Information About Local School Boards for Patrons of Oklahoma Public School Districts

What is a School Board?
A school board is an elected body which has the direct and immediate responsibility under state law for providing a state-sponsored public education to the students of a given local school district. Under Amendment X of the U.S. Constitution, power and control of education are reserved to the states.

A school board is governed by Title 70 of the Oklahoma Statutes. These laws are the frame of reference within which every school board must operate.

How is a School Board Organized?
A school district is a political subdivision of the state and a municipal corporation. Its school board is a governing board, charged with Rural Water Systems of Oklahoma

Early in 1998, the OWRB completed the update of its valuable and popular 1980 publication, Rural Water Systems in Oklahoma. This renewed, comprehensive survey of 726 rural water systems in the state provides current information on water line sizes, treatment and distribution facilities, water quality and related factors.

To enhance data management and analysis capabilities, the survey utilized a Geographic Information System (GIS) to map state water systems. The publication includes data on municipal water lines that reside outside city limits. Used as a tool by both system managers and water resource professionals, the rural water survey assists in the development of regional water systems, facilitates the expansion and improvement of existing systems, and provides a recruiting tool for economic development in Oklahoma.

A new update of Rural Water Systems of Oklahoma will be published in the spring of 2003. Hundreds of new line extensions have been constructed since publication of the most recent update in 1996. For additional information on Oklahoma's rural water systems—including the officials, agencies, and contact information—please call the Oklahoma Rural Water Association at (405) 672-8925.

Rural Water System County Maps

The county maps below and their associated rural water systems (linking to PDF files) are also available in original GIS format with associated databases containing general information for each system at the web site of Oklahoma State University's Spatial and Environmental Information Clearinghouse.

RCIDA will provide assistance to companies that are seeking locations for new facilities in Rogers County. Those services include: assistance with facility location studies, feasibility studies, building and site searches and possible financing. RCIDA is currently developing a comprehensive database of industrial sites and buildings that are available throughout the county.

RCIDA recognizes that with the Internet, fax machines, 800 numbers and cell phones, it is no longer necessary to locate in a large metropolitan area to do business. In fact, within three and one half miles of Claremore the latest in high speed broadband communications which enables customers to access the internet at speeds up to 200 times faster, is available through Southwestern Bell DSL. Rogers County offers the best of both worlds. You can escape the large metri area and still have access to everything including all forms of transportation.

RCIDA will also provide detailed community information, and assists companies in all phases of site selection. All services are free-of-charge. Information related to facility location projects will be kept STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL.

RCIDA is eager to work with you.

History: RCIDA was organized in 1980 as a public trust by the Board of County Commissioners of Rogers County for the purpose of economic, cultural, benevolent and educational development of the county. RCIDA has twenty nine years experience in assisting the development of business ventures.

Our current Trust members have a diversified background and represent all areas of the County. Chairman Gary Clark from Claremore has a banking and community development background. Trustee Richard Brown from Tiawah is the former owner and operator a Quality Truss. B.J. Kincaid from Catoosa owned and operated a window manufacturing business. Don Wilson from Claremore is a well known business investor and appraiser and Steve Savage from Oologah has a banking and investor background. All bring to the table a wealth of experience beneficial to interested business entrepreneurs.

Boise City Oklahoma

Boise City (pronounced "boys") is located in the Panhandle region of Oklahoma in Cimarron County (of which it is the county seat) west of Guymon at the intersection of U.S. Highways 412, 385/287 and 56 and SRs 3 and 325. Many of these were established from, or near, old cattle trails. The famous Santa Fe Trail west of town, in fact parallels modern-day 54/64/412.

The rough-and-tumble area is softened somewhat with a variety of flora including buffalo grass, cacti, fields of wild flowers and yucca.

One significant site near here is "Autograph Rock" which bears signatures dating back to the 1840s.

The town

The population estimate for July 1, 1998 was 1,357, a decrease of 152 since 1990.
