OVERVIEW
Increased fuel and other operation and maintenance costs are causing more communities to look seriously at waste reduction techniques and other ways to increase the efficiency and cost effectiveness of their waste management programs. Recycling and transfer stations are programs that may assist communities in achieving those goals for their waste management systems. Local Oklahoma waste management professionals will present information about their operations. SWANA CEUs are available.

AUDIENCE
Primary audience - solid waste managers and facility operators, city managers, local decision makers, elected officials, county commissioners, and economic developers. The symposium is open to the public.

WHY ATTEND
SWANA CEUs available. To keep up-to-date on latest operation and maintenance topics, to obtain information on funding opportunities and agency services available, and to interact with other waste management professionals and share experiences and information about optimizing systems and successful programs.

EXHIBITS AND POSTERS
Several programs, agencies, and vendors will have displays of their programs, services, or products. Limited space is available. Space will be assigned on a first come basis. Time in the program will be allocated exclusively for display visits. If you would like to have an exhibit, there is no charge for exhibit space, but reservations do need to be made ahead of time.
