the federal Solid Waste Disposal Act. Municipal solid waste disposal site owners may satisfy the financial assurance requirements of this section by creating an escrow account in accordance with Board rules adopted under the Oklahoma Solid Waste Management Act. These financial assurance mechanisms shall provide for payments by the disposal site owner which will allow for closure and corrective action obligations to be spread out over the economic life of the disposal site, but shall not exceed fifteen (15) years.

4. Owners of disposal sites which receive waste after April 9, 1994, shall provide financial assurance for closure and any applicable postclosure on or before April 9, 1995, unless such date is extended by the federal Environmental Protection Agency pursuant to Subtitle D of the federal Resource, Conservation and Recovery Act. If any disposal site owner fails to provide such financial assurance by the applicable deadline, the Department shall cause the landfill disposal site permit to be summarily suspended by order. The Department shall initiate the process of revoking the permit and may require closure of the landfill. This subsection shall not apply to units of the federal government.

5. Financial assurance provided prior to June 8, 1994, as a condition of issuance of any permit or any agreement with the Department shall continue in effect unless the permittee replaces such assurance with an additional mechanism or combination of mechanisms authorized by the Department.

6. In lieu of the performance guarantee mechanisms specified in this section, owners or operators of a nonhazardous industrial solid waste landfill which is owned or operated by an industry or manufacturer for its exclusive noncommercial use may satisfy the financial assurance requirements for closure, postclosure and maintenance by meeting the requirements of a corporate financial test and corporate guarantee similar to that applicable to hazardous waste facilities.

7. Any unit of local government or public trust of which it is a beneficiary may satisfy financial assurance requirements for closure and, when required, postclosure, by participating in a statewide trust capable of guaranteeing performance of such closure and postclosure.

8. Solid waste transfer stations, processing facilities, or composting facilities are exempt from the financial assurance requirements of this section if they principally manage municipal solid waste.

D. When financial assurance is required, it shall remain in effect until closure and any postclosure is completed. The amount of such assurance shall be set by the Department and shall not be less than the anticipated cost of contracting for performance of each phase of the closure plan and postclosure. The Department may allow a reduction in the amount of assurance to reflect the anticipated costs which remain.

Section 2-10-801 - Zoning of Disposal Sites - Limits and Waivers.
Cite as: O.S. §. __ __

A. In order to protect public health and preserve the expectation of future disposal capability of areas local to a disposal site, except as otherwise provided by this section, no disposal site shall accept more than two hundred (200) tons per day of solid waste generated more than fifty (50) miles from the disposal site unless a permit application for a new disposal site is submitted and approved by the Department for such waste.

The waste generated within the fifty-mile local area shall not be considered in calculating the two-hundred-ton limit.

B. New and existing landfills, incinerators, or other sites designed, constructed and operated in accordance with the most environmentally protective solid waste regulations adopted by the Board shall be subject to neither the two-hundred-ton nor the fifty-mile limit.

C. The Department may grant a temporary waiver to the limit specified in this section in the event of an emergency. Any such waiver so granted may be conditioned on development of additional capacity in the area where the waste is generated.

D. Before any disposal site accepts for disposal any solid waste generated outside the territorial limits of this state in excess of two hundred (200) tons per day:

1. The operator of the disposal site shall submit to the Department for approval a disposal plan prepared by either the generator or shipper as set out in the rules promulgated by the Board. Such plans as a minimum shall indicate the type and amount of solid waste generated, the handling, storage, treatment, disposal method and the disposal site to be used. The disposal plans shall be kept current by the persons submitting the original disposal plans and the Department shall be advised not less than five (5) working days prior to the day on which such changes are to be implemented.

Persons storing or shipping recyclable materials in an environmentally acceptable manner for the purpose of recycling shall be required to file disposal plans required by this subsection only for those wastes which are to be disposed.

2. The disposal site shall be designed, constructed and operated in accordance with the most environmentally protective solid waste rules promulgated by the Board. For landfills, the most environmentally protective solid waste regulations shall be any of those regulations promulgated by the Board for the largest population category and which include leachate collection in the landfill design, and which were effective when the application for disposal plan approval was filed with the Department.

E. Operators of solid waste disposal sites shall reject shipments of solid waste brought into this state which do not meet all the applicable requirements of this section. All rejected solid waste shall be taken out of state by the same persons who brought it into this state in violation of the provisions of this section.

F. Fly ash and bottom ash generated by coal-fired facilities located outside the territorial limits of this state in excess of two hundred (200) tons per day shall be constructively reutilized or disposed of only in an active or inactive mining operation subject to the provisions contained in Title 45 of the Oklahoma Statutes.

G. Willful violation of this section shall constitute a felony punishable by a fine of not more than Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00) or imprisonment of not more than five (5) years, or both such fine and imprisonment.

Historical Data

The owner or operator of any commercial solid waste landfill, over fifty (50) feet in height above natural surface contours that accepts more than two hundred (200) tons per day of solid waste, must submit a vegetation plan to the Department of Environmental Quality for approval. The vegetation plan shall address establishment and maintenance of appropriate vegetative cover for the purposes of erosion and dust control and aesthetic enhancement. The vegetation plan shall be implemented in waste disposal areas that have been undisturbed for ninety (90) days. The Environmental Quality Board shall promulgate rules, developed and recommended by the Solid Waste Management Advisory Council, relative to the contents of the vegetation plan.

Historical Data

A. 1. Owners or operators of landfill disposal sites which are not generator owned and operated nonhazardous industrial waste monofills shall install scales by January 1, 1996. Such scales shall be installed on or within five (5) miles of the landfill disposal site and shall be tested and certified as required by Section 5-61e of Title 2 of the Oklahoma Statutes relating to the authority of the Board of Agriculture to test annually the standards of weights and measures used by any city or county within the state and to approve if found to be correct.

2. The owner or operator shall upon receipt weigh all waste received and record the weight in writing. If scales at a disposal site are not operative, tonnage shall be estimated on a volume basis whereby the volume reported shall be no less than the volume capacity of the containers or, if none, of the vehicles delivering the waste, and one cubic yard of solid waste shall be calculated to weigh one-third (1/3) ton. The owner or operator shall place notice in the disposal site's operating record of the time and date at which the scales became inoperable, describe the steps taken to repair them, and note the date use was resumed. If daily use has not resumed within thirty (30) days after the scales became inoperable, the owner or operator shall give written notice to the Department of Environmental Quality.

3. The owner or operator shall also maintain a written record of the weight or volume of any solid waste received which is productively reused or recovered and sold in accordance with the landfill disposal site's permit.

4. The scale location restriction of this subsection shall not apply to federal or state military installations so long as:

a. the scales are located within the physical boundary of that installation, and

b. the disposal site receives waste only from that military installation.

B. 1. Except as otherwise provided by this subsection, on and after January 1, 1996:

a. owners and operators of landfill disposal sites which receive an average of less than one hundred (100) tons of solid waste per operating day shall assess a fee of One Dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) per ton of solid waste received for disposal. A total of fifty cents ($.50) per ton of such fee shall be retained by the owner or operator and used exclusively for capital improvement to their facilities and for the projects required pursuant to the Oklahoma Solid Waste Management Act or the disposal site's permit for such period of time necessary to recoup a capital investment, plus the interest costs expended in purchasing the scales, of a total of Forty Thousand Dollars ($40,000.00),

b. when the owner or operators have recouped a capital investment of the total specified in subparagraph a of this paragraph, the fee to be assessed shall be One Dollar and twenty-five cents ($1.25) per ton of solid waste received for disposal. At such time, for a return with remittance filed on or before the due date, the owner or operator may deduct and retain ten percent (10%) of the fees collected, and

c. records documenting the projects and use of the funds shall be included with each return.

2. a. Owners and operators of landfill disposal sites which receive an average of more than one hundred (100) tons of solid waste per operating day shall assess a fee of One Dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) per ton of solid waste received for disposal, retaining twenty-five cents ($0.25) per ton for a period of time necessary to recoup a capital investment, plus the interest costs expended in purchasing the scales, of Forty Thousand Dollars ($40,000.00). At the end of such period the fee shall revert to One Dollar and twenty-five cents ($1.25) per ton. For a return with remittance filed on or before the due date, the owner or operator may deduct and retain ten percent (10%) of the fees collected.

b. Records documenting the capital investment and the use of the funds shall be included with each return.

3. The fee shall not be imposed on:

a. the solid waste received which is productively reused or recovered in accordance with the landfill disposal site's permit. The owner or operator shall include records pertaining to this fee exemption in the quarterly return of fees to the Department, and

b. generator owned and operated nonhazardous waste land disposal monofills and waste subject to a fee pursuant to Section 2-10-803 of this title. For emergencies and other special events, the Department and the owner or operator of a site subject to this section may enter into a formal agreement to waive the fee.

4. Large industrial waste generators who generate over ten thousand (10,000) tons of nonhazardous industrial solid waste in the state in a calendar year may annually apply to the Department for a certificate exempting the disposal of such generated waste in excess of ten thousand (10,000) tons from the disposal fee authorized by this section. An applicant must have implemented a pollution prevention plan for such waste and paid the disposal fee on ten thousand (10,000) tons of the waste during the calendar year of application. The Department-issued exemption certificates shall be valid for the remainder of the calendar year of application, may contain conditions, and, upon presentation by authorized persons, shall be recognized by owners or operators of landfill disposal sites subject to this section. If a generator operates a landfill solely for waste from that generator, and if that generator chooses to seek the exemption authorized by this paragraph, the generator shall not be required to install scales or keep records relative to quantity of waste received for the landfill.

5. The fee assessed by this subsection is to be a charge to waste producers in addition to any charges specified in any contract or elsewhere. The fee shall be imposed upon and passed through to disposers of waste using the facility.

6. The owner or operator of a solid waste disposal site shall collect the fee levied pursuant to this subsection as trustee for the state and shall prepare and file with the Department quarterly returns indicating:

a. the total tonnage of solid wastes received for disposal at the gate of the site, and

b. the total amount of the fees collected pursuant to this section.

7. Not later than thirty (30) days after the end of the quarter to which such a return applies, the owner or operator shall mail to the Department the return for that quarter together with the fees collected during that quarter as indicated on the return.

8. The owner or operator may receive an extension of not more than thirty (30) days for filing the return and remitting the fees, provided that:

a. the owner or operator has submitted a request for an extension in writing to the Department together with a detailed description of why the extension is requested,

Any two or more owners of lands may file with the county clerk a petition addressed to the board of county commissioners praying for the incorporation of a district under the provisions of this act. The petition shall give a legal description of the lands owned by the petitioners and other lands which the petitioners propose to be incorporated into the proposed district and shall state:

1. That the rural residents within such territory are without an adequate water supply, sewage facilities, gas distribution facilities or solid waste management system to meet their needs;

2. That the construction, installation, improvement, maintenance and operation of all or any combination of water works, sewage facilities, gas distribution facilities and solid waste management systems are necessary to provide an adequate water supply, sewage facilities, gas distribution facilities or solid waste management system to serve rural residents of the district;

3. That such improvements or works will be conducive to and will promote the public health, convenience and welfare; and

This organizational meeting shall be held in accordance with the provisions pertaining to the creation and organization of districts.

From any order of the board, an appeal may be taken in the manner as provided for appeals from decision of the board of county commissioners.

Section 1710 - Annual Levy for Sinking Fund - Formula - Intent of Act.
Cite as: O.S. §, __ __

It shall be the duty of the board to make a levy each year for a sinking fund, which shall, with cash actually on hand and lawful investments in such fund, excluding taxes in process of collection, be sufficient to pay:

1. All the bonded indebtedness of such district coming due in the following years;

2. The interest accrued but unpaid and to accrue on all outstanding bonds of such district to June 30th of such fiscal year, but including any interest falling due on the last and final bond maturity occurring after such June 30th but before the tax levy of the succeeding fiscal year may be made and collected; and

The foregoing formula shall be applied by said district each year in determining the amount necessary to raise by tax levy for sinking fund purposes, independently of actions taken in previous years, and if by omission to make a levy which could have been validly made for any bonds or interest coupons, or where from any cause the cash and valid investments in the sinking fund does not equal the accrual liabilities, it shall be the duty of said district to readjust the annual bond accrual in accordance with the foregoing formula in order that said bonds shall be paid when due, save and except only that where the cash and valid investments in the sinking fund at the close of any fiscal year, after reserving for interest accrued and accruing under the priority therefor as contained in Section 9C of Article X of the Constitution of the State of Oklahoma, is insufficient to pay and retire any bonds matured or to mature before another tax levy may be made and collected and no action has been instituted to refund such matured bonds, it shall be the duty of said district to include, in addition to interest thereon or aforesaid, an accrual therefor in an amount equal to the bonds so matured or to mature or the annual accrual first lawfully applicable to the issue thereof, whichever is the lesser.

Also, deduct the estimated probable revenue to be derived from surplus collection from taxes in the process of collection of the immediately preceding taxable year; provided that the surplus so estimated shall be surplus cash as hereinafter defined, and shall include none of that portion of the reserve added at the beginning of such year for delinquent tax, and shall not exceed ninety percent (90%) of the actual collections of surplus back taxes legally accrued to and credited to the same fund account of the immediately preceding fiscal year;

After all warrants and interest on such warrants for such year have been paid or reserved for, the surplus, if any, shall forthwith be transferred to the next succeeding year for the same purpose. This procedure shall be followed for each succeeding fiscal year until all warrants issued prior to the current fiscal year are paid or reserved for, and then any cash surplus remaining shall accrue and be transferred to the current fiscal year, to be used to pay any legal warrant and interest charges of such year. The term "actual cash surplus", as used herein, is hereby defined to mean an excess of actual cash actually on hand over and above all legal obligations. Section 901.22 - Including Additional Territory.
Cite as: O.S. §, ___

Any territory located within the same county of an existing district may be included in the limits of such district by decision of the board of directors, certified to the board of county commissioners, with the written consent of twenty-five percent (25%) of the holders of title to the territory sought to be included, or in the same manner as provided for the organization of fire protection districts. Such territory shall not be included or added to the territory of the district without the consent of the board of directors and the board of county commissioners. In the event such territory is included by decision of the board of directors, with the consent of the board of county commissioners and the written consent of twenty-five percent (25%) of the holders of title to the territory sought to be included, the notice, hearing and order requirements of Section 901.2 of this title and the notice and election requirements of Sections 901.3 and 901.4 of this title shall be followed in the same manner as for the organization of fire protection districts. In case any such territory is added to the district the property therein shall immediately become subject to the lien for the payment of bonds theretofore authorized by the district in the same manner as property within the district at the time of authorization of such bonds.

Historical Data

Any portion of the district which will not be benefited by remaining therein may be withdrawn from the district by the filing of a petition containing the names of more than fifty-one percent (51%) of the homeowners with one (1) acre or less, homeowners within a planned unit development, or property owners who are not developers of a planned unit development or other real estate development within the portion sought to be withdrawn, requesting the withdrawal of such portion from the district on the grounds that it will not be benefited by remaining therein. Such petition shall be filed with the board of county commissioners and notice thereof shall be given to the board of directors of the district. The time for hearing said petition shall not be less than thirty (30) days after the receipt of the petition. Any person interested may appear at the hearing and object to the withdrawal or may object to the continuance of the remaining territory as a district. The board of county commissioners shall consider and pass upon all objections and if it finds that the portion of the district sought to be withdrawn will not be benefited by remaining within the district and will not serve as a fire hazard to the remaining portion of the district, and that the territory remaining in the district will be benefited by continuing as a district then it shall grant the petition. In determining the benefits to the territory to be withdrawn and determining what constitutes a fire hazard, the board shall consider the location of the nearest fire protection facility. If the nearest facility is considered by the board to be an unsafe distance which would create a fire hazard to the territory to be withdrawn or the remaining territory, the board shall deny the petition. The board shall also consider the benefit to the territory sought to be withdrawn of any newly constructed fire protection facilities or newly purchased fire protection equipment for the district and if such facilities and equipment are determined to be of substantial benefit to the territory to be withdrawn, then the board may deny the petition. If in the judgment of the board of county commissioners existence of the territory sought to be withdrawn will make further existence of the district impracticable, the board shall proceed to order a dissolution of the district. In the case of withdrawal of any property from the district as herein provided, such property shall remain subject to the payment of its proportionate part of any bonds theretofore authorized by the district and shall remain subject to annual assessment for the payment of the principal and interest thereof in the same manner and to the same extent as if such property had not been withdrawn. Such annual assessments, however, shall be computed upon the appraisal shown on the district appraisal record at the time of the withdrawal of such property.

Historical Data

In the event of the dissolution of a district, the board of directors of the district shall be trustees for the disposition of the property and the proceeds of the disposition of such property and all funds remaining on hand shall be deposited with the county treasurer who shall thereupon succeed to the powers and duties of the district treasurer and who shall annually collect from all of the property which shall have been in the district at the time of the authorization of any bond, an annual assessment sufficient to pay the interest and amount necessary to retire such outstanding bonds as the same may become due. Such annual assessment shall be based upon the district appraisal record at the time of dissolution. When all of the property of the district has been disposed of and the funds of the district deposited with the county treasurer, the powers and functions of the district board, as trustees for dissolution, shall cease and the board of county commissioners of the county in which such district is located shall succeed to all of the powers and duties of the district insofar as it shall be necessary for them to wind up and conclude the affairs of the district.

Added by Laws 1986, c. 70, § 3, eff. Nov. 1, 1986.
A. The protection of the public health, safety and welfare demands that the permanent members of any Rural Fire Protection District not be accorded the right to strike or engage in any work stoppage or slowdown. This necessary prohibition does not, however, require the denial to such employees of other well-recognized rights of labor such as the right to organize, to be represented by a collective bargaining representative of their choice and the right to bargain collectively concerning wages, hours and other terms and conditions of employment; and such employees shall also have the right to refrain from any and all such activities.

B. It is declared to be the public policy of this state to accord to the full-time firefighters in a Rural Fire Protection District all of the rights of labor, other than the right to strike or to engage in any work stoppage or slowdown. Nothing in this act shall constitute a grant of the right to strike to any full-time firefighter in a Rural Fire Protection District and such strikes are hereby prohibited. Unless otherwise provided by law, any person holding such a position who, by concerted action with others and without the lawful approval of the person’s superior, willfully absents the person from his or her position or abstains in whole or in part from the full, faithful and proper performance of such person’s duties for the purpose of inducing, influencing or coercing a change in the conditions or compensation, or the rights, privileges or obligations of employment shall be deemed to be on strike but the person, upon request, shall be entitled to a determination as to whether he or she did violate the provisions of this act. The request shall be filed in writing. The official or body with whom the request is filed shall have the power to remove or discipline such employee within ten (10) days after regular compensation of such employee has ceased or other discipline has been imposed. In the event of such request, the official or body shall within ten (10) days after the receipt of such request commence a proceeding for the determination of whether the provisions of this act have been violated by the full-time firefighter in a Rural Fire Protection District, in accordance with the law and regulations appropriate to a proceeding to remove a full-time firefighter in a Rural Fire Protection District. The proceedings shall be undertaken without unnecessary delay. The decision of the proceeding shall be made within ten (10) days following the conclusion of the hearing. If the employee involved is held to have violated this act and his or her employment terminated or other discipline imposed, the employee shall have the right of review in the district court having jurisdiction of the parties, within thirty (30) days from such decision, for determination whether such decision is supported by competent, material and substantial evidence on the whole record. To provide for the exercise of these rights, a method of arbitration of disputes is hereby established.
C. It is declared to be the public policy of the State of Oklahoma that no person shall be discharged from or denied employment as a member of any Rural Fire Protection District of this state by reason of membership or nonmembership in, or the payment or nonpayment of any dues, fees or other charges to, an organization of such members for collective bargaining purposes as herein contemplated.

D. The establishment of this method of arbitration shall not, however, in any way whatever, be deemed to be a recognition by the state of compulsory arbitration as a superior method of settling labor disputes between employees who possess the right to strike and their employers, but rather shall be deemed to be a recognition solely of the necessity to provide some alternative procedure for settling disputes where employees must, as a matter of public policy, be denied the usual right to strike.

2. "Board" means the Public Employees Relations Board;

3. "Collective bargaining" means the performance of the mutual obligation of the Rural Fire Protection District employer or the employer’s designated representatives and the representative of the employees to meet at reasonable times, including meetings appropriately related to the budget making process; to confer in good faith with respect to wages, hours and other conditions of employment, or the negotiation of an agreement, or any question arising hereunder; and to execute a written contract incorporating any agreement reached if requested by either party. Such obligation shall not, however, compel either party to agree to a proposal or require the making of a concession;

4. "Corporate authorities" means the Board of Directors of any Rural Fire Protection District whose duty or duties it is to establish the wages, salaries, rates of pay, hours, working conditions and other terms and conditions of employment of firefighters;

5. "Firefighters" means the permanent paid members of any Rural Fire Protection District within the State of Oklahoma but shall not include the chief of the rural fire department and an administrative assistant;

6. "Strike" means the concerted failure to report for duty, the willful absence from one’s position, unauthorized holidays, sickness unsubstantiated by a physician’s statement, the stoppage of work, or the abstinence in whole or in part from the full, faithful and proper performance of the duties of employment, for the purpose of including, influencing or coercing a change in the conditions, compensation, rights, privileges or obligations of employment. Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to limit, impair or affect the right of any public employee to the expression or communication of a view, grievance, complaint or opinion on any matter related to the conditions or compensation of public employment or their betterment, so long as the same does not interfere with the full, faithful and proper performance of the duties of employment; and
7. "Unfair labor practices" for the purpose of this act shall be deemed to include, but not be limited to, the following acts and conduct:

a. action by corporate authorities:

(1) interfering with, restraining, intimidating or coercing employees in the exercise of the rights guaranteed them by this act,

(2) dominating or interfering with the formation, existence or administration of any employee organization or bargaining agent,

(3) interfering in any manner whatsoever with the process of selection by firefighters of their respective bargaining agents or attempting to influence, coerce or intimidate individuals in such selection,

(4) discharging or otherwise disciplining or discriminating against a firefighter because he or she has signed or filed any affidavit, petition or complaint or has given any information or testimony under this act or because of an election to be represented by the bargaining agent,

(5) refusing to bargain collectively or discuss grievances in good faith with the designated bargaining agent with respect to any issue coming within the purview of this act, or

(6) instituting or attempting to institute a lockout.

b. action by bargaining agent:

(1) interfering with, restraining, intimidating or coercing employees in the exercise of the rights guaranteed them by this act,

(2) interfering with or attempting to coerce the corporate authorities in the selection of their representatives for the purposes of collective bargaining or the adjustment of grievances, or

(3) refusing to bargain collectively or discuss grievances in good faith with the proper corporate authorities with respect to any issue coming within the purview of this act.

Historical Data

A. Full-time firefighters in a Rural Fire Protection District shall have the separate right to bargain collectively with their Rural Fire Protection District and to be represented by a bargaining agent in such collective bargaining with respect to wages, salaries, hours, rates of pay, grievances, working conditions and all other terms and conditions of employment.

B. Whenever, conformable to regulations that may be prescribed by the Public Employees Relations Board, a petition is filed by:

1. A labor organization alleging that thirty percent (30%) of the full-time firefighters in a Rural Fire Protection District:
   a. wish to be represented for collective bargaining by an exclusive employee representative, or
   b. assert that the designated exclusive employee representative is no longer the representative of the majority of employees in the unit; or

2. The employer alleging that one or more labor organizations has presented to it a claim to be recognized as the exclusive employee representative in an appropriate unit; the Board shall investigate the facts alleged therein and if it has reasonable cause to believe that a question of representation exists, it shall provide for an appropriate hearing upon due notice. If the Board finds upon the record of such hearing that such a question of representation exists, it shall direct an election by secret ballot and shall certify the results thereof. The Board may also certify a labor organization as an exclusive employee representative of a Rural Fire Protection District if it determines that a free and untrammeled election cannot be conducted because of the employer's unfair labor practices.

C. Only those labor organizations which have been designated by more than ten percent (10%) of the full-time firefighters in the unit found to be appropriate shall be placed on the ballot. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the waiving of or hearing by stipulation for the purpose of a consent election, in conformity with the rules and regulations of the Board.

D. In order to assure to full-time firefighters in a Rural Fire Protection District the fullest freedom in exercising the rights guaranteed by this act, the Board shall decide in each case before it in which the issue is raised the unit appropriate for the purposes of collective bargaining, and shall consider such factors as community of interest, wages, hours and other working conditions of the firefighters involved, the history of collective bargaining, and the desires of the firefighters.

E. An election shall not be directed in any bargaining unit or in any subdivision thereof within which, in the preceding twelve-month period, a valid election has been held. The Board shall determine who is eligible to vote in the election and shall establish rules governing the election. In any election where none of the choices on the ballot receives a majority, but a majority of all votes cast are for representation by some labor organization, a run-off election shall be conducted. A labor organization which receives the majority of the votes cast in an election shall be certified by the Board as the exclusive firefighter representative of a Rural Fire Protection District.

It shall be the obligation of the Rural Fire Protection District, acting through its corporate authorities, to meet at reasonable times and confer in good faith with the representatives of the full-time firefighters within ten (10) days after receipt of written notice from said bargaining agent requesting a meeting for collective bargaining purposes. The obligation shall include the duty to cause any collective bargaining agreement resulting from negotiations to be reduced to a written agreement, the term of which shall not exceed one (1) year; provided, any such agreement shall continue from year to year and be automatically extended for one-year terms unless written notice of request for bargaining is given by either the Rural Fire Protection District authorities or the bargaining agent of the full-time firefighters at least thirty (30) days before the anniversary date of such negotiated agreement. C. 1. The State Department of Agriculture shall in writing notify the rural fire protection coordination districts of any available grant monies by August 1st of each year.

2. Each rural fire protection coordination district desiring to obtain such grant monies for improvement of fire protection within such district shall submit such request to the Department, in such form and in such manner as required by the Department, by September 1, of each year.

3. The Forestry Division shall submit the final list of grantees and their approved amounts prior to the October meeting of the Board of Agriculture for consideration.

4. By October 1 of each year, the Department shall make a determination on the allocation of such monies to the rural fire protection coordination districts.

5. Upon approval, the Forestry Division shall distribute the forms required by law to all grantees to certify the grant. The prescribed form must be signed by the grantee and returned to the Forestry Division before the grant becomes official.

6. Expenditures made prior to the date of the grant award shall not be considered for reimbursement.
7. Fire departments shall submit copies of paid invoices, canceled checks or other proof of purchase, attached to the prescribed form when requesting reimbursement. No more than three (3) partial payment requests are permitted.

8. Fire departments shall keep complete and accurate records of grant expenditures and make this information available to the Forestry Division or the coordinators on request.

9. Approved claims shall be submitted by the Forestry Division for payment. Checks shall be sent promptly to the fire department’s contact person when received.

10. The coordinators shall closely track the progress of all grantees in the assigned district to assure their completion by June 30. As of April 1, an assessment shall be made to determine the amount of grant funds which remain unobligated in each district, and therefore available to make additional grants within that district. The coordinators shall use the original prioritized list of grant applications to make additional grants, and submit a list of additional grantees and amounts to the Forestry Division for processing through the April meeting of the Board of Agriculture for approval. These grants are still subject to the June 30 cutoff for obligating grant funds. The same procedures will be used as for the first round of grants.

11. Follow-up compliance audits shall be performed by the coordinators and the Forestry Division of the State Department of Agriculture. Fire departments are required to cooperate fully during the audit.

D. In determining the amount of grant monies to be awarded to a rural fire protection coordination district pursuant to the provisions of this section, such district shall be eligible to receive an amount resulting from computing the number of fire departments with service area populations of less than ten thousand (10,000) persons in a rural fire protection coordination district divided by the total number of fire departments with service area populations of less than ten thousand (10,000) persons in this state multiplied by the total amount of the grant monies available to rural fire protection coordination districts in the state.

E. In addition to any other criteria established by the State Department of Agriculture for receipt of grant monies for rural fire protection coordination districts, the State Department of Agriculture, pursuant to the Administrative Procedures Act, Article I, Sections 250.3 through 308.2 and Article II, Sections 309 through 323 of Title 75 of the Oklahoma Statutes, shall establish criteria to rate and prioritize applications for funding such requests of the rural fire protection coordination districts. Such criteria shall include, but not be limited to, consideration for: number of residents, businesses and square miles to be protected; fire runs per calendar year; annual sales and property tax collection; use of volunteers; written fire plan or standard operating procedures plan; fundraising; training; compliance with legal requirements; and workers' compensation and vehicle liability insurance coverage.

Attorney General Decisions
Question Submitted by: The Honorable Jimmy Birdsong, Oklahoma State Senate
1978 OK AG 125
Decided: 04/05/1978
Oklahoma Attorney General Opinions

SOLDIERS AND SAILORS

¶0 All individuals falling within the class defined as veterans under 68 O.S. 2405(L) (1971) and as "war veterans" under 72 O.S. 67.13(A) (1977) and 72 O.S. 67.13(B) (1971), are eligible for the personal property tax exemption.

¶1 The Attorney General is in receipt of your request for an opinion wherein you ask substantially the following question: Does the term "War Veteran" defined in 72 O.S. 67.13(A)(B) (1977) or the requirements outlined in 68 O.S. 2405 (1971), control the eligibility of individuals for the veteran's personal property tax exemption.

"... There shall be exempt from taxation on personal property the sum of Two Hundred Dollars ($200.00) to all enlisted and commissioned personnel whether on active duty or honorably discharged, who served in the armed forces of the United States during:

" (1) the Spanish-American War;

"(2) the period beginning on April 6, 1917, and ending on July 2, 1921;

"(3) the period beginning on December 6, 1941, and ending on such date as the state of national emergency as declared by the President of the United States shall cease to exist; or,

"(4) any other or future period during which a state of national emergency shall have been or shall be declared to exist by the Congress or the President of the United States.

"All widows made so by the death of such enlisted or commissioned personnel, who are bona fide residents of this State, shall be entitled to the above-additional exemption."

¶3 The above statute outlines the eligibility requirements of a slightly different nature than required by the term "War Veterans", found in 72 O.S. 67.13(A) (1977) which states:

"War Veterans defined. The words 'war veterans' used in the foregoing sections shall be construed to mean such honorably discharged persons as:
"(a) served in the armed forces of the United States at any time during the period from April 6, 1917, to November 11, 1918, both dates inclusive, or

"(b) served in the armed forces of the United States at any time during the period of December 7, 1941, and December 31, 1946, both dates inclusive, or

"(c) served in the armed forces of the United States at any time during the period of June 27, 1950, and January 31, 1955, both dates inclusive, or

"(d) served for a period of ninety (90) days or more (unless discharged from active duty for a service connected disability) in the armed forces of the United States which ended or began on or after August 5, 1964, during the period of time in which the United States participated in a war, campaign or battle, but excluding any person who shall have served on active duty for training only, unless discharged from active duty for service-connected disability, or

"(e) served in the armed forces of the United States in a combat zone or in the immediate supporting area of a combat zone as certified by the War Veteran's Commission of Oklahoma, prior to August 5, 1964.

"The term 'War Veterans' shall include only those persons who shall have served during the times or in the areas prescribed hereinabove. Any honorably discharged war veteran of any of the Armed Forces of the United States shall be entitled to such tax exemption to include but not be limited to tax exempt veteran's benefits as provided in 68 O.S. 2405(1) of the Oklahoma Statutes, special permits and veterans' preferences for State employment, provided, that any person who shall have served on active duty for training purposes only shall not be entitled to any such tax exemptions, special permits or veteran's preferences."

¶4 Title 72 O.S. 67.13(B) (1971) further expands the term "War Veterans" to include the following:

"Section 67.13(B) -- Benefits for persons serving after January 31, 1955. Any person who served on active duty in the Armed Forces of the United States and was discharged or separated from active duty under conditions other than dishonorable and further had served such active duty for more than ninety (90) days, other than for training purposes, any part of which occurred after January 31, 1955, or was released from active duty after January 31, 1955, for a service-connected disability, shall be entitled to tax exemptions, special permits and veterans' preferences for State employment on the same basis as war veterans."

¶6 It should also be noted that 72 O.S. 67.13(A) and 72 O.S. 67.13(B) refer incorrectly to the personal property tax exemption as contained within 68 O.S. 2405(1) instead of 68 O.S. 2405(L). However, the Courts have promulgated a rule of statutory construction which provides that in the event of an error as above, and where the legislative intent is clear from the entire statute, words may be altered, modified or supplied in order to afford the statute the force and effect intended. Midwest City v. Harris, Okl. Cr., 561
P.2d 1357 (1977). It is, therefore, obvious that the Legislature intended to refer to 68 O.S. 2405(L) as containing the veteran's personal property tax exemption.

¶7 It is, therefore, the opinion of the Attorney General that all individuals falling within the class defined as veterans under 68 O.S. 2405(L) (1971) and as “war veterans” under 72 O.S. 67.13(A) (1977) and 72 O.S. 67.13(B) (1971), are eligible for the personal property tax exemption.

 ¶0 The Attorney General is in receipt of your request for an opinion wherein you ask, in effect, the following question:

Under 19 O.S. 901.1 et seq. (1971), authorizing the establishment of Fire Protection Districts, is the millage which is assessed for the support of the district computed before or after the homestead exemption is claimed?

¶1 Title 19 O.S. 901.19 (1979), provides in pertinent part:

"The board shall also levy an annual assessment sufficient to care for the cost of operation of the district and the maintenance of the fire department and its equipment, and for payment of salaries of the officers and employees of the district, provided, that no such annual assessment for operation, maintenance, and salaries shall exceed seven (7) mills on the dollar of assessed value of the property in the district. All assessments levied under the authority of 19 O.S. 901.1 through 19 O.S. 901.26, shall be a lien against the tract of land on which they have been levied, until paid, and said lien shall be coequal with the lien of ad valorem and other taxes, including special assessments, and prior and superior to all other liens."

¶2 Oklahoma Constitution, Article XIIa, Section 1, provides in pertinent part:

"All homesteads as is or may be defined under the Laws of the State of Oklahoma for tax exemption purposes, may hereafter be exempted from all forms of ad valorem taxation by the Legislature."

¶3 Title 68 O.S. 2704 (1971), provides that each homestead in the State shall be exempted from all forms of ad valorem taxation to the extent of $1,000.00 of the assessed valuation thereof.

¶4 Thus, in order for the homestead exemption to be claimed before computing the millage, the assessments levied must be a form of ad valorem taxation.

¶5 A similar question was addressed in Armstrong v. Sewer Improvement District No. 1, 201 Okl. 531, 199 P.2d 1012 (1948), an action challenging, inter alia, the validity of assessing homesteads for the establishment and maintenance of sewer improvement districts. In the second paragraph of the syllabus, the Court stated in part:

"Assessments levied on an ad valorem basis on property in a sewer improvement district organized under the above law are special assessments for benefits that are common and general to the district as a whole, and are not ad valorem taxes. The homestead exemption provided by Article XIIa, Section 1 of the Constitution does not prohibit the levy of such assessments against homesteads within the sewer improvement district."

¶6 Based upon the Armstrong case, supra, an Attorney General's Opinion issued to the Honorable John M. Rogers on August 3, 1962, held that assessments levied under 19 O.S. 901.1 to 19 O.S. 901.25, providing for organization and maintenance of Fire Protection Districts, are not ad valorem taxes subject to the various limitations placed upon same.

¶7 It is, therefore, the official opinion of the Attorney General that the millage assessed under 19 O.S. 901.19 (1979), for the support of fire protection districts shall be computed on the assessed valuation of the real property without being reduced by homestead exemption as such assessment is not a form of ad valorem taxation subject to the limitations of Article XIIa, Section 1, of the Oklahoma Constitution.

¶0 The Attorney General is in receipt of your request for an opinion wherein you ask the following questions:

"1. Is personal property which is subject to a lease agreement between a bank, as lessor, and a non-banking business entity or individual, as lessee, exempt from personal property ad valorem taxation under Title 68 O.S. 2370 and 68 O.S. 2371 where the lessee has control over the use of the property and the lease or a 'side' agreement contains a provision giving the lessee the option to acquire title to the personal property?

"2. If the personal property described in Question One is taxable for ad valorem tax purposes, does the bank or the lessee have an obligation to file a rendition of said property with the County Assessor, as provided by Title 68 O.S. 2433, and if so, should the rendition be filed by the lessor or lessee?

"3. If the personal property described in Question One is taxable for ad valorem tax purposes, when is it the duty of the County Assessor or County Equalization Board to place said property on the County tax rolls?

"4. If a bank is leasing personal property under the circumstances described in Question One, does the bank have a duty to furnish to the County Assessor, upon request, a list of the lessees, the leased property and the terms of the lease?"

¶1 Title 68 O.S. 2370 (1971), levies a tax upon national banking associations doing business in the State of Oklahoma of four percent of their net income for the taxable year, and provides in subsection B that the said tax:

"B.... shall be exclusive and in lieu of all taxes levied by the State of Oklahoma, or any subdivision thereof, on the property of any association liable to tax hereunder; provided, that nothing in this section shall be construed to exempt the real property of national banking associations from taxation to the same extent, according to its value, as other real property is taxed." >68 O.S. 2371(B), similarly, permits banks and credit unions or ganized under the laws of this State to pay a tax on their net annual income of four percent in lieu of taxes on their shares of stock or personal property.

¶2 Your question focuses on personal property which has not been entered on the tax rolls because title is retained by a lessor bank. The tax payable under the above-cited statutes is exclusive of all taxes "on the property of" a bank, national banking association or credit union. Your first question contemplates lease terms which vest in a non-bank lessee exclusive control over the use of the personalty coupled with an option to acquire title. It requires a determination of whether the lessor has conveyed ownership.

¶3 The statutes relating to ad valorem taxation of personal property require that all taxable personal property be listed and assessed each year, 68 O.S. 2427(a) (1975); but the question of ownership must be answered from other pertinent authorities. The Uniform Commercial Code "UCC" addresses that question in its provisions relating to retention of title by the seller of goods shipped or delivered to a buyer. Such a retention or reservation "is limited in effect to a reservation of a security interest." 12A O.S. 2-

¶4 The term "security interest," as used in the UCC, means:

"... an interest in personal property or fixtures which secures payment or performance of an obligation. The retention or reservation of title by a seller of goods notwithstanding shipment or delivery to the buyer (12A O.S. 2-401) is limited in effect to a reservation of a 'security interest' .... Whether a lease is intended as security is to be determined by the facts in each case; however, (a) the inclusion of an option to purchase does not of itself make the lease one intended for security, and (b) an agreement that upon compliance with the terms of the lease the lessee shall become or has the option to become the owner of the property for no additional consideration or for a nominal consideration does make the lease one intended for security." Emphasis added 12 A O.S. 1-201(37) (1971).

¶5 Percival Const. Co. v. Miller & Miller Auctioneers, 532 F.2d 166 (10th Cir. 1976), arose out of an action brought by the alleged owner of equipment against an auctioneer to recover proceeds from the sale of equipment at an auction. The auctioneer filed an interpleader against other parties who asserted claims to proceeds which the auctioneer paid into court. The district court granted partial summary judgment to the bank holding security interest in equipment. The Court of Appeals held in pertinent part that the lease agreement which included an option to purchase provision that set purchase price and allowed for 93% of all monthly payments to be applied to that price operated to create a security interest in the lessor under Oklahoma law. The Court pointed out that it was presented with an unambiguous contract. The intent of the parties must be determined from within the four corners of the writing, and the issue was a question of law for the Court. Addressing itself to that question, the Court stated:

"The Code's definition as to when a lease is intended as a security goes on to provide that although the inclusion of an option to purchase does not of itself make the lease one intended for security, when the agreement provides that for no additional consideration, or for nominal consideration, the lessee may become the owner of the property, such provision does make the agreement one intended for security. 12A O.S. 1-201(37). In applying this measure to the fact pattern here, the lower court adopted the test set out in Crest Investment Trust, Inc. v. Atlantic Mobile Corp., 252 Md. 286, 250 A.2d 246. The critical elements of that test involve the consideration necessary for lessee to exercise the option to purchase and the percentage that consideration bears to the list price of the items leased. Under the cited case, if that percentage is less than twenty-five per cent, it is considered as showing the intent of the parties to make the lease a security. Here, the purchase option price is $8,040, which is approximately 10.6 per cent of the list price and well under the twenty-five percent guideline. Further, that price was computed by allowing for ninety-three per cent of the rentals paid by P & A under the terms of the 'lease.'

"... where the terms of the lease and option to purchase are such that the only sensible course of action for the lessee at the end of the term is to exercise that option and become owner of the goods, then the lease becomes one intended to create a security interest ...." 532 F.2d 171, 172.

¶6 Statutes exempting property from taxation are to be strictly construed against the exemptions. London Square Village v. Oklahoma County Equalization and Excise Board, 559 P.2d 1224 (Okl. 1977). Accordingly, the answer to your first question is as follows: Personal property which is subject to a lease agreement between a bank, as lessor, and a non-banking business entity or individual, as lessee, is not exempt from personal property ad valorem taxation under 68 O.S. 2370 and 68 O.S. 2371 (1971), where the lessee shall become or has the option to become the owner of the property for no additional consideration or for nominal consideration within the meaning of 12A O.S. 1-201(37) (1971).

¶7 Your second question relates to taxable personal property which is subject to a lease agreement between a bank, as lessor, and a non-banking business entity or individual, as lessee. Is there an obligation to file a rendition of such property with the county assessor? If so, should the rendition be filed by the lessor or the lessee?

¶8 Title 68 O.S. 2433 (1971), provides in pertinent part:

"(a) All corporations organized, existing or doing business in this State, other than railroad and public service corporations assessed by the State Board of Equalization, and other than national banks, state banks and trust companies, and building and loan associations, shall, on or before March 15 of each year return sworn lists or schedules of their taxable property within each county, to the county assessor of such county, and such property shall be listed with reference to amount, kind and value, on the first day of January of the year in which it is listed ...." >68 O.S. 2434(a) requires taxpayers to furnish a written statement showing the amount invested in property located in the county, and any other information which enables county officials to assess the property of such taxpayer.

¶9 Corporations are required by the language of 68 O.S. 2433 to return sworn lists or schedules "of their taxable property within each county" on or before March 15 of each year. The duty to make such return, as well as the duty imposed by 68 O.S. 2434, is a duty relating to the taxable property of the corporate or individual taxpayer. The answer to your second question is as follows: Lessees of personal property which is subject to ad valorem taxation have an affirmative duty under 68 O.S. 2433 and 68 O.S. 2434 (1971), to file a rendition of such property with the county assessor.

¶10 Your third question addresses the duties imposed upon county assessors and county boards of equalization to enter taxable personal property on the tax rolls. At what point in the calendar year is that duty dischargeable?

¶11 All taxable personal property, except intangible personal property, shall be listed and assessed each year at not to exceed thirty-five percent (35%) of its fair cash value as of the first day of January. 68 O.S. 2427(a) (1975). All personal property shall be listed on forms provided to the taxpayer by the county assessor, and such lists shall be signed and sworn to and filed with the county assessor not later than March 15 of each year. If any personal property is not listed by that date, the county assessor shall ascertain from the best information obtainable the amount and value of such property and the owner thereof. 68 O.S. 2430(b) and 68 O.S. 2437(a) (1971). The county boards of equalization shall hold sessions, commencing on the fourth Monday in April and ending not later than the first Monday in June, for the purpose of equalizing, correcting and adjusting the assessment rolls in their respective counties. 68 O.S. 2459 (1971). Each county assessor in the State shall annually prepare an assessment roll and deliver the completed roll to the county board of equalization on or before the fourth Monday in April of each year, in order that the said board may correct, adjust and equalize the taxable value of property in the county. 68 O.S. 2471 (1971).

¶12 As soon as practicable, and not later than October 1, the county assessor shall prepare tax rolls containing all adjustments by either the equalization board or the excise board which have been completed and provided to the assessor. 68 O.S. 2472 (1979).

¶13 The statutory language cited is dispositive with respect to your third question. County assessors are required to list all non-exempt personal property on January 1 of each year. They are required to include such property on the assessment rolls delivered to the county boards of equalization and to enter it on the tax rolls as soon as practicable not later than October 1 of each year. 68 O.S. 2427(a) (1974); 68 O.S. 2459 and 68 O.S. 2471 (1971); and 68 O.S. 2472 (1979).

¶14 Your fourth question seeks a determination of whether a bank, as lessor of non-exempt personal property, has a duty to furnish to the county assessor, upon request, a list of the lessees of leased property along with the terms of the lease. Title 68 O.S. 2435 (1974), provides in pertinent part that the county assessor shall assess and value all property, both real and personal, which is subject to assessment by him. The county assessor "shall do all things necessary" to enable him to assess and value all taxable property, ". . . determine the accuracy of assessment lists filed with him, discover and assess omitted property, and determine the taxable status of any property which is claimed to be exempt from ad valorem taxation for any reason.

"(c) In the performance of his duties, the county assessor, or his duly appointed and authorized deputy, shall have the power and authority to:

"(1) Go upon any premises and enter any business building or structure and view the same and the property therein, and to view, inspect or appraise any property located within his county; and

¶15 68 O.S. 2478(b) provides:

"If any taxpayer, or any official, employee, or agent of such taxpayer, shall fail or refuse, upon proper request, to permit the inspection of any property or the examination of any books, records and papers by any person authorized by this Code to do so, or shall fail or refuse to comply with any subpoena duces tecum legally issued under authority of this Code, such taxpayer shall be estopped from questioning or contesting the amount or validity of any assessment placed upon his property."

¶16 All taxable personal property, except intangible personal property, must be listed and assessed each year. 68 O.S. 2427(a) (1975). Personal property which is subject to a lease agreement between a bank, as lessor, and a non-banking business entity or individual, as lessee, is not excluded from the duty of listing "all taxable personal property." The duty of the county assessor to assess and value all property, both real and personal, which is subject to assessment embraces a duty to "do all things necessary" to the assessment and valuation of all taxable personal property pursuant to 68 O.S. 2435 (1974). The county assessor may examine any person under oath in regard to the amount or value of that person's property, and may examine all books, records and papers respecting such property. If any taxpayer, or any official, employee or agent of such taxpayer fails or refuses, upon proper request, to permit the inspection of any property or the examination of any books, records and papers, all books, records and papers respecting that person's property are subject to subpoena duces tecum issued pursuant to lawful authority. 68 O.S. 2435 and 68 O.S. 2478(b) (1974).

1. Personal property which is subject to a lease agreement between a bank, as lessor, and a non-banking business entity or individual, as lessee, is not exempt from personal property ad valorem taxation under 68 O.S. 2370 and 68 O.S. 2371 (1971), where the lessee shall become or has the option to become the owner of the property for no additional consideration or for nominal consideration within the meaning of 12A O.S. 1-201(37) (1971).
2. Lessees of non-exempt personal property have an affirmative duty under 68 O.S. 2433 and 68 O.S. 2434 (1971), to file a rendition of such property with their county assessor, and to furnish to the county assessor, upon request, all information which may reasonably be deemed necessary to enable county officials to assess the property of such taxpayer.
3. County assessors are required to list all non-exempt personal property on January 1 of each year. They are required to include such property on the assessment rolls delivered to county boards of equalization and to enter it on the tax rolls as soon as practicable, but not later than October 1 of each year. 68 O.S. 2427(a) (1974); 68 O.S. 2459 and 68 O.S. 2471 (1971); and 68 O.S. 2472 (1979).
4. County Assessors and their duly appointed and authorized deputies have the authority to examine any person under oath in regard to the amount and value of that person's property; and if any such person, or any official, employee or agent of such person, fails or refuses, upon proper request, to permit the inspection of any property or the examination of any books, records or papers, all books, records and papers respecting that person's property are subject to lawful discovery processes.

The Attorney General has received your respective requests for an official opinion. Because of their similarities, both requests have been incorporated and combined in this opinion. In effect, you ask the following questions:

1. Does the repeal of 68 O.S. 2481.7 (1971), negate the existence of the County Assessor's authority to contract with independent appraisers?
2. If County Assessors can still hire independent appraisers on a contractual basis, can they still compensate them at a rate above the statutory salary schedule set out for county deputies?
3. Assuming the County Excise Board has appropriated the money for the hiring of such "technical help" on a contractual basis, who must approve the contract between the County Assessor and the appraisers, the County Excise Board or the County Commissioners?
4. Is the county required to advertise for bids for appraisal services from a private firm or individual prior to entering into a contract for such services?

The repealed statute you refer to, 68 O.S. 2481.7 (1971), states as follows:

"Any assessor who deems it necessary to enable him to complete the listing and the valuation of the property of his county within the time prescribed by law, (1) may appoint one or more well-qualified citizens of his county to act as his assistants or deputies; and each assistant so appointed shall, under the direction of the assessor, after taking the required oath, perform all the duties enjoined upon, vested in, or imposed upon assessors."

This section was repealed by Laws 1979, c. 221, 18, effective May 30, 1979, which added 19 O.S. 1980, 162, providing:

"Subject to the approval of the County Excise Board, every county officer shall appoint such regular and special deputies as are essential to the performance of the duties of his office in an efficient manner and shall fix their salaries and compensation. The county officer shall annually make request for appropriation for payment of salaries, traveling expenses, supplies and equipment and other needs for performing his official duties. The board of county commissioners and the county excise board shall annually appropriate amounts that will enable a county officer to hire and keep capable deputies, provide their instruction, provide sufficient supplies and equipment for the county officer and his deputies, provide reimbursement for traveling expenses for the county officer or deputies whose assignments require expenditures therefor, or provide a monthly travel allowance for the county officer in lieu of reimbursed expenditures for travel within this state."

In reading these two statutes together, while noting that the same bill, House Bill No. 1472, Laws 1979, c. 221, both repealed 68 O.S. 1971, 2481.7, and added 19 O.S. Supp. 1980, 162, it becomes apparent that even if 2481.7 was the basis of the County Assessors' authority to hire independent appraisers the repeal of that section in a bill which also added 162 was not intended to repeal that authority. It is, however, the opinion of the Attorney General that 68 O.S. 2481.8 (1971), specifically grants the authority to County Assessors to hire independent appraisers; 68 O.S. 2481.8 states:

"Appraisers whose services may be obtained by appointment by the assessor or who may be assigned by the Oklahoma Tax Commission, upon request of the county assessor, to assist any county assessor shall act in an advisory capacity only, and valuations made by them shall not be binding upon the assessor, it being the intent herein that all valuations made pursuant to this act shall be made and entered by the assessor pursuant to law as directed herein."
and not 68 O.S. 2481.8 that grants County Assessors this authority, they are expressly superseded by this Opinion.

¶5 In answering your second question, this opinion is in agreement with Attorney General Opinions Nos. 68-306, 68-330 and 76-338 wherein it was determined that under 19 O.S. 180.65(d) (1971), now 19 O.S. 108.65(D) (1980), "technical help" hired on a "contract basis" by County Assessors was not subject to the salary limitations provided for county deputies.

¶6 Title 19 O.S. 162 (1980), and 19 O.S. 180.65(A) (1980), both provide that the County Excise Board must approve the County Assessor's budget which would have to include amounts anticipated to cover costs of independent appraisers. However, 19 O.S. 180.65(D) (1980), requires the approval of the County Commissioners to payment of "technical help" on a "contract basis." Therefore, the contracts would require County Commissioner approval.

¶7 In answer to your final question, no authority has been found requiring County Assessors to advertise for bids prior to entering into contracts with independent appraisers and, as previously stated, the Assessor's budget for this expense must be approved and appropriated by the County Excise Board and the individual contracts with the appraisers approved by the County Commissioners.

¶8 It is, therefore, the official opinion of the Attorney General that the repeal of 68 O.S. 2481.7 (1971), did not negate County Assessors' authority to contract with independent appraisers. Appraisers are "technical help" and are not subject to the salary limitations provided for county deputies under 19 O.S. 180.65 (1980). The County Excise Board must approve and appropriate the budgeting of this expense and the County Commissioners must approve the contracts. The County Assessor need not advertise bids prior to entering into contracts with independent appraisers which are subject to the approval of the County Commissioners and have been budgeted for by the County Excise Board. Attorney General Opinions Nos. 68-306 and 68-330 withdrawn in part.

The Attorney General has received your respective requests for an official opinion. Because of their similarities, both requests have been incorporated and combined in this opinion. In effect, you ask the following questions:

1. Does the repeal of 68 O.S. 2481.7 (1971), negate the existence of the County Assessor's authority to contract with independent appraisers?
2. If County Assessors can still hire independent appraisers on a contractual basis, can they still compensate them at a rate above the statutory salary schedule set out for county deputies?

4. Is the county required to advertise for bids for appraisal services from a private firm or individual prior to entering into a contract for such services?

The repealed statute you refer to, 68 O.S. 2481.7 (1971), states as follows:

"Any assessor who deems it necessary to enable him to complete the listing and the valuation of the property of his county within the time prescribed by law, (1) may appoint one or more well-qualified citizens of his county to act as his assistants or deputies; and each assistant so appointed shall, under the direction of the assessor, after taking the required oath, perform all the duties enjoined upon, vested in, or imposed upon assessors."

This section was repealed by Laws 1979, c. 221, 18, effective May 30, 1979, which added 19 O.S. 1980, 162, providing:

"Subject to the approval of the County Excise Board, every county officer shall appoint such regular and special deputies as are essential to the performance of the duties of his office in an efficient manner and shall fix their salaries and compensation. The board of county commissioners and the county excise board shall annually appropriate amounts that will enable a county officer to hire and keep capable deputies, provide their instruction, provide sufficient supplies and equipment for the county officer and his deputies, provide reimbursement for traveling expenses for the county officer or deputies whose assignments require expenditures therefor, or provide a monthly travel allowance for the county officer in lieu of reimbursed expenditures for travel within this state."

In reading these two statutes together, while noting that the same bill, House Bill No. 1472, Laws 1979, c. 221, both repealed 68 O.S. 1971, 2481.7, and added 19 O.S. Supp. 1980, 162, it becomes apparent that even if 2481.7 was the basis of the County Assessors' authority to hire independent appraisers the repeal of that section in a bill which also added 162 was not intended to repeal that authority. It is, however, the opinion of the Attorney General that 68 O.S. 2481.8 (1971), specifically grants the authority to County Assessors to hire independent appraisers; 68 O.S. 2481.8 states:

"Appraisers whose services may be obtained by appointment by the assessor or who may be assigned by the Oklahoma Tax Commission, upon request of the county assessor, to assist any county assessor shall act in an advisory capacity only, and valuations made by them shall not be binding upon the assessor, it being the intent herein that all valuations made pursuant to this act shall be made and entered by the assessor pursuant to law as directed herein."
Thus, to the extent Attorney General Opinions Nos. 68-306 and 68-330 state that it is 68 O.S. 2481.7 and not 68 O.S. 2481.8 that grants County Assessors this authority, they are expressly superseded by this Opinion.

In answering your second question, this opinion is in agreement with Attorney General Opinions Nos. 68-306, 68-330 and 76-338 wherein it was determined that under 19 O.S. 180.65(d) (1971), now 19 O.S. 108.65(D) (1980), "technical help" hired on a "contract basis" by County Assessors was not subject to the salary limitations provided for county deputies.

Title 19 O.S. 162 (1980), and 19 O.S. 180.65(A) (1980), both provide that the County Excise Board must approve the County Assessor's budget which would have to include amounts anticipated to cover costs of independent appraisers. However, 19 O.S. 180.65(D) (1980), requires the approval of the County Commissioners to payment of "technical help" on a "contract basis." Therefore, the contracts would require County Commissioner approval.

In answer to your final question, no authority has been found requiring County Assessors to advertise for bids prior to entering into contracts with independent appraisers and, as previously stated, the Assessor's budget for this expense must be approved and appropriated by the County Excise Board and the individual contracts with the appraisers approved by the County Commissioners.

It is, therefore, the official opinion of the Attorney General that the repeal of 68 O.S. 2481.7 (1971), did not negate County Assessors' authority to contract with independent appraisers. Appraisers are "technical help" and are not subject to the salary limitations provided for county deputies under 19 O.S. 180.65 (1980). The County Excise Board must approve and appropriate the budgeting of this expense and the County Commissioners must approve the contracts. The County Assessor need not advertise bids prior to entering into contracts with independent appraisers which are subject to the approval of the County Commissioners and have been budgeted for by the County Excise Board. ¶0 The Attorney General has received your request for an official opinion wherein you ask:

"1. What are the duties of a county treasurer concerning notification of taxpayers of taxes due for funding of fire protection districts? Must the county treasurer notify taxpayers of the taxes?
2. If the county treasurer is required to make such notification, how should this notification be made? Should the notification be included with the notification or other county taxes?
3. If notification is not the duty of the county treasurer, who should perform this duty?"

¶1 The answers to your questions can be found in Title 19 O.S. 901.1 et seq. (1971) and 19 O.S. 901.16 et seq. (1980) which are the statutes relating to Fire Protection Districts. 19 O.S. 901.20 (1980), provides in pertinent part:

"Upon direction of the board, the clerk must compute and enter in respective columns of the assessment book the respective sums in dollars and cents in each fund to be paid on each piece of property therein enumerated and the clerk shall, no earlier than the first day of July and no later than the tenth day of July in each year, certify to the county treasurer in which such district is located the amount of assessment in each fund levied upon each tract by said board and the said county treasurer shall enter the amount of each in separate columns of the tax list of his county and the said assessments shall be collected by the county treasurer at the same time and in the same manner as all other taxes are collected in this state. If any such assessment become delinquent, then it shall draw interest as a penalty after delinquency at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum. All such assessments and penalties collected or received by the county treasurer shall be paid by him to the treasurer of the district." [Emphasis added]

¶2 Thus, the County Treasurer has the duty to collect assessments from Fire Protection Districts in the same manner and at the same time as all other taxes.

¶3 The question then becomes, what are the general duties of county treasurers with relation to taxpayer notification?

¶4 68 O.S. 24201 (1971) provides:

"No demand of taxes shall be necessary, but it shall be the duty of every person subject to taxation under this Code to attend the treasurer's office and pay his taxes; and if any person neglects so to attend and pay his taxes until after they have become delinquent, the treasurer shall collect the same in the manner provided by law. If any person owing taxes, removes from one county to another in this State, the county treasurer shall forward such tax claim to the treasurer of the county to which such person has removed, and such taxes shall be collected by the county treasurer of the latter place as other taxes and returned to the proper county, less legal charges. The county treasurer may visit, in person or by deputy, places other than the county seat for the purpose of receiving taxes. Nothing herein shall be so construed as to prevent an agent of any person subject to taxation from paying his said taxes.

Notwithstanding the other provisions of this Code and of this Section that no demand for ad valorem taxes shall be necessary, the County Treasurer of each county shall, within thirty (30) days after the tax rolls have been completed and delivered to his office by the County Assessor, mail to each taxpayer at the taxpayer's last known address a statement showing separately the amount of all ad valorem taxes assessed against such taxpayer's real, personal and intangible property for the current year and all delinquent taxes remaining unpaid thereon for previous years. It is expressly provided, however, that failure of any taxpayer to receive such statement, or failure of the Treasurer to so mail the same, shall not in any way extend the date by which such taxes shall be due and payable nor relieve the taxpayer of the duty and responsibility of paying same as provided by law.

It shall be the mandatory duty of the County Treasurer to request an appropriation for necessary postage and expense to defray the cost of furnishing taxpayers the statement herein provided and it shall be the mandatory duty of the Board of County Commissioners and the County Excise Board to make such appropriation. ” [Emphasis added]

¶5 The County Treasurer should, therefore, mail to each member of the Fire Protection District, a statement that separately shows all taxes due. This statute further makes it mandatory for the County Treasurer to request an appropriation for postage and expense necessary to provide this statement and also makes it mandatory that the County Commissioners make such appropriation.

¶6 However, failure to so notify would certainly not relieve any member of a fire protection district or taxpayer of any liabilities. Stamper v. Schwartz, 129 P.2d 587 (Okl. 1939).

¶7 In view of the answers to the foregoing questions it is unnecessary to address your final question.

¶8 It is, therefore, the official opinion of the Attorney General:
1. Under 19 O.S. 901.20 (1980), County Treasurers have a duty to collect assessments for Fire Protection Districts in the same manner and at the same time as they collect all other taxes.
2. Under 60 O.S. 24201 (1971), County Treasurers have a duty to send out statements that show the separate amount due. This section makes it mandatory for the County Treasurers to request an amount to defray expenses, i.e., mailing; and mandatory for the County Commissioners to provide funds for this purpose.

¶0 The Attorney General has received your request for an opinion wherein you ask, in effect, the following questions:
1. Does 32 O.S. 2 (1971), indicate that a married woman takes the domicile of her husband?
2. If the answer to the first question is in the affirmative, is the statute constitutional?

¶1 In responding to your inquiries, it is assumed that your First question has reference to spouses living at separate residencies. In the case of a husband and wife living together, her domicile is, of course, the same as his as a matter of choice, regardless of the operation of law.

¶2 It is also assumed that your question is within the context of an amicable spousal relationship, with the spouses living in separate residences by mutual consent. It is settled that in cases of an antagonistic or hostile spousal relationship, the wife may acquire a domicile separate from that of her husband. See, e.g., Bixby v. Bixby, Okl., 361 P.2d 1075 (1961).

¶3 Title 32 O.S. 2 (1971), provides:

"The husband is the head of the family. He may choose any reasonable place or mode of living and the wife must conform thereto."

¶4 It should be noted that Section 2 does not explicitly refer to domicile, and a review of Oklahoma case law reveals that the courts of this State have never addressed the question of spousal domicile within the context of a 32 O.S. 2 (1971), analysis. The apparent reason for this is that a plain reading of the statute shows that it is unconcerned with the question of domicile, which is a legal concept; rather the statute is concerned only with the factual matter of the actual place of residence of the wife. Insofar as Section 2 may be read to mandate that the wife live with her husband regardless of her volition in the matter, it is clearly subject to constitutional question. However, that is not properly a matter for consideration under the circumstances of your opinion request. At most, Section 2 is only indirectly related to the question of domicile, inasmuch as it may be seen as determinative of place of residence, which in turn affects the determination of one's domicile.

¶5 Regardless of its general relationship to the question of domicile, however, a reasonable construction of the statute shows it to have no applicability to the specific situation under consideration, i.e., spouses living apart by mutual consent. It is unreasonable to conclude that the statute was intended to force a woman to live with her husband regardless of their mutual consent to live apart. The Legislature in enacting a statute will never be presumed to have intended an absurd result. AMF Tuboscope Co. v. Hatchel, Okl., 547 P.2d 374 (1976). Obviously, unless it is construed in such fashion, Section 2 is not relevant, even indirectly, to the question of the domicile of the wife living apart from her husband by mutual consent. We conclude that 32 O.S. 2 (1971), has no applicability in determining the domicile of a married woman living apart from her husband, and particularly in cases in which the separation is by mutual consent. This makes a consideration of your second question unnecessary.
¶6 In view of these responses to your questions, it is appropriate to expand the scope of your first question somewhat to consider a corollary thereto: Whether Oklahoma statutory or case law suggests that a married woman automatically takes the domicile of her husband.

¶7 Dicta in two Oklahoma cases may be read to indicate acceptance of the common law rule that a wife's domicile follows the domicile of her husband. Bixby v. Bixby, supra; Pope v. Pope, 116 Okl. 188, 243 P. 962 (1926). However, the force of these cases in stating a generally applicable rule of law is severely weakened by the fact that the Syllabus by the Court in the seminal Pope case apparently restricts application of the common law rule to situations in which the wife is living with her husband. As noted above, in such cases the domicile of the wife would, of course, be the same as that of the husband, regardless of the operation of the common law rule.

¶8 The modern trend is clearly toward the view that a married woman may acquire a domicile of choice separate from that of her husband. Several states have specifically so provided by statute. See, e.g., Colo. Rev. Stat. 14-2-210; Vt. Stat. Ann. tit. 1 O.S. 177. Modern case law is in accord. See, e.g., Napletana v. Hillsdale College, 385 F.2d 871 (6th Cir. 1967); Wilson v. Pickens, 444 F. Supp. 53 (W.D. Okl. 1977). Some courts have found a constitutional underpinning for the principle that the wife may acquire a separate domicile. See, esp., Spindel v. Spindel, 283 F.Supp. 797 (E.D.N.Y. 1968); see also Armstrong v. Armstrong, 350 U.S. 568, 577, 76 S.Ct. 629, 100 L.Ed. 705 (1956) (Black, J., concurring); Samuel v. University of Pittsburg, 538 F.2d 991 (3rd Cir. 1976), affning 375 F. Supp. 1119 (W.D. Pa. 1974). Section 21 of Reinstatement (Second) of Conflict of Laws state that: "[a] wife who lives apart from her husband can acquire a separate domicile of choice"; Official Comment "d" accompanying that section makes clear that the principle is applicable in cases of mutual consent to separate residences or when "for any reason [the wife] is living apart from her husband even though her relations with him are wholly amicable." The commentators are in accord. See, e.g., H. Clark, Law of Domestic Relations, 4.3 (1968).

¶9 As noted earlier, the law in Oklahoma on the matter is unsettled. However, in light of modern social policy and the overwhelming weight of modern authority, we believe that it is beyond serious question that the Oklahoma courts, if presently presented with the issue, would conclude that a married woman may acquire a domicile of choice separate from that of her husband, especially where the maintenance of separate residences is by mutual consent. Of course, the determination of whether the wife has maintained or established a separate domicile is a question of fact which must be addressed on a case-by-case basis.

¶10 It is, therefore, the official opinion of the Attorney General that your questions be answered as follows:
1. Title 32 O.S. 2 (1971), is not determinative of the domicile of a married woman living apart from her husband.
2. A married woman may acquire a domicile of choice separate from that of her husband.
3. Whether the domicile of a married woman is the same as that of her husband is a question of fact which must be determined on a case-by-case basis.

¶0 The Attorney General has received your request for an opinion wherein you ask, in effect:

May a married person maintaining or acquiring a domicile of choice separate from that of his/her spouse acquire separate rights to the homestead ad valorem tax exemption under 68 O.S. 2406 et seq. and the homestead exemption from execution under 31 O.S. 1 et seq.?

¶1 Title 68 O.S. 2406 (1973), is dispositive of that portion of your question regarding homestead ad valorem tax exemption. That section provides in pertinent part:

"The term homestead, as used in Sections 68 O.S. 2408 through 68 O.S. 2419 of this Code, shall mean and include the actual residence of a natural person who is a citizen of the State of Oklahoma, provided the record actual ownership of such residence be vested in such natural person residing and domiciled thereon; provided that any single person of legal age, married couple and their minor child or children, or the minor child or children of a deceased person, whether residing together or separated, or surviving spouse shall be allowed under this act only one homestead exemption in the State of Oklahoma. . . ." (Emphasis added)

¶2 A plain reading of the language of this statute makes clear that a married couple may claim only one homestead for ad valorem tax exemption purposes. In cases of separate domiciles by husband and wife in which both homes meet the criteria set forth in 2406, the residence of either, but not both, may be claimed by them as their homestead.

¶3 The answer to that portion of your question regarding exemption of the homestead from execution is found in 31 O.S. 2 (1980), which provides in pertinent part:

"The homestead of any family in this state or the homestead of a single, adult person in this state, not within any city, town or village, shall consist of not more than one hundred sixty acres of land, which may be in one or more parcels, to be selected by the owner. The homestead within a city or town, owned and occupied as a residence only, shall consist of not exceeding one acre of land, to be selected by the owner Provided, that the same shall not exceed in value the sum of Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000.00), and in no event shall the homestead be reduced to less than one quarter of an acre, without regard to value: And provided, further, that in case said homestead is used for both residence and business purposes, the homestead interests therein shall not exceed in value the sum of Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000.00)...." (Emphasis added)

¶4 This section clearly allows one homestead per family or single, adult person. A married couple having separate domiciles of choice may not each claim homestead rights in his/her residence. Such would contravene not only the plain language of the statute, but its purpose as well, which is to insure the preservation of a home for the family or single individual, not to enable one to escape just liabilities or to perpetrate a fraud or injustice. Glaze v. Drawver, 189 Okl. 402, 117 P.2d 544 (1941).
¶5 It is, therefore, the official opinion of the Attorney General that a married person acquiring or maintaining a domicile of choice separate from that of his/her spouse does not acquire separate rights to the homestead ad valorem tax exemption under 68 O.S. 2406 (1973) et seq. or the homestead exemption from execution under 31 O.S. 1 et seq.

¶0 The Attorney General has received your request for an official opinion asking, in effect:
Are the services of an investment counselor considered "professional services," as that term is used in the Oklahoma Central Purchasing Act, 74 O.S. 85.1 et seq. (1981)?

¶1 The provisions of 74 O.S. 85.7 (1981), part of the Oklahoma Central Purchasing Act, require that acquisitions or contracts in excess of $750 be submitted for competitive bids. Specifically exempt from this requirement are contracts for architectural, engineering, legal or other professional services. 74 O.S. 85.7 provides:

"No acquisition or contract shall be made in excess of Seven Hundred Fifty Dollars ($750.00) without the submission of competitive bids by the State Purchasing Director, and such acquisition or contract shall be awarded to the lowest and best bidder .... Provided, that such competitive bid requirement shall not apply to contracts for architectural, engineering, legal, or other professional services...." (Emphasis added).

¶2 Your question to this office is whether the service of an investment counselor is a "professional service," as that term is used in the above-quoted statute, thus, exempting contracts for the services of an investment counselor from the competitive bidding requirements of the Central Purchasing Act.

¶3 In addressing this question, we observe that the term "professional services" is not defined in the Central Purchasing Act, but that the same is defined at 18 O.S. 803 (1981). Under the provisions of 25 O.S. 2 (1981), terms defined in one statute are to be given the same meaning in other statutes, unless a contrary intention plainly appears:

"Whenever the meaning of a word or phrase is defined in any statute, such definition is applicable to the same word or phrase wherever it occurs, except where a contrary intention plainly appears."

¶4 This rule of construction has been followed on several occasions by the Oklahoma Supreme Court. E.g., Dolese Bros. Co. v. Privett, 622 P.2d 1080 (Okl. 1981), in which the Court stated:

"... Whenever the meaning of a word or phrase is defined in any statute, such definition is applicable to the same word or phrase whenever it occurs, except where a contrary intention plainly appears. 25 O.S. 2 (1971). Stone v. Hodges, Okl., 435 P.2d 165 (1967)." 622 P.2d at 1084.

¶5 As the Oklahoma Supreme Court recognized in the case of Wimberly v. Deacon, 144 P.2d 447 (Okl. 1944), the Legislature must be presumed to be familiar with settled rules of construction of statutory provisions, and the Legislature has a right to act upon such rules and to expect that the courts will follow them, stating:

"Those who frame statutes and constitutional provisions must always be presumed to be, and they generally are in fact, familiar with settled rules of statutory and constitutional construction, and they have a right to act upon such rules and to expect the courts to follow them in construing and enforcing the same. And in order that there may be stability and certainty in the interpretation and enforcement of such provisions, as they are understood by those who frame them, the courts should scrupulously apply and follow such rules. To do otherwise is to run the risk of going contrary to the true meaning of such provisions, and to amend the statutes or constitution by judicial fiat." 144 P.2d at 450. (Emphasis added).
Accordingly, when the Legislature, in 1967, amended Title 74 O.S. 85.7, for the first time exempting "professional services," from bidding requirements, the Legislature was presumed to be aware of the rules of statutory construction requiring that words defined in one statute be given the same meaning unless a clear intent to the contrary was shown. 1967 Okla. Sess. Laws, c. 109, 1. The Legislature was further presumed to be aware of the definition of "professional services" in Title 18, first enacted in 1961. 1961 Okla. Sess. Laws, p. 204, 3.

Thus, the answer to your question is dependent upon whether the provisions of 74 O.S. 85.7 (1981), which exempts "professional services," from bidding requirements, contains language which plainly makes it appear that the Legislature intended that the term be given a meaning different than that contained in the definition in Title 18. We find no such contrary intent.

The provisions of 18 O.S. 803 (1981) define the term "professional services" to mean:

". . . the personal service rendered by:

"a. A physician, surgeon or doctor of medicine . . .

"b. An osteopathic physician or surgeon . . .

c. A chiropractor . . .

d. A chiropodist-podiatrist . . .

e. An optometrist . . .

f. A veterinarian . . .

g. An architect . . .

h. An attorney . . .

i. A dentist . . .

j. A public accountant . . .

k. A psychologist . . .

l. A physical therapist . . .
m. A registered nurse . . .

n. A professional engineer . . .

o. A land surveyor...." (Emphasis added).

The use of the term "professional services" in 74 O.S. 85.7 (1981) is consistent with this definition. The language used in the proviso reads:

". . . that such competitive bid requirement shall not apply to contracts for architectural, engineering, legal, or other professional services." (Emphasis added).

Note that the enumerated services -- architectural, engineering and legal services -- are all included within the definition of "professional services" in Title 18. This enumeration, together with the use of the phrase "or other professional services," leads to but one conclusion, the Legislature was not, in enacting the provisions of Title 74, expressing an intent to use the term "professional services" in a manner different than that provided for in Title 18. Accordingly, under the statutory rules of construction, discussed above, the definition of "professional services" in Title 18 is applicable to the same term in Title 74. As the definition of "professional services" in Title 18 does not contain the services of an investment advisor, we conclude that the proviso in 74 O.S. 85.7 (1981), exempting architectural, engineering, legal or other Nor could the requirement of competitive bidding be avoided by the expedient choice of one of the enumerated professionals, for example, a lawyer or accountant, to serve as an investment counselor. Such a contract would still be for investment counseling services rather than any defined professional service. The fact that someone engaged to perform nonexempt personal services may also be licensed to perform exempt professional services is immaterial.

¶12 It is, therefore, the official opinion of the Attorney General that the provisions of 74 O.S. 85.7 (1981), which exclude contracts for architectural, engineering, legal or other professional services from the competitive bidding requirements of the Oklahoma Central Purchasing Act, do not exempt contracts for the services of investment counselors from the competitive bidding requirements of that Act.
¶0 The Attorney General has received your request for an official opinion asking, in effect:

May the board of county commissioners of a county acquire equipment for such county by means of a lease-purchase contract when there are sufficient funds available to the county for an outright purchase of such equipment?

¶1 Counties in Oklahoma possess only those corporate powers which have been assigned to them by express provisions of positive law. Bd. of County Com’rs of Okl. County v. Warram, 285 P.2d 1034 (Okl. 1955). Therefore, the propriety of such a contractual arrangement as that specified by your question may be judged only by reference to the specific statutes which recognize and delineate the power of counties to lease and lease-purchase.

¶2 The general authority of counties to engage in leases and lease purchase arrangements is found at 62 O.S. 430.1 (1981), the pertinent portion of which provides:

"The governing board of any county, city or town, or school district is authorized to rent on a monthly basis real property or equipment as authorized by the governing board and to pay the rental charges thereon for usage during any fiscal period, or portion thereof, out of appropriations made and approved for such purposes for, or during, such fiscal year.

": . . It is the purpose of this act to authorize such governing boards to enter into lease and lease-purchase contracts but not to incur any obligations upon the part of their respective municipal governmental subdivisions in excess of the income and revenue thereof provided, for such purposes for the fiscal year in which the lease contract is effectively operative...." (Emphasis added).

¶3 The power of the counties to lease and lease-purchase granted by the statute cited above is not, under the terms of that act, limited in application to those situations in which the county does not possess adequate funds to make an outright purchase of the equipment required by the county. Consequently, on the face of 62 O.S. 430.1, it would appear that a county may avail itself of an opportunity to lease or lease-purchase equipment, without regard to whether it might also possess the capacity to acquire such equipment in some other fashion as well. This interpretation is consistent with the principle that a general grant of power, unaccompanied by definite directions as to how the power is to be exercised, implies the existence of the right to employ any means and methods necessary to the exercise of such power. State, ex rel. Taylor v. Superior Court for King County, 98 P.2d 985 (Wash. 1940).

¶4 Without doubt, the Legislature could have imposed, as part of 62 O.S. 430.1, a requirement that the lease or lease-purchase method of acquisition of county property not be used where adequate funds permit an outright purchase. The failure to so provide gives rise to the implication that no such limitation was intended to apply. City of Duncan v. Bingham, 394 P.2d 456 (Okl. 1964). Further, the Legislature has provided just such a limitation on the power of counties to lease and lease-purchase equipment in one specialized category of acquisitions: lease-purchases of road equipment and machinery. Title 69 O.S. 636.3 (1983) provides, in pertinent part:

"A. Counties shall enter into lease or lease-purchase contracts for road machinery and equipment with the Department of Transportation pursuant to the provisions of Sections 636.1 through 636.7 of this title and may not otherwise lease road machinery or equipment except in the case of an emergency, when specialized road machinery or equipment for projects of short durations is required or for other road machinery or equipment not immediately available from the Department of Transportation, as may be needed for periods not to exceed thirty (30) days.
"B. A county shall be eligible to enter into a lease or lease-purchase contract with the Department of Transportation for road machinery and equipment if it does not have sufficient funds available during any fiscal year for the purchase of road machinery and equipment. Nothing in Sections 636.1 through 636.7 of this title shall prohibit a county from purchasing road machinery and equipment if it has adequate funds appropriated during any fiscal year for such purpose."

¶5 The inclusion in the foregoing act of the prohibition of leases and lease-purchases for road machinery and equipment where a county possesses sufficient funds for the purchase of such equipment, necessarily negates the possibility that such a limitation is inherent in the general grant of county power to lease and lease-purchase found in 62 O.S. 430.1 (1981). If the general leasing power granted in 62 O.S. 430.1 were already so limited, the express inclusion of such a limitation in 69 O.S. 636.3 (1983) would be mere surplusage. Yet, it may not be presumed that the Legislature included language in a statute which serves no useful purpose. Hunt v. Washington Fire & Marine Ins. Co., 381 P.2d 844 (Okl.1963). Therefore, it follows that 62 O.S. 430.1 (1981) generally gives counties authority to acquire equipment pursuant to lease and lease-purchase contracts, without regard to whether sufficient funds are available for an outright purchase. However, an exception to this rule has been expressly carved out where the lease or lease-purchase contract is for road machinery or equipment.

¶6 Further note that even the foregoing limitation upon the power of counties to lease-purchase, in those cases where there are sufficient county funds available for an outright purchase, is itself subject to an exception. Under the express terms of 69 O.S. 636.3(A), supra, such limitation would not apply where the equipment acquisition is necessary to respond to an emergency, or where equipment is needed only for a short time and is unavailable from the Oklahoma Department of Transportation. The very structure of these various exceptions and limitations on the powers of counties to lease or lease-purchase equipment negates any possibility that the availability of adequate funds for an outright purchase has any relevance, except in the very narrow circumstances specified above.

¶7 It is, therefore, the official opinion of the Attorney General that Boards of County Commissioners may acquire equipment for such counties by means of a lease or lease-purchase contract, even if sufficient funds are available to the counties for an outright purchase of such equipment, by operation of 62 O.S. 430.1 (1981). However, under 69 O.S. 636.3 (1983), if such acquisition is for road machinery or equipment, neither a lease nor a lease-purchase may be used for its acquisition if the county possesses sufficient funds for a purchase of such equipment, except in cases of emergency, or where the equipment is required for a short period and is unavailable from the Department of Transportation.

MICHAEL C. TURPEN
ATTORNEY GENERAL OF OKLAHOMA
JAMES B. FRANKS
ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL
DEPUTY CHIEF, CIVIL DIVISION
The Attorney General has received your request for an official opinion, asking in effect:

1. Are county treasurers in Oklahoma required to credit money earned from investment of ad valorem tax revenues temporarily in their custody, but ultimately attributable, after apportionment, to local school districts, to the accounts of those school districts?
2. Do county treasurers possess authority to invest ad valorem tax revenue portions that will ultimately accrue to school districts prior to apportionment of such funds, other than by depositing same in a county depository on a demand deposit basis?
3. Under the provisions of 68 O.S. 24209, 68 O.S. 24210 (1981), may apportionment and distribution of ad valorem tax revenues ultimately attributable to school districts be made more frequently than on a monthly basis?
4. By what method should county treasurers determine sums due school districts from interest earned on ad valorem tax revenues attributable to the districts?

Under the provisions of Oklahoma law, public school districts receive a portion of their financial support from ad valorem tax revenues collected in the county or counties where the districts are located. Okla. Const., Article X, Section 9; 70 O.S. 5-133 (1981). The respective county treasurer in each county is statutorily obligated to collect and receive all such taxes, including the portions thereof which ultimately will be payable to local school districts. 68 O.S. 24200 (1981).

Upon receipt of these sums, the county treasurer must deposit them, not later than the immediately next banking day, with one or more banks or trust companies designated as a proper county or state depository. 62 O.S. 516.5 (1981). Thereafter, the treasurer is obligated to apportion for the appropriate school districts their respective portions of these ad valorem tax revenues at the end of each calendar month. 68 O.S. 24209 (1981). Further, the treasurer must also, at the close of each month, place to the credit of each qualifying school district its share of any interest that may have accrued on the average daily balances of monies deposited pursuant to the county depository law provisions. 70 O.S. 691 (1981).

Your several questions address different areas of law concerning investment, apportionment, and distribution of these school district ad valorem tax revenues.

Initially, you ask whether all county treasurers in Oklahoma must credit money earned from investment of ad valorem tax revenues temporarily in their custody, but ultimately attributable, after apportionment, to local public school districts, to those school districts’ accounts. This question was recently answered affirmatively by the Oklahoma Supreme Court decision in Independent School District No. 1, Tulsa County v. Bd. of County Commissioners, Tulsa County, 674 P.2d 547 (Okl. 1983).

In that case, the Tulsa County Treasurer had been directed by the Tulsa County Board of County Commissioners to credit all money earned from investment of ad valorem tax revenues temporarily in his custody to the county general fund, including interest earned through his investment of tax revenues ultimately attributable, after apportionment, to the local public school districts. The governing boards of several independent school districts in Tulsa County objected to this practice, and successfully obtained declaratory and injunctive relief from the district court. Id. at 547.

¶6 On appeal, the Oklahoma Supreme Court affirmed the trial court's disposition of the matter, specifically ruling that 70 O.S. 691 (1981) governed ownership of such interest and that the school district was lawfully entitled to receive all interest earned on its share of the ad valorem tax revenues. Id. at 550.

¶7 You next inquire whether a county treasurer has lawful authority to invest ad valorem tax revenue portions that will ultimately accrue to a school district, other than by placing same in a proper depository on a demand deposit basis, prior to apportionment of same.

¶8 Dispositive of your inquiry is A.G. Opin. No. 84-106, which opined that a county treasurer may, upon approval of the board of county commissioners, under the authority of 62 O.S. 87 (1981), deposit ad valorem tax receipts on a time deposit basis pending their apportionment to the respective school districts in the county.

¶9 Your third inquiry asks if a county treasurer may apportion ad valorem tax collections attributable to school districts on a basis more frequently than on a monthly basis. Title 68 O.S. 24209 (1981) provides, in this regard:

¶10 68 O.S. 24210 provides that, after apportionment is made by the county treasurer pursuant to 68 O.S. 24209, he shall transmit a statement of the amount apportioned each public entity to the county clerk, who shall then issue a warrant in the proper amount to the treasurer of each respective entity.

¶11 The provisions of 68 O.S. 24209 were previously reviewed in A.G. Opin. No. 82-110 and found to prohibit the implementation of any disbursement routine which permitted distribution at any time after the end of each calendar month. However, your inquiry comes from a different perspective, asking if 68 O.S. 24209 prevents more frequent apportionment, where practically feasible and when all related statutory conditions are met, is forbidden by 68 O.S. 24209.

¶12 The cardinal rule for construction of statutory promulgations is to ascertain the intention of the Legislature in enacting the statutes. Jackson v. Ind. School District No. 16, Payne County, 648 P.2d 26 (Okl. 1982). Statutory provisions, in general, should be construed so as to give all their statements sensible construction, bearing in mind at all times the evils to be avoided and the remedy afforded. AMF Tuboscope Co. v. Hatchel, 547 P.2d 374,379 (Okl. 1976). The long-range objectives of all tax measures is the accomplishment of good social order by providing financial support to cover the expenses of government and its programs. 3 Sands, Sutherland on Statutory Construction, 66.02 (4th ed. 1974).

¶13 As indicated in A.G. Opin. No. 82-110, 68 O.S. 24209's provisions are intended to insure a mandatory maximum time period within which the apportionment of school district ad valorem tax revenues must be made to the respective districts. The evils sought to be avoided by the procedure set forth are the many fiscal uncertainties and consequences resulting from irregular apportionments separated by time periods greater than one month. There is no indication that more frequent apportionment, where practically feasible and when all related statutory conditions are met, is forbidden by 68 O.S. 24209.

¶14 Your final question asks what method a county treasurer should use to determine sums due school districts from interest earned on ad valorem tax revenues. Title 70 O.S. 691 (1981), governing such sums, does not prescribe that any particular methods be used to determine the amount due, only that the proper amounts be distributed as required. The State Auditor and Inspector, under the authority of 74 O.S. 212.1 and 74 O.S. 214 (1981), may advise county officials and prescribe uniform accounting procedures for such use in these instances.
¶15 It is, therefore, the official opinion of the Attorney General that:
1. Under the provisions of 70 O.S. 691 (1981) and the ruling of Independent School District No. I, Tulsa County v. Bd. of County Commissioners, Tulsa County, 674 P.2d 547 (Okl.1983), all county treasurers in Oklahoma must credit money earned from investment of ad valorem tax revenues temporarily in their custody, but ultimately attributable, after apportionment, to local public school districts, to the account of those respective districts.
2. County treasurers may, upon approval of the board of county commissioners, under the authority of 62 O.S. 87 (1981), deposit ad valorem tax receipts ultimately attributable to local school districts on a time deposit basis pending their apportionment to the respective school districts in the county.
3. Under the provisions of 68 O.S. 24209, 68 O.S. 24210 (1981), apportionment and distribution of ad valorem tax revenues ultimately attributable to school districts may be effected more frequently than on a monthly basis, provided all related statutory requirements are met.
4. Title 70 O.S. 691 (1981) does not specify that any particular method be used in determining sums due school districts from interest earned on ad valorem tax revenues attributable to the districts, but provides only that the proper amounts be distributed as required. The State Auditor and Inspector, under the authority of 74 O.S. 212.1 and 74 O.S. 214 (1981) may advise county officials and prescribe uniform accounting procedures for such use.

MICHAEL C. TURPEN
ATTORNEY GENERAL OF OKLAHOMA
MICHAEL SCOTT FERN
ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL
¶0 The Attorney General has received your request for an official opinion asking, in effect:
Once the budget for the county has been approved by the County Excise Board, can the Board of County Commissioners transfer funds from an account other than the one authorized by the budget, in a situation that is not immediately urgent?

¶1 Title 62 O.S. 461 (1981), governs the transfer of money from an appropriation account or department of county government. It states in pertinent part:

"If additional or supplemental needs exist in any department or appropriation account of a county, school board of education or municipal government as to any item or items of appropriation therefor, that are immediately urgent, and there exists in any other appropriation account or department of the government unexpended and unencumbered balances of appropriations of less immediately urgent need, the duly-constituted head of such department or officer in charge of an account needing additional or supplemental appropriations, shall make a written request for transfer of appropriation balance or any portion thereof to the governing body. The written request for transfer shall set forth such additional or supplemental needs and the occasion for such needs, together with detail of account items and the amount of each item proposed to be canceled, and the written consent of the department head or officer in charge of the account from which the appropriation or any portion thereof is to be canceled. The approval of the request for transfer by the governing body, without other formality, shall effect cancellation of appropriations in the items and amounts less urgently needed and increase in like total sum to the appropriation accounts or department by items and amounts for such immediately urgent needs." (Emphasis added).

¶2 A rule of statutory construction is where the language of a statute is plain and unambiguous, and its meaning clear and no occasion exists for rules of construction, the statute will be accorded the meaning as expressed by language therein employed. Cave Springs Public School Dist. I-30 of Adair County v.
Blair, 613 P.2d 1046 (Okl. 1980).

¶3 Clearly, under 62 O.S. 461 (1981), any appropriation account or any department of a county can request transfer of money only from one account or department to another account or department when the need is of an "immediately urgent" nature. Such a transfer cannot occur when the need is not "immediately urgent."

¶4 If an appropriation account or a department of a county does have a need that is "immediately urgent," and there exists an appropriation account or a department of the county with unencumbered and unexpended balances "of less immediately urgent need," the department with the urgent need can request a transfer of money under 62 O.S. 461 (1981). This statute prescribes a procedure to be used when requesting a transfer of funds.
¶5 The request for a transfer of funds shall be in writing, setting forth the additional needs and the occasion for such needs. The request must contain details of account items and the amount of each item proposed to be canceled. In addition, the request must have the written consent of the department head or officer in charge of the account from which the appropriation is to be canceled.

¶6 Such a request must be approved by the governing board of the county, the Board of County Commissioners. Approval of the transfer "without other formalities," shall result in cancellation of the appropriations of the items and accounts of less immediately urgent need and increase the appropriations of the items and accounts of immediately urgent need. Section 62 O.S. 461 further provides that the clerk of the governing body shall notify the clerk of the county excise board, the treasurer, and the department(s) affected by the action, so they may adjust their accounts accordingly.

¶7 It is, therefore, the official opinion of the Attorney General that 62 O.S. 461 (1981) only permits the transfer of funds from a department or appropriation account of a county when there exists a need that is immediately urgent and there exists another appropriation account or department of the county with unexpended and unencumbered funds of less immediately urgent need.

MICHAEL C. TURPEN
RICHARD MILDREN
ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL
¶0 The Attorney General has received your request for an official opinion asking:

"1. Is a county required to utilize the competitive bidding procedures established by 19 O.S. 1500 - 19 O.S. 1505 (1984), when acquiring insurance coverage for county employees?" and "2. If the provisions of 19 O.S. 1500 - 19 O.S. 1505 (1984), do not apply, may a county enter into a contract to acquire insurance coverage for county employees for a period in excess of one year?"

¶1 We do not find any procedures provided by statutory provisions that would require the use of competitive bidding when acquiring insurance coverage for its employees by a county other than possibly 19 O.S. 1500 through 19 O.S. 1505 (1984). Thus, we begin our examination of your questions by reviewing the bidding procedures established under 19 O.S. 1500 - 19 O.S. 1505 (1984).

¶2 In 1982, the Oklahoma Legislature established a procedure for counties in acquiring the necessary items for their use. See, 19 O.S. 1500 - 19 O.S. 1505 (1984).

¶3 Title 19 O.S. 1501 (1984), places upon the county purchasing agent the duty to make all purchases paid from county funds for the various departments, offices and employees of the county. Subsection 3 states that "a county shall make purchases and rental or lease purchase agreements only after following the bidding procedures as provided by law[.]"

¶4 In addition, Subsection 3 provides for exceptions from the statutorily established bidding procedures. For purposes of this Opinion, we are assuming that a particular acquisition of insurance coverage will not fall into one of these exceptions.

¶5 Title 19 O.S. 1505 (1984) establishes a bidding procedure to be used in certain circumstances. This statute states, in relevant part:

"The following procedures shall be used by counties for the requisition, purchase, lease purchase, rental, and receipt of supplies, materials, and equipment for the maintenance, operation, and capital expenditures of county government unless otherwise provided for by law." (Emphasis added).

¶6 Answering your first question requires a determination of what is the acquisition of insurance coverage for county employees. If such an acquisition is the acquisition of "supplies, materials and equipment for the maintenance, operation, and capital expenditure of county equipment," then the county is required to utilize the procedure established by 19 O.S. 1505 (1984). If not, then the county is not required to utilize that procedure.

¶7 We note that there is no statutory definition of supplies, materials, equipment or capital expenditures in the statutes governing county purchasing procedures. Nor do the statutes define the acquisition of an insurance contract. See, 19 O.S. 1500 - 19 O.S. 1505 (1984).

¶8 In Attorney General Opinion No. 84-201, we examined the nature of the acquisition of an insurance contract by the Oklahoma Turnpike Authority in light of the Central Purchasing Act, 74 O.S. 85.12 et seq. (1981), as amended. In that Opinion, we determined that the acquisition of an insurance contract was the acquisition of a service by the purchasing entity. This determination was based upon an understanding of the common meaning of an insurance contract plus the statutory definition for "services" in the Central Purchasing Act. Using the same analogy, the acquisition of an insurance contract by the county would not be the acquisition of supplies, materials or equipment.
Another rule of statutory construction is the maxim “expressio unius est exclusio alterius,” which means the mention of one thing in a statute implies the exclusion of another. Hardesty v. Andro Corporation Webster Division, 555 P.2d 1030 (Okl. 1976). While this maxim is to be exercised with great caution and is merely an auxiliary rule of statutory construction, this rule seems appropriate in this situation. The failure of the legislature to include items such as an insurance contract in 19 O.S. 1505 (1984), implies that these items would be excluded from the statutory provisions. Thus, a county is not subject to the provisions of the County Purchasing Act, 19 O.S. 1500 through 19 O.S. 1505 (1984), when acquiring insurance coverage for the county and its employees.

Your second question can be answered by an examination of Article X, Section 26 of the Oklahoma Constitution, which states:

“No county, city, town, township, school district, or other political corporation, or subdivision of the State, shall be allowed to become indebted, in any manner, or for any purpose, to an amount exceeding, in any year, the income and revenue provided for such year, without the assent of three-fifths of the voters thereof, voting at an election, to be held for that purpose.” (Emphasis added).

This constitutional provision only permits a county to enter into contracts payable from the revenues and income of that year, unless agreed upon by a three-fifths (3/5) vote of the people voting for that purpose. See, Boardman Co. v. Board of Com’rs. of Ellis Co., 276 P. 474 (Okl. 1929); Garvin Co. v. Lindsay Bridge Co., 124 P.329 (Okl. 1912). Thus, a county could only enter into a contract for one year unless agreed upon by three-fifths (3/5) vote of the people voting for that purpose.

It is, therefore, the official opinion of the Attorney General that:

1. A county is not required to utilize the competitive bidding procedures established in 19 O.S. 1505 (1984), when acquiring insurance coverage for the county and/or its employees.
2. Article X, Section 26 of the Oklahoma Constitution permits a county to enter into a contract to acquire insurance coverage for county employees only for one year, payable from revenues and income of the same contracting year. However, Article X, Section 26 of the Oklahoma Constitution would allow a county to enter into a contract to acquire insurance coverage for an undetermined number of years, if three-fifths (3/5) of the voters of said county approve such a transaction at an election held for that purpose.
¶0 The Attorney General has received your request for an official opinion asking:

"1. Are counties required to bid the purchase of computer hardware and/or software (assuming none of the statutory exemptions apply)?

"2. Would the answer to question one be different if the equipment is acquired under a rental or lease-purchase agreement?

"3. Must 'computer services' be bid by county government?

"4. If a computer information service company provided computer services including software and hardware for a monthly fee, or an instrument fee, should it be bid?"

¶1 Effective on January 1, 1983, the Oklahoma Legislature imposed upon all the counties in the State a county purchasing act, codified at 19 O.S. 1500 et seq. (1985). The answers to your questions must be found, if at all, under that act, since these are the only State statutes imposing competitive bidding requirements upon county government for any type of procurement, excepting only the construction of public works, which is governed by the Public Competitive Bidding Act of 1974. See 61 O.S. 101 et seq. (1981), as amended. For purposes of this opinion, it is assumed that the Public Competitive Bidding Act of 1974 does not apply to the types of contracts about which you have raised questions.

I. Purchase, rental and lease purchase of computer hardware and software by counties.

¶2 Your first two questions may logically and properly be treated together, considering the language of the county purchasing act. You wish to know whether, in the absence of statutory exemption, the purchase, rental or lease-purchase of computer hardware and computer software constitutes a transaction subject to the competitive bidding requirements of the county purchasing law.

¶3 The circumstances in which competitive bidding on contracts is required by county government are specified in great detail at 19 O.S. 1505 (1985), the pertinent parts of which state:

"The following procedures shall be used by counties for the requisition, purchase, lease-purchase, rental, and receipt of supplies, materials, and equipment for the maintenance, operation, and capital expenditures of county government unless otherwise provided for by law.

"B. The bid procedure for selecting a vendor for the purchase, lease-purchase, or rental of supplies, materials, and equipment used by a county shall be as follows:

"2. Bids shall be solicited by mailing a notice to all persons or firms who have made a written request of the county purchasing agent that they be notified of such bid solicitation and to all other persons, or firms who might reasonably be expected to submit bids. Notice of solicitation of bids shall also be published one time in a newspaper of general circulation in the county.

"4. The board of county commissioners, in an open meeting, shall open the sealed bids and compare them to the state contract price. The board of county commissioners shall select the lowest and best bid within thirty (30) days." (Emphasis added).
The language quoted above is simple, plain and free of ambiguity. It must be accorded the regular sense of the words as though they had been used in ordinary conversation. State ex rel. Cartwright v. Georgia-Pacific, 663 P.2d 718 (Okl. 1983). Thus read, the statute presents no basis for distinction between contracts for purchase, contracts for rental or contracts for lease purchase. All are subject to the bidding requirements of the statute, providing their object is the acquisition of "supplies, materials, and equipment for the maintenance, operation, and capital expenditures of county government."

Consequently, each of your first two questions must be answered affirmatively, providing that computer hardware and/or software are properly counted among the commodities specified in the act. Those commodities are not defined in the act, though the ordinary meaning of the terms would appear to be sufficiently broad to encompass the computer needs of the counties.

We need not speculate, however, regarding the propriety of including the items specified in your question within the classes designated in the act, because the terms in question have been defined elsewhere in Oklahoma statutes. Those definitions are applicable to the questions presented here, and instruct that computer hardware and software are included by the terms used. 25 O.S. 2 (1981). The definitions are found in the Oklahoma Central Purchasing Act, 74 O.S. 85.1 et seq. (1981), and provide, at 74 O.S. 85.2:

"(4) The terms 'materials' and 'supplies' include all property except real property acquired by a state agency for its use or consumption, except equipment;

"(5) 'Equipment' means all personal property acquired by a state agency for its use which is in the nature of a tool, device or machine and shall be deemed to include all personal property used or consumed by a state agency and not included within the category of materials and supplies[."

Inasmuch as the statutory definitions of materials, supplies and equipment are so broad as to include all property except real estate, and assuming that computer hardware and software are not real estate, it follows that the answers to your first two questions must be that both kinds of contracts you contemplate are subject to the competitive bidding requirements of 19 O.S. 1505 (1985).

II. Bidding requirements and the distinction: Computer services vs. Computer equipment/material/supplies.

As with your first two questions, it is also logical and appropriate to treat your last two questions together. In question number three you have asked whether computer services are subject to statutory bidding requirements, and in number four you add to the "service" contract the provision of the computer hardware and software which, it has already been observed above, must be acquired on competitive bids.

The distinction between contracts for labor, on the one hand, and for tangible items on the other, is important in numerous areas of Oklahoma law. See, e.g., 12A O.S. 2-101 et seq. (1981); 51 O.S. 24.3 (1985); 12 O.S. 936 (1981). The distinction is no less important to the questions at hand, because the county purchasing act does not apply to contracts for services to be rendered to county government, by virtue of a gap in the coverage of the act recognized by previous opinions of the Attorney General. See, A.G. Opin. No. 85-45.

It is not possible, of course, for a formal opinion of the Attorney General to definitively rule whether a particular contract is a pure services contract, a pure contract for materials, supplies or equipment, or one in which these objects are mixed. That would require resolution of factual questions. Nor does your letter provide a factual basis for making such judgments in any event. However, if we assume that your third question is concerned with a pure contract for services, not involving the transfer to a county of the use of any tangible property, then it is possible to determine, definitively, that such a contract need not be competitively bid as provided in the county purchasing act, and consistent with the reasoning of A.G. Opin. No. 85-45.

As to your last question, if it is assumed that the contract in question is purely for the acquisition by the county of the use of computer hardware and software, then it must be competitively bid in accordance with the answers given to your first two questions. However, your question makes reference to a "computer information service company" and an "instrument fee," both of which terms strongly suggest that you are concerned with the applicability of bidding requirements to contracts transferring both tangible personal property and labor or services.
Recently the Oklahoma Supreme Court has squarely confronted the question of how to analyze a case in which a contract involves both a sale of property and the provision of services, in situations where the law requires that the contract be classified as one type or the other. In Gilbert Central Corp. v. State of Oklahoma, 57 O.B.A.J. 788 (Okl. March 25, 1986), the issue arose in a case involving the propriety of certain governmental procurement practices under 51 O.S. 24.3 (1985). In Gilbert Central, the Court elected to apply the same test for such distinctions as that applicable to determine whether a contract constitutes a “transaction in goods” for purposes of the Uniform Commercial Code, and adopted the approach to the issue utilized by the court in the case of Bonebrake v. Cox, 499 F.2d 951 (8th Cir. 1974).

In Bonebrake, the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals distilled its method for analyzing this type of question from the rather large body of cases preceding its decision, stating:

”[T]he cases presenting mixed contracts of this type are legion. The test for inclusion or exclusion is not whether they are mixed, but, granting that they are mixed, whether their predominant factor, their thrust, their purpose, reasonably stated, is the rendition of service, with goods incidentally involved (e.g., contract with artist for painting) or is a transaction of sale, with labor incidentally involved (e.g., installation of a water heater in a bathroom).” Id. 499 F.2d at 960 (citations omitted).

From the foregoing, it can be said, at the very least, that where the predominant objective of a contract between a county government and a supplier of computer technology is the acquisition of computer hardware and software for the use of the county, the contract is for the acquisition of materials, supplies or equipment, notwithstanding the services also provided by the vendor. Such a contract is subject to bidding under the county purchasing act.

It will only be in the very rare case where the hardware or software obtained is altogether incidental to the services provided by a vendor that a county might be able to justify forbearance from competitive bidding under the act. This is especially the case under this type of statutory scheme which must be strictly followed in all cases to which it might be applicable. See, e.g., Carpet City, Inc. v. Stillwater Municipal Hosp. Auth.., 536 P.2d 335 (Okl. 1975).

It is, therefore, the official opinion of the Attorney General that:

1. Counties are required to bid the purchase of computer hardware and/or software by the provisions of the county purchasing act, 19 O.S. 1500 et seq. (1985), assuming none of the statutory exemptions apply;
2. The answer given above is no different if the equipment is acquired under a rental or lease-purchase agreement;
3. A contract for pure “computer services” not involving the transfer to or use by the county of any equipment, materials or supplies need not be bid under the county purchasing act; and
4. A contract with a computer information service company for the provision of computer services for a monthly fee or an instrument fee, including the transfer to and use by the county of computer software and hardware, must be competitively bid under the county purchasing act, assuming none of the statutory exemptions applies, unless the hardware and software received and used by the county are altogether incidental to the services provided.

MICHAEL C. TURPEN
JAMES B. FRANKS
ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL
CHIEF, TORT DEFENSE DIVISION
¶0 The Attorney General has received your request for an official opinion asking, in effect:
1. Whether a family in possession of property on a contract for deed should be granted a homestead exemption from ad valorem taxes; and
2. Whether, once the County Assessor has granted a homestead exemption on a contract for deed, the Assessor can revoke the exemption, if the Assessor finds the grant of a homestead exemption was erroneous.

¶1 Your request requires us to consider whether a prior opinion, Attorney General Opinion No. 71-271, holding that a buyer under a contract to purchase real estate did not have a sufficient ownership interest to qualify for a homestead exemption under the then relevant statutes, would still be valid, in view of the passage, in 1976, of a statute which extends certain rights to holders of contracts for deed that were not afforded by prior law. Laws 1976, c. 70, 1, effective April 26, 1976, codified as 16 O.S. 11A (1987).

I.

¶2 Your first question asks whether a family in possession of property under a contract for deed qualifies for homestead exemption from ad valorem taxes.

¶3 To determine the interest which a taxpayer must have to qualify for the homestead exemption, we look to 68 O.S. 2406 (1981) (definition of homestead), and 68 O.S. 2409.1(A)(3) (1981) (continuation of homestead exemption). The first sentence of 68 O.S. 2406 requires that a homestead be the actual residence of a natural person who is a citizen of the state, provided the “record actual ownership of such residence be vested in such natural person residing and domiciled thereon.” The statutory definition of homestead in 68 O.S. 2406 contains additional language which refers back to the requirement of “record actual ownership.” The statute provides, for example, that the surviving spouse and children of a deceased “shall be considered record owners of the homestead where the title of record in the office of the county clerk on January 1 is in the name of the deceased.” In all other cases, the “deed or other evidence of ownership” must be of record in the office of the county clerk on January 1 to enable the resident to qualify for the homestead exemption. (Emphasis added).

¶4 The relevant language of 68 O.S. 2406, defining homestead, recurs in 68 O.S. 2409.1(A)(3), which provides that once granted, a homestead exemption shall stay in effect only so long as (1) the record of actual property ownership is vested in the taxpayer; (2) the instrument of ownership is on record at the county clerk’s office; and (3) the owner-taxpayer qualifies in all other respects for the homestead exemption.

¶5 The earlier opinion ( A.G. Opin. No. 71-271 ) reviewed Oklahoma case authorities and found that those cases which have considered the definition of “ownership” have generally equated that term with “title.” Based on those authorities, the opinion concluded:
Record actual ownership referred to in the statute means title or record title. In other words, the applicant must have record title to the property, and this record title must be on file no later than January 1.

A.G. Opin. No. 71-271, issued June 4, 1971. (Emphasis added). That Opinion proceeded to hold that under traditional common law concepts as applied in Oklahoma, a purchaser under a contract for deed did not have record title to the property in question, and therefore could not qualify for the homestead exemption from ad valorem taxes.

¶6 The validity of the holding in A.G. Opinion No. 71-271 may have been negated by the subsequent enactment, in 1976, of a statute requiring that contracts for deed, under certain circumstances, be treated as mortgages. 16 O.S. 11A (1987) (hereafter, the Constructive Mortgage Statute). The impact of the Constructive Mortgage Statute must be considered because, in Oklahoma, statutes specifically provide that mortgages are liens, and that liens transfer no title to the property subject to the liens. 42 O.S. 1, 42 O.S. 5, 42 O.S. 10 (1981). Thus, if a person has record title to property on which he resides, he is not rendered ineligible for the statutory homestead exemption simply because a mortgage lien is placed on the property. If the Constructive Mortgage Statute operates to create a mortgage interest in the seller when parties enter into a contract for deed to finance the acquisition of real property, then, assuming the contract for deed is filed of record in the county courthouse, the purchaser's interest would constitute "record actual ownership" and he could qualify for the homestead exemption under 68 O.S. 2406 (1981).

¶7 Title 16 O.S. 11A (1987) provides as follows:

All contracts for deed for purchase and sale of real property made for the purpose or with the intention of receiving the payment of money and made for the purpose of establishing an immediate and continuing right of possession of the described real property, whether such instruments be from the debtor to the creditor or from the debtor to some third person in trust for the creditor, shall to that extent be deemed and held mortgages, and shall be subject to the same rules of foreclosure and to the same regulations, restraints and forms as are prescribed in relation to mortgages. No foreclosure shall be initiated, nor shall the Court allow such proceedings, unless the documents have been filed of record in the county clerk's office, and mortgage tax paid thereon, in the amount required for regular mortgage transactions.

¶8 For the following reasons, we conclude that 16 O.S. 11A (1987) changes traditional common law concepts relating to contracts for deed, and makes the homestead exemption available to taxpayers holding property under certain contracts for deed. Because of this statutory change A.G. Opin. No. 71-271 should no longer be relied upon.

¶9 First, the long title of the statute supports the conclusion that contracts for deed, when given for the purpose of securing the payment of money and establishing an immediate right of possession, shall be treated like mortgages for all purposes. The Oklahoma Constitution requires that the subject of every act be clearly set forth in the title, Okla. Const. Article V, Section 57, and the Oklahoma Supreme Court has construed this provision to require that "the purpose of an act be clearly expressed in its title." Irwin v. Irwin, 433 P.2d 931, 934 (Okl. 1965) (Emphasis added). The title of an act must be construed with reference to the language which is used in the title itself, and not with reference to other language contained in the body of the statute, Oklahoma City v. Prieto, 482 P.2d 919 (Okl. 1971).

¶10 The long title of the Constructive Mortgage Statute is: "An act relating to conveyances; providing that contracts for real property shall be treated as mortgages . . ." (Emphasis added). There is no indication in the title that contracts for real property are to be treated like mortgages only for certain purposes. Rather, the title supports a broad construction under which a purchaser of property who takes possession under a contract for deed has the same interest in that property as a purchaser who gives a purchase money mortgage back to his lender: legal title subject to a mortgage lien.

¶11 Second, our conclusion that the Legislature intended to make the homestead exemption available to purchasers in possession of real property under contracts for deed is supported by the requirement that, as a statute in derogation of common law, the Constructive Mortgage Statute must be "liberally construed with a view to effect its object and to promote justice." 25 O.S. 29 (1981). A contract for deed is often viewed as a substitute for a purchase money mortgage as a means of financing the acquisition of real estate. However, prior to the enactment of the Constructive Mortgage Statute in 1976, those purchasing property under contracts for deed experienced many hardships which were not imposed on purchasers who financed their acquisitions through mortgages. These hardships included the rule, under traditional law, that a defaulting purchaser under a contract for deed could be removed from possession through an action for ejectment; the purchaser in such a situation had no right to redeem, and a forfeiture often resulted when the purchaser, prior to his default, had made substantial payments toward the purchase price of the property. Further, a purchaser under a contract for deed was not entitled to the benefits of the homestead exemption from ad valorem taxes. In contrast, a purchaser of real property who gave a purchase money mortgage back to the lender had a right to redeem his property, and could not be removed from possession until the lender had complied with all the statutory procedures governing mortgage foreclosures. See, e.g., Coursey v. Fairchild, 436 P.2d 35 (Okla. 1967). And, a purchaser who took possession of real property under a purchase money mortgage could qualify for the homestead exemption from ad valorem taxes.

¶12 Construing the Constructive Mortgage Statute broadly to "promote justice," 25 O.S. 29 (1981), we conclude that the statute is intended to eliminate the unfair burdens imposed under common law, on purchasers who used contracts for deed to finance their acquisitions of real property, and to place those purchasers on the same footing as those financing their acquisitions through purchase money mortgages.

¶13 Third, the Oklahoma Supreme Court has construed 16 O.S. 11A (1987) broadly, to equate contracts for deed with purchase money mortgages. In Smith v. Frontier Federal Savings and Loan Ass'n., 649 P.2d 536 (Okl. 1982), the Supreme Court addressed a fact situation where the borrowers (the Smiths) had executed a mortgage with a savings and loan which contained a "due on sale" clause. The "due on sale" clause provided that if the Smiths transferred any interest in the property, the lender would have the option of declaring the entire unpaid balance due and payable. The issue arose as to whether the "due on sale" clause was triggered when the Smiths sold the property to a third party, Valentine, under a contract for deed. The Court held:

[Under 16 O.S. 11A (1981)] . the contract for deed . . . must be regarded as a mortgage.... Since the transaction was by statute a purchase money mortgage, equitable title passed to the Valentines even though the Smiths purported to retain title pending payment in full. The effect of the appellants' contract is that the Smiths have sold the property in question to the Valentines, retaining only a security interest; and that is the type of situation in which the due on sale clause may be invoked.

Id. at 538 (Emphasis added). It is clear that the Court held that, under 11A, the contract for deed would be treated as a purchase money mortgage, and the rights of the parties would be determined by mortgage law concepts.

¶14 In holding that a purchaser who takes possession under a contract for deed may qualify for the homestead exemption from ad valorem taxes, we emphasize that the requirements of 68 O.S. 2406 (1981) must nevertheless be satisfied. Under that statute, the contract for deed must be filed of record in the county courthouse. Further, the individual claiming the homestead exemption must be actually residing on the real property for which the homestead exemption is sought.
II.

¶15 Your second question is as follows: Once the assessor has granted a homestead exemption on a contract for deed, can the assessor revoke the exemption, once the assessor finds that the grant of a homestead exemption was erroneous?

¶16 In your opinion request, you indicate that this question may be moot by our holding above that a purchaser who takes possession under a contract for deed may qualify for the statutory exemption from ad valorem taxes. However, there may be instances where a county assessor, who has granted a homestead exemption to a purchaser under a contract for deed, wishes to revoke that exemption because the purchaser is no longer residing on the property, or for some other valid reason. Accordingly, we briefly describe below the procedures which should be followed to revoke a homestead exemption.

¶17 In A.G. Opinion No. 72-102, the Attorney General addressed the issue of whether a county assessor could correct an error relating to an improper allowance of a homestead exemption. That Opinion addressed only the situation which arises when the assessor wishes to correct the error after the assessor has delivered the tax rolls to the county treasurer. The Attorney General held that, in that situation, the county assessor can seek a certificate from the Board of Tax Rolls Corrections, pursuant to the provisions of 68 O.S. 2479 (1971), now codified as 68 O.S. 2479 (1981). The assessor can seek such a certificate only in those cases where the ad valorem taxes for the year in question have not yet been paid or where there has been no attempt to make the ad valorem tax payments. In the event that the Board of Tax Roll Corrections determines that a homestead exemption has been improperly granted, the board issues a "Certificate of Error" to the county treasurer, who alone is authorized to make appropriate changes to the tax rolls to correct the error. 68 O.S. 2479 (1981).

¶18 The issue arises as to whether a county assessor may revoke a homestead exemption prior to the time that the tax rolls have been delivered to the county treasurer. We find that, in such a case, the assessor has the power to revoke a homestead exemption, which he determines to have been erroneously granted, by virtue of 68 O.S. 2409.1(A)(3) (1981). As discussed previously, that statute provides that a homestead exemption can continue in effect only if (1) the record of actual property ownership remains vested in the taxpayer; (2) the instrument of ownership is on record in the county clerk’s office; and (3) the owner-taxpayer is in all other respects entitled by law to the homestead exemption. It follows from this statute that the county assessor has the implicit power to revoke an exemption if he determines that any one of these statutory conditions is not present.

¶19 It is, therefore, the official opinion of the Attorney General that:

1. Based on the provisions of 16 O.S. 11A (1987), a purchaser of real property under a contract for deed qualifies for the statutory homestead exemption from ad valorem taxes, authorized under 68 O.S. 2406 (1981), providing (1) the contract for deed was made for the purpose of receiving the payment of money and for the purpose of creating an immediate and continuing right to possession of the real property; (2) the contract for deed is filed of record in the county courthouse; and (3) the purchaser under the contract for deed actually resides on the property.
2. When a county assessor has granted a homestead exemption and subsequently discovers that the grant of the exemption was erroneous, he may revoke the exemption, provided he complies with the applicable statutes, 68 O.S. 2479 (1981) and 68 O.S. 2409.1(A)(3) (1981).
3. Attorney General Opin. No. 71-271 is no longer valid, in light of the statutory change enacted in 16 O.S. 11A (1987), and should no longer be relied upon in the determination of whether purchasers under contracts for deed qualify for the homestead exemption from ad valorem taxes.

ROBERT H. HENRY
ROBERT A. BUTKIN
ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL
The Attorney General has received your request for an official opinion asking, in effect:
1. May a county assessor assess the value of personal property without notification to the taxpayer?
2. May a county assessor apply a penalty to an assessment without notifying the taxpayer?
3. Should only the taxpayers who turn in accurate and timely itemizations of personal property be assessed?

I.

1. In your first question you ask whether a county assessor may assess the value of personal property without notification to the taxpayer.

2. In answering your question, it should first be noted that the statutorily required procedure for ad valorem taxation of property within a county involves several distinct steps, and the responsibility for carrying out those steps is divided among several county officers. Clearly, at the end of the taxation procedure the county treasurer is required to mail to the taxpayer a notice which separately states the amount of ad valorem taxes assessed against the taxpayer’s real and personal property. See, 68 O.S. 24201 (1981). Your question is concerned, however, with the earliest step of the taxation process; that is, the “assessment,” or initial determination by the assessor of the value of the property to be taxed. See, Grubb v. Johnson Oil Refining Co., 179 P.2d 688 (Okla. 1947).

3. We have examined the statutes in question, and find no per se requirement that taxpayers be notified by the assessor of the amount of their personal property assessment. However, it is clear from the statutes governing ad valorem taxation that the Legislature contemplated that the individual taxpayer would be aware of the value, for ad valorem tax purposes, placed on his or her personal property. Title 68 O.S. 2431(b) (1981) provides, in essence, that all taxpayers must list their personal property with the county assessor prior to March 15, of any given year. Thereafter, 68 O.S. 2460 (1987) provides:

In any case where the county assessor shall increase the valuation of any property above that returned by the taxpayer . . . the county assessor shall notify in writing the person in whose name any such property is listed, giving the amount of such valuation as increased.... In all cases where notice by mail is required under this section, the same shall describe the property with sufficient accuracy so as to notify the taxpayer as to the property included, together with the assessed value of the property.

(Emphasis added).

4. Section 2460 further provides that the taxpayer shall have twenty days from the date of mailing of such notice in which to file a written complaint, specifying his grievances regarding the increase in valuation. Clearly, 68 O.S. 2460 requires that the taxpayer be given notice of any increase in valuation of his or her property. However, where the county assessor is not increasing the valuation of property above that returned by the taxpayer, we find no requirement that the county assessor give notice of the amount of assessment of the taxpayer's personal property.

¶5 It should be noted, however, that 68 O.S. 2437 (1981) provides that if any personal property is not listed with the county assessor on or before March 15 of any year, the county assessor shall proceed, as soon as the omission is discovered, to ascertain and estimate from the best information obtainable, the amount and value of such property. 68 O.S. 2437 continues, at subparagraph (c):

No assessment of personal property not listed with County Assessor shall become final until ten days after the County Assessor has mailed to the last known address of the person, firm, association, corporation or company he believes to be the owner, or to the person in charge of such property, a copy of the assessment sheet upon which such property is listed, and which assessment sheet shall show a reasonable itemization and description for the property assessed and the value thereof, and shall show that the list and assessment was made by the County Assessor.

(Emphasis added).

¶6 As in the case where the county assessor increases the valuation of personal property above that returned by the taxpayer, 68 O.S. 2460 provides that: "complaint in like manner may be filed by any taxpayer where, pursuant to the authority contained in 68 O.S. 2437 of this Code, the county assessor has added property not listed by the taxpayer."

¶7 Clearly, then, the county assessor may not assess personal property without notification to the taxpayer, unless the county assessor has accepted as correct the list of personal property provided by the taxpayer to the assessor and its valuation.

II.

¶8 In your second question you ask whether a county assessor may apply a penalty to an assessment without notifying the taxpayer. Although you do not reference any particular penalty provision within the statutes, we note the penalties provided, for instance, at 68 O.S. 2431, supra, and 68 O.S. 2434. Pursuant to these statutes, as well as any others which may be applicable, the resolution of the method by which a county assessor may apply a penalty to an assessment is dependent not only upon the language of the particular statute involved, but upon factual considerations relating to the general duty to provide taxpayers due process under the Oklahoma and United States Constitutions.

¶9 With respect to 68 O.S. 2434, that statute specifically provides that where the county assessor or the county board of equalization requests a taxpayer to furnish additional information which may be reasonably necessary to enable the county officials to assess the taxpayer's property, a ten percent penalty must be applied to the value of the property. The statute requires, however, that the penalty may not be applied until the taxpayer has received ten days' notice of the intention to apply it, and has had an opportunity to be heard. Where such notice has not been given, it has been held that the county assessor is without authority to impose the penalty in the first instance, or at any other time. In re Oklahoma Press Pub. Co.'s Taxes, 192 P.2d 1011 (Okla. 1948).

¶10 However, where there is no specific statutory procedure for notifying the taxpayer of a penalty, the rule, in general, is different. Thus, pursuant to statutes such as 68 O.S. 2431, supra, wherein a penalty in the amount of a specific percentage of the assessed value of the property is provided, but no specific provision is made as to notice, we must examine the general rules governing due process in taxation. (Note, it has been held that the penalty provisions of 2431 are applicable both to 68 O.S. 2431 assessments where a taxpayer's list of personal property is delinquent, and to assessments under 68 O.S. 2437, where the assessor seeks out and lists omitted property. Grubb, supra.)
¶11 The United States Supreme Court has long held that:

[I]f the legislature of the state, instead of fixing the tax itself, commits to the subordinate body the duty of determining whether, and in what amount, and upon whom, the tax shall be levied, due process of law requires that at some stage of the proceedings, before the tax becomes irrevocably fixed, the taxpayer must have the opportunity to be heard, of which he must have notice.

¶12 Similarly, in Security Trust and S.V. Company v. Lexington, 203 U.S. 323, 27 S.Ct. 87, 51 L.Ed. 204 (1906), the Supreme Court held that before the tax could actually be enforced or during the process of enforcement the taxpayer must have an opportunity to be heard as to its validity and extent. In that case, the Court noted that there was no statutory notice procedure, but held that the State court had afforded to the taxpayer full opportunity to be heard on the question of the validity and the amount of the tax, and, after such an opportunity, had rendered a judgment which provided for the enforcement of the tax. The Court held it was immaterial whether the opportunity to be heard which was afforded to the plaintiff was pursuant to the provisions of some statute, or by the holding of the Court that the plaintiff has such right in a trial of a suit to enjoin the collection of the tax. 51 L.Ed. at 208.

¶13 In Oklahoma, a similar rule has been repeatedly applied. See, Bonaparte v. American Vinegar Manufacturing Company, 17 P.2d 441 (Okla. 1932), holding due process of law is shown when opportunity is conferred to invoke the equal protection of the law by judicial proceedings appropriate for the purpose and adequate to secure the end and objects sought to be obtained. In re Thomas’ Estate, 136 P.2d 929, 932 (Okla. 1943), cited with approval in Grubb, supra, held:

In respect to taxation, the "due process" provision of the Constitution, Article II, Section 7, is satisfied, if at some stage of the proceedings, either before or after assessment of a tax, the party assessed has notice thereof and has an opportunity to be heard, either before a judicial tribunal or Board of Assessment.

See also, Rush v. Brown, 101 P.2d 262 (Okla. 1940).

¶14 Although the foregoing indicates that due process does not require notice and an opportunity to be heard at any particular time, or during any particular stage of the proceedings, great caution should be exercised to ensure that at some stage of the proceedings adequate notice and an opportunity to be heard is provided the taxpayer. This opinion addresses only the apparent decision of the county not to provide notice by the assessor. The decision of the county as to the particular time at which such notice and opportunity should be given, and by which county officer, is beyond the scope of this opinion.

¶15 It should be noted, however, that failure to provide the taxpayer proper notice could result in the loss of tax monies to the county. See, Hays v. Bonaparte, 264 P. 605 (Okla. 1928), and Chapman v. Thompson, 288 P.2d 720 (Okla. 1955), each holding that when property has been voluntarily listed for taxation by the owner, and the valuation placed thereon by him is increased by the assessor, or by the board of equalization, without timely notice to the taxpayer, and he is thereby deprived of his right of appeal, his remedy is to pay the taxes under protest and to proceed in accordance with the provisions of law pertaining thereto. Such a procedure jeopardizes both the availability for use of county revenues and the right of the county to receive them at all. Additionally, county taxing authorities could be subject to liability under federal civil rights law for failure to provide notice.

¶16 In summary, then, there appears to be no specific duty of the county assessor to notify a taxpayer of a penalty to the assessment of the taxpayer’s property, absent specific statutory provisions that the assessor do so. However, at some point in the proceedings within the county, the taxpayer must be provided notice and an opportunity to be heard regarding the penalty. The decision as to the proper point in the proceedings for such notice is a matter to be decided by the county taxing authorities, after proper consultation with their district attorney.

III.

¶17 In your third question you ask whether only taxpayers who turn in accurate and timely itemizations of personal property should be assessed. Title 68 O.S. 2435 (1981) provides that the county assessor shall assess and value all property, both real and personal, which is subject to assessment by him. This statute is mandatory, and allows no exceptions. Moreover, it would seem obvious that taxpayers should not be allowed to avoid taxation by failing to turn in accurate and timely itemizations of their personal property. 68 O.S. 2437 cited above makes clear that the county assessor has the authority and the mandatory duty to list and assess personal property which has not been listed by the taxpayer. Moreover, as has been held in numerous previous Attorney General Opinions, county assessors are not required by law to use any particular information, facts, figures or methods as a basis for determining the fair cash value of property, so long as the figures resulting therefrom are not arbitrary and are representative of the property's fair cash value. A.G. Opin. No. 82-145; A.G. Opin. No. 72-153.

1. Where a county assessor does not increase the valuation of property above that returned by the taxpayer, there is no statutory requirement that the county assessor provide notice to the taxpayer of the assessment of personal property. However, where the county assessor increases the valuation of property above that returned by the taxpayer pursuant to 68 O.S. 2460 (1987), or where the county assessor determines the value of property not listed by the taxpayer pursuant to 68 O.S. 2437 (1981), the taxpayer must be provided notice of the valuation, and an opportunity to file a complaint as to that valuation.
2. Under both the United States and Oklahoma Constitutions, due process is satisfied only if at some stage of a tax assessment proceeding, either before or after the imposition of a tax penalty, the party assessed such a penalty has notice thereof and an opportunity to be heard. Okl. Const. Article II, Section 7; U.S. Const. Amend. XIV. However, where there is no specific statute requiring notice of a penalty, such notice need not necessarily be provided by the county assessor when he or she initially applies a penalty to an assessment.
3. All taxpayers must be assessed ad valorem for personal property, regardless of whether the taxpayer has turned in an accurate and timely itemization of his or her personal property. 68 O.S. 2435 (1981).

ROBERT H. HENRY
ATTORNEY GENERAL OF OKLAHOMA
SUSAN BRIMER LOVING
FIRST ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL
¶0 Attorney General Loving has received your letter requesting an Attorney General opinion addressing, in effect, the following question:

May interest earned on dedicated county sales taxes and the county highway fund be deposited into the county general fund pursuant to 62 O.S. 348.1 (1993) and Article X, Section 19 of the Oklahoma Constitution?

¶1 Article X, Section 19 of the Oklahoma Constitution mandates that taxes levied for one purpose may only be used for that purpose:

> Every act enacted by the Legislature, and every ordinance and resolution passed by any county, city, town, or municipal board or local legislative body, levying a tax shall specify distinctly the purpose for which said tax is levied, and no tax levied and collected for one purpose shall ever be devoted to another purpose.

¶2 In essence you ask if Article X, Section 19 mandates that income earned on deposits of dedicated taxes may only be placed in the fund to which the tax was dedicated. Your inquiry references 62 O.S. 348.1 (1993). Section 62 O.S. 348.1 provides investment options to county treasurers and allows investment income to be placed in the general fund, sinking fund, building fund, or the fund from which the investment was made. Section 348.1 provides in pertinent part:

> Except as otherwise provided for by law, a county treasurer, when authorized by the board of county commissioners by a written investment policy, ordinance or resolution or the treasurer of any city, town, or school district, when authorized by the appropriate governing body by a written investment policy, ordinance or resolution, shall invest monies in the custody of the treasurer in:

> 5. county, municipal or school district direct debt obligation for which an ad valorem tax may be levied or bond and revenue anticipation notes, money judgments against such county, municipality or school district ordered by a court of record or bonds or bond and revenue anticipation notes issued by a public trust for which such county, municipality or school district is a beneficiary thereof. All collateral pledged to secure public funds shall be valued at no more than market value. The income received from that investment may be placed in the general fund of the governmental subdivision to be used for general governmental operations, the sinking fund. the building fund. or the fund from which the investment was made. (Emphasis added.)

¶3 The Oklahoma Sales Tax Code, 68 O.S. 1350, et seq., grants counties the authority to levy a sales tax. Sales tax may be levied for, among other things, general operations, constructing and equipping jails, capital improvements, county roads, or any other purpose necessary to promote safety, security and the general well-being of the people. 68 O.S. 1370 / 68 O.S. 1370.1 and 68 O.S. 1370.2 (1993). Section 68
O.S. 1370(c) provides in pertinent part:

The proceeds of any sales tax levied by a county shall be deposited in the general revenue fund of the county and shall be used only for the purpose for which such sales tax was designated.

¶4 The county highway fund is created to be the depository fund for monies apportioned to construct and maintain county roads and bridges. 69 O.S. 1503(a) (1991). One source of money for the county highway fund is the apportionment pursuant to 68 O.S. 602.1(a) (1991) which provides in pertinent part:

(1)(c) No part of such fund shall be used for any purpose other than the construction and maintenance of county or township highways and permanent bridges in the county receiving the fund.

¶5 The Supreme Court dealt with interest on county deposits in Independent School Distinct No. 1 of Tulsa County v. Board of County Commissioners of Tulsa County, 674 P.2d 547 (Okla.1983). The Court ruled that interest is an accretion or increment to the principal fund earning it and that interest earned on deposits of school district funds could not be deposited into the county general fund. This finding was based on a specific school funds statute, 70 O.S. 691 (1991), and on Article X, Section 19. The Court observed at page 550:

Further, the rule of law that interest is an accretion or increment to the principal fund earning it absent legislation, indicates this result -- for Okla. Const. Article X, Section 19 provides that no tax levied and collected for one purpose shall ever be devoted to another purpose.

¶6 Inseparability of interest from principal was found to be applicable to municipal sales taxes in the City of Oklahoma City v. Oklahoma Tax Commission, 789 P.2d 1287 (Okla.1990). In the Oklahoma City case, the Tax Commission, pursuant to contract with the City, collected sales tax for the City and deposited the collections in the Tax Commission's revolving fund. Once deposited, these collections were commingled with other tax collections. Interest earned on investment of these monies was deposited into the State General Revenue Fund as required by 62 O.S. 203 (1981). After deduction of the contractual retention fee, the Tax Commission disbursed the principal amount collected for the City. However, the Commission did not remit interest on the amount collected.

¶7 The City filed a declaratory judgment action seeking to establish its right to the interest earned on the investment. The Tax Commission argued that interest earned by investment of municipal sales taxes could be spent for purposes other than those for which the taxes were levied. The City asserted that because the interest was an accretion to the principal, the interest must be used for the same purpose as the tax. The Supreme Court held:

Because Article X, Section 19 prohibits the diversion of . . . taxes, the interest earned on municipal sales tax revenues is properly attributable to the municipality levying the tax.”

Oklahoma City at 1292.

¶8 The Supreme Court disagreed with the Tax Commission's assertion that Application of State of Oklahoma Building Bonds Commission, 214 P.2d 934 (Okla.1950), supported the Commission's position that Article X, Section 19 is applicable only to the tax revenues, and not to the interest income earned thereon. The Court observed that the issue presented in the Oklahoma City case -- whether interest earned on a tax levy is an accretion or increment of the investment which must be expended for the same purpose as the levied tax -- was not involved in the Building Bonds case.
¶9 In the Oklahoma City case, the Supreme Court cited Independent School District No. 1. supra, for the proposition that interest earned from taxes earmarked for a specific purpose must follow the principal. The Court rejected the Tax Commission's argument that Independent School District was distinguishable because of the presence of a statute mandating that interest follow principal:

In Independent School Dist., we held that under 70 O.S. 691 (1981) interest earned on the investment of school funds must be deposited to a school district account. The Tax Commission attempts to distinguish Independent School Dist. on the basis that a specific statute dictated that the interest follow the principal invested. We would be inclined to agree had the Court not also rested its decision on a broader and more fundamental basis, the Oklahoma Constitution. In Independent School Dist., we noted the rule of law that, absent a special statutory provision, interest is an accretion or increment to the principal fund earning it. Recognition of the rule was premised on the mandate of art. 10, 19 that taxes levied and collected for one purpose may not be devoted to another purpose.

¶10 The Tax Commission also argued that Independent School District was not applicable because the interest was not an accretion to principal if legislation provides for separation of the interest from the principal. The Commission contended that 62 O.S. 203 (1981) required that interest earned on average daily bank balances be deposited to the general revenue fund. However, the Supreme Court observed that if 203 were to be interpreted to require that a tax levied for municipal purposes be diverted to State coffers, it would contravene Article X, Section 19. The Court determined that 203 was not intended to be applicable to taxes levied for a specific purpose. Likewise, the income allocation provisions of 62 O.S. 348.1 (1993) cannot be intended to be applicable to income earned on investment of taxes levied for specific purposes. In fact, 62 O.S. 348.1 recognizes this wherein it provides that it is applicable except as otherwise provided for by law. Therefore, any interest earned on dedicated taxes must follow the principal and the alternatives listed in 62 O.S. 348.1 would be inapplicable because accounting for the interest had been provided for by the Constitution.

¶11 Although related only to county bridge bonds, Attorney General Opinion No. 83-284 concludes that income from the investment of county funds may, when authorized by the Board of County Commissioners, be allocated to any of the funds listed in 348.1. To the extent that the 1983 opinion is inconsistent with this opinion, it is withdrawn.

¶12 It is therefore the official opinion of the Attorney General that Article X, Section 19 of the Oklahoma Constitution mandates that income earned on investment of dedicated taxes must be deposited with the principal and the income allocation alternatives listed in 62 O.S. 348.1 are in inapplicable to income earned on investment of dedicated taxes.

To the extent A.G. Opinion No. 83-284 is inconsistent with this opinion the same is hereby withdrawn.

SUSAN BRIMER LOVING
DOUGLAS F. PRICE
ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL
¶0 This office has received your letter asking for an official Opinion addressing, in effect, the following question:

If a county approves an exemption from ad valorem tax for household goods of the heads of families and livestock employed in the support of families, is the “millage adjustment” factor provided for at Article X, § 8A of the Oklahoma Constitution, by which the county compensates for the tax loss due to the exemption of household goods and livestock, applicable only in the year the exemption becomes effective?

¶1 Under Article X, Section 6(b) of the Oklahoma Constitution, a county may vote to exempt “household goods of the heads of families” and “livestock employed in support of the family” from ad valorem taxation. Such an exemption reduces the taxable value of property within the jurisdiction. Where a taxing jurisdiction has a reduction of taxable value, without an increase in millage, a revenue loss occurs. To compensate for lost revenue Section 8A(b) of Article X provides for a “millage adjustment.” The adjustment formula provides a calculation whereby the millage is increased so that the taxable value remaining after the exemption produces the same amount of revenue as was generated prior to the exemption. Section 8A(b) provides in pertinent part:

The adjusted millage rate for a general fund or building fund of each taxing jurisdiction located within a county which exempts household goods of the heads of families and livestock employed in support of the family from ad valorem taxation pursuant to the provisions of subsection (b) of Section 6 of this Article shall be computed, for each taxing jurisdiction, by dividing the net taxable valuation of all property for the year preceding the year in which the exemption of such property becomes effective by the difference between the net taxable valuation of all property for the year preceding the year in which the exemption of such property becomes effective and the net taxable valuation of the household goods of the heads of families and livestock employed in support of the family for the year preceding the year in which the exemption of such property becomes effective. The resulting quotient shall be the millage adjustment factor, and shall be multiplied by the millage rate which would otherwise have been applied for the year in which the exemption of such property becomes effective to derive the adjusted millage rate, which shall be levied against the net taxable valuation of all property, other than the exempt property, within the jurisdiction for the year in which the exemption of household goods of the heads of families and livestock employed in support of the family becomes effective; provided, such adjusted millage rate may be increased or decreased in the manner provided by the provisions of this Article.

Okla. Const. art. X, § 8A(b).

¶2 Essentially you have asked this office to determine if the Article X, Section 8A millage adjustment is limited to the year the exemption takes effect or is applicable in all years subsequent to the effective date of the exemption.
¶3 At the outset it must be noted that the provisions of the Constitution are construed using the usual rules of statutory construction and the Constitution must be construed in harmony with common sense and reason. Cowart v. Piper Aircraft Corp., 665 P.2d 315 (Okla.1983).

¶4 Once enacted, the exemption of household goods and livestock would be effective until revoked. Therefore, the taxable value of household goods and livestock would be permanently removed from the tax base. Article X, Section 8A(a) of the Constitution provides guidance as to the application of the millage adjustment. Subsection (a) provides:

> If a county approves an exemption of household goods of the heads of families and livestock employed in support of the family from taxation pursuant to the provisions of subsection (b) of Section 6 of this article, the millage rate levied against the net taxable valuation of all property of each taxing jurisdiction located within such county levying ad valorem taxes for a general fund or a building fund shall be adjusted pursuant to the provisions of subsection (b) of this section to compensate for the potential loss of revenue to the taxing jurisdiction directly attributable to the exemption of all such property.

¶5 Subsection (a) does not limit adjustment for loss of revenue to any specific year. The millage adjustment factor in subsection (b) of Section 8A is clearly intended to provide a formula to adjust millage to negate tax loss due to the exemption. It would be illogical to limit this adjustment to only the year the exemption becomes effective. The subsection (b) calculation, while stated in terms of the year in which the exemption becomes effective, is merely descriptive of the procedure by which millages are adjusted. Finally, subsection (c) of Section 8A provides for an increase in the maximum allowable millage and provides in pertinent part that:

> The maximum allowable millage for any millage levied by any taxing jurisdiction located within such county for a general fund or a building fund, as prescribed by Sections 9, 9A, 9B, 9C, 9D, 10, 10A, 10B and 35 of this article or as otherwise authorized by Section 36 of Article V of the Oklahoma Constitution, shall be adjusted by multiplying such millage by the millage adjustment factor as specified in subsection (b) of this section. The resulting product shall be the adjusted maximum allowable millage for that particular millage levied by such taxing jurisdiction for a general fund or building fund.

¶6 It is important to note that the subsection (c) "millage cap adjustment" is not limited to the year the exemption becomes effective. Taking the constitutional provision as a whole, as we must pursuant to the rules of statutory construction, it is clear that Article X, Section 8A of the Oklahoma Constitution at subsection (a) provides for a millage adjustment where a county has voted an Article X, Section 6(b) tax exemption. Subsection (b) of Section 8A provides the calculation method for the adjustment and provides for the year the exemption takes effect and the immediately preceding year to be the points of reference. Subsection (c) of Section 8A lifts the limits on allowable millage based upon the subsection (b) calculation. The subsection (c) maximum allowable millage is not limited to the year the exemption goes into effect.

¶7 It is clear that the policy underlying Article X, Section 8A is that a county will not have a revenue loss due to the exemption of household goods and livestock. A construction limiting the millage adjustment to the year the exemption becomes effective would have the effect of defeating this policy in years subsequent to the exemption's effective date. The more logical construction is that the millage adjustment is used in the year the exemption takes effect and in subsequent years.
¶8 Applying the normal rules of statutory construction and reading Article X, Section 8A as a consistent whole, it is clear that the millage adjustment and the maximum allowable millage are not limited to the year the exemption takes effect.

¶9 It is, therefore, the official Opinion of the Attorney General that:
Where a county approves an exemption from ad valorem tax for household goods of the heads of families and livestock employed in the support of families the millage adjustment factor provided for at Article X, § 8A of the Oklahoma Constitution is applicable in the year the exemption becomes effective and in subsequent years.

FOOTNOTE:

¹ Property taxes in Oklahoma are calculated using the following formula:

Fair cash value x assessment ratio = assessed valuation - exemptions = taxable value x millage rate = taxes due.
¶0 This office has received your request for an Opinion asking, in effect, the following questions:
1. May a board of county commissioners enter into an agreement with a rural fire protection district for the furnishing of fire protection services?
2. May a county levy a sales tax providing for a county general fund appropriation to fund the county's contractual obligations with a rural fire protection district?
3. May a county use funds generated by a sales tax levied pursuant to 68 O.S. 1370.6 (1995) to fund the county's contractual obligations with a rural fire protection district?

I.

¶1 Title 19 O.S. 901.1 to 19 O.S. 901.29 (1991-1995) of the Fire Protection Districts Act provides for the creation and operation of fire protection districts outside the corporate limits of any incorporated city or town.

¶2 In 1982 you asked this office if a county could appropriate revenues to a rural fire protection district. Attorney General Opinion 82-251 answered your question in the negative; there was no statutory authority which would allow such an expenditure. In 1992 the Legislature added Section 19 O.S. 351.3 to Title 19 which provides:

The board of county commissioners of each county may enter into agreements with any nonprofit volunteer or fulltime fire department organized pursuant to Section 592 of Title 18 of the Oklahoma Statutes or any rural fire protection district created pursuant to the provisions of Sections 901.1 through 901.29 of this title for the furnishing of fire protection services by such entities for all persons and property located in the unincorporated areas of the county. The board of county commissioners of each county may pay for such fire protection services on such equitable basis as may be agreed upon and the costs of such fire protection services may be part out of the county general fund or the county highway fund.

¶3 Based on the above statute, counties now have statutory authority to contract with rural fire protection districts. Counties may pay for the services out of either the county general fund or the county highway fund.

II.

¶4 Your second question asks whether a county sales tax may be levied for the purpose of funding an agreement with a rural fire protection district. Section 68 O.S. 1370 of Title 68 provides in pertinent part:
A. Any county of this state may levy a sales tax of not to exceed two percent (2%) upon the gross proceeds or gross receipts derived from all sales or services in the county upon which a consumer's sales tax is levied by this state. Before a sales tax may be levied by the county, the imposition of the tax shall first be approved by a majority of the registered voters of the county voting thereon at a special election called by the board of county commissioners or by initiative petition signed by not less than five percent (5%) of the registered voters of the county who were registered at the time of the last general election.

C. After the effective date of this act any sales tax which may be levied by a county shall be designated for a particular purpose. Such purposes may include but are not limited to economic development, general operations, capital improvements, county roads or any other purpose deemed, by a majority of the county commissioners, to be necessary to promote safety, security and the general well being of the people. The county shall identify the purpose of the sales tax when it is presented to the voters pursuant to the provisions of subsection A of this section. The proceeds of any sales tax levied by a county shall be deposited in the general revenue or sales tax revolving fund of the county and shall be used only for the purpose for which such sales tax was designated.

§5 Section 1370 provides for the imposition of sales tax for any purpose necessary to promote safety, security and the general well being of the people. Contracts for fire protection entered into pursuant to 19 O.S. 351.3 (1995) are clearly within that statutory authority. Section 351.3 allows for the funding of such an agreement from the county general fund. Therefore, monies in the county general fund, including sales tax collections, ad valorem monies and any other general fund items, may be used to fund contractual obligations to a rural fire protection district.

III.

§6 Sections 1370.1 through 1370.7 of Title 68 are legislative authorizations for "special purpose" tax levies. Your third question specifically asks about Section 68 O.S. 1370.6 which allows a sales tax levy to fund new public improvements. Section 68 O.S. 1370.6(B) mandates the creation of a limited-purpose fund for revenues generated by a Section 1370.6(A) levy and provides in pertinent part:

Monies in the limited-purpose fund shall be expended only as accumulated and only for the purpose specifically described in paragraph 1 of subsection A of this section.

68 O.S. 1370.6(B) (1995).

¶7 Section 68 O.S. 1370.6(A) of Title 68 grants counties with a population in excess of 300,000 the authority to levy a sales tax not exceeding one percent (1%). Imposition of this tax is limited to the following conditions:

1. The proceeds of such sales tax shall be used solely for the purpose of funding one or more projects for new public improvements;

2. Before a sales tax may be levied by the county, the imposition of the tax shall first be approved by a majority of the registered voters of the county voting thereon at a special election called by resolution of the board of county commissioners;
3. Such sales tax can only be imposed for a period of not to exceed three (3) years; and

4. Any special election called pursuant to this section must be held no later than March 1, 1994.

68 O.S. 1370.6(A) (1995).

¶8 Funding for contracts with rural fire protection districts is limited to the general fund or the county highway fund. Because 68 O.S. 1370.6 (1995) does not direct revenues generated thereby to the general fund or county highway fund, there is no statutory authority for use of the monies generated by a Section 1370.6 sales tax levy for fire protection contracts.

¶9 It is, therefore, the official Opinion of the Attorney General that:
1. A board of county commissioners may enter into an agreement with a rural fire protection district pursuant to 19 O.S. 351.3 (1995).
2. Pursuant to 68 O.S. 1370 (1995), a county sales tax may be levied to provide for a county general fund appropriation to fund the county's contractual obligations with a rural fire protection district entered into pursuant to 19 O.S. 351.3 (1995).
3. Taxes generated pursuant to 68 O.S. 1370.6 (1995) are dedicated for a specific purpose and are not placed in the county general fund. These funds therefore, may not be used to pay for fire protection service contracts with rural fire protection districts.

Your question specifically asks about use of sales tax revenues. Section 69 O.S. 351.3 also allows for use of county highway funds.
¶0 This office has received your request for an official Opinion addressing the following question: When a county assessor has not increased the valuation of a parcel of real property over the assessment from the preceding year, and no protest has been filed, does the county board of equalization have the authority to raise the valuation of the real property?

¶1 Assessment of property for purposes of ad valorem taxation begins with the county assessor ("the Assessor"). The Assessor must determine the value of all taxable property that the Assessor is required to assess. 68 O.S. 1991, § 2819. This assessment is done by estimating the price the property would bring at a fair, voluntary sale as of the first day of January. 68 O.S. Supp.1996, § 2817(A). If the Assessor increases the valuation of any property over the valuation from the preceding year, the Assessor is required to notify in writing the person in whose name such property is listed. 68 O.S.1991, § 2876(A).

¶2 Paragraphs D and E of Section 2876 of Title 68 allow a taxpayer an opportunity to file a complaint if the taxpayer disputes the Assessor's valuation of the property. Once such a protest has been filed the Assessor shall schedule an informal hearing. The Assessor is required to take final action within five (5) working days of the hearing. A taxpayer may file an appeal from the Assessor's action with the county board of equalization. County boards of equalization are created at 68 O.S. Supp.1996, § 2861. The boards' authority is found at 68 O.S.1991, § 2863(B), which provides:

It shall be the duty of said boards and they shall have the authority to:

1. raise or lower appraisals to conform to the fair cash value of said property, as defined by law in response to a protest filed as prescribed by law; and

2. add omitted property; and

3. cancel assessments of property not taxable; and

4. hear all grievances and protests filed with the board secretary as outlined in Section 2877 of this title.

68 O.S.1991, § 2863(B) (emphasis added).

¶3 In Keyes v. Everest, 794 P.2d 1214 (Okla. Ct. App. 1990), the Court of Appeals held that county boards of equalization have the discretion to hear complaints not filed within the statutory twenty-day protest period. In Keyes, the county assessor of Oklahoma County sought review of a decision by the county equalization board to adjust assessed valuations of property for taxpayers who had not filed timely complaints. The Court of Appeals made the following statement:
Even if no taxpayer complaint is filed, county boards of equalization still have the duty and the authority under 68 O.S.Supp.1988 § 2459, to "equalize, correct and adjust the assessed valuation of real and personal property by raising or lowering the valuation of the property, real or personal, of any taxpayer to conform to the fair cash value of said property, as defined by law."

This statute does not restrict the Board's authority to adjust or lower the assessed valuation of property to only those situations in which taxpayer protests are filed.

Keyes, 794 P.2d at 1216 (emphasis added).

¶4 Section 2459 granted county boards of equalization broad power to raise or lower the valuation of any taxpayer’s property. Section 2459 of Title 68 was repealed in 1989 and in its place, Section 2863 provides:

It shall be the duty of said boards and they shall have the authority to:

1. raise or lower appraisals to conform to the fair cash value of said property, as defined by law in response to a protest filed as prescribed by law.

68 O.S.1991, § 2863(B).

¶5 It is a well-established law in Oklahoma that where the language of a statute is plain and unambiguous and its meaning clear, no rules of construction are used and its evident meaning must be accepted. Jackson v. Independent School District No. 16, 648 P.2d 26, 29 (Okla. 1982). Section 2863 of Title 68 is unambiguous wherein it limits a county board of equalization's authority to raise or lower appraisals to those situations in which the board is ruling upon a lawful protest. The board, therefore, has no authority to adjust appraisals of property in the absence of a lawful protest as to the value of said property.

¶6 It is, therefore, the official Opinion of the Attorney General that:

Pursuant to 68 O.S. 1991, § 2863(B)(1), a county board of equalization may not adjust appraisals of property unless the adjustment is made in response to a protest filed as prescribed by law.

This office has received your request for an official Attorney General Opinion addressing the following question:

Pursuant to the provisions of 68 O.S. 2844 (1999), what is the proper procedure for a county assessor to utilize in adding omitted property to the ad valorem tax roles?

Assessment of property for purposes of ad valorem taxation begins with the county assessor. It is the county assessor's duty to assess all taxable property within the county. See 68 O.S. 2819 (1999). Section 68 O.S. 2817 of Title 68 and Article X, Section 8 of the Oklahoma Constitution mandate that all taxable property be assessed annually as of the first day of January at its fair cash value. Your question poses a scenario wherein property has escaped taxation and been omitted from the tax roles. The assessment of omitted property is provided for at 68 O.S. 2844 (1999):

"A. If any real, personal, railroad, air carrier or public service corporation property is omitted in the assessment of any prior year or years, and the property thereby escapes just and proper taxation, at any time and as soon as such omission is discovered, the county assessor or the county board of equalization, or the State Board of Equalization in the case of public service corporation property or railroad and air carrier property, whose duty it is to assess the class of property which has been omitted, shall at any time cause such property to be entered on the assessment rolls and tax rolls for the year or years omitted, not to exceed the last fifteen (15) years as to real property and the last three (3) years as to personal property, and shall, after reasonable notice to the parties affected, in order that they be heard, assess such omitted property for said periods and cause to be extended against the same on the tax rolls for the current year all arrearage of taxes properly accruing against it, including therein interest thereon at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the time such tax should have become delinquent."

"B. If any tax on property subject to taxation is prevented from being collected for any year or years by reason of any erroneous proceedings, or failure to give notice, or otherwise, the amount of such tax which such property should have paid or should have been paid thereon shall be added to the tax on such property for the current year, and if for want of sufficient time or for any cause such assessment cannot be entered, and the tax thereon extended on the tax rolls for the current year, the same shall be done the following year."

Id. (emphasis added).

Section B of Section 68 O.S. 2844 provides that if the tax is prevented from being collected for any year or years by reason of lack of notice, the tax can be added to the current or the following year. An assessor is not authorized to make a tax assessment for prior years during which assessment had been omitted by an arbitrary act of altering the tax rolls without giving the taxpayer any notice. See Dyer v. Dalton, 174 P.2d 252 (Okla. 1946). Subsections D and E of Section 2876 of Title 68 allow a taxpayer an opportunity to file a complaint if the taxpayer disputes an assessor's action. Once such a protest has been filed, the assessor shall schedule an informal hearing. See id. 68 O.S. 2876(F). The assessor is required to take final action within five (5) working days of the hearing. See id. A taxpayer may file an appeal from the assessor's action with the county board of equalization. See id. County boards of equalization are created at 68 O.S. 2861(A) (1999). The boards' authority is found at 68 O.S. 2863(B) (1999), which provides:

"It shall be the duty of the boards and they shall have the authority to:

"1. Raise or lower appraisals to conform to the fair cash value of the property, as defined by law in response to a protest filed as prescribed by law;

"2. Add omitted property;

"3. Cancel assessments of property not taxable; and

"4. Hear all grievances and protests filed with the board secretary as outlined in section 2877 of this title."

Id. (emphasis added).

¶3 While county boards of equalization are authorized to hear protests as to the assessment of omitted property, the boards are not in session year round. Title 68 O.S. 2863(A) (1999) limits county boards of equalization to sessions commencing on April 1, or the first working day thereafter. Sessions end in all counties not later than May 31. Omitted property may not be added to the tax rolls until the taxpayer has been provided an opportunity to protest. Therefore, where omitted property is discovered after the equalization board has gone out of session or with insufficient time to perfect a taxpayer's appeal to the board, the property cannot be added to the rolls until the following year. If after appropriate notice and protest opportunity the board determines that taxable property was omitted, the same may be added to the tax rolls.

¶4 It is, therefore, the official Opinion of the Attorney General that:

Pursuant to the provisions of 68 O.S. 2844 (1999), where taxable property is omitted from the assessment and tax rolls, it may be entered on the assessment or tax rolls for the years omitted only after reasonable notice and an opportunity to be heard to the parties affected. Therefore, such property may not be entered on the assessment or tax rolls until the party affected has had an opportunity to protest before the Board of Equalization the determination that property was in fact omitted.

FOOTNOTE:

1 A county board of equalization may meet in special session between March 1 and March 31 to consider protests pending on or before the date of notice of the special session, if the number of protests pending would make it impracticable to complete hearing and adjudication on or before May 31. In counties with an assessed valuation in excess of one billion dollars ($1,000,000,000) sessions commence on the fourth Monday in January and end not later than May 31. See 68 O.S. 2863(A) (1999).

2 In all counties a special session may be called if the board determines that the number of protests pending make it impractical to complete hearing and adjudication prior to May 31. The special session can run from June 1 to no later than July 31. See 68 O.S. 2863(A) (1999).
¶0 This office has received your request for an official Attorney General Opinion in which you ask, in effect, the following questions:

1. For tax certificate sales held pursuant to 68 O.S. 2001, § 3106, when may the sign-in begin: when the office opens, or at 9:00 a.m.?

2. Title 68 O.S. 2001, § 3108 states, "In the event that more than one such person shall so appear at the same time the county treasurer shall decide the issue by fair and impartial drawing." Does the above conflict with the following sentence in Section 3108? "Parcels of land shall be sold to prospective purchasers on a first-come, first-served basis."

3. If the certificate purchases are to be on a first-come, first-served basis, may each purchaser buy as many as they want before moving on to the next purchaser, or are purchasers limited in the number of certificates they may purchase?

¶1 A certificate of tax sale is one step in a procedure designed to satisfy delinquent property taxes. Under this scheme, if taxes are owed and unpaid on a particular piece of real property, a lien is placed on the property, which is subject to forced sale by the county. The county must publish notice of such sale, listing the "name or names of the last owner or owners as reflected by the records in the office of the county treasurer, and the amount of taxes due and delinquent." 68 O.S. 2001, § 3106. Sale of the land is held the first Monday of October. 68 O.S. 2001, § 3107. The first person who offers to pay in full the delinquent taxes and accompanying costs is issued a certificate of tax sale. 68 O.S. 2001, § 3108. This successful purchaser is issued a certificate describing the land purchased and the sum paid, and the time at which the purchaser can exchange the certificate for a deed. 68 O.S. 2001, § 3111. After that sale, the owner of record has two years in which to pay the back taxes, plus interest and costs. 68 O.S. 2001, § 3118(A). If the owner does not do so within that period, the holder of the tax certificate can exchange the certificate of tax sale for a deed to the land. Id.

¶2 Your first question seeks a determination as to when a county treasurer may begin the "signing-in" process. The statutes are silent as to the process of signing-in for the public sale. Section 3107 provides, however, "between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m., the treasurer shall offer at public sale . . . all lands, town lots or other real property which shall be liable for taxes." If the office opens before 9:00 a.m. there is nothing in the statutory structure which would prohibit individuals seeking to participate in a sale from signing in, in advance of the 9:00 a.m. sale. As will be explained below, however, this is not dispositive of the first-come, first-served question.

The first person who offers to pay the full amount due on any parcel of land shall be considered to be the successful purchaser. In the event that more than one such person shall so appear at the same time the county treasurer shall decide the issue by fair and impartial drawing. Parcels of land shall be sold to prospective purchasers on a first-come, first-served basis.
¶4 By law, the treasurer shall offer property for sale between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. Further, Section 3108 provides that the first person offering to pay the full amount is the successful purchaser. As used in Section 3108 “appear” has its common parlance or dictionary meaning which is “to come formally before an authoritative body.” Webster's Third New International Dictionary 103 (3d ed. 1993). To avoid a situation where two potential purchasers of the same parcel appear at the same time, presumably 9:00 a.m., the law further provides for a drawing. 68 O.S. 2001, § 3108. The drawing provision is an attempt to settle the first-come, first-served question and in answer to your second question, does not conflict with the first-come, first-served provision. It is merely a mechanism to determine which individual is allowed to purchase a parcel when two people arrive (i.e. “appear”) at the same time.

¶5 You last ask whether there is any limit on the number of certificates which may be purchased before the next purchaser is allowed to participate. Reading the first three sentences of Section 3108 together, it is apparent that sales are conducted on a per-parcel basis. Therefore, if parcels have multiple potential buyers, drawings should be held on a per-parcel basis.

Section 3107 of Title 68 provides for a sale of property for delinquent taxes between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. on the first Monday of October. The statute does not prohibit the county treasurer, in conducting the sale, from allowing individuals to sign in prior to 9:00 a.m. All such individuals are deemed present at 9:00 a.m.
Section 3108 of Title 68 provides that parcels of land shall be sold to potential purchasers on a first-come, first-served basis. Section 3108 also provides that if more than one person appears at the same time, the treasurer shall decide the issue by fair and impartial drawing. These two provisions are not in conflict and, in fact, provide a mechanism by which the treasurer may determine which person among multiple eligible purchasers is, in fact, first. Pursuant to Section 3108 of Title 68, sales for delinquent taxes are made on a per-parcel basis. If more than one person arrives at the same time, drawings should be held on a per-parcel basis to determine the appropriate purchaser.

¶0 This office has received your request for an official Attorney General Opinion in which you ask the following question:

What is the State’s liability when the Ad Valorem Reimbursement Fund is insufficient to reimburse counties affected by tax exemptions to manufacturing and utility companies, as well as other companies included in Section 2902 of Title 68 and other State statutes?

Qualifying Manufacturing Concerns

¶1 On April 30, 1985, the people of Oklahoma adopted State Question No. 588, which amended the Oklahoma Constitution to establish an ad valorem tax exemption for qualifying manufacturing concerns. Today that section provides:

Article X, § 6B. Qualifying manufacturing concern--Ad valorem tax exemption

A. For the purpose of inducing any manufacturing concern to locate or expand manufacturing facilities within any county of this state, a qualifying manufacturing concern shall be exempt from the levy of any ad valorem taxes upon new, expanded or acquired manufacturing facilities for a period of five (5) years.

B. For purposes of this section, a "qualifying manufacturing concern" means a concern that:

1. Is not engaged in business in this state or does not have property subject to ad valorem tax in this state and constructs a manufacturing facility in this state or acquires an existing facility that has been unoccupied for a period of twelve (12) months prior to acquisition; or

2. Is engaged in business in this state or has property subject to ad valorem tax in this state and constructs a manufacturing facility in this state at a different location from present facilities and continues to operate all of its facilities or acquires an existing facility that has been unoccupied for a period of twelve (12) months prior to acquisition and continues to operate all of its facilities.

C. The exemption allowed by this section shall apply to expansions of existing facilities. Provided, however that any exemption shall be limited to the increase in ad valorem taxes directly attributable to the expansion.

D. The Legislature shall define the term "manufacturing facility" for purposes of the ad valorem tax exemption provided by this section in order to promote full employment of labor resources within the state; provided, however, that a manufacturing facility that qualifies for the ad valorem tax exemption provided by this section, pursuant to the definition of "manufacturing facility” then applicable, shall be eligible for the exemption without regard to subsequent changes in the definition of the term “manufacturing facility.”

E. The Legislature shall enact laws to carry out the provisions of this section and to provide for the reimbursement to common schools, county governments, cities and towns, emergency medical services districts, vocational-technical schools, junior colleges, county health departments and libraries for revenues lost to such entities as a result of the exemption provided by this section.

Id. (emphasis added).

¶3 On April 11, 1985, House Bill 1536 was enacted by the Oklahoma Legislature amending 68 O.S. Supp.1984, § 2352. 1985 Okla. Sess. Laws ch. 15, § 1. The first section of that bill provided the funding mechanism for the exemption. Id. One percent (1%) of the Oklahoma income taxes collected was placed in the Ad Valorem Reimbursement Fund. Id. § 1(2). Today that provision remains at one percent (1%):

1. All revenue derived pursuant to the provisions of subsections A, B and E of Section 2355 [Oklahoma income tax] of this title shall be apportioned monthly as follows:

   d. for FY 2003 and each fiscal year thereafter, one percent (1%) shall be placed to the credit of the Ad Valorem Reimbursement Fund;

2. All revenue derived pursuant to the provisions of subsections C and D of Section 2355 of this title shall be apportioned monthly as follows:

   d. for FY 2003 and each fiscal year thereafter, one percent (1%) shall be placed to the credit of the Ad Valorem Reimbursement Fund.

A. There is hereby created in the State Treasury a revolving fund for the Oklahoma Tax Commission to be designated the "Ad Valorem Reimbursement Fund". The fund shall be a continuing fund, not subject to fiscal year limitations. Monies apportioned to this fund shall be expended:

   1. To reimburse counties of this state for loss of revenue due to exemptions of ad valorem taxes for new or expanded manufacturing or research and development facilities;
2. To reimburse counties of this state for loss of revenue for school district and county purposes due to exemptions granted pursuant to the provisions of Section 2890 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes [additional homestead exemptions]; 2 and

3. To reimburse counties of this state for loss of revenue due to decreased valuation and assessment for buffer strips pursuant to Section 2 of this act. [Title 68 O.S. 2001, § 2817.2] 3

¶5 Provided that it shall be the duty of the Tax Commission to assess the valuation of all property for new or expanded manufacturing or research and development facilities which are exempt from ad valorem taxes.

¶6 Monies apportioned to this fund also may be transferred to other state funds or otherwise expended as directed by the Legislature by law.

B. The county commissioners of each county seeking reimbursement for lost revenue from the Ad Valorem Reimbursement Fund shall make claims for reimbursement on forms prescribed by the Tax Commission prior to April 30 of each year. Claims for reimbursement for loss of revenue due to exemptions of ad valorem taxes for new or expanded manufacturing or research and development facilities shall be made separately from claims for reimbursement for loss of revenue for school district and county purposes due to exemptions granted pursuant to the provisions of Section 2890 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes and separately from claims for reimbursement for loss of revenue for decreased valuation and assessment of buffer strips. Provided, the assessed valuation of a school district as stated in the claim for reimbursement shall be the same as reported to the State Department of Education on the Estimate of Need and shall include the total valuation of property exempt from taxation pursuant to Section 2902 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes. The claims shall be either approved or disapproved in whole or in part by the Tax Commission by June 15 of each year. A claim for reimbursement for loss of revenue due to an exemption of ad valorem taxes for a new or expanded manufacturing or research and development facility shall be disapproved if a county or school district has received any payment in lieu of ad valorem taxes from such facility, to the extent of the amount of such reimbursement. If the Tax Commission determines that an exemption has been erroneously or unlawfully granted, it shall notify the appropriate county assessor who shall immediately value and assess the property and place it on the rolls for ad valorem taxation. Disbursements from the fund shall be made on warrants issued by the State Treasurer against claims filed by the Tax Commission with the Office of State Finance for payment. Such disbursements shall be exempt from all agency expenditure ceilings. The county treasurer shall apportion or disburse such funds for expenditures in the same manner as other ad valorem tax collections.

C. In the event monies apportioned to the Ad Valorem Reimbursement Fund are insufficient to pay all claims for reimbursement made pursuant to subsection B of this section, claims for reimbursement for loss of revenue due to exemptions of ad valorem taxes for new or expanded manufacturing or research and development facilities shall be paid first, and any remaining funds shall be distributed proportionally among the counties making claims for reimbursement for loss of revenue for school district and county purposes due to exemptions granted pursuant to the provisions of Section 2890 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes, according to the amount of the claim made by each county. If any funds remain after paying all claims for reimbursement for loss of revenue due to exemptions of ad valorem taxation for new or expanded manufacturing or research and development facilities and for reimbursement for loss of revenue for school district and county purposes due to exemptions granted pursuant to the provisions of Section 2890 of Title 68 of the Oklahoma Statutes, the remaining funds shall be distributed proportionally among the counties making claims for reimbursement for loss of revenue for decreased valuation and assessment for buffer strips pursuant to Section 2 of this act [Title 68 O.S. 2001, § 2817.2].
Discussion

¶7 The Oklahoma Constitution contains numerous provisions that impose a duty on the Legislature regarding fiscal matters. In discussing the Oklahoma constitutional provision on municipal franchises, the Supreme Court opined, "generally, the term 'shall' is mandatory and precludes alternative means of carrying out a mandate." Okla. Elec. Coop., Inc. v. Okla. Gas & Elec. Co., 982 P.2d 512, 514 (Okla. 1999). "Constitutional provisions are mandatory unless it appears from the express terms thereof or by necessary implication in the language used, that they are intended to be directory only." State v. Hunt, 286 P.2d 1088, 1091 (Okla. 1955) (quoting Jones v. Freeman, 146 P.2d 564, 566 (Okla. 1943)). "Where the Constitution confers the power to do a particular act and prescribes the means and manner of doing such act, such means or manner is exclusive of all others." Zachary v. City of Wagoner, 292 P. 345, 348 (Okla. 1930) (quoting City of Sapulpa v. Land, 223 P. 640 (syllabus) (Okla. 1924)).

¶8 The Oklahoma Legislature fulfilled its requirements under Article X, Section 6B. It enacted laws that defined "[m]anufacturing facilities" (68 O.S. Supp. 2002, § 2902(B)(1)) and provided a funding mechanism to reimburse affected entities (id.§ 2352; 62 O.S. 2001, § 193). Under the constitutional provision, qualified manufacturing concerns are exempt from ad valorem taxes for up to five years, and the Legislature is responsible for reimbursing entities for lost ad valorem taxes due to those exemptions.

¶9 "Except where it encounters a specific constitutional prohibition, the Legislature has the right and the responsibility to declare the fiscal policy of Oklahoma." Calvey v. Daxon, 997 P.2d 164, 171 (Okla. 2000). "This Court, may not, based on its perception of how the State should conduct its business dealings, direct legislative decision making." Id. at 172. "The Legislature, being a co-ordinate branch of the government, may not be compelled by the courts to perform a legislative duty, even though the performance of that duty be required by the Constitution." Jones v. Freeman, 146 P.2d 564, 572 (Okla. 1943).

¶10 The Ad Valorem Reimbursement Fund receives one percent (1%) of Oklahoma income taxes paid each year. 68 O.S. Supp.2002, § 2352(1)(d), (2)(d). Article V, Section 55 of the Oklahoma Constitution provides:

No money shall ever be paid out of the treasury of this State, nor any of its funds, nor any of the funds under its management, except in pursuance of an appropriation by law, nor unless such payments be made within two and one-half years after the passage of such appropriation act, and every such law making a new appropriation, or continuing or reviving an appropriation, shall distinctly specify the sum appropriated and the object to which it is to be applied, and it shall not be sufficient for such law to refer to any other law to fix such sum.

Id. (emphasis added).

¶11 In Edwards v. Childers, 228 P. 472 (Okla. 1924), the Oklahoma Supreme Court discussed the requirements of Article V, Section 55:

A legislative act creating a special fund, all of which is, by the terms of the act, appropriated and directed to be expended for a special purpose and in an express manner, amounts to an appropriation of the entire fund so created, and where the amount accruing to and paid into said fund is capable of being definitely ascertained, it is sufficiently definite and certain to comply with the provisions of article 5, § 55, of the Constitution. Where a special fund is created from sources not coming from, or out of, the general revenue fund of the state, the authority to the official board or commission to spend said fund for a special purpose may be granted where the authority to disburse said fund or obligate the state is limited to the amount of money that may go into said fund, and such officer is not permitted to incur an indebtedness against the state which may be payable out of, or charged against, the general revenue funds of the state.

Id. at 476 (emphasis added). In Smith ex rel. State v. State Board of Equalization, 630 P.2d 1264, 1267 (Okla. 1981), a special fund was defined as "all funds which receive funds from taxes, charges, costs, grants, or other revenue." The Ad Valorem Reimbursement Fund is a special fund under Oklahoma law.

¶12 Allocation of one percent of Oklahoma income taxes paid each year makes the Ad Valorem Reimbursement Fund a "continuing appropriation." In Edwards, the court approved a continuing appropriation as to a special tax, comprising a special fund the whole of which was dedicated to "a single purpose." Edwards, 228 P. at 477. The "special fund" exception to Article V, Section 55 was further recognized in State ex rel. Hawkins v. Oklahoma Tax Commission, 462 P.2d 536 (Okla. 1969), wherein the court stated:

The 1941 Legislature's interpretation of Art. 10, Sec. 23, supra as reflected in H.B. 461, S.L.1941, clearly approves a continuing appropriation or apportionment of a special fund arising from a special tax which is allocated or dedicated to a special purpose.

Id. at 542. Under Okla. Const. art. X, § 23(5), there are restrictions on payments for debts:

Any department, institution or agency of the state operating on revenues derived from any law or laws which allocate the revenues thereof to such department, institution or agency shall not incur obligations in excess of the unencumbered balance of cash on hand.

Id. (emphasis added).

¶13 If the claims approved by the Oklahoma Tax Commission exceed the unencumbered balance of cash on hand, warrants for the full amount of the claims cannot be issued under this Oklahoma constitutional provision.

¶14 Arguably, this result is unfair to those affected entities that are entitled under the Oklahoma Constitution to reimbursement for revenues lost as a result of this exemption. While a mandamus action to compel the Legislature to fully fund the Ad Valorem Reimbursement Fund is not permissible, mandamus actions have been allowed against State officers for constitutionally mandated appropriations. See Riley v. Carter, 25 P.2d 666 (syllabus ¶ 2) (Okla. 1933). In construing the judicial salary of an Oklahoma Supreme Court Justice where the Legislature failed to provide sufficient appropriations, the court in Riley stated:

[W]e hold that the language used in the Constitution as herein set forth constitutes an appropriation to pay the salary of the petitioner in such sums and in such manner as the Legislature has provided. It has all the elements requisite to an appropriation. It fixed a sum certain; the amount payable at the time of his election, because same could not be changed during his tenure of office; to whom payable; the time of payment, this being fixed by the Legislature in the exercise of a power granted, and in payment of a specific object. We further hold that, this being an appropriation made by the people in the Constitution, it constitutes a continuing appropriation, and that the limitation contained in section 55, art. 5, of our Constitution, is not applicable to appropriations made in the Constitution itself.

Id. at 679 (emphasis added). It should be noted Riley occurred before the passage of the 1941 balanced budget amendment to Article X, Section 23. The Oklahoma Constitution did not have the "unencumbered balance of cash on hand" limitation for payment of debts at the time of Riley.
¶15 Oklahoma has a long line of cases directing county governments to pay constitutionally imposed obligations before voluntary debts. In Smartt v. Board of County Commissioners, 169 P. 1101 (syllabus), (Okla. 1917), the court upheld the claims of the county sheriff who filed suit to recover the cost of feeding prisoners, where the fund allocated for these expenses had been exhausted. Board of Commissioners v. Lawrence, 78 P.2d 669 (Okla. 1938) is like Riley, except the plaintiff was a county judge. The court held:

The legal revenue of the county must be appropriated and used in defrayment of the cost of constitutional governmental functions insofar as may be necessary for that purpose. That is to say, compulsory indebtedness must first be met from the appropriations, then, within the limitation of said appropriations, as provided by section 26, article 10 of the Constitution, voluntary indebtedness must be taken care of. . . . And the following rule is announced in the case Protest of Kansas City S. Ry. Co., [11 P.2d 500 (syllabus ¶ 17) (Okla. 1932)]: "Until an appropriation has been made for the performance of constitutional governmental functions, no appropriation may be made for the performance of legislative governmental functions or for other expenditures of public funds."

Id. at 670 (emphasis added) (citations omitted). See also LeFlore County Excise Bd. v. St. Louis-San Francisco Ry. Co., 93 P.2d 1087, 1089 (Okla. 1939) (sheriff has a constitutional duty of transporting prisoners and serving process); Hillcrest Med. Ctr. v. State ex rel. Dept of Corr., 675 P.2d 432 (syllabus) (Okla. 1983) (hospital entitled to payment of bill for prisoner injured while being transported from a court hearing to prison).

¶16 The Ad Valorem Reimbursement Fund statute provides that "claims for reimbursement of loss of revenue due to exemptions of ad valorem taxes for new or expanded manufacturing or research and development facilities shall be paid first." 62 O.S. 2001, § 193(C) (emphasis added). This statute does not contemplate that this constitutionally imposed obligation will not be fully satisfied. Payment in full of all approved claims to affected entities for ad valorem tax exemptions on qualifying manufacturing concerns is required. History teaches that lasting harm will result from the failure to timely and fully fund our obligations.

¶17 If monies remain after all approved claims for reimbursement to affected entities for qualifying manufacturing concerns are paid, the additional homestead exemptions are then considered. 62 O.S. 2001, § 193(C). If insufficient monies remain to pay all claims, the remaining funds will be distributed proportionally among the counties making claims for reimbursement. Id. If no funds exist to pay any claims for additional homestead exemptions, the claims are extinguished. Id.; Okla. Const. art. X, § 23(5).

¶18 If monies remain after all approved claims for reimbursement to affected entities for qualifying manufacturing concerns and additional homestead exemptions are paid, the buffer strip claims are considered. 62 O.S. 2001, § 193(C). If insufficient monies remain to pay all claims, the remaining funds will be distributed proportionally among the counties making claim for reimbursement. Id. If no funds exist to pay any claims for buffer strip claims, the claims are extinguished. Id.; Okla. Const. art. X, § 23(5).

1. The Oklahoma Constitution mandates reimbursement to affected entities for ad valorem taxes lost as a result of exemption to qualifying manufacturing concerns. Okla. Const. art. X, § 6B(E); 68 O.S. Supp.2002, § 2352. This is an appropriation made by the people in the Constitution. Okla. Const. art. X, § 6B(E). Payment in full to common schools, county governments, cities and towns, emergency medical services districts, vocational-technical schools, junior colleges, county health departments and libraries is required by this constitutional obligation, even if the Ad Valorem Reimbursement Fund contains an insufficient balance of funds. 62 O.S. 2001, § 193(C); Okla. Const. art X, § 23(5); Riley v. Carter, 25 P.2d 666 (syllabus ¶ 2) (Okla. 1933).
2. If the Ad Valorem Reimbursement Fund contains sufficient funds to pay all claims to affected entities for qualifying manufacturing concerns, claims for additional homestead exemptions will then be paid. 62 O.S. 2001, § 193(C). If insufficient funds exist to pay all claims to affected entities for additional homestead exemptions, the claims will be paid proportionally from the remaining funds. Id. If no funds exist to pay any claims for additional homestead exemptions, the claims are extinguished. Id.; Okla. Const. art X, § 23(5).

3. If the Ad Valorem Reimbursement Fund contains sufficient funds to pay all claims to affected entities for qualifying manufacturing concerns and all additional homestead exemptions, buffer strip claims will then be paid. 62 O.S. 2001, § 193(C). If insufficient funds exist to pay all claims to affected entities for buffer strips, the claims will be paid proportionally from the remaining funds. Id. If no funds exist to pay any claims for buffer strip exemptions, the claims are extinguished. Id.; Okla. Const. art X, § 23(5).

5 The Supreme Court, in Alexander v. Taylor, 51 P.3d 1204, 1209 (Okla. 2002), overruled the conclusion in Jones that Oklahoma courts must decline to hear cases and grant remedies for violations of congressional redistricting disputes.
Prior to 1941, Article X, Section 23 read:

The State may, to meet casual deficits or failure in revenues, or for expenses not provided for, contract debts; but such debts, direct and contingent, singly or in the aggregate, shall not, at any time, exceed four hundred thousand dollars, and the moneys arising from the loans creating such debts shall be applied to the purpose for which they were obtained or to repay the debts so contracted, and to no other purpose whatever.

Rountree v. Phelps, 197 P.2d 973 (Okla. 1948) was decided after the 1941 balanced budget amendment was adopted. Rountree stated that the State Board of Health was created by the Legislature in 1945; its nine members were to be paid a sum of ten dollars per day and actual and necessary expenses, not to exceed one hundred dollars a year. Id. at 975. No appropriation for the per diem and expenses occurred during the 1945 session. Id. On April 28, 1947, the Legislature appropriated $1800 for the per diem and expenses from the Emergency Appropriation Fund for the biennium ending June 30, 1947. Id. The Board members filed claims for expenses incurred during the biennium ending June 30, 1947. Id. The Oklahoma Supreme Court denied the expenses for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1946, because there was no appropriation for that fiscal year pursuant to Article 10, Section 1 of the Oklahoma Constitution, and no allocation of funds was made from which such warrants could be paid. Id. at 977. The Supreme Court found this was not an "appropriation by law." Id. Rountree is different from the facts presented by this Opinion, because the Ad Valorem Reimbursement Account is a continuing appropriation receiving 1 percent of the Oklahoma income tax each month. 68 O.S. Supp.2002, § 2352(1)(d), (2)(d). Additionally, in Rountree the Emergency Appropriation Fund from which per diem and expenses were to be paid was not established by the Legislature until February 10, 1947. Rountree, 197 P.2d at 977. Again, this is different from the facts present in Rountree as the Ad Valorem Reimbursement Fund was established in 1985. 68 O.S. Supp.1985 § 2405.2.

In his report Public Credit, delivered to Congress on January 14, 1790, Secretary of the Treasury Alexander Hamilton stated:

States, like individuals, who observe their engagements, are respected and trusted, while the reverse is the fate of those who pursue an opposite conduct.

Every breach of the public engagements, whether from choice or necessity, is, in different degrees, hurtful to public credit.

¶0 This office has received your request for an official Attorney General Opinion in which you ask, in effect, the following question:

May a County Assessor waive the statutory filing deadlines under 68 O.S. Supp. 2002, §§ 2902, 2902.1 or 2902.2 for good cause, and grant the exemption if he or she feels it is in the best interest of the public?

Analysis

¶1 The statutes you list which are the subject of this Opinion provide exemptions from ad valorem taxes. Manufacturing facilities are eligible for an exemption from ad valorem taxes for up to five years. Okla. Const. art. X, § 6B(A); 68 O.S. Supp. 2002, § 2902(A). Section 2902.1(1) of Title 68 applies to manufacturing facility exemptions originally filed before July 1, 1993. All possible five-year exemption claims under this section have been paid; therefore, this statute no longer applies. Property moving through Oklahoma in interstate commerce is eligible for a yearly exemption from ad valorem taxes. Okla. Const. art. X, § 6A; 68 O.S. Supp. 2002, § 2902.2.

¶2 On or before March 15, a taxpayer must file with the County Assessor a rendition listing personal property owned as of January 1 of each year. 68 O.S. 2001, § 2836. No rendition of real property is required by the owner. Id. The rendition of the taxpayer's personal property is not conclusive of value. A County Assessor can increase the valuation of real property from the preceding year and the rendered value of personal property pursuant to 68 O.S. 2001, § 2876(A). Although there is no time limit on the County Assessor increasing the value, there are time limits to complete the appeals process.

¶3 The exemption for manufacturing facilities from ad valorem taxes provides:

Any person, firm or corporation claiming the exemption herein provided for shall file each year for which exemption is claimed, an application therefor with the county assessor of the county in which the new, expanded or acquired facility is located. The application shall be on a form or forms prescribed by the Tax Commission, and shall be filed before March 15, except as provided in Section 2902.1 of this title, of each year in which the facility desires to take the exemption or within thirty (30) days from and after receipt by such person, firm or corporation of notice of valuation increase, whichever is later.

68 O.S. Supp.2002, § 2902(E) (emphasis added). The exemption from ad valorem taxes for tangible personal property moving through Oklahoma provides:

Any person, firm, or corporation claiming the exemption provided in Section 6A of Article X of the Oklahoma Constitution, relating to property moving through the state in interstate commerce.
commerce, shall file an application with the county assessor for each year for which the exemption is claimed. The application shall be on a form prescribed by the Oklahoma Tax Commission and shall be filed on or before March 15 of the year in which the person, firm, or corporation desires to take the exemption. Applications must be filed in the year in which the exemption is requested.

Id. § 2902.2 (emphasis added). "In the construction of statutes, 'shall' is usually given its common meaning of 'must.' It is interpreted as implying a command or mandate." Sneed v. Sneed, 585 P.2d 1363, 1364 (Okla. 1978). Unless the County Assessor increases the valuation of real property from the preceding year or the rendered value of a taxpayer's personal property, the application for exemption from ad valorem taxes of a manufacturing facility must be filed before March 15. 68 O.S. Supp.2002, § 2902(E). The ad valorem tax exemption for tangible personal property moving through Oklahoma must be filed on or before March 15. Id. § 2902.2.

¶5 While the term "good cause" is mentioned throughout the Oklahoma Statutes, that term is not mentioned in those statutes which are the subject of this Opinion request. Within the Oklahoma Tax Code, the term "good cause" occurs seven times. Specific to the Ad Valorem Tax Code is 68 O.S. 2001, § 2857(A), which provides:

The Tax Commission may grant an extension without penalty, upon written request of the taxpayer [public service corporation] and for a good cause, of not to exceed fifteen (15) days for the filing of the returns as required by the Ad Valorem Tax Code.

Id. (footnote omitted) (emphasis added). "Best interests of the public" is not mentioned in the Oklahoma Tax Code. There are five references to the term within the Oklahoma Statutes. We conclude that the Legislature does not intend for a County Assessor to consider waiving the filing deadlines for good cause, or grant the exemption if he or she feels it is in the best interest of the public. "[L]egislative silence, when it has authority to speak, may be considered as giving rise to an implication of legislative intent." City of Duncan v. Bingham, 394 P.2d 456, 460 (Okla. 1964).

1. The application for exemption from ad valorem taxes of manufacturing facilities pursuant to 68 O.S. Supp.2002, § 2902(E), must be filed with the County Assessor before March 15 of each year unless there is an increase of real property from the preceding year, or an increase in the valuation of the taxpayer's rendered personal property pursuant to 68 O.S. 2001, § 2876, in which case it must be filed the later of thirty days from receipt of the notice of valuation increase or March 14.

2. The application for exemption from ad valorem taxes of tangible personal property moving through Oklahoma pursuant to 68 O.S. Supp. 2002, § 2902.2, must be filed with the County Assessor on or before March 15 each year.

3. A County Assessor cannot consider "good cause" or "best interests of the public" for applications exempting ad valorem taxes pursuant to 68 O.S. Supp.2002. §§ 2902(E) or 2902.2, which are filed after the statutory deadlines.
FOOTNOTES

1 The Oklahoma Constitution contains two Section 6A provisions in Article X, one dealing with tangible personal property moving through Oklahoma, and the other dealing with the exemption from ad valorem or other taxes for intangible personal property. Title 68 O.S. Supp. 2002, § 2902.2 deals with the former section.

2 Corporations other than public service corporations must file on or before March 15 pursuant to 68 O.S. 2001, § 2838(A).

3 Renditions for household goods of the heads of families and livestock employed in support of the family are not required in counties that have approved ad valorem tax exemptions pursuant to Okla. Const. art X, § 6(b).

5 The statutory time lines in Title 68 for an increase in value by a County Assessor are as follows:

A. Section 2876(C) - written notice to the taxpayer within 1 day of the increase.

B. Section 2876(D) - Taxpayer has 20 calendar days from date of notice to file a written complaint.

C. Section 2876(F) - County Assessor shall schedule an informal hearing with the taxpayer.

D. Section 2876(F) - County Assessor shall take final action within 5 days of the informal hearing.

E. Section 2876(F) - Written notice shall be mailed within 1 day of the final action.

F. Section 2876(F) - Taxpayer has 10 working days to appeal to the County Board of Equalization.

G. Section 2877(A) - County Board of Equalization schedules hearing and renders decision.

H. Under Section 2863(A), a County Board of Equalization commences hearing cases on "April 1, or the first working day thereafter, and ending not later than May 31." In all counties a special session may be called if the board determines that the number of protests pending makes it impractical to complete hearing and adjudication prior to May 31. The special session can run from June 1 to no later than July 31. The special session must be requested no later than May 15 and approved by the County Budget Board.

To complete this process within these statutory time constraints, an increase in valuation by the County Assessor needs to occur no later than May 1 of the year.

Oklahoma Cases
v.
NEUSTADT

¶0 1. WATERS AND WATERCOURSES - Boundaries not affected by changes in riparian status caused by avulsion. Changes in riparian status by reason of avulsion does not work a change in boundaries.

2. SAME - Landowner held not to have acquired adjoining tract by accretion. Where land is surveyed and its boundary is capable of ascertainment by reference to government survey and plat, and a river changes channel and encroaches on the land, and the river thereafter gradually moves to the south over a period of 20 years, first destroying and then restoring land to the south that also is capable of being identified by reference to government survey and plat, the owner of the north tract does not acquire the south tract by accretion.

Appeal from District Court, Blaine County; Tom R. Blaine, Judge.

R. H. Morgan, of Watonga, for plaintiffs in error.
Falkenstine & Fisher, of Watonga, for defendant in error.

BAYLESS, J.

¶1 H. D. Mapes and wife appeal from a judgment of the district court of Blaine county, tried without a jury, in favor of Walter N. Neustadt. Mapes, asserting title to certain described real estate, alleged they were the owners also of certain land extending to the south (not included in the specific description of the land) by reason of accretion, 60 O.S. 1941 § 335.
¶2 There is no substantial difference in the evidence of the contesting parties. Mapes' title to the 68 acres in the north half of the northeast quarter is based upon a patent from the federal government to the northeast quarter according to the government survey and plat. Neustadt's title to 110.5 acres in the southeast quarter (now claimed by Mapes) was based on a patent from the federal government described as lots 5 and 6. When the Mapes land was surveyed first it was nonriparian, and the river occupied parts of lots 3 and 4 (which were never patented to anyone) and its south bank was riparian to lots 5 and 6. By avulsion prior to the issuance of the patent to Mapes' land all of lots 3 and 4 north of the river were destroyed, and also parts of the northeast quarter, so that it became in fact riparian to the river and occupied such status at the time it was patented. It was patented in 1917, and beginning in 1923 and continuing for many years there was movement by the river to the south that gradually restored lots 3 and 4, destroyed lots 5 and 6, and then restored them. It is Mapes' contention that their riparian line (the medial line of this nonnavigable stream) moved with the river, and the restoration of lots 3 and 4 (title to which is not involved here) and 5 and 6 accreted to the south riparian line as of the time of the patent, and by the law of accretion belongs to them.

¶3 The trial court found that Mapes' line as surveyed was nonriparian, and as the river now exists it is possible to identify the land of the contesting parties, and so being, the equities are with Neustadt and not the Mapes, and that each is the owner now of what was originally patented and no more.

¶4 Citing the statute supra, and the decisions of this court in Goins v. Merryman, 183 Okla. 155, 80 P.2d 268, and Chase v. Cheatham, 194 Okla. 1, 146 P.2d 585, Mapes contends that the trial court erred.

¶5 To the contrary, Neustadt cites Hunzicker v. Kleeden, 161 Okla. 102, 17 P.2d 384, in support of the judgment in his favor.

¶6 There appear to be many factual differences between the Hunzicker Case, supra, and the Chase Case, supra, affecting the discussion of the rules involved that tend to explain the difference, if any, in the ultimate rule applied in each case. Perhaps the presence of the issue of prescription in the latter case suffices to destroy any analogy. However, as between the Hunzicker and Goins Cases, supra, it is difficult to point out factual differences that brought about the difference in the law applied, unless it was the assertion in the Hunzicker Case of equitable principles and the proof of restoration rendering identification possible; neither of which seems to have been mentioned in the Goins Case. It is significant that the Hunzicker Case was not mentioned in either of the other cases cited, supra. However, there is another factor shown in the evidence of this case that served to differentiate it from the cases relied on by Mapes, and this is avulsion. In all of the cases cited by either of the parties it appears that any movement of the streams in question was by slow and imperceptible degrees over a long period of time and clearly amounted to what was known at common law and is defined by our statute, supra, as accretion. By the common law any sudden change in the channel of a stream or movement of one mass of land from one shore to another, where it was identifiable, was avulsion and did not affect titles nor change boundaries, 67 C.J. 828 § 239, and the cases cited in the footnotes. Our statutory definition of avulsion is not as broad as the common law definition and is limited solely to the right to reclaim mass removals that can be identified subsequently, 60 O.S. 1941 § 336. We have no statute dealing with avulsion in the sense of a sudden change in the channel of a river such as occurred in this instance. Since the rule at common law and under our statute, where applicable, is that avulsion does not change the boundaries nor affect titles, the flood that occurred in 1914 whereby a part of the land now owned by Mapes was carried away suddenly by a change in the channel of the river, could not have been used against Mapes to his detriment by riparian owners on the opposite shore. We think the corollary of this rule is that Mapes could not thereafter use the slow and imperceptible movement of the river channel to the south whereby his lost land was restored to establish a riparian owner's right to claim accretion and thereby acquire the title of other owners south of him upon the restoration of their land, following its destruction, by this gradual movement of the river channel to the south. In other words, it is our opinion that this sudden movement of the river in 1914 could not have affected title to the land in the northeastern quarter at that time and rectification of this move ought not to serve as the basis of accretion.
¶7 We think that the reliance of Neustadt on the equitable principles applied in the Hunzicker Case, and his reliance upon the ability to identify his land by government plat and survey following the restoration of his land, justified the trial court in rendering judgment in his favor. There is a sharp diversity of views among the opinions of the courts of this nation on the subject of accretion and the rule adopted by the South Dakota court in Allard v. Curran, 41 S.D. 73, 168 N.W. 761, followed by the later case of Erickson v. Horlyk, 48 S.D. 544, 205 N.W. 613, where the chief reliance for the rule adopted therein was upon the ability to identify according to government plat and survey was the basis for the Hunzicker Case. We believe it controls here.

¶8 The judgment appealed from is affirmed.

¶9 GIBSON, C. J., HURST, V. C. J., and RILEY, OSBORN, WELCH, CORN, and DAVISON, JJ., concur.
CITY OF SHAWNEE, OKLAHOMA, A MUNICIPAL CORPORATION, PLAINTIFF,

v.

Mac Q. WILLIAMSON, ATTORNEY GENERAL OF THE STATE OF OKLAHOMA, AND EX OFFICIO BOND COMMISSIONER OF THE STATE OF OKLAHOMA, DEFENDANT.

Syllabus by the Court

¶0 A public municipal parking lot owned exclusively by a municipality is a public utility as that term is used in Section 27, Article 10 of the Constitution.

Original action in mandamus to compel the defendant to approve certain municipal parking lot bonds issued by the City of Shawnee. Writ granted.

Randall Pitman, City Atty., Miller & Peters, John T. Levergood, Thomas M. Stevens, Shawnee, George J.
Fagin, Oklahoma City, of counsel, for plaintiff.

WELCH, Justice.

¶1 This is an original action begun in this court by the plaintiff, City of Shawnee, Oklahoma, a municipal corporation, wherein it seeks a writ of mandamus to compel the defendant, Mac Q. Williamson, Attorney General, and Ex-Officio Bond Commissioner of the State of Oklahoma, to approve certain municipal parking lot bonds issued by the City of Shawnee, when said bonds, together with a duly certified transcript of the proceedings herein, were submitted to the defendant as provided by law, he declined to approve the bonds because there was a question as to the legality of the bond purpose.

¶2 This action then presents the question whether a public parking lot is a "public utility" within the purview and meaning of Section 27, Article 10 of the Constitution of the State of Oklahoma; and whether the bonded indebtedness proposed to be incurred by the City of Shawnee as to the "parking lots," constitutes an unlawful and unauthorized attempt to impose a tax for a purpose not sanctioned by law.

¶3 Section 27, Article 10 of the Constitution of Oklahoma reads as follows:

"Any incorporated city or town in this State may, by a majority of the qualified property tax paying voters of such city or town, voting at an election to be held for that purpose, be allowed to become indebted in a larger amount than that specified in section twenty-six, for the purpose of purchasing or constructing public utilities, or for repairing the same, to be owned exclusively by such city: Provided, That any such city or town incurring any such indebtedness requiring the assent of the voters as aforesaid, shall have the power to provide for, and, before or at the time of incurring such indebtedness, shall provide for the collection of an annual tax in addition to the other taxes provided for by this Constitution, sufficient to pay the interest on such indebtedness as it falls due, and also to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal thereof within twenty-five years from the time of contracting the same."

¶4 The defendant in support of the contention that a parking lot is not a public utility has cited Coleman v.
547, 207 P.2d 922; State ex rel. City of Shawnee v. Williamson, 186 Okl. 278, 97 P.2d 74, 125 A.L.R.
1389; In re City of Miami, 43 Okl. 205, 141 P. 1174, and In re Bonds of City of Guthrie, 35 Okl. 494, 130
P. 265. We have examined these authorities and find that they all have held that street improvements do not constitute public utilities, since the streets are not exclusively owned and controlled by the municipality. We must agree with these authorities, however, we cannot agree that they are applicable to the question here presented, since the parking lots are to be exclusively owned by the municipality and they are not to be managed or used in the same manner as streets.

¶5 Defendant next contends that the provisions of Title 11 O.S. 1951 §§ 1352 [11-1352] to 1359, inclusive, as amended by the 1953 Legislature, were designed to alleviate the existing problems of automotive congestion in cities, and indicate a legislative intent to relieve the taxpaying voters from any burden incident to the purchase, construction or maintenance of public parking lots. It is argued that by providing a specific method of financing a parking lot project, the Legislature apparently intended to bar and exclude every other method. We cannot agree that the suggested intent is apparent, nor that the Legislature intended to bar or could bar any method authorized by provision of the Constitution.
Furthermore, in the case of Application of the City Council of City of Tahlequah, Okl., 285 P.2d 418, 419, it was held:

"All portions of 11 O.S.Supp. 1953, Sec. 449.1 to 449.20 (Title 11, Chapter 8, 1953 Session Laws of Oklahoma) purporting to authorize certain cities and towns to become indebted in excess of the amount fixed in Oklahoma Constitution, Art. X, sec. 26, without complying with all provisions of section 27 thereof are unconstitutional and void."

¶6 Neither our Constitution nor statutes have defined a public utility, nor has our court heretofore had the question of whether a parking lot owned by a municipality would constitute a public utility. However, this court, in a long line of decisions, has uniformly held that the term "public utilities" as used in Section 27, Article 10 of the State Constitution, is synonymous with the term "public use." State ex rel. Edwards v.
Millar, 21 Okl. 448, 96 P. 747; State ex rel. Manhattan Construction Co. v. Barnes, 22 Okl. 191, 97 P.

¶7 We have held that public parks, sidewalks and paving of the streets through parks, convention halls, sewers, public fire stations, electric light plants, municipal owned airports, public waterworks, cemetaries, public libraries, museums, all are public utilities within the meaning of that term as used in Section 27, Article 10 of the Constitution. Oklahoma City v. State ex rel. Edwards, 28 Okl. 780, 115 P. 1108; City of Ardmore v. State ex rel. Best, 24 Okl. 862, 104 P. 913; Williams v. City of Norman, 85 Okl. 230, 205 P.
144; Chastain v. Oklahoma City, 208 Okl. 604, 258 P.2d 635; Dunagan v. Town of Red Rock, 58 Okl.
Tulsa, Okl., 299 P.2d 792; City of Tulsa v. Williamson, Okl., 276 P.2d 209; Town of Nichols Hills v.

¶8 The ever increasing complications of modern civilization from time to time have compelled a new examination and application of the constitutional provision as to "public utilities." This is not to change the meaning of the Constitution to meet changing times as that would be an amending of the Constitution by judicial decree. We merely re-examine the Constitution as written, and make judicial application thereof to the new situation presented. In order to cover new applications the term "public utility" has become somewhat synonymous with the term "public good or public use." The courts in other jurisdictions have consistently defined "public use" to mean public utility, advantage, or what is productive of public benefit.
¶9 The evident object and purpose of Section 27, supra, is primarily to empower the incorporated cities and towns of this state by a majority of the qualified taxpaying voters voting at an election held for such purpose to become indebted in a larger amount than that specified in Section 26, for the purpose of purchasing or constructing public utilities or for repairing the same, to be owned exclusively by such municipalities, and it is the duty of the court to so construe the provisions as to carry out its purpose. The construction of a constitutional provision must not be so strict or technical as to defeat the evident object and purpose of its adoption.

¶10 Where a constitutional provision is complete in itself it needs no further legislation to put it into force. And where it asserts a certain right, or lays down a certain principle of law or procedure, it speaks for the entire people as their supreme law, and is full authority for all that is done in pursuance of its provision. In short, if complete in itself, it executes itself. Davis v. Burke, 179 U.S. 399, 21 S.Ct. 210, 45 L.Ed. 249; State ex rel. Edwards v. Millar, supra.

¶11 We are irresistibly led to the conclusion that Section 27, Article 10, supra, is a grant of power to the people of the municipalities of the state, and not a limitation.

¶12 Section 1 of Art. 2 of our Constitution provides that:

“All political power is inherent in the people; and government is instituted for their protection, security, and benefit, and to promote their general welfare.”

¶13 This general underlying idea that the people themselves have the power by direct vote to control their own affairs is very persuasive that it was the intention of the Constitution to give to municipal corporations directly the right to become indebted by vote of the taxpayers for the construction of public utilities. Therefore since it has been held that public utility and public use are synonymous, and that usually or generally whatever is beneficially employed for the community is of public use, we are of the opinion that the taxpaying voters of a municipality have some qualification to determine whether a parking lot would be a public use and benefit, and when they have so determined by their vote, the court should give a fair and just construction and decision as to what constitutes a public utility under Section 27, Article 10, supra.

¶14 It is obvious from the authorities hereinabove cited and referred to, that from time to time as our population has increased and modern civilization has progressed, both a demand and the necessity for various public services have increased. The increased use of motor vehicles has created a serious parking problem in all municipalities to the extent that a municipally owned parking lot is not only a convenience such as public libraries, museums, public parks, etc., which have heretofore been held to be public utilities, but is a necessary service to the public for the control of congested traffic on the streets, and for the protection of pedestrians and property owners within the municipality.

¶15 For the reasons above stated, we are of the opinion, and so hold, that parking lots exclusively owned and operated by municipalities are public utilities within the meaning of that term as used in Section 27, Article 10 of our Constitution.

v.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF SOUTH OKLAHOMA CITY JUNIOR COLLEGE ET AL., RESPONDENTS.

¶0 Application to assume original jurisdiction, to enjoin the Oklahoma County Treasurer from paying to the South Oklahoma City Junior College tax monies derived from part of an area school district overlapped by that of petitioner, and to determine respective authority of the two area school districts to levy taxes and issue general obligation bonds with respect to the overlap area upon proper vote of the people in each of the two area school districts. Original jurisdiction assumed, rights of the parties determined, and request for injunction denied.

Harold L. Heiple, Heiple Law Offices, Inc., Norman, for petitioner.

Gary M. Bush, Michael D. Tinney, Fagin, Brown & Bush, Herman Merson, Merson, Campbell & Merson, Oklahoma City, for respondent Bd. of Trustees of South Oklahoma City Junior College.

Curtis P. Harris, Dist. Atty., William L. Funk, Asst. Dist. Atty., Oklahoma City, for respondents Oklahoma County Treasurer, Oklahoma County Assessor.

J. Harry Johnson, Oklahoma City, for amicus curiae, Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Ed.

LAVENDER, Justice:

¶1 This is an original action by petitioner, the Moore-Norman Area Vocational-Technical School District
No. 17, a body corporate duly formed as an area vocational-technical school district, the boundaries of which are partly within the boundaries of the South Oklahoma City Area School District, the "overlap" area being entirely within Oklahoma County.

¶2 Petitioner asks that we assume original jurisdiction, enjoin the Oklahoma County Treasurer from the distribution of certain tax monies from the overlap area to the South Oklahoma City Junior College, and to judicially determine rights relative to tax revenues and incurrence of indebtedness in the overlap area by its area school district and the South Oklahoma City Area School District, which district it does not recognize as an area school district.

¶3 Original jurisdiction is assumed.

¶4 The South Oklahoma City Junior College offers courses in vocational and/or technical education, and, because of this, pursuant to 70 O.S. 1971 § 4410, a tax levy of 5 mills as provided for by Section 9B(a), Article X, Oklahoma Constitution, upon proper vote thereon by the people, was levied within the South Oklahoma City Area School District. Similarly, a 5 mill tax levy is authorized the petitioner in its area school district by the same Article, and a 5 mill tax levy was voted by the people in that district, it being the second of the two levies impressed upon the taxable property in the overlap area. Both levies are for operational funds.

¶5 The County Treasurer has paid, and proposes to pay, to the Board of Trustees of the college monies derived from the 5 mill tax levy for the South Oklahoma City Area School District. Petitioner seeks a judicial determination that this 5 mill tax levy is void, or, in the alternative, that it is entitled to share equitably in the monies thereby generated. Our holding is that the levy is not void, and we find no authorization for the equitable sharing.

¶6 Petitioner also seeks a judicial determination that the issuance of general obligation bonds by the college for capital improvements shall not prevent petitioner from issuing its own general obligation bonds up to 5% of the net valuation of taxable property within its area school district, which would include the overlap area, in accordance with Section 9B(b), Article X, Oklahoma Constitution. Our conclusion on this will be stated hereinafter.

¶7 The referenced Section 9B, Article X, came into being in its entirety by constitutional amendment proposed by the Legislature and voted on by the people in a special election in 1966.

¶8 The petitioner vocational-technical school district came into being in 1972 pursuant to provisions of 70 O.S. 1971 § 14-108, pertaining to area school districts, and providing, among other things, for the State Board of Vocational and Technical Education to prescribe criteria and procedures for such school districts and the government thereof, as provided by Section 9B, Article X, Oklahoma Constitution.

¶9 The South Oklahoma City Area School District came into being in 1970 pursuant to provisions of 70 O.S. 1971 § 4410 as enacted in 1968. That section provides substantially in part that a community maintaining a community junior college in which courses in vocational and/or technical education are offered, and meeting the published standards prescribed by law and/or the State Board for Vocational Education [predecessor to the State Board of Vocational and Technical Education] for establishing an area school district may, by resolution adopted by the Board of Trustees of the college, become an area school district, and laws applicable to other area school districts, including laws authorizing tax levies, are applicable to such district.

¶10 Petitioner attacks this statute, 70 O.S. 1971 § 4410, and says that under the state constitution, only the State Board for Vocational Education can establish area school districts, the statute, in petitioner's view, being unconstitutional and void insofar as it purports to authorize anyone other than the board to establish area school districts. This is its Proposition II. Incorporated therein is petitioner's further position that a statutory proclamation that junior college communities can grant unto themselves the ability to become area schools [area school districts] authorized to collect ad valorem tax money is simply an attempt to grant by legislative fiat powers which the legislature is not authorized to grant under the state constitution. Petitioner says that the board had nothing to do with the qualification of the community or the college for establishing an area school district, and that therefore neither exists as an area school district, and neither can collect monies generated by levies impressed on property located within its boundaries. The basis for this position lies in Section 9B(c), Article X of the Constitution, which is as follows:

"(c) Until otherwise provided by law, area school districts and the government thereof shall be established in accordance with criteria and procedures prescribed by the State Board for Vocational Education."

Petitioner also refers to the ballot title for the aforesaid Section 9B, Article X Amendment, adopted at the election held in 1966, which provides in its GIST OF THE PROPOSITION for "... authorizing establishment of area school districts by the State Board for Vocational Education; ..."

as further evidence of the exclusive authority of the board to establish area school districts.

¶11 Petitioner's Proposition I is that the Legislature may not alter, amend, delete or add to the provisions of Section 9B, Article X, Oklahoma Constitution notwithstanding sub-section (d) thereof which reads:

"(d) The Legislature may alter, amend, delete, or add to this Section 9B by law. *

because no reference to this was in the ballot title and, hence, the people did not approve such amendment of their constitution, as is their right under Section 1, Article V, of that constitution. However, since our disposition of the matter turns on sub-section (c) of the referenced Section 9B, and, also, on the adequacy of the ballot title in advising the voters of what they were to vote on, other than subsection (d), it is not necessary to decide the matter raised in petitioner's Proposition I.

¶12 In reference to the ballot title, the above quoted clause from it is what it says - an authorization to the State Board for Vocational Education. Nowhere does the constitutional amendment, Section 9B, or its ballot title, stamp the board as a creation of the constitution. It was, and remained, a creation of the Legislature, and the ballot title reference to the board must be viewed in that light. Left undisturbed was all legislative power regarding the board, and this power included alternate means for accomplishing anything that the board might accomplish. Therefore, fairly within the GIST of the ballot title was Section 9B(c) providing for area school districts and their government in accordance with criteria and procedures provided by the board "until otherwise provided by law," the quoted provision being a recognition of the legislative power found in Section 36, Article V, Oklahoma Constitution, providing that any specific grant of authority in the Constitution shall not work a restriction, limitation, or exclusion upon the authority of the Legislature upon the same subject or any other subject. The Legislature thereafter provided for an alternate means of establishing an area school district by enacting 70 O.S. § 4410 in 1968, and this was within its authority as a rightful subject of legislation. Further, we observe that the ballot title insofar as it pertains to Section 9B, exclusive of sub-section (d) on which we express no opinion as it is not necessary for this decision, adequately advised the voters of the general nature of the measure (Perry v. Jordan (1949), 34 Cal.2d 87, 207 P.2d 47, 51), which, other than the statement of the board's authority, supra, permitted the levying of taxes and incurring of indebtedness by area school districts upon vote of the people therein. Also, the proposed amendment and its ballot title were in accord with the requirements of Section 1, Article XXIV, of the state constitution pertaining to amendments proposed by the Legislature. All of this being so, as we believe it is, the action of the Legislature in thereafter enacting what is now 70 O.S. 1971 § 4410 was in no-wise manifestly in contravention of the constitution (Rupe v. Shaw (1955), Okl., 286 P.2d 1094, 1098) and should be therefore upheld; the community maintaining the junior college could become an area school district, and the voters of that district could levy a tax in accordance with Section 9B(a), Article X of the state constitution. Further, payment of monies generated by such tax levy could properly be paid by the County Treasurer to the governing board for the area school district, which, as we noted in Sherrill v. Board of Trustees of South Oklahoma City Junior College (1973), Okl., 515 P.2d 1388, is also the Board of Trustees of the community junior college.

¶13 This subject would not be complete without recognition of the position of the County Treasurer and County Assessor that the taxpayers of the overlap area cannot be subjected to two 5 mill assessments because of provisions of Section 9B, Article X of the state constitution. No collection or payment of the millage levied by the petitioner's district is intended by them. Closely allied to this matter is petitioner's request for a determination that issuance of general obligation bonds by the college shall not prohibit the petitioner from issuing its own general obligation bonds for up to 5% of the net valuation of taxable property within petitioner's area school district, including the overlap area, in accordance with Section 9B(b) of the aforesaid Article. The matters are allied because inhabitants of the overlap district would be paying taxes in each instance for support of two area school districts.
¶14 First, it may be noted that nothing in Section 9B, Article X of the constitution, specifically or by reference to other sections of that Article, prohibits either the issuance of general obligation bonds, or the imposition of a 5 mill tax levy by the voters of any area school district, which necessarily includes both area school districts. The matter does not end there, however, for we must ask ourselves whether it was the intent of the voters in voting upon the constitutional amendment, and, indeed, whether it was the intent of the Legislature in enacting 70 O.S. 1971 § 4410, that the authority thus extended to area school districts encompassed an overlap area in which the authority was already utilized to the maximum permissible extent by another area school district. Our conclusion is that there was not such intent in either instance, and we reach this result by construction of the referenced Section 9B, Article X, which authorizes the mill tax levies and indebtednesses by area school districts.

¶15 The object of construction, applied to a constitution, is to give effect to the intent of its framers and of the people adopting it. This intent is to be found in the instrument itself; and when the text of a constitutional provision is not ambiguous, the courts, in giving construction thereto, are not at liberty to search for its meaning beyond the instrument. Latting v. Cordell (1946), 197 Okl. 369, 172 P.2d 397, quoted in Hines v. Winters (1957), Okl., 320 P.2d 1114, 1118. Therefore, looking directly to Section 9B(a), it first provides that:

"Area school districts for vocational and/or technical schools may be established and a levy of not to exceed five (5) mills on the dollar valuation of the taxable property in any area school district so established may be made annually, for the district, when such levy is approved by a majority of the electors in the area school district, . . ."

It is most difficult to believe that the Legislature in proposing this amendment, or the people in voting on it, had any thought of overlapping districts for the teaching of the same subject, and it being immaterial for this purpose whether the teaching was at a secondary school or higher school level. Indeed, that would have been beyond the gist of the proposition voted on, and, if held otherwise, the desirability of an informed electorate passing on changes in the fundamental law (16 Am.Jur.2d, Constitutional Law, Section 36) would be circumvented.

¶16 Accordingly, we hold that Section 9B, Article X, Oklahoma Constitution, does not contemplate the imposition of a tax levy upon the taxable property in the overlap area of the two area school districts in excess of that authorized for a single school district. The maximum taxable levy for operational purposes having already been imposed for benefit of the South Oklahoma City Area School District, there was no authority for an additional levy in the overlap area for operational purposes to benefit petitioner's area school district, and to the extent the levy for petitioner's district did so, the same is invalid. This is consistent with the requirement that taxes must be uniform upon the same class of subjects, as found in Section 5, Article X, Oklahoma Constitution. Moreover, while not necessary to decide this tax levy matter, the voters, in voting on the constitutional amendment, and the Legislature in enacting 70 O.S. 1971 § 4410, could not have intended that area school districts could be superimposed one on top of the other as was done in this case, so that even if the permissible tax levy upon taxable property in the overlap area were not already imposed, only the area school district first created would be authorized to impose such levy. We say this without going outside of the referenced Section 9B(a) of the Constitution with the same reasoning as aforesaid in commenting on intent with regard to that section.

¶17 Turning to the matter of petitioner issuing general obligation bonds, Section 9B(b) provides that:

"(b) Upon the establishment of area school districts, such districts are authorized to become indebted separate and apart from the indebtedness of any school district included in the area school district up to five percent (5%) of the net valuation of taxable property within such area school district for capital improvements . . ."

In view of the reference to indebtedness separate from that of any school district, surely, had the Legislature in proposing the amendment intended that the authorized indebtedness also be separate from that of any overlapping area school district, it would have likewise so stated in both the amendment and its ballot title. Therefore, the same principle prohibiting the imposition of dual tax levies in an overlap area is applicable to the matter of general obligation bonded indebtedness. The South Oklahoma City Area School District having been first established, it has the sole right of such a district to its geographical area for the purpose of voting bonded indebtedness therein.¹

¶18 The foregoing, we think, meets the required objective of giving effect to the intent of the legislative framers of the constitutional amendment concerned, and of the people adopting it. State ex rel. Hawkins v. Oklahoma Tax Commission (1969), Okl., 462 P.2d 536.

¶19 The rights of the parties have been determined, and the request for an order enjoining the Oklahoma County Treasurer from distributing tax monies derived from the overlap area to the governing board of the South Oklahoma City Area School District [referred to by petition as the South Oklahoma City Junior College] is denied.

Footnotes:

¹ The county officials state in their answer to petitioner that the bonded indebtedness of the South Oklahoma City Junior College [not the South Oklahoma City Area School District] is being retired by a levy of 5.96 mills on taxable property in the county, which includes the overlap area. As thus stated, this is a matter separate from indebtedness of the area school district, which is a separate and distinct entity from the college. Sherrill v. Board of Trustees of South Oklahoma City Junior College, supra.
On appeal from a judgment of the District Court in Oklahoma County, Oklahoma, Honorable Harold C. Theus, Judge. Appellant appeals on the grounds of improper division of jointly acquired property, insufficient award of alimony and failure of the decree to require appellee to pay all indebtedness of the parties. HODGES, Vice Chief Justice.

¶1 This is a petition for certiorari from the Court of Appeals Division # 2. We are granting certiorari for the limited purposes of increasing the alimony judgment and awarding attorney fees to appellant for successfully prosecuting the appeal. The judgment of the trial court and the Court of Appeals is otherwise affirmed.

¶2 The appellant, Jeanne Marie Durland, contends the trial court abused its discretion in its award of an alimony judgment in the amount of $36,000.00. We agree.

¶3 The parties had been married nineteen years. The wife has only minimal income [552 P.2d 1149] from her partial ownership in a second hand clothing store. She is not trained for any particular employment outside the home. In addition, one of the children of the parties is a diabetic and requires special care and attention by appellant.
¶4 The facts reveal the husband's income from his law practice over the past few years was:

¶5 There is no fixed percentage or rule available by which to determine the amount of alimony to be awarded in the granting of divorce. The propriety of the award depends on the facts and circumstances of the particular case but it must be reasonable. The determination of the amount of alimony to be allowed in a divorce action requires the consideration of the station in life and the conduct of the parties, the earning capacity and estate of the husband, and the financial means and physical condition of the wife.²

¶6 We feel, based upon a consideration of the appropriate factors involved, including the parties' station in life; the length of the marriage; and the lack of educational preparation of the wife; the alimony judgment should be increased from $36,000.00 to $48,100.00, payable in installments at the rate of $650.00 per month until appellee has paid appellant seventy-four equal installments. The obligation of the appellee to pay future installments of alimony will automatically terminate on death or remarriage of appellant pursuant to 12 O.S. 1971 § 1289.

¶7 The appellant requests attorney fees and costs of printing briefs. Appellant argues she was required to appeal the trial court's judgment in order to obtain just and equitable orders relating to property settlement, alimony, and payment of debts. The appeal from the divorce decree of necessity required legal research and the preparation of a brief for presentation. The appellant is granted an additional $500.00 for attorney fees and costs.³

H.M. DUNBAR, COUNTY ASSESSOR OF GARFIELD COUNTY, OKLAHOMA, RESPONDENT

GARFIELD COUNTY INDUSTRIAL AUTHORITY, AND ITS TRUSTEES, JOHN O. FOREMAN, WILLIAM V. HARRIS, J.W. HILL, FRED E. KAUPKE, JOE E. KING, L.L. LONG, LELAND H. MILLER, HUGH L. THURMAN, AND JACK ZALOUDEK; AND KOEHRING COMPANY; AND CHESTERFIELD CYLINDER COMPANY, INC., RESPONDENT INTERVENORS.

¶0 This original proceeding involves the ad valorem tax status of the possessory and contractual interest that two private entities have in property in which legal title is held by a public trust.

Jan Eric Cartwright, Attorney General of Oklahoma, et al., (Petitioners) filed an Application for this Court to Assume Original Jurisdiction and Issue a Writ of Mandamus ordering and directing H.M. Dunbar, County Assessor of Garfield County (Respondent), to place certain real and personal property on the Garfield County ad valorem tax rolls, and to declare 60 O.S. 1977 Supp. § 178.7 unconstitutional.

Respondent, Garfield County Industrial Authority, a public trust, (GCIA) holds legal title to the property which Petitioners seek to have placed on the tax rolls, and Respondents Koehring Company (Koehring) and Chesterfield Cylinder Company, Inc. (Chesterfield) have separate possessory and contractual interests in such property.

Respondents GCIA, Koehring and Chesterfield were authorized to Intervene.

¶1 The Garfield County Industrial Authority, a public trust, (GCIA) was created pursuant to 60 O.S. 1971, §§ 176-180, as amended.¹ Garfield County is the beneficiary.

¶2 Since the Legislature first authorized the creation of public trusts as a vehicle for “public trust financing” in 1951, ad valorem taxes have not been assessed or paid upon public trust property or upon the possessory or contractual interests of private entities in such property.² At issue in this proceeding is the ad valorem tax status of the possessory and contractual interest which two private entities have in trust properties in which GCIA holds legal title. The two private entities are Koehring Company (Koehring) and Chesterfield Cylinder Company, Inc. (Chesterfield). Koehring and Chesterfield acquired their respective possessory rights, and whatever additional interests each may have, under separate “Lease Agreements” negotiated with GCIA. GCIA is referred to in each agreement as “Lessor” and Koehring and Chesterfield are referred to as “Lessee.”³

¶3 In this original proceeding the Attorney General, et al., seek a Writ of Mandamus directing the Respondent, H.M. Dunbar, County Assessor of Garfield County, to assess and place on the ad valorem tax rolls all the real and personal property which Koehring and Chesterfield have or hold by reason of the “Lease Agreement” each has with GCIA. GCIA, Koehring and Chesterfield were authorized to intervene and will be referred to collectively as Intervenors unless referred to separately by name.
FACTS AND ISSUES

¶4 The background giving rise to this litigation is briefly summarized. On July 31, 1979, the Attorney General of the State of Oklahoma, rendered an opinion in which he concluded that . . .

"private lessees of public trust property, whether real or personal, have a separate, identifiable property interest which is not by reason of any retained trust or governmental beneficial ownership exempt from taxation under . . . the Constitution of the State of Oklahoma," and that County Assessors are required to place such leased property upon the tax rolls for the purpose of ad valorem taxation. In reaching this conclusion the Attorney General withdrew a prior official opinion of a former Attorney General in which it was concluded that under Art. X, § 6A of the Oklahoma Constitution . . .

"intangible personal property consisting of a leasehold interest in real and personal property held in trust for the use and benefit of a county of this State is not subject to ad valorem taxation."

¶5 Since the opinion of the Attorney General advanced an entirely different concept concerning the ad valorem tax status of public trust property, several proceedings were commenced in different parts of our state which placed in issue the correctness of the July 31 opinion of the Attorney General. The correctness of the opinion was challenged on constitutional grounds, i.e., public trust property is not taxable because all property, both real and personal, in which legal title is held by a public trust, is constitutionally exempt from ad valorem [618 P.2d 904] taxation.5 It is evident that the ad valorem tax status of the possessor and contractual interest of private entities in public trust property is publici juris and of immediate concern to the people of our state. We assume original jurisdiction. State of Oklahoma, ex rel. Poulos v. State Board of Equalization, Okl., 552 P.2d 1134 (1975).

¶6 We should first clarify the issues. Intervenors correctly point out that the legal theory upon which the Attorney General based his July 31 opinion is not the primary basis upon which petitioners predicate their entitlement to the writ sought in this action. A fair reading of the July 31 opinion discloses that it is based upon the conclusion that the leasehold interest of a private lessee in public trust property is taxable, with each private lessee's entitlement to a tax exemption being determined by reference to the nature of the lessee's use of property. In this action, petitioners rely primarily upon the doctrine of "equitable ownership", i.e., that Koehring and Chesterfield are the "owners" of the property under their contractual agreements with GCIA. Petitioners argue the "Lease Agreements" establish a vendor-purchaser relationship with GCIA as vendor and Koehring and Chesterfield, as purchasers. They submit that Koehring and Chesterfield each have complete possession and control of their properties under executory contract to purchase, and the only purpose for retention of title by GCIA is to secure payment of the "purchase price," to wit, the rental payments to retire the outstanding bonds.

¶7 We are concerned here with only the legal issues presented on this record, and not with abstract questions of law concerning the correctness of the July 31 opinion of the Attorney General. Although it may appear that this action presents the correctness of that opinion, the issues as framed by the record are entirely different. The Attorney General was responding to the narrow legal question posed, i.e., whether a "leasehold" interest in public trust property is taxable. Tax liability is sought here on a broader basis, i.e., that Koehring and Chesterfield are the "owners" of their respective properties. As the discussion which follows indicates, the record demonstrates conclusively that we are not dealing with "leasehold" interests, but with executory contracts to purchase. If and when a justiciable controversy arises involving "leasehold" interest, the courts of this state will be open to resolve that issue.

¶8 The propriety, desirability, wisdom or practicality of industrial revenue bond financing through public trusts in Oklahoma in its relationship to the tax status of private interests in public trust property is not in issue. Our function is clearly limited to determining only legal issues. Tate v. Logan, Okl., 362 P.2d 670 (1961); and Application of Oklahoma Capitol Improvement Authority, Okl., 410 P.2d 46 (1966).

II

EXEMPTION UNDER ART. X, § 6

¶9 Article X, Section 6 of the Oklahoma Constitution provides that “All property used . . . exclusively for religious and charitable purposes, and all property of . . . this State, and of the counties and of the municipalities . . . shall be exempt from taxation . . ." (emphasis added).

¶10 There is a clear legal distinction between “property used” and “property of.” In State ex rel. City of Tulsa v. Mayes County Treasurer, 174 Okl. 286, 51 P.2d 266 (1935) we said:

"It is the general rule that where the Constitution and laws of a state exempt from taxation all property of municipalities within the state, without reference to the use to which the property is put, it is exempt from all taxation regardless of the character of the use thereof . . .

Under the plain provision of our Constitution and the statutes enacted [618 P.2d 905] pursuant thereto, ownership of property by a municipality exempts it from taxation no matter to what use it may be put. The use to which property is put is decisive of the question of exemption from taxation of property used for . . . religious or charitable purposes." (emphasis added)

¶11 Intervenors cite Board of County Commissioners of Oklahoma County v. Warram, Okl., 285 P.2d 1034 (1955), to sustain their argument that the property in question is used for a charitable purpose. In Warram the trust was created for the sole purpose of providing water and fire protection and other utility services to unincorporated areas in Oklahoma County, the beneficiary of the trust. The trust furnished services and benefits to the public. Its classification for tax-exempt status was equated with that of the Tulsa Water Department which was considered in City of Tulsa v. Mayes County Treasurer, supra. The activities conducted by Koehring and Chesterfield are not charitable, but private business enterprises and do not come within the “property used . . . for charitable purposes” proviso of section 6, supra.

¶12 The language in Warram concerning the tax-exempt status of public trust property may not be construed as exempting the interests of Koehring and Chesterfield. The exemption there involved the property of a trust which furnished public services and benefits of which Oklahoma County was beneficiary. The issue here is whether the interests of Koehring and Chesterfield, two private enterprises which furnish no “public service or benefits”, are exempt from taxation.

¶13 The critical issue is the meaning of the term “property of this State, and of counties and of municipalities.” The basis for Intervenors’ contention is that title in the state, county or municipality is sufficient to constitute “property of” within the meaning of section 6.

¶14 Intervenors cite City of Hartshorne v. Dickinson, 207 Okl. 305, 249 P.2d 422 (1952) as addressing the very heart of the issue presented. In that case real property was conveyed to J.E. Layden, as trustee for the use and benefit of the City of Hartshorne. Layden had no personal interest in the property, and according to the undisputed testimony, the property was owned by the municipality. Only legal title was held by Layden. We held the property was exempt from taxation because it was owned by the municipality. The fact that legal title was held by a trustee who himself had no tax-exempt status did not render the property taxable. City of Hartshorne supports the principle that if real property is “owned” by a municipality, such property is exempt from taxation although bare legal title is held in the name of an entity which is not tax-exempt. Actual "ownership", not legal title, was the controlling factor in determining the exemption issue in Hartshorne.
¶15 Intervenors argue that Sublett v. City of Tulsa, Okl., 405 P.2d 185 (1965) established the rule that even the most capitalistic of enterprises utilizing public trust property does not affect its tax-exempt status. In so far as material here, Sublett holds that in the hands of a municipality such property retains its tax-exempt status despite its use by private enterprise under a lease agreement. No effort was made in Sublett to tax the interest of the lessee, and the lessee's taxable interest, if any, was not in controversy.

¶16 State ex rel. City of Tulsa v. Mayes County Treasurer, supra, is similarly inapplicable. In that case we held that land purchased by a municipality for water purposes was exempt from taxation although the municipality had granted private industry the right to maintain and operate private business for profit upon the municipally owned facilities. Again, the taxability of the interest of the lessee was not in controversy.

¶17 Hoover Equipment Co. v. The board of Tax Roll Corrections of Adair County, Okl., 436 P.2d 645 (1968) involved personal property in the possession of a county pursuant to a lease agreement. We said "... the exemption of ... all property of the ... counties ... means that such property must be owned by the county." Although [618 P.2d 906] we held that Hoover, the lessor, was the owner and the property was not tax-exempt, the case supports the proposition that legal title alone is not determinative of the tax status of property. No specific reason was used to show that the county was not the owner, but the facts disclosed that the lease was for an annual term and the county could terminate it at each anniversary date. The county was not obligated to purchase the property, and could not have constitutionally obligated future income and revenues beyond the current year. There was no showing the county was obligated to make the rental payments in case of destruction of the leased property. As will be hereinafter shown, none of the above factors are present in the instant case.

¶18 In examining the above authorities and cases of similar import, we find the fact that legal title to the properties in the case at bar is in GCIA is not of itself determinative of the tax exemption under the "property of" portion of section 6. The determinative factor is "ownership." Therefore, we must determine the quantum of interest which Koehring and Chesterfield have in the properties. If there interest is sufficient to constitute "ownership" such property is not tax-exempt within the purview of section 6, supra. We recognize that the question of "ownership" ordinarily should be resolved in a trial court in the first instance, but we have assumed original jurisdiction in this case, and the facts herein set forth conclusively show that Koehring and Chesterfield are the "owners" of their properties in which legal title is held by GCIA.

INTERESTS OF KOEHRING AND CHESTERFIELD

¶19 The "Lease Agreements" reveal numerous obligations and rights of the "lessees" (Koehring and Chesterfield) which are not ordinarily incidents of a leasehold estate. By means of example we list some of these rights, duties and obligations which make it apparent to us that such "Lease Agreements" are nothing more or less than executory contracts for the sale of property to Koehring and Chesterfield by GCIA, a public trust.

¶20 While identical language is not employed in both agreements, both similarly provide that: (1) the lessee is responsible for planning, supervising and insuring the construction of the improvements and development of the project; (2) in the event GCIA is unable to generate sufficient funds to complete the project, lessee is required to pay the balance for the completion without reimbursement or reduction in the amount of total indebtedness due; (3) lessee is obligated to pay all taxes and governmental charges of any kind which might be imposed; (4) lessee is required to maintain all insurance coverage, including workmen compensation insurance, during construction and term of the "lease"; (5) all risks are upon the lessee, and accidental destruction of the property or loss by eminent domain proceedings neither suspends nor reduces the full amount of the indebtedness due; and (6) lessee agrees to purchase and GCIA agrees to sell for $100 at the termination of the lease.
¶21 The entire payments to be made under the "Lease Agreements" cover all amounts necessary to acquire, construct, and protect the leased properties, and to service and retire the full bonded indebtedness. The $100 nominal consideration required to effect transfer of legal title to Koehring and Chesterfield bears no reasonable relationship to the purchase price or value of the property. Where a "lease agreement" between a public trust and a private entity contains provisions relating to the sale and purchase or an option to purchase trust property, and specifies a nominal consideration to effect either transaction, the substance of the transaction, and not the name of the parties have given it, should determine the taxable status of the property. Although there is a clear legal distinction between a contract to purchase and an option to purchase, there is no material distinction between the two in determining the taxable status of public trust property [618 P.2d 907] where the consideration required to effect the transfer of title is nominal and bears no reasonable relationship to the value of the property.

¶22 The "lessees" obligations are unconditional and all risks of loss are placed upon them. The legal impact of the lease agreement is the same in this respect as if they had been termed "contracts for deed." The risks-of-loss provision tracks the provision of our "Uniform Vendor and Purchaser Risk Act", 16 O.S. 1971, §§ 201 -203 . Under that act any contract made . . .

". . . for the purchase and sale of realty shall be interpreted as including an agreement that the parties shall have the following rights and duties, unless the contract expressly provides otherwise:

(b) if, when either the legal title or the possession of the subject matter of the contract has been transferred, all or any part thereof is destroyed without fault of the vendor or is taken by eminent domain, the purchaser is not thereby relieved from a duty to pay the price, nor is he entitled to recover any portion thereof that he has paid."

* * * * *

¶23 Both "Lease Agreements" contain an agreement to purchase and to sell and specific details as to the manner in which all payments shall be made and provide for the immediate and continuing right of possession in the lessee-purchasers (Koehring and Chesterfield). Under 16 O.S. 1976 Supp. § 11A , these contracts of purchase would be treated as mortgages from the purchasers to GCIA. In In Re Inglis, 69 Okl. 64, 169 P. 1083 (1917) we said that a mortgagor in possession is considered as the owner of the land, and it is his duty to pay the taxes and assessments levied thereon. We hold that Koehring and Chesterfield each are in possession of their properties under executory contracts to purchase.

IV

OWNERSHIP FOR TAX PURPOSES

¶24 Petitioners cite Bowls v. Oklahoma City, 24 Okl. 579, 104 P. 902 (1909) in support of their contention that when a contract to purchase is entered into between a tax-exempt vendor and a taxable vendee, the vendee is the "owner" for ad valorem tax purposes. In Bowls, the tax-exempt vendor (Oklahoma City) entered into a contract to sell real property to Bowls. The question presented was "whether the holder of the equitable title to land (Bowls) is regarded in law as the owner thereof under Wilsons' Rev. & Ann.St.Okl. 1903, § 5391," and, if so, whether an assessment of a general tax against the property in his name as such owner is valid."

¶25 In affirming the trial court's judgment that determined the assessment valid and the property taxable we held:
“A vendee of realty, in possession under an executory contract of sale at the date of the assessment, is the real owner for the purpose of taxation, and that, too, whether prior to said sale the same was subject to taxation in the hands of his vendor or not.”

¶26 Intervenors contend that even if their contractual agreements could be construed as lease/purchase contracts, the taxability of property under the rule announced in Bowls, and cases of similar import, was laid to rest by this Court in Lederman v. Bodovitz, 198 Okl. 276, 177 P.2d 1002 (1947). Intervenors argue this Court reconsidered Bowls and refused to follow it, and the rule established in Lederman is the law today.

¶27 Lederman involved the taxability of unallotted tribal land of the Choctaw and Chickasaw Nations which had been sold under regulations promulgated by the Department of the Interior. The land was sold in 1925 with 25% being paid in cash at the time of sale and the balance being paid in deferred installments. The purchaser went into possession immediately, and the final payment was made in 1937. The property had been sold for delinquent taxes for the year 1937 and prior years. The issue presented was whether ad valorem taxes could be assessed against the property prior to the time full payment was made. The Court held:

¶28 Lederman involved the validity of a resale tax deed, and it was contended the tribal land was taxable prior to full payment of the purchase price. Bowls was cited as authority. In discussing Bowls, the Lederman Court said:

“Bowls...in a measure supports defendant's contention. But it appears to be based upon an erroneous holding that Bowls, who purchased from the city but had not fully paid the deferred installments, was 'likened to one who holds a final certificate for lands purchased from the United States of which said lands it has been held that the purchaser holds the equitable title, and while, of course, not taxable in the hands of the United States, are taxable in his hands.'

Examination of the cases bearing on that question will disclose that in purchases of land from the United States, a final certificate does not issue until the purchaser has paid the purchase price in full. It is from that time, and that time only, after the purchaser has done everything necessary to entitle him to a patent, and until a patent is issued, that the purchaser holds the equitable title and the United States holds the legal title in trust for the purchaser.”

¶29 The tax question presented in Bowls was entirely different from that in Lederman. Bowls involved a contract to purchase property from a municipality, and the taxability of such property is controlled by state law. Lederman involved tribal land purchased under regulations promulgated by the United States Department of Interior, and whether a state may tax property held under contract of purchase from the United States is determined by federal law. S.R.A. Inc., v. State of Minnesota, 327 U.S. 558, 66 S.Ct. 749, 90 L.Ed. 851 (1946).

¶30 The syllabus in Lederman is confined to the taxability of federal land held under contract of purchase and makes no reference to state land. In Eckles v. Traverse, Okl., 362 P.2d 683 (1961) we held "[s]yllabus of a decision of the Supreme Court of Oklahoma states the law of Oklahoma, but the pronouncement must be interpreted with reference to the facts upon which it is predicated and the questions presented to and considered by the Court.” We find no language in Lederman suggesting modification of Bowls in reference to the taxability of state land held under a purchase contract, but we agree with petitioners that Lederman is a misinterpretation of a state’s right to tax land purchased from a federal agency.

¶31 It is evident the court in Lederman followed State v. Itasca Lumber Co., 100 Minn. 355, 111 N.W. 276 (1907) which involved the presentation of script, with an application to locate upon certain federal lands which [618 P.2d 909] gave the applicant a preference over other subsequent claimants, but until the application was approved and acted upon by the Commissioner, the applicant acquired no interest in the land, either legal or equitable, or against the United States. The syllabus in Itasca stated:

"Where legal title to land remains in the United States the land is subject to taxation by the state only after the full consideration has been paid and a perfect equitable title has vested in purchaser."

¶32 As will be hereinafter shown, the syllabus in Lederman was entirely too broad, and prior to the time Lederman was promulgated in 1947, the United States Supreme Court in S.R.A., Inc., v. State of Minnesota, supra, decided in 1947, had already held that under ordinary contracts to purchase federal land, with partial payment made and the purchaser placed in possession, such land is taxable by a state. The question presented to the Supreme Court of the United States was on certiorari to the Supreme Court of Minnesota in Petition of S.R.A., Inc., 219 Minn. 493, 18 N.W.2d 442 (1945), and involved the power of the State of Minnesota to tax real property in which legal title was in the United States. The taxed property had owned by the United States and had been purchased on public sale and improved by S.R.A. who was in full possession under an executory contract of sale between it and the United States at the time of the levy of the state tax. The Supreme Court of Minnesota in Petition of S.R.A., Inc., supra, had upheld the right of the state to tax the property even though legal title remained in the United States. The United States Supreme Court granted certiorari "because of the importance and uncertainty of the question of the right of a state to tax realty sold by the United States in possession of a buyer from the government under a contract of sale with uncompleted conditions for execution and delivery of the muniments of title." The uncertainty of the question mentioned above had reference to the varying results that had been reached by other courts in similar situations. Two of the situations discussed with varying results were (1) in normal executory contracts for sale with partial payment and the purchaser in possession; and (2) where entry had been made upon federal lands under the Reclamation and Homestead Acts.

¶33 The Supreme Court of the United States in S.R.A., supra, held that an executory contract for sale of lands by the United States to a private purchaser, under which the purchaser is given possession and is to receive the legal title upon payment of the purchase price, operates to subject the lands to the tax laws of the state. The Court said there were no characteristics in the contract "which differentiate it from the normal executory contract for the sale of land with partial payments;" and that such contracts transfer "to the purchaser the equity in the land; . . . that equity is realty; it is owned by the vendee; and the United States retains only a legal title or security and in substance is in the position of a mortgagee."

¶34 In discussing the situation involving the taxability by a state of property occupied by an entryman under the Reclamation and Homestead Acts who had not received his required final certificate of land clearance the rule under which the Itasca case would fall, the Court said:

"The reason for the rule against state taxation until the equitable title passes from the United States to the entryman was there placed upon the policy of the Government to require those who sought governmental land to perform the required conditions of residence or improvement before beneficial title, subject to state taxation, passes from the United States to the locator. This transfer was said not to take place until the certificate was issued . . . The prohibition of state taxation until the certificate was issued was one of the means by which the Government furthered its public policy of land settlement. After compliance with the condition and before patent, the state could tax." ¶35 When Lederman was decided the United States Supreme Court had clearly established that an executory contract to sell lands by the United States to a private purchaser, under which the purchaser is given possession and is to receive the legal title upon payment of the purchase price, operates to subject the land to the tax laws of the state.

¶36 Although Lederman did not attempt to change the rule announced in Bowls in reference to sale by a municipality or state agency, the language in reference to the taxability of land which is held under contract of purchase with the federal government is far too broad. Therefore, Lederman is deemed to be modified to the extent necessary to make it consistent with the views herein expressed.

¶37 We conclude that the rule in Bowls is controlling in the case at bar. Koehring and Chesterfield are in possession of their properties under executory contracts for sale, and they are the "owners", even though legal title to the properties is in the vendor, GCIA, a public trust. The interest of Koehring and Chesterfield in the trust properties are not exempt from taxation under Art. X, § 6, supra.

EXEMPTION UNDER ART. X, § 6A

¶38 Intervenors contend the property is exempt because of the provisions of Article X, § 6A of the Oklahoma Constitution, which provides in part:

"Intangible personal property as below defined shall not be subject to ad valorem tax or to any other tax in lieu of ad valorem tax within this state:

* * * * * *

(c) Accounts and bills receivable, including brokerage accounts, and other credits, whether secured or unsecured.

* * * * * *

(f) All interests in property held in trust or on deposit within or without this State, and whether or not evidenced by certificates, shares, or other written evidence of beneficial ownership."

This section, adopted in 1968, abolished the intangible tax which had been imposed by 68 O.S., 1965 Supp. § 2501. It is argued that interests previously taxed under that section are now exempt from taxation. Relying on Jones v. Livingston, 205 Okl. 332, 237 P.2d 867 (1951), intervenors assert that a "leasehold" was taxable under the intangible property tax, and is now exempt by reason of § 6A. We are not concerned here with a pure leasehold interest but with an executory contract to purchase.

¶39 It is also argued that the property is exempt under § 6A, supra, by reason of subsection (f). This argument tracks the reasoning of Attorney General Opinion No. 69-156, supra, which concluded that the interests of lessees of public trust properties were exempt as "interests in property held in trust." The logical extension of that argument is that any interest in land which happens to be part of a trust would be exempt. That is not the intent of the subsection as an examination of its entire provisions reveals. It provides the interest is exempt, "whether or not evidenced by certificates, shares, or other written evidence of beneficial ownership." The intent of this section was to prohibit taxation of the beneficial interest which may be held in a trust res. Under such an analysis, the interests of Koehring and Chesterfield who are holding under executory contracts of purchase, do not qualify for exemption under this section.
¶40 It is contended that the imposition of any tax upon public trust property would be an impairment of contractual obligations which is prohibited by Article 2, section 15, Oklahoma Constitution and Article 1, section 10, United States Constitution.

¶41 The primary principle upon which it is contended that public trust property is not taxable is that it is constitutionally exempt from taxation because a tax-exempt entity (county) "owns" such property. The failure of the taxing authorities to place public trust property on the tax rolls has not been due to some legislative enactment specifying that such property was not taxable, neither do petitioners attempt to tax such property because of a legislative change. The property has not been placed upon the tax rolls because the taxing authorities were following the opinion of the former Attorney General (No. 69-156) which concluded the property was tax-exempt.

¶42 Therefore, no legislative enactment has impaired a contractual obligation.

¶43 In reference to the impairment question by reason of a judicial decision, the court in Peevyhouse v. Garland Coal & Mining Co., 382 P.2d 109 (1963) in its supplemental opinion on rehearing said:

"It may be conceded that at one time there was respectable authority for the proposition that the 'contract' clause was violated by a judicial decision which overruled prior decisions, upon the strength of which, it should be noted that our decision overrules no prior holdings of this court upon which the contracting parties could be said to have relied. Even if it did, . . . it is now definitely and authoritatively settled that such prohibition in federal and state constitutions relates to legislative actions and not to judicial decisions. Thus, they do not apply to the decisions of a state court, where such decision does not expressly, or by necessary implication, give effect to a subsequent law of the state whereby the obligation of the contract is impaired . . .' 16 C.J.S. Constitutional Law § 280.

To the same effect, see 12 Am.Jur. Constitutional Law, Sec. 398."

¶44 Prior to this proceeding this Court had never been called upon to determine whether or not public trust property held by a purchaser in possession under an executory contract to purchase is taxable. In holding that such property is taxable, we have not overruled any previous decisions nor is our decision in conflict with any decision involving property purchased from the state or a state agency. Therefore, even if the "contract" clause is violated by a judicial decision which overrules a prior decision, the "contract" clause has not been violated in the case at bar.

¶46 It is contended the state is estopped from assessing these properties because of the reliance of "lessees of public trust properties" on the generally held view that such interests were exempt from taxation. Beyond the fact that the two lease agreements in issue specifically contemplate a change in the tax law, interpretation, and administration, which seems to belie any contention of reliance, it is fundamental that a state and its subdivision cannot be estopped from protecting public rights when public officials have acted erroneously or failed to act. Layne-Western Co. v. City of Depew, 177 Okl. 338, 59 P.2d 269 (1936). Koehring and Chesterfield may not rely upon estoppel to defeat the imposition of taxes upon their taxable interests.
¶47 It is suggested that if this Court should find that the interests of “lessees” in public trust property is taxable, that the Court limit the effect of such decision by making it apply prospectively, i.e., to “lease agreements” entered into after the effective date of this opinion. Having rejected the argument that the state is estopped from taxing this property, and that the taxing of such property would unconstitutionally impair the obligations of contracts, we may not achieve the same result by judicial decree.

¶48 Petitioners contend that 60 O.S. 1977 Supp., § 178.7, is unconstitutional in that it [618 P.2d 912] permits a tax exemption for a period of years of all interests in public trust property. That section requires a lessee of public trust property to pay an annual sum in lieu of ad valorem taxes for each year following the tenth anniversary date of the issuance of the revenue bonds. The term “lessee” as used in the enactment specifically includes any “individual . . . corporation or other entity engaged in any trade or business for profit . . . and shall include any purchaser or obligor under an installment sale agreement or other underlying financial agreement.”

¶49 Article 5, section 50, Oklahoma Constitution prohibits the Legislature from exempting any property from taxation except as provided in the Constitution. If the property involved here had not been “leased” from a public trust, it would have been taxed as all other property similarly situated under our general statutory scheme of taxation, including property sold under a Certificate of Purchase by the Commissioner of the Land Office. We have determined that property of a public trust held under an executory contract of purchase was not constitutionally tax-exempt. Therefore, since all other property similarly situated is statutorily taxable, any legislative attempt to delay its taxable status would be in conflict with Art. 5, § 50, supra. We therefore hold that all the provisions of § 178.7, as the same may be applied to interests of private entities in public trust property which we have held here are taxable is unconstitutional as applied after December 31, 1979. The constitutionality of the enactment as the same may be applied to interests in public trust property other than that in controversy here, is neither considered nor determined by this decision.

VIII

“OMITTED PROPERTY”

¶50 Petitioners contend the taxable interests acquired by Koehring and Chesterfield in their “Lease Agreements” with GCIA should be assessed and taxed as “omitted property”, for the years 1979 and 1980. They also contend that on January 1, 1978, Koehring held both legal and equitable title to certain property which was included in its “Lease Agreement” with GCIA that should be considered “omitted property” for 1978, and Koehring is liable for the 1978 taxes.

¶51 In reference to the contention that Koehring is liable for 1978 taxes by reason of its legal and equitable ownership of certain properties, we hold the proper forum for litigating such controversy is in the District Court and not the Supreme Court in an original proceeding.

¶52 The next question is whether the interests of Koehring and Chesterfield should be assessed and taxed as omitted property for 1979 and 1980. This Court indirectly considered a similar issue in State ex rel. Nesbitt v. Ford, Okl., 434 P.2d 934 (1967) and in Pan American Petroleum Corporation v. Board of Tax-Roll Correction of Tulsa County, Okl., 510 P.2d 680 (1973).

¶53 In Ford we declared unconstitutional statutes which exempted certain lands from municipal taxation. In 1957, 1963, and 1964, the Attorney General had expressed [618 P.2d 913] doubt concerning the constitutionality of the exemption statutes, but the taxing officials had always treated them as constitutional. In June, 1966, the Attorney General issued an official opinion in which he concluded the exemptions were unconstitutional and brought an original proceeding in our Court to mandamus certain County Assessors to place the statutorily exempted property on the tax rolls. Taxing officials in some of the counties followed the 1966 opinion of the Attorney General and placed the property on the tax rolls while taxing officials in other counties did not follow the opinion and property in their counties was not placed on the taxed rolls. Although this Court did not discuss "omitted property", we said that the equities in the case did not authorize retroactive application of our decision. Therein we quoted State ex rel. Dawson v. Dinwiddie, 186 Okl. 63, 95 P.2d 867 (1939).

"A writ of mandamus may properly, in court's discretion, be denied when its issuance would create confusion, especially in connection with the fiscal affairs of a governmental subdivision of the State."

¶54 In Ford, the opinion of the Attorney General was issued and the action was brought in our Court in 1966. In September, 1967, our decision was promulgated and we said, "such properties should be classified for city taxes beginning with the tax year 1968."

¶55 The Tulsa County Assessor had followed the 1966 opinion of the Attorney General and placed the property on the tax rolls. Pan American filed an action in the Tulsa County District Court to obtain a review of a denial by the Tulsa County Board of Tax Corrections for a refund of taxes paid under protest for 1966 and 1967. The District Court denied the protest and Pan American appealed. In 510 P.2d 683, supra, we held our decision in Ford became operatively effective "beginning with the tax year 1968." Therein we said:

"It is basic under our Constitutions, both State and Federal, that all men are entitled to the equal protection of the law. Art. 10, § 5, of our Constitution provides that 'Taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects.' Art. 5, § 59, of our Constitution prescribes that 'Laws of a general nature shall have a uniform operation throughout the State, * * *.'"

¶56 The basic reason for making Ford operatively effective "beginning with the tax year 1968" was that some County Assessors had followed the 1966 opinion of the Attorney General and placed property on the tax rolls and other County Assessors had not followed the opinion. Our decision made the imposition of the municipal tax uniform throughout the state beginning in 1968 upon the same class of property.

¶57 Although our statutes contained no language in reference to ad valorem taxation of public trust property, no taxes have been assessed or paid thereon or upon the possessory or contractual interests of private entities in such property since the Legislature first authorized public trust financing in 1951.

¶58 It appears the Legislature was of the view that public trust property was constitutionally exempt from taxation. See 60 O.S. 1976 Supp., § 178.5. The March 17, 1969, opinion of the Attorney General (No. 69-156) concluded that property in which legal title was in a public trust was not taxable. In Pan American, supra, we said it is the duty of public officers, such as County Assessors, with notice thereof, to follow the opinion of the Attorney General until relieved of such duty by a court of competent jurisdiction or until this Court should hold otherwise. The first notice to County Assessors that public trust property would be subject to taxation was the July 31, 1979 opinion of the Attorney General. If we were to declare that the property of Koehring and Chesterfield constituted "omitted property", it would mean that all interests in public trust property that will be taxable under the views expressed in this opinion would constitute "omitted property" under 68 O.S. 1971 § 2439. If we correctly construe that section, the omitted property "would be entered on the assessment rolls for the year or years omitted, not to exceed the last fifteen (15) years as to [618 P.2d 914] real property and the last three years as to personal property."

¶59 In our opinion the "equities in this case do not authorize retroactive application of our decision herein" (see Ford, supra) to any year preceding the 1980 tax year. Prior to the July 31, 1979, opinion of the Attorney General expressing the conclusion that such property was taxable, the taxing authorities had been following a former opinion of an Attorney General who had concluded the property was tax-exempt. Therefore, the interests of private entities in public trust property which are taxable under this decision shall be taxable beginning with the 1980 tax year, but no interests in any public trust property shall be considered or treated as "omitted property" for any preceding year.

¶60 The interests which Koehring and Chesterfield have under their "Lease Agreements" with GCIA shall be taxed beginning with the 1980 tax year. Our holding herein shall not preclude the imposition of taxes, if any, upon the legal and equitable interests which Koehring allegedly had on January 1, 1978.

CONCLUSION

¶61 As we have previously said, we are not passing upon the correctness of the July 31, 1979, opinion of the Attorney General and nothing contained herein should be construed as meaning that this Court approves or disapproves the reasons or conclusions of that opinion. Also, this opinion may not be construed as suggesting County Assessors and other officials should not follow that opinion in performing their official duties.

¶62 The record before us does not indicate that Respondent Dunbar will fail to perform his statutory duties in light of the principles which we enunciate in this opinion. Since we are confident that he will discharge his duties in accordance with the views expressed here, the writ of mandamus is not essential, and will not be awarded. State ex rel. Nesbitt v. 2 Title 60, ch. 4, pages 166-167, 1951 Session Laws; and 60 O.S. 1971 § 176 et seq., as amended. Although the statutes contained no language in reference to ad valorem taxation of public trust property until 1976 (Ch. 222, § 12, page 261, 1976 Session Laws; 60 O.S. 1976 Supp. § 178.5 ) general ad valorem taxes have never been imposed upon public trust property.

3 The GCIA-Koehring "Lease Agreement" is dated December 1, 1977, and the GCIA-Chesterfield "Lease Agreement" is dated June 1, 1979. Although these agreements are termed "Lease Agreement", as will be hereinafter shown, both Koehring and Chesterfield have complete control and possession of the "leased" property under an executory contract to purchase.

4 Official opinion of the Attorney General (No. 69-156), dated March 17, 1969, as addressed to the Governor of Oklahoma.
Art. X, § 6A(f) of the Constitution provides:

"Intangible personal property as below defined shall not be subject to ad valorem tax or to any other tax in lieu of ad valorem tax within this State

* * * * *

(f) All interests in property held in trust or on deposit within or without this State, and whether or not evidenced by certificates, shares or other written evidence of a beneficial ownership."

We note the existence of two sections denominated § 6A in our Constitution. As used in this opinion, said section refers to that adopted on August 27, 1968.

5 Exempt from taxation under Art. X, § 6A(f), footnote 4, and Art. X, § 6 of Okl.Const. which provides:

"All property . . . of the United States, and of this State, and of counties and of the municipalities of this State . . . shall be exempt from taxation."

6 16 O.S. 1976 Supp. § 11A provides:

"All contracts for deed for purchase and sale of real property made for the purpose or with the intention of receiving the payment of money and made for the purpose of establishing an immediate and continuing right of possession of the described real property, whether such instruments be from the debtor to the creditor or from the debtor to some third person in trust for the creditor, shall to that extent be deemed and held mortgages, and shall be subject to the same rules of foreclosure and to the same regulations, restraints and forms as are prescribed in relation to mortgages. No foreclosure shall be initiated nor shall the court allow such proceedings, unless the documents have been filed of record in the county clerk's office, and mortgage tax paid thereon, in the amount required for regular mortgage transactions."

As to personal property which are "goods", 12A O.S. 1971 § 2-401 achieves a similar result.

7 We find no material difference between the 1903 tax statute and the present tax statutes in reference to imposition of the tax in issue.

9 We notice that Koehring and Chesterfield both agreed in their separate "lease agreements" to pay all taxes and governmental charges that may be lawfully assessed or levied.

10 Public lands sold by the Commissioners of the Land Office are taxable when the Certificate of Sale is issued although all the purchase price has not been paid. 64 O.S. 1971 § 185 .

12 68 O.S. 1971 § 2439 provides:

"§ 2439. Assessment of omitted property-Adding tax of preceding years, when collection prevented-(a) If any real, personal or public service corporation property be omitted in the assessment of any prior year or years, and the property thereby escapes just and proper taxation, at any time and as soon as such omission is discovered, the County Assessor or the County Board of Equalization, or the State Board of Equalization in the case of public service corporation property, whose duty it is to assess the class of property which has been omitted, shall at any time cause such property to be entered on the assessment rolls and tax rolls for the year or years omitted, not to exceed the last fifteen (15) years as to real property and the last three years as to personal property, . . .

¶1 I find no fault with the majority's opinion as to taxability of the instant properties. I concur in that judgment. For myself, I would, under the doctrine of publici juris, go one step further. I would hold the Oklahoma Constitution does not authorize an exemption from ad valorem taxation to the intervenors as has heretofore been granted to them by the Garfield County Assessor or others in like position throughout the State of Oklahoma.

¶2 The adoption of § 6A\(^1\) and the enactment of § 176 et seq. did not repeal or affect the validity of Art. V § 50\(^2\) for there can be no doubt the basic premise and directive of our constitution is that no exemption except as otherwise provided by the constitution is allowable. Art. X § 6 is an authorized constitutional provision exempting property of the United States, the state, county and municipality and charitable use property from taxation.

¶3 I am not deaf to the strong arguments and excellent briefs of the respondent and intervenors, nor am I blind to the application of trust financing in existence throughout the state. Suffice to say I am impressed and persuaded Oklahoma's Constitution and its legislative enactments create no exemptions to entities not enumerated therein.

¶4 It is manifestly true that granting exemption from taxation results in increasing the burden upon less favored taxpayers; a state cannot and should not govern in this manner.

¶5 The Attorney General is correct in his conclusion contained in opinion, No. 79-168, dated July 31, 1979.\(^3\) The lessees occupancy and pursuit of profit, or for that matter other valid rights exercised during occupancy of a leasehold estate are interests in realty and taxable. Although admittedly not factually identical and not absolutely similar in statutory or constitutional directives, I find the rationale of the following cases and jurisdictions persuasive in holding the leasehold estates of such entities as the intervenors and others similarly situated to be taxable. See Delta Airlines, Inc. v. Coleman, 219 Ga. 12, 131 S.E.2d 768 (1963); Iron Co. v. State Tax Commission, 437 S.W.2d 665 (Mo. 1969); Purcell v. City of Lexington, 216 S.W. 599 (Ky.App. 1919); Cutter Flying Service, Inc. v. Property Tax Department, 572 P.2d 943 (N.Mex.App. 1972) and San Pedro L.A. & S.L.R. Co. v. The City of L.A., 179 P. 393 (Cal. 1919).\(^4\)

¶6 I would hold intervenors' leasehold estates taxable without reliance on provisions attempting to qualify the ownership.

Art. V. § 50: "EXEMPTION OF PROPERTY FROM TAXATION"

The Legislature shall pass no law exempting any property within this State from taxation, except as otherwise provided in this Constitution.

All petitioners, including the Attorney General and numerous school districts within Oklahoma have presented this court with a challenge to the correctness, application and interpretation of the Constitution of Oklahoma (Art. X §§ 6, 6A) and the statutory enactments (60 O.S. 1971 § 176 et seq.).

Likewise have the respondent and intervenors raised such a question under Attorney General's opinion No. 79 168. We can and should answer their challenges.

APPELLANTS,

v.

VIRGIL DUNN, COUNTY ASSESSOR, AND THE WASHITA COUNTY BOARD OF EQUALIZATION, APPELLEES.

Appeal from the District Court Washita County; Weldon Ferris, Trial Judge.

¶0 Plaintiff appeals denial of temporary and permanent injunction sought to prevent the Washita County Assessor and Equalization Board from enforcing a revaluation of assessments of agricultural land in that county. The trial court's denial of said injunction is affirmed. AFFIRMED.

Charles L. Goodwin, Goodwin & Cornell, Clinton, for appellants.

HARGRAVE, Justice.

¶1 The Supreme Court of the State of Oklahoma issued a writ of mandamus in Poulos v. State Board of Equalization, 552 P.2d 1138 (Okla. 1976), requiring that State Board to comply with its constitutional and statutory duties to adjust and equalize valuations of real and personal property of the several counties in within three years. In accord with that directive, the State Board of Equalization issued criteria to be followed by County Assessors and Boards designed to accomplish those ends. Virgil Dunn, County Assessor of Washita County, and that county's Board of Equalization revalued certain real property situated within the county in accord with those directives, and on May 20, 1977, issued and mailed written notices of increase in assessed valuation. Thereafter, appellants filed suit in the District Court of Washita County challenging those increases.

¶2 Plaintiffs' petition alleges the increase of valuation is unreasonable in amount and limited to agricultural property. An additional allegation contained in the petition proposes the Board of Equalization of that county was improperly and illegally constituted, depriving the plaintiff appellants a fair and impartial hearing before that body. The plaintiffs then allege: that the Board had set hearings on their complaints for July 5, 1977; the absence of an adequate remedy at law, and pray the Court enjoin temporarily and permanently the Washita County Assessor from enforcing his reassessment so made, as well as the proposed Equalization Board's hearing until said [607 P.2d 696] board is properly constituted and until all property in the county is revalued. In the trial court all relief requested by plaintiffs was denied. This appeal follows.
¶3 The petition in error saves an appeal on the following points: 1. The County Assessor filed no written plan in the office of the Oklahoma Tax Commission. 2. That the increase in assessment is limited solely to agricultural land and is therefore selective, being a violation of the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment to the Federal Constitution. 3. The Board was improperly constituted as plead, and such fact denied the parties a hearing before individuals properly qualifying as Board members.

¶4 The first addressed point of error is that the Board of Equalization was improperly constituted. Title 68 O.S. 1971 § 2457 required that each County Board of Equalization be composed of three members, one appointed by the Oklahoma Tax Commission, one appointed by the district judges in the district, and the third appointed by the Board of County Commissioners. That statute specifies one member so appointed must live in the county seat of the county. It is this last mentioned residence requirement which is allegedly violated. The petition was filed with the appropriate court clerk on July 5, 1977. 68 O.S. 1976 Supp. § 2457 was again amended in 1977 by 1977 Sess. Law, Ch. 102 § 1, enacted as an emergency effective May 30, 1977. Thus, when the petition was filed on July 5, 1977, the operative section was 68 O.S. 1977 Supp. § 2457. That section as amended removed the mandatory requirement that at least one member shall reside in the county seat by removing the mandatory word shall, and adding the permissive but not binding term "may." Thus, the day the County Board of Equalization was to start meeting (the same day the petition was filed), there was no mandatory requirement and the allegation that the board was illegally constituted fails, for no mandatory residence requirement then existed.

¶5 The appellee contends this appeal is moot, inasmuch as the meeting of the board has taken place. The issue has not become moot inasmuch as there exists over $43,000 of tax funds held in suspense pending the outcome of this action.

¶6 Petitioners also contend that the revaluation of agricultural land only is violative of the tenants of the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. In State ex rel. Tulsa Classroom Teachers Assn., Inc. v. Board of Equalization of Tulsa County, 600 P.2d 861, Vol. 50 OBAJ p. 1858 (1979), this Court directed that pursuant to 68 O.S. 1971 § 2481.1 and 68 O.S. 1971 § 2431, and the mandate of 68 O.S. 1971 § 2471, the assessor is required to add the latest valuation of property to the tax rolls without delaying until all property has been revalued. We refuse the equal protection argument offered as proof of the invalidity of such procedure. The current statute, 68 O.S. 1971 § 2481.1 provides for and requires valuation at regular intervals. All property must be valued every five years under the last cited section. If such revaluation proceeds through the several classes of property in the same order as the last, all property will be valued every five years and it does not matter where that process begins, but § 2481.1 clearly provides that the process [607 P.2d 697] must be begun again every five years. All property is revalued regularly and that process must have a starting point. If, as appellants urge, all revaluations are ineffective until the completion of the five year revaluation, the same result obtains from the taxpayer's standpoint, and that result is revaluation every five years. Only the State's position would be changed by such a procedure and the change would be tax valuations that were perpetually five years behind the times. All taxpayers' holdings are revalued every five years; there is no unequal treatment, and thus no violation of equal protection. Every journey must have a starting point.

¶7 Lastly, appellants argue that under the provisions of 68 O.S. 1971 § 2481.1, a copy of the assessor's valuation plan shall be filed with the Oklahoma Tax Commission, and that was not done. From that premise, appellants conclude any plan in existence was "void" because of the want of a writing filed with the Commission. The transcript discloses the Washita County Assessor had a schedule and further discloses that the Oklahoma Tax Commission did not require a written schedule to be filed with it from Washita County. Direct testimony establishes the existence of a schedule here, and such a conclusion, although controverted, is not clearly against the weight of the evidence.

¶8 In the previous discussion of appellants' equal protection argument, it was pointed out that equal treatment is established by regular, cyclical revaluation. The equality of such a system as it operates on the taxpayer is afforded by revaluation every five years, for if one class of property is revalued first in this five year valuation, and revalued last in the next cycle, unequal treatment would be inflicted on the citizenry, as one class would be valued only after ten years had passed.
¶9 The record does disclose that generally no schedules have been required. It is the ruling of this Court that a writing disclosing Washita County's periodic revaluation schedule be filed with the Oklahoma Tax Commission as specified in 68 O.S. 1971 § 2481.1. This ruling is made prospective and is to apply from and after the filing of this opinion with the Clerk of this Court.

¶10 The judgment of the District Court refusing injunctive relief is AFFIRMED.

¶11 All Justices concur.

SANDERS, JOHN V. LaPLANT, AND DAVID W. GRIFFITH TAXPAYER-PROPERTY OWNERS IN TULSA COUNTY, OKLAHOMA, APPELLEES.

Appeal from the District Court of Tulsa County; Jane P. Wiseman, Special District Judge.

¶0 The appellants, Tulsa County officials, appeal from a summary judgment in favor of the appellee-taxpayers in their suits for refunds. The district court held that the Tulsa County Board of Equalization did not have the authority to hear and correct the taxpayers' grievances and that the county assessor had unconstitutionally assessed the taxpayers' property at a higher ratio than that applied to other real property in Tulsa County. We affirm the judgment of the district court.

AFFIRMED.

Barrow, Gaddis, Griffith & Grim by William Farrior, Tulsa, for appellees.

LAVENDER, Chief Justice:

¶1 This appeal is prosecuted by the County Treasurer and County Assessor of Tulsa County, Oklahoma. They appeal from a judgment of the District Court of Tulsa County granting a partial refund of ad valorem taxes to three taxpayers, David H. Sanders, John V. LaPlant, and David W. Griffith. The taxpayers asserted, and the district court held, that their property had been unequally taxed because it had been unconstitutionally assessed at a higher ratio than that applied to other real property in Tulsa County. We agree.

¶2 In 1977 and 1978 the Tulsa County Assessor, who was then Wilson Glass, divided the real property in Tulsa County into ten categories, four of which had two sub-categories. Against the value of property in these various categories eight different "assessment percentages" - often called "ratios" - were applied to arrive at the assessment.¹
¶3 The taxpayers' property was assessed as "Commercial-Industrial improved (Code E)" at 25% of the fair cash value. Sanders paid his 1977 taxes under protest and filed a suit for a refund in 1978. A year later LaPlant and Griffith did the same with their 1978 taxes. The cases were consolidated in the district court.

II

¶4 The initial question before us on this appeal is whether the taxpayers could bring a suit for a refund in the district court without first seeking relief from the Tulsa County Board of Equalization. They filed their actions under 68 O.S. 1971 § 2469, which provides for a direct suit for refund "[i]n all cases where the illegality of the tax is alleged to arise by reason of some action from which the laws provide no appeal." The "action from which the laws provide no [610 P.2d 229] appeal" that they attacked was that of the county assessor in applying different assessment percentages to different categories of property.

¶5 The assessor and treasurer contend that this is a matter of the "equalization" of the "assessed valuation" of the taxpayers' property, over which the county board of equalization has exclusive original jurisdiction. Thus, they argue, the taxpayers failed to exhaust their administrative remedies and the district court was without jurisdiction to hear their cases.

¶6 Insofar as assessments are concerned, the authority of a county board of equalization is limited. Assessment involves two steps: (1) the valuation of property, and (2) the application of an assessment percentage to that value. The result is the "assessed valuation." A county board of equalization may "equalize, correct and adjust the assessed valuation of real and personal property," but only "by raising or lowering the valuation . . . to conform to the fair cash value thereof . . ." The action of the county assessor that the taxpayers were challenging had nothing to do with the determination of the fair cash value of their property; rather, it was only the assessment percentage applied to their property that they attacked. A county board of equalization has no authority, constitutional or legislative, to set the assessment percentage, nor does it have the authority to raise or lower that percentage. Setting the assessment percentage is the statutory duty of the county assessor pursuant to 68 O.S.Supp. 1974 § 2435.

¶7 As the district court held, the setting of the assessment percentage is essentially a policy decision of the county assessor. The county board of equalization has no authority to alter this policy decision. To require the taxpayers to seek relief from the county board of equalization from the assessor's selection of an assessment percentage, as opposed to the appraisal of the property's value, would be futile. No appeal is provided for in the statutes from the assessor's selection of an assessment percentage; therefore, the provisions of section 2469 apply. The taxpayers could file a suit for a refund directly upon payment under protest. They did this, and the district court therefore had jurisdiction to hear their cases.

¶8 The next, and ultimate, question on this appeal is whether the actions of the Tulsa County Assessor in applying to these taxpayers' properties different assessment percentages from the percentages applied to other properties resulted in an unconstitutional unequal burden of taxation. We hold that it did.

¶9 Under the Tulsa County Assessor's system of assessment there are ten categories of real property, actually fourteen since [610 P.2d 230] four have two sub-categories. Against the value of property in these various categories eight different percentages are applied to arrive at the assessed valuation, ranging from a high of 25,000% to a low of 6,000%. The result of this system is that fourteen different taxpayers in Tulsa County with properties of equal value, each falling into a different one of the fourteen categories, would pay eight different amounts of taxes. For example, if each of the fourteen properties had a use value of $100,000, the assessed valuations would range from $25,000 to $6,000. Then, assuming that against these assessed valuations a tax of 80 mills is levied, the ad valorem taxes of these fourteen taxpayers with properties of equal value would range from a high of $2,000 to a low of $480. It is this disparity in tax burdens that the taxpayers here complain of.

¶10 Article 10, section 5 of the Oklahoma Constitution provides in part:

\[\text{Taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects.}\]

Under the Tulsa County Assessor’s system, taxes are not uniform upon real property. Implicit in the argument of the taxpayers is that in this case the applicable “class of subjects” is all real property. The assessor and treasurer argue, however, that each category created by the county assessor is a “class of subjects” under the constitution. They make this argument under article 10, section 8 of the Oklahoma Constitution, as it was amended in 1972. We do not find the authority argued for in that provision.

¶11 The first sentence of article 10, section 8, which carries the heading “Valuation of property for taxation,” reads:

\[\text{All property which may be taxed ad valorem shall be assessed for taxation at its fair cash value, estimated at the price it would bring at a fair voluntary sale, except real property and tangible personal property shall not be assessed for taxation at more than thirty-five percent (35%) of its fair cash value, estimated at the price it would bring at a fair voluntary sale.}\]

All this does is establish the general rule that all property taxable ad valorem must be valued at its “fair cash value” - that is, its market value - and carve out the first exception to that rule. The first exception is that real property and tangible personal property may not be assessed at more than 35% of its market value.\(^8\)

¶12 The second sentence of article 10, section 8 provides the second exception to the general rule. It reads:

\[\text{Provided, however, that no real property shall be assessed for ad valorem taxation at a value greater than thirty-five percent (35%) of its fair cash value for the highest and best use for which such property was actually used, or was previously classified for use, during the calendar year next preceding the first day of January on which the assessment is made.}\]

The second exception is that the assessment of real property, in addition to being limited to 35% of its value, is further limited to 35% of its use value, as opposed to its market value. This sentence does not provide, or even intimate, that different properties of equal use values can be saddled with unequal tax burdens. Rather, it provides that all real property must be valued at its use value. In 1972 this was a new notion in Oklahoma ad valorem taxation. Previously, all assessments had been made on the basis of market value. The change was proposed by the Legislature and adopted by the People to protect land located in prime locations but used for agricultural purposes from grossly inflated valuations due to the proximity of metropolitan areas, industrial areas, highways, lakefront locations, or the like. Nothing in the language of the change indicates any purpose of allocating tax burdens.

[610 P.2d 231]

¶13 The third sentence of article 10, section 8 reinforces the assertion that the amendment was aimed at land used for agriculture. It reads:

\[\text{Provided, further, that the transfer of property without a change in its use classification shall not require a reassessment based exclusively upon the sale value of such property.}\]
An agricultural tract close to a city may have, for example, a value of $100,000 as farmland (use value), yet because of its location have a market value of $200,000. This proviso ensure that if the land is sold for $200,000, it will not be reassessed based exclusively upon the sale value so long as it continues to be classified for agricultural use.

¶14 The fourth sentence of article 10, section 8 is the most important for our purposes here. It reads:

In connection with the foregoing, the Legislature shall be empowered to enact laws defining classifications of use for the purpose of applying standards to facilitate uniform assessment procedures in this state.

The Legislature has enacted no such laws defining classification. Even if it had, however, as the district court held, the classification of property per se is not the issue here. The issue is whether a county assessor, by his actions in applying an assessment percentage to the value of property, may impose unequal tax burdens upon properties of different classifications, even if the basis for making the classifications is the "use" of the property. We hold that under article 10, section 5 of the Oklahoma Constitution, he cannot. Article 10, section 8, as amended in 1972, did not give that power to the county assessors. The plain language of the section tells us what the classifications are to be used for: "for the purpose of applying standards to facilitate uniform assessment procedures in this state." This purpose makes good sense. The amendment changed the standard for the valuation of real property from market value to use value. In order to value property according to its use, it is necessary to classify property according to its use. Entirely different procedures are used for the valuation of residential, commercial, industrial, and agricultural properties, and uniform standards of classification of property in order to facilitate the application of uniform procedures would be desirable. In fact, the Oklahoma Tax Commission and the county assessors have agreed upon and established general classifications. The point remains, however, that the classifications are to be used "for the purpose of applying standards to facilitate uniform assessment procedures," not as a vehicle to allocate tax burdens.

¶15 The fifth sentence of article 10, section 8 provides that a wilful error by an assessor shall be deemed malfeasance; it has always been a part of the section and is not relevant here.

¶16 When one considers the language of the 1972 amendment as it was submitted to the People and enacted, as well as the language of the original legislative proposal and subsequent committee substitutes, it is clear that the only purpose of the amendment was to change our method of valuing real property. The amendment did not and [610 P.2d 232] was not intended to create multiple "classes of subjects" out of all real property for the purpose of allocating unequal tax burdens. Thus, real property remains one "class of subjects" and the mandate of article 10, section 5 that taxes be "uniform upon the same class of subjects" is not affected.

¶17 The refund judgment shall stand but that part of the trial court's decision which directs that "equal assessment percentage rate" be used "for the year 1980 and for all subsequent years" is modified by making that command apply with effect to the year 1981 and thereafter.

Section 2469 reads in pertinent part:

In all cases where the illegality of the tax is alleged to arise by reason of some action from which the laws provide no appeal, the aggrieved person shall pay the full amount of the taxes at the time and in the manner provided by law, and shall give notice to the officer collecting the taxes showing the grounds of complaint and that suit will be brought against the officer for recovery of them. . . . All such suits shall be brought in the Court having jurisdiction thereof, and they shall have precedence therein. . . .

3 68 O.S. 1971 §§ 2459, 2460, 2468.

4 Section 2468(a) provides:

The proceedings before the Boards of Equalization and appeals therefrom shall be the sole method by which assessments or equalizations shall be corrected or taxes abated.
Equitable remedies shall be resorted to only where the aggrieved party has no taxable property within the tax district of which complaint is made.

5 68 O.S. 1971 § 2459 (emphasis added).

6 Subsection (b) of section 2435 provides:

The county assessor shall assess and value all property, both real and personal, which is subject to assessment by him, and shall place a separate value on the land and improvements in assessing real estate; and he shall do all things necessary, including the viewing and inspecting of property, to enable him to assess and value all taxable property, determine the accuracy of assessment lists filed with him, discover and assess omitted property, and determine the taxable status of any property which is claimed to be exempt from ad valorem taxation for any reason.

7 In 1977 the average tax levy for Tulsa County was 83.30 mills.

8 By limiting the assessment to 35% of the value for real property and tangible personal property, the Constitution requires the application of a percentage to the value in order to arrive at the assessment, or "assessed value." This notion was first introduced in an amendment to article 10, section 8 proposed by the Legislature in 1957, Okla. Sess. Laws p. 648, and adopted by the people in a special election on July 1, 1958. State Question No. 379; Referendum Petition No. 117. From Statehood until the 1958 amendment, the Constitution provided that all property of whatever sort had to be assessed at its full market value.

9 These classifications were recommended by the Oklahoma Tax Commission to the Real Estate Committee of the County Assessors Association of Oklahoma on September 16, 1976, and were unanimously adopted by the Association at its 1976 Annual Convention. The Tulsa County Assessor, however, has not followed these classifications. There are only three of these classifications: residential, commercial-industrial, and agricultural.

10 For instance, the original legislative proposal read in pertinent part:

In assessing real property which is used exclusively for agricultural purposes, and which has been so used for at least two (2) successive assessment years immediately preceding an assessment date, the assessor shall consider no factors other than those relative to agricultural use if the fee simple owner of the real property makes application in writing to the assessor by the time and in the manner provided by the Legislature, for the assessment of the real property to be made on the basis of agricultural use. The Legislature shall define the term "agricultural use" and shall establish the criteria for use by the county assessors in determining which real property qualifies for agricultural assessment and the factors to be considered by assessors in determining valuations on real property which qualifies for agricultural assessment. Upon the assessor's determination that the real property meets the qualifications of the section, it shall be assessed on the basis of agricultural use until such time as the fee simple owner or his successor in interest applies for assessment as otherwise provided by this Constitution, or until the real property is diverted to a use other than for exclusively agricultural purposes, or is sold. At the time real property assessed on the basis of agricultural use is diverted to a use other than for exclusively agricultural purposes, or an application is made by the fee simple owner for its assessment as otherwise provided by this Constitution, the assessor shall change the tax classification on such real property and further shall levy and collect a one-time tax equal to the difference in the agricultural and nonagricultural use for the most recent three (3) years said property was assessed on its agricultural use.

H.J.Res. 1005, 33d Leg., 1st Sess. (1971) (as introduced). Later committee substitutes referred to "farm and ranch" rather than "agricultural" property, and provided for a deferred tax, but retained the central concept of "use valuation." It was ultimately decided to submit to the People a proposal that the valuation of all land, not just agricultural land, be limited to its use value. That final proposal, the amendment as it now appears, was approved in the general election of November 1972.
BETTY NEEL, COUNTY TREASURER OF CHEROKEE COUNTY, OKLAHOMA, SUING FOR HERSELF AND FOR THOSE COUNTY EMPLOYEES SIMILARLY SITUATED, APPELLANTS,

v.

THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF CHEROKEE COUNTY, OKLAHOMA, AND THE EXERCISE BOARD OF CHEROKEE COUNTY, OKLAHOMA, APPELLEES.

Affirmed.

Jack Bliss, Tahlequah, for appellants.

HARGRAVE, Justice.

¶1 The County Treasurer of Cherokee County, Oklahoma, Betty Neel, brought this action to obtain a declaratory judgment to determine the validity of action taken by that county's Excise Board. The factual scenario behind this action is not disputed and is as follows:

¶2 In submitting budgetary requests for the fiscal year 1977-1978 each county officer submitted an increase for their deputies. The Board of County Commissioners prepared a budget reflecting these requests and the Commissioners recommended a $40.00 per month pay increase for the deputies employed in the various county offices. As required by statute, that budget was sent to the County Excise Board. Its consideration of the budget submitted led it to determine that if the salaries of the County Commissioners were fully paid from unrestricted highway funds rather than 33% of their salary from that fund, $18,480.00 would be available in the general fund of the county for salary increases. The Board of Commissioners objected to this annual budget which was larger than that sent to the Excise Board, and the Commissioners signed and approved the budget they proposed. The Excise Board signed and approved the higher budget it had approved, completing the stage for this action.
¶3 After a hearing the trial court ruled in the last paragraph of its journal entry:

... that the Excise Board has only those duties thrust upon them by constitution and statute, and that the actions proposed by the Excise Board in this case exceed that authority. The act of the Excise Board appropriating highway funds to pay the salaries of the Board of County Commissioners is thereby held invalid.

The penultimate paragraph states the rationale behind the trial court's rejection of the authority proffered by the Excise Board as a statutory basis of its decision to approve a budget which pays the Commissioners' salaries from unrestricted highway funds:

The Excise Board relies upon 68 O.S. § 519 to make the appropriation from highway funds in this case. The statute, however, requires a finding of 'insufficient revenue to maintain city and county government of said county out of the General Fund,' and the budget of Cherokee County, as submitted, on its face would contradict that. Total warrants issued for the previous fiscal year are $320,532.00, whereas anticipated income available for the present fiscal year exceeds that by over $50,000.00, being $372,282.00.

¶4 The plaintiff County Treasurer appealed from the overruling of her motion for new trial wherein a new trial was requested on the basis of insufficient evidence to support the judgment and a statement that the court's ruling is contrary to the applicable statutes, being contrary to law, the exact language being: "The journal entry of the Court is not sustained by sufficient evidence and is contrary to the law." The case of Federal Corporation v. Independent School District No. 13, Pushmataha County, 606 P.2d 1141 (Okl.App. 1978), was approved for publication by the Supreme Court of Oklahoma February 14, 1980, and noted prospective from and after February 8, 1980. The Court stated in summary that under 12 O.S. 1971 § 991 (b), a party filing a motion for new trial may not raise allegations of error on appeal which were available but not asserted in the motion for new trial. The Court noted that merely alleging language similar to the statutory language of 12 O.S. 1971 § 651, Sixth, (as was done here) does not direct the trial court's attention to the specific errors urged as appealable and in turn does not preserve error for appellate purposes in light of 12 O.S. 1971 § 991 (b). Although the motion for new trial was filed prior to the prospective date of the ruling last discussed and it is thus not controlling, it is advisable to again call attention to that ruling, because if the motion had been filed after February 8, 1980, the ruling in Federal Corp., supra, would necessitate dismissal.

¶5 Plaintiff's first proposition of error cites 68 O.S. 1971 §§ 2483 and 2485 and 19 O.S. Supp. 1977 § 180.65 (f), stating the import of these statutes establishes that the Board of Commissioners may only recommend salaries to be utilized in county offices, but the funding of the amounts thus recommended is the responsibility of the Excise Board.

¶6 Be that as it may, 68 O.S. 1971 § 2486 contains the statutory mandate in clear terms which demonstrates when an Excise Board shall be empowered to deny an appropriation made by the County Commissioners:

68 O.S. 1971 § 2486. Meetings of County Excise Board - Organization - Powers and duties

The County Excise Board shall meet at the county seat on the first Monday of July of each year (Section 2494 of this Code), and organize by electing one of its members as chairman, and another as vice-chairman who shall preside in the absence of the chairman, for the purpose of performing the duties required of it by law during such fiscal year. Thenceforth, said board may meet from day to day, or adjourn from day to day and time to time thereafter for said purpose. In its functionings it is hereby declared to be an agency of the State, as a part of the system of checks and balances required by the Constitution, and as such it is empowered to require adequate and accurate reporting of finances and expenditures for all budget and supplemental purposes, charged with the duty of requiring adequate provision for performance of mandatory constitutional and statutory governmental functions within the means available, but it shall have no authority thereafter to deny any appropriation for a lawful purpose if within the income and revenue provided. (E.A.)

The inescapable intent of the italicized portion of this statute is to deny the County Excise Board the authority to reject an appropriation made for a lawful purpose if there are sufficient funds to defray the expense, and we so hold. Such a conclusion is confirmed by examining the language of the next following section. Title 68 O.S. 1971 Section 2487 reads as follows in part:

2487. As to each budget, original or supplemental, the County Excise Board shall proceed in the following order:

(1) Examine the financial statements contained therein for the purpose of ascertaining the true fiscal condition . . .

(2) Examine specifically the several items and amounts stated in the estimate of needs, and if any be contained therein not authorized by law, or that may be contrary to law, said item shall be ordered stricken and disregarded. . . .

(3) Examine the content of the estimate of needs and if the governing board has failed to make provision for mandatory governmental functions the County board shall . . . prepare an estimate . . . and cause publication thereof . . . .

(4) Compute the total means available to each fund (except the sinking fund) by the converse of the formula provided by law for computing the tax levy . . . .

(5) If the total of the several items of estimated needs for lawful purposes as heretofore ascertained is within the income and revenue lawfully available, the excise board shall approve the same and compute the levy required. (E.A.)

We cannot but conclude that under the authority previously discussed the County Excise Board had no authority to strike from the general fund an appropriation (here for salaries) of the Board of County Commissioners, although under 68 O.S. 1971 § 2487 (3), the excise board could utilize the authority of subsection (3) to raise an estimate if it was deemed inadequate after an estimate was published in accord with the provisions of the full subsection. 4 ¶7 The record contains no indication the excise board published an estimate of additional funds, as required by the case of Protest of Chicago, R.I. & P. Ry. Co., 150 Okl. 167, 1 P.2d 383 (1931). In that action, this Court construed C.O.S. 1921 § 9698 which then contained language operatively similar to 68 O.S. 1971, 1979 Supp. § 2487 (3) (the presently operative statute), and 68 O.S. 1971 § 2487 (3) (the statute governing this action.) Upon consideration of this provision the Court held:

The county excise board is authorized by the provisions of 9698 C.O.S. 1921, under the limitations therein imposed, to increase or decrease items thereof, strike items therefrom, or add items thereto, when in its opinion the needs of the municipality shall require, and no such increase or addition may be made until notice thereof has been given by publication as therein provided. (E.A.)

¶8 The plaintiff appellant contends here that the provisions of 68 O.S. 1979 Supp. § 519 are the authority for the excise board to pay the salaries of the commissioners from any fund apportioned to the county.

¶9 68 O.S. 1979 Supp. § 519 relates to apportionment of motor fuel taxes and contains the following language in the last paragraph of subsection (a):

. . . Provided, further, that in all counties where the county excise board of any county may find it necessary, because of insufficient revenue to maintain city and county government of such county out of the general fund, after a levy of ten (10) mills has been made for any fiscal year, the county excise board may appropriate out of any of such funds apportioned to such county an amount sufficient to pay the salaries of the county commissioners of such county for such fiscal year.

¶10 Under the last quoted statute the power to pay the salary of the commissioners from the county highway fund exists but the facts here disclosed by the record on appeal admit of no error on the part of the trial court in denying the applicability of the statute under these facts. This is demonstrated by the last page of a plaintiff's exhibit which contains the excise board's certification of current expenses and income, and find disclosed on the face of the document an excess of assets over liabilities held as cash on hand of $50,250.49. The trial court correctly ruled that the last mentioned section did not authorize payment of the commissioners' salary out of the highway fund account. Similarly, the excise board had no authority to strike the lower salary item from the general fund account, it being a lawful item of expense and within the revenue provided. Accordingly, the judgment of the trial court should be and hereby is AFFIRMED.

1 68 O.S. 1971 § 2483 provides in part as follows:

"Each board of county commissioners . . . shall meet on the first Monday in July of each year, . . . and they shall, respectively, make, in writing, a financial statement, showing the true fiscal condition of their political subdivisions as of the close of the previous fiscal year ended June 30th, and an itemized statement of estimated needs and probable income from sources other than ad valorem tax for the current fiscal year. . . ."

2 68 O.S. 1971 § 2485 provides in part as follows:

"Each officer, board or commission of any county, city, school district, or town, and all employees charged with the management or control of any department or institution of either thereof, shall on or before the first Monday in July of each year, make and file with the Board or Commission charged with the duty of reporting to the excise board, a report in writing showing, by classes, the earnings and cost of maintaining their respective offices or departments for the previous fiscal year, together with an itemized statement and estimate of the probable need thereof for the current or ensuing fiscal year. . . ."

3 In part, 19 O.S. 1977 Supp. § 180.65 , subparagraph (f) provides as follows:

"The Board of County Commissioners shall continue to have the authority to RECOMMEND the total amount of funds that can be used for the combined salaries in each of the County offices covered by this Act, and the approval of said funding for such offices shall continue to be the responsibility of the county excise board. . . ." (E.A.)

4 (3) Examine the content of the estimate of needs, and if the governing board has failed to make provision for mandatory governmental functions, whether such mandate be of the Constitution or of the Legislature, or if the provision submitted by estimate be deemed inadequate, the county excise board shall, whether on request in writing by the officer charged with a mandatory duty or on its own volition prepare an estimate by items and amounts, either by the items submitted or by additional items, and cause publication thereof in some newspaper of general circulation in the county, in one issue if published in a weekly paper, and in two consecutive issues if published in a daily paper, and thereafter attach such estimate, together with affidavit and proof of publication, to that submitted by the governing board, for further consideration. However, nothing herein contained shall prevent any governing board, upon a timely finding that its estimate of needs as first filed is inadequate, from filing a written request with the excise board to increase such estimate as to any item or items, whether mandatory or not; whereupon the excise board shall cause publication thereof, as aforesaid, at the expense of the municipality.

5 C.O.S. 1921 § 9698 read in part:

The said board shall have power and authority to revise and correct any estimate certified to them by either striking items therefrom, increasing, or decreasing items thereof, or adding items thereto, when in its opinion the needs of the municipality shall require. All revisions and correction shall be as to specific items of the estimate and in no event shall any item or items of the estimate for current expense purposes be increased, or any item added thereto, until such proposed increased or additional item shall have been advertised and published by the excise board in some newspaper of general circulation in the county, . . .

6 68 O.S. 1971 1979 Supp. § 2487 (3) and 68 O.S. 1971 § 2487 (3) read in part:

(3) Examine the content of the estimate of needs, and if the governing board has failed to make provision for mandatory governmental functions, whether such mandate be of the Constitution or of the Legislature, or if the provision submitted by estimate be deemed inadequate, the county excise board shall, whether on request in writing by the officer charged with a mandatory duty or of its own volition, prepare an estimate by item and amounts, either by the items submitted or by additional items, and cause publication thereof in some newspaper of general circulation in the county, in one issue if published in a weekly paper, and in two consecutive issues if published in a daily paper, and thereafter attach such estimate, together with affidavit and proof of publication, to that submitted by the governing board, for further consideration.
¶1 This case deals with the interpretation of an ad valorem tax statute. Mack Truck Sales of Tulsa, Inc. [Taxpayer] filed a Complaint of Erroneous Assessment with the Board of Tax Roll Corrections of Tulsa County on July 17, 1978. The taxpayer alleged there had been an error in the assessment of its personal property for 1976.

¶2 Taxpayer, without protesting its 1976 assessment to the Assessor, Equalization Board, or Board of Tax Roll Corrections, at any time prior to payment of the tax as variously provided for by law, timely paid its 1976 personal property taxes in two installments.

¶3 On August 8, 1978, the Board of Tax Roll Corrections (the Board) heard Taxpayer's complaint and reduced the taxable value of its personal property by the amount equal to the value of the motor vehicles upon which an in lieu of tax had been paid. Pursuant to 68 O.S. 1971 § 2432, the Board, on September 12, 1978, reheard this matter, rescinded its previous action and denied the complaint. The Board's reason for the denial was the belief that no relief could be granted because Taxpayer had filed its complaint more than one year following the payment of the tax.
¶4 Taxpayer gave the Board written notice of its intent to appeal to the district court. After trial the court ruled Taxpayer was entitled to a refund notwithstanding the fact that its complaint had been filed with the Board of Tax Roll Corrections more than one year following the payment of the tax.

¶5 The sole question presented to this court for consideration is whether 68 O.S.Supp. 1974 § 2479 contains its own statute of limitations. The pertinent parts of the statute are:

... If, prior to such hearing by the Board, as aforesaid, the tax has been paid, no certificate shall issue; but if less than one (1) year shall have elapsed after the payment of the tax and before the filing of such application for correction of error, and after such hearing the findings of fact disclose that less tax was due to have been paid than was paid, then the person who paid the tax, or his heirs, successors, or assigns, may execute a cash voucher claim setting forth facts and findings, verify it, and file it with the county clerk, who shall thereupon deliver such claim to the county treasurer for designation of the fund from which the claim must be paid and approval of the claim as to the availability of funds by the county treasurer. If taxes have been paid under protest, the county treasurer must designate the refund to be paid from such protest fund. If taxes have been paid but not paid under protest and if there are funds available in current collections of the taxing unit which received the taxes paid, then the county treasurer must designate the refund to be paid from such current collections of such taxing unit. The county clerk shall thereupon issue his cash voucher against the appropriate fund of the county, directing the county treasurer to pay to such person the amount so found to be ...

If there be any error in the taxes collected from such person, the overpayment or duplicate payment of any such taxes collected in error may be recovered by the taxpayer, and the county treasurer may make such payment from the Resale Property Fund of the county if funds are not available as stated in the preceding paragraph of this section. (Emphasis supplied).

¶6 The County Assessor contends that the language of § 2479 bars all tax refund claims not filed within one year of payment of the tax. Taxpayer contends that the one year "limitation" merely designates from which fund the refund is to be paid.

¶7 In interpreting this statute, legislative history should be considered. The Oklahoma Legislature has provided a method of recovering overpaid ad valorem taxes since 1916. This original provision clearly provided that no refund would be made where the taxes had been paid for a period of more than one year prior to the claim for the refund. The same provision remained intact until 1945, when a major revision of the ad valorem refund law was made. The 1945 revision provided, in part:

... If, prior to such hearing by the Board of County Commissioners, the tax has been paid, and less than one (1) year shall have elapsed after the payment of the tax and before the filing of such application for correction of error, and after such hearing the findings of fact disclose that less tax was due to have been paid than was paid, not [sic] certificate (for refund) shall issue; but the person who paid the tax, or his heirs, successors, or assigns, may execute a cash voucher against the county penalty reserve fund of the county, directing the County Treasurer to pay to such person the amount so found to be erroneous ... 1945 Okla. Sess. Laws, p. 257 § 1 (Parenthetical Phrase Supplied).

¶8 Taxpayer urges this revision abolished the one year limitation contained in the earlier versions of the statute. A more careful reading of the statute indicates otherwise. The title of the act itself states that the Act provides "for the refund of taxes paid not more than one (1) year prior to claims." 1945 Okla. Sess. Laws, p. 257. In Oklahoma the purpose of the act must be clearly expressed in the title.\(^2\)

¶9 In 1949, minor changes were made in the wording of the act; however, no substantive change in the act was made until 1965.

¶10 In 1965, the entire Ad Valorem Tax Code was revised by the Legislature. The title of the new act was as follows: "An Act relating to taxation; amending, revising, deleting obsolete language therefrom, and reenacting the Ad Valorem Tax Code for the purpose of recodifying the same; . . . providing for correction of errors . . ." 1965 Okla. Sess. Laws, p. 960. The 1965 law provided:

. . . If, prior to such hearing by the Board, as aforesaid, the tax has been paid, no certificate shall issue; but if less than one (1) year shall have elapsed after the payment of the tax and before the filing of such application for correction of error, and after such hearing the findings of fact disclose that less tax was due to have been paid than was paid, then the person who paid the tax, or his heirs, successors, or assigns, may execute a cash voucher claim setting forth facts and findings, verify it, and file it with the County Clerk, who shall thereupon issue his cash voucher against the County Penalty Reserve Fund of the county, directing the County Treasurer to pay to such person the amount so found to be erroneous . . .

If there be any error in the taxes collected from any person, the overpayment or duplicate payment of any such taxes collected in error may be recovered by the taxpayer, and the County Treasurer is hereby authorized to make such payment from the Resale Property Fund of the County. 1965 Okla. Sess. Laws, pp. 997, 998.

¶11 We are compelled to notice that two important changes were made from the previous law: (1) the specific language in the title of the Act indicating the one year limitation was removed; and (2) a paragraph was added stating that recovery of any overpayment of taxes by any person could be recovered from the Resale Property Fund. The Oklahoma Supreme Court has stated that:

A change in the phraseology of an amendatory statute raises the presumption that a departure from the old law was intended. The Legislature must be presumed to know both the language employed in the former acts and the judicial construction placed upon them, and if in a subsequent statute on the same subject it uses different language in the same connection, the courts must presume that a change of the law was intended, and after a consideration of the spirit and letter of the statute will give effect to its terms according to their proper significance. So the omission of a word in the amendment or re-enactment of a statute will be assumed to have been intentional. Where it is apparent that substantive portions of a statute have been omitted and repealed by the process of revision and re-enactment, courts have no express or implied authority to supply the omissions that are material and substantive and not merely clerical and inconsequential, for that would in effect be the enactment of substantive law. The statute in such a case should be effectuated as the language actually contained in the latest enactment warrants. . .

¶12 We feel the presumption of intended legislative change raised by the removal of the title language (under Plummer) clearly indicating a one-year limitation, coupled with the addition of the paragraph provided for recovery of any overpayment, has not been overcome by any clear indication of a contrary legislative intent.
¶13 Minor changes in the 1965 law were made in the 1974 law, noted above. The County Assessor urges that the 1974 Amendment to the paragraph dealing with the recovery of any overpayment from the Resale Property Fund prohibits recovery beyond the one-year limitation.

¶14 We hold a more reasonable interpretation on this paragraph is that if the claim is filed within one year of payment of the taxes, then the refund is to be paid out of current collections fund. If the taxes were paid under protest, and the claim was filed within one year of payment of the taxes, then the refund must be paid out of the protest fund. However, if the claim was not filed within one year, or if current funds or protest funds are not available, then the refund is to be paid from the Resale Property Fund.

¶15 To adopt the interpretation of the County Assessor would force us to read meaning into the statute which is not present. Adopting the position of Taxpayer as to the statute's interpretation gives every provision of the statute a useful purpose.

¶16 The County Assessor suggests if Taxpayer's interpretation is adopted, then claims for overpaid taxes could be raised years in the future, causing confusion and difficulty for county officers. We hold that 19 O.S. 1971 § 247 is the applicable statute of limitations. 19 O.S. 1971 § 247 provides:

"No account against the county shall be allowed unless presented within two years after the same accrued: Provided, that should any person having a claim against the county be (at the time the same accrued) under any legal disability, every such person shall be entitled to present the same within one year after such disability shall be removed."

¶17 The County Assessor contends a claim for an ad valorem tax refund is not a claim against the county alone, but affects cities and towns and thus 19 O.S. 1971 § 247 does not apply. The County Assessor cites State ex rel. Hatfield v. Moreland, 152 Okla. 37, 3 P.2d 803 (1931) as supporting this assertion. This was not the holding of the Hatfield case. The rule in Hatfield was that the Board of County Commissioners was not authorized to issue refunds. The statement that the refund claim was not a claim against the county was dicta.

¶18 Logically, the unit to which the tax is paid is the unit from which tax refunds must be sought. This is what Taxpayer attempted to do within the two-year statute of limitations dealing with claims against the county.

¶19 AFFIRMED.

STATE OF OKLAHOMA EX REL. WILLIAM F. "BILL" POULOS, PETITIONER,
v.
STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION FOR THE STATE OF OKLAHOMA, THE HONORABLE GEORGE NIGH, CHAIRMAN, THE HONORABLE SPENCER BERNARD, MEMBER, THE HONORABLE LEO WINTERS, MEMBER, THE HONORABLE JACK CRAIG, MEMBER; AND THE OKLAHOMA TAX COMMISSION, RESPONDENTS

Application to Assume Original Jurisdiction to review the constitutionality of the system of ad valorem property taxation as implemented by the State Board of Equalization for the State of Oklahoma, and the Oklahoma Tax Commission, as the same affects the valuation and assessment of property taxes in all of the 77 counties in Oklahoma.

¶0 Original jurisdiction assumed. Held, there being no valid reason shown why the 12% percentage ratio by which all real property is to be taxed within the State as recommended by the Oklahoma Tax Commission should not be approved, said 12% percentage ratio, with limited permissible deviations, is determined by judicial decree to apply uniformly throughout the State for the 1982 tax year and thereafter until changed by the recommendation of the Oklahoma Tax Commission and determination by the Board of Equalization based upon good and sufficient valid, legal grounds. Further held that the three classifications of real property, i.e., residential, commercial-industrial, and agricultural, and the methodology for determining the value of real property of each class shall apply in determining tax assessments for the tax year 1982, and thereafter until such time as the same shall be changed by the recommendation of the Oklahoma Tax Commission and determination by the Board of Equalization upon good and sufficient valid, legal grounds, or until changed by Acts by the Legislature adopted pursuant to Art. 10, § 8 of the Oklahoma Constitution. Petitioner's application for allowance of attorney fees and costs of the action denied.

LAVENDER, Justice:

¶1 Original jurisdiction of this Court is sought to be invoked under authority of Art. 7, § 4 of the Oklahoma Constitution, which provides:
¶2 The parties designated as Respondents are the State Board of Equalization for The State of Oklahoma (Board), its members, and The Oklahoma Tax Commission (Commission).

¶3 Petitioner brings this action in his capacity as a citizen, resident, and taxpayer. At issue is the constitutionality of the system of ad valorem property taxation as implemented by the State Board of Equalization for the State of Oklahoma, and the Oklahoma Tax Commission, as the same affects the valuation and assessment of property taxes in all of the 77 counties in Oklahoma.

¶4 Frequent reference will be made herein to State ex rel. Poulos v. State Board of Equalization, Okl., 552 P.2d 1134 (1975), State ex rel. Poulos v. State Board of Equalization, Okl., 552 P.2d 1138 (1976), to the case now pending before us, and to Cantrell v. Sanders, Okl., 610 P.2d 227 (1980). For brevity, these cases will be referred to respectively as Poulos I, Poulos II, Poulos III, and Cantrell.

¶5 In Poulos I, we held that "the matter presented is publici juris, and of immediate concern to all taxpayers." We assume original jurisdiction and proceed to consider the case on the merits.

¶6 The exhibits filed with this Court have, as reconciled, been acknowledged by the parties to be true and correct copies of what they purport to be, and are factually correct as to the studies and findings therein set forth.

¶7 In Poulos I, this Court in unequivocal language pointed out that it is the mandatory duty of the Board to adjust and equalize the valuation of real and personal property of the several counties in the State; that a system which does not equalize ad valorem assessments throughout the state is unfair and invidiously discriminatory; and that it is the manifest intention of the Oklahoma Legislature to equalize ad valorem assessments so that every parcel and item of taxable property in the state will be assessed at the same percentage of its value.

¶8 In Poulos II, this Court rejected a proposed "Plan of Compliance" because of a variance between 8% and 17.91% which permits inequality of valuation among the counties of this state. The Court directed by writ of mandamus that the Board satisfy its constitutional and statutory duty as set forth in Poulos I "by setting a definite percentile equality applicable to all counties . . ." with permissible interim variations not to exceed three percentage points above or below the assessment rate, but with complete uniformity to be achieved by the Board within the three year period following the Poulos II decision.

¶9 In Cantrell, we held that it is the statutory duty of the county assessor to set an assessment percentage uniformly applicable to all real property within the county. The basis for our conclusion was all real property within the county constitutes but one "class of subjects," and the mandate of Art. 10, § 5 of the Oklahoma Constitution that taxes be "uniform upon the same class of subjects" must be followed.

¶10 Cantrell further held that Art. 10, § 8 of the Oklahoma Constitution, as it was amended in 1972, changed the method of valuing real property for tax assessment by prescribing that all property taxable ad valorem must be valued at its "fair cash value" that is, its market value, EXCEPT:

¶11 1. No real property shall be assessed for ad valorem taxation at more than 35% of its use value, as opposed to its market value, that is, the tax value is to be determined by the value of the real property as actually used, or was previously classified for use during the calendar year next preceding the first day of January on which the assessment is made, and not in excess of 35% of said use value.

¶12 2. A transfer of property without a change in its use classification shall not require a reassessment based exclusively upon the sale value of such property.
¶13 We further said in Cantrell: "In order to value property according to its use, it is necessary to classify property according to its use. Entirely different procedures are used for the valuation of residential, commercial, industrial, and agricultural properties, and uniform standards of classification of property in order to facilitate the application of uniform procedures would be desirable."

¶14 Following the rendition of the decision in Cantrell (Rehearing Denied April 28, 1980) and up to the time of filing of Poulos III (this case), the wide diversity of assessment percentages applied by the various county assessors to real property assessments within the counties has (according to the exhibits) continued to proliferate.

¶15 Dividing the real property into three classes, residential, commercial-industrial, and agricultural, the average mean assessment ratios range from 6.40% assessment in Adair County to 13.58% in Oklahoma County. The average "mean" assessment ratio in Oklahoma County exceeds 212% of the average mean assessment in Adair County. The wide disparity in assessment ratios as applied in the various counties is illustrated by the following:

with wide variations between the extremes.

¶16 The disparity in the assessment ratios applied to property within the use classifications is even greater. For example, with reference to agricultural land, the ratio applied in McCurtain County of 2.71% as compared with Oklahoma County which is 666% greater.

¶17 On June 20, 1981, the Commission in accordance with 68 O.S. 1971 § 2462 and Enrolled Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 54 of the 37th Oklahoma Legislature (O.S.L. 1980) transmitted to the Board "Techniques, Guidelines and Definitions for Determining Use Value of Real Property for Ad Valorem Tax Purposes," and "1981 Comprehensive Ratio Study Report" along with "Recommendations of the Oklahoma Tax Commission for Statewide Equalization." The Commission found and determined, based upon its studies and research, that "a single assessment ratio has not been applied to determine assessed valuation of all real property within each county and that the assessed valuations of real property are not equalized among the various counties pursuant to this Board's adopted guideline setting the definite assessment ratio at 12%.

¶18 The Commission made the following recommendations to the Board:

¶19 1. That, the State Board of Equalization act upon the submitted techniques, guidelines and definitions by approval thereof.
¶20 2. That, the State Board of Equalization increase or decrease, as the case may be, the assessment valuations of the classifications of real property within each county so that a single assessment ratio is applied to the valuation of all real property within each county to determine assessed valuation, in accordance with the Recommendations of the Oklahoma Tax Commission for Statewide Equalization.

¶21 3. That, the State Board of Equalization increase or decrease, as the case may be, the assessment valuations of real property so that the assessment ratio of each county is within the permissible three point deviation of the 12% ratio rate set by this Board, in accordance with the Recommendations of the Oklahoma Tax Commission for Statewide Equalization submitted herewith.

¶22 At a meeting held on July 21, 1981, the State Board of Equalization did the following:

¶23 1. Accepted and approved the abstracts of assessments submitted by the respective County Assessors.

¶24 2. Set aside the ratio study conducted by the Oklahoma Tax Commission and the findings therein contained, “although conducted in good faith, due to the brevity in time following the Supreme Court decision in Cantrell v. Sanders (supra) and the Attorney General's Opinion No. 80-253 issued January 29, 1981, it was not possible for the State Board of Equalization and the Oklahoma Tax Commission to develop and distribute to the County Assessors techniques, guidelines and definitions for determining the use value of real property for ad valorem tax purposes as directed by the foregoing Supreme Court decision, Senate Resolution and Attorney General's opinion, thereby creating an apparent disparity between the methods employed by the County Assessors of the State of Oklahoma and the methods employed by the Oklahoma Tax Commission in conducting the use value/assessment ratio study of said counties of the State of Oklahoma.”

¶25 3. Adopted and approved the Techniques, Guidelines and Definitions for Determining Use Value of Real Property for Ad Valorem Tax Purposes, as revised by a County Assessors' Committee and a Committee of Tax Commission officials, to be used in the 1982 tax assessments.

¶26 The Techniques, Guidelines and Definitions for Determining Use Value of Real Property for Ad Valorem Purposes as adopted was transmitted to the various county assessors on August 4, 1981.

¶27 The Board failed to perform the duty imposed upon it by law when it failed without any excuse to adopt and apply a standard ratio of 12% with permissible inter-county deviations of not more than 3% above or below the mean as recommended by the Commission in determining the adjusted percentile to be applied to all real property within the state, regardless of its classification. While we held in Cantrell that it is the statutory duty of the county assessor to initially set the assessment percentage on all property within the county, as we have heretofore pointed out, it was the overriding constitutional and statutory duty of the Board to make such adjustments as will achieve uniformity and equality of taxation on a statewide basis, pursuant to 68 O.S.Supp. 1979 § 2463 and Art. 10, § 21 of the Oklahoma Constitution.

¶28 There being no valid reason shown for not adopting the 12% ratio, as recommended by the Commission, we hereby determine by judicial decree that all property within the State of Oklahoma subject to ad valorem taxes shall be assessed at 12% of its taxable value with permissible inter-county deviations of not more than 3% above or below the mean, and that said percentage shall apply to the 1982 tax year and thereafter until such time as the same shall be changed by the recommendation of the Commission and the determination by the Board based upon good and sufficient valid, legal grounds as provided in 68 O.S. 1971 § 2463 .

¶29 As we said in Poulos I, supra, (at p. 1137):
"Although a precise uniformity is not required [see Board of County Commissioners of Canadian County v. State Board of Equalization, 363 P.2d 242 (Okl. 1961)], a rate which is inherently and basically fair to all citizens is mandated by the Constitutions of the United States and the State of Oklahoma. It is patently clear that to meet the standards of the Constitution and of the statutes, the adjustment and equalization of the valuation of real and personal properties of all the several counties of this state must be made on an annual and uniform basis."

"Necessarily, in Oklahoma, as in every other state, an exact and equal distribution of the burden of taxation is not effected. It has never been since government was instituted, and probably never will be. There will never come a time when some of the taxpayers do not pay more than they should, and when others do not pay less."

¶31 We believe the 12% ratio with the permissible deviations of not more than 3% above or below as between and among the various counties of the state is basically fair and reasonable, and allows for individual county adjustments which may be determined to be appropriate by reason of a particular county's needs.

¶32 Having so determined, we hereby modify our holding in Poulos II in that we do not now require the implementation of precise mathematical uniformity and hold that the permissible variations herein authorized are in compliance with Art. 10, § 5 of the Oklahoma Constitution requiring that "taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects."

¶33 We have reviewed the Techniques, Guidelines, and Definitions for Determining Use Value of Real Property for Ad Valorem Tax Purposes as revised by a committee of County Assessors and a committee of Tax Commission officials and approved by the Board in its meeting held on July 21, 1981, [646 P.2d 1274] and find the same to be in compliance with the requirements with Art. 10, § 5 and § 8 of the Oklahoma Constitution, and we determine by judicial decree that the three classifications of real property, i.e., residential, commercial-industrial, and agricultural, and the methodology for determining the value of real property of each class shall apply in determining tax assessments for the tax year 1982, and thereafter until such time as the same shall be changed by the recommendation of the Commission and the determination by the Board based upon good and sufficient valid, legal grounds, or until changed by Acts by the Legislature adopted pursuant to Art. 10, § 8 of the Oklahoma Constitution.

¶34 The view has been expressed that this Court should not determine the percentage ratio by which all real property is to be taxed because that is a duty imposed by the Constitution upon the Board and that the Court should instead issue another writ of mandamus compelling the Board to do its duty. That is what the Court did in Poulos II (and refrained from doing in Poulos I in the expectation the Board would perform its duty). That writ of mandamus issued in 1976 has not been followed. It would apparently be a vain and useless thing to issue another. While it is of course vitally important to recognize and maintain the separation of functions between the three branches of the state's government, that doctrine is not so inflexible that it would render this Court impotent to enter its decree judicially determining a percentage ratio that would, in view of the record before us, satisfy the commands of the Constitution, at least until the Board takes action to carry out its Constitutional duty. The command that taxes be uniform was thought by the people important enough to place in the Constitution. It is therefore important enough to invoke the authority of this Court. Except for the current tax year, there is nothing in this opinion to prevent the Board from fulfilling its duty by setting a different percentage ratio in the future.

¶35 Petitioner urges that this Court should award him a reasonable attorney fee and costs of these proceedings. Petitioner points out that this action is public interest litigation and that the same was instituted by him and his attorney for no personal benefit other than that shared in common by property owners generally within the state, and that the case has been undertaken by him without "significant financial support from any interest group." While we are mindful of these considerations, and of the adage that “virtue is its own reward,” we are well aware such “virtue” does not pay the office overhead or reimburse for out-of-pocket expenses attendant with such a case as is here before us. However, we find no basis, and none has been pointed out to us, whereby, under the law, this Court can award Petitioner an attorney fee.

¶36 As a general rule, and one to which this Court is committed, attorney fees to a prevailing party are not recoverable in the absence of a statute or an enforceable contract. City Nat. Bank & Trust Co. v. Owens, Okl., 565 P.2d 4 (1977).

¶37 An exception to the rule was recognized in State ex rel. Burk v. Oklahoma City, Okl., 522 P.2d 612 (1973), later app. 556 P.2d 691. In Burk, it was held that the vacation of a public street was void and the owners of a building erected thereon were liable for lease payments to the city. But in that case there was the creation of a common fund over which the Court had a degree of control, and there we awarded the successful protagonist an attorney fee to be paid out of the lease payments. (State ex rel. Burk v. City of Oklahoma City, Okl., 598 P.2d 659 (1979).)

¶38 Again in City Nat. Bank & Trust Co. v. Owens, supra, we recognized a second exception. There we held that where a party to a lawsuit has acted in bad faith, vexatiously, wantonly, or for oppressive reasons, such overriding considerations justify an award of attorney fees and costs incurred directly as a result of such misconduct. In Owens, we carefully delineated between the costs and attorney fees incurred as a direct [646 P.2d 1275] result of the other party's misconduct, and an award of costs and attorney fees for the entire litigation, awarding the former, not the latter.

¶39 In the case before us (Poulos III), there is no creation of a common fund as a result of the litigation which is under the control of this Court, out of which this Court can order attorney fees to be paid, and neither do we find that Respondents have acted “in bad faith, vexatiously, wantonly, or for oppressive reasons” to such a degree as to constitute “overriding considerations” indicative of a need for such a recovery. Equality of taxation is not only a laudable objective, it is a constitutionally mandated imperative. As in the case of all lofty ideals, a struggle for attainment precedes realization of the goal. Whatever the shortcomings of the Respondents, or any of them, may be, there is nothing in this record which impugns their good faith or their motives, or which impels this Court to find and determine that this case falls within any recognized exception to the general rule. It is therefore ordered that each party pay his own costs and attorney fees.

HODGES, Justice, concurring in part and dissenting in part.

¶1 I am in full concurrence with the majority opinion in its address of the issues of the methodology for determining the value of real property and in the denial of attorney fees.

¶2 However, I must respectfully dissent to the imposition by judicial legislation of a standard 12% ratio to be used in determining the adjusted percentile to be applied to all real property within the state. The setting of a numerical percentile is the constitutional duty of the Board of Equalization pursuant to the Okla.Const. art. 10, § 21. I would grant the writ of mandamus and instruct the Board to perform its constitutional duty.
SIMMS, Justice, dissenting:

¶1 When members of one branch of government fail or refuse to do their duty, the problems are not cured by the Court simply doing it for them. This only creates new and larger problems in addition to those still left unresolved. More extensive discussion on this subject can be found in the minority opinions in State, ex rel., Poulos v. State Board of Equalization, Okl., 552 P.2d 1134, 1138 (1975) and State, ex rel., Poulos v. State Board of Equalization, Okl., 552 P.2d 1138, 1139 (1976).

¶2 It is not a proper function of this Court to legislate a system of property assessment to equalize taxation. That job is given to the Board of Equalization by the Constitution and statutes.

¶3 It is, however, a proper function of the judiciary to enforce compliance with the law and orders of a court. There are various proceedings which can be instituted to obtain constitutionally permissible remedies. If and when those remedies are pursued, we should entertain the action. Meanwhile, I am opposed to this Court performing the legislative functions assigned to the Board of Equalization.

¶1 Our original jurisdiction in this case was invoked (a) to invalidate the May 19, 1982 order by the State Board of Equalization assessing personal and real property of public service corporations at 26% of its 1982 valuation and (b) to mandate that the same assessment ratio (within the range of 9% to 15%) which was established in State ex rel. Poulos v. State Board of Equalization, Okl., 646 P.2d 1269 (1982), for property subject to the fiscal jurisdiction of county assessors govern the Board in assessing the property of public service corporations. By our September 2 order jurisdiction was assumed and the case transferred to the District Court, Oklahoma County, for evidentiary proceedings to be followed by that court's findings of fact and conclusions of law. The District Court (1) granted the original petitioner leave to withdraw as a party; (2) allowed certain entities leave to become "parties-plaintiff"; (3) permitted intervention by numerous entities claiming interest and standing in the case; (4) excised all fact issues by agreement of the parties; (5) limited the dispute to two questions of law; and (6) returned the case to this court for resolution of the two questions now before us. These are:

"whether the Supreme Court should vacate the Order of the State Board of Equalization, May 19, 1982, assessing Petitioner's property at 26% of its fair cash value for 1982 . . . and whether the Supreme Court should establish as a matter of law the assessed valuation for Petitioner's property for 1982 within the range of 9% to 15% established by the Court in Poulos v. State Board of Equalization, Okl., 646 P.2d 1269 (1982) . . . ."

¶2 Upon retransfer of the case, all the parties were afforded here a full opportunity to rebrief the issues before oral argument that was presented December 6, 1982.

¶3 On consideration of oral argument, the district court record and the briefs and paperwork here on file, the court concludes that no tenable legal ground exists for either nullifying the Board's May 19, 1982 order or commanding it to lower the assessment ratio for property of public service corporations to the range established by our opinion in State ex rel. Poulos v. State Board of Equalization, supra, for property that lies exclusively within the assessment jurisdiction of county assessors. The prerogative writ sought herein is accordingly denied, and petitioners are granted 10 days from the date hereof to seek rehearing. The court rests its decision upon the following conclusions of law:

I.

¶4 The court must accord continued vitality to its prior holding that "it is not necessary that the property of public service corporations be valued at the same percentage of actual value as that placed on other classes of property." In Re Assessment of Property of Western Light & Power Corporation, 169 Okl. 53, 35 P.2d 946, 947 [1934].

II.

¶5 Property subject to the assessment jurisdiction of the Board is unaffected by either Cantrell or the Poulos trilogy. There is no legal warrant for a judicial command that would require the Board to assess property of public service corporations at the very same ratio as that found to be appropriate for county assessors. Fundamental and statutory law both leave the Board free to determine the assessment ratio for property of public service corporations at any level less than 35%. Art. 10 § 21, Okl.Const.; 68 O.S. 1981 §§ 2443-2455.
III.

¶6 Property of public service corporations is constituted and recognized at least implicitly, if not also explicitly, as a distinct class for taxation purposes. Art. 10 § 21, Okl.Const.; 68 O.S. 1981 §§ 2420, 2432, 2439, 2442, 2443, 2445-2452.

[655 P.2d 1040]

IV.

¶7 The law's recognition of public service property as a distinct category for taxation purposes does not create a constitutionally impermissible classification based on ownership rather than use. Oklahoma has "large leeway in making classifications and drawing lines which in . . . [her] judgment produce reasonable systems of taxation." A state tax law is not arbitrary even though it may discriminate against a class if the discrimination is founded upon a reasonable distinction or difference in state policy. The 14th Amendment's Due Process and Equal Protection clauses do not impose an iron-clad rule of equality which prohibits the flexibility and variety that are appropriate to schemes of taxation. Lehnhausen v. Lake Shore Auto Parts Co., 410 U.S. 356, 359, 93 S.Ct. 1001, 1003, 35 L.Ed.2d 351 [1973] and Kahn v. Shevin, 416 U.S. 351, 94 S.Ct. 1734, 40 L.Ed.2d 189 [1974].

OKLAHOMA COUNTY BOARD OF EQUALIZATION, GEORGE KEYES, COUNTY ASSESSOR OF OKLAHOMA COUNTY, AND JOE B. BARNES, COUNTY TREASURER OF OKLAHOMA COUNTY, and

JAN ERIC CARTWRIGHT, ATTORNEY GENERAL OF OKLAHOMA, DEFENDANT-INTERVENOR/APPELLEE.

Appeal from the District Court, Oklahoma County; Jack R. Parr, Judge.

George Keyes, County Assessor of Oklahoma County, issued to appellant, General Motors Corporation, a “Notice of Change of Assessed Valuation” on the General Motor's Assembly Plant located in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

General Motors filed a protest with the Oklahoma County Board of Equalization and it denied the protest.

General Motors appealed the denial of its protest to the District Court. The disputed taxes were paid under protest and General Motors filed suit for refund.

The District Court rendered summary judgment in favor of defendant public officials (appellees) and General Motors appealed.

JUDGMENT AFFIRMED.

IRWIN, Justice:

¶1 The Oklahoma Industries Authority (OIA), a public trust, created pursuant to 60 O.S. 1961 § 176 et seq., as amended, sponsored the “public trust” financing for the construction of General Motors
Corporation's (GMC) assembly plant in Oklahoma City. The issue presented is whether GMC's interest (improvements, machinery and equipment) in the plant is subject to ad valorem taxation. GMC contends its interest is not taxable because of a tax abatement agreement between it and the State of Oklahoma. GMC asserts that public agencies and officials of the State of Oklahoma agreed that if GMC would build its assembly plant in Oklahoma that such plant would not be subject to ad valorem taxation for twenty years.

¶2 The trial court in rendering summary judgment against GMC found that Art. 10, § 5, of the Okl. Const. prohibits a contract which surrenders, suspends or contracts away the power of taxation, and although the existence of a contract is disputed, such contract, even if it could be established, would be void and contrary to law; and that the assembly plant is in possession of GMC under an executory contract of purchase and is taxable under State ex rel. Cartwright v. Dunbar, Okl., 618 P.2d 900 (1980).

¶3 Since the Legislature first authorized the creation of public trusts as a vehicle for "public trust" financing in 1951, numerous facilities throughout the state have been constructed by private entities using such financing. Dunbar explains the method generally employed in Oklahoma and such method was used in financing part of the construction of GMC's assembly plant. Here, a lease contract and bond indenture were entered into between the public trust (OIA) and GMC. OIA issued bonds to help pay for part of the construction costs of the facility. GMC paid all additional construction costs. OIA holds legal title to the property. GMC's lease payments to OIA are sufficient to amortize the bond issue and other costs. GMC will "purchase" the entire project for $1,000 when the bonded indebtedness is satisfied.

¶4 In Dunbar we held that the trust properties in which private entities hold a possessory and contractual interest by virtue of a lease agreement with a public trust as holder of legal title was subject to ad valorem taxation. Dunbar was bottomed on the theory that the Dunbar lease agreement was nothing more or less than an executory contract of sale and that property of a public trust held under a sale-purchase executory contract is not constitutionally tax exempt. GMC concedes that its assembly plant would be taxable under Dunbar but for the tax abatement agreement.

¶5 GMC says that the characterization of its agreement with OIA as a "lease" or "executory contract" is not of consequence as GMC understands its tax abatement agreement with Oklahoma. GMC states the substance of the agreement and this lawsuit is that Oklahoma agreed to a tax abatement for the assembly plant in return for GMC constructing the plant in Oklahoma. GMC says that it has fulfilled its part of the agreement.

¶6 GMC contends that the agreement was lawful when made and any state action which impairs the obligation of that agreement violates Art. 1, § 10, of the United States Constitution. GMC argues the Legislature in the Public Trust Act classified industrial property for tax purposes pursuant to Art. 10, § 22, of the Okl. Const., to improve economic activity and to create jobs in Oklahoma; that OIA, a state agency which was created pursuant to the Act, bargained with GMC for the tax abatement; and the negotiations and contracts of OIA constitute the negotiations and contracts of the State of Oklahoma. GMC also submits that the Attorney General's opinion (69-156) rendered in 1969, in which he expressed the view that public trust properties were not subject to ad valorem taxation was incorporated into and became a part of the tax abatement agreement between OIA and the State.

¶7 Closely related to GMC's argument that the imposition of the ad valorem taxes impairs the obligations of its tax abatement agreement is its assertion that it has been denied due process. GMC argues that the Fifth Amendment through the Fourteenth Amendment of the Federal Constitution forbids the taking of property without just compensation and that its tax abatement agreement is a property right. GMC says that both contract and property rights arising from its tax abatement agreement are protected by the Due Process Clause as well as by the Impairment of Contract Clause.

¶8 In Dunbar we considered the constitutionality of 60 O.S. 1981 § 178.7 enacted in 1977. That enactment authorized a tax exemption for a period of years of all interests in public trust property, but the lessee (GMC-here) of public trust property was required to pay an annual sum in lieu of ad valorem taxes for each year following the tenth anniversary date of the issuance of the revenue bonds.

¶9 In Dunbar we said that Art. 5, § 50, Okl. Const., prohibits the Legislature from exempting any property from taxation except as provided in the Constitution. We held that since other property similarly situated was statutorily taxable, any legislative attempt to delay the taxable status of a lessee's interest in public trust property would be in conflict with Art. 5, § 50, supra, and unconstitutional.

¶10 Art. 10, § 22, of the Constitution authorizes the Legislature to classify property for purposes of taxation; and the valuation of different classes by different means or methods. The Legislature has a wide range of discretion in classifying subjects of taxation, and to justify judicial interference, the classification must be based on an unreasonable or arbitrary classification. Continental Oil Company v. Oklahoma State Board etc., Okl., 570 P.2d 315 (1977).

¶11 Although the property belonging to a public trust is exempt from taxation - Art. 10, § 6, Okl. Const. - the interest a lessee (GMC-here) has in public trust property is subject to ad valorem taxation. Dunbar, supra.

¶12 If the property here had not been "leased" from a public trust, it would have been taxed as all other property similar situated under our general statutory scheme of taxation. Any attempt, legislative or otherwise, to exempt property from taxation in the possession of a "lessee" under an executory contract of purchase where the record title to the property is in a public trust, and not exempt similar property where record title to the property is in a private entity instead of a public trust, would contravene Art. 10, § 22, supra.

¶13 In Dunbar we also held that the State was not estopped from assessing the "lessee's" property because of its reliance on the generally held view that such interest was exempt from taxation. Our holding was based on the principle that a state and its subdivision cannot be estopped from protecting public rights when public officials have acted erroneously or failed to act.

¶14 We will now consider the enforceability of the alleged tax abatement agreement. GMC did not introduce the agreement into the record but relied upon certain opinions of the Attorney General, statements of officials of the State of Oklahoma and of various civic organizations, correspondence and news releases, and representations made by officials of OIA. In its journal entry of judgment the trial court in referring to the agreement said "although its existence is in dispute, such contract, even if it could be established, would be void and contrary to law."

¶15 The lease agreement between GMC and OIA did not spell out the tax abatement agreement but it did mention ad valorem taxes. One sentence stated that the parties recognized that as OIA is an agency of the state, the assembly plant was not subject to ad valorem taxation under the Constitution and laws of Oklahoma. However, the parties did agree that in the event the State of Oklahoma or any of its subdivisions shall demand the payment of any general or ad valorem tax that GMC would pay the tax.

¶16 We will assume, arguendo, that OIA, a state agency, entered into the tax abatement agreement with GMC; and that both parties relied upon the then current Attorney General's opinion which expressed the view that public trust properties were not subject to taxation.

¶17 Under general legal principles, public agents have no power to bind the state or any of its subdivisions by apparent authority in excess of their actual authority. "An unconstitutional act is not a law; it binds no one, and protects no one." Little Rock, etc., Railway v. Worthen; and Huntington v. Worthen, 120 U.S. 97, 7 S.Ct. 469, 30 L.Ed. 588. If the Legislature has not acted within the framework of the Constitution, it has not acted. An unconstitutional statute confers no rights, creates no liability, and affords no protection. Norton v. Shelby County, 118 U.S. 425, 6 S.Ct. 1121, 30 L.Ed. 178. In Zane v. Hamilton County, 189 U.S. 370, 23 S.Ct. 538, 47 L.Ed. 858, county bonds were issued pursuant to a statute which was later declared to be unconstitutional. The United States Supreme Court held that the bonds having been illegally issued, do not constitute a contract which is protected by the Federal Constitution. 16A Am.Jur.2d, Constitutional Law, § 688, states:

"The Federal Constitution does not protect contracts which are invalid, illegal . . . That which is not an enforceable contract right is not an obligation which can be impaired within the meaning of the constitutional prohibition.

The impairment of a contract cannot occur where the alleged contract is based on a proviso contained in a void statute. A contract which rests on an unconstitutional statute is itself void and creates no obligation to be impaired by subsequent legislation."

¶18 GMC argues that the rule in Norton has long been abandoned by both the federal and state courts and this abandonment is discussed in Lemon v. Kurtzman, 411 U.S. 192, 93 S.Ct. 1463, 36 L.Ed.2d 151 (1973). In Lemon, non-public sectarian schools had performed services under a statute which was subsequently declared unconstitutional. The issue was whether the schools were entitled to be reimbursed for services performed prior to the court's holding that the statute was unconstitutional. The Supreme Court held the schools were entitled to be reimbursed for such services.

¶19 The Lemon decision is bottomed upon the theory of reliance, i.e., the schools had performed the services under a statute that had not been declared unconstitutional and for nearly two years the State and the schools proceeded to act on the assumption that the schools would continue to perform the services and that payment for such services would be made. The Court noted that the significance of the school's reliance was reinforced by the fact that State withdrew its motion for a preliminary injunction to block certain payments and did not seek injunctive relief for the suspension of payments.

¶20 The Supreme Court in Lemon, discussing the broad discretionary powers of the trial court in shaping equity decrees, said:

"The essence of equity jurisdiction has been the power of the Chancellor to do equity and to mould each decree to the necessities of the particular case. Flexibility rather than rigidity has distinguished it. The qualities of mercy and practicality have made equity the instrument for nice adjustment and reconciliation between the public interest and private needs as well as between competing private claims."

¶21 This court in effect followed the reasoning set forth in Lemon when it first considered the taxability of public trust property held under an executory contract to purchase in Dunbar. Our decision in Dunbar was promulgated in January, 1980, and was prospective in reference to taxability. In discussing the retroactive application of that decision, we said:

¶22 We are concerned here with an alleged tax exemption that the Legislature could not constitutionally grant. Surely if the Legislature is without constitutional authority to grant a tax exemption, state agencies or officials of the state could not grant such exemption. GMC was charged with notice of our Constitution and the limitations of public officials, and it may not rely on assumed authority whether such authority is assumed by the Legislature or other public officials. GMC was charged with notice of the authority of the Attorney General whose opinions may not supplant the courts. The Attorney General gives his opinion for public officials' guidance until the questions concerning them are decided by the courts. Grand River Dam Authority v. State, Okl., 645 P.2d 1011 (1982). GMC may not invoke in this proceeding the "reliance interest" discussed in Lemon.

¶23 The cases relied upon by GMC involve constitutional legislative enactments or valid contracts and it relies on the principle that "the laws which subsist at the time and place of the making of a contract, and where it is to be performed, enter into and form a part of it," United States ex rel. Von Hoffman v. The City of Quincy, [678 P.2d 238] 71 U.S. 535, 18 L.Ed. 403 (1867), quoting in Home Building and Loan Association v. Blaisdell, 290 U.S. 398, 54 S.Ct. 231, 78 L.Ed. 413, 88 A.L.R. 1481 (1934). This general statement of law cannot be disputed but it does not support GMC's position, because the purported tax abatement contract was not in accord with Oklahoma law at the time it was made.

¶24 Our decision in Dunbar is controlling in the case at bar and GMC's property is subject to ad valorem taxation unless the disputed tax abatement agreement is legally enforceable. The Federal Constitution does not protect unenforceable contract rights. The disputed agreement, even if it could be established, is void because no public official or public agency could constitutionally grant the tax exemption allegedly contained in the agreement. Since the alleged agreement is unenforceable, GMC is not entitled to the tax relief it sought.

¶25 In view of our decision here, we find it unnecessary to consider the force and effect of Art. 10, § 5 of our Constitution which prohibits the surrender of the power of taxation and requires taxes to be uniform upon the same class of subjects and the Fourteenth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

SUPPLEMENTAL OPINION ON REHEARING

PER CURIAM:

¶1 We hereby supplement the opinion of this Court of May 17, 1983 (54 O.B.J. 1351) as amended by Order of July 26, 1983 (54 O.B.J. 2068) by adding thereto the following:

¶2 A further review of Lemon v. Kurtzman, 411 U.S. 192, 93 S.Ct. 1463, 36 L.Ed.2d 151 (1973) impels the conclusion that the rule of Norton v. Shelby County, 118 U.S. 425, 6 S.Ct. 1121, 30 L.Ed. 178 (1886) (that an unconstitutional statute "confers no rights; it imposes no duties; it affords no protection; it creates no office; it is, in legal contemplation, as inoperative as though it had never been passed") was not abandoned in Lemon. Lemon merely recognized an exception to the rule of Norton to be applied by a court of equity under certain prescribed conditions. As we shall briefly demonstrate, the parameters of the Lemon exception have many times been recognized and applied by this Court; and we shall further demonstrate that those parameters are not present in the case at bar.

¶3 After striking down of Pennsylvania's statutory program to reimburse non-public sectarian schools for secular educational services in Lemon v. Kurtzman, 403 U.S. 602, 91 S.Ct. 2105, 29 L.Ed.2d 745 (Lemon
I), the Supreme Court remanded to the district court which enjoined payments for services rendered after Lemon I, but permitted reimbursement for services prior to Lemon I. Appellants challenged the scope of this decree (a case in equity).

¶4 The circumstances peculiar to Lemon II were:

¶5 1. After the statute became effective, the schools entered into the contracts in good faith, relying upon the apparent statutorial authority.

¶6 2. Thereafter, Appellants sought preliminary injunction to restrain payment under the scheme. However, Appellants abandoned their request for injunction to prevent the initial payment. The schools continued performing the services authorized by statute. Not until a motion for summary judgment was filed did Appellants first indicate their intent to seek to enjoin.

¶7 3. The schools could not, prior to Lemon I, have predicted the act's unconstitutionality with assurance sufficient to undermine Appellees' reliance on the statute. Lemon I was not "foreshadowed."

¶8 4. The schools had a "reliance interest" to be considered in fashioning an equity decree calling for a "sensible recognition of the practical realities of the situation."

¶9 5. Appellants urged a strange amalgam of flexibility and absolutism, claiming on the one hand they did not seek to have the schools disgorge prior payments, yet seeking to enjoin future payments, and urged injunction under the rule of Norton.

¶10 6. Great hardship would be imposed upon the public, state officers, school budgets and implemented school programs if the rule of Norton were to be immutably applied as of the date of the Lemon I decision.

¶11 In fashioning the equity decree in the light of the rule of Norton and of the "reliance interest" thus demonstrated, the United States Supreme Court observed, statutory or even judge-made rules of law are hard facts on which people must rely in making decisions and in shaping their conduct; until judges say otherwise, state officers have the power to carry forward the directives of the state legislature; those officials may, in some circumstances, elect to defer acting until authoritative judicial pronouncement has been secured; but where there are no fixed and clear constitutional precedents, the choice is essentially one of discretion, and state officials may rely upon the basic presumption of constitutional validity of a duly enacted statute.

¶12 The Supreme Court concluded by saying that federalism requires that federal injunction, unrelated to state courts, be shaped with concern and care for the responsibilities of the executive and legislative branches of state government. "In short, the propriety of the relief afforded Appellants by the District Court, applying familiar equitable principles, must be measured against the totality of circumstances and in light of the general principle that, absent contrary direction, state officials and those with whom they deal are entitled to rely on a presumptively valid state statute, enacted in good faith and by no means plainly unlawful."

¶13 The circumstances in the case at bar are not analagous to and, in fact, are significantly different than those in Lemon II.

¶14 a. Lemon II involved the fashioning of a decree in equity. The case at bar is a statutory proceeding (denial of protest seeking recovery of taxes paid). While our code pleading purports to abolish the distinction between actions at law and actions in equity, "A party bringing an action is required to frame his pleading in accord with some definite, certain theory, and the relief to which he claims to be entitled must be in accord therewith; on appeal he is bound by the position and theory assumed, and on which the case was heard in the trial court." Yellow Cab Company v. Allen, Okl., 377 P.2d 220 (1962), quoting from Lenz v. Young, Okl., 307 P.2d 844 (1957). A chancellor has power to do equity and mold a decree to the necessities of a particular case. U.S. v. Fogaley (C.A.Okl. 1951) 190 F.2d 163; Sinclair Oil & Gas Co.
v. Bishop, Okl., 441 P.2d 436 (1967). But in law, a trial court is limited to the particular issues framed by the pleadings. La Bellman v. Gleason & Sanders, Inc., Okl., 418 P.2d 949 (1966). In the fashioning of a judgment in law, courts are less impelled to apply principles of equity.

¶15 b. No compulsion on the part of public officials to perform statutory duties until otherwise directed by the courts is involved in the case at bar, in contrast to Lemon II.

¶16 c. General Motors Corporation had a free choice as to whether it would rely upon the opinions and representations of public officials as to the constitutionality of the non-tax "agreements." It was under no compulsion to act in reliance. It could have obtained a declaratory judgment prior to entering into the purported non-tax arrangement. Instead, it relied upon the representations in the face of the Constitution and laws of Oklahoma, and did so at its peril.

¶17 d. There is a strong suggestion of public weal involved in Lemon II and other cases in considering the force of a "reliance interest" as against the unconstitutionality of a contract or statute where prospective effect is given by court decree to a determination of unconstitutionality. In the case at bar, the reliance interest to be weighed involves General Motors Corporation's individual rights only. In Lemon II, mid-term school budgets, programs, and [678 P.2d 240] expenditures made in reliance upon a statute would invoke an extreme public hardship if abruptly terminated by a decree of unconstitutionality.

¶18 Our determination herein that the circumstances present in the case at bar do not place it within the exception enunciated in Lemon II to the rule of Norton is consistent with the prior holdings of this Court.

¶19 In Oklahoma Ed. Ass'n, Inc. v. Nigh, Okl., 642 P.2d 230 (1982), a large number of individuals acted in reliance upon the constitutionality of a statute prior to this Court's determining it to be unconstitutional.
The liability of public officials who acted in good faith reliance upon the constitutionality of the statute was likewise involved (p. 239). Both considerations impelled the Court to protect officials and citizens from liability which would result if this Court's opinion was given retrospective effect.

¶20 In State ex rel. Poulos v. State Bd. of Equal., Okl., 646 P.2d 1269 (1982) (Poulos III), and 552 P.2d 1138 (1976) (Poulos II), an unconstitutionally inequal established system of tax valuation was determined to exist. The ability of the various county governments to function, the reliance interests of great numbers of taxpayers, and the potential liability of public officials were implicitly involved. The Court in fashioning its decree made its effective date prospective.

¶21 In State v. Board of County Com'rs of Creek County, 188 Okl. 184, 107 P.2d 542 (1940), a large number of delinquent taxpayers secured a reduction of their taxes under a statute thereafter adjudged unconstitutional, while other taxpayers did not. The County Commissioners and County Treasurer continued to act under the law after the action was filed against them questioning the act's constitutionality, and after they had been advised by the Attorney General to refrain from acting under it, and after they were advised by the Attorney General that the act had been adjudged, and was, unconstitutional. During the time the defendant officers were proceeding under the act, they reduced the assessments and taxes on some 4,264 separate pieces of property. In applying what was in effect equity reliance rules, this Court said (547):

"One asserting rights under such a void law must bring himself within some established exception [to the rule of Norton]. The rule that no rights may be acquired under such a statute applies as well to rights acquired under acts performed or executed pursuant to such statute before the final determination of the unconstitutionality thereof, as to those sought to be acquired under acts performed thereunder."
In striking down the statute and in declining to ameliorate the effect of a pronouncement of unconstitutionality, this Court said (554):

"It follows that the contention of the plaintiffs must be sustained. To hold otherwise and to sustain the judgment of the trial court would be to say that constitutional inhibitions may be lightly defeated and circumvented by subordinate executive officers, acting in excess of their lawful authority, provided the acts of such officers were fully consummated before the extent of their authority is determined in the proper forum - namely the courts. This we cannot do. Such a rule would encourage citizens to rush in and get relief under a doubtful law before its validity could be tested in the courts. It would encourage hasty action on the part of administrative officers, where deliberation and caution should be encouraged instead. It would discourage the prompt payment of taxes by holding out to the taxpayers the prospect of future legislation under which they might obtain special advantages. It would open an easy avenue for the evasion and defeat of constitutional safeguards, not only in tax matters, but in others."

¶22 In Gordon v. Conner, 183 Okl. 82, 80 P.2d 322, 118 A.L.R. 783 (1938), plaintiff resident taxpayers sought recovery against the sheriff and members of the board of county commissioners under a statute [678 P.2d 241] authorizing the action to recover sums paid to the defendants pursuant to a statute thereafter determined to be unconstitutional. At issue was the weighing of the public interest in recovering sums paid out under a void statute against the duty of public officials to perform their statutory duties and their right to rely upon the statute's presumed constitutionality (p. 324):

"The sheriff, however, relying upon the provisions of the special act, appointed six deputies. In this action plaintiffs seek to recover for the county, a sum equal to the salaries paid to the two deputies from July 1, 1933, to the date of filing the suit (April 27, 1936), and a similar sum for their own use and benefit.

"The trial court held that the special act was unconstitutional, but further held that the case of Wade v. Board of Commissioners of Harmon County, 161 Okl. 245, 17 P.2d 690, was controlling of the issues involved herein. In that case, it was held: `The members of the board of county commissioners of a county will not be penalized . . . for the payment of salaries to county officers under an unconstitutional local act where such payments were made in good faith and before the law is declared unconstitutional, or before they are advised by the proper official as to its unconstitutionality.'

"No contention is made that defendants were ever advised by the proper officials as to the unconstitutionality of the special act. Plaintiffs take the position that since this court on several occasions has held similar acts to be unconstitutional, the defendants, being chargeable with a knowledge of the law, are chargeable with knowledge of the unconstitutionality of the special act involved herein. We cannot concur in this contention. The unconstitutionality of the special act involved herein had never been judicially established. Defendants were entitled to rely thereon as a source of authority for their official acts without assuming the risk of incurring heavy penalties in the event such act was subsequently declared to be in controversion of a constitutional provision and therefore invalid. The presumption is that a law is constitutional until its unconstitutionality is judicially established." (Citation omitted.)

ORDER FOR STAY OF MANDATE

¶1 THE APPLICATION FOR STAY OF MANDATE filed in this Court on the 15th day of August, 1983, by Plaintiff-Appellant, General Motors Corporation is hereby granted as follows:

¶2 THE ISSUANCE OF MANDATE IN THE ABOVE CAUSE is hereby stayed for a period of ninety (90) days from this date to allow Plaintiff-Appellant the opportunity to seek review of the judgment of this Court by the Supreme Court of the United States.

¶3 In the event that Plaintiff-Appellant proceeds to seek timely review of the judgment by the United States Supreme Court, the issuance of mandate shall continue to be stayed until such time as the United States Supreme Court makes a final determination thereof.
Defendants appeal from summary judgment rested on the second of the plaintiff's two alternative pleas for recovery, while plaintiff counter-appeals from denial of its first theory for relief.

SUMMARY JUDGMENT REVERSED AND CAUSE REMANDED

Jack E. Gordon, Gordon & Gordon, Claremore, for defendants-appellants and counter-appellees.

OPALA, Justice:

The judgment under review summarily pronounces (a) in favor of the plaintiff on its second alternative plea asserting that the fire protection district act [Act] embodies an impermissible method for levying assessments and (b) adversely to the plaintiff on its first theory of relief that is based on the facial invalidity of the Act. The issue presented by defendants-appellants is: [1] Was the method used in levying an assessment against lands in the fire protection district constitutionally permissible? The plaintiff-counter-appellant tenders another question: [2] Is the Act facially unconstitutional?

We answer the first of these questions in the affirmative. Because we hold that the Act - which provides for fire protection districts in unincorporated areas and for the levy of special assessments to finance these districts - is generally free from constitutional infirmity, our pronouncement effectively disposes of the plaintiff's claim to facial invalidity.
¶3 The Northwest Rogers County Fire Protection District [District], defendant below, was organized in accordance with the Act which provides for the creation, organization and operation of fire protection districts outside the corporate limits of any incorporated city or town but within the boundaries of a particular county. To finance the cost of fire protection, the District's board of directors levied a three-mill assessment to be uniformly applied to all property included within the district which is subjected to ad valorem taxation. The county treasurer followed by submitting an assessment billing statement to all property owners in the District. The plaintiff, Public Service Company of Oklahoma [PSO], paid the amount due under protest and then challenged the validity of the assessment in the district court. It sought summary judgment based on two alternative theories - that the Act is facially unconstitutional, and if not, that the [675 P.2d 136] assessment levied against it is fraught with constitutional infirmity when tested by the terms of Art. 10 § 7, Okl. Const.

¶4 Although the trial court upheld the constitutionality of the Act, it ruled that the method of assessment was contrary to law. This is so because the assessment was based not on a determination of benefit conferred on each parcel of property located in the District but, instead, solely on the assessed value of each property as shown by the records of the county assessor. This is the District's appeal and PSO's counter-appeal from the summary judgment.

CONSTITUTIONAL AUTHORITY FOR LEGISLATIVE ENACTMENT OF THE FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT

¶5 PSO contends here that legislative authority for the Act is derived from Art. 10 § 7, Okl. Const. That section provides:

"The Legislature may authorize county and municipal corporations to levy and collect assessments for local improvements upon property benefited thereby, homesteads included, without regard to a cash valuation." [Emphasis added]

¶6 We are not in accord with this view and hold that authority for the Act is provided, instead, by Art. 5 § 36, Okl. Const. The terms of § 36 are:

"The authority of the Legislature shall extend to all rightful subjects of legislation, and any specific grant of authority in this Constitution, upon any subject whatsoever, shall not work a restriction, limitation, or exclusion of such authority upon the same or any other subject or subjects whatsoever."

¶7 By Art. 17 § 1, Okl. Const., each county in the state is designated as a "body politic and corporate". Corporate powers of the county stand limited to those areas which are expressly assigned by the legislature. The authority for the creation of county hospitals is but one example of an explicit legislative grant to the counties.

¶8 Fire protection districts, unlike county hospitals, can be created only upon the petition of a minimum percentage of landowners whose property is located within the proposed district. After the petition is filed with the county clerk, the board of county commissioners is required to make an order organizing the district. A hearing is then held to pass upon protests to the proposed organization and the boundaries. This is followed by an election on the question of whether the district should be organized.

¶9 The functional provisions of the Act are virtually identical to the sewer improvement district act whose constitutionality was tested in Armstrong v. Sewer Improvement District No. 1, Tulsa County. There we held that sewer improvement districts "are not organized for political or governmental purposes and do not possess political or governmental powers other [675 P.2d 137] than those necessary to carry out the specific purposes for which they are created . . . [and that] [t]hey are in no sense additions to or agencies in aid of the general government of the state . . . "[11] Fire protection districts are similarly constituted. Their sole purpose is to provide benefits to property and to the owners of property within the particular districts. County government has neither substantial power over, nor responsibility for, fire protection districts.[12] The real power and responsibility is reposed in the board of directors of each district.[12]

¶10 In short, fire protection districts do not constitute "county corporations" within the meaning of Art. 10 § 7, Okl. Const. The corporate powers of fire protection districts have not been expressly assigned to county government.[12]

¶11 In Armstrong we held that the legislative authority for the sewer improvement district act[14] is derived from Art. 5 § 36, Okl. Const. We believe that the source of legislative authority for the Act here under consideration is also found in Art. 5 § 36, Okl. Const. This is so because the Act is virtually identical to the sewer improvement district legislation, except for the type of improvement provided by it. We find nothing in our fundamental law which either limits or precludes the legislature from providing for the creation of fire protection districts.

II

AN ASSESSMENT LEVIED UNDER THE FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT ACT IS A "SPECIAL ASSESSMENT"

¶12 The Act provides for the levy of annual assessments upon all property in the fire protection district.[15] The District levied an assessment based on the assessed value of property within the district as shown by the records of the county assessor.[16] PSO asserts that the District levied the assessment purely on an ad valorem basis, and this is an impermissible ad valorem tax under Art. 10 § 9, Okl. Const., or an invalid special assessment. The District counters that the levy made pursuant to the Act is properly characterized as a special assessment authorized by Art. 5 § 36, Okl. Const.

¶13 Under Art. 10 § 9, Okl. Const., the only entities authorized to levy taxes on an ad valorem basis are counties, cities, towns and school districts.[17] Both parties in suit are in accord that the fire protection districts established under the Act do not fall under the rubric of entities mentioned in this section. An attempt by the District to levy ad valorem tax in contravention of § 9 clearly would be unconstitutional.

¶14 The District asserts no ad valorem tax was levied. Instead, an assessment on an ad valorem basis was effected for the purpose of apportioning the cost of benefit which is received by the property included within the district. This assessment, we are urged, meets the definition of, and may be treated as, a special assessment.

¶15 Special assessments rest on the notion that the legislature may require owners of property receiving benefit from a local improvement project to pay for its cost.[18] Although a special assessment is a species of taxation, it is not a "tax" that is constitutionally required to be uniform throughout the state and be levied upon the general population in return for the general benefit of government.[19] Authority to levy special assessments stands confined to those instances when the property of a limited class of taxpayer-owners has received special benefit, actual or presumed, from a local improvement project.[20] The basis of the assessment clearly consists of special benefits from local improvements.[21]
¶16 Our inquiry is thus two-pronged. We must first determine whether fire protection under the Act does constitute a "local improvement" and, if so, whether a valid special assessment may be levied under the terms of the Act.

A. FIRE PROTECTION IS A LOCAL IMPROVEMENT

¶17 The term "local improvement" refers only to improvements which are in fact or, by a proper exercise of legislative discretion, may be determined to be, specially or uniquely beneficial to the property affected and thus to its owners. Local improvements which benefit a particular district within a city also may incidentally benefit the entire city. So long as the benefit to the district substantially exceeds the benefit received by the city the levy is not invalid.

¶18 According to the Act, fire protection districts must necessarily lie outside any incorporated city or town, but within a particular county. Property included within a district does therefore receive benefit which is not common to any other area in the county, and that benefit is derived from the fundamental purpose of fire protection - shielding property from destruction by conflagration.

¶19 The fire protection provided by the Act is an unique local improvement. Even though it does not manifest its physical presence upon the affected property lest a fire should arise, the personnel and equipment deployed for a constant vigil provide tangible evidence of the project's actual existence.

¶20 PSO advances several arguments against the conclusion that fire protection is a local improvement. It urges that (a) fire protection by its very nature is a general service of government because fire protection requires a "continuous revenue" for its maintenance and operation, (b) the powers and duties of the District's board of directors and its involvement in "public safety" are indicative of governmental responsibilities and (c) the Act's reference to fire protection as a "service" indicates that it is a benefit accruing to property owners rather than to the property itself.

¶21 We reject these arguments. In the circumstances here before us no legal impediment has been shown to the conclusion that fire protection may be treated as a local improvement. We deem fire protection districts established under the Act to be similar to sewer improvement districts in Armstrong. These entities do not render government services in any general sense. Nor may they exercise powers other than those necessary to conduct their specific mission for the affected land.

¶22 Because the Act authorizes fire protection to be established exclusively and specifically for the benefit of property within a limited geographic area, the project constitutes a local improvement.

B. THE ASSESSMENT WAS PROPERLY LEVIED

¶23 We next pass to consider whether assessments levied under the Act are in fact based on the special benefit to property from the local improvement.

¶24 In order to give the Act a reasonable and sensible construction in keeping with the legislature's intent, our intention must be given to the entire act. Its title provides:

[675 P.2d 140]

"An Act relating to the creation . . . of fire protection districts . . .; providing for the making of special assessments for the payment of bond principal and interest . . ." [Emphasis added]
¶25 The Act affords the opportunity for a hearing where protests are made against the creation of a district. Plans may be amended by excluding from the district any property which, in the opinion of the board of county commissioners, will not be benefited by the proposed improvement. At this hearing the board of county commissioners is forbidden to exclude areas which are "completely surrounded by lands . . . [to be] included in the proposed district". Under § 901.23 "[a]ny portion of the District which will not be benefited by remaining therein may be withdrawn from [it] . . ." [Emphasis ours]

¶26 These provisions manifest legislative intent only to benefit property that is incorporated in the district. Because all land within the district is to be subjected to annual charges, it is clear that assessments may be levied only upon specially benefited property.

¶27 Unanswered is still the question whether the method provided by the Act allows for assessments to be made in proportion to the benefit conferred.

¶28 PSO urges the Act is invalid because it does not authorize the consideration of the amount of benefit to the assessed property. We hold that an express authorization is not essential and that consideration of the quantum of benefit that accrues to property in the district is implicit in the statutory formula.

¶29 In both its original as well as in its present form § 901.11 explicitly states that the purpose for preparing appraisal record is "[t]o permit an apportionment of the cost of the benefits accruing by reason of the maintenance of fire protection . . ." [Emphasis added]. This provision necessarily implies that the amount of benefit from the fire protection provided which accrues to the property within the district is declared to be proportional to the assessed value of the property as shown by the records of the county assessor. The District properly apportioned the total annual cost of fire protection by levying assessments against the benefited property according to the assessed value.

III PROPORTIONALITY OF ASSESSMENTS TO THE BENEFITS RECEIVED

¶30 The fact that the assessments are collected on a yearly basis and are based upon the value of the property does not change their status as special assessments. The language in § 901.19 which provides that "... all assessments levied under the authority of this Act shall be a lien against the tract of land . . . and [the] . . . lien shall be coequal with the lien of ad valorem and other taxes . . ." indicates that the legislature did not intend to impose the assessments as ad valorem taxes.

¶31 For its argument that the Act is unconstitutional, PSO relies primarily upon Application of Erick Hospital District. In that case the applicant sought approval to issue bonds to pay for the cost of a hospital which would benefit the inhabitants of a district formed under the 1967 Hospital District Act. The application was denied mainly because the assessments provided therein were found not to have been based upon any special benefits to the property assessed.

¶32 Because we have determined in this case that the assessments levied by the District were based upon special benefits to the property within it, Application of Erick is not apposite here.

¶33 PSO further urges that because the Act does not contain certain safeguards which are present in the sewer improvement act upheld in Armstrong, we should hold the Act to be invalid.

¶34 The act under consideration in Armstrong provided for equalization of assessments. This provision is necessary in the sewer improvement act because assessments made thereunder are based upon the theory that all property received equal benefit. Equalization is unnecessary in the case at bar because benefit may be deemed proportional to assessed value. Other distinctions between the two acts presented by PSO are similarly unpersuasive.

¶35 The legislature has the power to provide that the entire cost of a local improvement be assessed against the lands benefited thereby, and the presumption arises that the benefits accruing to the property are declared to be equal to the cost. Such legislation is not in conflict with the Constitution. Whether the entire cost of a local improvement is apportioned upon consideration of the particular benefit to the property or of the values of such property is a matter of legislative discretion, although subject to judicial review.

¶36 Once it is determined that the affected land area does receive unique and special benefit from a fire district, what remains to be decided is whether an apportionment of the project cost among the affected landowners may be based on the assessed value of each property within the district. Since fire protection is not a physical improvement upon the land, which can be spread among properties according to some tangible benefit formula, an apportionment based on the assessed value is not impermissible. It is not at all impermissible for the legislature to found the assessment method on the principle that the more value a property has, the greater the benefit it receives from a fire protection project. The question in each instance is whether there is a rational nexus between a value-based assessment method and the amount of benefit. If the value-based assessment has a rational relationship to the question of benefit conferred, it is not unconstitutional. The necessary nexus may be found present here.

¶37 Summary judgment for PSO reversed and cause remanded for disposition in accordance with this pronouncement.

In Armstrong, plaintiffs contended the sewer improvement district act, 19 O.S. 1981 §§ 871 et seq., violated Art. 10 § 26, Okl. Const., in that it authorized the district to incur a debt in excess of five percentum of the valuation of the taxable property therein. The cost of the public sewer exceeded that percentage. The court held that the district is not a political subdivision or a corporation in the sense those terms are used in § 26 and does not fall within the restricted class. The plaintiffs in Armstrong also urged that the sewer improvement act violated Art. 12A § 1, Okl. Const. - which exempts homesteads from taxation - and Art. 10 § 5, Okl. Const., because property assessments for sewer purposes exceeded those for general purposes. The court held in favor of the sewer district because the act did not provide for ad valorem taxes, but instead, provided for special assessments levied against district property on the theory that all such property is equally benefited by the improvement.

The statutes that deal with county hospitals afford an example of an actual assignment of power to counties. The terms of 19 O.S. 1981 § 781 provide: "All counties of the State of Oklahoma are hereby authorized to issue bonds for the purpose of . . . constructing county hospitals. . ." Section 782 provides: "Upon the adoption by the County Commissioners of a resolution declaring the necessity therefor, or whenever twenty percent (20%) of the qualified voters of any county . . . shall petition the Board of County Commissioners . . . to call an election for the purpose of issuing bonds to . . . construct county hospitals, . . . said County Commissioners [shall call] an election . . ." [Emphasis added]

County officials - such as the county treasurer and county commissioners - are involved in only minor aspects of the formation and operation of the districts. See 19 O.S. 1981 §§ 901.20 and 901.24, dealing with the role of the county treasurer, § 901.11 outlining the county assessor's role and § 901.5 concerning the county commissioners (§ 901.5 was amended in 1983, Okla.Sess.L. 1983, c. 95, § 1 [95-1], p. 291). The responsibility for the actual management and operation is reposed entirely in the Board of Directors consisting of "owners of real property in, and residents of" the districts who are originally appointed by the Board of County Commissioners, but are succeeded by persons elected at the general election. See § 901.5.

Board of County Commissioners v. Warram, supra note 5 at 1040. In Warram, the court held that a valid trust in property with a government entity as a beneficiary may be created for the furtherance of any public function which the governmental entity might be authorized by law to perform. There is some language in Warram to the effect that fire protection has been assigned to a state subdivision (a county). It is pure dictum. Insofar as those expressions may be deemed inconsistent with our pronouncement today, they are to be regarded as withdrawn.

For an example of how fire protection districts function when assigned to county government, see Kansas Statutes 19-3601 et seq. and 31-301 et seq.

See also Bragdon v. City of Muskogee, supra note 23, 271 P. at 1007. In Bragdon an improvement district was created for the installation of an ornamental street lighting system in a downtown area. The court held that the assessments sought to be levied were valid and noted that "[t]he use to which [the improvement] is put by the public generally does not change its character as a local improvement, but the specific locality in which the improvement is to be placed receives an added benefit which is not common to the inhabitants of the city as a whole."

In Harrington v. City of Tulsa, 170 Okl. 20, 39 P.2d 120, 124 [1934], we held that the widening of the paving on a city street is a local improvement within the meaning of Art. 10 § 7, Okl. Const., notwithstanding such street may be a major traffic artery.

Property owners do, in fact, receive continual benefit from the project because hazard insurance premiums are significantly lower in areas where fire protection is available. An Arkansas statute, 1939 Ark. Acts, No. 183, Ark. Stat.Ann. § 20-901 [1983], which authorizes the establishment of fire protection districts similar to those under our Act proclaims the presence of the benefit component in the following preamble: "Whereas, there are areas in the state, . . . where the operation of a fire department would so reduce the insurance rates on the improved property as to more than off-set the expense of maintaining and operating such fire department, and Whereas, it is not practical to do so with volunteer contributions, . . . there is a need for the right of a majority of landowners to create a district, which would . . . be authorized to extend an assessment annually . . ."

We are not persuaded that mere legislative allusion to "public safety" in § 901.15 serves to transmogrify the intended local benefit component into a general service of government.

We do not find that the basic objective of the Act is incongruous with the provisions of § 901.15 under which a district may contract to provide fire protection service to property contiguous to its boundaries.

We are not unmindful of those opinions from other jurisdictions which hold a public library, a convention hall and a courthouse not to be local improvements. These cases are inapposite. In Heavens v. King County Rural Library District, 66 Wash.2d 558, 404 P.2d 453 [1965], the court struck down a statute authorizing the construction of public libraries via local improvement district special assessments. The court listed as examples of improvements for which special assessments could not validly be levied a courthouse, a war memorial, a public auditorium and a public school building. In Ruel v. Rapid City, 84 S.D. 79, 167 N.W.2d 541 [1969], the court held unconstitutional a statute which authorized municipal corporations to acquire and maintain public convention halls and to finance the cost by special assessment upon certain privately owned property in the district.

Stockton v. Oklahoma Tax Commission, 205 Okl. 6, 235 P.2d 286, 288 [1951].

A variety of methods for apportioning the cost of benefits without individual determination of benefit to each parcel of property have been upheld by this court and by courts in other jurisdictions:

In Sand Springs Railway Co. v. City of Tulsa, 339 P.2d 787, 789-790 [Okl. 1959], the court held that an apportionment of assessment for local improvements on a front footage basis was not a deprivation of property without due process of law. In St. Louis-San Francisco Ry. Co. v. City of Tulsa, 170 Okl. 398, 41 P.2d 116, 118 [1935], the court recognized the validity of an assessment that was graduated according to the distance from the improved street. The use of a mathematical formula in apportioning an assessment was not inherently arbitrary or oppressive. In Dodson v. City of Ulysses, 219 Kan. 418, 549 P.2d 430, 432 [1976], the court applied a statute (KSA 12-608) which contemplated that assessments made for improvements under the general paving law (KSA 12-601 et seq.) were to be apportioned according to the value of the land liable for assessment. In City of Highland Park v. Edward Hines Lumber Co., 130 Ill.App.2d 664, 265 N.E.2d 408, 409 [1970], plaintiffs contended that the levy of assessment to pay the cost of pavement, curbs, gutters and sidewalks was "nothing more than a front foot assessment" rather than assessment on the basis of benefits received by the private owners. The court held that where there was no prescribed method, plan or basis for the levying of a special assessment, the assessor was not precluded from taking front footage into consideration as an element of fixing the amount of the assessment. In Bitter v. City of Lincoln, 165 Neb. 201, 85 N.W.2d 302, 304, 307 [1957], the court held that in the absence of legislation defining a method for ascertaining benefits to property accruing from a public improvement, the fact that a zone system was adopted and used and that the total amount of the assessments was equal to the cost of the improvement does not establish that benefits were not considered and determined or that the assessments were illegal. In Mullins v. City of El Dorado, 200 Kan. 336, 436 P.2d 837, 840 [1968], although the statute did not prescribe a specific method for apportioning the costs of a sewer improvement, the municipality was allowed to adopt any fair and equitable plan that will bring about an assessment in proportion to the benefits accruing. The assessment of costs in proportion to the value of the tracts of land without improvements thereon was held to be proper. Cf. Oklahoma City v. Shields, 22 Okl. 265, 100 P. 559, 574 [1908].

In Application of Erick Hospital District, supra note 21, 444 P.2d at 220-221, no determination was made of whether a hospital constitutes a local improvement. The assessments were invalidated because (1) the hospital district act provided no standard as to what real property was to be included within the boundaries of the hospital district and (2) the boundaries were fixed on a purely arbitrary basis. Application of Erick is supportive of our pronouncement today because the Act at bar does provide adequate standards for fixing the boundaries of a fire protection district. These boundaries, in effect, determine what property shall receive benefit from the fire protection.

These consolidated actions challenge the scheme of ad valorem tax assessment of personal property in Woodward County. Under this scheme used by the County Assessor, assessment ratios varying from 15% to 27% of value were applied to various items of personal property. The essence of appellants' position on appeal is that this application of different rates of taxation to personal property, with its resulting unequal tax burdens, is arbitrary and unconstitutional in two ways: First, because all tangible personal property should be assessed at the same ratio; second, because all property subject to ad valorem taxation, whether real or personal, should be assessed at the same ratio. Appellants also contend that they should be entitled to interest on any tax paid under protest and subsequently refunded.

¶2 Appellants, Oklahoma Nitrogen Company and Bison Nitrogen Company, brought actions below pursuant to 68 O.S.Supp. 1965 § 2469 , to obtain refunds of ad valorem taxes paid under protest for taxes assessed on real and personal property for 1980 and 1981. Various real property and personal property assessments were challenged based on variations in assessment ratios. Following its previous decision in an earlier action, Oklahoma Nitrogen Company v. Lucas, (Dist.Ct.No. C-80-212) brought by plaintiff, Oklahoma Nitrogen Company, to challenge only the real property assessment variations of 14% to 25% of use value in Woodward County, the trial court held in favor of plaintiffs on the real property issues.

¶3 Plaintiffs argued below, as they do here, that it is unconstitutional to allow different assessment percentages to be imposed on various types of personal property and to allow different assessment ratios on personal and real property. They urged the trial court to extend the holding of Cantrell v. Sanders, Okl., 610 P.2d 227 (1980) and the trial court's earlier decision in Lucas to personal property. In Cantrell, we held that real property remains one class of subjects and that the assessment percentage rate upon that class of subjects must be uniform under article 10, § 5 of our Constitution, even if different use classifications are used to value the property. We therefore struck the Tulsa County Assessor's scheme of applying eight different assessment percentages to some fourteen categories of property, holding the unequal burden of taxation to be unconstitutional. Cantrell, however, was concerned exclusively with real property. The trial court in each case refused to extend the application of Cantrell, to personal property, finding different treatment of real and personal property well recognized in the law of many areas, including taxation. The court found that the long-standing method of personal property valuation by use classification with varying assessment ratios was acceptable and denied plaintiffs' requested relief.

¶4 On appeal, the Court of Appeals reversed the trial court in No. 57,477, holding Cantrell controlling and finding that Cantrell and Poulos v. State Board of Equalization, Okl., 646 P.2d 1269 (1982), required the same assessment ratio to be applied to real and personal property. Certiorari has been previously granted. The decision of the Court of Appeals is vacated; the trial court is affirmed in part and reversed in part. The trial courts' judgments in No. 59,102 consolidated with No. 59,103, are affirmed in part and reversed in part. These actions are considered together with No. 57,477 in this opinion.

¶5 The record shows that the County Assessor adopted a "use" classification scheme for assessing personal property for ad valorem taxation, and variable assessment ratios were applied to different property. Irrigation equipment, for example, received tax treatment different from grain elevators and water beds.

¶6 It is beyond argument that real property in this state is but one class of taxable property with valuation for the different classifications of property fixed according to its use. Article 10, § 8 provides that all real property must be assessed according to its use value.

¶7 There is no similar provision for "use" classification of personal property. There is no constitutional or statutory provision to authorize the use classification scheme used by the County Assessor to tax different types of personal property at varying rates. Article 10, § 8 does not set out a classification standard for personal property. The first sentence of that section states "All property which may be taxed ad valorem shall be assessed for taxation at its fair cash value, . . ." A ceiling rate of 35% of that "fair cash value" is established. The second part of that section provides for "use value" exception of real property already discussed. No exception for personal property is made, nor may one be assumed without reading more into the constitution than was placed there by the people.

¶8 Article 10, § 8 makes a distinction between two classes of property: personal property and real property. Accepting that personal property is one "class" of property within § 8, and that use value in differences assessments are not authorized by law, it therefore follows that the Woodward County Assessor's practice of taxing personal property at varying rates is contrary to the controlling provisions of article 10, § 5. That section provides that taxes "shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects."
Appellants next argue that fundamental notions of equity, basic taxation concepts, the State Constitution and Constitution of the United States require that the same assessment ratio be applied to realty and personally so that all property be subject to an equal tax burden. Appellants argue that we explicitly recognized that premise in the language of Poulos v. St. Bd. of Equalization, Okl., 646 P.2d 1269 (1982), and implicitly recognized it in the [738 P.2d 150] rationale of Cantrell v. Sanders, Okl. 610 P.2d 227 (1980). Appellants contend that it is discriminatory and arbitrary to treat tangible personal property and real property of the same value in a different manner. They argue that the fundamental concept of ad valorem taxation requires equal tax burdens based upon value and that no distinction should be drawn between real and personal property. Appellants contend that with the following language from Poulos, 646 P.2d at 1273, this Court recognized and became committed to that rule:

“There being no valid reason shown for not adopting the 12% ratio, as recommended by the Commission, we hereby determine by judicial decree that all property within the state of Oklahoma subject to ad valorem taxes shall be taxed at 12% of its taxable value with permissible inter-county deviations of not more than 3% above or below the mean, and that said percentage shall apply to the 1982 tax year and thereafter until such time as the same shall be changed by the recommendation of the Commission and the determination by the Board based upon good and sufficient valid, legal grounds as provided in 68 O.S. 1971 § 2463.” (Emphasis supplied).

Then the Court set out the following from Poulos I, State, ex rel., Poulos v. State Board of Equalization, Okl., 552 P.2d 1134, 1137 (1975):

“Although a precise uniformity is not required [see Board of County Commissioners of Canadian County v. State Board of Equalization, 363 P.2d 242 (Okl. 1961)], a rate which is inherently and basically fair to all citizens is mandated by the Constitutions of the United States and the State of Oklahoma. It is patently clear that to meet the standards of the Constitution and of the statutes, the adjustment and equalization of the valuation of real and personal properties of all the several counties of this state must be made on an annual and uniform basis.” (Emphasis supplied.)

Additionally, appellants contend that the rationale of Cantrell also recognized this Court's inclination to adopt such a position. Appellants are in error. While it is true that Poulos mentioned personal property, that inclusion was at most mere dicta. Any mention in passing of all property or personal property within that, or other decisions, certainly cannot be taken to stand for this Court's direction as to a subject not before us. Cantrell and the Poulos trilogy were involved exclusively with real property and its assessment and valuation; personal property was not an issue. There is no requirement under our Constitution or statutory scheme for identical treatment of real and personal property. As discussed above, under our constitution, all personal property must be assessed at the same ratio, just as real property must be assessed at the same ratio. There is not, however, a requirement that real property and personal property must be assessed at the same ratio. Appellants' reliance on out-of-state authority such as City of Savannah v. Weed, Ga., 84 Ga. 683, 11 S.E. 235 (1890), to support their position, is unpersuasive. That clear minority view is dependent on the particular constitutional provisions of Georgia, and those other few states, which require that all taxable property be of only one class. Our constitution contains no provision which would require assessment of real and personal property at the same rate, and our legislature has not seen fit to enact such a provision.

Neither do appellants present a convincing argument as to a federal constitutional requirement of equal treatment of personal and real property tax burdens. Appellants present no authority to substantiate such a claim and we are aware of none. For an interesting discussion by the Supreme Court to the contrary, see Thomas v. Gay, 169 U.S. 264, 18 S.Ct. 340, 346, 42 L.Ed. 740 (1898), wherein the Supreme Court, reviewing an act passed by the legislative assembly of the Oklahoma Territory which taxed the cattle of non-Indian lessees on Indian reservations but not the real property of the reservation, pointed out that it is not an objection to the validity of a tax act that personal property only and not real property is taxed. It is, the Court noted, the "usual course in tax laws to treat personal property as one class and real estate as [738 P.2d 151] another, and it has never been supposed that such a classification create an illegal discrimination . . ."
¶12 It is well settled that where taxation is concerned, and no specific federal right, apart from equal protection is involved, states have great leeway in making classifications and drawing lines which in their judgment produce reasonable systems of taxation. Also, a state taxation scheme will not be held to be arbitrary although it discriminates against a certain class, if that discrimination is founded upon a reasonable distinction or difference in state policy which does not conflict with the Federal Constitution. The Fourteenth Amendment does not impose an iron-clad rule of equality which prohibits flexibility and variety that are appropriate to schemes of taxation. See e.g., Madden v. Kentucky, 309 U.S. 83, 60 S.Ct. 406, 84 L.Ed. 590 (1940); Lehnhausen v. Lake Shore Auto Parts Co., 410 U.S. 356, 93 S.Ct. 1001, 35 L.Ed.2d 351 (1973); Allied Stores of Ohio, Inc. v. Bowers, 358 U.S. 522, 79 S.Ct. 437, 3 L.Ed.2d 480 (1959). In this regard, see also McLoud Telephone v. State Board of Equalization, Okl., 655 P.2d 1037 (1982).

¶13 Appellants have also asked this Court to hold them entitled to interest on any excess taxes paid under protest, The rule in State ex rel. Okla. Employment Security Commission v. Sanders, Okl., 304 P.2d 287 (1956) applies. Appellants are not entitled to any interest on overpaid tax monies prior to the rendition of a final judgment.

¶14 We affirm the trial court's judgments insofar as they distinguish between real and personal property, but, we reverse the trial court's judgment regarding personal property. The actions are remanded with directions to proceed in a manner not inconsistent with the views expressed in this opinion.

Footnotes:

1 That earlier decision was appealed to this Court, and although our review was confined to the question of whether a taxpayer who pays ad valorem taxes without protest was limited to seeking relief under 68 O.S.Supp. 1965 § 2469, or could bring an action under 68 O.S. 1971 § 2479, we recognized the unconstitutionality of the real property taxation scheme of Woodward County. We held there that a taxpayer who pays taxes without protest under an ad valorem system which is unconstitutional, must bring its action under § 2469. Oklahoma Nitrogen v. Lucas, Okl., 655 P.2d 1031 (1983).

BAILEY, Judge

¶1 Appellant George C. Keyes, Oklahoma County Assessor (Assessor), seeks review of the Trial Court’s order finding that improvements to certain real property leased by Appellee Penn Square Mall Ltd. Partnership (Penn Square) should be assessed as real property. Herein, Assessor urges that the questioned property should be assessed as personal property.

¶2 Penn Square consists of buildings on and other improvements to real property, which real property is owned by third-parties and subject to a long-term lease in favor of Penn Square. In 1989, and again in 1990, Assessor proposed to assess Penn Square at the 15% value ratio for personal property based on the fair cash value thereof. Penn Square filed protest of these assessments with the Oklahoma County Board of Equalization. Although the Board reduced the fair cash value, it affirmed assessment of Penn Square at the 15% value ratio for personal property instead of 11% for real property.

¶3 Penn Square appealed to the District Court. The parties stipulated to Penn Square’s value, and submitted the issue of whether the Penn Square should be assessed as real or personal property to the District Court by motion for summary judgment on undisputed facts. The District Court granted summary judgment to Penn Square, determining Penn Square should be assessed as real property. Assessor appeals as aforesaid.

¶4 Herein, Assessor contends that because the subject matter of the assessments is improvements to real property not owned by Penn Square, such improvements should be treated as personal property. Under the cited authority, Assessor asserts the improvements to Penn Square are “simply not subject to” the same mode and rule of taxation as other property and, therefore, are included in this statutory definition of personal property.
¶5 We find Assessor's argument unpersuasive. The statute defines personal property as improvements upon lands owned by a railway company or other corporation whose property is not subject to the same mode and rule of taxation as other property. In Assessor's cited case, the improvements taxed as personal property were built on real property owned by Indian tribes whose property was not subject to the same mode and rule of taxation as other property; i.e., Indian real property was tax exempt. In the instant case, Assessor does not argue - nor does the record indicate - that the real property which Penn Square leased and upon which it added improvements is not subject to taxation as other property. Moreover, the real property leased by Penn Square is owned by private third-parties, not a railway company or corporation. Because a tax statute must be strictly construed and cannot be extended to include something not specifically included in its language,4 we reject Assessor's proposition.

¶6 For ad valorem tax purposes, the term "real property" includes the property itself and "all buildings, structures and improvements or other fixtures of whatsoever kind thereon, exclusive of such machinery and fixtures on the same as are, for the purpose of ad valorem taxation, defined as personal property."5 As applied to the instant case, we find the improvements on the real property leased by Penn Square as outside the definition of personal property for ad valorem tax purposes. We further find the statutory definition of real property dispositive as including within its purview the improvements to the real property leased by Penn Square. We therefore find no error by the District Court in determining Penn Square be assessed at the rate for real, not personal, property.

¶7 The order of the Trial Court is therefore AFFIRMED.

1 The District Court consolidated the appeals as to both the 1989 and 1990 assessments.

2 For purposes of assessment of ad valorem tax, section 2420, Title 68 O.S. (Supp. 1990) defines personal property as including "all improvements including elevators and other structures, upon lands, the title to which is vested in any railway company or other corporation whose property is not subject to the same mode and rule of taxation as other property. . . ."

3 As illustrative of the application of 68 O.S. § 2420 (and the predecessor statute), Assessor cites Central Coal & Lumber Company v. Board of Equalization, 70 Okl. 131, 173 P. 442 (1918). In that case, a private corporation leased from two Indian tribes a parcel of real property exempt from taxation. The corporation built houses on the property which were found to be taxable as personal property because the real property upon which the houses were built was owned by Indian tribes and not subject to taxation as other property.

MEMORANDUM OPINION

JONES, Judge

¶1 Appellants Tax Protesters (Protesters) seek review of an order of the Court of Tax Review (Tax Court) overruling protest and approving budget.

FACTS

¶2 At trial, all parties agreed to the following pertinent facts. The South Oklahoma City Area School District is a vocational-technical school district which provides vocational and technical education programs to post secondary students as prescribed by the State Board of Vocational-Technical Education. This district was created in 1970 by resolution of the Board of Trustees of South Oklahoma City Junior College (now Oklahoma City Community College) pursuant to 70 O.S. 1968 Supp. _ 4410 . Metro Area Vocational Technical School District No. 22, (Metro Tech) is a vocational-technical school district which provides vocational and technical education programs to secondary, post secondary, and adult students also as prescribed by the State Board of Vocational-Technical Education. Its boundaries are coterminous with the boundaries of the Oklahoma City School District, and a portion of the defined boundaries of Metro Tech overlap a portion of the pre-existing boundaries of South Oklahoma City Area School District. The area of overlap of the two school districts is located in Oklahoma County.
Pursuant to separate elections authorized by Article X, Section 9B(A) of the Oklahoma Constitution, the voters of both South Oklahoma City Area School District and Metro Tech District approved five mill operational levies at different times for the purpose of providing funds to operate each district and these operational levies continue in effect on an annual basis until repealed by the voters of each respective district. These operational levies are not at issue in the present case. However, on April 10, 1990, the qualified voters of the Metro Tech District, including a majority of the voters in the overlap area approved the imposition of a five mill incentive levy on all the taxable property within its boundaries. This incentive levy must be approved each time it is requested, and it can only be authorized for one fiscal year at a time. County officials have certified the 5 mill incentive levy on all taxpayers within the limits of Metro Tech District, including those in the overlap area. The Budget of Metro Tech District for 1990-1991 was filed with the State Auditor and Inspector on September 14, 1990, requesting a 5 mill incentive levy for its entire district, including the overlapping boundary area. The protest in Tax Court was filed on September 17, 1990, questioning the legality of the incentive levy.

Protesters assert as their first proposition of error that the Tax Court erred in interpreting and applying case law, citing Moore-Norman Area Vocational-Technical School District v. Board of Trustees, 519 P.2d 497 (Okl. 1974), as controlling. Protesters maintain that Moore-Norman stands for the proposition that in an area of overlap, only the first school district created would have the authority to impose a levy. We do not read Moore-Norman as so restrictive, and neither did the Court below.

Moore-Norman dealt with an operation levy, which remains in effect until repealed by a vote of the people. The present case pertains to an incentive levy, which must be re-approved yearly by the registered voters of the school district. In Moore-Norman, the "overlap" area was being double taxed by the two different school districts and the Oklahoma Supreme Court ruled that Okla. Const. Art. X, 9B does not contemplate the imposition of a tax levy in the overlap area of two area school districts in excess of that authorized for a single school district. Moore-Norman, 519 P.2d at 502.

Since Moore-Norman was decided in 1974, the Metro Tech School District has been created and Art. X, 9B has been amended to authorize incentive levies. At present, only the Metro Tech School District has implemented the 5 mill incentive levy and the citizens of the "overlap" area are not subject to double taxation. South Oklahoma City area School District has not yet passed an incentive levy and therefore the issue of uniformity of taxes, Okla. Const. Art. X, 5, is not before us. Protesters present no other authority in support of their position and we affirm the trial court on this point.

Protesters next argue that the legislative history of Art. X, 9B shows the intent of the Legislature to allow overlapping area school districts for taxation purposes only where one district is entirely subsumed by another. This proposition of error is without merit for the following reasons.

Both sides have thoroughly briefed the extensive changes in the amendment in question, from its inception to the present. On May 24, 1966, Article X, Section 9B of the Oklahoma Constitution was created and adopted by a vote of the people on State Question No. 434. The original amendment authorized school districts to establish a 5 mill "operational" levy which continues in perpetuity until specifically repealed by a vote of the people in the district, as authorized by subsection (d) thereof. In 1984, the State Legislature amended Art. X, 9B to authorize a 5 mill "incentive" levy in addition to other levies previously authorized:

B. In addition to any other levies authorized by this section, an area school district may make a local incentive levy for the benefit of the area school district in an amount not to exceed five (5) mills on the dollar valuation of the taxable property in the area school district when approved by a majority of those registered voters of the area school district voting on the question at an election called for that purpose. Any funds generated pursuant to the provisions of this subsection shall not be charged against state appropriated funds. (Emphasis added.)
¶9 We confine our review to the amendments in effect on April 10, 1990, the date the voters of Metro Tech District voted the imposition of a 5 mill incentive levy.

¶10 There appears to be no Oklahoma Supreme Court case specifically construing the revised provisions of _9B. Generally the object of construction, applied to a constitution, is to give effect to the intent of its framers and of the people adopting it. This intent is to be found in the instrument itself, and when the text of a constitutional provision is not ambiguous, the courts, in giving construction thereto are not at liberty to search for its meaning beyond its instrument. Draper v. State, 621 P.2d 1142 (Okl. 1980). There is no room for construction or provision for further inquiry when the Constitution plainly speaks. A constitutional amendment should be construed in consideration of its purpose and be given a practical interpretation to carry out the plainly manifested purpose of the people who adopted it. Smith ex rel., State v. State Bd. of Equalization, 630 P.2d 1264, 1267 (Okl. 1981).

¶11 On review of the pertinent part of Art. X, _9B, here under construction, and applying this rationale, we find no language or indication that would warrant reversal of the Tax Court. The Legislature clearly intended to authorize an "incentive" levy in addition to other levies when approved by the voters in a school area. There are no stated exceptions. We refuse to restrict the clear intent of the Legislature and we refuse to find an interpretation as advocated by Protesters in their second proposition of error.

¶12 Further, we are cognizant of attempts by the Legislature to clarify or amend Art. X, _9B, pending litigation of the present action. Legislative intent cannot be determined from extrinsic aids when the statute speaks plainly and the statute's meaning must be accepted. Mindemann v. Ind. School Dist. No. 6 of Caddo County, 771 P.2d 996, (Okl. 1989); Humphrey v. Denney, 757 P.2d 833, 835 (Okl. 1988); Ind. School Dist. v. Okl. City Fed of Teachers, 612 P.2d 719, 723 (Okl. 1980). A subsequent Legislature has no authority to place a legislative construction upon an existing legislative act:

If it was intended solely as a legislative construction of a previous existing statute, then it is of no effect whatever. A subsequent Legislature has no authority to construe an existing statute enacted by a previous Legislature and make such construction binding upon the judiciary.

Board of Comm'rs of Cherokee Co. v. Hatfield, 121 Okl. 28, 247 P. 77 (1926).

The Legislature has no power to direct the judiciary in the interpretation of existing statutes. The legislative intent that controls in the construction of a statute has reference to the Legislature which enacted the act.

¶13 We therefore do not accept protesters attempt to establish the meaning of the prior Art. X, _9B by reference to later amendments in an argument that states the Legislature was merely clarifying its original intent by passing later, more restrictive provisions.

¶14 AFFIRMED.

¶0 Appeal from order of trial court entering a permanent injunction prohibiting the Tulsa County Board of Equalization and each of its members from equalizing, correcting or adjusting the assessed valuation of any real property on any basis other than in conformity to the fair cash value of the property.

JUDGMENT OF TRIAL COURT AFFIRMED.

J. Douglas Mann, Jerry A. Richardson, Rosenstein, Fist & Ringold, Tulsa, for appellees.

SUMMERS, Justice.

¶1 Six independent Tulsa County school districts filed a petition in the District Court requesting an injunction to prohibit the Tulsa County Board of Equalization and its members from equalizing, correcting or adjusting the value of any real property in Tulsa County, as part of the statutory equalization process, in any manner or fashion other than to conform to the actual fair cash value of said property as defined by law.

¶2 On April 17, 1984, following a hearing the trial court entered a temporary injunction. After receiving stipulations, additional evidence and arguments the court entered a permanent injunction on June 7, 1984 which granted the school districts the relief they requested. The Board appealed to this court.
¶3 The issue on appeal is whether the trial court committed error by enjoining the Board and its members from equalizing property values in Tulsa County on any basis other than in conformity with the fair cash value of the property. We hold that it did not, and affirm.

FACTS

¶4 In early 1984 the Tulsa County Board of Equalization began receiving protests from certain homeowners upset over the size of their tax bills. Homes built after 1979 were on assessment rolls at 100 percent of their sale prices, as compared to pre-1979 homes which were on the assessment rolls at 40 to 50 percent of their fair cash value. On March 16, 1984, in response to the protests, the Board instituted a policy of lowering the assessed values of the protestants' post-1979 residences to approximately the same levels as similar residences with pre-1979 values. The Board took each protest on an individual basis. The protestor presented the Board with valuations of other homes of comparable value to his home and substantiated that with the sale prices, which the Board used as a guide for reducing the valuation of the protestor's property. The Board's actions of lowering post-1979 homes to pre-1979 valuations levels did not conform to the fair cash values of those properties. The Board actions resulted in equalizing taxes of similarly situated residences without regard to whether or not the properties under protest would be revalued at their fair cash values.

¶5 The Board contends that it was trying to inject fairness into the levels of assessment between the post-1979 and the pre-1979 residences. The Board indicated that it was constrained to lower the values of post-1979 homes because of lack of revaluation of pre-1979 homes in the county. The Board stated its actions were taken as a result of the county assessor's failure or refusal to revalue certain property within the county. The Board asserts that the assessor's policy was that homes built prior to 1979 would not be placed on the assessment rolls at their market values until the 1987 assessor year.

¶6 The school districts showed that they would suffer substantial financial detriment from the loss of tax revenues if the Board was allowed to adjust values of post-1979 homes to below their fair cash values. Tulsa County had approximately 17,000 to 25,000 residences built after 1978 that would have been eligible under the Board's policy to have their assessed values lowered. Lowering the assessed values of homes within those school districts would lower the amount of revenues available for general and building funds. Millage rates for the general fund and the building fund are fixed, so that when the rates are applied against lower valuations, the revenues go down. If reduction in values occurred, the sinking fund would suffer, because most school districts were already at the maximum debt level and the sinking fund rate could not be increased to make up the loss in revenue.

I.

¶7 The principal duties of county boards of equalization are prescribed by 68 O.S.Supp. 1986 § 2459 and include the following:

"[T]o equalize, correct, and adjust the assessed valuation of real and personal property, by raising or lowering the [743 P.2d 1078] valuation of the property, real or personal, of any taxpayer, to conform to the fair cash value of said property, as defined by law. . . ."

Art. 10, § 8 of the Oklahoma Constitution states that

"All property which may be taxed ad valorem shall be assessed for taxation at its fair cash value."

¶8 Fair cash value of property for ad valorem tax purposes as defined by law is the price the property would bring at a fair voluntary sale between a purchaser willing but not obliged to buy the property would pay an owner willing but not obliged to sell it, taking into consideration its current use. Bliss Hotel Co. v. Thompson, 378 P.2d 319, 321 (Okl. 1962). Fair cash value is synonymous with fair market value. Id. The Board admitted that this was the definition of fair cash value it had used in equalizing property prior to its decision on March 16, 1984 to equalize the assessed values of post-1979 residences with the values of comparable pre-1979 residences. The Board disregarded fair cash values when lowering the valuations of post-1979 homes.

¶9 In Cantrell v. Sanders, 610 P.2d 227, 229 (Okl. 1980) the Court stated that the authority of the Board was limited:

"Assessment involves two steps: (1) the valuation of property, and (2) the application of an assessment percentage to that value. The result is the 'assessed valuation.' A county board of equalization may 'equalize, correct and adjust the assessed valuation of real and personal property,' but only 'by raising or lowering the valuation . . . to conform to the fair cash value thereof . . .'" (Emphasis by the Court.)

¶10 The statute setting forth the power, authority and duties of the county boards of equalization is not vague. Oklahoma law requires that county boards of equalization equalize assessed property values to conform to the fair cash values of such properties. The Board's decision to lower valuations of post-1979 homes to levels of comparable pre-1979 homes was clearly in violation of the statutorily prescribed duties of county boards of equalization.

II.

¶11 The Board contends that the decision of the district court should be reversed because enjoining the Board to comply with adjusting valuations to conform to the fair cash value violates the uniformity requirement of Art. 10, § 5 of the Oklahoma Constitution.

¶12 Art. 10, § 5 of the Oklahoma Constitution provides that "taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects." This court has held that the uniformity provision "obviously relates to the rate of taxation, and means that all property of the same class shall be taxed at the same rate of taxation. . . ." Blake v. Young, 128 Okl. 153, 261 P. 923, 925 (1927).

See also Board of County Commissioners of Canadian County v. State Board of Equalization, 363 P.2d 242, 246 (Okl. 1961); Continental Oil Co. v. State Board of Equalization, 570 P.2d 315 (Okl. 1977).

¶13 In the instant case it is the assessed valuation that is in dispute and not the rate of taxation. Therefore the uniformity requirement of the Oklahoma Constitution is not violated by the trial court's injunction prohibiting adjustments of assessed valuation except in conformance to fair cash value.

III.

¶14 The Board next alleges a violation of the Equal Protection Clause of the 14th Amendment to the United States Constitution. The Board argues that where it is impossible to comply with both the Equal Protection Clause of the United States Constitution and the state valuation requirements that property be assessed to conform to the fair cash value, the Equal Protection Clause takes precedence over the state requirements. The Board relies on Sioux City Bridge Co. v. Dakota County, 260 U.S. 441, 43 S.Ct. 190, 192, 67 L.Ed. 340 (1923) where the United States Supreme Court stated the following principle:

"[W]here it is impossible to secure both the standards of the true value, and the uniformity and equality required by law, the latter requirement is to be preferred as the just and ultimate purpose of the law."

See also Appeal of National Bank of Tulsa, 312 P.2d 495, 498 (Okl. 1957). Sioux City Bridge Co. held that the individual taxpayer whose property alone is taxed at 100 percent of its true value should be allowed to have his assessment reduced to the percentage at which other properties are taxed, even though this is a departure from the state statute. Sioux City Bridge Co. requires systematic and intentional discrimination to establish a violation of the Equal Protection Clause:

"[M]ere errors of judgment do not support a claim of discrimination, but that there must be something more, - something which, in effect, amounts to an intentional violation of the essential principle of practical uniformity." Id.

¶15 In further support of the Equal Protection argument appellants cite Mid-Continent Bldg. Co. v. Bd. of Equalization, 88 P.2d 626, 627 (Okl. 1939) wherein this Court stated:

"This (equal protection) argument would be applicable if appellant had shown before the Board of Equalization that other property of like grade and quality in Tulsa was not assessed at a higher rate than 55 percent of its actual cash value [for an assessment year in which protestant's property was valued at or near one hundred percent (100%) of its fair cash value]."

¶16 Also in support of this proposition appellants cite Appeal of National Bank of Tulsa, 312 P.2d 495, 497 (Okl. 1957)

"An assessment at a higher evaluation than other real estate of like grade and quality within the county would constitute a violation of appellant's constitutional rights."

¶17 In Sioux City Bridge Co., supra the Supreme Court of United States said that if systematic and intentional discrimination existed such would constitute a denial of equal protection. The case was remanded to the district court to determine whether such systematic and intentional discrimination existed. Mid-Continent Bldg. Co. and National Bank of Tulsa are cases which represented the law prior to the enactment of the statutory scheme set forth in 68 O.S. 1981 § 2481.1. That is the statute wherein a comprehensive program of revaluation of taxable property and a schedule therefor was set forth. Since the enactment of that statutory scheme this Court addressed the issue that is before us in Melvin v. Dunn, 607 P.2d 694, 696 (Okl. 1980) wherein we stated:

"[T]he assessor is required to add the latest valuation of property to the tax rolls without delaying until all property has been revalued. We refuse the equal protection argument offered as proof of the invalidity of such procedure. The current statute, 68 O.S. 1971 § 2481.1 provides for and requires evaluation at regular intervals. All property must be valued every five years under the last cited section. If such revaluation proceeds through the several classes of property in the same order as the last, all property will be valued every five years and it does not matter when the process begins, but Section 2481.1 clearly provides that the process must be begun every five years. All property is revalued regularly and that process must have a starting point. If, as appellants urge, all revaluations are ineffective [743 P.2d 1080] until the completion of the five year revaluation, the same result obtains from the taxpayer's standpoint, and that result is revaluation every five years. Only the state's position would be changed by such a procedure and the change would be a tax evaluation that were perpetually five years behind the times. All taxpayers holdings are revalued every five years; there is no unequal treatment and thus no violation on equal protection."

¶18 We held in Melvin v. Dunn that revaluing property in different years does not violate the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment. The taxpayer in Melvin claimed he was being denied equal protection because his property was revalued and placed on the tax rolls at the higher value before other properties in the county. We found that there was no unequal treatment, and therefore no violation of equal protection. We stated:

"Every journey must have a starting point." Id. at 697.
§19 Section 2481.1 requires that each assessor shall establish and maintain a revaluation schedule which will result in revaluation of all taxable payroll within each county at least once each five years. With all taxable property being revalued at its fair cash value there is no systematic nor intentional discrimination within the statutory scheme. Therefore, the statutory scheme, if followed, will not result in unequal protection to the taxpayers. This opinion does not address the question of whether or not the County Assessor of Tulsa County has discharged her statutory duties under the statutory scheme, as the Assessor is not a party here nor is the issue before us in this case.

§20 The district court was correct in enjoining the Board from equalizing, correcting or adjusting the assessed valuation of any real property on any other basis than in conformity to the fair cash value of the property. The constitutional, statutory and caselaw authorities clearly require the county boards of equalization to equalize real property values to conform to their fair cash value. The Board's decision to lower valuations below their fair cash values violates the dictates of these authorities.

§21 The Board's constitutional argument is without merit. The uniformity provision of the Oklahoma Constitution has not been violated, because this Court has held that the uniformity provision relates to the rate of taxation and not to the valuation of property, Blake v. Young. The Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment has not been violated because, as we said in Melvin v. Dunn, revaluing property in different years does not deny the taxpayer equal protection.

Footnotes:

1 A. Each county assessor shall commence, immediately if possible, but no later than January 1, 1969, a comprehensive program of revaluation of all taxable property within his respective county. Such program shall progress at a rate which will result in the revaluation of all taxable property within the county before January 1, 1972. Each assessor shall thereafter maintain an active and systematic program of revaluation on a continuous basis, and shall establish a revaluation schedule which will result in revaluation of all taxable property within the county at least once each five (5) years. A copy of such revaluation schedule showing the time and procedures to be followed in completing the first revaluation of property in his county by January 1, 1972, shall be filed by each assessor with the Oklahoma Tax Commission before October 15, 1968.

Note: This section has been amended effective October 1, 1984. This amendment would not be applicable to this case nor does it alter our holding herein.
¶0 This is an appeal by both parties from an order entered by the trial court following our grant of a writ of mandamus that directed the trial court to determine what amounts, if any, Kansas City Life Insurance Company owed on a judgment for $1,000,000.00 actual damages and $20,000,000.00 punitive damages entered against Billy D. Stearman. The trial court had at first refused to rule on the issue and directed the parties to seek a writ of mandamus from this Court that would direct the trial court how to rule on the issue. Both parties sought such a writ, and we issued a writ of mandamus, but declined to tell the trial court how to rule on the issue in advance of the trial court considering it. The trial court then entered judgment against Kansas City Life based on the Stearman judgment. The trial court ordered the amount of the punitive damages portion of the Stearman judgment payable by Kansas City Life reduced to $1,000,000.00. Kansas City Life appeals from the entry of any part of the Stearman judgment against it, and the Pelters appeal from the reduction of the $20,000,000.00 punitive damages award to $1,000,000.00. The Pelters move to dismiss Kansas City Life's appeal as frivolous.

MOTION TO DISMISS DENIED; TRIAL COURT JUDGMENT REVERSED AND REMANDED WITH INSTRUCTIONS.

WATT, Justice.
¶1 This is an appeal by defendant, Kansas City Life, from the trial court's order imposing liability against Kansas City Life on a verdict and judgment entered against Kansas City Life's former agent, Billy Stearman. Plaintiffs, the personal representatives of the estate of Leora Pearl Pelter, deceased, also appeal because the trial court reduced the amount of punitive damages in the Stearman judgment from $20,000,000.00 to $1,000,000.00. For the reasons discussed in the balance of this opinion we hold that the trial court erred both in reducing the amount of punitive damages in the Stearman judgment, because it was final, and in imposing liability against Kansas City Life on the Stearman judgment, because it was against Stearman alone.

FACTS AND PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

¶2 In March 1992, the personal representatives of Leora Pearl Pelter, deceased, brought suit on behalf of the Pelter estate against Kansas City Life Insurance Company claiming breach of a life insurance contract on the life of Mrs. Pelter's husband. The personal representatives are Mrs. Pelter's daughters. The Pelters alleged bad faith and the intentional infliction of emotional distress. The Pelters also sued Billy D. Stearman, who had been Kansas City Life's agent. Kansas City Life counterclaimed against Stearman alleging fraud, conversion, and embezzlement. Kansas City Life also sought indemnification from Stearman for any amounts Kansas City Life might be found to owe the Pelters.

¶3 Billy Stearman did not appear at the trial of the case, and the trial court directed a verdict against him on liability, for both the Pelters and Kansas City Life. The jury returned a verdict on April 8, 1994. The verdict form used by the jury was unusual, but was not objected to by either party. In it, liability and damages were assessed separately against Kansas City Life and Stearman. A separate judgment was entered against each defendant in the journal entry of judgment signed by the trial court. The form of the journal entry of judgment was approved by counsel for both parties.

¶4 Following the trial court's entry of judgment against it, Kansas City Life appealed, and on January 19, 1996 the Court of Civil Appeals reduced the punitive damages award against Kansas City Life from $10,000,000.00 to $500,000.00, but affirmed the judgment against Kansas City Life in all other respects. Both Kansas City Life and the Pelters sought certiorari and we denied both petitions for certiorari on May 15, 1996. The judgment as modified by the Court of Civil Appeals against Kansas City Life is now final, mandate having issued on June 28, 1996.

¶5 Upon remand of the case from the Court of Civil Appeals the Pelters sought to have liability imposed on Kansas City Life for the Stearman judgment. The trial court refused to rule on the issue and directed the parties to seek a writ of mandamus from this Court that would direct the trial court how to rule on the issue. Both parties sought such a writ, and we issued a writ of mandamus, but declined to tell the trial court how to rule on the issue in advance of the trial court considering it.

¶6 The trial court conducted the hearing we ordered it to hold and on November 15, 1996 entered an "Order Pursuant to Mandamus." In its order the trial court reduced the amount of the punitive damages awarded in the Stearman judgment to $1,000,000.00, and held that Kansas City Life was liable to pay it and the $1,000,000.00 in actual damages originally awarded against Stearman. The trial court also entered judgment for the Pelters and against Kansas City Life for the Kansas City Life judgment in the amounts called for by the Court of Civil Appeals: $550,000.00, actual and $500,000.00 punitive, plus interest and attorneys' fees.

ISSUES

¶7 There are three issues to be resolved in this appeal:

1. Should Kansas City Life's appeal be dismissed as frivolous?
2. Did the trial court err in reducing the punitive damages portion of the Stearman judgment from $20,000,000.00 to $1,000,000.00?
3. Did the trial court err in imposing liability for the Stearman judgment on Kansas City Life?

We answer "no" to the question presented in Issue I, and "yes" to the questions presented in Issues II and III.

DISCUSSION

I.

¶8 The Pelters move to dismiss Kansas City Life's appeal as frivolous. The 14th Amendment to the United States Constitution is the only authority cited in support of their motion. The Pelters claim that because Kansas City Life's responsibility for Stearman's wrongful acts has been established under the doctrine of respondeat superior, Kansas City Life's appeal on the ground that it is not responsible for the Stearman judgment is frivolous, and to allow it to go forward violates their due process rights under the 14th Amendment. For the reasons set forth in Part III of this opinion we hold that Kansas City Life's appeal is not frivolous and deny the Pelters' motion to dismiss it.

II.

¶9 The Pelters contend that the trial court lacked jurisdiction to modify the Stearman judgment. We agree, but for different reasons than those the Pelters advance. The Stearman judgment, say the Pelters, "had been affirmed on appeal." For the reasons set forth in Part III of this opinion, we hold that the Stearman judgment was not considered by the Court of Civil Appeals in Kansas City Life's appeal of the judgment against it because Stearman did not appeal from the judgment. The Stearman judgment was entered on May 12, 1994 and was final after June 11, 1994 because no appeal from its terms was taken.

¶10 Because the Stearman judgment was final the trial court was without power to modify it except as provided for in 12 O.S. Supp 1994 § 1031.1 or 12 O.S. 1991 § 1031. Neither party contends that grounds exist for modifying the Stearman judgment under either § 1031.1 or § 1031, [957 P.2d 1185] and Kansas City Life agrees in its briefs that the Stearman judgment was final long before the trial court purported to modify it. The law is clear on this point:

. . . after the period of time permitting the court to modify the judgment on its own motion expires, the court is without discretion or jurisdiction to vacate or modify a judgment which is not void on its face. Unless there is substantial compliance with the provisions of the statutes prescribing grounds upon which the district court has power to vacate or modify its own judgment or orders, the statutory power of the court ceases at the expiration of the time designated by statute.

When a matter has once passed to final judgment without fraud, or collusion, in a court of competent jurisdiction, it has become res judicata. The same cause of action between the parties or their privies cannot be reopened and subsequently reconsidered.

[Emphasis added.] American Bank of Oklahoma v. Adams, 1973 OK 88, 514 P.2d 1191, 1193. Thus, the trial court lacked authority to modify the Stearman judgment, and erred when it purported to do so.

III.

¶11 Kansas City Life contends that the Stearman judgment is separate and distinct from the judgment entered against Kansas City Life, and that Kansas City Life is, therefore, not responsible for the Stearman judgment. We agree.
The Language of the Stearman Judgment Unambiguously Shows That Only Stearman Is Liable under its Terms.

¶12 The language of the two judgments contained in the trial court's May 12, 1994 journal entry is unambiguous: One judgment was entered against Kansas City Life, the other against Stearman. Both judgments followed the form of verdict submitted to and returned by the jury. The verdict form was submitted to the jury and the verdict was received in open court without objection, and the form of the journal entry of judgment was approved by both parties. There is no indication in the journal entry of judgment that Kansas City Life was to be responsible for the separate and distinct Stearman judgment. "Only if a judgment is ambiguous on the face of the record may the court 'construe' it." Dickason v. Dickason, 1989 OK 24 ¶ 11, 607 P.2d 674, 677.

The Stearman Judgment Was Not Before the Court of Civil Appeals and its Opinion Did Not Address Whether Kansas City Life Would Be Liable on the Stearman Judgment.

¶13 The Pelters claim in their brief that the Court of Civil Appeals in its opinion "specifically found that KCLIC [Kansas City Life] had waived its right to appeal its vicarious (respondeat superior) liability by failing to raise the issue on appeal." In support of this contention the Pelters refer to the Court of Civil Appeals's holding that the trial court had not erred in denying Kansas City Life's liability to the Pelters for the tort of outrage because the trial court had directed a verdict against Stearman for the tort of outrage. In a footnote, the Court of Civil Appeals said, "A consideration of the verdict form coupled with the instructions given the jury leads us to conclude [that] it is far from clear that the jury predicated Insurer's liability in this action on its own tortious acts."

¶14 While the Court of Civil Appeals found that Kansas City Life was liable for Stearman's acts on the theory of respondeat superior, its holding says nothing about whether Kansas City Life should be liable on the Stearman verdict. The Court of Civil Appeals's discussion on this score was made solely in aid of its decision that Kansas City Life was liable to the Pelters on Kansas City Life's own judgment based on Kansas City Life's respondeat superior responsibility for Stearman's actions.

¶15 The Court of Civil Appeals did not address the issue before us now: whether Kansas City Life is, or is not, liable to the Pelters on the Stearman judgment. Indeed, the parties did not, and could not, ask it to do so because the Stearman judgment was final. The Court of Civil Appeals described the [957 P.2d 1186] verdict and judgment for $500,000.00 actual and $10,000,000.00 punitive damages as having been "against insurer." The Court of Civil Appeals then described the verdict and judgment for $1,000,000.00 actual and $20,000,000.00 punitive damages as having been "against Stearman." Thus, there is nothing in the Court of Civil Appeals opinion to support a finding that it addressed whether Kansas City Life could be held liable for the Stearman judgment.

Oklahoma Law Allows a Plaintiff to Obtain Separate Judgments Against a Principal and Agent, Although the Principal's Liability Is Based Solely on the Agent's Acts. Liability, Therefore, May Not Be Imposed Against The Principle, on a Judgment Against the Agent Alone.

¶16 The Pelters cite no authority, and we have been unable to find any, that authorized the imposition of liability against a party under the terms of a judgment that did not make that party expressly liable. The Pelter's claim that the jury's verdict was a single general verdict, and that Kansas City Life is liable under its terms, citing Bane v. Anderson, Bryan & Co., 1989 OK 140, 786 P.2d 1230.1. 1235. Bane does not apply to the facts of this appeal.

¶17 In Bane we interpreted a verdict that imposed joint and several liability for a single damage award against multiple defendants. We noted that such a verdict was general in nature and imposed joint and several liability against all defendants for the amount awarded by the jury. Here, in contrast to Bane, the jury returned a verdict for separate amounts against Kansas City Life and Stearman. The verdict imposed individual, not joint, liability. There were two verdicts, one against Kansas City Life, and the other against Stearman. It is this critical distinction that defeats the Pelter's claim that Kansas City Life should be held liable on the Stearman judgment.

¶18 In Culie v. Arnett, 1988 OK 134 ¶ 10, 765 P.2d 1203, 1206. Culie sued an employee, Arnett, who was driving his employer vehicle, and the employer for damages resulting from an automobile accident. During the litigation, Arnett's employer sought bankruptcy protection, and plaintiffs took judgment against Arnett only. Culie then garnished the employer's liability insurance carrier, claiming that the res judicata relationship between Arnett and the employer made the insurance carrier liable to Culie on its policy. We rejected the contention saying:

. . . Culie sought to impose on the insurer the employer's alleged liability based on respondeat superior without having first obtained a judgment against the employer. Neither the recitation of the judgment that Arnett was in the employer's service when harm occurred nor Culie's mere showing in the garnishment proceeding that Arnett was employed by the insured and was driving his employer's vehicle when the collision occurred establishes the employer's respondeat superior liability. . . .

¶19 In Employers Cas. Co. v. Barnett, 205 Okla. 73, 235 P.2d 685 (1951) judgment was entered in the trial court against an employer on the theory of respondeat superior, but not against the employer's servant, whose primary negligence caused the plaintiff's injuries. There we held that the judgment against the master was valid and enforceable, despite the fact that no judgment had been entered against the servant, because the plaintiff's right to proceed against the master alone was distinct from his right to proceed against the servant. In so holding we quoted with approval from the annotators comments following the A.L.R. report of Sherwood v. Huber & Huber Mtr. Exp. Co., 286 Ky. 775, 151 S.W.2d 1007, 135 A.L.R. 263, 271 (1941):

. . . The rule appears to be quite well established that a plaintiff may bring separate actions against a master and his servant, or a principal and his agent, to recover for the negligence of the servant or agent, where the master's or principal's only responsibility is derivative. . . .

¶20 Interpreted together, Culie and Barnett show that the Pelters were entitled under Oklahoma law to obtain separate judgments against Kansas City Life and Stearman, and did so. Culie and Barnett also show that this is so despite the fact that [957 P.2d 1187] Kansas City Life's liability was based on respondeat superior. Thus, Kansas City Life cannot be held liable on the Stearman judgment, because that judgment was final and clearly imposed liability on Stearman alone.

CONCLUSION

¶21 The Stearman judgment was final long before the trial court entered its November 15, 1996 order. The Stearman judgment unambiguously assessed liability against Stearman, and not against Kansas City Life. Thus, the trial court lacked jurisdiction to either alter the amount owed on, or to hold Kansas City Life liable for, the Stearman judgment. The result is not changed by the fact that Kansas City Life's liability was based on respondeat superior. The trial court is instructed to enter an order consistent with this opinion.

3 Our order, after assuming original jurisdiction and issuing a writ of mandamus, directed that the trial court after notice and hearing determine "...if Kansas City Life may be held liable for the Stearman verdict in whole or in part..." We expressly stated that our "...writ requires respondent judge to act but does not tell him how to act or what judgments or amounts to enter, if any."

APPEAL FROM THE DISTRICT COURT OF WOODS COUNTY, OKLAHOMA; Honorale Alan R. Gottsch, Associate District Judge.

TRIAL COURT JUDGMENT AFFIRMED

Gerald P. Green, Haven Tobias, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, For Appellant.

W.C. Sellers, Jr., Sapulpa, Oklahoma, For Appellees.

WATT, Justice.

¶ 1 This is the third appeal between the parties in this matter. Appellant, Kansas City Life, moved that this Court retain this appeal on the ground that the Court had retained and decided an earlier appeal of the matter, Cox v. Kansas City Life, 1997 OK 122, 957 P.2d 1181, decided October 7, 1997. We granted Kansas City Life's motion to retain the current appeal on September 24, 1998.

FACTS AND PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

¶ 2 The facts and procedural background of this matter are delineated in Cox v. Kansas City Life, 1997 OK 122, 957 P.2d 1181, decided October 7, 1997. In that opinion we held that Kansas City Life was not liable on a separate verdict and judgment entered against Kansas City Life's agent, Billy Stearman for $2,193,599.90.
¶ 3 Previous to the appeal that gave rise to our earlier opinion in this matter, both parties sought and obtained a writ of mandamus from us, which directed the trial court to decide whether Kansas City Life was liable for the verdict and judgment against Stearman, which totaled $21,000,000.00.

¶ 4 On November 15, 1996 the trial court entered an “Order Pursuant to Mandamus” in which it ordered Kansas City Life to pay the $1,000,000.00 in actual damages awarded to the Pelters against Stearman, and $1,000,000.00 of the $20,000,000.00 in punitive damages awarded against Stearman, an amount totaling $2,193,599.90, including attorneys’ fees, costs, and interest. In the same order the trial court ordered Kansas City Life to pay the Pelters the portion of the verdicts against it that the Court of Civil Appeals had affirmed, $550,000.00 in actual damages and $500,000.00 in punitive damages, an amount totaling $1,466,494.21, including attorneys’ fees, costs, and interest through November 7, 1996.

¶ 6 The Pelters moved for judgment on Kansas City Life's supersedeas bond after we remanded the matter to the trial court in accordance with our October 7, 1997 opinion. Following a hearing on April 15, 1998, the trial court entered judgment, filed July 23, 1998, against Kansas City Life's supersedeas bond respecting post-judgment interest as follows:

Post judgment interest shall be paid from April 8, 1994 until January 1, 1998 at 6.99% then the post-judgment interest is added to 12 O.S. § 727 at 9.22% with reduction for payment made on April 14, 1998. Post-judgment interest is then added to the remaining unpaid judgment at the end of each subsequent year with the new yearly interest rate then applied to the total. . . .

Kansas City Life then brought this appeal.

¶ 7 The parties' disagreement in this appeal arises in part from differences in their interpretation of the post-judgment interest provision of the judgment entered by the trial court and of 12 O.S. Supp. 1997 § 727. The relevant portion of the judgment entered by the trial court on May 12, 1994, provided that post-judgment interest shall accrue "from April 8, 1994, at the annual statutory rate which begins at 6.99 percent per annum for 1994. . . ." [Emphasis added.]

¶ 8 Title 12 O.S. Supp. 1991 § 727.J provides, ". . . Effective January 1, 1998, the method for computing postjudgment interest prescribed by this section shall be applicable to all judgments remaining unpaid rendered prior to January 1, 1998." Section 727.I, provides, ". . . interest shall be determined using a rate equal to the average United States Treasury Bill rate of the preceding calendar year as certified to the Administrative Director of the Courts by the State Treasurer on the first regular business day in January of each year, plus four percentage points."

¶ 9 Title 12 O.S. Supp. 1997 § 727.C provides the method by which post-judgment interest shall be computed.¹ The parties agree that before the 1997 amendments to § 727 the post-judgment interest rate remained at the rate in effect when the judgment was entered and did not allow for the compounding of interest, that is interest on accrued interest.

¶ 10 The 1997 amendment to § 727 changed the manner in which post-judgment interest accrues on judgments in two ways. First, under the 1997 amendment, the interest on the judgment is to be recomputed on 1 January of each year the judgment remains unpaid, whereas before the 1997 amendment the interest rate in effect when the judgment was entered remained the same regardless of how long the judgment remained unpaid. Second, accrued but unpaid interest now bears interest, whereas before the 1997 amendment only unpaid principal bore interest.
¶ 11 On April 14, 1998 Kansas City Life paid $1,468,234.13 to the Pelters, which the parties agree represented payment of the judgment in full, including interest, through November 15, 1996. The dispute between the parties arises because (1) the trial court's judgment against Kansas City Life's supersedeas bond following the April 15, 1998 hearing, filed July 23, 1998, assessed the part of the post-judgment interest that accrued from and after January 1, 1998 in accordance with the 1997 amendments to 12 O.S. § 727 and (2) because Kansas City Life claims that no interest should be held to accrue on the judgment against it after November 15, 1996, the date of the trial court's Order Pursuant to Mandamus.

¶ 12 The trial court determined that interest would be allowed on the principle amount of the judgment only at the statutory rate of 6.99 percent for the year 1994 from the date of the verdict, April 8, 1994, through December 31, 1997. The trial court then applied the 1998 statutory interest rate, 9.22 percent, to both the principle and the accrued interest on the judgment, effective January 1, 1998. Thus, the amount of post-judgment interest owed under the trial court's judgment was $130,308.23 through April 15, 1888, with interest to accrue thereafter on both principle and interest in accordance with the 1997 amendment to 12 O.S. § 727.

¶ 13 Kansas City Life appeals on the ground that post-judgment interest should not be allowed after November 15, 1996 because the trial court held on that date that, as a matter of law, Kansas City Life's bond "is subject to liability" and that "execution shall issue and collection is allowed." Kansas City Life also contends that equity should be invoked to prevent the Pelters from collecting interest after November 15, 1996 because the Pelters failed to levy execution on the judgment rendered by the trial court against Kansas City Life. For the reasons discussed below we find that the trial court correctly applied 12 O.S. Supp. 1997 § 727 and also correctly rejected Kansas City Life's contention that no interest on the judgment against it should accrue after November 15, 1996.

¶ 14 ISSUES

I. Was post-judgment interest limited to the rate set by law by the statute in force when the judgment was entered in 1994, 6.99 percent, so that the Pelters are not entitled to the benefit of either compound interest or a fluctuating rate of interest as a matter of law?

II. Are the Pelters prohibited from recovering interest after November 15, 1996 because of either operation of law or on equitable principles?

We answer "no" to each question.

DISCUSSION

I.

¶ 15 Kansas City Life argues that the rate of interest in effect when the judgment against it was entered, 6.99 percent, may not be altered. For this proposition Kansas City Life relies on the following language in Timmons v. Royal Globe Insurance Co., 1985 OK 76 ¶ 13, 713 P.2d 589:

... No term of a judgment may be affected by after-enacted legislation. To hold otherwise would undermine the constitutionally-shielded concept of an "accrued" or vested" right in the adjudicated obligation. After-passed enactments can neither destroy nor alter that right. . . .

[Footnote omitted.]

¶ 16 Timmons v. Royal Globe Insurance Co. does not support Kansas City Life's claim that the trial court erred. The trial court's judgment entered on May 12, 1994 provided that post-judgment interest should accrue "from April 8, 1994, at the annual statutory rate which begins at 6.99 percent per annum for 1994. . . ." [Emphasis added.] It is thus clear that the trial court intended that interest not be necessarily limited to 6.99 percent but was to be governed by the terms of 12 O.S. § 727. In Timmons, however, the trial court's judgment expressly limited post-judgment interest to the rate in effect when judgment was entered.

¶ 17 There is another reason why Timmons does not apply to this appeal. Here the trial court applied the new interest rate only prospectively after the passage of the 1997 amendments to 12 O.S. § 727. Those amendments showed that the legislature intended, for the first time, to make changes in the interest rate and compounding apply prospectively. In Traczyk v. Traczyk, 1995 OK 22 ¶ 24, 891 P.2d 1277, we held that 12 O.S. § 727 should be interpreted so that "the rate of interest applied to judgments pursuant to § 727(B) is to continue for the life of the judgment." Now, however, 12 O.S. Supp. 1997 § 727 provides, ". . . Effective January 1, 1998, the method for computing postjudgment interest prescribed by this section shall be applicable to all judgments remaining unpaid rendered prior to January 1, 1998." The trial court's judgment correctly followed the current statutory mandate by leaving the 6.99% interest rate in effect through December 31, 1997 and applying the new method of computation called for by the [983 P.2d 1029] 1997 amendments only to interest accruing from and after January 1, 1998.

¶ 18 Kansas City Life also claims that the trial court's decision to change the interest rate from 6.99 percent in accordance with the 1997 amendments to 12 O.S. § 727 would amount to a relitigation of the same cause of action between the parties and thus violate the constraints of res judicata. We disagree. We find unconvincing Kansas City Life's argument that the trial court's decision to apply a later amendment to the post-judgment interest statute was violative of res judicata, given that the trial court expressly stated in its original judgment that interest would accrue "at the annual statutory rate." Unlike the situation that obtained in Timmons, the trial court had no intention of limiting post-judgment interest to 6.99 percent where the legislature amended 12 O.S. § 727 in a way that showed its intention that a different rate of interest would obtain beginning 1 January 1998.

II.

THE PELTERS ARE NOT PROHIBITED FROM RECOVERING INTEREST AFTER NOVEMBER 15, 1996 BECAUSE OF EITHER OPERATION OF LAW OR ON EQUITABLE PRINCIPLES.

¶ 19 Kansas City Life contends that the Pelters are not entitled to any post-judgment interest after November 15, 1996 because the trial court ruled on that date that Kansas City Life's bond "is subject to liability" and that "execution shall issue and collection is allowed. Kansas City Life's contention is unconvincing because the November 15, 1996 order ordered Kansas City Life to pay the Pelters an additional amount totaling $1,000,000.00 in actual damages and $1,000,000.00 of the $20,000,000.00 in punitive damages that the jury had awarded against Kansas City Life's agent, Stearman. Both parties appealed from the November 15, 1996 judgment, Kansas City Life on the ground that it was not liable for any part of the Stearman verdict and the Pelters on the ground that Kansas City Life should have to pay the entire $21,000,000.00 of the Stearman verdict.

¶ 20 Generally, "a party who voluntarily accepts benefits of a judgment waives the right to appeal." Teel v. Public Service Co. of Oklahoma, 1985 OK 112 ¶ 13, 767 P.2d 391. There are exceptions to this rule - an appeal in which it is only possible to receive a more favorable judgment, but not a less favorable one - Teel, 1985 OK 112 at ¶ 13. Nevertheless, we are not prepared to say that the circumstances of the Pelters' appeal were so clearly risk free that their failure to levy execution on the portion of their judgment owed by Kansas City Life should be held to deprive them of post-judgment interest after November 15, 1996.

¶ 21 Kansas City Life also contends that allowing the Pelters interest would be inequitable under the circumstances of this case. We disagree. There is nothing inequitable about allowing the Pelters interest here. Had Kansas City Life been seriously enough concerned about the interest accruing on the judgment against it, it would only have had to make a tender after November 15, 1996 of the amount of the judgment and accrued interest owed and expressly left open the question of its liability on the Stearman verdict. Kansas City Life did not do so.

¶ 22 In a letter dated August 2, 1996, Kansas City Life offered to pay the entire amount of the portion of the jury's verdict against it that had been affirmed on appeal, plus attorneys' fees and interest, $1,445,619.24, "in exchange for a complete release and satisfaction of judgment and release of all claims of any kind against Kansas City Life by your clients." The Pelters' counsel, W.C. "Bill" Sellers, responded to Kansas City Life's settlement offer in a letter dated August 7, 1996, which stated. "We appreciate your offer of settlement at $21,445,619.24 for a full release and satisfaction of the judgment."

¶ 23 The Pelters then levied execution on Kansas City Life's supersedeas bond, including the entire $20,000,000.00 amount of the punitive damages judgment against Stearman. The trial court quashed the Pelters' execution in response to Kansas City Life's motion.

¶ 24 [983 P.2d 1030] It was the hearing following the quashing of the Pelter's execution on Kansas City Life's bond that gave rise to the trial court's order of November 15, 1996, which rendered judgment for the Pelters on the Kansas City Life judgment in the amount of 1,466,494.21. The trial court also rendered judgment against Kansas City Life on the Stearman judgment in the total amount of $2,193,599.90, which judgment we later reversed in Cox v. Kansas City Life, 1997 OK 122, 957 P.2d 1181.

¶ 25 The conduct of the parties' counsel makes clear the level of hostility and misunderstanding between them. Kansas City Life clearly had no intention of paying the portion of the verdict the jury had awarded against Kansas City Life without, at the same time, obtaining a release of liability on the Stearman verdict. Further, it seems likely that had the Pelters levied execution on Kansas City Life's bond for only the amount of Kansas City Life's liability, Kansas City Life would have claimed that the Pelters' had waived their right to appeal the Stearman portion of the judgment. Indeed, for the Pelters' counsel to have levied execution on the Pelters' judgment against Kansas City Life would have been foolhardy. Consequently, we are unwilling to hold that the Pelters decision not to seek judgment on Kansas City Life's bond for the portion of the judgment entered against Kansas City Life deprived the Pelters of their right to interest that accrued after November 15, 1996.

¶ 26 Kansas City Life admits that there is no Oklahoma authority directly in point, but relies on Overbeek v. Heimbecker, 101 F.3d 1225 (7th Cir. 1996) in support of its claim that allowing the Pelters post-judgment interest after November 15, 1996 would be inequitable. Overbeek is inapposite to the facts of this appeal. In Overbeek the Court of Appeals affirmed the trial court, which had refused to allow interest on a $25,000.00, the policy limits, judgment against the defendant's insurance carrier. There, the insurer had offered to pay its policy limits on thirteen separate occasions, and occasionally had offered to pay double its policy limits for a release. The carrier began making these offers before trial. Plaintiff's counsel consistently refused to accept the carrier's offers.

¶ 27 There was never any serious question in Overbeek that the insurance carrier could be liable for any more that its policy limits. Here, however, the question of Kansas City Life's liability on the Stearman verdict was open until October 7, 1997, when we decided the matter in Cox v. Kansas City Life, 1997 OK 122, 957 P.2d 1181. Indeed, the trial court imposed liability against Kansas City Life on the Stearman verdict in its November 15, 1996 Order Pursuant to Mandamus, entered shortly after Kansas City Life had made its settlement offer to the Pelters.
CONCLUSION

¶ 28 The trial court correctly applied 12 O.S. § 727 in the judgment filed July 23, 1998 and there is no reason, either in law or in equity, to refuse the Pelters post-judgment interest after November 15, 1996.

1 In relevant part, § 727.C, as amended in 1997, provides:

. . . Beginning on the first day of January of the next succeeding calendar year until the end of that calendar year, or until the judgment is paid, whichever first occurs, the judgment, together with the postjudgment interest previously accrued, shall bear interest at the rate in effect for judgments rendered during such calendar year as certified by the Administrative Director of the Courts pursuant to subsection I of this section. For each succeeding calendar year, or part of a calendar year, during which a judgment remains unpaid, the judgment, together with postjudgment interest previously accrued, shall bear interest at the rate in effect for judgments rendered during such calendar year as certified by the Administrative Director of the Courts pursuant to subsection I of this section. A separate computation using the interest rate in effect for judgments as provided by subsection I of this section shall be made for each calendar year, or part of a calendar year, during which the judgment remains unpaid in order to determine the total amount of interest for which the judgment debtor is liable. The postjudgment interest rate for each calendar year, or part of a calendar year, a judgment remains unpaid shall be multiplied by the original amount of the judgment, including any prejudgment interest, together with postjudgment interest previously accrued. Interest shall accrue on a judgment in the manner prescribed by this subsection until the judgment is satisfied or released.
¶0 The plaintiff/appellant, Tulsa County Assessor (Assessor), submitted two budgets totaling $5,775,169 for the 2002-2003 fiscal year to the plaintiff/appellant, Tulsa County Budget Board (Budget Board): a general budget of $2,605,330 and a visual inspection budget of $3,169,835. The Budget Board approved both requests submitting them to the defendant/appellee, Tulsa County Excise Board (Excise Board), for review. Although the Excise Board agreed that the total amount of the Assessor's combined budgets was reasonable, it reduced the visual inspection budget by $1,889,835 allowing $1,280,000 for the visual inspection program and recommending that the funding cut be included in the Assessor's general budget. The Board of County Commissioners of Tulsa County (County Commissioners) joined the Budget Board and the Assessor as plaintiffs/appellants requesting the trial court to issue either a writ of mandamus directing the Excise Board to restore and approve the visual inspection budget to $3,169,835 or a temporary injunction enjoining the Excise Board from obstructing the Assessor's mandatory duties. Various Tulsa County School Districts (School Districts) intervened. Following a hearing, the trial judge, Honorable Deborah C. Shallcross, found that the Excise Board had authority to review the Assessor's budget and that the visual inspection budget's reduction was not arbitrary or capricious. The trial judge denied requests to amend the petition to require the School Districts to place the excluded $1,889,835 in their respective budgets. Having retained the cause, we hold that: 1) the Excise Board has discretion in resolving funding disputes concerning the visual inspection budget. Our determination is supported by: the clear, explicit, mandatory and unmistakable language of 68 O.S. 2001 §2822(C) authorizing the Excise Board to resolve funding disputes related to the visual inspection program; and Clay v. Independent School Dist. No. 1 of Tulsa County, 1997 OK 13, ¶31, 935 P.2d 294, providing that the Excise Board has authority to resolve funding disputes concerning the visual inspection budget.; 2) the evidence presented does not demonstrate an abuse of discretion in the Excise Board's shift of personnel costs from the visual inspection to the regular budget; and 3) because both the statutory scheme and validly promulgated administrative rules clearly contemplate that valuation will be included in the visual inspection budget, the Excise Board abused its discretion in eliminating all valuation costs from the visual inspection budget.

Robert A. Nance, Gretchen M. Schilling, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, for Plaintiffs/Appellants. Scott D. Boughton, Assistant Attorney General, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, for Defendants/Appellees. J. Douglas Mann, Jerry A. Richardson, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, for Intervenors/Defendants/Appellees.

KAUGER, J.:

¶1 The issues presented are: 1) whether the defendant/appellee, Tulsa County Excise Board (Excise Board), has authority to review the budget of the plaintiff/appellant, Tulsa County Assessor (Assessor); and 2) if so, whether the Excise Board abused its discretion or acted arbitrarily or capriciously in reducing the visual inspection budget. We determine that the Excise Board may resolve funding disputes concerning the visual inspection budget. We also determine that the evidence presented does not demonstrate an abuse of discretion in the Excise Board's shift of personnel costs from the visual inspection to the regular budget. Nevertheless, the Excise Board acted arbitrarily in eliminating all valuation costs from the visual inspection budget.

FACTS

¶2 In fiscal matters, Tulsa County operates under the County Budget Act (Budget Act), 19 O.S. 2001 §1401, et seq. The Budget Act requires the plaintiff/appellant, Tulsa County Budget Board (Budget Board), to prepare a budget for all county funds. The Budget Board submits all budgets to the Excise Board for examination and approval. The Excise Board has authority to strike or reduce any unlawfully budgeted amount.

¶3 Assessors are required to conduct a comprehensive countywide program for the individual visual inspection of all taxable property within their respective counties. Under the program, all taxable property must be visually inspected once every four years. The budget for the program is prepared separately from the Assessor's regular budget and both are submitted to the Budget Board for consideration.

¶4 For fiscal year 2002-2003, the Budget Board approved the Assessor's general budget in the amount of $2,605,330 and a visual inspection budget of $3,169,835. It is undisputed that the total dollar amount of the combined budgets is reasonable and necessary for operation of the Assessor's office.

¶5 Both of the proposed budget amounts were submitted to the Excise Board for approval. As mill fund recipients and entities responsible for funding of the visual inspection budget, the school districts appeared before the Excise Board on June 28, 2002, to protest the budget as excessive. A motion to approve the Assessor's budgets was tabled.

¶6 Following the June meeting, Byron Burke, as Chairman of the Excise Board (Chairman), questioned the nature of the visual inspection budget and the items included in the program. In comparing figures between Oklahoma County and Tulsa County, Burke's inquiries revealed that, over a four-year period, Tulsa County spent $4.6 million more than Oklahoma County to inspect 42,500 fewer parcels -- Oklahoma County budgeted $7.11 million to visually inspect 276,000 properties while Tulsa County expended $11.47 million to inspect 233,500 locations. Oklahoma County's per-parcel inspection cost was $25.75 as compared to a per-parcel inspection cost of $49.14 in Tulsa County. An analysis of the salaries included in the Tulsa County budget revealed that: 1) the highest paid employees had been placed in the visual inspection program and that the lower salaried employees were listed in the general budget; 2) although under 68 O.S. §2823(C), salaries may be prorated between the general budget and visual inspection program, several appraisers who did both visual inspection work and had general office duties were being paid solely out of the visual inspection budget; and 3) an employee's function, or assignment, did not control the budget from which salaries were drawn.

After the Assessor informed the Excise Board that statutory law provided no clear guidance as to the separation of charges between the visual inspection and general budgets and that the respective excise boards and assessors in the state's seventy-seven counties could not agree on which charges belong in either budget, guidance was sought from the Oklahoma Tax Commission (Tax Commission). Although 68 O.S. 2001 2820(C) and Tax Commission Rules require that the Assessor submit the visual inspection plan to the Tax Commission for approval, testimony elicited indicates that the Tax Commission reviews the plan only to determine whether it contains the minimum elements to accomplish the required inspections. Furthermore, the Tax Commission is largely unconcerned with the actual budgetary amount -- if the monies allocated are adequate to accomplish the plan's goals. Finally, in the Tax Commission's report to the Legislature, it recommended that the minimum number of employees necessary to carry out the visual inspection program for Tulsa County as twenty-two while the Assessor's payroll records indicate that fifty-five employees would be paid out of the visual inspection budget.

On July 9, 2002, the Excise Board adopted a revised budget for the Assessor -- cutting $1,889,835 from the visual inspection budget and recommending that the Budget Board fund the cut to the Assessor's budget in another manner, i.e. by adding the amount to the Assessor's general budget. In making the decision to adjust the visual inspection budget, the Excise Board approved the inclusion of salaries for thirty-two employees -- ten more than recommended as a minimum number by the Tax Commission. It struck all expenses related to valuation -- a budgetary item traditionally included in all of the seventy-seven county assessors' visual inspection budgets.

The Budget Board, County Commissioners and Assessor filed a petition for writ of mandamus and request for declaratory judgment and injunctive relief in the district court on September 24, 2002. On October 9, 2002, various Tulsa County school districts (School Districts) intervened. The matter was tried to the court on December 6, 2002. The trial judge, Honorable Deborah C. Shallcross, issued an order on December 26, 2002, denying the request for a writ of mandamus or injunction and refusing to allow an amendment to the petition requesting that the school districts be required to place the originally computed reimbursement amounts for the visual inspection program in their respective budgets. In so ruling, the trial court found that the Excise Board: had final approval authority over the Assessor's budget; exercised its discretion in reviewing the budget; and did not act in an arbitrary or capricious manner. Pursuant to 12 O.S. 2001 §990.5, the order stands stayed without the execution of a supersedeas bond.

On January 24, 2003, the Budget Board, the County Commissioners and the Assessor appealed requesting that the cause be retained. We retained the cause on March 14, 2003. On May 22, 2003, the court-ordered briefing cycle was completed.

I.

THE COUNTY EXCISE BOARD IS AUTHORIZED TO RESOLVE FUNDING DISPUTES RELATED TO THE VISUAL INSPECTION PROGRAM.
¶12 The Assessor submitted Tulsa County's proposed visual inspection plan to the Tax Commission for 2003-2006 on September 26, 2002. The plan was approved on November 14th. The County Commissioners and the Assessor argue that the statutory scheme limits the Excise Board's discretion in altering the visual inspection budget to upholding the visual inspection plan approved by the Tax Commission. The Excise Board and the School Districts contend that the statutory language does not support such an argument. We agree.

¶13 The Excise Board's general supervisory powers over the budgeting process are contained in 19 O.S. 2001 §1414. Under the statute, the Excise Board may strike and disregard any amounts deemed unlawful or reduce figures exceeding legally supported appropriations. Section 2820(C) of title 68 requires that county assessors submit their four-year visual inspection plans to the Tax Commission for approval. If those plans are found wanting, the Tax Commission may modify the plan to ensure the four-year cycle is completed and adequate property use samples are collected for valuation purposes. Budgeting disputes relating to the visual inspection program are specifically addressed in 68 O.S. 2001 §2822(C). The statute provides in pertinent part:

"... Any disputes as to the amount authorized to carry out the countywide visual inspection program shall be resolved by the county excise board; provided, the Oklahoma Tax Commission shall take such action as may be necessary to ensure that such amounts are used exclusively to carry out the countywide visual inspection program and that the allocation of such amounts does not serve to decrease other funds allocated to the office of county assessor." [Emphasis supplied.]

The Legislature has used clear and mandatory language in the statute stating that funding disputes shall be resolved by the Excise Board. Under the statute, the Tax Commission's role is limited to ensuring that -- once the excise board has made a funding determination -- amounts allocated by the excise board to the visual inspection program are used exclusively for the program's purpose and that funds so apportioned are not utilized to decrease the assessor's general obligation funds.

¶14 Clay v. Independent School Dist. No. 1 of Tulsa County, 1997 OK 13, 935 P.2d 294, like the instant cause, involved the visual inspection program in Tulsa County. In Clay, the Court was asked to determine whether school districts were required to pay the costs of the visual inspection program as budgetary items or whether the payment could be deducted from sinking funds. Although we held that payment could not be made from the school districts' sinking funds, we determined that an assessor could compel payment by filing an original action in the District Court for a writ of mandamus during the fiscal year, and, if necessary, for the amount to be included in the school district's budget allowing for recovery outside the fiscal year.

¶15 Clay also involved the authority of the Excise Board to determine the Assessor's budget. The school districts challenged the Assessor's placement of twenty-two employees in the revaluation budget. The school districts did not present evidence to show the Excise Board's abuse of discretion in approving the budget or in the trial court's upholding of the decision. Therefore, the school districts were denied relief. In doing so, this Court specifically recognized that "[T]he Excise Board has discretion in determining the budget of the Assessor."[26]

¶16 To adopt the County Commissioner's, the Budget Board's and the Assessor's position -- that the Tax Commission's approved plan governs funding disputes -- we would be required to read a nonexistent exception into the specific statutory mandate of 68 O.S. 2001 §2822(C) providing that it is the Excise Board which will resolve funding disputes relating to the visual inspection program. Additionally, we would have to ignore our decision in Clay v. Independent School Dist. No. 1 of Tulsa County, 1997 OK 13, 935 P.2d 294 recognizing the Excise Board's discretion in determining the Assessor's budget. We decline to do so. Instead, we determine that the Excise Board has discretion in resolving funding disputes concerning the visual inspection budget.
II.

¶17 THE EVIDENCE PRESENTED DOES NOT DEMONSTRATE AN ABUSE OF DISCRETION IN THE EXCISE BOARD'S SHIFT OF PERSONNEL COSTS FROM THE VISUAL INSPECTION TO THE REGULAR BUDGET.

¶18 Having concluded that the Excise Board has authority to review the Assessor's budget, we must now consider whether the Excise Board acted arbitrarily and whether the trial court abused its discretion in failing to give relief to the Budget Board, the County Commissioner and the Assessor. In doing so, we review the Excise Board's actions in moving employee salaries from the visual inspection budget to the Assessor's general budget and its deletion of all valuation costs from the visual inspection budget.

¶19 In cutting the number of employees' salaries to be included in the visual inspection budget, the Excise Board considered the minimum number of employees recommended by the Oklahoma Tax Commission -- ten field and twelve office personnel. Looking to the number of parcels requiring visual inspection under the program, the Excise Board doubled the number of recommended field personnel and kept the office personnel number at the recommended twelve. This left field personnel with the responsibility of inspecting approximately fifteen parcels per day as opposed to the twenty to twenty-five inspections the Assessor felt would be possible.

¶20 The Assessor admits that as many as four employees' salaries may have been listed for payment out of the visual inspection budget when they actually should have been paid out of the general budget. In addition, he conceded that in its 2001 report to the Legislature, the Tax Commission estimated that Tulsa County needed twenty-two employees to carry out the visual inspection program.

¶21 The Budget Board, the County Commissioners' and the Assessor had the burden of showing an abuse of discretion to obtain relief from the Excise Board's shift of employees from the proposed visual inspection budget to the Assessor's regular budget. They have not done so. Therefore, we affirm the trial court's decision upholding the Excise Board's shift of personnel payments from the visual inspection to the Assessor's regular budget.

III.

¶22 BOTH THE STATUTORY SCHEME AND VALIDLY PROMULGATED ADMINISTRATIVE RULES CLEARLY CONTEMPLATE THAT VALUATION WILL BE INCLUDED IN THE VISUAL INSPECTION BUDGET. THEREFORE, THE EXCISE BOARD ABUSED ITS DISCRETION IN ELIMINATING ALL VALUATION COSTS FROM THE VISUAL INSPECTION BUDGET.

¶23 The Excise Board asserts that the removal of all costs related to the valuation of property from the visual inspection budget is justified under 68 O.S. Supp. 2002 §2823(B), providing that only those expenses relating to the visual inspection program, and no items which would exist in the program's absence, should be included in the program's costs. The Budget Board, County Commissioners and Assessor counter that it is clear in both the statutory language relating to the visual inspection program and in the Tax Commission's rules that the Legislature and the Tax Commission contemplate that valuation expenses should be budgeted for the visual inspection program.

¶24 The Excise Board's argument centers on the theory that, because it is the Assessor's job to assess all real property annually, the expenses of valuation exist outside the visual inspection program and, therefore, are not chargeable to mill fund recipients pursuant to 68 O.S. Supp. 2002 §2823(B).
Undoubtedly, Assessors must annually prepare assessment rolls and value the property so assessed for all properties located in their respective counties. Assessors are required to utilize the information gathered from visual inspection, using the data along with other information obtained, to make accurate estimates of fair cash values for all taxable real or personal property within the county.

¶25 Recognizing that it is the Assessor's duty to assess all property annually, we might be inclined to accept the argument that 68 O.S. Supp. 2002 §2823(B) -- providing that all expenses which, in the judgment of the excise board exist in the absence of the visual inspection program, must be eliminated from the program's budget -- requires that valuation costs be cut from the visual inspection program. However, such a result is not supported by other language in §2823(B) allowing for the proration of expenses when attributable to the program and another source, the numerous statutory references to valuation in the visual inspection statutes, or the Tax Commission Rules specifically referring to and contemplating valuation as a part of the program.

¶26 Section 2823(B) of title 68 provides that the visual inspection budget shall contain only those items of expense which would not exist in absence of the program. However, the statute goes on to indicate that, where items of expense are attributable to the visual inspection program and would also exist in its absence, the items -- including, but not limited to salaries, employee benefits, office supplies and equipment -- may be prorated. Although inartfully drawn, §2823(B) most certainly indicates that there are some items which will be attributable both to the Assessor's regular budget and to the visual inspection budget. When that contingency exists, §2823(B) does not, as the Excise Board would have us determine, require that the totality of the expense be attributed to the regular budget. Instead, it allows for the cost item to be prorated between the regular and the visual inspection budgets.

¶27 The Legislature defined the visual inspection program as the program required to gather data about real property from physical examination to establish the fair case values of the properties at least once every four years and to provide similar values on like properties on an annual basis. The definition of the program itself indicates that valuation is a component of the program. Furthermore, the Legislature has provided that assessors must develop a plan detailing the resources and budget proposed to complete inspections and the valuation methodologies used to determine fair cash values. When submitting reports to the Oklahoma Tax Commission on the progress of the inspections, the assessor must include the valuation methodologies used to determine fair cash values. Physical examinations are to be conducted in a manner to provide adequate data from which to make accurate valuations and the information gathered must be relevant to the valuation methodology utilized. Clearly, the legislative scheme contemplates that valuation is to be an integral part of the visual inspection program. As part and parcel of the program and as a cost item which relates to the Assessor's other duties, expenses are chargeable both to the Assessor's regular and visual inspection budgets and should be prorated between the two pursuant to 68 O.S. 2001 §2823(B).

¶28 Excise boards are required to authorize and levy amounts sufficient to carry out the countywide program of visual inspection approved by the Oklahoma Tax Commission. The Tax Commission is authorized to make and publish rules it deems necessary for the general guidance and assistance of county assessors. Those administrative rules are valid expressions of lawmaking powers having the force and effect of law. Administrative rules, like statutes, are given a sensible construction bearing in mind the evils intended to be avoided.

¶29 In connection with the visual inspection program, the Tax Commission has promulgated a number of rules clearly indicating that valuation of property is an integral part of the program. The visual inspection program, which an assessor presents to the Tax Commission for consideration and approval, must include: a detailed plan to complete the valuation methodology; information on the methodology to be used in determining fair cash values; and evidence sufficient to establish a representative sample from each use category to properly value all property in the county. Information and procedures related to valuation changes must be included in the visual inspection program. Administrative rules specifically provide for the inspection and appraisal of agricultural properties and the methodology by which such property must be valued. Rules relating to multi-family income producing property and commercial/industrial property also contemplate that those properties shall be inspected, appraised and valued. Finally, the Tax Commission's rules specifically provide that information concerning the valuation methodology and the valuation process shall be listed as a part of the visual inspection plan.

¶30 Although the statutory language utilized in 68 O.S. 2001 2823(B) does not explicitly provide the budgetary items which may be included in the visual inspection budget, it demonstrates the legislative intent to prorate some cost items between the Assessor's visual inspection and regular budgets. Other provisions of the statutory scheme and numerous references to valuation in the lawfully enacted rules of the Tax Commission, clearly indicate that the Legislature and the Tax Commission intend for valuation to be a part of the program. Therefore, we determine that the Excise Board abused its discretion when it eliminated all valuation costs from the Assessor's visual inspection budget.

CONCLUSION

¶31 In holding that the Excise Board has discretion in resolving funding disputes concerning the visual inspection budget and that items of valuation may be included in costs assessed against mill fund recipients, we are not unaware of, or without sympathy, for school districts which have been adversely impacted by the budgetary crisis. It is a sad day when school administrators must choose between providing teachers of core subjects and the creative arts, janitors, bus drivers or nutritionists. However, the same financial squeeze is being felt at all levels of government, including in the counties.

¶32 Despite our sympathies, we may not sit as a super legislature, ignore our own jurisprudence and the statutory and rule-based language indicating that, although Excise Boards have authority to adjust items between an Assessor's regular and visual inspection budgets, they may not eliminate an item which both the statutory scheme and validly adopted administrative rules make clear were intended to be included in the visual inspection program. Therefore, we hold that: 1) the Excise Board has discretion in resolving funding disputes concerning the visual inspection budget. Our determination is supported by: the clear, explicit, mandatory and unmistakable language of 68 O.S. 2001 §2822(C) authorizing the Excise Board to resolve funding disputes related to the visual inspection program; and Clay v. Independent School Dist. No. 1 of Tulsa County, 1997 OK 13, ¶31, 935 P.2d 294, providing that the Excise Board has authority to resolve funding disputes concerning the visual inspection budget.; 2) the evidence presented does not demonstrate an abuse of discretion in the Excise Board's shift of personnel costs from the visual inspection to the regular budget; and 3) because both the statutory scheme and validly promulgated administrative rules clearly contemplate that valuation will be included in the visual inspection budget, the Excise Board abused its discretion in eliminating all valuation costs from the visual inspection budget.

1. For any items or amounts which are not authorized by law or which may be contrary to law, the unlawful amounts or items shall be stricken and disregarded;

4Title 68 O.S. 2001 §2820 provides in pertinent part:

"A. Each county assessor shall conduct a comprehensive program for the individual visual inspection of all taxable property within his respective county. Each assessor shall thereafter maintain an active and systematic program of visual inspection on a continuous basis and shall establish an inspection schedule which will result in the individual visual inspection of all taxable property within the county at least once each four (4) years. . . .

C. Prior to the beginning of the first visual inspection cycle and each subsequent visual inspection cycle, the county assessor shall develop a plan that details the number of real property parcels to be inspected in each year of the cycle by use category, geographic area or other basis, the resources and budget proposed to complete the inspections and the valuation methodology to be used in determining the fair cash value of the real property and improvements thereon. The plan shall be adequate to ensure the visual inspection of all parcels of real property within the county at least once each four (4) years. The plan shall also be adequate to ensure that the information collected from the visual inspection of real property each year is sufficient to establish a representative sample from each use category in order to conduct the proper valuation of all taxable property within each use category in order to conduct the proper valuation of all taxable property within each use category by means of an accepted standard for mass appraisal practice. The county assessor shall submit the proposed plan to the Oklahoma Tax Commission by the first working day in October preceding the beginning of the four-year cycle. The Oklahoma Tax Commission shall either approve the plan if the plan and resources are adequate to complete the cycle and if the plan will result in a representative sample from each use category in order to value all taxable property each year or shall correct and modify the plan in order to establish a program for visual inspection that will be completed by the end of the cycle and that will provide a representative sample from each use category in order to value all taxable property each year. An approved plan shall be made for each county as of the beginning date of each cycle and a copy of such plan shall be filed with the Oklahoma Tax Commission.

D. Each year the county assessor shall submit a progress report to the Oklahoma Tax Commission indicating the number of real property parcels inspected by use category, geographic area or other basis, the resources and budget expended in the last completed fiscal year and the valuation methodology used to determine fair cash values of the real property and improvements. The Oklahoma Tax Commission shall correct and modify any visual inspection plan during the four-year cycle if progress reports indicate that inspection of real property parcels will not be completed or will be performed in violation of legal requirements for such inspections. The county assessor shall be required to complete the four-year cycle in accordance with such plan as corrected and modified. . . ."

Title 68 O.S. 2001 §2822 provides:

"A. Each county assessor in budgets submitted to the county excise board or county budget board shall make adequate provision to effect countywide visual inspections of real property during the four-year cycle.

B. Each jurisdiction within a county which receives revenue from an ad valorem mill rate shall receive a copy of the budget for the countywide visual inspection program for that county. The county excise board or county budget board shall notify all such jurisdictions of any meetings at which discussion or action on the budget for the comprehensive program of visual inspections is or may be on the agenda. Such jurisdictions shall have the opportunity to appear before the county excise board or the county budget board, prior to approval of such budgets, to provide testimony, comments, information and documentation concerning the budgets submitted by the county assessor pursuant to subsection A of this section.

C. The several county excise and budget boards, in passing upon budgets submitted by the several assessors, shall authorize and levy amounts which will suffice to carry out the countywide visual inspection program as approved by the Oklahoma Tax Commission under Section 2820 of this title. Such amounts shall be separate from other funds allocated to the office of county assessor and shall be used exclusively to carry out the countywide visual inspection program. The allocation of such amount shall not serve to decrease other funds allocated to the office of county assessor by the county excise board or the county budget board. Any disputes as to the amount authorized to carry out the countywide visual inspection program shall be resolved by the county excise board; provided, the Oklahoma Tax Commission shall take such action as may be necessary to ensure that such amounts are used exclusively to carry out the countywide visual inspection program and that the allocation of such amounts does not serve to decrease other funds allocated to the office of the county assessor.”

9Title 28 O.S. Supp. 2002 §2823 provides in pertinent part:

"A. For each fiscal year, the cost of the comprehensive program of visual inspections for real property and the cost of physical inspections of personal property shall be paid by appropriate warrants from those who receive the revenues of the mill rates levied on the property of the county as prescribed by this section.
School districts are hereby authorized to pay such costs from revenues accruing to their building funds.
The county assessor shall prepare a budget for the comprehensive program of visual inspections for each property and the cost of physical inspections of personal property and file such budget with the county excise board or county budget board.

B. The county excise board or county budget board shall apportion such cost among the various recipients of revenues from the mill rates levied, including the county, all cities and towns, all school districts, all sinking funds of such recipients, and all jurisdictions specified in subsection D of this section, in the ratio which each recipient's total tax collection authorized from its mill rates levied for the preceding year bears to the total tax collection authorized of all recipients from all their mill rates levied for the preceding year. The costs shall include only those expenses directly attributable to the visual inspection program and those expenses directly attributable to physical inspections of personal property and shall not include any expenses of the office of the county assessor which, in the judgment of the county excise board or county budget board, are expenses of county assessor's office which would exist in the absence of such program or in the absence of physical inspection of personal property. Expenses that are attributable both to the visual inspection program and physical inspection of personal property, and which would exist in the absence of such program or inspection, including but not limited to salaries, employee benefits, office supplies and equipment, may be prorated; provided, no portion of the salary of the county assessor shall be included in such costs."
C. Upon receipt of the billing statement provided for in subsections D and E of this section by each such recipient, the mill rates to be established by the board for each such recipient for the current year shall include and be based upon such amounts and shall constitute an appropriation of such amounts to the county assessor for expenditure for the expenses of administering the visual inspection program each year. In the case of a sinking fund of a recipient, if, after approving its budget, the governing body of a recipient notifies the board in writing that there are no funds appropriated to pay the amount of the billing statement for such sinking fund, such notice shall constitute conclusive evidence of a financial obligation of the recipient as it relates to such sinking fund. The board may seek a judgment for the amount of such obligation and court costs in the district court of the county in which the board is located.

D. The county assessor shall render a statement to each of the jurisdictions within the county which receive revenue from an ad valorem mill rate. Such statement shall include the following information:

1. The current fiscal year in which the charge has been incorporated in the jurisdiction's budget;

2. All jurisdictions receiving statements from the county assessor, the mill rate for each in the previous year, and the proportion of each to the combined mill rates of all jurisdictions within the county for the previous year. The proportions specified in this paragraph should equal a total of one hundred percent (100%);

3. The charge for the entity receiving the statement as well as the charge for each jurisdiction of the county based upon the proportions specified in paragraph 2 of this subsection. The total of all current year charges for all county jurisdictions shall equal the total visual inspection program budget for the current fiscal year;

4. The amount of the total budget for the office of the county assessor and the percentage that visual inspection program expenses are of such total budget; and

10 Transcript of proceedings, Byron Burke testifying at p. 131.

11 Transcript of proceedings, December 6, 2002, Byron Burke testifying at p. 131. The Budget Board, County Commissioners and Assessor argue in the brief in chief filed on April 21, 2003, that salaries were actually prorated and that salaries followed function. However, the transcript of proceedings, December 6, 2002, testimony of the Assessor provides at p. 84 that salary payments did not follow the employees' functions. The possibility that different individuals might consider the same facts and draw differing inferences is one of the reasons that review in this Court is limited to the issues shown by the record to have actually been presented and tendered to the trial court. 14 Okla. Admin Code 710:10-10-1 provides in pertinent part:

". . . (b) Each county assessor shall submit a visual inspection plan, which conforms to the requirements described in 68 O.S. 1991, §§2820(c) [sic] and the provisions of this Subchapter, to the Ad Valorem Division of the Oklahoma Tax Commission by the first working day in October preceding the January 1 beginning of a new four-year cycle. The county shall keep a copy of the approved visual inspection plan and any amendment(s) on file for the current four year-cycle and shall retain the plan for five years after the last year of this cycle. . . ."

The Tax Commission is authorized to make and publish rules pursuant to 68 O.S. 2001 §2825.

15The County Assessor received a letter on November 18, 2002, indicating that the Tax Commission had received and approved the four-year visual inspection plan.

16Transcript of proceedings, December 6, 2002, Byron Burke testifying at p. 145. The Tax Commission approved visual inspection plans for both Oklahoma and Tulsa counties. It is instructive that the plan approved for Tulsa County was at twice the budget amount of the Oklahoma County plan despite the fact that Oklahoma County must inspect more properties annually than Tulsa County inspects. See, transcript of proceedings, December 6, 2002, Byron Burke testifying at p. 147.

20The statutory visual inspection program is a comprehensive statewide regime for gathering data about real property from its physical examination to establish the fair cash values of properties so inspected at least once every four years and the fair cash values of similar properties on an annual basis. Title 68 O.S.
2001 §2802 provides in pertinent part:

"As used in Section 2801 et seq. of this title:

. . . 30. 'Visual inspection program' means the program required in order to gather data about real property from physical examination of the property and improvements in order to establish the fair cash values of properties so inspected at least once each four (4) years and the fair cash values of similar properties on an annual basis. . . ."

Title 68 O.S. 2001 §2821 provides in pertinent part:

"A. Each county assessor shall cause real property to be physically inspected as part of the visual inspection cycle and shall require such examination as will provide adequate data from which to make accurate valuations.

B. The information gathered from the physical inspection shall be relevant to the type of property involved, its use category, the valuation methodology to be used for the property, whether the methodology consists of the cost approach, an income and expense approach or sales comparison approach, and shall be complete enough in order to establish the fair cash value of the property in accordance with accepted standards for mass appraisal practice. . . ."

See also, 68 O.S. 2001 §2820(A), see note 4, supra.

At the beginning of each four-year cycle, assessors must develop and submit to the Tax Commission a plan detailing: the number of real property parcels inspected each year; the proposed resources and budget to complete the inspections; and the valuation methodology utilized to detail fair cash values. Title 68 O.S. 2001 §2820(C), see note 4, supra. County assessors must make adequate provision for the visual inspection project and submit it to the county budget board or excise board. Title 68 O.S. 2001 §2823(A), see note 9, supra. The visual inspection budget is prepared separately from the assessor's general budget. Amounts allocated to the visual inspection program are used exclusively to carry out the program. Title 68 O.S. 2001 §2822(C), see note 4, supra. The cost of the visual inspection program is apportioned among the various recipients of revenues from the mill rates levied -- including all school districts. However, the assessed costs may include only those expenses directly attributable to the visual inspection program. The costs shall not include any expenses of the office of the county assessor which, in the judgment of the county excise board or county budget board, are expenses of the assessor's office existing in the absence of the program. Expenses which are attributable to the visual inspection program and which would exist without the program, i.e. salaries, employee benefits, office supplies and equipment, may be prorated between the assessor's two budgets. Nevertheless, no portion of the assessor's salary may be included in the cost of the visual inspection program. Title 68 O.S. 2002 2823(B), see note 9, supra.

21The Budget Board, County Commissioners and Assessor contend in the reply brief filed on May 22, 2003, that they have not argued that the Tax Commission's approval of the visual inspection plan makes the budget for that plan immune from revision by the Excise Board. The contention is unconvincing in light of statements made in the same parties' brief in chief filed on April 21, 2003, providing in pertinent part:

at p. 2 "... In Plaintiffs' view, funding the Tax Commission-approved program is the standard against which the actions of the parties must be measured. ..." [Emphasis in original.]

at p. 8 "... PROPOSITION I AUTHORITIES MUST FUND THE VISUAL INSPECTION PROGRAM APPROVED BY THE TAX COMMISSION. ..." [Emphasis in original.]

23Title 19 O.S. 2001 §1414 provides in pertinent part:

"A. The county excise board shall examine the county budgets. The excise board may take the following actions on the budgets.
1. For any items or amounts which are not authorized by law or which may be contrary to law, the unlawful amounts or items shall be stricken and disregarded;

2. Any amount which exceeds the lawful amount authorized by law shall be reduced to the extent authorized by law.

24Title 68 O.S. 2001 §2820(C), see note 4, supra.

26Clay v. Independent School Dist. No. 1 of Tulsa County, 1997 OK 13, ¶31, 935 P.2d 294. See also, Humphrey v. Denney, 1988 OK 69, ¶15, 757 P.2d 833 [An assessor's hiring of personal is subject to the approval by the excise board in its annual budget review.] The time-line requirements of the budgetary process as compared with the approval process before the Oklahoma Tax Commission also support a finding that it is the Excise Board, not the Tax Commission, which is the entity to approve budgetary requirements. County budget boards are required to complete budgets for upcoming fiscal years at least thirty days before the beginning of each fiscal year -- July 1st. Title 19 O.S. 2001 §1410. After conducting public hearings, [Title 19 O.S. 2001 §1412], the County Budget Board must adopt a budget no less than seven days prior to the beginning of the budget year. Title 19 O.S. 2001 1413. Pursuant to 68 O.S. 2001 §2820(C), see note 4, supra, the visual inspection plan for Tulsa County for the years 2003-2006 was not due to be filed with the Tax Commission until September, 30, 2002 -- a date well beyond the time frame within which the County Budget Board was required to complete preparation of the budget for the Assessor's office. Had the Legislature intended for the Tax Commission to control the visual inspection budget, undoubtedly it would have required approval of the proposal prior to, rather than a date some three months following, the scheduled completion of the county budgetary process.

31The County Commissioners, Budget Board and Assessor urge us to determine whether the Excise Board abused its discretion in "building a budget" rather than merely striking unlawful amounts from the visual inspection budget pursuant to 19 O.S. 2001 §1414, see note 3, supra. Whether the Excise Board "built" the budget or, through its inquiries concerning items which could lawfully be included in the visual inspection budget, struck unlawful amounts is a distinction without a difference. Furthermore, today, we decline to delineate any and all items which may be included in the visual inspection budget. From the materials before this Court and from the record presented to the trial court, it appears that central issues here concern the shifting of employees from one budget to the other and the elimination of valuation costs. It is also apparent that at least some of the items the County Commissioners, Budget Board and Assessor ask us to determine as valid items of the visual inspection budget may have been included in the final budget adopted by the Excise Board. See, transcript of proceedings, December 6, 2002, Byron Burke testifying at p. 151. Additionally, the County Commissioners, Budget Board and Assessor ask us to determine that the trial court erred in its refusal to allow the amendment of their petition to include a request that the school districts be required to include valuation expenses in their budgets. Although we recognize that amendments are to be liberally allowed when justice so requires [Title 12 O.S. 2001 §2013], we are beyond a time period when an amendment presumably would aid the Budget Board, County Commissioners and Assessor. This Court does not issue advisory opinions or answer hypothetical questions. Dank v. Benson, 2000 OK 40, ¶7, 5 P.3d 1088; Keating v. Johnson, 1996 OK 61, ¶10, 918 P.2d 51; Application of Fun Country Development Auth., 1977 OK 138, ¶3, 566 P.2d 1167. Furthermore, we are bound by the record presented for review. Heirschberg v. Slater, 1992 OK 84, ¶5, 833 P.2d 269; Snyder v. Smith Welding & Fabrication, 1986 OK 35, ¶1, 746 P.2d 168 [Supplemental opinion on rehearing]. Finally, the County Commissioners, Budget Board and Assessor had the burden of showing that the trial court abused its discretion in declining to award relief. Clay v. Independent School Dist. No. 1 of Tulsa County, see note 26, supra; Beatrice Foods Co. v. City of Okmulgee, 1963 OK 48, ¶2, 381 P.2d 863. Furthermore, we note that the indication in their brief in chief that the plaintiffs/appellants sought amendment before a response was filed is misleading. The record reveals that the motion to amend was on November 27, 2002, while the answer was filed on November 7, 2002.

The provisions of this section shall not apply in any year when title to the property is transferred, changed, or conveyed to another person or when improvements have been made to the property. If title to the property is transferred, changed, or conveyed to another person, the property shall be assessed for that year based on the fair cash value as set forth in Section 8 of Article X of this Constitution. Despite any provision to the contrary, beginning January 1, 1997, the fair cash value, as determined by law, on each homestead of an individual head of household whose gross household income from all sources for the preceding calendar year did not exceed Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($25,000.00), and which individual head of household is sixty-five (65) years of age or older, shall not exceed the fair cash value placed upon the property during the first year in which the individual head of household was sixty-five (65) years of age or older and had gross household income from all sources of Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($25,000.00) or less. Subject to the limitations of this section, the fair cash value shall not exceed such amount as long as the individual head of household who is sixty-five (65) years of age or older owns and occupies the property and as long as the gross household income from all sources does not exceed Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($25,000.00) in any calendar year. If any improvements are made to the property, the fair cash value of the improvements shall be assessed in accordance with law by the county assessor and added to the assessed value of the property. Once the fair cash value of the improvements has been added to the fair cash value of the property, the total fair cash value shall not exceed the revised valuation of the property so long as the individual head of household who is sixty-five (65) years of age or older owns and occupies the property and so long as the gross household income from all sources does not exceed Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($25,000.00) in a calendar year. For any individual head of household who is sixty-five (65) years of age or older and has gross household income from all sources of Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($25,000.00) or less in calendar year 1996, the fair cash value of the real property shall be the fair cash value placed upon the property on January 1, 1997. BALLOT TITLE

Legislative Referendum No. ____  State Question No. ____

THE GIST OF THE PROPOSITION IS AS FOLLOWS:

This measure amends the Oklahoma Constitution. This measure would add a new section to Article 10 to be designated Section 6C. It would limit the fair cash value on a homestead. The homestead must be owned by a person who is 65 years of age or older, and have a gross household income of $25,000.00 or less. The fair cash value would not exceed the fair cash value placed on the homestead the first year the individual reached the age of 65 years and had a gross household income of $25,000.00 or less. Improvements to the property would be assessed and added to the assessed value of the property. This measure would become effective on January 1, 1997. If the individual ceases to own and occupy the property, the fair cash value would be determined as all other real property. If the gross household income exceeds $25,000.00, the fair cash value would be determined as all other real property according to law.

SHALL THIS AMENDMENT BE APPROVED BY THE PEOPLE?

☐ YES, FOR THE AMENDMENT
☐ NO, AGAINST THE AMENDMENT

SECTION 7. The Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives, immediately after the passage of this act, shall prepare and file one copy thereof, including the Ballot Titles set forth in SECTIONS 4, 5 and 6 hereof, with the Secretary of State and one copy with the Attorney General.
Imposition by a host State of an ad valorem tax on a nonresident serviceman's house trailer, where the serviceman had paid no "license, fee, or excise" to his home State, held invalid under 514 of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940, an ad valorem tax not being within the category of a motor vehicle "license, fee, or excise" under 514 (2) (b). California v. Buzard, ante, p. 386, followed. P. 398.

250 Miss. 597, 164 So.2d 752, reversed.

Leon D. Hubert, Jr., argued the cause for petitioner. With him on the briefs was Carl J. Felth.

Martin R. McLendon, Assistant Attorney General of Mississippi, argued the cause for respondents. With him on the brief was Joe T. Patterson, Attorney General.

Acting Solicitor General Spritzer, Acting Assistant Attorney General Jones and I. Henry Kutz filed a brief for the United States, as amicus curiae, urging reversal.

Mr. JUSTICE BRENNAN delivered the opinion of the Court.

This is a companion case to California v. Buzard, ante, p. 386, decided today. The State of Mississippi levied an ad valorem tax against a house trailer of the petitioner, Sergeant Jesse E. Snapp. Sergeant Snapp was stationed under military orders at Crystal Springs Air Force Base, Mississippi. He bought the trailer in Mississippi and moved it on Mississippi highways to a private trailer park near the Air Force Base where he placed it on movable concrete blocks and used it as a home. He did not register or license the trailer, or pay [382 U.S. 397, 398] any taxes on it in his home State of South Carolina. He challenged the Mississippi tax as a tax on his personal property prohibited by the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940, 54 Stat. 1178, as amended in 1944, 514, 50 U.S.C. App. 574. * The Mississippi Supreme Court sustained the levy on the ground that, as applied to motor vehicles, 514 (2) (b) conditions the nonresident serviceman's immunity from its ad valorem tax on the serviceman's prior payment of the fees imposed by his home State. The court reasoned that since 514 (2) (b) "stipulat[es] expressly that the taxation should not be limited to privilege and excise taxes, it necessarily follows that the prohibited tax must include the only other general branch of taxation, that is, ad valorem. It is emphasized that the federal statute is meant to include ad valorem taxes as being one of the taxes for which the serviceman is immune, provided he complies with the laws of his home state. concerning registration of the motor vehicle. If he fails to so comply, as was done in this case at bar, he is no longer entitled to protection of the Act of Congress." 250 Miss. 597, at 614-615, 164 So.2d 752, at 760. We granted certiorari, 380 U.S. 931 . We reverse on the authority of our holding today in Buzard that the failure to pay the motor vehicle "license, fee, or excise" of the home State entitles the host State only to exact motor vehicle taxes qualifying as "licenses, fees, or excise"; the ad valorem tax, as the Mississippi Supreme Court acknowledged, is not such an exaction. We thus have no occasion to decide whether the Mississippi Supreme Court was correct in holding that the house trailer was a "motor vehicle" within the meaning of 514 (2) (b).

Reversed.

DOOLIN, Justice.

¶1 This case presents important questions as to the proper functions of this state through public trusts formed by the authority of 60 O.S. 1971 § 176 et seq, Trusts for Furtherance of Public Functions. § 176 Provides in pertinent part:

"(a) Express trusts may be created in real or personal property, or either or both, or in any estate or interest in either or both, with the state, or any county, municipality, political or governmental subdivision, or governmental agency of the state as the beneficiary thereof by the: (1) express approval of the Governor if the state of Oklahoma or any governmental agency thereof is the beneficiary; (2) express approval of two-thirds (2/3) of the membership of the governing body of the beneficiary if the county or a political or governmental subdivision thereof is the beneficiary; (3) express approval of two-thirds (2/3) of membership of the governing body of the beneficiary if a municipality or a governmental subdivision thereof is the beneficiary and the purpose thereof may be the furtherance, or the providing of funds for the furtherance, of any authorized or proper function of the said beneficiary. * * *" (Emphasis supplied).
2 This action involves the Oklahoma Housing Finance Agency (Agency) a public trust created May 1, 1975 and accepted by Governor David Boren on behalf of the State of Oklahoma as its beneficiary.

3 The broad purpose of the trust as enumerated in the Trust Indenture is to aid the state in providing adequate housing in accord with the needs of the people of Oklahoma and to eliminate the existence of a large number of sub-standard dwellings. More specifically the trust creates a Loans to Lenders Program (Program) which furnishes financing to selected lending institutions enabling such institutions to make available to the public lower cost new mortgage loans for the construction, acquisition, rehabilitation or improvement of residential housing. Program would be funded through the proceeds from the sale of revenue bonds in the amount of $28,825,000.1

4 Agency, on March 1, 1976, gave notice it was accepting applications from lending institutions throughout the state to join in Program. Two savings and loans associations elected to accept and were approved.

5 The terms and conditions governing the use participating institutions may make of the proceeds of the revenue bonds as set forth in Agency's official statement are as follows:

¶6 Further, the loans must be on owner occupied dwellings within the state including condominiums and multi-family dwellings up to 35 units. The mortgage loans may be for new construction or rehabilitation and improvement of existing structures.

¶7 Petitioner brings this original action as a resident and taxpayer of this state on behalf of himself and all other citizens of the State of Oklahoma to enjoin the issuance of the revenue bonds alleging the issuance of said bonds to be a violation of 60 O.S. 1971 § 176.

¶8 In order for Program to be valid, it must meet the guidelines of § 176 restricting the purpose of a public trust to one which may further, or provide funds to further, an authorized or proper function of the State of Oklahoma. The singular question presented therefore becomes whether lending money to a private lending institution with only minimal restrictions or controls in order that it may finance housing, is a proper function of the state. If it is not, as petitioner claims, the trust in its present form must fail.

¶9 Petitioner feels since there are no economic restrictions on any loan, or any provision as to location of dwellings affected, the proceeds could conceivably be used to finance $100,000 homes, condominiums or 35 unit apartment houses. He submits providing mortgage money for unrestricted purchase or construction of high income dwellings is not a proper public function of government as it does not benefit the general citizenry of the state.

¶10 Petitioner hastens to recognize the validity of trusts similar to this which results in a true benefit to the public by providing housing for the elderly, those displaced by urban renewal or other low income citizens. He further acknowledges the validity of public trusts resulting from specific legislative authority, enacted because a definite need has been perceived. But the present Program he points out could be used as a benefit only to persons with middle to high income and the two participating savings and loan institutions.

¶11 Any authorized function of the state is recognized by this court as a proper subject for a public trust such as providing airport facilities, 2 water transportation and facilities for parking. In addition this state possesses authority to provide services in reduction of pollution and for disposal of waste. Hence a public trust with State of Oklahoma as beneficiary for the purpose of providing funds for performance of these functions that promote and encourage development of industry and commerce within the state is permitted by § 176. Shipp v. Southeastern Oklahoma Industries Authority, 498 P.2d 1395 (Okl. 1972). All of these particular functions are those that provide services and facilities that individuals cannot ordinarily provide for themselves.

¶12 Defendants do not raise any challenge to the views expressed by these decisions. They counter by stressing that providing safe, decent and adequate housing for the people of this state is also a proper function of the state. That is the purpose of this trust and such a purpose has been held to be valid by this court in Boardman v. Oklahoma City Housing Authority, 445 P.2d 412 (Okl. 1968).

¶13 Boardman and the majority of the cases cited by defendants from other jurisdictions deal exclusively with low income housing. We do not deny governmental housing authorities and programs concerned with providing adequate low income housing have a public, indeed even a charitable purpose. Trusts for the benefit of the public may be established with a broad field of objectives as long as the objectives encompass a benefit to a large class of the public or lessen the burdens of government. Board of County Commissioners of Oklahoma County v. Warram, 285 P.2d 1034 (Okl. 1955). The proceeds from the bonds issued by Agency in this specific case are not being used to provide housing, but to lend money to private lending institutions.

¶14 Only two cases cited by defendants in support of the public purpose of Program are not specifically concerned with low cost housing. New Jersey Mortgage Finance Agency v. McCrane, 56 N.J. 414, 267 A.2d 24 (1970) was a suit brought to require the state treasurer to release funds appropriated by the Legislature to Agency for the New Jersey Loans to Lenders Program, in order to alleviate a declared housing shortage. In the present case there is no evidence offered of a housing shortage in Oklahoma and the Legislature has not acted, except to resolve against such action.

¶15 Minnesota Housing Finance Agency v. Hatfield, 297 Minn. 155, 210 N.W.2d 298 (1973), although not concerned solely with low income housing offered assistance in financing housing for persons of low and moderate income. Here as in the New Jersey case, the agency was created by legislative enactment. Further the proceeds from the revenue bonds issued were not loaned to financing institutions but rather directly to the housing corporation. The bonds were paid solely from earnings from the housing projects. The court held this type of financing, involving governmental function of protecting public health, had a valid public purpose.

¶16 We do not find these cases applicable or controlling here. Housing as a general category when it meets the requirements set forth in Board of County Commissioners of Oklahoma County v. Warram, supra, of encompassing a benefit to a large class of the public and lessening the burdens of government, may serve a public purpose. But in this case it is apprehensible that if a lending institution defaulted the burdens of government could be increased, not lessened.

¶17 Defendants assert the purpose of the Loans to Lenders Program is furtherance of an authorized public function of the state in that such will contribute to the development of residential housing in the state by increasing the availability of mortgage money thereby stimulating economic growth which contributes to the general welfare of all citizens of the state. However, because the trust indenture and its proponents recite a proper function does not make it so. We agree if the trust was formed and operated specifically to upgrade sub-standard housing and provide adequate low-income housing or was the result of legislative determination of need and public interest in relieving a definite housing shortage, it might be valid within the boundaries of § 176.

¶18 The establishment of public housing programs may be a proper function of the state, but this is not the function we are concerned with in relation to this particular trust. Program's primary function is to lend money.

¶19 We cannot see how this type of financial aid to a private institution, with no restrictions on who may borrow the available money, can create a net result of an upgrading of sub-standard dwellings or of a reduction in an alleged housing shortage. The present trust does not provide any guidance as to who may take advantage of the low interest loans. Although defendants would have us assume the money will be loaned to a "needy person who desires a roof over his head," it is still conceivable the institution would lend it where the most money could be made.

1 These bonds were to be issued and delivered on May 13, 1976, but this court stayed their issuance pending this decision.

¶0 This office has received your letter asking for an official Opinion addressing, in effect, the following question:

May a deputy county Commissioner who, under the provisions of 19 O.S. 180.81(B) (1995), has been designated in the office of the County Clerk as a County Commissioner's Chief Deputy -- act in the Commissioner's place by attending meetings of the Board of County Commissioners and casting votes on matters on the agendas at such meetings when the County Commissioner is absent?

¶1 The Oklahoma Constitution, at Article XVII , Section 2, provides for the creation of county officers, subject to change by the Legislature:

There are hereby created, subject to change by the Legislature, in and for each organized county of this State, the offices of Judge of the County Court, County Attorney, Clerk of the District Court, County Clerk, Sheriff, County Treasurer, Register of Deeds, County Surveyor, Superintendent of Public Instruction, three County Commissioners, and such municipal township officers as are now provided for under the laws of the Territory of Oklahoma, except as in this Constitution otherwise provided.

Okla. Const. Article XVII , Section 2 (emphasis added).

¶2 Shortly after statehood, in the case of Anderson v. Ritterbusch, 98 P. 1002 (Okla. 1908), the Oklahoma Supreme Court specifically held that this constitutional provision empowers the Legislature to change or add to the list of County Commissioners at any time:

The right of the Legislature to at any time change or add to the list of county officers is granted by section 2, art. 17 (Bunn's Ed. § 324), of the Constitution.

Id. at 1011.
¶3 In 1993, the Oklahoma Legislature enacted the provisions of 19 O.S. 180.81 (1995), and in doing so added to the list of county officers, as authorized by Article XVII, Section 2 of the Oklahoma Constitution. In pertinent part, that statute provides:

Each principal officer named in paragraph 1 of Section 5 of this act, except judges, shall designate of record in the office of the county clerk a first or chief deputy or assistant who shall be chargeable with all the duties of such principal officer, while subject to the direction of the same; and such first or chief deputy or assistant shall carry on the duties of the office during the absence of the principal officer or, in the event of the death, removal or resignation of said principal officer, until a successor shall have qualified.1

¶4 Under the provisions of 19 O.S. 180.81(B) (1995), Chief Deputy County Commissioners, designated of record in the office of the County Clerk, are empowered to perform the duties of a County Commissioner under two separate sets of circumstances:

1. When acting under the direction of the County Commissioner, or

2. During the County Commissioner's absence, or in the event of the County Commissioner's death, removal or resignation.

¶5 Thus, under the statutory scheme, a Chief Deputy County Commissioner who has been properly designated in the Office of the County Clerk being empowered to perform all the duties of the County Commissioner -- when acting under the County Commissioner's direction, or when the County Commissioner is absent, may, just as the County Commissioner could, attend meetings of the Board of County Commissioners, and vote on matters presented at the meetings, just as the County Commissioner could.2 In examining a provision in the Oregon Constitution, similar to Section 180.81, under which the duties of the office of governor devolved on the secretary of state, the Oregon Supreme Court held that the devolving of the office and the duties of the office, necessarily included the powers to carry out those duties. Chadwick v. Earhart, 4 P. 1180,1181 (Or. 1884). See also Ex parte Crump, 135 P. 428 (Okla. Crim. App. 1913) (holding that under the provisions of Article VI, Section 15 and Article VI, Section 16 of the Oklahoma Constitution, when the Governor absents himself from the State, the office of the Governor devolves upon the Lieutenant Governor, and with the office comes the powers of the office, including the power to issue pardons).

¶6 In providing that a duly designed Chief Deputy County Commissioner "shall carry on the duties of the office during the absence" of the County Commissioner, the provisions of 19 O.S. 180.81(B) (1995) do not define the word "absence." Under the long recognized rule of statutory construction, courts, in construing words used in a statute, "must assume that the lawmaking authority intended for the words to have the same meaning as that attributed to them in ordinary and usual parlance." Riffe Petroleum Co.
v. Great National Corp., Inc., 614 P.2d 576, 579 (Okla. 1980). The ordinary meaning of the word "absence" is the "state of being absent or missing from a place or . . . failure to be present." Webster's Third New International Dictionary 6 (1981). Use of the ordinary meaning of the word "absence" is consistent with the court's construction of Article VI, Section 15 and Article VI, Section 16 of the Oklahoma Constitution.

¶7 Article VI, Section 16 of Article VI of the Oklahoma Constitution provides in pertinent part that "[i]n case of impeachment of the Governor, or of his . . . removal from the State . . . said office, with its compensation, shall devolve upon the Lieutenant Governor for the residue of the term or until the disability shall be removed." The Court of Criminal Appeals, in Ex parte Crump, 135 P. 428 (Okla. Crim. App. 1913), construed this provision, along with its companion provision, Article VI, Section 15 of the Oklahoma Constitution, which in part provides that, "[i]f, during a vacancy of the office of Governor, the Lieutenant Governor shall be impeached . . . or be absent from the State," the duties of office shall devolve upon the President Pro Tempore of the Senate. The court held that the terms "absent" or "removal" meant a simple absence from the State.

¶8 In Ex parte Crump, 135 P. 428 (Okla. Crim. App. 1913) the court was called upon to determine the validity of a pardon issued by Lieutenant Governor J.J. McAlester while Governor Lee Cruce was in Kansas City, Missouri on a one-day trip. Upon his return to the State, Governor Cruce attempted to revoke the pardon. The respondent, who was holding Mr. Crump in custody, argued that Governor Cruce was only temporarily absent from the State for one day, and was not in any way incapable of discharging the powers and duties of the office of Governor, and did not, before leaving or at any time during his temporary absence, request or in any manner indicate to the Lieutenant Governor any desire on the Governor's part that the Lieutenant Governor should perform the functions of the office of Governor. Respondent also argued that the Governor was within twelve hours "run" of the Capitol, and within nine hours "run" of the State's border, and was thus, not "absent" from the State, within the constitutional meaning, as he was only temporarily out of State and still capable of performing the office's functions.

¶9 In rejecting the respondent's position, the court found that the terms "absent" and "removal," as used in Article VI, Sections 15 and 16 of Article VI of the Oklahoma Constitution, were "convertible"—interchangeable. Crump, 135 P. at 434. The court further held that the Governor's absence from the State, for no matter how short a period of time and no matter what the purpose for absenting himself, triggered the constitutional provision:

[T]he plain intention of the framers of the Constitution and the people in adopting [art. VI, § 16] was to provide that in his absence from the state for any purpose or for any period of time, however short, his constitutional functions shall devolve upon the Lieutenant Governor as acting Governor. Such absence from the state is an abdication for the time being of the constitutional functions of his office, and the effect of that absence is to suspend his constitutional functions. He does not cease to be Governor by his temporary absence from the state. His vested right of tenure in the term of office attaches to his person and is distinct from his executive functions; it goes with him; but the constitutional functions of his office belong to the public and are confined to the state and cannot be exercised out of state; when he leaves the state, the constitutional functions of his office devolve pro tempore upon the Lieutenant Governor; and, when he returns to the state ipso facto, he resumes all of the powers, functions, and duties of his office ....

¶10 The Crump court's analysis is that the power of an executive office can only be exercised within the office's geographic jurisdiction; thus, once the Governor removed himself from the State's geographic boundaries, he lost the ability to exercise the powers of office.

¶11 Applying a like analysis to the provisions of 19 O.S. 180.81(B), we conclude that when a County Commissioner absents himself from the county, the functions of the Office of County Commissioner devolve upon the duly-designated Chief Deputy County Commissioner, until the County Commissioner returns to the county. As the functions of the office and the attendant power to perform those functions devolve upon the Chief Deputy County Commissioner, the Chief Deputy County Commissioner, during the County Commissioner's absence, may perform all functions of the office, including voting at meetings of the Board of County Commissioners. Accordingly, during the County Commissioner's absence from the county, any votes cast by a duly designated Chief Deputy County Commissioner are as valid as those cast by the County Commissioner. That is, the votes will not be set aside because they were cast by the Chief Deputy County Commissioner, rather than the County Commissioner.

¶12 Of course, whether any particular vote at any specific meeting was properly cast by a Chief Deputy County Commissioner, is a question of fact, which is not properly considered in an Attorney General's opinion. 74 O.S. 18b(A)(5) (1995). For example, whether the Chief Deputy was acting under the direction of the Commissioner or in his or her absence, will always be a question of fact.

1. Acting under the power conferred upon it by Article XVII, Section 2 of the Oklahoma Constitution to change or add to the list of county officers, the Oklahoma Legislature, in adopting 19 O.S. 180.81(B) (1995), added to the list of county officers, and in doing so created the office of Chief Deputy County Commissioner.
2. Duly designated Chief Deputy County Commissioners, under the provisions of 19 O.S. 180.81(B) (1995), are empowered to exercise the functions of the office of County Commissioner, under two sets of circumstances:
   a. When performing such duties under the direction of the County Commissioner, or
   b. During the absence of the County Commissioner from the county or in the event of the County Commissioner's death, removal or resignation.
3. Under the provisions of 19 O.S. 180.81(B) (1995), when a County Commissioner leaves the county for any period of time, however short, the functions of the office of County Commissioner devolve upon the duly designated Chief Deputy County Commissioner.
Commissioner. Such absence from the county is an abdication, for the time being, of the statutory functions of office, and the effect of that absence is to suspend the County Commissioner's statutory functions. He does not cease to be County Commissioner by his temporary absence from the county, and his vested right of tenure in the term of office which attaches to his person, and which is distinct from his executive functions, goes with him; but, the functions of the office devolve upon the Chief Deputy County Commissioner.

4. When, under the provisions of 19 O.S. 180.81(B) (1995), a duly designated Chief Deputy County Commissioner, in the absence of the County Commissioner from the county, has the functions of the office of County Commissioner devolve upon him or her, the Chief Deputy County Commissioner is empowered to perform all functions of the office of County Commissioner, including attending and voting votes at meetings of the Board of County Commissioners.

5. Whether any specific vote cast by a Chief Deputy County Commissioner at a Board of County Commissioners meeting is validly cast, is a question of fact, which under the provisions of 74 O.S. 18b(A)(5) (1995), is beyond the scope of an Attorney General's Opinion.

FOOTNOTES:

1 The principal officers referred to at the beginning of this provision--the principal officers named in paragraph 1 of Section S of the act--are the principal officers named in 19 O.S. 180.73 (1995). This list includes the members of the Board of County Commissioners. Id. -180.73(1).

Article VI, Section 16 of the Oklahoma Constitution establishes the conditions under which the functions of the Governor's office devolve upon the Lieutenant Governor and includes in its list of such contingencies times when the Governor becomes unable "to discharge the powers and duties of the office." Section 19 O.S. 180.81(B) of Title 19 makes no provision for this contingency for county officers.

2 Under the provisions of 19 O.S. 180.81(B) (1995) the duly designated "first or chief deputy or assistant" of all county officers - except county judges - may perform the duties of his or her principal under like circumstances.
¶0 The Attorney General has received your request for an official opinion, wherein you ask, in effect:
1. Is a public trust organized under 60 O.S. 176 et seq. (1980) a "public body" within the meaning of the Open Meeting Act, 25 O.S. 301 et seq. (1977)?
2. Is such a public trust subject to the Open Meeting Act?
3. If such public trusts are subject to the Open Meeting Act, under what conditions may cameras and tape recorders, as tools of the news media, be barred from the meetings of the trustees of such public trusts?
4. Do the answers to the foregoing questions apply uniformly to all "public bodies" covered by the Open Meeting Act?

¶1 Your first and second questions are answered by a plain reading of the Open Meeting Act. 25 O.S. 304(1) (1977) defined the term "public body" as follows:

"1. 'Public body' means the governing bodies of all . . . public trusts...." (Emphasis added)

¶2 25 O.S. 303 provides:

"All meetings of public bodies, as defined hereinafter, shall be held at specified times and places which are convenient to the public and shall be open to the public, except as hereinafter provided.* * *"

¶3 The intent of the Legislature to include the meetings of trustees of public trusts within the Open Meeting Act could not be more clear.

¶4 The governing bodies of public trusts organized under 60 O.S. 178.8 (1980), are "public bodies" within the meaning of the Open Meeting Act, and said bodies are subject to the Open Meeting Act in every respect.

¶5 Your third question asks under what conditions news media cameras and tape recorders may lawfully be barred from the meetings of trustees of public trusts. The Open Meeting Act contains no express provisions dealing with news media tools, such as cameras and tape recorders. Therefore, the question resolves itself into one of statutory construction to attempt to arrive at the legislative intent embodied in the Open Meeting Act with respect to news media access to public meetings. All rules of statutory construction are subservient to the one that the legislative intent must prevail, if it reasonably can be discovered in the language of the statute. Cherokee County Publishing Co. v. Cherokee County, 48 Okl. 722, 151 P. 187 (1915). Sutherland Statutory Construction, 4th Ed., Vol. 2A, 56.01, p. 403, states:

"* * * It is not uncommon, moreover, for a statute to contain a policy section outlining, usually in general terms, what policy the legislation is supposed to serve. Provisions of this sort have often been helpful in resolving doubtful statutory meaning."

§ 6 In this connection, the Open Meeting Act contains a "policy section." 25 O.S. 302 provides:

"It is the public policy of the State of Oklahoma to encourage and facilitate an informed citizenry's understanding of the governmental process and governmental problems." (Emphasis added)

§ 7 In Open Meetings: Exceptions to State Laws, Nat. Ass'n. of Attorneys General, Mar. 1979, p. 2, the following appears:

"Another reason for the public policy of openness is that corruption, conflict of interest and the influence of special interests are frustrated by public scrutiny. Public officials are more responsive to the public when the considerations upon which official action is based are publicly known. . . Public understanding of the competing considerations facing the governmental body on any issue may facilitate public acceptance of often difficult and unpopular but necessary decisions. Openness also facilitates better reporting by the press of the governmental process, which, after all, is the means by which the vast majority of citizens follow the machinations of government." (Emphasis added)

§ 8 There is indeed a relationship between effective media coverage of public meetings and the public policy embodied in 25 O.S. 302 of the Open Meeting Act to encourage and facilitate an informed citizenry's understanding of governmental processes and governmental problems. As stated in the above publication by the National Association of Attorneys General, reporting by the press is the means by which the vast majority of citizens follow and are informed upon the actions of their government. Channel 10, Inc. v. Independent School District No. 709, Minn., 215 N.W.2d 814, 821 (1974), in finding that members of the news media had standing to sue under the Minnesota Open Meeting Law, held:

". . . we think that the basic purpose of the law was to have an informed public. The only realistic and practical means of accomplishing that end is to have open meetings with notice thereof to the news media. The law was not passed for the direct benefit of the media but rather for that of the public. Similarly, the United States Supreme Court has stated with reference to the constitutional guarantees of speech and the press:

"'Those guarantees are not for the benefit of the press so much as for the benefit of all of us. A broadly defined freedom of the press assures the maintenance of our political system and an open society.' Time, Inc. v. Hill, 385 U.S. 374, 389, 87 S.Ct. 534, 543, 17 L.Ed.2d 456, 468 (1967)."

¶9 Before the enactment of the Open Meeting Act in 1977, public access to meetings of governmental bodies was governed by 25 O.S. 201 (1971), which was repealed when the 1977 act was adopted. 25 O.S. 201 was similar to the current Open Meeting Act in a number of respects, but certainly both laws have had similar objectives and purposes. In Sanders v. Benton, Okl., 579 P.2d 815 (1978), the policy behind 201 was described as intending to open for public scrutiny the meetings of public bodies. That same policy was recognized in another case interpreting 201, Carl v. Board of Regents of Univ. of Oklahoma, Okl., 477 P.2d 912 (1978). The 1977 Open Meeting Act went into greater detail than 25 O.S. 201 in many respects, but especially important is the legislative statement of policy contained in 25 O.S. 302, supra, which embraced the concept of:

"... an informed citizenry's understanding of the governmental process and governmental problems." (Emphasis added)

¶10 Certainly, while broad access of individual citizens to public meetings was within the contemplation of the Legislature, the use of the language, "informed citizenry", was a recognition of the citizenry's need for information about its government; and, realistically speaking, that need is one which is practically served only by assuring adequate media access to public meetings. That view was adopted in Attorney General Opinion No. 65-113, which interpreted 201, which, as we have shown, did not go nearly as far as the present Open Meeting Act in expressing itself upon the importance of keeping the public informed about the activities of its governing officials. There, the Attorney General said:

"... The meetings of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board must be open to the public, and to the press and television cameramen as members of the public."

¶11 The 1965 Opinion focused upon the rights of television cameramen and members of the press as members of the public and did not deal with the policy purpose of keeping the public informed, which is a policy strongly stated in the current Open Meeting Act. If, for 25 O.S. 201 purposes, television cameramen and members of the press were entitled to attend public meetings, under the new Open Meeting Act, there is no reason to diminish the rights of such persons under the present Open Meeting Act.

¶12 It follows that barring members of the press from using their professional tools, tape recorders and cameras, in public meetings would frustrate the underlying purposes and objectives of the Open Meeting Act. The ability to tape-record and video tape, film or photograph the proceedings of public bodies greatly enhances the accurate reporting of events transpiring at such meetings; and public interest in those events will be stimulated by news accounts using the products of those instruments. Kindling public interest in the affairs of government and assuring that information received by the public about its government is accurate are considerations very much in keeping with the policy of the Open Meeting Act.

¶13 While members of the press cannot lawfully be prevented from using tape-recorders and cameras while covering the meetings of trustees of public trusts, nevertheless, as was pointed out in the 1965 Attorney General opinion discussed supra, all public bodies have the inherent power to maintain decorum and order in their meetings. No hard and fast rule can be prescribed as to when an individual's conduct in a public meeting disrupts the meeting to the point that it interferes with the ability of the public body to carry out its business. However, a blanket ban on cameras and tape-recorders is impermissible. Members of the news media must be afforded a reasonable opportunity to use their tools to cover public meetings, and that right, like any other legal right, should not be exercised abusively to the detriment of equally important public interests. Certainly, modern attitudes toward the once assumed disruptive presence of cameras in public meetings has softened, as evidenced by the now widely accepted judicial view that cameras may be used in courtrooms to enhance the public's accessibility to information about judicial proceedings.

¶14 Your final question asks whether the Attorney General's findings with respect to public trusts would apply to all public bodies covered by the Open Meeting Act. The analysis in this Opinion has focused upon public trusts as "public bodies" within the definition of that term in 25 O.S. 304(1). All "public bodies" defined in 25 O.S. 304(1) are treated alike under the Open Meeting Act. A public trust organized under 60 O.S. 176 (1980) is no different than any other public body for Open Meeting Act purposes.

¶15 It is, therefore, the official opinion of the Attorney General that:
1. Public trusts organized under 60 O.S. 176 et seq. (1980) are "public bodies" within the meaning of the Open Meeting Act, 25 O.S. 301 et seq. (1977).
2. Such public trusts must comply with and are subject to the Open Meeting Act.
3. Cameras and tape recorders may not be barred from the meetings of trustees of such public trusts.
4. The above findings apply equally to any and all public bodies subject to the Open Meeting Act.
